

Worlds Plot 131

Chapter 131: 5.33 First Violet Star - Baby, you are...

After the Ice Dome was made to protect the whole area around the cave, the tribe was firmly protected inside. The temperature had returned to its normal state and the tribesmen had no need to wear extra coats or clothes on them to survive. The children had recovered from their sickly state and were now running around the interior of the cave spreading cheerful laughter. There were some male beastmen going out the cave to check around in groups while the female beastmen were all busy with dinner preparations.

At the inner chamber of the cave, a black jaguar and a white snow leopard were cuddling at each other almost forming a yin-yang symbol. It is mostly the larger pitch black jaguar who is keeping the small from getting cold. The white snow leopard is obviously in deep sleep. These two were Xuebao and Meizhou in their beast form. Ever since Xuebao fell asleep yesterday, he suddenly turned into his beast form last night as if he couldn't control his human transformation. Meizhou had returned to his beast form to keep the slumbering snow leopard warm.

Shizi and Sheya visit to do their reports. Since the temperature inside the cave had returned to its normal state, even Sheya who is a cold blooded creature in his beast form had woken up.

"Sir, we came to make our daily report." said Sheya.

The huge black jaguar moves a bit and turns his head to face them while still leaning on the white snow leopard under him. He groggily opened his feline eyes revealing the golden orbs within. He squinted at the newly arrived pair languidly.

Meizhou said, "Keep your voice down."

"Yes. This morning the warrior patrolling around the cave had fully checked the surroundings. The ice dome created by the leader had spread 10 meters away from the cave from all sides. The trees and plants within the dome had all revived after the ice and snow had melted overnight." reported Shizi, he reported with his voice obviously lowered.

"There will be a dinner banquet tonight. Are you joining or..." asked Sheya while peeping at the slumbering snow leopard near the black jaguar.

Meizhou replied, "It will depend. If Bao'er wakes up tonight then we will join you guys for dinner. Otherwise if we didn't come out there is no need to serve my meals. Good work with the reports. Continue again tomorrow. You may now go."

Shizi and Sheya were sent away after they've finished their reports. Clearly Meizhou doesn't want them to see his wife's beast form, his possessiveness is very visible for them to notice. It got worse enough that even the young leader's father was sent away every time he dropped by to visit his son. If not because his darling son is sleeping near Meizhou that this childish old man would had longed jumped on Meizhou with intention to beat him up.

Meizhou spoke to the invisible system hovering in the room, "Executioner 13, are you sure you've checked it thoroughly? If you are lying then..."

Meizhou's tone is clearly threatening as he spoke to his subordinate, Zhi Yue.

System Zhi Yue as if afraid of getting punished instantly replied.

[My Lord this little one is not lying. The host is truly 4 weeks ongoing now. In this world female beastmen's pregnancy only needs half a year to fully develop the baby. My Lord only needs to wait 5 months to see your child.]

"5 months? When did you say that beast stampede coming?"

[According to the data it is supposed to happen 7 months from now. The host would be able to safely deliver the baby without worry for the second trial.]

"Hm~ did you know the cause of stampede?"

[A-Ah. Yes! According to the world data the beast stampede was caused by the migration of Tyrannosaurus Rexes from all over the lands. Since the 3 kings of savage beasts had met, endless fighting between three kings had caused chaos in the whole primitive world. There are originally four Tyrannosaurus Rex. The one the Lord had killed is the king of the north forest.]

"I see... so I need to kill three more overgrown lizards. Don't tell my wife about this. Since he is pregnant I don't want him to fight with those useless things."

[M-My Lord are you going to break the plots for the trials?]

"It would not be called breaking but completing it ahead of? schedule. Though my wife would have enjoyed fighting during the stampede his current state isn't compatible for it."

Meizhou turned to his human form and gently placed his hand over his wife's stomach, rubbing it gently with a smile.

"I was only joking when I said we could have a child in this world. We were not original residents of this star. It is obviously impossible for use to have descendants in any world. With my current state it would be even more impossible for me to have authority over the other worlds but... now that his little one has come, can only mean something..."

[It is because the host wanted it, that it fully developed even against the rules of this world.]

Meizhou's smile turned adoringly at his wife while carefully touching his flat stomach. He knows that his wife had loved him dearly, enough to destroy worlds for him if he must. He even toned down his real nature of liking destruction because of him.

It is very hard to receive the love of those with the bloodline of Mo. As they were a special existence whose origin is unknown like the God of creation. They just exist but no one knows how and when. The only thing that could differentiate them from the rest is their initial attribute which is coldness. They would hardly care for others except their own family. Not only they wouldn't treat others differently, they never care about those who they don't like. There's a clear-cut between their likes and dislikes. And rarely someone or something could enter their line of sight.

Meizhou actually doesn't know why he feels attraction towards this man. His soul is fragmented and his memories are in disarray. Very vaguely he remembers someone saving his soul before it fully extinguished. He doesn't remember whom it was nor could clearly recall that person's appearance but when he met his wife in that first world his frozen heart had suddenly started beating. He doesn't understand the reason, he just feels that Xuebao is supposed to be his. The obsession and possessiveness had just resurfaced from his heart. He doesn't know the reason and could only indulge these addictive feelings. Within in the end made him fall deeply and unable to stop.

"Our child is something my wife had wished to have and now that it came true as the father my responsibility is to love my wife and protect our child. Once we finish the collection of my soul, we can live together as a family somewhere quiet and away from those who wish to harm us." said Meizhou.

Evening.

The banquet for the tribe had started a few hours ago. Since Xuebao didn't wake up, Meizhou told the elders who dropped by to check on them that he wouldn't be attending as he needed to look after his sleeping wife.

Zhubao looked at his sleeping child worriedly, "Brat, are you sure there is nothing wrong with my Baobao?!"

"Father. Keep your voice down. There is nothing wrong with Baobao. Didn't you have the tribe doctors check on him last night? He is just sleeping to rest. He needs time to recuperate the strength he used to create the Ice Dome." replied Meizhou to his father-in-law.

Priest Anbao pats his elder brother's shoulder, "Brother please calm down. We should just let Baobao continue his rest. There is A'Zhou looking after him. It will all be fine. He should wake up soon."

The former tribe leader Zhubao grumbled silently in the corner as he couldn't scold Meizhou with his sleeping son around. Afraid of waking him up from his slumber.

"Of course... I know... It just... that..." grumbling Zhubao.

"But A'Zhou you shouldn't forget to eat. You need strength to keep watching at Baobao. You haven't eaten since yesterday. I will have someone send you food. You must eat." said Priest Anbao.

Meizhou responded, "I understand."

"Then... we will go now. I will have someone to guard your place. You should have some sleep as well. Those guards will prevent others from meeting you unless it's an emergency. Take the night off and sleep after you eat dinner. If something happens to you as well, the tribe might collapse." said Priest Anbao.

Meizhou replied, "I know. Father, Uncle An, this snowstorm would stop once this week had passed. After a few days we should make preparations to send someone back to the tribe's territory. Judging from the strength of the storm our original house might be in a wreck."

"This... is correct. There is no way that our camp would be left unharmed by the storm. Okay. I will make the necessary preparations." said Zhubao.

Priest Anbao said, "There is no need to be in a hurry to return home. We also need to expand our camp as our tribe is bigger now than before. There are still six more days before the storm ends. There is enough time for the rest to be planned for."

Afterwards these two elders had taken their leave as they've finished talking with Meizhou and checked on Xuebao's current state. Even though Xuebao is still asleep checking on Meizhou is right as well. After all he is the current proxy leader as Xuebao is still in his slumber.

In the middle of the night, Xuebao finally wakes up.

Groggily opening his heavy eyelids, those pair of sky blue orbs were finally revealed for the others to see. The first thing Xuebao saw is a huge black head leaning on his own. He was startled for a moment and calmly observed his surroundings. He saw a huge obsidian jaguar hugging him? with its four limbs and tails. Then he checks on his hands to see white big paws. Obviously he is in his beast form.

Seeing a huge black cat growling silently in front of him left Xuebao completely amused. He placed his huge white paws on the jaguar's face. Covering both its nose and mouth then waited for a few minutes. After a few minutes the jaguar startled and struggled as it shook its head while huffing. Xuebao watched his husband wake up from lack of air and his eyes widened seeing him. Only then did Xuebao remove his naughty and cruel paws on his husband's face.

GASPED!

"B-Baby! You're awake!" exclaimed Meizhou as he suddenly turned to his human form.

Xuebao followed after him and became human as well. There's a playful smile on his face as he saw Meizhou's slightly red face due to that short moment of lacking air to breath.

With a teasing smile on his face,? "Yes~ I'm awake~" replied Xuebao.

Meizhou pulled him tightly in his embrace, he could even feel him slightly trembling. Seeing this Xuebao would only hug him back and pat him gently to calm him down.

"Haven't I been asleep for only a day and a night? What's wrong?" asked Xuebao while pampering his sticky husband.

Meizhou spoke, pulled away and smiled excitedly at his wife, "Baby~ I have good news for you? Do you wish to listen?~"

Xuebao looked at Meizhou with a bewildered expression but still nodded his head. Then his husband suddenly made him face his back and hugged him. Every movement his husband made is so gentle as if he is something fragile to touch. As a doting wife, he let his husband do whatever he wanted. No he is being hugged from behind. Then he slowly felt Meizhou gently place his huge hand on top of his tummy gently rubbing.

"Baby you are pregnant! It's 4 weeks old~" said Meizhou as everyone could hear the excitement within his voice.

For the first time Meizhou saw his wife show an obviously stunned expression on his face. The surprised emotion imprinted on that beautiful face is unexpected. For someone like his wife who could remain even when his life was in danger had now shown a shocked expression that even his lips slightly parted and his phoenix shaped eyes almost turned round. He looks so cute in such a stunned state. Meizhou couldn't help but give him fleeting kisses on his face and lips. Due to Xuebao's late reaction he couldn't stop this sticky rice cake called Meizhou scattered saliva on his face.

"Enough. Stop kissing!" said Xuebao as he turned around to face his husband. He is now straddling on his lap while the latter's arms were supporting his body from behind. He suddenly grabbed his husband's collar in disbelief.

Xuebao responded, "Is this true? I'm really pregnant!? If you are playing with me I'm going to beat you up A'Xia!?"

Seeing the obvious excitement, happiness and fear that his husband might be teasing him were all shown on his eyes. Meizhou could even feel his wife's hand slightly trembling.

Meizhou could only kiss his wife's trembling hands to comfort him. "I'm not lying. It was 13 who informed me last night. Baby, you are really pregnant~" he said while soothing his wife's nervous state.

Xuebao finally let go of his husband's collar and trembling placed his hands above his tummy very carefully as if a single touch could destroy the little life within him. Xuebao's cunning expression turned shocked and disbelief at first, then he suddenly smiled with a few tears in the corner of his eyes. He was extremely delighted with what he heard from his husband.

Seeing his wife's ever-changing with no hints of calmness for the first time made Meizhou's heartbeat uncontrollably when he saw the traces of tears impending to fall from the corner of his eyes he felt something stung his heart the whole being. His wife in this world is too human like. Unlike before where his wife's expression only varied into changes of either fake smiles, mischievous smile, anger or slight happiness, now he could see him grin, cry and pout.

Once he realized that he is the one causing his wife's changes, Meizhou couldn't help but smile with all his heart. It made him happy seeing different kinds of emotions on his wife's face even when only facing him.

Meizhou kissed his wife's tears and forehead lovingly.

"Are you that happy, Jing'er?" asked Meizhou.

A sweet smile appeared on Xuebao's lips and said, "Yes! A'Xia, I'm very happy!" he replied with a joyous tone Meizhou had never heard from his wife before.

Chapter 132: 5.34 First Violet Star - You'll meet him when I brought you home.

"Are you that happy, Jing'er?" asked Meizhou.

A sweet smile appeared on Xuebao's lips and said, "Yes! A'Xia, I'm very happy!" he replied with a joyous tone Meizhou had never heard from his wife before.

Meizhou asked with a dotting smile, "Why?"

"A'Xia, you don't know how hard it is for my bloodline to have descendants. I am the only young descendant for tens of millennia to exist but even my birth is not natural. It is very hard for our bloodline to have children. My grandparents spend 20 millennia for my daddy to be born. It took another 50 millennia for my uncle to be born and it took another 20 millennia for my aunt to be born. Afterwards my grandparents never had any more children after my aunt was born. My Mo Family consists of only my grandparents and they're three children. Only I was born in the last few hundred years. But my parents were both men and my daddy doesn't wish to conceive naturally which is why I am created artificially by the combination of two genes for my daddy and father. Even the fusion of genes between two High ranking Gods is close to impossible and I am the only one who lived." Explained Xuebao.

This is the first time Xuebao told him anything about his family especially that regal hidden family called Mo. No one knows what kind of family the Mo Clan is. They were famous enough not only because the members were all high ranking Gods and almost unparalleled against others. Not only that The God System and Nether System were all created by the Mo Clan. Rumors say that they have a connection with the Origin God which is the God of Creation Siwang.

Meizhou curiosity had gone over his head and said, "Baby, can I ask you about your family? If you're not allowed to tell me you don't need to give me an answer though."

"Go ask away. You've already impregnated me. Do you think you can escape meeting them in the future? Even if you escape you will be captured in a few hours by my big uncle anyway. Hmp!" said Xuebao.

"??? O-Okay. Then I heard the rumors about your Mo Clan having connection with the Origin. I mean with the Creation God, is this true?" asked Meizhou.

There's a clear reluctance, hidden fear and regret when Meizhou finished his question. Seeing this reaction Xuebao couldn't help but teased his husband. Meizhou is obviously afraid of the Creation God for some unknown reason.

"Are you afraid of the Creation God?" Asked Xuebao with his phoenix eyes squinting at Meizhou.

Meizhou gulps in nervousness as he tries averting his eyes only for his wife to grab his chin and force him to look at him. He could even see the gentle smile on his wife's face but those eyes were showing mirth as it observed him. Clearly his wife is teasing him. But he is really afraid, that is the Creation God. The Strongest among all Gods and the Origin of all things.

"A-A bit. Isn't it because it was him who created us?" said Meizhou.

When Xuebao heard this answer he tilted his head and replied, "Well~ that may be true about you but... my bloodline isn't created by him. We're the same as him. Created by nothingness and didn't know how we exist. Ah~ I'm not supposed to tell anyone of that. My love forget about what you heard just now~"

Meizhou was shocked with what he heard. Even when his wife just told him that his bloodline isn't created by the origin but exists the same way as the God of Creation instead.

Thoughts of Meizhou : 'Doesn't that make the Mo Clan and even unique existence? Is this the reason why their authority in the worlds is even above the heavenly laws made by the God of Creation?!'

"My love? Do you still need to know what is the connection of the Mo Clan to the God of Creation?" asked Xuebao nonchalantly as he turned over and leaned his back on his husband's chest while grabbing his hands to have him rub his tummy.

Meizhou who was still stunned but at the same time super curious replied, "Yes. Can I know it?"

"Sure~ You would be family in the future anyway. By that time you would be meeting him frequently anyway. He lives in our house." said Xuebao.

With a face turning ashen in shock and disbelief, Meizhou spoke, "H-He lives... in your house?"

"Yes. After all Uncle Siwang is my uncle's other half. They've been together for at least... Hm~ let me count. 1. 2. 3. ha? Oh~ 5. 6 Millennia if I remembered it right. Moreover the whole family lives together. After I bring you home~ you would be meeting Big Uncle at home anyway. I'm giving you a heads up now." said Xuebao.

Meizhou asked while stuttering, "T-Then... y-your uncle is...??"

"My Uncle is the God of Life and Death. Mo Baojun. There aren't many who used the surname of Mo. Only my clan does. Did you not know?" asked Xuebao.

