

World Mall 201

Chapter 201 Incoming Tier 3 Beasts

They started fighting against the numerous beasts coming into the camp like Clovis and Jay.

When there was a beast coming, they would overwhelm it with two or three people at once, killing the beast as quickly as possible.

It could be said that they were so efficient that they surpassed Hana's imagination.

The people from the OpenSky company wanted to help, but they ended up stopping because the beasts were already dead.

"This is easier than I expected." One of them couldn't help but shout, feeling fired up after consecutive kills that weren't supposed to be possible before.

"That's right. If we do it together, we might be able to do this." Another person nodded in agreement while slashing another beast.

"Keep killing them!" The people started pushing back the beasts.

Noticing this, Hana couldn't help but shout, "Oi, you guys. Don't move too far! It will be hard to cover your back!"

The people from the OpenSky company hurriedly relayed that message, which caused the aforementioned people to be taken aback.

As she predicted, the beasts tried to overwhelm them. Fortunately, Hana's subordinates had been conserving their strength thanks to these people performing much better than their expectations. They immediately bailed them out and brought them back.

They hurriedly apologized and the entire camp had become a bit more stable, not wanting to replicate the same mistake.

Meanwhile, some people noticed what was happening on Clovis's side. There were a lot of beasts on their side, but only several people from the OpenSky company as a reinforcement. It looked like Hana believed in them very much.

There were only a total of twenty people, including Clovis's group, in that position, while the rest had about thirty people each.

Yet they didn't need to worry.

Clovis and Jay cut down the beasts one by one at lightning speed.

In fact, due to them, the rest of the people in that area had an easier time facing the remaining beasts.

"Amazing."

"Is that the true strength of the Libation Fiesta?"

"To think that such a group is not known by a lot of people this whole time."

"I feel ashamed that I actually look down on them by using a back door to enter the raid. They have the right to participate in this raid. Then, why?"

"Is there any politics involved in the selection?"

"Don't tell me, they are being shunned because of their strength?"

"Who is the one in charge of the selection process?"

"Isn't that... the Drake Group?"

The people were talking while fighting the beasts, noticing the corruption in their city. When they thought about it, it made sense.

Clovis and Ivan's relationship was not good, so it wouldn't be wrong if the Drake Group removed him from the expedition. That might be the reason why the Libation Fiesta had to use the back door.

When they thought about it, they couldn't help but hate the Drake Group for their unfairness.

Little did they know, Clovis never registered. In fact, he wasn't aware of the competition until he met Hana.

However, this misunderstanding was certainly a welcome one. He couldn't help but enjoy the gaze filled with disdain for Ivan and the others. These people were mistaken.

Ivan wanted to say something, but Elina stopped him. No matter what they said or even gave them the record, they would still say that the Drake Group had removed them or didn't even bother to register them officially.

The only thing they could do was grit their teeth as the people hated the Drake Group more and more, gradually destroying their reputation and influence. It wouldn't be weird if there was news about this scandal once they returned.

While Clovis was happy with this situation, he didn't say anything as though he wanted to focus on killing the beasts first.

As he expected, a loud roar suddenly shook the entire forest.

"!!!" The people raised their eyebrows, looking at a giant turtle appearing on the west side.

"!!!" Reyes, one of the Tier 3 subordinates Hana brought, stepped forward. "I guess you're going to be my opponent."

Without hesitation, the people started pushing back the beasts, creating a path for Reyes. Noticing the narrow path, Reyes rushed to the turtle and jumped into the air.

The turtle opened its mouth, trying to swallow him.

However, Reyes skillfully spun his body and kicked the turtle's head.

"You're too small if you want to swallow me alive." Reyes smiled. Even though he said the turtle was small, the one before him was over two meters. If it raised its head high, it could even reach three meters. So, it was by no means small.

Still, the kick was so powerful that it almost knocked over the turtle. The latter managed to stabilize its posture before stomping on the ground.

"Woah!" The stomp caused the soil to vibrate, making people lose their balance.

Reyes hurriedly moved to the side, kicking one of the beasts so that it would crash into another beast, which would save a person fighting it.

However, the turtle took this chance to bite him, causing Reyes to turn his body around and kick the head instead.

It was clear that the turtle's motive was causing trouble for the others while stopping this Reyes.

"I guess I will kill you first." Reyes's expression turned serious.

Just like Reyes, Hana also found her match. It was a big lizard that was observing her from a tree. It suddenly released its long tongue to her.

