

World Mall 341

Chapter 341 Real Target

Meanwhile, Kanaria and Ragna were still trying to control the situation, especially since the people chose not to evacuate. Kanaria was already cursing them because they were so foolish that they would risk their lives just for clout.

Kanaria's expression turned serious when she noticed more and more people gathered in this place. While it didn't really matter if more civilians came here, the problem was that she could sense some people with high tiers among them.

'Where is the police?' Kanaria couldn't help but wonder. They should move fast, especially in this emergency.

Meanwhile, Ragna had positioned himself a bit to the front so that he could shield Kanaria at any moment.

Whether it was fortunate or unfortunate, they could finally hear the police's siren.

Kanaria could finally get away from here. While she didn't mind being attacked here, it would be troublesome if the attackers tried to harm the citizens.

Besides, fighting them in a secluded place allowed them to be separated from normal civilians.

"Move! Move!" The two officers made their way through the crowd, finding Kanaria, Ragna, and five people on the ground. They both pointed their guns at Kanaria and Ragna. "Put down your weapons!"

"!!!" Ragna and Kanaria couldn't help but furrow their eyebrows. If this was a normal situation, they wouldn't hesitate to put down their weapons. But some of their enemies were still hiding among them. Once they lowered their weapons, these people wouldn't hesitate to attack them.

Kanaria said, "I apologize for not being able to comply. I am Kanaria Renvolt, affiliated with the Libation Fiesta. I'm not planning to put anyone in harm."

"I'm sorry, but we also have procedures to follow." The officers continued pointing their guns, not caring about Kanaria's identities.

Kanaria said, "I'm afraid that there are still more people who are trying to harm us here, so we can't drop our weapons."

"Put your weapons down, or we will be forced to shoot!" The officers didn't care about it and still insisted that Kanaria and Ragna put their weapons down.

Ragna glanced at Kanaria, who was frustrated by their stubbornness. While it was true that they had their own rules, they still needed to be flexible.

That was why Kanaria didn't seem to have any choice but to go through this in a hard way.

Of course, they weren't planning to attack the police officers.

Kanaria first observed the buildings around them, ensuring that there was no sniper.

"Put your weapons down!" The officers shouted again, pressuring them. The people started to panic. Some thought Kanaria's words made some sense, some just wanted Kanaria to put down her weapon and talk about it afterward.

Unfortunately, Kanaria chose not to comply. Since the police they called didn't lessen their burdens, they just chose to ignore them entirely.

"Left!" Kanaria shouted while running to the left.

In that instant, Ragna positioned himself between the cops and Kanaria. As expected, with such a sudden movement, the cops opened fire, trying to shoot them down.

Bang!

Bang!

Ragna skillfully put the shield in front, covering both himself and Kanaria. The bullets couldn't penetrate Ragna's new Tier 5 shield.

"Aaaahhh!"

"Kyaaa!"

"They're shooting!"

"Run!"

The people dispersed in panic, making the already messy situation even more chaotic. Still, it didn't really matter, as Kanaria and Ragna only had one thing to do.

They went through the gap between the crowds. There was no way the police could shoot them when they were around civilians.

"Kh." The two officers gritted their teeth. They chased after Ragna and Kanaria, but they simply couldn't pull the triggers.

However, Kanaria wasn't in a good situation either.

Once they were about to pass through the scattered crowd, several people suddenly jumped toward her at quick speed.

"!!!" Ragna saw three people coming from the right side. He hurriedly put his shield in front while thrusting his spear, restraining the first person.

Still, the second and third looped around them. The second person attacked him from the side, forcing Ragna to put his shield in its way to block it.

After all, these three people were all Tier 3 humans.

The moment Ragna blocked the attack with his shield, the third person came from the opposite direction and attacked him.

"Tsk!" Ragna gritted his teeth. He ended up taking the attack with his arm, utilizing the defensive jacket to block it.

Unfortunately for him, the jacket wasn't enough to stop the knife. While it had changed its trajectory a bit, the knife still slashed through and cut his arm quite deep.

Ragna endured the pain and slammed his body against this third person, pushing him back by several meters.

Kanaria pointed her pistol at the third person, utilizing the opportunity that Ragna created to kill at least one of them.

However, she suddenly heard footsteps coming from behind as though that person were running. Her back was supposed to face a store.

When she thought about it, there was a possibility that the enemy hid inside.

