My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1951-High-end hospital, inpatient department.

Beatrice removed the gauze and checked her forehead. She was glad to find that there was no scarring.

She waited for Andrius' arrival.

Somehow, she knew this man's weakness. As long as I take the initiative, my wish would come true sooner or later.

A faint smile appeared on the corner of her mouth.

The phone rang suddenly, and it was Andrius. She thought he was about to arrive at the hospital.

She was preparing to get closer to this man by doing a little trick later.

She answered the phone. Andrius' voice came out. "Miss Murray, I'm sorry, I may not be able to pick you up today. If you really can't find someone to pick you up, can you arrange to be discharged tomorrow?"

Beatrice was stunned. She never expected the man would suddenly go back on his word.

She turned slightly upset and said with displeasure, "Since this is the case, then forget it. I can be discharged from the hospital myself."

Immediately, she cut the call out of annoyance.

Beatrice thought, 'Andrius would call back to explain for sure. I've tried this trick on many men, and it always works.'

However, she waited for a long time. The phone remained silent for about three minutes. He did not call back again.

She realized that her brother's appearance yesterday was a huge mistake. Andrius' attitude towards her had changed too abruptly.

In the end, Beatrice could only grit her teeth and pack up by himself.

At the same time, Andrius drove Mary to the hospital.

Initially, Mary wanted to explain that the pain was due to her menstruation. However, she could not refuse Andrius' serious demeanor.

Moreover, she even overheard Andrius refusing to pick Beatrice up from the hospital.

Her heart was secretly happy.

"When we get to the hospital, let the doctors check on you thoroughly to see what's wrong. Are you still hurting? Mrs. Wilson said that you've been working hard recently, so you should take good care of yourself. There's plenty of the herbs I've brought that you could supplement and get better."

There was a burst of advice coming from Andrius' mouth as Mary nodded in agreement. Wishful thinking appeared in her heart.

'The man is rough around the edges but delicate in gesture; a tough exterior with a melted center, gradually revealing more and more of his allure.

'Does he really have no emotions?'

Not long after, they arrived at the hospital.

Mary had to fake an act, so she went to the gynecology clinic and found the doctor on duty.

The doctor on duty was frightened. 'Isn't today the director's day off? Is this a random inspection?'

Fortunately, the doctor on duty was already working seriously. After a patient consultation, she asked the director if this was a random inspection or did she have any instructions?

Mary simply pointed out that her menstruation had been inconsistent recently and the pain has worsened. She asked the doctor on duty to prescribe some medicinal tonic for conditioning, and then she came out.

"How is it? What did the doctor on duty say?" Andrius suddenly realized that he overspoke.

This was the gynecology department. He was so stupid to ask this question. This was a woman's private matter no matter what. There was no need for Mary to tell him.

"No big deal. I just need to take some medicinal tonic to recuperate," Suddenly, Mary felt that it was a mistake to come to the gynecology department for an outpatient consultation.

'If I don't explain it clearly to Andrius, wouldn't he misunderstand that I have some gynecological issues?

'Oh my, this is so embarrassing!'

"I'm glad you are fine. Is it an herbal tonic? Then, let me help you brew the herbs when we get back." Andrius said again.

He would excel at this. After all, the Quirkies had always been the only family in the country to produce and supply traditional herbal medicines.

"Okay, let's go home now." Mary was willing to go all out.

'It doesn't matter what I have to do, as long as this man can stay with me for a while.'

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1952-Beatrice was curious about what Andrius was doing and why he did not pick her up.

After she was discharged from the hospital, she checked into a five-star hotel.

Then, she made a phone call.

"Mr. Sharpe, help me investigate Andrius Quirke. I want to know what he is doing now. My brother had asked you to keep an eye on this man before."

Mr. Sharpe was personally trained by Alistair in Coast City. He had built a small team dedicated to collecting information with good efficiency.

He was able to obtain real-time accurate information on Byron and Andrius previously.

Of course, it could also be possible that Byron and Andrius were not even trying to hide their whereabouts.

Not long after, Mr. Sharpe reported back to Beatrice.

“Found it, Andrius stayed at Mary’s house for a few hours and left after lunch! The license plate number matched!” Mr. Sharpe answered then hung up as usual.

Beatrice was dazed for a long time. Suddenly, she burst into anger.

‘Does this mean, I’ve lost to Mary? Did that woman take advantage of the time when I was away from Coast City, and developed her relationship with Andrius rapidly?’

In the north, so many rich and powerful men and countless second-generation heirs have pursued Beatrice. She was not interested at all. After finally meeting such an interesting man as Andrius, she took him seriously.

Unexpectedly, she was no match for a second-class woman with no background.

Beatrice was very annoyed. She was so angry that she opened a bottle of wine and drank it sullenly.

In the evening, Rosalie felt a little relieved after listening to her best friend’s recount of today’s events. Andrius ditched Beatrice and took care of her best friend instead, which was enough to prove Mary’s importance in Andrius’s heart.

However, Mary dared not talk about being exposed in the morning.

Once again, Rosalie encouraged Mary to take the initiative.

She advised her to not be reserved. When the real opportunity comes, she must firmly grasp it.

The two teased each other for a bit. Then, Rosalie hung up the phone after the children came back from school.

She called her father, Gordon.

They planned to meet in a park and let him meet the kids.

Gordon seemed very excited on the phone. He thanked Rosalie profusely, which made her a little uncomfortable.

Byron helped the kids bring their school bags and piles of study materials into the villa. Then, he asked them to get changed and prepare to meet their grandfather.

“Grandpa? Daddy, why should we see him? Does Mommy agree?”

“Grandpa never wanted us, right? I don’t want to see him!”

Lucian and Nox’s repulsive feelings were blatantly direct. After all, they were smart. They knew having not seen Grandpa for so many years, was enough to prove that Grandpa does not care about them at all.

Estie looked at the two brothers and followed their lead.” My brothers don’t want to go, I don’t want to go either.”

Rosalie overheard it. She came over and explain to them that it would just be a brief meeting, and it would not take too long.

Benedict also comforted the children. “If you don’t like it, then let him take a look at you from a distance. You are just being polite.”

The three little kids finally agreed.

Byron was in charge of driving, and the family went to the park.

Right now, in a dilapidated community on the outskirts of the city, Gordon was busy packing. He bought many branded clothes for the kids and made three locket pendants for the children.

Violet looked annoyed behind him. “Why spend so much money? Those three little b*stards may not acknowledge you. Your plan this time had better be successful. Otherwise, you’ll hear from me. The audacity to ask me to comply with this, even the divorce certificate is authentic.”

“What do you know, woman? I did this to show my sincerity. Otherwise, I would never be able to get close to Rosalie. Isn’t everything I did for our future? Violet, if there’s nothing else, you better take some money, go out and get your son back for me!”

Gordon's face was full of anger. He knew very well that this woman could not control him now.

After all, the divorce was fake, but the divorce papers were real.

He managed to convince this woman to put up an act.

All this was for the continuous financial support from Mr. Charles Murray.