"I... This is my first time even hearing the God of Life and Death's name." murmured Meizhou gloomily.

Meizhou's expression turned grim as he thought of his future when he met his wife's family. Even System Yue who was listening silently in the corner couldn't help but feel bad for his Lord God.

Seeing his husband's depressed expression made Xuebao completely amused.

"What are you scared of? Your strength is enough to match mine before. You would be stronger than me in the future." whispered silently by Xuebao but no one else but him heard his words. He murmured it in gibberish that even Meizhou didn't completely understand what he had said.

"Baby, did you say something?" asked Meizhou as he happily rubbed his wife's tummy.

"I said you are so silly! I'm hungry. I want to eat egg dumplings, strawberries and mooncakes!!!" said Xuebao.

Meizhou who heard his wife's craving could only leave him for a bit and make all those requests for food. He had to make it with his own hand and used the things in the system instead of the ones in this world. Their child will most like be a born deity or a God. Which means normal ingredients would be useless to consume. He needs to use the ones with pure energy.

After cooking all his wife's crave food, he started serving his wife like an ancestor. Afraid that he might slip, Meizhou constantly supports him wherever Xuebao goes. He acted like a tail behind his wife the whole time. The next morning when the tribe heard about their leader's awakening from his sleep, they all celebrated happily for the whole day. They've spent the rest of the days happily inside the cave while waiting for the storm to pass.

The last week of the month had passed and the snowstorm had quietly dissipated. The bright sun had finally shown itself after these two weeks of only dark clouds which brought them endless snow and ice. At the end of the week the Ice dome that protects them from the storm had melted slowly under the sun resulting in a short rain and huge rainbow.

In front of the huge cave were countless beastmen children playing with snow while bundled up with clothes. They were throwing snow at each other. Somewhere creating snowmen under Tuzi's lead. while some other females were making preparation for today's lunch. Today is the day that some warrior would return to their tribe's original campsite to check on the damage the snow had caused. The one leading is obviously Meizhou and Xuebao. Serving beside them is Sheya and Shizi. Half of the elders led by the former tribe leader, Zhubao, are also coming with them. Tuzi and his two partners were tasked to stay in the cave to look after the tribe with the other half of the elder lead by Priest Linshe.

Priest Linshe said, "Oh~ please be extremely careful on your way. Even if the storm had ended there are still some wild beasts awake at this time."

"We will be careful. Elder Linshe I will leave the tribe matters for you to handle. We should be back before lunch is made if nothing happens." said Xuebao while being carried by Meizhou on his shoulders.

Meizhou can't carry him on his back in fear of his tummy getting squashed nor he could be carried in princess style as Xuebao doesn't wish to because he couldn't move properly in that way. Which ended up with Xuebao being carried like a child on Meizhou's shoulder instead.

"Leader. Please leave it to this old man. We will make sure to prepare delicious lunch for your return!" said Priest Linshe with a proud grin on his old face.

"Old Lin, make some roasted pig for this old man!" said Zhubao.

Priest Linshe frowned when he heard that old friend's request. He still remembers this old bugger jumped on him and broke his nose a few weeks ago. If someone still remembers that Zhubao jumped on one of the elder from the former Soleil Tribe then this old man happens to be the elder Zhubao had beaten up during that chaos.

"Hmp! We'll prepare it but not cook it right away! It might turn to ice popsicle if it wasn't eaten as soon it was cooked." said Linshe.

Zhubao, "Hahaha~ that is also true."

Then laughter spreads within the tribe. Seeing this two elders bickering had become a daily event anyway. Afterwards the scout team had left the forest intending to return to their former territory. They've first visited the land where the campsite of the former Lune Tribe resides. It took them 20 minutes to reach the place.

After arriving in the place, everyone was surprised by the scene they had witnessed. In the former campsite of Lune Tribe there is nothing but small mountains of pure white snow. The small caves and tents from before, their farmland and even the frozen pond can no longer be seen on site. Only a wide expanse of snow is in front of them. The whole former campsite of the Lune Tribe had been buried under the snow.

Zhubao uttered in shocked, "T-This... This is! What the hell?! Our campsite is buried under the snow. What in the world happened here?!" he exclaimed in disbelief.

"This... where did all this snow come from?" murmured Priest Anbao as he surveyed around the area. Now that most of their former tents were buried under the snow the only thing that was in front of them was a small pile of snow mountains.

Xuebao explained who had speculated what happened and explained it to the elders with him. He had noticed that the piled up snow at the highest peak of the mountain had thinned then based on the scene before him he could conjure what happened in their territory.

The Solune Tribe Leader spoke, "A disaster caused by nature. Because of the continued snowstorm coupled up with strong winds and hail, the snow piled up to its limit then fell from the peak because of the powerful breeze causing this event. This is a natural disaster called an avalanche." explained Xuebao.

"Just based on what happened in our land this can only mean those tribes at the foot of the mountain suffered more." said Meizhou as a continuation to his wife's conjectures.

Priest Anbao murmured, "Over piled up snow from the peak of the mountain falling over. Then the River and Mountain Tribes at the foot of the mountain are!!?"

"They must have suffered casualties." said Shizi.

Sheya added up, "Not as simple as just few casualties, the possibilities of them getting buried alive is higher."

After everyone heard the possible results the elders like Zhubao and Priest Anbao had ugly expressions on their faces. If it is not because Xuebao had prepared that cave for them to live in, then their only option is to go down at the foot of the mountain and seek shelter from a friend tribe. If they had really chosen that option then their tribe would be added to those casualties that are now buried under the snow. As they've expected the trials from the Beast God is never simple. They might have prevented the demise of their own clan but the others couldn't.

With a dark expression on their faces, "I will gather a few warriors and go down the mountain tomorrow. I wish to visit the Mountain Tribe." said Zhubao.

"High Elder, if you would allow please let me join you in that journey. I would like to visit the River Tribe as well." said Shizi.

"I would like to come as well to gather information for the tribe leader. Please allow me to come as well." said Sheya.

Zhubao looked at the young couple who work as his children's support most of the time. He nodded his head in agreement to their request.

"Okay. Make your preparations tonight. We will leave at dawn." said Zhubao.

"Thank you, High Elder." said Shizi and Sheya respectfully.

Meizhou looked at Shizi and said, "Are you still going to go see your former land?"

"Our former tribe is located just a few meters away from here. Based on the direction of the avalanche, it would be hit on its way down. It must have gotten buried in the same way. There is no need to check." replied Shizi.

Xuebao said, "Since it is like this. There is nothing more we could do. We will return to the tribe ahead of time. That land around that cave shall become our new territory instead. I will lay out the clearance plan for the new territory of our Solune Tribe."

This time everyone agrees to Xuebao's plan unconditionally. Seeing the current state of their former territory it will be easier to look for another land to choose as their territory than to clean up this small pile of snow mountain.

"Let's return!" said Meizhou.

Everyone walks back slowly to where the cave is. This time their steps were slow and solemn due to what they have seen.

Chapter 133: 5.35 First Violet Star - Plans

The scout team led by Meizhou and Xuebao had returned. But everyone had noticed the dark expression imprinted on the faces of the elders from the group. Obviously the result of their task is not good. Zhubao and Priest Anbao had gathered the elders as soon as they returned. Meizhou and Xuebao had to help their tribesmen regain one's composure after hearing that both territories of former Lune and Soleil Tribes were buried under the snow. Nothing was even left to salvage.

Tuzi, who is a modern man, understood the situation as he knew what the word avalanche means.

"If it is indeed an avalanche then we could no longer use that land to live. Baobao where would we live then?" asked Tuzi.

Apprentice Priest Xiong asked, "Leader, is there another land we could choose as our tribe's new campsite?"

Meizhou was the one who replied, "There is no need to look around. We chose this cave and the land around it as our new territory."

Most of their tribesmen were startled with what they've heard. After all the land they were in right now is still the territory of those savage beasts. They were worried about getting eaten by those savage beasts in their sleep.

Warrior Lang spoke, "B-But boss this place is... the territory of the savage beasts!"

"Do not worry. The king of this forest was killed by me a few weeks ago. Haven't you digested him as your meals for a few times? Now that the strongest of all savage beasts is dead the rest were weaklings that you warriors could hunt on your own." retorted Meizhou.

Xuebao added, "Moreover if we choose this place there will be no need to replant those fruits trees and bushes. Since it grows naturally in this place. We will also secure those lands as our new farm land. Don't worry. A'Mei would lead the warriors to clear the surroundings for a few days and then set up patrol and hunting teams to protect our territory. Moreover, I am here. There is no way this land would be destroyed as long as I and Meizhou exist."

Thinking about this plan, just the fact that Meizhou and Xuebao were from their clan made things easier to accept. There is also Tuzi and Sheya, who could help with farming and other necessities for the tribe and their Tribe leader, Xuebao, for more knowledge and new ideas. For the Tribe's protection and defense, they have Meizhou, the strongest in their tribe and Shizi, who is also a great warrior. After the tribesmen considered all this, they accepted the plan to choose this land as their new home.

Meanwhile the elders were having a different meeting.

The topic of their meeting is about the possible casualties caused by the snowstorm. After getting informed of more detailed information about what their former territories had ended with, the elders who were tasked to stay with the tribe just now had gloomy expressions on their faces. They had never expected to lose their home just because of that trial from their Beast God.

An elder asked, "Our former land was really buried under the snow?"

"Yes. Completely. Not even anything but snow could be seen." replied Zhubao.

Priest Anbao spoke, "What's worse is that the snow had even reached the foot of the mountain. Baobao had said that the tribes whose territories were located at the lowlands of the mountain must have suffered the most."

As their meeting continues the dark expression on these elders gets even gloomier.

"Then... the Mountain and River tribes are..."

"Unfortunately they must have suffered the most." move1usb.com

"I just couldn't believe this. Baobao already warned them before the storm arrived. I've also saved a space for them in the cave none of them came!" exclaimed Zhubao.

It seems that before the snowstorm had arrived both tribes had been asked to join them into hiding but the River and Mountain Tribes didn't accept that opportunity leading to their current situation right now.

"What should we do?"

"Shall we send a few warriors to check the foot of the mountain?"

Zhubao spoke, "I will lead some warriors and leave at dawn. We should be able to reach the foot of the mountain by the time the sun has completely risen."

"Sigh~ that's all we could do. But the south forest still had that savage beast king, unlike here in this north forest the beast king was already killed by Warrior Leader Meizhou. What would you do if you bump into it?"

"This..." Zhubao was helpless when he heard about this savage beast king.

It was at that time that someone butts in their conversation.

"If that is the case then let me lead the group instead of the old man." The voice said.

The elders were first startled by that person's presence but instantly calmed down when they saw who it was. It was Meizhou.

Zhubao complains, "Why are you here, brat? Why aren't you looking after your wife?!"

"Bao'er says to call you guys for lunch. The meal have been cook. Let's eat lunch." replied Meizhou.

"Oh~ it was that late already."

"I heard there's barbecue for lunch."

"Let's hurry or those youngsters would not even leave a piece for us old men."

The elders started leaving the area to eat, they had forgotten about the meeting for food. Only Zhubao and the two priests remain.

Priest Anbao spoke, "A'Zhou, you wish to lead the warriors down south. This is not only because you wanted to check on the lowlands tribe is it?"

"Yes. I want to kill the Savage Beast King of South forest." answered Meizhou.

Priest Linshe asked, "Savage Beast King? Why?"

"Not only the one in the south but as well in the east and west forests as well. This needs to be done as soon as possible. The beast tide for the second trial had unknown reasons where it started. But I think the possibility of it caused by Savage Beast Kings fighting is the highest. I want to cut off this possibility as soon as possible. But for now I would focus on the South Forest, first." explained Meizhou.

Priest Anbao murmured, "Beast Tide (Stampede) caused by Beast Kings fighting? This is plausible. I agree with your plan A'Zhou. But you cannot go alone in the south forest and at least bring one more warrior with you."

"If the plan is like this then I suggest that you bring Warrior Shizi with you. With Two Warrior Leaders you should be able to take down a Savage Beast King with less casualties." suggested Priest Linshe.

The advice of the two priests was welcomed by Meizhou as he nodded his head in agreement. Only Zhubao was a bit confused.

Zhubao asked while pointing at himself, "What about me then? Should I still lead a group to check on the Mountain and River Tribes?" he asked.

"Of course old man. We will escort you on the way down. Afterwards we will head to the territory of the Savage Beast King in South Forest." said Meizhou.

"Well that is also good. If it's like this then I want to bring a few tribe doctors and apprentices on this journey. Let Sheya join me for this." said Zhubao.

But this time Meizhou showed an opposition.

"No. Any doctor in the tribe beside Sheya is allowed to join you. Old Man will not allow Sheya leave Bao'er's side at this time." said Meizhou with a frown on his face.

Hearing this the three elders thought that something bad had happened to Xuebao. After all, the expression Meizhou had shown made them uneasy. This is a warrior whose face remains cold aside from looking at his wife.

Zhubao asked, "Is there something wrong with Baobao?!"

"Is it a side effect for using his unique ability?" asked Priest Anbao worriedly.

Priest Linshe spoke, "The leader's unique ability is overwhelming. It wouldn't be surprising if he suffered any side effects."

Zhubao grabbed his collar and glared at him, "Brat! Don't leave this old man in suspense, is my Baobao okay!?"

Meizhou replied nonchalantly, "He is pregnant."

Zhubao, "Huh!?"

Priest Anbao and Priest Linshe, "...!?!?..."

"I told you. My wife is pregnant with my child. It's a month old already. I wanted Sheya to remain by his side while I went out for hunt. This is the reason I won't allow Sheya to leave my wife's side!" explained Meizhou.

He could see the three elders before him look stunned and dumbfounded.

"Baobao... is...pregnant? Eh?" said Zhubao while his mind is completely out of state.

Only the two priests happily congratulate Meizhou.

Priest Anbao, "Congratulations! Because of this we need to schedule your Mateship Ceremony ahead of time!!"

"Wow! A child... This is the most joyous event that happened this year!! We need to celebrate!!" exclaimed Priest Linshe.

The hand gripping on Meizhou's collar loosen as he could see that his father-in-law's face is covered in tears while left stunned. Seeing this, Meizhou couldn't help but pat his back in comfort.

Pat. pat. pat.

Meizhou asked tensely, "Old man, are you that happy?"

Hearing this question Zhubao's tears falls even harder. Meizhou could see this old warrior nodding his head in agreement. The tears now were obviously tears of joy. He is very delighted that he would be becoming a certified grandfather this year.

"3 years ago. I lost my wife from illness. Because of this I truly wanted to follow her steps. He had been with me for decades and we are a fated pair. It was very hard for me to continue living without him. But my Baobao at that time is still very young. Aside from Anbao we had no other relatives, his age is not that less than mine as well. I was afraid that if I was gone our Baobao would suffer out there alone. This is the reason why I wanted to arrange a marriage for Baobao. Meizhou listen. It is impossible for fated pairs to be separated for a long time. Sooner or later I would pass away as well. It may be after winter or next year. When that happens can you really promise not to harm my Baobao and keep loving him? Unless you swore to me properly. I would never allow my Baobao to undergo a Mateship Ceremony with you." said Zhubao.

Seeing the serious expression on the father of his wife in this world in such a state made him uncomfortable. He was imagining what would happen to him if he meets his wife's family in the future. He had a feeling that they wouldn't act like this but at the same time afraid that his situation might be worse than this one as well.

He got down on one knee with his fist on his chest and then he swore.