"!!!" Hana instinctively raised her palm and caught the tongue with her bare hand, showing a strength that was unexpected coming from her thin and frail frame.

"There you are!" Hana smiled while releasing her drones.

Not only Hana, but Clovis's side had also encountered their Tier 3 beast. It was an ape.

When they spotted this ape, the people that wanted to help Clovis step forward, looking at Clovis. The latter said with a smile, "Let's go, shall we?!"

"Ooh!"

The three sides had found their matches. Yes, all sides except for Ivan's side, making them feel a bit left out.

Chapter 202 Monke

Clovis and the group moved out. Hana's subordinates stood on the right, giving a thumbs up to Clovis as though they were saying to leave everything to them. They seemed to be confident in building a wall that wouldn't be crushed by these beasts.

Clovis nodded and made their advance.

The two raid groups also didn't want to lose. They roared while advancing with Clovis, stopping all the beasts that stood in their way.

Seeing the development, Clovis didn't move yet as he was waiting for the ape to come a bit closer to them. As Hana said earlier, advancing too far would put them in danger after all.

Kanaria was shooting at the ape, provoking him.

Roar! The ape glared at Kanaria, annoyed that he had to avoid these bullets.

Although it wouldn't kill him, the wounds from the bullets would definitely slow him down during the battle, so it would be best not to get hit for the time being.

But Kanaria's aim was accurate, causing the ape to even grab one of the beasts just to shield himself.

After feeling pressured, the ape finally let out another roar as he charged toward them in order to stop Kanaria.

Clovis and Jay exchanged nods as they headed out.

The two advanced like a bullet. Whenever there was a beast in front of them, they would cut them down in an instant, not allowing the latter to stop their movement even for a moment.

It only took two seconds to actually catch up with the groups on the left.

"Keep up the good work!" Clovis even had some leeway to cheer them up.

"What the heck?" They gasped. When they witnessed Jay and Clovis cutting down the enemies with brute force, they couldn't help but think the same thing, 'Did they even need us?'

Noticing the incoming Jay and Clovis, the ape tossed the beast toward them.

Clovis was the first to react with his slow-motion vision, avoiding the beast. Jay, on the other hand, ducked and used his strong lower body to propel himself back up.

It was ineffective as the two managed to reach the ape two seconds after that.

But within those two seconds, a smaller monkey suddenly jumped onto the ape's shoulder. The ape immediately grabbed this monkey and tossed it into the air, moving parabolically. Its target was actually Kanaria.

"!!!" Kanaria widened her eyes. If the ape actually tossed those beasts to their inner side, the entire formation might collapse from the inside.

She took a step back and caught the monkey's tail. The latter tried to scratch her, but Kanaria skillfully slammed the monkey to the ground.

Kiek! The monkey wailed in pain. The monkey tried to get up, but Kanaria pointed her big rifle with a single arm and shot the monkey at point blank range.

Ki—! The monkey couldn't even finish before its head exploded.

The ape was astonished but soon enraged when it saw Kanaria pointing at the monkey's head before moving to the ape's head, implying that his fate would be the same as that of this little monkey's.

Angered, the ape planned to crush her. However, his advance was stopped as Clovis and Jay struck him from both sides.

The ape extended his two hands to the side, blocking their weapons. Jay tried to overwhelm the ape's hand, but only managed to push it a little. The muscle on this ape's body was a real deal, he thought.

Clovis, on the other hand, landed several strikes in one second. Sadly, he failed to leave a scratch on the ape's arm.

Roar! The ape spun its body, knocking Jay and Clovis away with the centrifugal force.

Clovis and Jay didn't back down. They hurried to the ape. Clovis looped around and changed his target to the ape's back, while Jay moved to the front to get the ape's attention.

The ape punched Jay's sword, wanting to overwhelm him. Jay couldn't help but smile. The muscle on his arms bulged as he struck the ape's fist with every ounce of his strength, blocking the punch completely even though the ground underneath his feet cracked.

"!!!" The ape looked surprised that a mere Tier 1 human was able to stop his attack, but before it could move, Clovis skillfully struck all the spots on the ape's back, actually grazing the back of its ankle.

The ape spun its body again, knocking Clovis away. This way, Clovis's back would be facing the incoming beasts from the woods.

In addition, the ape let out a cry into the sky.

Kieek!