That was why Kanaria turned around instead of shooting the third person. As she expected, there was a person shattering the window into pieces with his knee.

After that, he kicked Kanaria's pistol up.

"Tsk." Kanaria's grip obviously couldn't be compared to Clovis or Jay. Now that she lost her weapon, the guy kicked her from the side. Kanaria could only try to catch it with her hands.

Unfortunately, the guy seemed to have Muscle Affinity, she was knocked down to the ground.

"Kanaria!" Ragna tried to help her, but the three attacked him again. Ragna thrust his spear at the fourth person, keeping him away from Kanaria. He then tilted his shield horizontally so that he could block two out of three people.

However, it exposed his back, which one of them took advantage of.

"Gah!"

The guy hit Ragna's back. He managed to slightly throw his body to avoid it, but the knife still created a long wound, which caused serious bleeding.

There were still a few more people coming behind them. They all headed to Kanaria as if they were trying to capture her.

Kanaria was trying to find a way to escape from this place, but that might not be necessary anymore as a person fell right on top of one of the Tier 3 attackers, his feet landing on the guy's head and knocking him down.

"You..." Kanaria sucked a cold breath as if she recognized the reinforcement.

Chapter 342 Reinforcements

"You..." Kanaria gasped. The reinforcement was a Tier 3 human, but more importantly, she had seen this person. And the fact that this person was here must mean the rest of the group also came.

"What?" The attackers, on the other hand, looked shocked. Everything was going according to their plan at first, but all of a sudden, there was a person who tried to mess with their plans.

Unfortunately for them, that wasn't all.

Two more people had come at a fast speed. The first person was another Tier 3. He struck one of them, but the latter managed to react at the last second. The second person was actually a Tier 4. He directly came to the person who injured Kanaria. The attacker managed to react, but the gap between their strengths was simply too big.

The Tier 4 reinforcement simply blasted him to the ground.

"As expected, it's you guys." Kanaria smirked. "You've come?"

"I'm just repaying the favor I owe that guy." The Tier 3 reinforcement who came first harrumphed.

Meanwhile, the Tier 4 guy simply shouted, "We can talk later. Let's take them out first. And yes, Clovis was the one who called us. Sherry!"

"Oh!" A woman's voice echoed from the distance as she shouted at the top of her lungs. "Attention! Evacuate the area! We're from the SWD anti-terrorism."

Yes, the reinforcement that Clovis called was none other than the counter-terrorist squad that they encountered in the mall's incident.

The captain was indebted to them for helping them. The Tier 3 guy who was daring enough to launch himself into the sky to reach them faster was the one who almost died but got saved by Clovis, the one with the most temper, Rain.

Of course, Clovis couldn't mobilize them as he liked even if they were indebted to him. However, it was a different case if the other party had used weapons, especially guns.

That was enough reason for the squad to move.

The two police officers were shocked that the reinforcements were at much higher ranks than them. And the first thing they did was try to disarm Kanaria.

They couldn't imagine what would happen if Kanaria and Ragna chose to lower their weapons earlier.

"You two! Hurry up and stop them!" Sherry shouted, pointing at the other attackers. Since they weren't too strong, the normal officers should be able to stop them. However, that might not be possible anymore. "No, watch out!"

Sherry tried to stop them, but the two officers were stabbed from behind. Two out of the five people that Clovis knocked out earlier had gotten up. As expected, there were some people with Heart Affinity.

"Tsk!" Kanaria was busy with one of the fighters. Ragna was the same, especially since he also had to keep an eye on Kanaria.

Hence, the only one that could move was their Tier 4 captain. Without hesitation, the captain chose to take these two down first since they had killed police officers.

However, when he was about to reach them, Kanaria suddenly shouted, "Watch out!"

"!!!" The captain's instinct kicked in. He abruptly stopped and raised his hand to the side. His palm was pierced by a knife. It turned out that there was a Tier 4 attacker among them. He moved so fast to reach Kanaria earlier that he didn't manage to grasp the full situation. "Kh!"

The Tier 4 enemy and the captain exchanged blows, but none of them was letting the other party go. While Kanaria and Ragna were strong, they weren't as strong as Jay and Clovis, who were capable of taking down a Tier 4 human. Hence, the captain chose to restrain this Tier 4 enemy here.

Still, the two guys that he was about to defeat earlier ended up attacking him. The captain punched one of them, but the other one managed to close in, striking the side under his armpit. "Tsk."

