My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1436—Feeling Too Angry
‘It’s Byron’s intention to let Estie live with me, so if you want to take her away, you have to get his consent.’

Rosalie emphasized, her expression unmoved.

Immediately, the little girl in her arms echoed. “Estie will listen to Daddy!”

Melody’s temples throbbed as she watched them band together in the same tune.

‘My son even sent out such a statement. If I call to ask, it’s obvious what his answer will be.

‘This wretched woman doesn’t intend to let me take my granddaughter away at all, so she found such an excuse!’

However, Melody’s own son was on the woman’s side. She had no leverage!

Rosalie waited for a while, saw that the older woman had not moved, and said again, “If you don’t want to, please leave quickly. It’s getting late and the children are still hungry, so I don’t have the energy to cook for one more person.”

As Rosalie finished, she put Little Estie on the ground and signaled Lucian and Nox to take her upstairs.

Watching the little ones go upstairs, Rosalie said to Melody, ‘Help yourself.’

Without waiting for Melody to answer, she turned around and went into the kitchen, pretending that Melody did not exist.

For a while, Melody was left alone in the living room.

As Melody stared at the busy figure in the kitchen, she took a deep breath and warned viciously, “Don’t think that you can be a part of the Lawrence family just because Estie and Byron like you! As long as I’m still alive, you can forget about it!”

After that, she walked away furiously.

Rosalie kept her back against the older woman, looking calm and composed, but in fact, her heart was up in knots.

Hearing Melody’s departure, Rosalie was secretly relieved.

Although the quarrel was very unpleasant just now, Melody's appearance just reminded her that it was not time for her to let her guard down. 2

Melody's hostility toward the little ones was so obvious.

Byron had already admitted that the two boys belonged to him, yet Melody never even asked whether it was true or not and regarded it as false.

It was evident that she had never accepted Lucian and Nox from the start.

In her heart, Lucian and Nox were not even good children.

It's all because of me. I left without saying goodbye back then, which gave Melody a preconceived bad impression.'

Thinking of this, Rosalie felt apologetic to the boys.

She even started to feel a little regretful. The way she handled it just now was not ideal.

Since she wanted Melody to accept her and the two little ones, she should have lowered her posture. 1

However, Melody was outright aggressive just now, and Rosalie could not think of any other way to deal with her...

Upstairs, the three little ones had been on the balcony. Once they saw Melody get in the car and leave, the little ones ran downstairs and joined Rosalie.

'Mommy, are you okay?'

Rosalie put away her thoughts, sighed softly in her heart, and reluctantly patted the heads of the little ones with a smile. "Mommy is fine. Did you get scared just now?" 1

The little ones shook their heads and said angrily, "We weren't scared!

We're just too angry!"

Then, Lucian and Nox looked up at Rosalie seriously. "We wanted to protect Mommy too!"

Deeply moved, Rosalie wrapped the little ones into her arms. "Thank you, my darlings. Don't take what Grandma said just now to heart. You're all Mommy's most precious babies."

The little ones nodded obediently. "We know that Mommy is the best mommy in the world!"

Rosalie hugged them tightly. The little ones' sensibility brought a mixture of contrite and heartache into her eyes.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1437—At the same time, in the villa in the suburbs, Wendy also saw the scandal unfold on the internet.

As she read the statement issued by Lawrence Corporation, Wendy was so angry that her hands on the phone kept shaking.

Of course, she could see that Byron was close to publicly acknowledging his relationship with Rosalie! He was so close that he almost posted their former marriage certificate to the world!

At the same time, it was also a response to the previous scandal between Rosalie and Xander.

He was announcing to the outside world that Rosalie was his!

When Wendy and Byron were engaged before, no matter how low Wendy positioned herself, she never received a single recognition from Byron to the outside world.

Yet he did it for that b*tch so easily!

Moreover, what the hell was going on with those two little b*stards?!

Wendy did not believe that they were Byron's children.

However, she was even more unwilling to believe that Byron would declare two children of unknown origins as his own to the outside world for the sake of that b*tch's reputation.

For outsiders who did not know the truth, they would really think that the two's relationship was great.

However, for those who knew, Byron's actions were equivalent to taking those bastard children as his own.