The cry was deafening as Melody noticed something through the camera attached to Kanaria's Skyglasses.

"Clovis. Behind you!"

Clovis hurriedly turned around and saw a monkey punching him. If this was Jay, he wouldn't have reacted fast enough to parry the block. But Clovis emphasized his speed, allowing him to put the sword in the punch's way.

After that block, Clovis slashed the monkey into two.

In addition, Clovis was able to see numerous pairs of bloodshot eyes on top of the trees.

"They are..." Clovis saw more than twenty monkeys gathering on top of the trees. Most of them were Tier 0, but he saw four Tier 1 monkeys and even one Tier 2 monkey.

Not only that, Melody was even warning him of the punch coming from behind.

"Clovis. Behind you!"

Yes, the moment these monkeys took Clovis's attention, the ape turned around and planned to take Clovis down.

"Tsk!" Clovis clicked his tongue and raised his left arm, blocking this punch, albeit he was still blown away.

After rolling a few times, he hurriedly stood up and saw all the monkeys rushing down to kill him. He slashed the nearest one and made his way back to regroup with Jay, who took advantage of the previous opportunity to strike the ape's calves.

Roar!

"What is this? Isn't this similar to 'reject humanity, return to monke' situation?" Clovis couldn't help but mutter while running away from the monkeys.

"It seems that you're fine enough to even have the heart to joke in this situation." Jay smiled, feeling a bit more fired up.

People were worried that Clovis was taken down so easily, but it seemed that the situation wasn't as bad as they originally thought.

Still, there was one group that actually felt happy when Clovis got punched by the ape. It was Ivan's group.

Ivan and Elina were secretly hoping that these beasts could kill her or at least injure him enough to the point where he couldn't become an explorer anymore.

Chapter 203 Blinded by Hatred

Roar! The ape slammed both fists on Clovis, which the latter barely avoided. The other monkeys approached him from behind, led directly by the Tier 2 monkey.

Clovis spun his body and struck the monkey behind him. The Tier 2 monkey stepped forward and stopped this attack, allowing the other monkeys to approach him from the other side.

Three monkeys came simultaneously.

Bang!

Kanaria shot down one of the monkeys. Clovis used his other sword to block another monkey, but the last one managed to sneak up on him and punch him in the face.

Clovis's stance was destabilized for a second, allowing the two monkeys he blocked earlier to loop around him.

"Watch out!" The people from the other groups looked concerned and wanted to help him. "We have to bail him out!"

They wanted to do something, but it was hard to take down the beasts in front of them. Some monkeys even came to help, messing up the battlefield.

When people worried about him, Clovis only smiled.

He threw himself to the side and rolled on the ground to avoid their attacks. However, the Tier 3 ape once again came striking down.

Clovis barely avoided it by rolling on the ground.

"We will open the path for you. Save him," one of the people from the OpenSky company said to Kanaria.

"You're underestimating him a little too much." Kanaria shook her head. "What is our goal this time? Protecting the camp? Survival? No. Our target is to kill that Tier 3 beast."

There was one thing they miscalculated. Because of Clovis's position, they focused on him a bit too much. They forgot the fact that to defeat Clovis, those monkeys weren't enough. The Tier 3 ape had to join the fight.

The more he attacked Clovis, the more opportunities came for Jay to injure the Tier 3 ape.

And the time to harvest their efforts was about to come.

Bam!

"!!!" Everyone widened their eyes, seeing the Tier 3 ape falling on one knee.

"What?" The people looked shocked, not expecting that the ape would actually fall down like this.

"Look! There are a lot of wounds on the back of the ape's foot. There were even two sword wounds on its broad back!"

"!!!"

That was right. The more they focused on Clovis, the more they forgot about Jay's existence.

Jay let out a sigh. "As expected, the ape is still carefully guarding his neck and organs, but luckily, I managed to crush one of its legs."

Clovis smiled. The Tier 2 monkey was about to reach him, but he managed to stand back up first. His speed suddenly increased.

When the Tier 2 monkey's fist was right before his eyes, Clovis tilted his body to the side and slashed the monkey's arm multiple times.

The other monkeys tried to stop him, but it was futile. Clovis saw their movements in slow motion and cut them down.

Two monkeys had heavy injuries like a severed arm or deep wound. The other two died in an instant.

After that, Clovis chased after the Tier 2 monkey that was running away.

Seeing it was unable to outrun Clovis, the Tier 2 monkey turned around and slammed its other arm. Unfortunately, just like the right arm, Clovis cut it into multiple pieces.