"Be careful!" The captain warned them, as the guy didn't stop after injuring the captain. He headed straight to Kanaria.

Ragna frowned. He slammed his shield at his opponent before positioning himself to ensure Kanaria's safety.

However, when the enemies attacked him simultaneously, another enemy appeared out of nowhere, approaching Kanaria from the opposite direction.

"!!!" Kanaria widened her eyes in shock because this incoming presence exuded a Tier 4 aura. "What?"

Kanaria never thought that they would use all this resource just to capture her. Then again, knowing Clovis was able to fight a Tier 4, the enemies definitely knew that they should send two. Although they wanted to separate Clovis from Kanaria and Ragna, there was a chance that it didn't work out.

Hence, they chose this number. And it was perfect. Clovis was separated. The sudden reinforcement freaked them out at first, but there was only one Tier 4 among them.

With this, the last Tier 4, who had remained hidden the whole time, finally made his appearance.

Kanaria grabbed the arms of the opponent she currently faced. The other party tried to hurt her arm with the knife, but Kanaria kicked his balls first.

"Gah." The guy didn't expect that Kanaria was still calm enough to actually pull such a move in these circumstances.

Kanaria immediately grabbed the knife from his hands and turned to the incoming Tier 4.

The Tier 4 human had a dagger in each hand. And it would be impossible for her to stop a Tier 4. Hence, she took a gamble on the condition that the other party wouldn't take her life.

She took a step forward, trying to grab his right hand.

The Tier 4 simply waved his hand in the opposite direction to avoid it. However, that was never Kanaria's target. Her hand curved and she grabbed his left hand. Then Kanaria's right hand came with a dagger, stabbing his lower arm.

Even though Kanaria couldn't defeat a Tier 4, injuring his hand like this would definitely weaken him quite a bit. And the other party wouldn't kill her.

Unfortunately for her, a Tier 4 wasn't that easy to defeat. He simply let go of the dagger as the momentum caused the dagger to fly to the front, hitting her shoulder.

He might be ordered not to kill Kanaria, but it didn't say anything about not injuring her.

Once she got distracted by the pain, the guy's right hand came back and punched Kanaria on the cheek.

Her body was launched more than five meters as she rolled a few times on the asphalt.

"Kanaria." Ragna's face turned pale.

Chapter 343 Surprise Attack

"Kanaria!" Ragna panicked. He never thought that there was still another Tier 4 hidden among them.

Without hesitation, he turned around and rushed to Kanaria, not allowing the Tier 4 enemy to grab her.

"Do you think you can ignore me?" The Tier 3 fighter that stopped him earlier took this opportunity to wave his dagger horizontally, slashing Ragna's back.

"Kh." Ragna gritted his teeth and continued onward as if a wound that big didn't bother him. In fact, this might be the first time he was glad to have this special constitution.

After all, it allowed him to believe that his body would be able to recover from such a wound.

And he could finally catch up to the Tier 4 enemy.

"You're not going anywhere." Ragna shouted while thrusting his spear.

"!!!" The Tier 4 enemy was surprised and hurriedly avoided the spear that was aimed at his neck. Still, due to his position, he was a bit late in avoiding this thrust and allowed the spear to graze his neck.

The Tier 4 enemy abruptly stopped and slammed Ragna's shield with his arm, trying to use all his strength to blow him away.

It was painful. Not only was his arm numb, but the wound on his back jolted his entire body.

Yet Ragna persisted, using the dwarven shielding technique to stop the momentum.

'Even if I can't defeat a Tier 4 like Clovis and Jay, I refuse to be defeated by them.' Ragna endured all that pain and continued onward. "Raahh!"

'What is this guy? How could he move with a wound that big?' The Tier 4 enemy was stunned. He ended up getting pushed back this time, allowing Ragna to reach Kanaria before anyone else.

Ragna put his shield in front while glaring at them as if saying, 'Come. I won't let you take her away.'

This was his promise to the person who changed his fate.

Both enemies exchanged looks. They didn't have a lot of time left, so they needed to bypass Ragna and grab Kanaria right away.

Looking at this situation, there was only one thing to do.

The Tier 4 enemy marched first, smashing Ragna's shield with his arms and daggers in rapid succession.

Ragna blocked each attack with his shield while waiting for an opportunity to fight back. Of course, he could also use his spear to stop the Tier 3 guy that was about to come.