How could he possibly do this?

No matter what the possibility was, Wendy was unwilling to believe it.

She took out her mobile phone and called Andrea for confirmation.

On the other end of the call, Andrea was also shocked by the news.

She learned the news from Andrius, and she also fully recognized Rosalie's position in Byron's heart!

Therefore, Andrea became more determined to stay away from Wendy.

However, before she could think of a solution, Wendy's phone call came in again.

Andrea reluctantly answered the phone. She only hoped that Wendy came to ask her for money.

She could still forcibly take out some money, but if Wendy threatened her to attack Rosalie, Andrea would not know what to do!

After Lawrence Corporation's statement in the morning, she would not be so stupid as to go against Byron and attack Rosalie.

However, Wendy still had some leverage over her, and Andrea could not completely refuse...

Before Wendy spoke, Andrea was full of anxiety.

She even took the initiative to ask, "Wendy, how much money do you need?"

After the words were said, Wendy's cold voice boomed. "What's going on with the news on the internet? Are those two bastards really Byron's children?!"

Even when the two of them were separated by the screen, Andrea could still picture Wendy's ferocious expression just by hearing her tone.

*I can even imagine how Wendy will react after I answer her!'

She choked with difficulty, quietly thinking about how to answer so as not to offend Wendy.

However, before she could think up her words, Wendy had already made a guess.

"They aren't, right?"

Wendy almost gritted his teeth and asked.

Andrea's heart tightened. 'Wendy, don't be angry-'

Wendy interrupted her sharply. “How can I not be angry?! I’m going crazy with jealousy! What’s so great about that b*tch that Byron would do this for her?!”

Andrea was left speechless by her question.

She could only pray silently in her heart, hoping that Wendy’s anger would not implicate her.

Fortunately, on the other end, Wendy just cursed a little before hanging up the phone.

Looking at the blackened phone screen, Andrea let out a long breath of relief.

On the other hand, the more Wendy thought about it, the angrier she became.

After looking through her phone for a while, coldness flashed across her eyes as she dialed a number at the bottom of her address book.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1438– Tons Of Gossip

The Lawrence family suddenly had two more young masters, and they were born from Byron and his ex-wife.

As soon as the news came out, it caused an uproar in Coast City. 1

The reporters were even more moved by the news. It was uncertain what method was used, but they surrounded Rosalie’s research institute and also swarmed around the villa.

Before Rosalie got up, she received a call from her assistant, Linda, telling her not to go out today.

Rosalie was still a little confused when she received the call.

However, when she got up and saw that it was a battlefield downstairs, she could not help feeling a little flustered.

These people obviously came for the statement that Lawrence Corporation released yesterday.

Somehow, the crowd saw the curtains of her room open, and everyone downstairs pointed their cameras at her room. The camera flashes kept flickering.

Rosalie was taken aback and quickly pulled the curtains shut again.

Almost at the same time, her cell phone rang again.

Rosalie grabbed her phone and took a look. It was an unfamiliar number.

She picked it up suspiciously, only to hear a voice from the other end.

'Excuse me, is this Miss Jacobs? You and President Lawrence...'

Rosalie hung up the phone before the other party could even finish speaking, feeling a little annoyed.

'Where did these people get my phone number and address?!

'Do all journalists have access to people's private information now?'

Just when Rosalie was startled and annoyed, Estie woke up in a daze.

When the little one noticed that Rosalie was still in the room, she looked very happy. She smiled and stretched out her little hands to her. "Mommy, hug me!"

Rosalie had no choice but to put away her thoughts. She reached out and hugged the little girl, and the tip of her nose was instantly filled with the sweet milky scent from the little girl's body.

All of a sudden, Rosalie's disturbed mood instantly recovered.

The little girl seemed to see that Rosalie was in a bad mood and gently touched her face with concern. "Mommy, what's wrong?"

Rosalie smiled reassuringly at the little girl. "It's nothing. Let's go wash up.'

The little girl nodded obediently, curled into a bundle, and got into Rosalie's arms dependently.

The precious weight in Rosalie's arms grounded her mood back to calmness.

