My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1767-“The Lancer family has indeed left a lot of high-quality assets. Xander was involved in many industries. While real estate, investment, and plastic surgery were the main investment directions, the supply chain of medicinal materials is the core of his business. There are a total of 13 to 14 suppliers under their wing, which encompass a variety of medicinal materials from the north to the south. On top of that, they have many production agency qualifications for modern medical technology.”

Andrius summed up the Lancer family’s assets. He could not help but voice the doubts that had plagued his heart for a long time. “From the scale of his business to the prospects of the industry, I don’t understand why Xander was so desperate for success. In a few years, the assets of the entire Lancer family would multiply severalfold. He could’ve easily reached a scale of hundreds of billions.”

Byron raised his eyes. There seemed to be deep contemplation in his gaze.

“He knew very well that these businesses are just for cash flow, not real core assets. Although their supply chain for medicinal materials is strong, if R&D technology can’t keep up, this industrial chain will be ripped apart by others. He was clear about this from the start. He attempted to approach Rosalie and win her over so that he could control the research team and the technology that Rosalie had developed.”

Andrius frowned and tried to comprehend it for a few seconds before finally understanding.

“Buddy, did you ask me here because you want me to take down the Lancers’ supply chain with everything I’ve got?” he asked proactively.

Byron nodded. “You’ve done me such a big favor this time. The Lancer family’s supply chain for medicinal materials should belong to you. After all, your family is in the same industry, so integration would naturally be faster. Of course, Rosalie’s supply would also be guaranteed by leaving the supply chain to you. This is a win-win situation!”

“Okay, I graciously accept! This time, however, I have a request. My sister was able to obtain Old Master Loewe’s assistance this time, and her efforts are commendable. I’m asking for your permission to put her in charge of the Lancer family’s supply chain. Otherwise, those partners who have previously worked with Quirke Enterprise may cause problems.”

Andrea’s words had touched Andrius’ heart to some extent.

‘Indeed, my younger sister has a lot of business talent. However, I’ve always suppressed her ability. There was never a chance for anybody to witness her skills.

‘This time, there’s no doubt about my sister’s contribution. I should give credit where credit is due.

‘As for the man’s ulterior motive, I’ll observe him patiently. As long as there are signs of abnormalities, I should be able to step in and stop anything from happening.’

“You can decide on this. I’ll leave it to your family to arrange accordingly. I won’t interfere. Your sister does have some abilities; she just wasn’t taken seriously in the past.”

Byron responded very simply without any hesitation at all.

He poured another cup of tea for Andrius. “Is your grandfather alright? You can always ask Rosalie to take a look if there are any problems.”

Andrius chuckled. “He’s doing well, really well! He’s been traveling and fishing. I even think he’s aging backward. I guess I don’t need to bother my sister-in-law anymore!”

“That’s great.” Byron also smiled. How wonderful it was to have such a miracle doctor as a wife.

Suddenly, he raised his eyebrows with a hint of cheekiness in his eyes. “Speaking of which, what about you? I’ve succeeded now, so when are you going to think about marriage?”

Andrius was caught off guard. ‘Byron’s no longer a bachelor, so he’s mocking the rest of us who still are?’

He looked embarrassed and laughed dryly. ‘ Well, I haven’t got a candidate yet. If I see someone suitable, I’ll hold onto her. You don’t have to worry about it, buddy.’

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1768-After Andrius drank a few cups of tea, he made an excuse that drinking too much tea would cause insomnia and left in haste.

Byron’s smile changed to a pensive one as he watched his buddy leave.

'Who's the man behind Andrea?'

Byron had done his investigation as well. It was impossible for Andrea to suddenly know a doctor of Old Master Loewe's caliber. On top of that, she managed to persuade the man to travel to Coast City to treat a woman he did not know.

It would be inappropriate to ask Old Master Loewe this directly.

After Byron made up his mind, he picked up his phone and called Luther immediately.

"Arrange for someone to investigate the person Andrea has been in contact with recently, the man with a northern accent. If you can, follow him and find out more for me!" i

"Okay, I'll do it right away." Luther accepted the order.

In a blink of an eye, a week had passed.

Byron took Rosalie to the hospital for several consecutive reexaminations to confirm that the toxins in her body were completely gone.

Rosalie began to devote herself to research and development work again.

