My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1447– We Didn't See Anything

"We didn't see anything!"

Mary feigned ignorance with a goofy, teasing smile on her face.

The three little guys nodded as well, "We didn't see anything either!"

With that, Mary led the little ones and turned around as if nothing had happened, trying to slip away.

As soon as she turned around, Rosalie stopped her. "Come here, let's chat."

Mary turned around again, only to see that her best friend had walked away from Byron and sat down on the sofa with a helpless expression on her face.

On the side, Byron was a little displeased, and he sat down next to her best friend.

Upon Mommy's call, the little ones ran over and sat down next to Rosalie.

Only Mary was left standing at the door of the room.

Looking at the family of five on the sofa, Mary cleared her throat, walked over calmly, and sat down on the sofa beside her.

"You said you thought of a follow-up solution, what should we do next?"

Rosalie frowned and looked at her best friend.

Hearing this, Byron's eyes also fell on Mary.

Mary seemed to be able to feel the chill in his eyes.

She tried her best to ignore Byron's gaze, and only looked at Rosalie. "It's not difficult, it just depends on whether you are willing to pay the money."

Rosalie's face was full of puzzlement.

Byron asked her simply, "How much?"

Mary pondered for a moment. ' Now the news on the Internet is updated very quickly. Although the Lawrence family's status in Coast City is high, compared to the Lawrence family, the public is more familiar and cares more about celebrities."

Having said that, she paused for a few seconds and looked up at the person in front of her.

Rosalie and Byron were both smart people, so they should have understood what she meant.

"You mean, pay for the scandals of those celebrities and put them on the Internet to draw attention away from this?"

Rosalie confirmed with her.

Mary smiled and nodded. "That's right. Although a lot of money is needed, I believe that this amount of money should not be a big deal to the Lawrence Corporation."

Anyway, this trouble was caused by Byron, so it is understandable for him to use the money to settle the matter.

Byron naturally would not shirk.

After he understood what Mary meant, he immediately contacted Luther to execute the matter.

In the afternoon, the Internet exploded again.

The scandals of various celebrities were exposed freely, and almost every popular search entry was marked with the word "explosive".

The eyes of passers-by quickly shifted toward the celebrities, and they completely forgot about the Lawrence family.

Many reporters also turned their target and began to surround the celebrities with cameras on their shoulders.

The reporters who lingered around Rosalie's home and the research institute also disappeared.

Rosalie was shocked as she witnessed the tide change on the Internet.

"This... costs a lot of money, right?"

She raised her eyes to look at Byron.

Public opinion on the Internet was not only a scandal, but even a top-notch official publicly disclosed their love affair.

Otherwise, the direction of public opinion could not have changed so quickly.

Byron was unbothered. "Money has never been something that Lawrence family needs to worry about, and some things can't be solved with money alone."

Making deals with celebrities was more about resource replacement.

What they need is fame, resources, and more.

It just so happened that the contract of one of the Lawrence Corporation's product spokespersons expired, a top official proposed to cooperate, and Byron agreed.

"Rosie, don't worry about President Lawrence. The corporation is rich and powerful, would he be short of this money? Those minor celebrities were all eager to do things for the Lawrence Corporation!" Mary comforted her too.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1448—Rosalie thought about it, her best friend seemed to be right, so she did not say anything more.

Mary also realized this belatedly and felt that what they had endured was still a bit worthless.

'My best friend and the little ones have been frightened so much; how can Byron not bleed?' 1

She said with a concerned face, "Although the attention of public opinion has been temporarily diverted, you should try your best not to be exposed to the media's attention during this time."

Rosalie nodded in agreement. "Probably not, I only transit between two points every day, at home and the research institute. Unless those reporters come to take pictures of me..."

Before she finished speaking, Mary interrupted. "That's what I'm afraid of!

Some reporters will not give up!"

Rosalie was taken aback and felt that Mary still had more to say.

Byron's expression darkened, and he held Rosalie's hand as if no one was around them. 'Just in case, don't go to the research institute for now.'

Sensing his movements, Rosalie's heart tightened, and she looked at the man beside her. She wanted to break free but could not resist the man's strength. In the end, he froze and let him grab her hand.

