The Daughter of Wolf Executor Chapter 35

~Fina~

He was stalking my every damn move, coming to my school asking my teachers how I was. Even stopping random classmates asking if I was okay, and if I was in need of anything. It was driving me crazy, but the stubborn streak I had gotten from my father refused to bite into his bull. I mean really who does he think he is...okay stupid question.

My roommate let me know most of the time, where he had parked. Seriously Jackson if your trying to sneak around my school, don't drive a car like a cutlass. Two knocks on my door, had me hiding in the small bathroom as my roommate opened it.

"Yes?" She asked.

"Aw these are for a Ms. Fina Heart" A man said, frowning I walked out. I knew Jackson's voice, he wasn't it.

"I'm Fi...." My mouth dropped at the five dozen long stem roses in every color, and a few boxes of chocolate sitting on a large dark brown teddy bear.

"You Fina?" The man asked. I nodded cause my voice was gone.

"Sign here please" Taking his pen, I scribbled something as he started handing me and my roommate chocolate, roses and a bear.

"Okay remind me again why your not talking to him?" She asked, looking for places to put everything in our very small two bed room.

"Cause he called me stupid" It sounded really childish now.

"Right" She huffed dragging it out.

"Fina I'd kill to have a man, who was this worried about me. Clearly he's sorry" Nadine was a smart girl, one who looked at the glass half full instead of empty. She also was my mentor in art class, and always seemed to lighten my mood. The smell of roses filled the small room in no time, and the huge bear took up half of my bed.

"Yea I no" Sitting in an empty chair.

"Geez I'm going to gain a shit tone. He got every kind of chocolate. And not the shitty stuff either, this stuff goes for a hundred dollars a box" Popping a very expensive chocolate into her mouth.

"Great" Leaning my head as far back as I could.

"You should really talk to him, I mean he waits out in the cold for hours." I had forgotten about that, Jackson would sit outside my school looking into my window.

"Is he there now?" Raising my head. She peeked out the curtain, only to smile at me.wWw.nowë \mathcal{L} (w)oŘm. \odot óm

"Oh yea, he's out there" Popping another chocolate.

"Fine, but I'm just sending him a text."

"Hey whatever, I love chocolate" Grinning like a fool. Turning my cell on, it exploded with messages from him.

"Geez, he blew my cell up."(w)w $W.n@vE\ellWorm.coM$

"You don't say?" Mocking me. My tongue stuck out to her, as I went to send him one.

* Go home, I'm not mad as much anymore. I do love you, I just don't like you very much right now. I will see you after school on Friday. F*

"There" clipping the cell closed, but leaving it on. Nadine peeked out the curtain again, snickering.

"You gotta see this" Making me peek out my side.

"Is he dancing?" Both our head back in the room.

"Oh yea, I think he's happy" Smiling. My eyes went back outside, to the large male Alpha dancing in the snow like some white chick who had no skills.

"What a dork" giggling at his foolishness.

"Aww he's so cute"

"He's making a fool of himself, in front of my school"

"So what, love does stupid things to people" Nadine piped, before another treat disappeared.

~Jackson~

The man I hired to bring Fina gifts walked out, nodding to me as he drove off. Now I have to wait, hoping it will be a little to make her look out the window. It felt like forever as my cell vibrated, making me jump as I rumbled to pull it out of my pocket. Flipping it open, my mouth went dry.

* Go home, I'm not mad as much anymore. I do love you, I just don't like you very much right now. I will see you after school on Friday. F*

She wrote me, she really wrote me. Jumping up and down, I felt like a teenage boy. So happy I finally no she doesn't hate me, I happily dance in the snow. A few students giggle at me, but I don't care as my baby still loves me. Looking into her window as it is now covered in roses, smiling brightly cause I get to see her tomorrow.

Getting in the car heading home, I just couldn't stop smiling as I pulled into the driveway. One day that's all I had to do, was making it one day. It had been a very long past week, one I felt like I was dieing slowly through. Entering the office, Kem looked up from some paperwork.

"No luck?"

"She texted me" Grinning as I dropped into my chair.

"Really?" Kem seemed relieved, since I hadn't seen or talked to her I was taking it out on my pack.

"Yea, she'll be home tomorrow" Staring into space, as Kem sighed happily.

"Alpha Alpha Jex has requested a meeting with you" Kem said bring me back, as I blinked a few times.