When the Tier 3 enemy was about to arrive, the Tier 4 guy immediately slammed Ragna's shield toward the opposite direction to give an opportunity for the Tier 3 guy to slip past Ragna.

"Tsk!" Ragna gritted his teeth as the Tier 4 guy pinned him to the side.

The Tier 3 enemy couldn't help but smile, his eyes gradually shifting to Ragna's other hand. 'All I need to do is avoid the spear. In that position, there's no way he can use his spear well.'

However, when Ragna slightly tilted his body as if he were about to swing his spear, the Tier 3 guy gasped. 'What? Where is the spear?'

Yes, Ragna's other hand was actually empty.

He lowered his vision a bit and saw Kanaria, who was supposed to be lying on the ground unconscious, lifting her body while thrusting the spear.

"!!!" The Tier 3 guy hurriedly threw himself to the side in panic, but it was too late. Kanaria had used Ragna's body to cover whatever she was doing. And that spear hit his heart.

The Tier 3 guy spat a mouthful of blood.

Obviously, his death shocked the Tier 4 guy who was keeping Ragna at bay. He soon realized that Kanaria had woken up, no, it would be more accurate to say that she actually made them think she was unconscious this whole time.

Ragna had also used the same technique during the tournament. He abandoned his spear at the last second and gave it to Kanaria. That was why he kept his stance that way.

Kanaria smirked, even though her face was a mess. Her nose was broken because of that punch, and blood was smeared on her face, making her look like a ghost. In fact, Kanaria lost her consciousness a second earlier. It was probably due to the lucky necklace that she managed to regain her consciousness right away. She used her senses to understand what was going on and chose this plan.

'Even though I'm weaker than Clovis and Jay, it doesn't mean you can underestimate me.' Kanaria thought while getting up. She couldn't help but glance at the wound on Ragna's back. It was horrible, but it had already started closing.

Of course, Ragna thought the same. He was shocked that Kanaria was conscious earlier, but Kanaria managed to send a message, which was projected in the Skyglasses, telling him about her condition. She did it in the few seconds that Ragna blocked their view with his shield.

If allowing Kanaria to kill the enemy would make her safer, of course, he had to cooperate.

Now that there is only one Tier 4 left, Ragna should be able to handle him alone.

She hurriedly gave back the spear to Ragna and picked up the Tier 3 guy's knife. They could fight this Tier 4 enemy together, but it wouldn't be productive. Hence, Kanaria's focus shifted to the enemies that the SWD team took care of.

If he could eliminate them first so that the other Tier 3 could join them, the situation would be overturned in an instant.

In addition, Clovis should be on the way. Once he returned to this place, they could eliminate or even capture the two Tier 4 enemies before interrogating them.

The plan had been established in her mind, so she immediately ran toward the enemies on the opposite side. "I leave him to you, Ragna."

"Yes." Ragna nodded.

"You're not getting away!" The Tier 4 guy clicked his tongue and tried to stop her, but Ragna stood in his way. "Move!"

He hit the shield, but Ragna refused to get pushed back.

When the situation was about to get better, the emergency alarm resounded across the city. And there was only one reason for this alarm to be activated. It was when there was a beast wave attacking this city.

Chapter 344 Weird Plan

The alarm resounded across the city, alerting all the people living in it.

Even Clovis, who was on the way, couldn't help but raise his head while running. 'What? A beast wave at a time like this? No, this is simply too much of a coincidence. Is this actually a part of their plan?'

There were two big questions on Clovis' mind. The first one was: Who actually thought of this absurd plan? For sure, Ivan wouldn't be the one thinking about this. The second one was: Who enabled him to do all this?

In the first place, Ivan wasn't supposed to have enough influence to muster a lot of people. In addition, they had a lot of high-tier people. Even though he didn't know that there were two Tier 4 humans among them, the huge number of Tier 3 alone was already shocking.

And doing this would definitely turn him into a terrorist.

So, who actually gave all these people to him? No, it looked like they used Ivan as a justification.

'What is going on? Are those two assassins the real culprits? But if they're the real culprits, they should be targeting me. Besides, doing this will cause my grandfather to rampage even more.

'In that case, the culprits must be someone else. We can get some information if we interrogate them. The real problem is... Where is Ivan?'

Clovis' expression turned solemn.