Early in the morning, Rosalie got up and saw that the man by her side was still asleep. The man was more handsome the longer she gazed at him. She could not help reaching out her hand and touching him carefully.

His lips seemed magnetic. She sneaked closer and lightly kissed him.

The man did not wake up but changed his sleeping position and continued to sleep deeply.

Rosalie got up on tiptoes and went out of the room to wash up outside, not wanting to disturb the man.

After she hurried downstairs and finished her breakfast, she returned to the room.

The man opened his sleepy eyes and asked, "Why are you up so early? Come sleep for a while more!"

"No, I've had enough sleep. I'm going to the research institute soon. I have a lot of projects to start today, and Old Master Loewe is also waiting for me. So, please take the kids to school for me!"

Rosalie smiled. Without waiting for the man to reply, she immediately leaned down and kissed the man's cheek lightly.

She wanted to leave quickly after the kiss, but the man grabbed her waist.

“Can’t you take a good rest for a while more? Don’t think I don’t know that you’ve been doing experiments at the institute these days. You’re not allowed to go today!”

The man stood up and hugged Rosalie tightly.

Then, he changed into a slightly reproachful tone. “Since you were seriously ill, you haven’t spent time with the kids. You owe Estie so many lost years. Of course, I owe Lucian and Nox as well.

“So, don’t go anywhere today. Let’s stay together as a family, rv

Byron was unreasonably gentle.

She wanted to argue, but she was lost for words.

Suddenly, the man became passionate and began to demand more from her.

She was startled. They had tossed around in bed last night, and it had only been a few hours.

Her struggle had no effect at all. Like a stormy sea, the man instantly overwhelmed all her reasoning.

When the storm subsided, Rosalie felt as if her whole body was about to fall apart.

At this moment, she was resting on the man’s arm.

Byron’s face was filled with satisfaction. The corners of his mouth were raised.

“Now that Quirke Enterprise has taken over the medicinal materials supply chain, coupled with Old Master Loewe’s help, you won’t need to do many experiments yourself. Let Old Master Loewe lead those researchers to do it.

Otherwise, your research institute will always be your solo effort, not a full-fledged team. Do you understand?”

Rosalie nodded obediently at the man’s gentle reminder.

True enough, she should learn to delegate power. Even though she was a core member of the institute, it did not mean she should do every task on her own.

Rosalie made up her mind and called Linda. “Linda, I won’t be going in today. Please take note and record all the details about these matters. Old Master Loewe will lead those core technical personnel to start doing experiments...”

After arranging everything, Byron got up and washed up. By then, the kids were up too.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1769-Lucian and Nox had always been independent. After following them every day, Estie started learning to do things on her own too.

Byron came over to check on the kids after they washed up. He was impressed.

Then, it was time to get changed. Estie helped her two brothers pick out clothes. She finally chose two very cool, casual outfits.

When she saw how good her two elder brothers looked, Estie quickly nudged Byron for credit. "Daddy, look. Did I do a good job? I want to be a fashion designer in the future. Is that okay?"

"Of course! I think that Estie might become a great fashion designer in the future." Byron's eyes were full of affection.

Lucian also praised his younger sister. "Daddy, I think my younger sister has a talent for fashion design. She can even design and cut fabrics herself now."

"Yes, Daddy. Estie said she'll give us a set of clothes she made herself for our birthday next year. We're looking forward to it." Nox smiled and revealed Estie's secret.

Estie was embarrassed, but her two elder brothers came over and rubbed her head, completely doting on her.

"That's a great thing! Estie, you've finally found what you like.

All three of you kids are the best in Daddy's and Mommy's eyes!" '

Byron said exactly what he felt in his heart.

The three kids were all very intelligent with different talents. They were simply adorable and a godsend.

They all thought that Mommy had already gone to work, so they obediently went downstairs to have breakfast.

Byron was also there, chatting casually with them at the dining table.

"The weekend is coming soon. Why don't the three of you discuss and see where you want to go? Mommy is free on the weekend, so we can all go!" Byron asked.

The three little kids jumped for joy when they heard that Mommy would also be joining them. They started talking about it.

"Let's go to the zoo... No, let's forget about it. Those snakes scare Estie."

"What about the amusement park? But we can't get on many rides. Maybe not."

"Let's go to the aquarium. We haven't been there for a long time. Plus, Estie didn't see the dolphins last time, so we should make up for that." i

Soon, the three of them reached an agreement and chose the aquarium.