"What for?" Annoyed, since Fina didn't like the little bugger.

"He didn't say, just mentioned it was a very concerning matter" Walking a paper to me.

"When?" Taking the paper.

"Tomorrow, around noon"

"God, he has the worst timing. Fine, I'll get him in and out. I don't want Fina mad when she sees him here" Sighing the paper, handing it back to him.

"Yes Alpha"

I got little sleep as my brain was buzzing with the thought of her in my arms, in less then twelve hours. Then there was the matter with, Alpha Jex. Like he couldn't have picked a worse time to want an audience with me. Pushing him away, to bring Fina back in. At some point I must of drifted off, as the alarm went off. Groaning I pushed off the bed, taking a fast shower.

Noon came around, and right on time Alpha Jex showed up. Kem opened my office letting him in, while I sipped at my whiskey.

"Alpha Jex, what can I do for you?" Trying to get him in and out.

"I have a very touchy issue to discus with you" He replied, taking a seat on the couch.

"Alright, lets hear it" Letting the ice spin in the glass, clicking along.

"Its about Fina" My attention suddenly a little more interested, as I raised a brow sipping.

"Go on" before taking another sip.

"I fear one of your wolves is courting her." He stated, showing a little bit of irritation.

"Is that so?" Keeping my calm.

"Yes, he's been around her a lot, and I fear its leading her on" Crossing his legs.

"Interesting" Even though I wasn't even the least bit worried, I had a feeling I knew who he was talking about.

"Yes, I am requesting she be returned to my pack. For her safety of course. Her family would very much appreciate it." My eyes rolled a little. \mathcal{WW} w.nôv ELwo \bigcirc m.c.M

"Denied" Taking another sip.

"What?"

"You heard me" I snapped, glaring over my drink.

"Alpha Hadar, your male wolf is taking advantage of Fina because of her mates rejection" He swallowed the bad word, before continuing.

"He's not even a ranking wolf" Growling.

"Are you talking about Sam?" Pouring a little more into the glass.

"I don't know his name, but he's blonde and tall" Huffing, a few seconds later Sam knocks walking in.

"That's him" Alpha Jex snaps, pointing at Sam. Looking at me Sam pales, wondering why he is being accused of something.

"Thank you Sam, that is all"

"Yes Alpha" Stepping back out.

"That's him, I want Fina transferred imminently"

"No" Turning my ice around the cooling whiskey.

"Why the hell not?" Standing up. My eyes raise as he becomes little more then a threat to me.

"Because Sam is not in a relationship with Fina, so your reasoning is void"

"I've seen him with her numerous times. He's been holding her hand, and taking her everywhere" He sounded more like a whinnying child, then an Alpha.

"Alpha Jex, I have placed Fina in Sam's care since she started going to College. He is always with her, because I made it that way. Trust me when I say she is not in a relationship with him." Chuckling at the mere thought, Sam wouldn't last a day with Fina.

"I don't want him anywhere near her" Growling, at me as I sip the drink.

"Really? Enlighten as to why not?" Grinning

"SHE'S MY MATE!" Roaring, as the whiskey glass falls to the carpet letting the ice melt slowly.

~Fina~

Classes ended early, cause most of the teachers wanted to start their weekends earlier. Sam had texted me, wanting to know if I needed a ride. Which I replied no, I was taking a cab. Since I knew the cabby wouldn't talk to me, which would give me time to collect my thoughts. Leaving my chocoholic roommate with way to much candy, as she waved sugar high out the window. Giggling I got in, telling the older man where to go.

I had every intention of either making him beg, or cry for me to forgive him. Somewhere in there I thought about getting a new car out of the deal, not that he wouldn't give me the cutlass but still. The cab driver stopped at the pack house, as I handed him his money. An extra car was parked out front making me, cock my head to the side it was familiar but not sure how. Maybe one of Jackson's friends.

Entering the house, I was going to knock on his office but figured I had the right to just walk in. Twisting the knob as I pushed the door open, only to freeze at the mere sight going on.

Jackson was gripping Jex shoulder, while his other hand redecorated his face.

"YOU SON OF A BITCH" He roared sending another hard blow into his jaw. My feet were frozen in place, as he screamed again.

"WHO REJECTS AN ANGEL LIKE FINA" Another crack rips through the room. Blood is covering both their shirts, as Jex can't even get up from the sitting position Jackson has him in.