'It seems that someone is deliberately taking advantage. I don't think my parents or grandfather will do this stupid thing as a way to test me like any other dumb big family. So can I safely assume that my family's enemies are the culprits? But I have gotten a lot of offers after that competition. There's also a chance that they're trying to eliminate me so that I don't become a threat to them.'

Clovis frowned. On the one hand, his family name would become the perfect weapon to stop them. On the other hand, it would also invite a lot more trouble.

"Tsk. I have to speed up. The military can handle the beast wave for the time being. I don't know their scale, but they should be able to last for a while. I need to defeat the enemies within the city in the meantime."

It would still take two minutes before he could reach Ragna and Kanaria. During that time, he chose to think about another problem, which turned into another big question.

'What are they planning with this beast wave?'

At first, it looked like this beast wave was a distraction, but the timing was a bit later than it was supposed to be.

If Clovis was the one who came up with the plan, he would bring the beast wave right after the attack so that the police would be busy evacuating the people and the military would be occupied with the beast wave. Hence, there was no way to get reinforcement.

During that time, he would secure Kanaria and kill Ragna. With this result, Clovis would have to chase after them so that nothing happened to Kanaria, while they sent another force to eliminate Jay.

With this plan, they could kill Ragna, Kanaria, Melody, and Jay at the same time, leaving Clovis alone.

In fact, Clovis would definitely push through the beast wave to chase after them. With enough beasts, Clovis would die during the chase. The Rusth family and the Drake Group would be happy to cooperate with this plan since it would be a great blow to the Havenson family and the Renvolt family.

This was a perfect plan. He believed that his family's enemies were smart enough to come up with this kind of plan.

That was why he didn't understand the timing of the beast wave.

Still, the emergency alarm had thrown the city into chaos. A lot of people were evacuating to the shelters.

He never thought that the attack this time would cause this much damage. He never really wanted to involve the innocent civilians.

Unfortunately, he still couldn't figure out the enemy's plan by the time he reached Kanaria and Ragna's positions.

The only thing he found out was the rage that gradually took over his heart once he saw their conditions.

Ragna had a lot of wounds on his body. Judging from the blood in his clothes, it could be said that he had received a few severe injuries.

On the other hand, Kanaria, who was usually protected as a sniper, got her nose broken. No, this might be more important. How dare they hurt Kanaria?

His rage invoked the perfect state again, as though it were the true trigger of this mysterious state.

However, Clovis couldn't care less about it right now. He wanted to kill these guys first.

The Tier 4 enemy that fought Ragna noticed a strong presence coming from the side.

'Is that Clovis? He's already back?' The Tier 4 guy frowned. He had obviously seen the battle between Clovis and Aileen. However, he had been in this tier for more than six years. He didn't think that he would be losing against him that easily.

'We have to retreat... but only after I exchange a few blows against this guy. I need to experience his strength so that I can describe it later.' The Tier 4 guy used his beast soul and kicked Ragna with all his strength.

Bam!

Ragna was being pushed back more than five meters, giving him a precious few seconds to fight Clovis.

'Come, you brat. I will show you the difference in our experience.' The Tier 4 guy waved his daggers.

Clovis also swung his sword.

Cling!

The first exchange produced a loud ringing sound. More importantly, the strike actually shocked the Tier 4 guy. 'What? It's too heavy? Are you sure that his affinity is Bloody, not Muscle? No, I can't lose!'

Clovis once again shattered his expectations. He struck the guy four times, which created a small gap in the opponent's defense. He sent forth his blade and actually changed its trajectory from the chest to the guy's right hand.

After cutting one hand, Clovis overwhelmed the other hand with both hands and cut this hand.

Then, he took a step forward and extended his two swords toward his neck before sending the guy's head flying.

Chapter 345 Clovis' Order

Ragna looked surprised. Even though the Tier 4 guy's arm was severely injured, Clovis simply killed him too easily. Of course, Ragna played a part in exhausting his stamina, but it was simply too unbelievable.

It could be said that Clovis' abilities were created to kill.

And Clovis didn't plan to stop just with this head, there was still one more Tier 4 guy.

Without hesitation, Clovis headed straight to him.

"!!!" The Tier 4 enemy looked alarmed when he sensed Clovis. With a single glance, he could actually see that his friend had died.

The SWD team's captain chose to accommodate Clovis, fully aware of his ability.

"Haaa!" He struck the enemy's knife from above, pinning the guy down.