"I vowed with heaven as witness, to forever care and give my undying love to Xuebao, I offer him my heart and soul. Keeping him in my arms for protection using this vessel as shield. Everything of me shall be offered to keep Xuebao safe and eternally happy. I swore to the heavens I shall fulfill my duties as his fated mate. If I ever broke this vow let me suffer all the punishment that this world could give!"

After hearing this vow the three elders' expressions were solemn and relief, Zhubao even helped Meizhou stand up as he pats his shoulder with force. This shows how happy this old man is.

Zhubao said with a huge grin on his face, "Good. Good. You are indeed a good child. I will entrust my Baobao to you. This is a happy occasion. Let's celebrate!!"

He said as he joined the rest of the tribe for lunch. The simple meal had turned into a celebration banquet. After a few announcements were made. Now the tribe all knew that the Mateship Ceremony between Meizhou and Xuebao would be scheduled ahead of time which now will be done a week later. Then the second joyous news is about the future heir. The child of Meizhou and Xuebao. Because of this two news the tribe had celebrated until evening. It was such a happy occasion.

Chapter 134: 5.36 First Violet Star - Lowland Tribes

At dawn the next day.

Few warriors were standing in front of the cave fully geared. In lead were Meizhou, Zhubao and Shizi. This group consists of at least 20 warriors and 5 doctors as well as apprentice doctors. Later before they reached the foot of the mountains this group would be split into one. 10 warriors would be coming with Meizhou and Shizi and head to the south forest while the rest of the group would follow Zhubao and check on the lowland tribes. If there are survivors then, they would help them if none then... they could only return back to the cave ahead of time. This is a plan approved by Xuebao, the current tribe leader of the Solune Tribe.

Right now the rest of the elders together with Sheya and Xuebao were seeing them off. Some females also helped prepare the necessities this group will need. Everything was prepared and the group only needed to depart after a short farewell.

Meizhou looked gently at his wife as he helped her properly cover herself with her coat. "Baby, I will be back soon. I promise."

"I know. If you find strawberries bring it back home. I'm craving to eat more and I've almost eaten all that is stored in the cave." said Xuebao.

"Hahaha~ I will definitely bring some home for you. Keep safe." said Meizhou as he kissed his wife on his forehead and lightly on his lips.

Xuebao said, "Be careful. Father and rest of the tribesmen as well. Remember your top priority is your lives. This above any others. I will only wait for 3 days at least and 5 days at most. If none of you guys are back after 5 days then I will lead people to look for you. There might be few unpredictable snow storms coming but don't worry those are just small ones and it's weak."

Then he passed two white jade crafted into a snowflake. Giving one to his father and one to his husband.

"Keep this one you. Break it once if you're in danger. Once it broke the ice and snow would protect the whole group at least once. I've made it as an amulet. During this season even if I'm not by your side I could somewhat know what is happening." said Xuebao.

Priest Anbao asked, "Baobao, are these jade made from your ability?"

"Yes. My abilities are at peak during this season. I could provide them cover even faraway as long they were surrounded by snow and ice." replied Xuebao.

Priest Linshe murmured in awe, "Amazing! The tribe leader's ability is too heavenly defying."

"It can only work once. Only use it at life threatening moments. I made these because I fear that the avalanche would happen again. Just for reassurance." said Xuebao.

Zhubao smiled once he heard his son's words. He knew that if not for his pregnancy, Xuebao himself would like to join them and protect them himself but unfortunately his current situation doesn't allow him too. He gently pats his son's head.

"We will be careful. Extra careful when treading inside the forest. Then we will try to come back as soon as possible. Father promised okay?" said Zhubao.

Xuebao nods his head and replies, "Okay. You promised. I will not forget."

"Yue, come with my husband. Help him finish his task as soon as possible. Something makes me uncomfortable these days." said Xuebao to his system in his mind.

[I understand, Host.]

"Let's depart!" said Meizhou.

System Yue in his invisible mode for the original residents had hovered towards his Lord God keeping even his presence to everyone else except for his host. Even Meizhou didn't know that System Yue had come to him. After a few more words of farewell the group had finally departed.

Somewhere within the primitive world, a man in forest green and black robes walks in front of a huge cave in some forest. The humongous cave is strangely familiar. A towering entrance of almost eight meters tall. Pile of bones scattering around the cave and a huge loud roaring coming from within the cave. This cave is obviously a place for a large type dinosaur to live in.

The man in robes stood in front of the cave with no emotions on his face. His long black hair is half prompt up with a jade hairpin while the rest is flowing on his back like a silk. His features were a quarter part similar to that of Hei Anjing's original face and then that familiar argent colored irises as if his eyes were dyed with the same shade as the color of the moon. Observing closely this man's foot never touches the muddy ground under him, he keeps himself afloat, this person is obviously not a mortal.

The man in robes murmured, "As long as one of that man's soul fragments dies, he would be safe."

After uttering these words this man disappeared in thin air as if he didn't exist in this world. The only thing that was left is the painful groans of a huge beast coming from the large cave he left behind. The agonizing low moans of a beast continues for a while as if this beast is undergoing some evolving process which leads it to suffering such pain. This kind of scene happens not only here in the south forest but in the east and west side of the forest as well.

roa-oar-growl~ roar~ urg! roa-ar~ ROAR!!!

The journey of the team on their way down the mountain is a bit smoother than they've expected. Except for a few ice wolves that came attacking them, they've trekked the mountain successfully by the time the sun had completely risen, they were already halfway down the mountain.

But this weird situation of less wild animals attacking them felt weird. Normally, a group crossing the mountain would meet several wild beasts and even savage beasts on their way down but in their journey, they've only bumped a few wolves and nothing more.

"Sir, this situation is weird. How come there are too few beasts roaming around at dawn? We've only met wolves on our way down." whispered Shizi to Meizhou.

Meizhou's expression remained calm but his gaze was serious as if thinking about something. He then surveyed the near river they will need to pass through to reach the foot of the mountain.

Meizhou's thoughts, 'This river... is too murky. There are too many bones flowing together with the current. If I remember it right, those savage beast kings like to live near a water source as they've used it for their prey as bait. This is really weird. Should I summon 13 and ask him to check the cave where the nearest beast king resides? But if I do my wife will know my plan of killing off those lizards before he could do so.'

Shizi asked, "Sir, your orders?"

"Keep your guard at the highest. Send a few more guards for the elders team. Except for Laohu, Lang, Xiong and you, the rest of the warriors will accompany the other team." replied Meizhou.

"Yes, boss!" The warriors said.

Only Zhubao thought that this son-in-law of his, acted weirdly for some reason.

Zhubao asked, "Brat, is there a problem?"

"Nothing yet. But something feels ominous. Old Man as soon as you've checked the other tribes returned back to the north forest immediately." answered Meizhou.

"Isn't its normal for some beast to be asleep during winter? Obviously the animals roaming around at this time are lesser as well." said Zhubao.

Meizhou responded, "Yes. There should be less wild animals and beasts during winter but too less means there's a problem. This is not the first time we've crossed down the mountain. But on our past journeys we've bumps into some other animal other than wolves. There were some ice bears and arctic foxes. We should be seeing countless of snow hares and squirrels but on our way down those weak animals had all hidden themselves despite the snowstorm ending." movelusb.com

Zhubao and the rest of the group had observed their surroundings closely but they didn't hear anything around them. Normally there should be some small movements from the trees as those small animals move around but right now their surroundings are too quiet. The silence is too eerie.

"T-This is... indeed weird. Why are the other animals hiding as well?" said Zhubao.

Meizhou spoke with urgency, "Old man. Let's hurry up a bit on our way down. We will accompany your group first before we split up."

"Okay." said Zhubao.

Their trip way down was done with urgency. The breaks were stopped and they've just focused on reaching the foot of the mountain instead. As long as they've reached the lowlands, it should be safer than being in the middle of the forest. After a few more hours, the group finally saw the territory of the lowland tribes. Seeing the few tents gathering in one place, Zhubao was a bit relieved to see that the Mountain tribe didn't get fully buried under the snow.

"High elder! We can see small tents come from here. It is different from the usual land the Mountain Tribe lives in but that crest is clearly the Mountain Tribe symbol!" A scout from their group had reported.

"Good. Let's make the necessary preparations. I ask to meet the leader after reaching their campsite." said Zhubao.

Then he looked at Meizhou. After reaching the lowlands, Zhubao and Meizhou's team would split. Zhubao's team would be entering the territory of the lowland tribes while Meizhou's group would head deeper into the forest.

Zhubao asked worriedly, "Are you sure it's okay to bring only Shizi, Laohu, Lang and Xiong with you?"

"Yes. A small team is enough. It will be easier to escape with a small group. Don't worry. I could defeat a T-Rex on my own. There should be no problem." replied Meizhou.

"Sigh! Be careful. Keep your lives as the top priority. This is the tribe leader's command. Follow it!" said Zhubao.

Meizhou and the other four nodded before saluting towards Zhubao.

"We will remember!"

Only then the group had split into two. The larger group heads down to the lowlands while the small group enters the forest once again. Their goals were different but even then both goals were for the sake of their tribe.

Lowland Territory.

Unlike the Solune Tribe, lowland tribes live at the flat surface land at the foot of the mountains. They don't use small caves as their houses inside create tents and place them in rows. Unlike those who like to climb mountains, the house's distance from each other varies. In the lowlands the houses were placed in rows and the distance in between was kept proportionally, which is like row houses in the modern era.

Zhubao took the lead of his group and carefully approached the entrance of the Mountain Tribe Camp. On their way, they've observed that there are too many wooden crosses outside the camp. This scene is obviously traces left above the land where the dead are buried. In short it's a cemetery. Seeing this the group led by the high elder Zhubao could somewhat guess that the Mountain Tribe had suffered quite enough casualties.

Looking at the wooden crosses above the land, "High elder this... don't you think its too many?" A Tribe doctor asked.

Zhubao with a frown on his face replied, "My guesses had really happened but how did they escape that calamity?"

"Calamity? High Elder did they suffer from the avalanche as the Tribe Leader had said?" A warrior asked while his expression is gloomy as well. He is one of the few who had close relations to the people of the Mountain Tribe.

The Mountain Tribe is the friend tribe of their former Lune Tribe. Every winter season the mountain would suffer the heaviest during the snowstorms and hails. Because of this the Lune Tribe would always go down the mountain before the storm arrived and waited in the lowlands for it to pass. During those times the one who always led their help is this Mountain Tribe. They've let them reside in their territory until the storm passes in exchange for food and labor.

While staying with the Mountain Tribe, the tribesmen of the Lune tribe always bring over food from the mountain and help the Mountain tribe with hunting and patrolling. They've exchanged meat the most. The Mountain Tribe isn't proficient with hunting wild animals or beasts like the highland tribes: Lune and Soleil tribes but they were expert in fishery. Their ample food is fish and seafood. Most lowland tribes were expert swimmers and divers. They know more about the bodies of water than the landscapes.

Thinking about his old friend who is also the Mountain tribe's leader, Linma, Zhubao could help but worry. Seeing this now he knew that the Mountain Tribe had suffered quite a bit.

"Let's go. We will only know the situation once we meet them!" said Zhubao as they headed towards the village. This time there's urgency within every step.

Chapter 135: 5.37 First Violet Star - Mountain Tribe

Zhubao and his group approached the Mountain Tribe entrance. As they got closer they could see how much suffering the Mountain Tribe had undergone. The land is covered in snow and the surrounding water bodies are currently frozen due to the sudden drop of temperature during the last phases of the storm. The guards on the entrance were wearing thick clothes on them but despite that, the paleness of their skin and the slight trembling of their bodies due to cold couldn't be controlled. The guards looked like they were ill and their lips were starting to turn purple. There are clear symptoms of them suffering from frostbites.

"They look sick." An apprentice doctor commented after seeing the guards by the entrance.

"Uncontrollable shivering, pale skin and purple lips. High Elder I think these guards are suffering from a major case of frostbite. We need to treat them immediately!" The current head doctor of the group said.

Zhubao also understands what a frostbite is. It is an ailment that one could suffer from being exposed to ice and snow for a very long time. This is something his son, Xuebao personally explained to their tribe doctors. He also explained the way of treatment for it. It is because of this that Xuebao had strictly told the tribesmen to never forget to wear their shoes and clothes during winter especially for the children.

Zhubao approached the entrance with urgency. "Let's go!"

As soon as they get near the entrance the guards raise their spears despite their arms shaking from their bodies weak state.

"Who are you!? This is the Mountain tribe's territory!!" yelled by the guard.

The guards didn't recognize Zhubao because he is wearing a hood over his head. Most people from their group were provided with wide hood thick jackets in preparation for sudden snowfall. This is something Xuebao asked of them to wear during their journey. On their way down the mountain a short snowfall had descended, it is because of this that they wore their hoodies over their heads as a cover. Seeing such aggression the other warriors from Zhubao's group step forward to protect the high elder and the doctor but they didn't pull their weapon just raise their head and pull down their hoodies.

A warrior of the former Lune tribe stepped in with his hand raised in air, "Stop! It's me... Yezhu, look at me. I'm Yaxiong!"

The Mountain Tribe warrior murmured the name as if remembering something. "Yaxiong? Yaxiong from the Lune Tribe!? Is it really you!? Lower your weapons. These people are our friends!" said the Warrior named Yezhu.

The warrior called Yezhu after ordering his team to lower their weapons and instantly run over to the group welcoming them despite his bad state. He almost stumbled on his way but was caught by Zhubao preventing his fall.

Zhubao asked with a smile, "Careful, child. Can I ask if Linma is around?"

Upon recognizing Zhubao in front of him, the warrior couldn't stop his tears from falling. He knew who this person was before him. This is a man who had the highest authority from the Lune Tribe. The Lune Tribe's Leader, Zhubao.

"Tribe Leader Zhubao~ You came. You really came for us. As Tribe Leader Linma had said!" replied the warrior in tears.

Seeing the reaction of the guard he felt that something must have happened to his close friend.

"Where is Linma? Is he okay? What happened to the Mountain tribe? Where are your elders?" asked Zhubao.

A warrior from Solune tries to calm their leader down, "High Elder please calm down. We should meet the tribe leader of the Mountain Tribe or the elders first. To know the situation."

Zhubao started issuing orders. "Sigh~ indeed. Except for the head doctor the rest go help the Mountain Tribe's people cure their frost bites. The females start cooking using the ingredients we brought with us. IF possible make something with soup. Cook for a whole tribe worth. Don't filter the food we can get more when Meizhou returns. The warriors help with the guarding duties while the rest of the warriors from the Mountain tribe is being examined. Some of you also help the females from carrying the food we have."

"Yes, High Elder!" The tribesmen of the Solune Tribe replied.

Just after Zhubao finished giving orders, few elders of the Mountain Tribe finally arrived. Seeing their states clearly isn't that much different from those warriors who guard the entrance of the camp.

"G-Greetings~ Tribe Leader Zhubao!"

"It's our pleasure to be at your service."

There are obvious tear tracing at the corner of their eyes, this is the first time Zhubao saw the men of his friend suffer mental breakdown of such. Not only have they gotten physically weaker, even their mentality had suffered greatly.

"Sire~ Please help our tribe leader!"

"As the Lune Tribe young leader had said before, the snowstorm had gotten stronger for us to bear and... sobs~"

Zhubao pats their shoulder in comfort. "Report the details to me later. Bring me to your Tribe Leader so I could have our Head doctor to check on his state."

"Y-Yes!" An elder replied.

Suddenly an elder from the former Soleil tribe asked, "High Elder please allow me to bring a small group to check on the River Tribe." He is worried for their friend's tribe the same way Zhubao is currently feeling.

"Go ahead. Bring some doctors and food as well. If you could ask them to go here and send someone to report immediately." said Zhubao.