"You NEVER deserved a mate like her" Jackson bellows, as his fist pounds already messed up flesh.

"JACKSON STOP" Finding my voice, as I run to his side, grabbing his ready to launch arm.

"Piece of shit, you disgusted me" Pulling him backwards, as I look over at Jex. His face is slowly starting to heal, as he takes deep breaths.

"Calm down" Whispering to him, as I touch his chest. His body is close to shifting, as I turn to look at Jex.

"Fina you need to come home" He says, wiping his mouth on his sleeve.ww \hat{W} . \mathcal{M} \mathbb{O} \mathbb{V}_{e} I (\odot) \mathbb{R} m.cô \mathcal{M}

"SHE'S NOT GOING ANYWHERE WITH YOU" Jackson roars pointing his index finger at him. Pushing his chest to stop him from advancing, I calm him a bit.

"Easy" Touching his cheek. His eyes look down at me, holding still as I give him a smile.

"He's your ex mate?" Frowning.

"Yes" Nodding, as I look at Jex who is standing up now.

"Worthless shit" Growling. Jex is covered in his blood, that is now drying all over his clothes and skin.

"I'll take it from here" Patting Jackson's chest, as I step to Jex. Stepping to me Jex smiles, through his blood covered teeth. Before he might have been charming, and everything I wanted in a mate but now I was just turned off.

"What do you want Alpha" His eyes hurt, as I spit his title.

"You need to come home now" Sticking his hand out to me, Jackson growled. Holding my hand up, he stopped or at least lowered it some.

"I am not going anywhere with you Alpha, this is my home and I am happy here"

"Fina you don't belong here. You're my mate"

"No Alpha. I'm not, at least I'm not anymore." Shaking my head, folding my arms over my chocolate brown jacket with fuzzy white cuffs and hood. I had chosen to wear a sexy winter outfit, with matching brown fuzzy boots with a pair of black wash jeans tucked into them.

"Fina I didn't have a choice, please believe me I wanted you" Holding his hands out, like I was suppose to forgive him and run in between them.

"Then if you wanted me so badly, why did you reject me?"

This should be ripe.....

Jex's face paled some, as he rubbed the back of his neck. Jackson huffed, reminding me he was still listening to all of this. Surly he wasn't impressed with Jex, and wanted to kill him on that poor couch.

"She asked you a question" Snapping his jaw, making Jex flinch.

"It wasn't my fault really, I didn't have a choice. My father wouldn't hear of anything else."

"Alpha your not making any sense" Rolling my eyes.

"I had to mate with Mari because.....I got her pregnant" If words could cut then I should have been bleeding from every opening available. Mouth open as I stood trying to process what he just said to me, he got. her. Pregnant.

Jackson's hand touched my side, making me shake. Jex eyes darkened as he did this, taking a stupid step forward.

"Get your hands off my mate" Hissing at Jackson. Pulling me closer to his chest, Jackson's heat warmed me up. Tears started to form as I thought about what Jex had just reviled to me.

"Don't shed tears for him Angel, he's not worth it" Kissing my cheek, as he wiped a tear away. Nodding my eyes darkened as I growled at Jex.

"You bastard. All this time I thought it was my fault, that I wasn't good enough. While you lead me on, and tortured me with your stupid Enforcer offer. How could you?" Stomping my foot, growling louder.

"Fina please, I do want you. You're my mate" I shook him off, those sweet words didn't work on me anymore.

"NO...no not anymore I'm not. You made your bed Alpha now you lie with Mari. I don't need you for a mate, I have a better one." Taking a step back to get reassurance from Jackson. Jex gasped looking angry, hurt and all around confused.

"What?"

"I have a mate already." Unzipping my jacket, only to pull down my shirt collar showing off the mark proudly. Jackson kissed it, causing Jex to scream.

"NO YOU CAN'T BE HIS MATE" His fist clenching, as his body shook.

"Jackson please, get him out" Pushing my face into his chest.

"Anything you want Angel"

It took mere seconds for Jackson's fighters to come in, grabbing Jex by the arms. He thrashed around screaming out, calling for me but I kept my face in Jackson's chest.

"Please make this better" I begged.