"Daddy, let's go to the aquarium. I want to see big turtles, dolphins, whale sharks, and little penguins... They're all so cute!" Estie confirmed with Byron.

Byron nodded in agreement.

Suddenly, Lucian and Nox stared at Byron's face.

Byron frowned deeply. "What's the matter? Is there something wrong with my face?"

"Daddy, your dark circles look terrible. You should rest more. Don't work so hard!" Lucian looked concerned.

"Didn't you sleep well at night, Daddy? Make sure to go to bed early like us!" Nox echoed.

There was a strange feeling in Byron's heart. It felt pleasant being cared for by the little kids.

However, he dared not say the reason he did not sleep well was because he was tirelessly tasting the forbidden fruit all night.

Estie also murmured, "Daddy, you need to sleep well so that you won't be like this."

In the end, Lucian came up with a temporary solution. "Daddy, soak a towel in hot water, wring it out, and then apply a hot compress. It can help with your dark circles, and it can also eliminate undereye bags." i

"Daddy, I have an idea as well. Put a spoon in the freezer for a few minutes and place it over your eyes to help get rid of your dark circles. This method is good for swelling and bruising too!" Not to be outdone, Nox suggested too. i

Byron felt a little surprised. 'These two boys must have learned it from her.

'Maybe one of them will inherit her medical skills in the future.'

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1770-"Why do you both know so much? Did you learn it from Mommy? I want to learn too!"

Estie turned to look at Byron and pleaded, "Daddy, please ask Mommy to teach me, okay?"

"Okay, okay, Mommy will teach you when she's free! But don't you like fashion design? Learning fashion design is also great!" Byron guided with a smile.

Talents, hobbies, and fads were completely different.

"Okay, then I'll learn both. I want to study medicine, and I also want to study fashion design. I'll work harder!" Estie's face was determined, and she took it seriously.

Lucian and Nox immediately agreed.

Byron could see that the two brothers doted on their younger sister a lot.

Upstairs, Rosalie heard everything. A smile appeared on the corners of her mouth involuntarily.

Over the years, she had never felt so relieved, at peace, and joyful as now.

Her heart which had been floating all this while seemed to have taken root. It was extraordinarily stable.

She felt more and more certain of her happiness at this moment.

Byron took the kids to school. Rosalie was at ease and had another good nap.

Luther somehow arrived when she woke up. He brought a pile of contract documents for Byron, which needed his signature.

Since the president and Dr. Jacobs reunited, many unprecedented things had happened. There were times when Byron would not go to the company for many days, and important contracts had to be brought to the villa to be signed.

Luther was understanding. He did everything according to Byron's requests, i

After all, he had never seen the president with such a relaxed, smiling face.

Luther immediately retreated after Byron signed all the contracts and agreements, letting the couple have some alone time.

Before leaving, Byron asked, "What about the matter I asked you to investigate last night?"

"I have some clues. The man Andrea Quirke recently came into contact with is from the north. Recently, Andrea opened a new company and is bidding wildly to buy the rapidly depreciating assets of the Lancer family. Presumably, this is also that man's idea. I'll investigate further and report back to you when I find out his identity," Luther responded with a whisper. After Byron nodded, he left immediately.

Rosalie returned to the living room and saw several shopping bags of different sizes next to the coffee table. They were all health care products, nutritional products, and the like.

"It seems that Luther has also learned these polite courtesies. However, there's no need to buy so many." Rosalie looked at Byron with a smile.

Byron shook his head. They were not sent by Luther.

"Then who?" Rosalie asked.

"Chloe. She wanted to visit you, but I saw that you were still sleeping, so I didn't want to disturb you. I simply told her that you weren't here. She didn't sit for long. She dropped these off and left." Byron had a very flat response.

This kind of gesture did not matter to him.

"Oh, did you thank her for me, then?"

In the eyes of a doctor like Rosalie, these healthcare and nutritional products did not mean much, i

Nevertheless, she still accepted Chloe's kindness.

"I did. Besides, she invited us to have dinner together. I didn't agree yet. You can decide if you want to go or not." Byron cherished this second chance that this woman gave him.

He absolutely had to ask for permission for everything to avoid causing any trouble.

"I'm fine with that. She just came back from abroad, and she did me such a big favor. I should invite her to dinner. Please make an appointment in my name," Rosalie responded.