Kiee! The monkey panicked, but Clovis's swords had reached his neck and sent his head flying.

Roar! The Tier 3 ape looked angry and raised both arms. However, Jay took this opportunity and stabbed the ape from behind.

Seeing that the ape coughed up blood as its body was paralyzed.

Jay noticed that the muscle was also hard to cut, but it wasn't impossible. Jay lowered his center of gravity and gathered as much strength as possible before swinging the blade inside the ape's body.

Roar!

The ape spat a mouthful of blood as Jay's saber was cut from the left side, just below the chest, to the left chest, right underneath the armpit.

The blood gushing out of the wound was amazing. However, their attack had yet to end.

Clovis jumped forward and slashed the ape's other leg multiple times in the span of one second.

"!!!" The ape was shocked as it suddenly lost the feeling of the remaining leg, causing it to fall on both knees.

"What?!"

"They turned around the battle in just a moment?"

"It all started with that swordsman taking down one of its legs and causing the ape to get enraged."

"No. It should have started with their captain who chose to position himself between the ape and the rest of the monkeys. It caused the ape to expose its back to that swordsman."

The people had witnessed how they fought, confirming the videos were real. This group indeed killed three Tier 3 beasts with their own strength.

"Not yet. Don't lose your focus yet!" Clovis shouted as he jumped away. Right after that, the ape swung his arms uncontrollably, trying to push away everything around him.

Everyone knew that while the ape was still alive, it would only be a matter of time before it succumbed to its wound.

Still, the one who was shocked the most by this sudden development was Ivan. At one moment, Clovis looked in trouble and would die soon. In just a moment, he almost killed the Tier 3 beast.

Meanwhile, they had yet to find their Tier 3 beast.

If Clovis managed to kill the Tier 3 beast so soon, it wouldn't be weird for Hana to accept his request if Clovis asked to hunt another Tier 3 beast. It could be said that Clovis might be targeting his Tier 3 beast that has yet to come.

The moment he realized Clovis's plan, he couldn't help but look at the other two Tier 3 beasts.

The one fighting Hana was also injured. It might take a bit longer, but Hana should be more than capable of taking down a Tier 3 beast.

However, the beast that fought Reyes was still in top condition. Ivan had the thought that instead of letting Clovis steal his Tier 3 beast, he should kill one first so that he could make some contributions during this raid.

Ivan clenched his grip as if he had made his decision.

"NO!"

Chapter 204 Drama

"NO!"

Elina had been skeptical about the current situation. As soon as Clovis turned the situation around, she got a bad premonition.

When she noticed Ivan's gaze, she realized that Ivan might do something foolish. Before Ivan could leave, Elina grabbed his wrist. "No!"

Ivan glared at her as if telling her the implication if they didn't make their move here.

Elina still remembered what happened when they left their position. It seemed that Ivan's anger had fully taken care of his rationality. At this rate, he wouldn't be useful to them anymore pretty soon.

Ivan forcefully broke free from her grip, but Vina stood in his way all of a sudden.

"You..." Ivan had been suspicious of her.

"Vina?" Elina looked surprised that Vina, who had always been passive this whole time, took action.

"I will stop you if you still plan to make this whole mess even more chaotic."

"You really..." Ivan gritted his teeth.

"You need not waste your breath on pointless questions. It's just as you imagine." Vina's eyes started releasing her killing intent as if she were planning to stop him even if it meant cutting him down. "I thank you for all the hospitality you have shown me these past months."

"!!!" Elina gasped. Vina actually left this group in such a fashion.

"What is this?"

"Are we having a drama?"

"What drama? If you want drama, just fight these beasts. It will be a good fucking action drama!"

A lot of people were frustrated, including Richard, the Tier 3 explorer in charge of this side.

Clovis actually frowned when he saw their actions. He seemed to have changed his thoughts and said, "Kill this ape, Jay."

"Got it!" Jay slashed the ape's back, leaving yet another big wound.

Clovis took out his pistol and shot the ape's face, causing the ape to be unable to spin his upper body as his arms were protecting his face.

Jay looped around and moved to the side. Since the arms were the ones protecting its neck, Jay chose to cut down one of them first while Clovis stopped its movement.

The ape roared in pain.

Clovis moved in the opposite direction and struck the other arm, stopping it from moving. The monkeys noticed what they planned to do and split into two groups, planning to use their lives to crush their plan.