Having no choice, the enemy jumped back, planning to sweep away, but Kanaria had actually grabbed her pistol back and shot him.

"!!!" The guy got hit twice in the body. She didn't dare aim at the guy's head and end up missing in a place like this.

Still, it was enough to stop him for a moment. During that time, Clovis sped up and ultimately reached his position.

"Kh!" The guy stomped the ground, using a beast soul.

Clovis jumped into the air as the stomp actually created a small crater. He waved his swords multiple times, but the guy was actually fast enough to block every single attack.

Unfortunately for him, Clovis was just bait this time. The real attack came from the side.

The SWD team's captain rushed forward, swinging his weapon with all his strength.

The enemy tried to block it, but due to Clovis, he couldn't put a lot of power into the block. The captain overwhelmed him and broke his defense, allowing his blade to reach him. The slash cut the guy from one arm to another. He was bleeding profusely, as if at least one organ had been hit.

In addition, Clovis had landed on the ground and turned around, waving his sword again.

The enemy turned around, but it was too late. Clovis cut his arm along with his side, hitting his heart slightly. The blood flowed even more, causing the guy's body to shiver.

Without hesitation, the captain cleaved him into two, killing the Tier 4 guy. Looking back, this Tier 4 guy was similar to Jay when he had to stop two Tier 3 beasts. He needed all his strength to block the first one, while the second one got the opportunity to hit him. The process repeated until the enemy died. Jay was strong enough to last for a while, but this guy wasn't so fortunate.

After the second Tier 4 enemy died, Clovis and the captain worked together, eliminating the rest of the enemies.

But the second they were done, Kanaria and Sherry surprisingly said the same thing at the same time. "Wait. You should capture them! We need to interrogate them."

Just like them, Clovis and the captain replied, "We don't have time for that!"

Yes, interrogating the Tier 4 enemies would definitely allow them to get some information. Considering they were the strongest among them, it wouldn't be weird if they knew more than the others.

However, the city was facing a beast wave. It would be better if they solved the beast wave first before thinking about these guys. They could still do an autopsy or something else after this.

The captain shouted, "Sherry. Give me the report about the beast wave!"

"Y-Yes, sir." Sherry hurriedly regained her composure and checked on the situation. "According to the headquarters, the beast wave only contains a thousand beasts. The leaders of this beast wave appear to be three Tier 4 beasts.

"Currently, two Tier 4 beasts have been dispatched to defend the beasts. They are from the east and have begun to spread to the north and south walls. However, there hasn't been any significant damage, and the situation seems to be under control."

The captain frowned. "What about the reinforcement from the headquarters?"

"They're thinking about sending one hundred more soldiers."

"That Tier 4 beast is going to be troublesome." Clovis needed to make a decision. On the one hand, the beast wave was most likely Ivan's scheme. He didn't know why they did it, but there should be a catch. If he focused on solving this problem, he might be able to figure out the entire scheme.

On the other hand, the beast wave was indirectly caused by him, considering it was because of him that the enemies had to resort to a beast wave. He didn't like the fact that a lot of lives were gone because of him.

"Tsk." Clovis clicked his tongue. In this situation, he could only choose one thing. "We will reinforce the wall."

The captain noticed that Clovis was staring at him as if indirectly implying that they were the only ones going. "What do you mean?"

"Our teams will remain here and take care of the situation inside the base, ensuring that the enemies don't use this opportunity to erase their tracks. You and I will go to the wall, eliminating the Tier 4 beasts." Clovis explained.

The captain looked surprised. Even though Ragna and Kanaria were injured when he wasn't present, he still entrusted his team to do something so that he could kill those beasts for the greater good.

At the same time, he wasn't foolish enough to drop everything.

The captain nodded. "Alright. Let's go according to your arrangement. Don't worry. My team will do their best to ensure your team's safety."

Clovis then turned to the rest. "Take care of this place. After that, make haste to the hospital. I'm afraid they will also erase their track from there. Jay is also there, so it'll become much safer."

Kanaria wanted to say something, but she noticed that Clovis' expression was slightly different. It seemed that he was still in that mysterious state. In this state, there was no need to worry about him.

"Alright." Kanaria agreed with Clovis' decision and turned to the SWD team. They also agreed, since their captain had decided to do it.

After that, Clovis and the captain exchanged nods before rushing to the east wall.