"Yes Angel" Pulling me around his chest, his hands on my behind as his lips found mine. Dropping my jacket on the floor, he walked out of the room. Passing the fighters as Jex continued you to scream, feeling his eyes on me as I kissed Alpha Hadar with so much lust and passion. Jackson squeezed my behind making me moan, as he started to head up to his room.

"FINA" Jex screamed, but it didn't do a thing. My fingers laced into Jackson's hair, the man running his hands all over my body. Breaking the kiss which was leaving me breathless, he looked over the top railing looking down at Jex.

"Mine" Nodding for them to toss him out, after pushing his lips back to mine. Leaving Jex's view I could hear him screaming out, as the fighter tossed him out of the house and property. Closing his door Jackson hummed out in pleasure, as he sat on the bed letting me sit on him.

~Jackson~

That son of a....I should of killed him when I had the chance. But then a mother and child would be without, his stupidity. Fina was rather calm in all this, but her body was saying another thing. A few loose tears streaked her perfected face, further angering me. When she begged me to make it all better, I didn't even need another reason.

She was excepting of my mark, and out bond that was enough for me. Kissing her with so much want, I walked us to the stairs. Letting the prick scream in regret for the best thing he'll never have, giving a soulless man like myself a chance. For that I should thank him, but nothing more. Cause hurting the love of my life would be the dumbest thing you will ever do, and the last. Her moan was an added bonus as the stairs pose no hard feat, as I cant help the evil in me.

Stopping I dare break the kiss, her eyes wondering and so magical. Turning to the Alpha, his body shaking as he looks her over. Even a hard ass like myself can see the pain, and hurt in his eyes. As he sees the best thing in another's arms, kissing and loving every minute of the attention I'm giving her. With all the Alpha Power I could muster, I hit him hard in the face.

"Mine" Nodding to my fighters, as I return to the best thing I have ever had. Thank god he blew it, cause nothing is as amazing as my little Angel. Sitting on my...our bed. Her grey eyes glazed over, as she chews her cheek.

"All mine" Pushing my fingers into her hair, kissing her senseless. Turning over as she giggles, making me growl with so much pleasure I feel like I should sell some to others. She makes me so damn happy, a woman like her comes every thousands years.

"Thank you" She whispers. Looking down at her, my eyes look for a reason.

"Why?" When I can't find one.

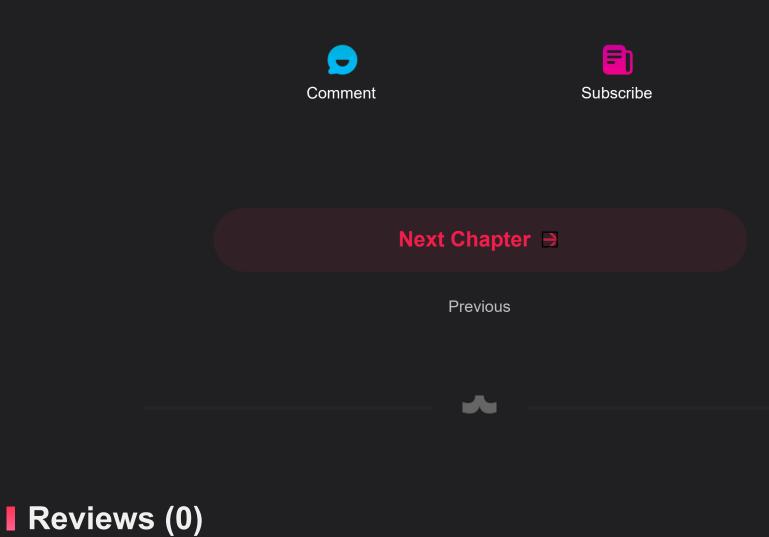

"For making me the luckiest girl in the world" Wiggling under me, her light fingers touching my cheeks.

"You ain't seen nothing Angel" Causing her eyes to widen, before I dive back into her mouth.

Spending all the time in the world, with a woman that makes you feel more alive then the very air you breath is something no man can put a price on. To feel like your body is on fire, when her eyes look at you. Or the way she feels between your fingers, will be like a drug you crave more then anything else.

I spent every night making her feel like goddess, just like I see her. Fina was my angel, my very precious angel. Never again would I take her for granted, she will receive my attention first above all. Anything she wants I will give her, anything at all. For the mere sounds, smell, and taste of her is more then enough to keep me happy.

Thank you Alpha Jex, for Royally fucking up...;)

There are no comments yet