Clovis used his pistol to stop the monkeys and his sword to slash the arm. On the other side, Jay didn't even bother to glance at these monkeys as a grenade suddenly fell between them.

Boom!

The explosion blew up several monkeys, giving Jay two precious seconds.

Without hesitation, Jay leaped into the air and slashed the ape's neck with all his strength, wanting to send the head flying.

"!!!" Jay looked surprised after cutting the ape. He glanced at the wound and muttered inwardly, 'It's not cut completely?'

He didn't expect that the neck was actually tougher than he expected. His blade couldn't penetrate all the way to the back of the neck. Still, it managed to reach more than half of the depth, ultimately killing the ape.

Bam!

The ape's body fell to the ground.

When Jay saw the monkeys about to reach his position, Clovis appeared in front of him and cut down these enraged monkeys.

"You've killed this ape, so assist him." Clovis pointed to the side.

"!!!" Jay frowned while following the direction Clovis pointed at, finding Reyes in its path. In that instant, Jay understood what he wanted. "Alright."

Without saying another word, Jay disengaged from the battle and headed straight to Reyes, leaving Kanaria and Clovis on this side.

If the Tier 3 ape was still alive, people would definitely complain. However, if they only had to resist these lower tier beasts, Clovis alone should be enough.

After seeing his ability, no one complained about Clovis's decision.

"The Tier 3 beast has been killed. All we need to do is play safe. Remember, don't lose your life foolishly in this place." Clovis shouted.

"Ooh!" The people responded to him. Without them realizing it, Clovis had taken their hearts like a leader.

...

Clink!

Reyes clicked his tongue when the turtle hid inside its shell once again.

Because the other beasts began swarming his side, Reyes had to move back again. Seeing this, the turtle came out once again.

It was an annoying fight where Reyes couldn't get an advantage because of the beast's tactic.

As soon as the Tier 3 turtle took a step forward, multiple roars suddenly echoed from the side. However, those roars were filled with shock and terror. Some even came from the air.

When the turtle turned its head to the side, it saw Jay approaching at bullet speed. It hurriedly went back inside, but Jay was one step faster and grazed the turtle's mouth.

Even though the turtle was able to hide again, blood started flowing out of the hole in its shell.

Still, Jay didn't want to waste too much stamina dealing with lower tier beasts. He hurriedly joined Reyes on the back.

"You are from that group..." Reyes frowned.

"We've taken care of the Tier 3 beast over there and Clovis... Ahem, my captain is enough to hold the fort over there. We should kill this turtle as quickly as possible since there are a lot of 'unpredictable' variables."

"!!!" Reyes noticed the use of 'unpredictable' instead of 'unknown.' Instead of the Tier 3 beast or hidden danger they didn't know yet, Jay was indirectly implying Ivan as the variable.

It was true. If Ivan made a mess, it would be hard to fight these beasts. This was an outskirt anyway, so it was better to prioritize Hana's safety than their glory.

"I see. It's indeed going to be safer if we manage to kill this Tier 3 beast before the fourth one comes, since there are a lot of things we can do at that point. It seems that your group's reputation is well-deserved."

"My captain told me to assist you. You're free to take the kill." Jay shrugged.

"What is your name?" Reyes asked.

"Jay."

"Haha. I should thank your captain after this then. In that case, help me take down this Tier 3, Jay."

"Alright."

Both of them looked at the turtle. They both were able to see several paths that opened by simply joining hands.

Chapter 205 Fighting the Tier 3 Turtle

Now that Reyes had finally found an assistant, the attack pattern changed.

Jay approached the turtle, which triggered the turtle to hide inside its shell. After that, Reyes approached the turtle and extended his blade as long as possible, trying to reach the head within the shell.

There was one reason why he didn't step inside the shell directly. He was afraid that the turtle could actually use it to his advantage and somehow trap him inside. Because of its body structure, he might get squashed.

When he didn't feel any flesh in his thrust, he couldn't help but raise his eyebrows. This wasn't supposed to happen if his opponent was a normal turtle.

He glanced at the side, finding Jay already positioned himself to stop the beasts coming toward them.

"Tsk." Reyes thought for a moment. He could throw the grenade inside the shell, but no one in his team used one.

"Our operator would like to share something. Can we get permission to synchronize with your device?"

"!!!" Reyes was taken aback by the question but immediately replied, "Reyes210490."