But before the former elder from the Soleil Tribe took his leave with the rest of his team, an elder from the Mountain Tribe seemed to overheard their conversation and spoke on behalf of the rest of them. Likewise, they also knew the current situation of their neighbor, the River Tribe's state.

A Mountain Tribe Elder explained. "If it is the River Tribe then... this warrior had no need to check on them. We had accepted the remaining survivors of the River Tribe."

"S-Survivors?!" exclaimed by the elder from the former Soleil Tribe.

"Y-Yes. They've lost most of their tribesmen when their campsite got buried under the snow like us. The River Tribe is no more. The survivors are only a few children and females. The other warriors from the River Tribe had suffered frost that broke their limbs and most of them had taken their lives in despair. Right now there are only 10 remaining former members of the River Tribe.

Our Mountain Tribe would have suffered the same way if not for the warning of the Young Tribe Leader Xuebao of the Lune Tribe. During our last visit to the Lune Tribe before the snowstorm, Young Leader Xuebao had suggested to our tribe leader to join the Lune Tribe to the mountain for this winter but our leader sadly didn't agree in fear we would become a burden.

During the snowstorm our Tribe Leader Linma had been able to prevent our tribe's demise thanks to young leader Xuebao's word of warning. He said to immediately leave their territory once they've experienced shaking of the land. He had left our original camp the moment the tribe leader had felt the quake of the land even though we had still suffered casualties, we had lost only a few courageous warriors who protected our retreat." explained the elder from the Mountain Tribe.

Zhubao and the rest of their group was stunned when they heard that their current tribe leader had passed few instructions and warnings to the other tribes before the snowstorm.

"My Baobao told you all those?" said Zhubao.

An elder replied, "Yes. He had spoken personally with our Tribe Leader before we left. He approached us together with his male warrior called Meizhou. Of course we had also spread his words to the other tribes in the lowland like the River Tribe. But clearly they didn't believe our words and ended up... that way. Sigh~"

After hearing this explanation Zhubao and his group knew some information about what happened in the lowlands. First, the River Tribe is no more and second the Mountain Tribe had successfully escaped extinction because of Xuebao's warning. They were lucky. It is also thanks to the relationship between Zhubao and Linma that the Mountain Tribe had passed the tribulation. If not for Linma treating Xuebao as his own nephew, there is no way he would remember the words of a young man like Xuebao. It is because he treats the others as family that he keeps Xuebao's warning in his heart which in the end resulted in the Mountain Tribe being able to pass the trial with less casualties than the other tribes.

Zhubao pats the shoulder of the elder from his Solune Tribe. He knew that the elder is in shock and despair knowing that their friend's tribe is no more. This elder's face turned ashen because of the blow.

"You... I will free you a day of duties. You can do whatever you want for the rest of the day." said Zhubao.

The former elder of Soleil Tribe upon hearing the high elder's comfort couldn't stop his eyes from reddening. "T-Thank you, High Elder. Please excuse this old man for... today."

"Un. Head doctor came with us to check on Linma. Do you have things you need to prepare ahead of time?" asked Zhubao.

The head doctor of the group stayed silent for a moment as he thought of the things he might need to be prepared ahead of time.

"Please prepare me a wooden tub if you have. Bring it over to where the patient is. Fill it with warm water. Not hot but warm. I would need fur blankets which could be soaked in water as well.

I would also like to meet your tribe doctors please. So I could instruct them how to make aloe vera oil. Thank God I came prepared thanks to the tribe leader's warning and brought tons of aloe vera oil." murmured the head doctor.

An elder responded, "I will call on the doctor to see you and prepare everything you had mentioned. For now please follow me. The tribe leader's current place is this way."

Afterwards the group disperse and work on their duties. Only Zhubao, the head doctor and few elders from the Mountain Tribe had left to meet Linma. They two were escorted in a big tent. Once they've entered the tent, what welcomes them is a bedridden man, who had few traces of ice on his toes, legs and arms. There are few purple bruises on his face as well. This man's case of frostbites is worse than those guards at the entrance. The man is already one step to his grave as his white is already white from coldness.

The head doctor frowned seeing his state. "This is... worse than I thought. Tell them to bring what I need as soon as possible!"

"Yes!!!"

Zhubao approached his bedridden friend who is currently asleep on the bed. He was trembling as he gently placed his hand above the man's chest in fear that he was no longer breathing. But the heartbeats felt by his palm are still strong, obviously this man is a strong and physically fit warrior in his healthy state. The only reason he is still alive is because of his strong will.

Zhubao gently removed his hand and sighed in relief, "T-Thank God... H-He is still..."

"The tribe leader had just fallen asleep just now." An apprentice doctor who was on duty reported to Zhubao. He recognizes him as the tribe leader's friend.

The arrival of Zhubao and his team brightens the mood within the Mountain Tribe. It is thanks to their arrival that the Mountain tribe had seen hope for the first time after experiencing that calamity.

The head doctor who came with Zhubao immediately worked on treating Linma. As soon as the wooden tub had arrived he had people lift the patient off the bed and have him slowly soaked with the warm water. Once the water got colder the doctor had ordered for it to be changed immediately. This treatment lasted for hours and was done until the traces of ice on Linma's body completely melted. The elders and doctors from the Mountain tribe had watched the whole event with astonishment and joy in their eyes. This is the first time they had seen their tribe leader not totally looking all white all over like a corpse.

He looks a bit better now than before. Then they all listen to the doctor with Sir Zhubao and help with gently warming the frozen limbs of their leader with warm towels. They've continued doing this for half a day until the sun is about to set.

Meanwhile before the sun had completely set, the Mountain tribe was in chaos once again. The cause of it is because a wounded warrior Laohu carried by warrior Lang and apprentice priest Xiong arrived in the Mountain tribe covered in blood.

Warrior Xiong yelled, "Doctor. Get us a doctor!! Please call our high elder Zhubao. We need to report something important!!!"

Chapter 136: 5.38 First Violet Star - Savage Beast Kings

Warrior Lang and Apprentice Priest Xiong had arrived in the Mountain Tribe's Camp carrying a wounded Laohu on their backs. For some unknown reason Warrior Leader Shizi and their boss Meizhou are not with them. All three were familiar faces which is why those Solune Tribe's Warrior who were on duty guarding the entrance didn't stop the arrival of the three instead helped them get inside and call for the doctor and their high elder.

Warrior Lang and Apprentice Xiong's state is not good as well. There are open wounds on their legs and waist. Obviously scratched by some wild beasts or savage beasts. The worst out of three of them is Warrior Laohu. He had lost consciousness. there's a huge claw mark on his back which continues to bleed.

This is the scene Zhubao had seen when he ran over to the entrance with the head doctor. The head doctor of their group instantly gave them first aid before asking someone to carry all of them in a tent.

Head doctor while giving them first aid, "You got varying claw marks. Did you guys get surrounded or something?! Carry them in a tent!!"

No one answered him as they were groaning in pain while being treated.

Tribe Doctor's Tent

As soon as the three warriors were carried inside the head tribe doctor's tent. He first treated the wounds of Warrior Lang and Apprentice Priest Xiong as they were the lightest among the three. He had already given them first aid by the entrance. There is no problem of Warrior Laohu losing his life at the moment. It didn't take long for Warrior Lang and Apprentice Priest Xiong to have their wounds covered in healing herbs. After treating the two the tribe doctor focused on his last patient with a huge wound on his back. He left the other two patients to his apprentices to look after.

After waiting for the two warriors to be treated, High Elder Zhubao with a serious expression on his face had gone to meet them.

Zhubao with eyes full of worry, "Tell me what happened? Where's Meizhou and Shizi!?"

Warrior Lang and Apprentice Priest Xiong reported everything that happened to Zhubao.

Few hours ago.

After the whole group had split into two, Meizhou led the other four warriors deeper in the forest. In the beginning the others didn't realize something was weird going on in that forest. Laohu, Lang and Xiong were happily hunting the wild animals coming over their group. At first it was a flock of wild pheasants, then a herd of wild boars, few wild cattle, wolves until they'd meet a group of bears running towards them as if running away.

"Bears? These one should still be in hibernation. Why is it awake?" said Shizi as he readied in weapon while on guard.

Meizhou had a serious look on his face as he tried looking past the running animals beside them. He even climbed up a tree to check on the situation. But except for the dust and sand flying around, Meizhou didn't see anything. Not seeing anything made him listless instead.

"This task is to be cancelled. Grabbed those we had hunted and..."

[MY LORD LOOK OUT!]

System Yue's voice echoes all of the sudden in Meizhou's mind. He was at first startled to know that his wife had let System Yue to come with him. Meizhou was unable to complete what he wanted to say as a huge tail was suddenly flying towards him. He was intending to block it when System Yue's voice resounded in his mind once again.

[Don't block it. The gene evolution of that dinosaur had been upgraded. It's strength is almost equal to those dragons in an A rank Cultivation World!]

Tsk! Meizhou clicked his tongue as he jumped away to avoid the incoming tail attack.

Seeing the situation, Shizi knew that something was wrong with the dinosaur his lord is fighting. Not only its skin suddenly grew some dragon scales, its original color turned to red as well. This dinosaur is obviously modified by something. This is supposed to be impossible as only their group of four were certified as outsiders of this world. But now that this kind of dinosaur appeared there is clearly another outside aside from them and this outsider wanted to harm them.

Shizi responded right away, intending to support their boss. "You three. Get ready we're going to support the boss!"

"Yes!" The other three warriors answered.

RRROOOAAARRR!!!

The Tyrannosaurus Rex saw its attack failed and roared in anger. After evolving, its intelligence had heightened greatly. Even it didn't know why that human had helped it upgrade, a command was left in his brain.

The command was saying: 'Kill the human with black hair and golden eyes in the South Forest.'

Following this command Tyrannosaurus Rex had left its cave and ran around looking for his prey. He had eaten almost every animal and beasts that blocked him. It is because of this that the south forest was in chaos and the rivers in this forest turned murky because of blood and other components of the remains of those things he killed. The small beast tide is because of his uncontrolled eating as well. Thanks to the commotion it made, most animals, even those in their hibernation, had awakened. This is the beast tide that Meizhou and his group had seen.

The Tyrannosaurus Rex once again attacked Meizhou with his tail this time with more strength and a bit faster. Just from this second attack Meizhou knew that this stupid lizard's prey is him. But he couldn't understand how this overgrown lizard sudden got intelligent when it used to be so stupid. In his confusion, it was System Yue who was hovering by his side, that gave him the answer.

[My Lord. This dinosaur is a modified one. It was given an gene enhancer that isn't supposed to be found in this primitive world. Gene Enhancers can only be bought in System Malls. It is available in both God System and Nether System.]

Meizhou spoke, "Which means the culprit's target is me. Who is it?"

[Executioner 13 had not found any other entity nearby.]

"Which means it is hiding." replied Meizhou nonchalantly.

[My Lord if you want to fight you need to go somewhere further from where people of this world live. I've already checked the other two Tyrannosaurus Rexes and their states are the same as this one. Currently it's moving towards this place. Obviously its target is also you.]

"Look for a desolate place. I will lure it there."

[Scanning the world topography. Currently in progress... Request for desolation lands found. Northwest the Death Gorge. Southeast the Dessert. Northeast the Trench under the sea.]

"Send me the direction to the Death Gorge. Tell Shizi to bring away the rest of the group and wait for my return."

Meizhou upon receiving the direction towards the Death Gorge in his mind had immediately left while luring the Tyrannosaurus Rex. He ran around the forest for a bit waiting for the other two Tyrannosaurus Rexes to arrive as well. When he saw all three Tyrannosaurus Rexes, he taunted them to follow him.

"COME OVER HERE YOU OVERGROWN LIZARDS!!!" Yelled Meizhou as the three Tyrannosaurus Rexes.

RROOOAAAR!!! ROOOAAAR!!! ROAARRRRR!!!

The three Tyrannosaurus Rexes had roared in anger upon hearing their prey call them lizards. It might have not known what lizards are, but they could clearly feel that their prey is looking down on them.

Seeing the three Tyrannosaurus Rex get lured, Meizhou instantly ran away to the direction where he would be fighting the Tyrannosaurus Rexes. He heads northwest where a gorge is located. The place is called Death Gorge because nothing is able to leave that place alive when one enters. It is a deep cleft between escarpments or cliffs resulting from weathering and the erosive activity of a river over geologic time scales. There's cliffs on both sides and a river or lake in the middle. The space in this place is limited and there are exotic fishes living with the river like fleshing eating fishes like piranha.

The remaining four warriors were shocked with what was happening before them. Seeing one Tyrannosaurus Rex doesn't surprise them as it is something they had experienced before. But seeing three towering Tyrannosaurus Rexes, with those huge open mouths with full teeth bearing at Meizhou stunned them. They were shocked enough that they didn't notice the enlarging beast tide coming over them.

Shizi on the other hand is frowning while looking at the direction his lord had left. He could even see those three Tyrannosaurus Rexes coming after him.

"So the target is the lord. But where is the lord going?" murmured Shizi.

It was at this moment that System Yue had passed the message from Meizhou.

[Warden Lou. A message from the Lord God. He said to bring the rest of your group back to where the others are and wait for his return. The message had been passed to the respondent. Executioner 13 will now leave.]

"Message received." replied Shizi in his mind.

But before he could react, a huge sound of collective roaring from the beast tide behind him had gotten stronger. When he looked back he saw that the beast tide had gotten wilder and larger due to the appearance of three Savage Beast Kings. Though the beast tide isn't as large as in the revelation dream, it's still enough to destroy a single tribe campsite if not stopped.

Shizi ordered, "Follow my command. We are going to stop this beast tide in this place. We couldn't allow it to come down to where the lowland tribes reside!"

"B-But what about Boss!? Those are three Tyrannosaurus Rexes!! We need to help him!" exclaimed Lang.

Shizi responded, "The boss said to leave it to him. He would be okay? He is a chosen one, those savage beasts wouldn't be able to harm him! Get ready and fight!!"

"Yes!" The other three warriors yelled.

---

Warrior Lang and Apprentice Priest Xiong had told of every event their group had experienced. Zhubao and the rest of the people inside the tent were looking at the two with widened eyes in shock and disbelief. Even the head doctor's hands stopped treating the unconscious Warrior Laohu in front of him.

Warrior Lang spoke, "I got my wounds from getting surrounded by wolves at some moment. Xiong's were clawed by a few hyenas while Laohu got clawed by a mountain bear which came out of nowhere."

"Warrior Leader Shizi after sending us by the entrance had left right away to report to the tribe leader. He said that if there is someone who could save Meizhou, it could only be Tribe Leader Xuebao." said Apprentice Priest Xiong.

The head doctor yelled, "Is he crazy!?!? The Tribe Leader is pregnant and he couldn't fight properly in his current state!!!"

"B-But... I-It's still winter... With the unique ability of the leader... Maybe the tribe leader could at least support the boss in fighting at least. That is three Tyrannosaurus Rexes!" retorted Warrior Lang.

After the tribe leader's unique skill, most tribesmen of the Solune Tribe inside the room had shut their mouths. They had all witnessed how heaven defying their tribe leader's ability is. It is said that his ability is especially strong during the winter season.

Zhubao spoke, "Baobao joining Meizhou to fight might be the right way but... what worries me is whether Meizhou would still be alive the moment Baobao came to look for him. Three savage beast kings against one warrior? I couldn't even imagine Meizhou successfully escaping from those savages!!"

"High elder what should we do now!?" exclaimed Warrior Lang.

The old warrior could only sigh helplessly. He knew that even if leads the group now back to their tribe would be useless. They would just be wasting their time and causing the people of the Mountain Tribe to suffer more. His only choice is to leave this problem for his son to solve.

"We are doing nothing! Stay here! Leave the problem of Meizhou to the tribe leader to solve!!" said Zhubao.