Mary stared at Byron confidently. "President Lawrence, you've brought Rosie such a big headache this time, perhaps you could make amends?"

Hearing this, Byron frowned slightly, making serious consideration in his heart.

Rosalie was a little helpless. "Oh it's nothing, it's just a delay in work all morning. I'll just work overtime later."

Mary shushed her up with a look, and looked at Byron with burning eyes.

'Anyway, President Lawrence's private jet is also left unused. Why don't you take advantage of these few days to go to the Maldives? Hide from the reporters, just to relax.'

Byron was a little moved by this proposal.

When they went to Hino some time ago, he told Rosalie that he would take the children on a trip in the future.

However, Rosalie had been busy with work since they came back, his plan has never been implemented.

Right now, was indeed an opportunity.

He turned his head to seek Rosalie's opinion. "I said before that I want to take you and the children out for a trip, how about making Maldives our first stop?"

Rosalie still hesitated.

After all, at the research institute, the research and development of new drugs in cooperation with the Lancer family has just been put on the agenda...

'Mommy, are we really going to the Maldives?'

Nox was already clutching at the hem of her dress with bright eyes.

Estie also blinked, staring at her expectantly.

The little ones' expectant eyes slowly tilted Rosalie's heart.

"However, the kids still have to go to school..." She struggled one last time.

Mary spread her arms. "Just ask for a leave of absence."

After finishing speaking, she looked at the three little guys, "Do you want to go to school, or to The Maldives?"

The little guys naturally made their choice without hesitation. "The Maldives!"

Mary nodded in satisfaction. "That's right, I've been busy for a long time too, and I want to relax..."

In the middle of speaking, she suddenly realized something and closed her mouth in embarrassment.

Rosalie comprehended and looked at her. "So, actually, you want to go to Maldives, but you don't want to pay for it..."

Seeing that her intentions were discovered, Mary simply acted foolishly. ' Anyway, you have to hide from the reporters. Instead of hiding at home, it's better to go abroad. Besides, I'm the one who saved you, so it's not too much to take me along, right?"

Rosalie simply gave in to her, so she turned to look at Byron.

"I promise I won't disturb you two!" Mary crossed her heart and promised.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1449—In the end, it was Byron who personally called the kindergarten principal and asked for a week off for the little ones.

Three adults and three little ones set off for the Maldives.

On the other side, just as the principal hung up the phone, a gentle-looking teacher walked in from outside.

"Ms. Crane, you are here."

The principal greeted her. "You should know about the classroom situation. President Lawrence's daughter and both young masters are all in our class, and the assistant teacher has asked for leave again. I'm also afraid that Miss Leigh Ann won't be able to handle everything alone, so, please help her for now."

Lucille Crane smiled and nodded. "I understand. Principal, you can rest assured."

The Principal looked her up and down and felt that this person has a gentle face, and said, "I'll entrust them to you, so pay attention and don't make any mistakes."

Lucille agreed to everything. "Then should I go say hello to them now?"

The principal said, "They just took a week's leave. When they come back, let Miss Leigh Ann introduce you to each other."

Upon this, Lucille's eyes darkened imperceptibly, and then quickly returned to normal. "Okay, I see, if there is nothing else, I will go out first."

The principal explained a few more reminders, and then let her leave.

Coming out of the director's office, the smile on Lucille's face disappeared completely, replaced by a gloomy look.

She strode to the corner of the kindergarten, took out her mobile phone, and dialed a number.

The other end quickly picked up.

"So? Have you come into contact with them?"

Wendy's gloomy voice came from the other end of the phone.

Lucille's tone was somewhat apologetic. "I just arrived at the kindergarten, and the principal told me that the three kids just asked for leave, they should take another week to come back."

As soon as the words fell, Wendy growled loudly, obviously displeased. "What!" "There's still a week's wait?"

"I can't even wait for a second longer!"

Lucille explained in a hushed voice. "I can't help it either. I didn't expect such a coincidence. When they come back, I will definitely..."

Hearing her voice, Wendy pinched her palm secretly to calm herself down, and when she spoke again, her voice returned to normal.