There were still children at home, so she must calm down. Otherwise, the children would be frightened. 1

After getting Estie to wash up, Rosalie opened the door and prepared to go down to cook.

As soon as she opened the door, the other two little ones stood at the door.

Seeing Mommy coming out, Lucian raised his head toward her, his little face tensed. "Mommy, who are those people outside? Are they Grandma Melody's people?"

This was the first time the little ones had seen such chaos.

In addition, Melody just came here yesterday, so the little ones naturally assumed that she had found people to surround their home.

Rosalie patted the little boy's head reassuringly. "Probably not. Let's not go out today. I'll help you take a leave of absence from school."

In this situation, the little ones could not go out at all.

The little ones obediently agreed. Their eyes were full of vigilance as they looked at the group of people outside who wanted to rush into their house.

Lucian and Nox had even begun to think in their hearts, 'If those people really break into the door, how will we protect Mommy?'

At the same time, when Mary came back from outside, she immediately saw the reporters bustling in front of Rosalie's house.

These days, she had been busy with a major surgery and was almost dizzy from work. She knew nothing about the outside world.

Looking at the commotion outside, her first reaction was to think there was a medical accident.

As a doctor, Mary knew how serious some medical accidents can be.

She quickly took out her mobile phone and took a look. Unexpectedly, there was no news about her best friend's medical accident but tons of gossip about her!

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1440–The Media Had Been Warned

In the office, Byron was looking at the computer screen with disdain.

On the screen, there was a crowd of reporters surrounding Rosalie's house and the research institute.

He did not expect that his actions would bring such big trouble to this woman.

Suddenly, his office door burst open.

Byron looked over with displeasure and was about to reprimand the person, but the voice at the door boomed before him.

"Byron! Come out! What the heck is happening on the internet?!"

Mary rushed in aggressively, strode up to Byron, put her hands on the desk, and stared straight at the man.

Byron frowned slightly at this woman and soon remembered that she was Rosalie's best friend.

The two had met a few times.

He suppressed his annoyance and raised his hand to Mary in a gentlemanly manner. "Please have a seat."

Mary was so angry that she did not care to sit. "Explain it clearly to me first! When did my godsons become your sons?!"

She just wanted to ask when Byron knew about this and how he won over her best friend.

Byron's answer was beyond her expectation.

Byron pressed his brows deeply and explained patiently. "Although they aren't my own children, they'll call me 'Dad' sooner or later, and I'll treat them as my own, so you can rest assured."

Hearing this, Mary was stunned.

'What?

'He still doesn't know about Lucian's and Nox's identities?

'Then, Lawrence Corporation's statement...'

Suddenly, Mary remembered the entries that appeared when searching for her best friend's name.

Many of them were speculations about Rosalie and Xander's relationship and about Lucian and Nox's background.

'So, did Byron issue that statement to protect them?'

Realizing this, Mary restrained her anger, but she did not intend to just let him go. "What about the reporters at Rosie's house?! How are you going to solve that?!"

This was the trouble that he caused!

Byron gave Luther a look, who had just come in from behind.

Luther looked embarrassed. "Master, I've already warned the media, but..."

If they were willing to give up such big news about Lawrence Corporation so easily, then they were not real media to begin with.

Who would not want to gnaw off a piece of meat from this and win a place for themselves?

As long as one reporter persisted, it was impossible for the others to give up.

As the vicious cycle continued, the number of reporters at Rosalie's house increased.

Luther was really helpless.

Although he did not finish his words, both of them understood what he meant.

Mary looked anxious. "What about Rosie and the children? So they can't even leave the door?"

Byron's face sank. With a steely expression, he stood up from behind the desk, picked up his coat, and said. "I'll pick them up."

Hearing this, both Mary and Luther were shocked. They immediately went over to stop him.

"Those reporters just want a response. Whether it's me or Rosalie, as long as we give them an answer, they'll leave."

Byron looked at the two people standing in front of him who had worried expressions.

Luther could only stand in front of his young master, knowing in his heart that he would never let him go out like this today. However, he was helpless about how to persuade him, so he turned to Mary for help.

Mary also started to have a headache. "Do you think they really just want an answer? The protagonist of this matter is Rosalie from the start. Even if you show up, they'll still go after Rosie."