"Thanks."

In an instant, Melody linked her device with him and sent a picture.

"This is..." Reyes widened his eyes in surprise. His expression turned serious as he asked, "Are you sure you want to do this?"

"I believe this is the fastest way."

"In that case, I'll be selfish for this raid and ask for your cooperation."

Jay nodded. As soon as they reached an agreement, Jay and Reyes turned around and moved toward each other.

Reyes struck the beasts that chased after Jay. On the other hand, Jay struck the shell that protected the turtle's body.

Clink!

Clink!

Clink!

He released a series of attacks that contained every bit of his strength. The turtle looked confused, and Reyes was wondering if the plan would work.

However, after ten strikes, something unbelievable happened.

Crack!

Reyes and the turtle were startled. How could they believe it? Jay actually managed to crack the sturdy shell.

With another slash, he caused a small part of the shell to shatter, the pieces were flying into the air.

Jay struck the turtle once again, widening the crack.

"!!!"

The turtle realized what they were planning to do. If Jay opened up the shell, it wouldn't be hard to kill the turtle. He might get tired, but Reyes was there to deal the finishing blow.

As if to prevent it, the turtle suddenly emerged from its shell, and its mouth, wide open, tried to swallow Jay.

Jay couldn't help but smile. He took a step back to get another look at the head before striking its jaw.

Jay's cut was clean, slicing the lower jaw.

The turtle let out a cry, but it hurriedly twisted its head and head-butted Jay from the side.

Realizing he wasn't fast enough to stop it with his sword, Jay raised his right arm and got blown away.

During that time, Reyes came from the opposite direction and slashed the neck. Unfortunately, he didn't manage to cut it all the way as the beasts had knocked him to the side.

The turtle did its best to endure the pain. Before going back, the turtle swallowed a mouthful of soil and shot it like a boulder at Jay.

Jay immediately stood up. Since it was impossible to dodge it, he struck the spherical soil from the side, slightly deflecting it.

Bam!

The ball-shaped soil hit the ground with tremendous force. Jay managed to deflect it, but his fingers were a bit numb.

Jay hurriedly moved forward, ignoring his injuries. If they could take down the turtle right now, the situation would be in their favor.

Unfortunately for him, the turtle hurriedly retracted its head.

Since Reyes's job was to distract the beasts, he actually began cutting down the beasts while making his way to the other holes in the shell.

When he reached the one where the turtle's right foot was hiding, he spotted a boar among those beasts.

The boar charged at him, but Reyes grabbed its tusks and stopped the charge with all his strength. He buried his right foot with a stomp and stopped the boar after getting pushed back for two meters.

Still, it was enough. Reyes waved his hands, changing the direction of the charge. As a result, the boar was actually going straight to the hole.

"!!!" The boar wanted to stop, but he was moving too fast. The sharp, big tusks stabbed the foot.

The turtle let out another cry, not being able to withstand the pain. It even kicked the boar out of the hole like a cannonball.

Reyes was already waiting right at the entrance. He struck the turtle's foot right after the boar was launched, injuring the turtle even more.

'Luckily, I didn't send any grenades inside. If I do that, the grenades would be launched back to our side and cause tremendous impact.' Reyes thought.

While he was feeling relieved, his condition was still quite worse. The feet on the other side emerged and kicked the ground, propelling the giant body to Reyes.

The latter barely escaped by jumping above the shell.

However, this meant his position would be exposed. A lot of beasts hurriedly leaped onto the beast's shell and ran to Reyes.

Sadly for the turtle, Jay's focus remained unchanged. While the turtle focused on Reyes, he kept striking the shell to widen the damage on the shell.

Finally, after his one hundredth strike, the shell snapped.

"!!!" The turtle felt its outer part break apart. It didn't expect that a Tier 1 human was capable of achieving such a feat.

But with this, Jay could actually walk into the shell without being worried about getting squashed by the turtle's body inside.

The turtle emerged again with full force, using the speed to launch Jay away.

That was when Reyes appeared. Since he was already on top of the shell, he moved to the front part.

Right before Jay was launched away, Reyes stabbed the turtle from above. "I got you!"

The turtle abruptly stopped in shock.

However, it seemed that they had slightly failed their mission.

Jay took a tad too long to destroy the shell as another series of roars shook the battlefield.

"!!!" Reyes raised his head, looking at the opposite side. The last Tier 3 beast finally made his appearance.