"But!!? ---"

Warrior Lang is about to complain but his mouth was covered by Apprentice Priest Xiong. Warrior Lang could see Apprentice Priest Xiong shaking his head with an ashen face. Seeing his friend's reaction, Lang realized that at their current state even if they returned to the Solune Tribe's Camp, there would be nothing they could do. After all by the time they've arrived there, it will already be too late for them to help. This is also the reason why Shizi didn't wait for the High Elder to meet them and instead left right away. He needs to report to Xuebao about the situation right away.

Knowing that he could do nothing to help his boss made him upset. Warrior Lang could only lower his head to hide his tears. Seeing this High Elder Zhubao had patted both Lang and Xiong's shoulders in comfort.

"Meizhou would be okay? Just think of this. Did Baobao give him an amulet? As long as he made the right action he would be able to survive. At least until Baobao finds him." said Zhubao.

Only then they've remembered the special amulet their tribe leader had given them. It is a special item that could save a life in peril. They remember that one of them was left in Meizhou. Knowing this they've seen a tiny spark of hope that the result wouldn't be what they've thought.

Zhubao spoke, "There should be lots of fresh meat from the place you have fought. The beast tide must have scattered by now. I will send a few warriors to retrieve those ingredients. As for now... you guys should rest to heal yourselves. I would send someone to send you guys food."

The high elder said before leaving the tent to continue issuing orders to their group. He had left in a hurry just now when he heard that three warriors of his tribe had returned covered in blood. After learning what happened Zhubao could now resume his duty as the proxy leader of the Mountain Tribe while waiting for his friend to wake up.

Chapter 137: 5.39 First Violet Star - The man in dark green robe.

Dawn.

The night is slowly receding as the sky unhurriedly turns bright. Within the dense forest of the north territory, a huge golden furred lion is sprinting at inhuman speed. This lion is Shizi in his beast form. He had instantly transformed and run as if his life at stake back to their tribe's camp. He needed to report to Xuebao about what happened to Meizhou. It didn't take while for his sudden return to cause commotion. As soon as the Solune Tribe's men saw him, they all surrounded him.

"Shizi?"

"Hey! Shizi is back!"

"Only Shizi!?"

"Where are the rest?"

"Shizi, where are the rest of the tribesmen?"

The tribesmen come from all corners blocking Shizi's way inside the cave. This chaos was heard by the elders and other authorities of the tribe even when Xuebao and Sheya had come out.

An elder yelled, "Order! Let Shizi pass through. The tribe leader wanted to see him!"

The disorderly crowd finally stopped gathering when they heard the tribe's elder's shout. They step aside, allowing Shizi to pass through. Shizi walked the empty space with huge strides. Before he entered the cave, Shizi bowed his head to the elder that helped him escape the commotion.

"Sigh~ you can report to us old men later. Meet the tribe leader first." said the elder.

Shizi replied, "I would, elder." then he went inside to meet with Xuebao.

Within the Inner Chambers,

Shizi met Sheya who welcomed him with a hug.

Sheya said, "Um~ Welcome back."

"I'm home. Is the sire awake?" asked Shizi.

"He just woke up saying something is making him feel restless. Speak carefully his mood swings and morning sickness during pregnancy had started." whispered Sheya.

Shizi nodded before entering the innermost space in the cave. Upon entering they were welcomed with a room covered in thick fur mats and blankets. The floor and corners of the area were specially padded. At the center is a layered cotton floor mattress that was especially made for pregnant female tribesmen. This is something Meizhou had personally prepared for his wife.

Xuebao is lazily leaning at the bed. There is no emotion on his face. Even his usual mischievous smile was gone, there was instinctive vigilance in his eyes when he saw Shizi. Female beastmen get defensive when undergoing pregnancy. They would normally avoid meeting with someone as they had a tendency of attacking others when they are pregnant. During the months of pregnancy the only one who could approach him or touch him without getting attacked is his husband. Xuebao's current state is controlled which is why even though he is pregnant he could meet with others but his mood is usually bad when meeting someone.

Xuebao's eyes squinted when he smelled the strong scent of blood on Shizi. Within those sky tinted eyes was hidden excitement after smelling the scent of rust. Once Sheya and Shizi notice his eyes glinting for a moment they've stiffen. They felt cold sweat appearing on their backs when they met those dangerous eyes. Xuebao's current gaze made them feel small and pressured. As if an extremely powerful being is eyeing on them.

When Xuebao saw the arriving couple flinched, he averted his eyes to allow them to calm down. During pregnancy it's a bit hard for him to control his hidden desires. For someone like him who loves destruction after his husband, the scent on blood coming from Shizi made him excited for a moment. His fists were itching to destroy something to calm the raging beast in his heart.

"I've left Yue with him. So there is no danger he wouldn't be able to escape to. Make your report short. I only need to hear the important information." said Xuebao.

Sheya and Shizi went down on one knee. This is a gesture they show to Xuebao's real identity and not for his current position as the Solune's tribe leader. Xuebao's identity had a position that was levels ahead of them. If not for this current situation of world hopping they wouldn't be able to meet him easily.

Shizi reports, "During our hunt in the North Forest three evolved Tyrannosaurus Rexes had come out. Their target is my Lord. Now the Lord had lured them to the dead gorge at the northwest forest."

"Northwest forest? No wonder it's too noisy lately. Someone modified the gene structure of Tyrannosaurus Rexes, that person might still be around then. A'Xia could easily defeat those lizards. The only reason he didn't return right away is because he wanted to meet the one who modified those dinosaurs. Either way I would still need to pick him up." said Xuebao as he prepares to leave.

As soon as he stood up Sheya brought over a thick coat and shoes for him. He also prepared a change of clothes for Meizhou to wear and covered it with a cloth for easy carry.

"Sheya, Shizi, prevented the rest of the tribe from knowing that I took my leave. I would try to get back as soon as I got to meet A'Xia but... just in case I don't let anyone know about my departure. If you couldn't stop the rest, ask for Uncle An's help. Tell him the necessary details. We will be back soon." said Xuebao.

Sheya and Shizi saluted him, "As you wish, sire."

In the blink of an eye Xuebao had disappeared in thin air in front of them. He used one of his unlocked special abilities to teleport. He might not know where the exact location of Meizhou is but he could instantly teleport at the death gorge in northwest forest directly.

Meanwhile at the death gorge.

In some part of the gorge near a river, someone is seated near the bonfire. This person is enjoying his roasted meat for dinner. Around him was a destroyed forest with three huge lifeless corpses of Tyrannosaurus Rex. One of it got its head off cut cleanly, the other was limbless as its arms, legs and even its tail was cut off. The last one was the most miserable. It was cut off into cubes and was now piled up into a small mountain near the fire. Some of it was now over the fire being cooked by it's hunter. This hunter is none other than Meizhou. He got the condiments and seasoning for the meat from System Yue.

Meizhou asked, "13, since when did you have condiments and seasoning in your storage?"

[My lord. These are not mine but the host's. The host said that a foodie must be prepared at all times.]

"Pfft! Haha~ indeed. My wife is the type that would let himself eat unpalatable food no matter what." said Meizhou.

[My lord an unknown entity is approaching! It's a clone of a high tier God!]

Once Meizhou heard that the relaxed atmosphere in the area had disappeared. There is madness and fury within Meizhou's eyes which now turned obsidian in shade. Not while after a man in forest green robes descended in front of Meizhou without a sound. At the moment the man had stood before Meizhou and everything around the air and Zhi Yue had turned to stop. This man had completely stopped the time of the star. Now the world has halted.

The man's emotionless eyes look at Meizhou. Those similar argent orbs this man possessed made Meizhou remember his wife's eyes when angered. Argent irises which is an embodiment of the moon. The same feeling of coldness and indifference to all beings was familiar as well.

Suddenly, the man frowned after observing Meizhou for a while.

"Pitch black eyes. You are just not a mere soul fragment aren't you?" said the man in cultivator robes.

His question startled Meizhou, he could immediately understand what the man in cultivator robes in front of him is saying. His eyes indeed turn to obsidian whenever the main soul takes over the vessel he is in. Only when his eyes were raven that he was definitely Ye Xiajie. His soul fragments would never possess obsidian eyes as the color of darkness is something that is uniquely for him.

Meizhou glared at the man in front of him.

"Who the hell are you? Those argent eyes... How are you related to my wife?!" asked Meizhou as a black sword appeared on his hand out of nowhere.

The man in robes ignored what most Meizhou had asked and said, "Asura's Sword. He even returned that to you. Even when both of you have no complete memories you are still attracted to each other but... do you believe you wouldn't change at all when your full memories had returned and all your soul fragments had merged?"

Meizhou flinched when he heard that question. As just a half soul of Ye Xiajie, he knew how much memories he is missing and how greatly affected his personality is. He could still remember the trembling of Executioner 13 when he had first summoned him. Their undeniable fear and terror hidden within his eyes. Only then did he know that the whole of him is a cruel and merciless person.

'I really should kill him before all his soul fragments merge...' The thought of the man? in robe, he wanted to kill Meizhou directly to finish what he came from but suddenly he felt an icy and piercing gaze coming from behind him. The gaze is made up of warning and killing intent. Obviously the owner of those eyes had intention to kill him on the spot if he made his move.

A clear cut of murderous intent spread in the area. Not only the man in cultivator robes had felt it. Even Meizhou flinched unconsciously at such pure killing intent. They've looked at the darkness behind them as if seeing something.

Tsk! The situation is no longer good for the man in robes and he could only click his tongue in discontent. Now that someone he didn't expect to be here had already arrived, killing Meizhou now is an impossible task.

He raised his hands as a gesture of his defeat. "I will back away this time. Ye Xiajie, a word of warning. I suggest that you leave his side before you completely merge all your soul fragments... or else you would ---- the person you ---- the most." his words were vaguely spoken with incomplete details making those who hear impatient.

After saying those words one-sidedly, the man in robes suddenly faded into nothingness. As soon as the man had disappeared the time had started moving once again.

The words that man in robes had whispered to Meizhou before he left, lingers in Meizhou's ears. He was in a state of negation. Not at all believing what that strange man had said but in spite of it, the anxiety and doubt towards himself had become clearer than before. He was dazed that he didn't even hear System Yue's voice in his mind nor noticed the arrival of someone.

The newly arrived Xuebao, "What is wrong with him?" because he is too far, he didn't really hear the conversation exchange between his husband and that man in robes. Even then he didn't ask its content for reason.

[That... Host, I don't know. I felt that I don't remember a thing.]

Xuebao spoke, "Of course you wouldn't remember. Your time was stopped by that person as well."

[Host. Do you know who that man is?]

Xuebao's expression turned gloomy when Yue asked him who that man is. Within his unlocked memories he knew too well who that person is. He couldn't believe that this person would harm someone whom he loves. Xuebao just couldn't understand it at all. Just what is happening? Why is his own memories are locked? Why is he in the Nether System? Because of his incomplete memories he couldn't get an answer to these questions.

"Do not ask." said Xuebao in his mind as a reply to his system.

Then he approached the dazed Meizhou and brought the man's mind back to reality. Xuebao pinched Meizhou's cheeks.

"Ow~ Hiss!" exclaimed Meizhou as he finally looked at his pouting wife before him. "Jing'er...!?"

Xuebao said, "What are you still doing here? Do you not wish to go home?" he asked.

Meizhou stared at Xuebao without speaking. He just looked at him without saying a single word. These actions of his almost weird out Xuebao. Xuebao punched him in his stomach to ease his nervousness.

Punched!

"Arrgh! Baby~ why did you... hit me?" asked Meizhou.

Xuebao answered, "You... you were acting weird just now. It made me uncomfortable. Urg!" Suddenly morning sickness hits him.? He could only run in a corner to puke.

Blergh~~

Meizhou gently pats his back and rubs his stomach worriedly.

"Baby, are you okay?" he asked anxiously.

"Y-Yes... Urg~ it's just morning sickness." replied Xuebao.

After drinking water Xuebao could somewhat control his nausea despite his slight dizziness.

Meizhou almost panicked seeing Xuebao's slightly pale face. He carried him carefully in his arms allowing him to rest.

"Let's go home." said Meizhou.

Before the couple had teleported back to the camp, they had Yue hide the beast corpse with him. They've teleported at the boundaries of their new territory. Those two huge corpses of the savage beast kings were brought as well. Meizhou carried Xuebao back to the tribe. They're sudden appearance shocked most people of their tribe.

Even though their return caused commotion in the tribe, no one really dared to question them except for Tribe Priest Anbao. Not only is he the second highest ranked elder in the Solune Tribe, he is also the uncle of Xuebao. Xuebao was already asleep when they got back. So the ones who worked on smoothing the reason for their actions and disappearance can only be done by Sheya and Shizi as Meizhou took the rest of the day off. Napping with his pregnant wife.

While the two chosen ones were taking their rest, Sheya and Shizi were almost deaf after being scolded by their tribe's elders in Meizhou and Xuebao instead. The elders had also learned about the situation of the tribes in the lowlands. After knowing that the River Tribe is already gone, those who have close relationships with the tribesmen of the River Tribe mourn for a few days.

While the tribe had sent reinforcement to help the Mountain Tribe to pass the winter season smoothly. The savage beast kings' corpses were turned into food ingredients by the Solune Tribe. They've shared this meat not only to the Mountain Tribe but also to the other small tribes scattered in the land which is close to them. This is to help those small tribes pass the winter with enough food to eat.

On the other hand, Meizhou and Xuebao had just spent their days doing their duties and waiting for their child to be born.

Chapter 138: 5.40 First Violet Star - A letter for a friend [End]

With the help of the Solune Tribe, most tribes including the Mountain tribe had survived the winter without any problems with food. Three days later, the Mountain Tribe's leader, Linma, had finally woken up. High Elder Zhubao was so happy to see his old friend survive his calamity. It didn't take awhile for Zhubao to successfully convince this old friend of his to relocate his tribe and allied it to their Solune Tribe. The Mountain Tribe had moved their territory at the Northeast forest where the sea is the nearest.

The trade exchange between the Solune and Mountain Tribes continues. As months pass by, the lives within the primitive world resume to normal. Winter season is now coming to an end. Three months had already passed and everyone could now see a bulge on Xuebao's stomach. Everyone, especially Meizhou and the elders of the tribe, were especially joyful seeing this. They couldn't wait for their most precious son, grandson and heir to come out.

After the death of the savage beast kings in all four corners of the forest, the tribe priests of each tribe had received the message from their Beast God saying that they had successfully passed his trials and would be giving his creation some blessings. The male beastmen warriors were able to receive unique skills like what Shizi and Meizhou possess while the female beastmen received knowledge of incantation. An incantation that will allow them to control elemental attributes like Xuebao.

But surprisingly the elements the female beastmen could only control are the main ones like, fire, water, wind and earth. Only those who study to become a tribe doctor could possess the incantation of light which allows them to heal their patients. Among all female beastmen only Tuzi received dual element incantation of light and dark. No one could understand why Tuzi received these weird dual elements which are even outside the 4 main elements. But after hearing that even the Solune Tribe leader, Xuebao, had awakened another two elements except for his first ice element, only then did the others learn that the blessing would differ according to the duties they had accomplished during the trial.

Among the female beastmen aside from Xuebao who worked in lead, Tuzi is the second female beastmen who contributes the most during the trial. It is understandable that his blessing would be unique only for him.

Third week of Spring.

The snow had fully melted by this time. Greenies and trees start blooming and growing as well. The forest had returned to its normal viridescent color. Now even the rivers, lakes and seas have melted which is now flowing unhindered by anything. It is also full of fishes and sea creatures after the ice has melted.

But today in the Solune Tribe a joyous event would take place.