'It doesn't matter. They can't run away anyway. You should get familiar with the environment of the kindergarten during this time. When they come back, you can contact me again.'

There was no interest between her and Lucille to bind them together, so Wendy had to be a little more polite to her.

Lucille nodded and agreed. I will contact you as soon as they come back.'

Since she did not get in touch with those three little b*stards, Wendy had nothing to say to her, so she hung up the phone directly.

The mobile phone screen stayed on the social media software interface.

All she could see on the screen was the scandals of the major celebrities rolling in, and there was no news of reporters besieging Rosalie's villa in the morning.

Wendy's face turned livid.

She thought that those reporters in the morning would give Rosalie some trouble and make her quit.

Unexpectedly, Byron actually got a helicopter to pick her up!

Although the reporter photographed a woman, Wendy recognized the helicopter! It belonged to Byron!

Moreover, the self-exposed nature of these celebrities in the afternoon was also obviously the work of the Lawrence Corporation!

'Byron actually did so much for that b*tch!

'Me?

'I was forced to be homeless by Byron!

'I can't accept this! That b*tch can never live so comfortably!'

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1450—Rosalie and everyone had a very pleasant time in the Maldives.

Lucian and Nox stuck to Byron almost the whole time, and Byron willingly took them with him. They experienced many exciting activities together.

Rosalie and Mary took Little Estie to take a lot of pictures of the seabed, and even dressed Little Estie as a little mermaid, which looked so adorable.

After a week, the whole group was a little bit reluctant to leave.

The little ones wanted to play for a few more days, but Rosalie had to go back to work.

Byron and Mary could not stay any longer.

Eventually, they set off to return home after all.

After a week, the public opinion about the Lawrence family on the Internet has been completely forgotten by everyone.

There were no reporters pestering Rosalie anymore.

Byron still felt uneasy, so he specially arranged a few more bodyguards to secretly protect her and the children.

After returning to Somerland, Rosalie sent the children to the kindergarten early the next morning, then rushed to the research institute.

She was away for a week and wondered how the project was going.

As soon as she entered the office, Linda greeted her. "Dr. Jacobs."

Rosalie nodded slightly, and asked with concern, "Is there any problem in the research institute during this time?"

Under the supervision of Byron and Mary these days, she hardly had the chance to contact the institute. She was afraid that the reporters would come to the institute these days and affect the work of the institute.

If this was the case, Rosalie does not know how to face the research institute staff members.

She got into such a big trouble, but she walked away, leaving the mess to the research institute...

Fortunately, Linda shook her head. "No, after that morning, the attention of reporters was diverted by anecdotes about celebrities on the Internet. Several media wanted to interview our research institute, and they all followed the normal channels, but I refused them all."

Hearing this, Rosalie felt relieved.

However, Linda's expression still looked a little awkward.

'Is there anything else?" Rosalie asked in confusion.

Linda said, 'During this time, Young Master Xander came to the institute to look for you, but you were not here all this time. He doesn't seem to be in a good mood."

This was supposed to be an official matter of the institute, and Linda should report it as soon as possible, but due to the previous news on the Internet, Linda was a little unsure whether to say it or not.

After all, every time Xander came, he never revealed his purpose. It was unsure whether he came for the project or because of the public opinion on the Internet.

Hearing Linda's words, Rosalie could not help being stunned for a moment.

'Xander came to the research institute to look for me?'

She took out her phone and looked at it, but she did not see any missed calls from Xander.

From the looks of it, it should not be a big deal.

Nevertheless, out of politeness, Rosalie still called him.

The phone rang for a while before the other end picked it up.

"Miss Jacobs, you're such a busy person! Where did you even have time to call me?"

Xander's tone sounded a little sarcastic.

It was the first time Rosalie heard such a tone from him. She was stunned for a few seconds before she realized, and quickly apologized. "Sorry, I was not in the country for a while. I just heard from Linda that you came to the institute to look for me. Is there a problem with the project?'

Xander's sarcasm did not seem to ease in any way. "Really? I wonder what Miss Jacobs is doing abroad these days? Can't even catch a glimpse of your shadow." 1

He naturally knew the reason why Rosalie went abroad.

However, he also knew that she left the country with Byron!