The Solune Tribe Camp is now covered in flowers picked by the female beastmen of the tribe. There are fur carpets placed at the venue. It was designed as a long aisle where at the end of it, is a huge altar surrounded by unbloomed flowers. The fur carpet is made of reddish brown fur and the flowers were fire red hydrangeas in an attempt to make the color of red vibrant for that event. The designer for this ceremony is none other than Tuzi. He based this idea on his memories regarding Chinese ancient marriage settings where everything is red from wedding robes, lanterns to the carpet in the venue.

Moreover he is currently in a primitive world where most things weren't invented yet, Tuzi could only improvise with the materials available for him. Of course the wedding clothes were also prepared by him, no one knows how many red flamingo and red feather birds even red foxes got stripped naked by this female beastmen just so he could make a pair of wedding clothes for this event. The whole tribe even had to ask their allied tribes for help for this material gathering.

But everyone gladly helped when they heard that the material the Solune Tribe had requested is for the Mateship Ceremony of the chosen couple, who protected and helped them during the whole trial. For this event the Mountain Tribe had contributed a huge haul of seafood as present. With Tribe Leader Linma as special guest from the Mountain Tribe, the rest of his tribesmen were specially treated as an extended family of the Solune Tribe. It took two tribes' hard work for this event's preparations to be completed.

The food for today's banquet is thrice larger than a regular evening banquet and the dishes that will be served for after the ceremony is a grand feast prepared by the collaboration of all female beastmen of the Solune and Mountain Tribe. They all had to wake up at dawn to start making the preparation for the magnificent feast just for this event.

Today is the day for the Mateship Ceremony of the Solune Tribe Leader, Xuebao and his chosen other half, the renowned strongest warrior of their world, Meizhou. The ceremony for the Mateship in this world is simple. The couple will only have to bow towards heaven and earth which is after a vow towards the Beast God will be made. This is a vow of an eternal bond between a pair which will be called mates in the future.

Everyone had gathered for today. This is a special event for Xuebao and Meizhou.

Now the ceremony is about to begin.

The tribesmen stood at the sides of the carpet while the warriors stood firmly like a mountain at both sides while saluting at the newly arrived main couple for this event. The rest of the tribesmen also lowered their head slightly upon the arrival of the couple. At the end of the aisle is a small space surrounded with red hydrangeas. The tribe priests of both Solune and the Mountain Tribe had stood near the end of the aisle kneeling as they prayed for their Beast God.

Xuebao and Meizhou stood at the other end of the aisle. They were wearing reddish brown furred clothes with some crimson feathers weave on it like decorations. It didn't look lavish but made with minimal ornamentation. Tuzi worked hard to design their ceremonial clothes making it simple but gorgeous at the same time. From the distance Tuzi was watching the event unfold with his two fiancés standing on each side. There are obvious tear traces at the corner of his eyes, as well as black eyebags under as well. Clearly this female beastmen haven't taken a good sleep for the preparation of this event.

There's a piece of cloth on his hands which Tuzi used to wipe his tears and snot. He is extremely overjoyed seeing his closest friend as well as his brother figure finally getting married.

Tuzi with swollen eyes, "Wuwu~ Finally!! Sniff~... They are getting married. I'm so happy for Baobao~~ Wu~"

"I thought that the child would be born first before they got married." said Warrior Lang while patting Tuzi's back gently trying to calm him down.

Apprentice Priest Xiong took an extra clean cloth and helped Tuzi wipe his almost never-ending tears endearingly. "The elders wouldn't allow the child to be born before marriage. It's no wonder that the preparations for this Mateship Ceremony were already planned during the last winter. Tutu, have you calmed down? If now you will have to meet the couple with swollen eyes later. I'll have someone prepare some ice to cool your eyes off." he said.

"Thank you A'Lang, A'Xiong. Don't worry I will make sure our ceremony will be not less than this one!" declared Tuzi while his male partners just gave him a dotting smile.

At the entrance of the aisle, Meizhou helped Xuebao remove his shoes before letting him wear soft slippers on the carpet. After changing his as well he held Xuebao's hand and intertwined their fingers. Removing any gaps in between. Then they looked at each other and smiled as if they are the only ones in the world.

Meizhou whispered, "Baby, this will be the fifth time we will be getting married."

"Yes and I will never get bored of marrying for countless more types of ceremony. But this time... it seems we're not only two but a bun... coming on its way will be with us~" said Xuebao as he smiled at Meizhou.

Meizhou also smiled at his wife and lowered his eyes on his wife's slightly bulging stomach. Obviously the life inside is already growing, they only have to wait a few more months for it to come out of this world. Meizhou gently rubs his wife's stomach.

"Little one~ don't make it hard for you dad okay? He's been eating too little lately, you should help him eat more. Father will wait for you outside with your dad!" said Meizhou while rubbing Xuebao's tummy.

Xuebao gave him a helpless smile, "You should wait for a few more months then you would be able to feel him kicking you by then. Now he is not yet fully developed but I guess he could still hear your voice."

"Then I will wait. For now... shall we complete the ceremony first?" said Meizhou.

"Yes. Let's finish it fast. I'm getting hungry. Woa!" replied Xuebao.

Meizhou carefully carried Xuebao in his arms while avoiding to put pressure on his wife's stomach.

He spoke, "It will be faster this way and you won't have to get tired from walking." said Meizhou.

Meizhou walked towards the other end of the aisle while carrying Xuebao in his arms. His strides were graceful and strong. Instead of walking on earth, the pair looked like immortals walking in air. The presence in their surrounding and atmosphere had changed as well. Now everyone couldn't help but look at the couple. For some unknown reason they couldn't move away their gaze at them, everyone watched as the couple passed by in front of them, the feeling of being refreshed was felt by almost everyone in the area. Even the heat coming from the sun above them was overwhelmed by the cold breeze that came after the couple had passed. That slight coldness in the air completely relaxed them and made their mood good.

Xuebao controlled his Ice attribute to lessen the heat in his surroundings, those who got close to him could feel a cold breeze which would elevate the hottest of the temperature in their surroundings. At the end of the aisle, Meizhou gently put down his wife and supported him all the way until the ceremony began.

A smiling tribe priest, Anbao, welcomed them at the altar.

"You two finally made it here together. Then I guess you guys would still be able to stay together until your whole lifetime. I give you my blessing." said Priest Anbao.

One by one the other tribe priests had also given them their blessing for their union.

Priest Anbao announced, "The ceremony is now almost at its end. The couple... Please make your vows to the Beast God and receive his blessing."

"Yes." Xuebao and Meizhou answered.

Then they've both spoken their vows while looking at the heaven with their hands held by each other.

"Our body and soul together as one. Our flesh and blood shared as one. To protect and love each other in this eternity. We ask the heavens and earth to witness this bond that will be everlasting until the end of time. Against the time and space. Even against the world and everything that may block us. We shall share everything between the two of us. Only two as one."

The rites were something a couple would talk about. This is a vow that they made together. There are no ready made vows. Only the oath created by two people could be considered as rites in the Mateship Ceremony. This is the rules of this world. A promise of eternity between mates could only be done in this way.

Normally the ceremony would end right away after the vow had been made. But no one would expect that a pillar of light would suddenly fall from the heavens. Falling directly at Xuebao and Meizhou. Everyone was shocked by this event. This is the first time something like this happened in this world.

Zhubao was stunned and stood suddenly in shock, "This is..."

"What is this?! Will the Beast God really bestow them his blessing personally!?" exclaimed Tribe leader Linma of the Mountain Tribe.

The tribe priests were especially excited by this event. Then they heard a monotonous voice that they could only hear in their dreams. They've all kowtowed towards the heavens upon seeing this scene. Only Meizhou and Xuebao reacted differently. They've really felt the presence of the heavenly laws of this world directly looking at them.

Meizhou protectively pulled over his wife in his arms while glaring at the sky. "Baby. Don't worry I will protect you and our child." he whispered.

Xuebao on the other hand had his eyes narrowed as he stared at the sky as if seeing something directly. There's an obvious warning within those azure orbs of his.

Heavenly Laws: 'We art not h're as enemies.? But we wisheth to bestow thee our blessing.? So yond thy mateship wouldst beest consid'r'd as whole in this w'rl'd and if 't be true something happeneth in eith'r of thee yond a wisp of thy soul wouldst beest did protect by the our shall'

[Translation: We are not here as enemies. But we wish to bestow you our blessing. So that your Mateship would be considered as whole in this world and if something happens in either of you that a wisp of your soul would be protected by our will.]

Xuebao who understood the meaning of their words replied, "I shall p'rmit thee to doth so."

[Translation: I will permit you to do so.]

Only then that the warning gaze within those eyes with the same hue of the sky had faded. Meizhou could also understand the weird language between them and wouldn't disagree with such biased blessing from the world itself. With their blessings as long this world remains, so their Mateship would be bonded not only on their body but as well on their soul. Their bond could also be used for the other worlds as a special trait shared between mates.

As soon as the words of Xuebao were said, the light pillar had gotten brighter and the couple was engulfed inside. The rest could only see a glowing pillar. Once the light pillar had disappeared Xuebao and Meizhou reappeared standing at each other's side. There aren't many changes except for the small black snowflakes under their left eyes. It looks more like a tattoo instead of an imprint. This small tattoo is the proof of their Mateship, something that is imprinted directly on their souls.

The Mateship Ceremony despite some weird events had ended successfully. The tribe priests who had seen the snowflake tattoo under their left eyes considered that imprint as a proof of Mateship approved by the Beast God. Because of this the after banquet had become even more animated as the elders were delighted that someone from their tribe received such kind of blessing for their own God.

Because of this surprising event, most couples who wish to spend a lifetime together had undergone proper ceremonies and as they've expected those who vowed as mates received some kind of tattoo of the couple's body as well. The design differs for each couple. But among those polygamous couples only Tuzi and his two men received the same blessing for some unknown reason. This is something that will happen in the future.

Only Meizhou and the rest knew that this stupid rabbit despite of being silly is still this world's most beloved son. It is normal for the heavenly laws of this world to be impartial towards him.

Time passes. Season changes accordingly. At the ninth month of the anticipated day, Xuebao is finally giving birth. This event had left the Solune Tribe in chaos. In Meizhou's house countless screams. Outside the house male warriors of the females inside were gathered. Meizhou was especially listless walking around in circles in his own yard. Shizi, Lang and Xiong as well as a few elders like Zhubao and Anbao were waiting at the yard as well. Inside the house, Xuebao is giving birth while Sheya and Tuzi help. Except for the two the others were forbidden to enter inside the house by the murderous Meizhou.

AAAAAHHH!! Argh! Haaah!!! AAhhh!!

In reality Xuebao couldn't help screaming as he gave birth. In this primitive world which couldn't provide him to ease his pain could only suffer as he gave birth.

While in his mind he couldn't stop cursing which made even System Yue who could hear his thoughts dizzy with all those bad wording.

"Fuck... ha! Dammit it fucking hurts!!! AH~ Shit! No wonder my dad didn't want natural birth! It hurts like hell!!! ARRRGGGHHH!!!"

[H-H-Host... Please calm down! I will give you free pain relief and high quality advanced medicine. I will not give you? anesthesia because I don't know where to use it! Ahh! My ears!!!]

Sheya, who is covered in cold sweat, was trying his hardest to pull out the child while Tuzi was standing by the side holding towels while his face was pale in comparison to his original color. He had not even seen a woman give birth before as he is a virgin in his former world. Now he got to witness first hand a man giving birth.

Tuzi's Thoughts: 'Woa~ It would really come out from there!?!'

[Shut up, Tutu! Two big things could fit in you. Of course a baby would be able to come out there as well!!!]

"Yaa!! Yueyue's brain hole is expanding once again!!!"

[Your brain hole is bigger than your Asshole!]

"Are you saying that I am loose!?"

"Stupid fuckers! I could hear your conversation in my head! You lunatic!!! AAAHHH! So painful!!! Fucking hurts a lot~~~" Complains Xuebao in his head.

Tuzi on the other hand was now shocked silly as he stood like a statue holding a towel standing near Sheya. He could see a small head now coming out from there. If not because Tuzi finished his task of bringing warm water and the other necessity that Sheya would have kicked him in anger for standing stupidly near him.

"Xuebao! Just a bit more. Just one more! Push it out one more time!" yelled Sheya.

AAHHHH!!~

A ear piercing scream resounds one more time which is after while followed by the sound of the child crying.

WAAHHHH~ WAAH~

Once the sound of the baby was heard most of them had shown a delighted smile. Even the frozen Tuzi had returned back to reality.

"It's out!?!?" exclaimed Tuzi.

Sheya yelled at him. "Give me the towel! I've finished washing him."

Tuzi panickedly ran over and helped Sheya wrap the fat white dumpling with a clean towel. He then? looked at the adorable fat baby on Sheya's arms. He even lightly poke the baby's meaty cheeks.

"S-SO CUTE~~" said Tuzi.

Sheya carried the baby and gave it to its dad. The child got his father's raven hair but took over Xuebao's silver blue eyes. The features of the baby are a mix of Xuebao and Meizhou's original appearance. After all this baby is made in accordance with the union of their souls instead of their current vessel. This is the reason why the baby's eyes had hints of silver. Clearly the boy fully inherited the bloodline of his both parents.

"Xuebao, your child is a boy." said Sheya.

Xuebao happily carried his son in his arms. Seeing his features he is not surprised that the child's face is similar to his features. After observing his baby closely he could see that some features aren't familiar to him.

Thoughts of Xuebao, "He must have gotten it from his father." As if answering his doubts Xuebao heard his system's words.

[Wow~ this little cutie looks so much as both the host and the Lord God! So cute~~]

"Baobao~ why don't your baby look like you?" asked Tuzi.

[Shit! Forgot about this silly rabbit. Host, I will put an illusion on the young master to make others see his feature related to your and Lord God's vessel.]

"Okay. Yue I will leave it to you." said Xuebao.

Sheya smacked Tuzi's head and said, "Look again. The young heir looks a lot like the tribe leader and his partner."

"Eh? Oh~ you are right. I might be tired lately because of lack of see." said Tuzi as he could see Xuebao and Meizhou features on the baby.

"You can rest now Tutu. I will be alright. Moreover you still need to prepare for your own wedding." said Xuebao.

Tuzi who finally fatigue overcame him, "Yawns~~ I guess I will take a nap for a bit. See you at dinner~"

"Tell the rest to come in after 5 minutes. I will clean up the rest. But let the husband inside, tell him to bathe his wife with warm water." said Sheya.

"Yes, sir~" said Tuzi as he went out of the room and called for Meizhou.

After the clean up, the rest of the members were finally allowed inside. In the bedroom everyone saw Xuebao laying on the bed half seated while Meizhou sat behind him holding a chubby baby boy in his arms. Sheya and Shizi excused themselves with the rest except for the two elders, Zhubao and Anbao.

"Brat. Let me see my grandson!!" said Zhubao.

Meizhou retorted, "Old man, stop shouting. My wife is resting."

"It's alright father. Come over with uncle. Here. Here look at my adorable boy!" said Xuebao proudly.

"Let me see~ hurry it brat!" said Zhubao as the two elders came closer to look at their new family member.

Priest Anbao commented, "Hm~ the child got A'Zhou's hair color but received his dad's father's eyes. He looks healthy as well. Good. Good."

"So fat! Is my grandson okay!?" commented Zhubao.

Anbao asked, "So what is the name of the child? Have you guys thought of something?"

Meizhou and Anbao looked at each other.

It was Meizhou who answered, "His name is Meibao."

[That's not true! Our Young Master's name is Ye Jingxia!]

"Meibao? Good name!! Meibaobao~ Look, it's grandfather~~" said Zhubao.

It didn't take awhile for the two elders to take their grandchild to the living area and let the couple spend some time together for a while. As expected as soon as the elders left, Meizhou kissed his wife affectionately. Then gives him a kiss on his forehead.

"Good work, Jing'er. You must be tired." said Meizhou as he wrapped his arms around Xuebao's waist and let the latter lean all his weight on him.

Xuebao closes his eyes? and rests his head on his husband's chest.

"Just... a bit. I didn't expect it to be that painful though. No wonder my dad gave birth to me using high technological means instead." said Xuebao.

Meizhou gently rubs his wife's now flat stomach as if to ease his residual pain. "Don't worry. We will plan the second one in the future. If you don't like natural birth we could plan for the second one to be done artificially."

"Hm~ I'll think about it. For now Jingxia would be enough. My love let me sleep for a bit." said Xuebao as he slowly fell asleep.

Meizhou kissed his lips once before they laid on the bed to rest.

"Rest well, My Jing'er~" whispered Meizhou before falling to sleep together.

The newly born baby was left to his grandfather's care for a bit. At least until the couple wakes up after sunset and prepares to eat dinner as a family. This family spends the rest of their life this way.

Further in the future.

The first one to pass away is Zhubao. He closed his eyes with a huge smile as he entered eternal sleep at an old age. Few years after Priest Anbao followed him, Tuzi had received the position as the Tribe priest after the death of Priest Anbao. He became his successor.

Hundred years later. The family of three: Meizhou, Xuebao and Meibao had suddenly disappeared together with Shizi and Sheya. No one knew where they left for. Tuzi cried for a long time after reading the farewell letter from his closest friend and brother.

Contents of the Letter:

Dear Tutu,

By the time you read this, I and my family would be gone. We would be bringing Shizi and Sheya with us. As you must already noticed, I and Meizhou aren't originally people of this world like you. But... At the same time our circumstances aren't the same as yours. First of all, we are not mortals. Second even if I could bring you back to your world, you wouldn't be able to as your body had already been cremated in that world. Yue was the one who personally checked on your original body's state in your world. I didn't inform you because I can already see that you have completely adapted in this world and you already have your loved ones here while none of them. [Tuzi is originally an orphan from his original world. A rich young master.]

You don't have to find us as we are no longer in this world. Many words seem weird right now but I am sure you would understand in the future.

I considered you an interesting soul which is why I left you a gift. This is a gift you would only receive the moment you left this world. Tutu no... Lucas Evergreen. It will be based on your choice as to whether we will meet again in the distant future. For now, it's a goodbye.

Sincerely your friend,

Hei Anjing

Chapter 139: 6.0 Prologue - In the System Space before the Sixth World

The group of five invisible souls hovers in the sky watching Tuzi breakdown upon hearing their disappearance. This little group is now added with a baby milk bun called Ye Jingxia. After detaching their souls to their vessel they now only have their souls protected by the system.

Ye Jingxia's soul regressed back to the age of 5. He was already 15 when his parents and uncles decided to leave the world. At the age of 5 he already knows that he and his parents are not normal beings. They weren't beastmen like what he thought they were. The family of three is even different from his grandfather Zhubao and granduncle Anbao. Not original residents of the world, he only believed them once he heard the voice of the world spoke to him.

This voice of the world is what his grandfather and granduncle calls Beast God but his Daddy and Father never show fear towards the Beast God much less respect them as their Gods. They are not even humans and he is not as well.

Ye Jingxia while in the arms of his father, Ye Xiajie. "Daddy, Father, why are we not bringing Uncle Tutu with us? Isn't he a foreign soul as well?" he asked.

Then the man with long black hair, sharp but captivating features paired with cold obsidian eyes smiled at him tenderly. This is his father named Ye Xiajie, "He is indeed a foreign soul. But Xiao Jing should know the difference between him and us?"

"Is it because Uncle Tutu and the rest are original residents of this world that they couldn't leave easily like us? Or is it because they are mortals while we are Gods?" asked Ye Jingxia.

Hei Anjing smirked at his child and lightly poke those fat cheeks, "I know that our baby has too many questions and is curious about almost everything. Don't worry daddy will answer all your questions later. As for your Uncle Tutu you might see him again in the future. Now go say bye bye to your father he needs to go." he said to their son.

Ye Jingxia knew that he would be separated from his father for a while but his daddy explained to him that he would be able to meet him again in the next world though he might not remember him by then, he would still be his father. Moreover Uncle Lou and Uncle Yun will be there as well though their appearance would no longer be the same. That's what his Uncle Yue had explained to him before. Ye Jingxia looked at his father, using his small hands he held on his father's face and kissed on his cheeks on both sides.

"Father. See you later. Don't worry Xiao Jing will still love father even if you don't have memories. Xiao Jing promise!" There's a small smile on the lips of the boy.

As expected, because of the Mo Bloodline the child possesses, it was quite hard for Ye Jingxia to express his emotions. After all, he was born with initiate cold personality like his daddy, Hei Anjing. Unless he meets the person whom he would be able to move his heart. Except for a few like his parents and close family relatives, even the small smile he gave his father would be impossible to be seen by strangers.

Ye Xiajie smiles as well and kisses the boy's forehead adoringly. "Father might forget about Xiao Jing for a while but father will definitely remember Xiao Jing slowly. Stay with your daddy and don't believe strangers okay?"

"I will stay away from strangers. Bye-bye~" said Ye Jingxia.

Ye Xiajie nodded in satisfaction as he then passed the child on his wife.

"Baby~ we need to go soon. Be careful okay?" said Ye Xiajie as he kissed the lips of his wife.

Hei Anjing kissed him back and then replied, "You're the one they've targeted. Be careful, my love."

Afterwards this little group of theirs left the world. As soon as they left the star they were split into three teams. Ye Xiajie left on his own. Warden Lou left together with his prisoner, Yun Ming. Meanwhile Hei Anjing returned to Zhi Yue's system space with a little boy in his arms. As for why Ye Jingxia had regressed is to keep him in the state where his qi is the purest. The boy still needs to begin his cultivation under his daddy's guidance. The primitive world isn't really a compatible place to cultivate. If they stayed in that world until their vessels died, Ye Jingxia's godly qi would be spent by then and he would become a normal human being like the rest.

Returning to the System Space.

A space full of galaxies and stars is what Ye Jingxia saw the moment he opened his eyes. The horizon from all sides is full of varying colors of galaxies and stars. Obviously the child knows that in every galaxy there would be countless worlds hidden within it and some of those stars had their own worlds and storyline to accomplish. For a newly born deity, Ye Jingxia's knowledge about worlds is limited. Thanks to the bloodline of Mo within his veins his intelligence quotient is initially high which makes him curious about things that are new to his eyes.

"Daddy! This place is so beautiful~ So many worlds. Daddy???"

Ye Jingxia was stunned to see a young man in his twenties with the same obsidian hair and celestial blue eyes like his. They look so similar that it wouldn't be hard for others to call them brothers instead of father and son. This is because his daddy looks so young. Unlike his daddy's soul appearance where his hair is light brown and his eyes were silver, Ye Jingxia couldn't understand why his father's appearance is different right now.

"Daddy? Are you daddy?" asked Ye Jingxia while confused.

Hei Anjing smiled at his silly little bun when the boy saw his human form.

"Yes. It is daddy. Now daddy will explain things for our Xiao Jing to understand. First is that what Xiao Jing is seeing right now is daddy's human form. Xiao Jing's current form is your human form as well as Xiao Jing haven't started his cultivation yet. There is so much to explain and daddy is too lazy to explain things so~ I will just pass the common information directly to our Xiao Jing's little head as memories. Don't worry baby it won't hurt~" said Hei Anjing as he touched the boy's forehead with his. He shared necessary common information about their world, about cultivation and the common sense of the two systems.

It took a while for Ye Jingxia to process and understand everything. He fell on a shallow meditative state with his eyes close as his small figure fell on his daddy's embrace.

---

A week later.

Ye Jingxia's azure eyes were once again revealed in the world. His eyes no longer show ignorance of an ordinary being. There's a hint of indifference and aloofness at his stares.

"Daddy?" calls Ye Jingxia.

"Hmm~"

Ye Jingxia asked, "Who is stronger than you and father?"

[Actually, I am very interested in that as well.]

"Well~ if both of our strength returns to its full state then I guess you could say we are equal in strength. With the immortality of our bloodline, it would be hard for him to kill me but... it is different now. After all, he is already my other half. If he truly wanted to, A'Xia would be able to kill me if he really wishes to do so." explained vaguely by Hei Anjing which made System Yue confused but it seems that Ye Jingxia understood the hidden meaning of his daddy's words and remained silent.

Seeing his tense state, he could guess what was going on in his mind and just hugged his son.

"Xiao Jing. Do you love your father?" asked Hei Anjing.

Ye Jingxia answered without hesitation. "I love father and daddy the most!"

"Daddy loves your father and Xiao Jing the most as well. So Xiao Jing has nothing to worry about. Your father loves us the same way as well."

"But daddy... father is... he is... would he still love us when all his memories return?" asked Ye Jingxia with sadness in his tone.

Hei Anjing replied, "Of course! Your father loves the both of us the most. Even if all his memories and my memories return to normal nothing would happen. But since Xiao Jing is so worried about daddy why don't you protect daddy when that time comes? I'm sure Xiao Jing would be able to protect daddy in the future!"

As if gathering all of his determination, the 5 year old boy pumped his chest and said, "Xiao Jing would protect daddy! Will protect father as well!!" said Ye Jingxia.

Hei Anjing chuckles in happiness when he hears that, "Hahaha~ then I will leave it to Xiao Jing to protect daddy in the future. For now daddy would teach Xiao Jing how to cultivate. Listen well okay~"

"Xiao Jing will listen well!"

Afterward Hei Anjing taught the little baby how to properly cultivate. From how to feel the qi in his body and within his surroundings. How to manage the qi outside and convert it to his own. He even passed him beginner manuals for martial arts, swordsmanship, spears and others. These are something his husband left for him to teach their son.

He, on the other hand, had personally taught the boy how to control his elemental qi like ice, blood and darkness. He got Ice and Blood elemental qi from him while the darkness qi from his father. He also gives him an amulet bracelet made of Ice and blood stone of high quality. This kind of accessories is deemed priceless even in an SSS World. After teaching the boy the basics he told him to practice different kinds of skills in the practice space which time is distorted from his original timeline. The time within the practice area is 100 times faster than in the current world. In short a hundred year in that space is just an hour in the system space.

After putting his boy in the practice room, System Yue had appeared before him in his real form. Now a teenage boy with black hair and purple eyes, wearing a white-violet cultivator robes stood in front of him. Zhi Yue saluted properly in front of Hei Anjing.

"Master Hei. Would you like to check on the next world plots to pass time?" asked Zhi Yue respectfully.

Hei Anjing glanced at him and said, "Not for now. Let Xiao Jing pick the next world to enter. Yue, could you look after Xiao Jing for me in the practice room? I'm afraid he might not be able to continue his training because of that asshole who suddenly came over."

Zhu Yue waves his hand once to make a holographic monitor which shows the live situation inside the practice room. He immediately got pissed when he saw his boss, An Liang bothering his little nephew.

"Boss!?! Tsk..." He once again saluted towards Hei Anjing and asked to be excused as he needed to leave. "Master Hei I will look after the Young Master right away!?"

Hei Anjing nodded his head in agreement and said, "Go ahead."

Only then that Zhi Yue disappeared from the System Space to the practice room. Once Zhi Yue disappeared the nonchalant smile on Anjing's face disappeared. He sat in lotus position intending to meditate and speed up his plans to forcefully unlock his seals of his memories. It would take a few more worlds for his memories to be completely unlocked. Right now his memories are already 40 % unlocked. He wanted to unlock 5% more at least before his son and Zhi Yue returns.

5 hours later.

Ye Jingxia and Zhi Yue reappeared with a stalker named An Liang following them. Zhi Yue is carrying the five year old Ye Jingxia in his arms preventing the old pervert following behind them.

An Liang spoke, "Xiao Jing~ can't you come with uncle for a bit? That's right! Let's go visit your father a bit~ Don't you miss your father?"

"No. Father said not to follow strangers!" retorted the boy.

"That's not true. I am Uncle An. Didn't I introduce myself before?" said An Liang with an amicable smile on his face.

Zhi Yue complains, "Boss~ enough already. Because of you the young master's training had been halted multiple times. What would you do if you affected his cultivation?"

"What are you talking about? I'm stopping him because he upgrades his cultivation too fast. He is a natural born deity but after 500 years of cultivation he is already a God." said An Liang.

Zhi Yue was startled for a moment and immediately checked on his little master's cultivation. After checking that Ye Jingxia indeed reached God state in just 500 years and there were no problems with his foundation at all, he looked at his young master like a little monster. It usually takes a millennium at least for deities to reach Godhood. Even those deities needed resources from God System to enhance their cultivation but his young master only meditates and didn't use any resources except for the bracelet made of white and red stones his host had put on Jingxia's right wrist as an amulet before he let him go to the practice room.

"Wow~ that is high quality ice and blood stones. Who would be wasteful enough to make a bracelet out of it?" said An Liang in shock.

The one who answered is Hei Anjing who took his son from Zhi Yue.

"I am that wasteful person who made ice and blood stone which I made personally using my own elemental qi. Do you have any problems with it?" asked Hei Anjing.

An Liang flinched and instantly hid behind Zhi Yue instinctively when he thought that his nephew was watching him, he acted fearless but still kept a certain distance away from Hei Anjing. He could still remember the man threatening to kill him before he pushed him in a world.

"N-No..." Said An Liang.

"Anyway just put this somewhere near A'Xia's vessel. It will help in protecting his body and soul connection." said Hei Anjing as he brought out a large blood stone of divine class. "It is not something for you but for my husband."

An Liang retorted, "I know... you're getting too cranky lately because your memories started to return. I'll go now. Bye~ Xiao Jing~"

Waving his little hands back after seeing that his daddy really knows this person,? "Bye-bye Uncle An~"

"S-So cute~" whispered An Liang with an adoring expression on his face before taking his leave.

An Liang reluctantly accepts this rare stone which would make even the others kill him just to steal it. After receiving this extremely hot potato in his hands, An Liang had no other choice but to leave right away.

"Yue. What did that fool say about my Xiao Jing?" asked Hei Anjing.

At this moment Zhi Yue had returned to his moon avatar form. He is now hovering around this father and son.

[The boss said to give the same benefits the host has to Xiao Jing. Thought for the next three worlds Xiao Jing could pick two free skills to even out with the host.]

"That's good then. Yue let Xiao see the world plots. He would be choosing what kind of world to enter next." said Hei Anjing while smiling at the little guy in his arms. "Xiao Jing as a reward you could choose the first world you wanted to enter. Daddy will accompany you instead."

Ye Jingxia happily nodded his small head as he stared at Yue's moon avatar looking at him with big adorable eyes saying 'Please hurry and let me see the plots.'

[Cough* I will now list the following worlds' plot for the young master.]

Please make your choice Young Master!]

Young Master Ye Jingxia was taught by the little moon on his hand on how to check on the world plots. Hei Anjing watches the two converse as they look through the plots of every star. After a while Hei Anjing saw his son holding a glowing green ball in his hand.

"Daddy! Xiao Jing wants this one!"

Hei Anjing gladly received the green glowing star from his son. Upon checking the world plot in it, the corner of his lips slightly twitched. There's an obvious dislike on his face after reading the plot. The world his lovely son had chosen is something he hated the most.

The world of rotten, dirt and grime.

Something that will keep Hei Anjing in a bad mood as soon as he enters. For a slight OCD-ic person like him the world end setting is something he wanted to avoid. Though in this world he could kill anyone he wanted, it still does change the fact that it's a rotten world that will prevent him from keeping himself clean all the time.

"Xiao Jing. My baby~ why did you choose this world?" asked Hei Anjing.

Ye Jingxia who noticed his daddy's discomfort had no other choice but to answer honestly. "Xiao Jing wants to try my new learning skills and abilities. This world is suitable for battle." he explained.

"Daddy, you don't like this world?" asked Ye Jingxia.

Seeing the eagerness in his son's eyes from before slightly dims, Hei Anjing decided to spoil the boy and accept his fate.

Hei Anjing smiles weakly, "Daddy doesn't mind. Let's choose this if Xiao Jing wants it." he said.

Ye Jingxia's eyes brightened when he heard his daddy's words. He knew that his daddy accepted his choice.

"Thank you, Daddy!" said Ye Jingxia as he kissed his daddy's cheek with a loud smooch.

SMOOCH!

Hei Anjing spoke, "Okay. okay. Calm down this little baby. We still need to see what kind of skills we could get. Remember to choose 2 skills, okay?"

Ye Jingxia nodded his head and he stared at the floating little moon in front of him.

"Uncle Yue. Hurry. hurry. The list of skills~"

[Haha~ the young master is too excited. I will now give you the list]

[Skill List:

Elemental Qi:

Fire

Water

Wind

Earth

Light

Darkness

Ice

Thunder

Attribute Skill:

Strengthening

Agility Up

Defense Up

Luck Up

Unique Skill:

Mental Skills

Kotodama

Dimensional Space

Storage Space

Please choose your skills Young Master, Host!]

Among the list, Hei Anjing's eyes stayed only on one skill. It's the skill called Dimensional Space. Obviously this skill is like those golden thighs the protagonist possesses. A separated space with a small paradise in it. A small fertile land which allows a living thing to enter and he could even farm in it.

"Yue, I choose the Dimensional Space." said Hei Anjing.

[I thought so! The host would definitely choose this. I knew it. Which form do you wish for it to take? It could take the form of an accessory or a tattoo.]

Hei Anjing replied. "A snowflake earring."

[Synthesizing... Progress complete! Please receive it, Host!]

Out of nowhere a one ear on his left ear appeared. It hangs on his ears and the design is as he requested. A lone white snowflake.

[How about you Young Master? You can choose two if you want or just one, and Uncle Yue would just let you choose three in the next world.]

"Un~...Un~ Uncle Yue, Xiao Jing chooses Light Element and Kotodama~"

[Okay! In the next world you can use your own skills anyway. Uncle Yue would accept your choice for the skills this time. But Xiao Jing still needs to practice the light element for full control. Come with Uncle Yue in the Practice Space for training.]

Zhi Yue once again turned to his human form and took Ye Jingxia with him to train his light element. Hei Anjing didn't have to wait too long. In half an hour the pair returned.

"We're back, daddy~"

Ye Jingxia happily returns to his daddy's arms.

Looking at his system, Hei Anjing said, "Yue. I would like that the identity of the vessel that Xiao Jing would take would at least have a blood connection to the vessel you have chosen for me. I know that I and my son might get separated during the transfer in the world. Which is why, I want you to appear in the worlds at Xiao Jing's side instead of mine. As long as you make sure that the World Plot and memories of the vessel would be received by me as soon as I opened my eyes then there shouldn't be any problem."

[Don't worry, host. I will look after and protect Xiao Jing!]

"Daddy! I would listen to Uncle Yue if I got separated from daddy!" said Ye Jingxia.

Kissing his son's forehead, "Good... Okay! Let's begin the transfer." responded Hei Anjing with a dotting smile as he squeezed the glowing green star with his free hand. System Yue initiate their transfer.

[Host, Young Master, please prepare for transfer in 10....9....5....2....1

Transfer Complete!]

Chapter 140: 6.1 Third Green Star - Rebirth

Once the transfer had begun, the father and son figures including the little moon avatar had disappeared from the system space and entered the glowing green star the little bun had chosen.

The first one to get transferred is the young boy. Because System Yue is with him, his transfer has been prioritized. The little bun Hei hears his uncle's voice ringing in his head. He wanted to reply but his surroundings are dark and he is unable to move.

[Yo----... Ma... Ter... Xiao.... - - ng... Please wake up. Xiao Jing! Xiao Jing... Young Master Xiao Jing!!!]

Ye Jingxia groaned as he finally felt that he couldn't control his body. His eyes open wide as he gasps in shock suddenly seating up. Looking around with his slight blurred sight. Ye Jingxia knew that he just woke up from sleep. Once his eyes recovered he saw a group of kindergarten sleeping with him inside a room. They have their own mattress, pillows and blanket. Ye Jingxia even saw an orca stuff toy in his arms. Looking at his shrank hands which are even smaller than 5 years old, Xiao Jing doesn't even know if he wanted to cry. He obviously chose this world to experience fighting but his Uncle Yue gave him an even smaller body.

In his mind Xiao Jing complains to his Uncle Yue. He heard his voice calling before in his mind. So he knows that his Uncle Yue is with him.

"Wuwuwu~ Uncle~ why give me this small vessel! Sob! I won't be able to fight this way~ waaah~" complains Xiao Jing.

[D-Don't cry Xiao Jing~ This is the only vessel available which is connected by blood with your daddy. At least in this world your daddy is still your daddy. A-And in this body you could still use elemental qi. Until you grew enough to hold a weapon, Xiao Jing could first try fighting with elemental qi instead~ okay? Don't cry baby~]

After hearing that he could still fight zombies with his elemental qi until he grew up enough to be able to carry a weapon, Xiao Jing finally stopped crying.

Ye Jingxia said, "Uncle Yue, am I in kindergarten school? Can you give me the memories of this vessel? Then Uncle could explain the world plot for me."

[Okay~ Sweetie lay back down and pretend to sleep again. Uncle Yue will give you that vessel's memories.]

He did as he told and lay back down on his mattress even covering himself with a blanket and then closed his eyes. This adorable baby with milky chocolate hair and fire opal went back to sleep. Xiao Jing's vessel's name is Ximen Chino, a three year old little bun, half Japanese and half Chinese blood baby.

The meaning of his name: Hino from the word Hinode which means sunrise and Chi from the word Chinmoku meaning silent. It's a Japanese translation of his real name Jingxia which means silent dawn. It's a girl name but the little bun doesn't care much about it.

The little bun Xiao Jing will now be called Ximen Chino.

Ximen Chino closed his eyes and prepared himself to receive the memories of his vessel. On the other hand System Yue had explained and nagged him about what to do? Chino was nagged for a long time then he fell asleep while listening to his Uncle's scolding.

Meanwhile in some mansion in the R District.

Hei Anjing woke up in a small pool in the middle of the day. As soon as he woke up, he observed his surroundings quietly. Half of his body is soaked under warm water inside a jacuzzi. The water is bubbling as to keep the temperature at slightly hot state. Looking around, he is obviously a rich man in this world. Hei Anjing waited for a while and didn't make any unnecessary moves. It was by this moment that an emotionless and monotonous machine voice was heard in his heart. Unlike system Yue's bubbly voice this one seems to be an automated voice mail.

[Message from the System Executioner 13. According to the instructions inputted in the database, Automated System xa0013 will now give the host his current vessel's memories and the World Plot.]

[World Plot: This is a reseted world. During the first loop, the Protagonist Gong of this world, Shi Moyo, is a person of Military. A Major with a high ranking background who was on a mission when the apocalypse arrived. He was badly injured during the mission and was waiting for death when someone named Yun Ren saved his life.

Yun Ren is an adopted son of Master Yun, an elite man who works for the largest and wealthiest family, the Ximen Family. He has a cheerful and wild personality but despite that lots of people like him. He is a spoiled child that does whatever he thinks of doing.

Shi Moyo was saved by the whims of this young man. In exchange for his life being saved once, Shi Moyo had vowed to protect Yun Ren. He had kept Ren under his wings after the apocalypse arrived. Meanwhile, Ren has an older brother. This one is a legitimate son of Master Yun who was kidnapped when he was only a baby. This man is called Yun Suisen.

Yun Suisen is quite an intelligent man. He grew up in an orphanage after the Dean picked him up in some dirty alley in S District. After graduating as top in his class he was fortunately accepted to work in Ximen Family as butler. His job is to keep the only young master of the Ximen Family safe. As someone who had proper fighting skills and military training working as a bodyguard is easy for him.

But he had changed when Christmas for that year had arrived. On the 25th of December, Suisen lost everything when the apocalypse arrived. Ximen Suisen did his best to survive in the apocalypse. He was saved by Shi Moyo once on his way to the S District. It was during this time that Suisen had fallen in love at first sight with Moyo but unfortunately this love never bloomed.

During one of the missions to gather resources Ren because of his defenseless self was almost killed by a level 5 Zombie. Moyo was very far from him and was unable to come over in time. It was at this time that Suisen decided to sacrifice his life to save Ren. But his reason isn't because he likes Ren but because the person he loves likes and protects this person.

In his last breath he confessed to Moyo about his secret love. What Suisen didn't know is that the reason Moyo is protecting Ren is because of a vow and a mission. He was only fulfilling his duty as a soldier. After all the Yun Family is one of the main resource providers of their base and that is all.

Moyo lost it when Suisen had died. After all Suisen was the one he loved the most. But bound by his responsibilities and mission, Moyo never confessed his love. He was afraid of rejection. Which is why when he heard Suisen's confession during his last breath that he extremely regretted his action. Only when he lost the person he loves the most that Moyo finally lost it. In his sadness and agony, he imploded himself to kill off the zombie king.

When he opened his eyes once again, Moyo woke up in the past. Half a year before the apocalypse began. With this chance of rebirth Ayusawa Moyo vowed to prevent the future where his love will die. This is his chance to change everything.]

[The host's vessel is called Ximen Xueya. The wealthiest man in the country. He owns more than ten enterprises in different fields. But this man is a lonely and cold person. He had no one else in his family aside from a three year old child called Ximen Chino. Chino is a child born through artificial insemination. The mother is a Japanese Lady. The only child who was successfully born after Xueya's countless attempts.

But unfortunately this father and son had died after being schemed by those who wish to steal the wealth of the Ximen Family. They were thrown in the herd of Zombies and got eaten alive.]

"We're not even Cannon Fodders this time but just a nameless MOB. So what is this vessel's wish?"

[Automated reply based on the database. Ximen Xueya's wish is to survive and keep his only family, Chino, happy until the end of time.]

After hearing his tasks for this world Hei Anjing decides to make his move. He stood up and left the jacuzzi. He dried himself off and wore a black bathrobe over him. As soon as he stood up his bare body was revealed. Long slender legs which seem like they're made of flawless jade. Tight ass, slim but strong waist, wide shoulders and six pack abs connected to his clear mermaid lines.

Ximen Xueya is clearly a man who keeps his body fit. Looking through the memories he received, Xueya seems to be someone who hated crowds and had a silent personality despite his cold temperament which made him a human that could be compared to glaciers. Ximen Xueya is a gay, this is the reason why there is no woman in his life. He wasted his wealth for his little treasure, Chino, to be born. Ximen Chino is the only reason for Xueya's happiness.

Ximen Xueya is in his mid-thirties but his appearance just looks like he is in his twenties. With a sexy and elegant demeanor, he seems like a walking hormone with seductive attraction. As soon as he leaves the bathroom, the protagonist shou, Yun Suisen lowers his back and bows to greet him.

"Master, lunch will be ready in an hour." said Yun Suisen.

Xueya glanced at his butler and didn't speak a word but he hummed in response instead.

"Um~"

Ximen Xueya walked towards the wardrobe to change his clothes. Once he comes out of the wardrobe, Xueya is now wearing homely casual clothes. Fitted black pants which highlight his long and slender legs paired with loose knitted long white sleeves. Afterwards he sat at the nearest couch and looked through his phone. After knowing that his vessel has a son, Xueya knew that his Xiao Jing might have taken over that vessel as well. Checking his phone gallery he saw a cuddly little bun which is even smaller than his Xiao Jing. The folder is named 'Precious Chino'.

"Hm~ you have a lovable baby. Not much as mine thought. I have to make sure to tell Yue that to allow you and your child to be reborn together. That way your baby will still your baby." whispered Xueya as he looked through the pictures the original had gathered. The father and son were obviously happy until their death were schemed.

Yun Suisen who was standing at the sides waiting for orders noticed the changes in his Master. Unlike before the master rarely shows his emotion except when the Young Master is with him. But just now he definitely saw his eyes glinted with amusement and slyness.

Ximen Xueya spoke, "Yun Suisen. My son and I are going on vacation for a few months. By that time, you can also go ahead and go home after taking your monthly salary and vacation bonus to the household accountant."

Having heard his master's sudden plans for vacation startled Suisen for a moment but he was able to accept it well as most of the time his master's whims were unpredictable.

"When would the Master and Young Master take their leave?" asked Suisen respectfully.

Xueya replies, "September might be good. After all, I still need to do a few things in the companies. Two months should be enough." I'm planning on those useless things and exchanging them for resources before the world ends anyway.

"Then Suisen would also have his vacation in September as well." said the butler.

Xueya finally moved his eyes and looked at Suisen. He observes the young man before him. Based on his appearance he should be in his mid-twenties.

"Suisen. According to your profile you seem to be someone who grew up from the orphanage?" asked Xueya.

"Yes, Master Yun." replied Suisen.

Xueya spoke, "Hm~ are there lots of children in that orphanage with the same age as my Chino?"

Suisen was startled by this question but still responded respectfully. He doesn't understand why his master is asking such questions. "Yes. There should be lots of children with the same age as the Young Master. Can Suisen ask why the master wants to know?"

"Well~ don't think too much. I was planning on donating in your orphanage to at least let those children grow healthy. Can I not do so?" asked Xueya.

There is a bit of panic when Suisen hears his master taking back his plan to donate in the orphanage he grew up with. It's been a while since someone donated in the orphanage. If not for him giving money to his dean that the orphanage would be shut down already.

"No. Master you can. Please! Suisen will bow his head first to master in gratitude for his help!"

Xueya pats his butler's shoulder in comfort.

"Then it is decided. During the weekend you should bring the architect and accountants I've chosen to the orphanage you've grown up to. Your record as a student is not bad. I guess this means that the one who brought you up is a good parent. There is no need to hold back with money. I have too many of those. Make sure to complete renovation of the orphanage before December. It would be bad if the children's place is still in ruin by the time Christmas comes." said Xueya.

"Thank you, Master~" said Suisen with tears in the corner of his eyes. He is truly delighted knowing that someone like his employer is willing to help the place he grew up.

Xueya spoke, "With this then go prepare the car for me. Let's pick up my Chino before lunch."

"Yes. Please leave it to me master!" said Suisen who instantly completed his duties.

After a few minutes of preparation he and the master are now on their way to pick up the Young Master.

On the other hand at the capital.

In the main city, a man wearing soldier clothes woke up in his office covered in cold sweats. His handsome and masculine face looked pale as if frightened and shocked. He could feel unbearable pain in his heart as he remembers the last moment of his loved one dying in his arms. He observes his surroundings with extreme vigilance. Only when he recognized that the place he was in was his former office in his own mansion that he could guess what was happening right now.

He grabbed the phone on the table in front of him with trembling hands. After seeing the date, he instantly became delighted.

"J-July...1st... It's really the first of July. I am not... Dreaming!?" muttered the man as he leans his head down to his clenched fist.

The man's masculine features are wrinkled in emotions but there are no tears in his eyes despite it turning red with all of the emotion swirling inside his heart.

"Half a year. I still have half a year of preparation. I must find Suisen before the apocalypse arrives."

The man's words were uttered in the silent office. No one else but only him heard his own whispers. This man is the protagonist of this world. His name is Shi Moye.
