My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1966-When the children returned from school, Rosalie told them their godmother wanted to meet and play with them. The three little kids were thrilled and waited for their godmother to pick them up.

Mary arrived at the manor 20 minutes later and picked up the children.

Rosalie discussed this with Byron and decided to tell Benedict and Melody about her pregnancy.

“Dad, Mom, Byron and I have something to tell you,” Rosalie said to the two elders.

The two heard their daughter-in-law’s tone and were shocked, thinking something terrible had happened.

They thought that it must be something Byron could not settle, so they needed their help. In that case, it must be a big matter.

Rosalie did not realize that there was anything wrong with the tone of her statement.

After they entered the room, Byron looked at his parents with a smile.

“Byron, is something wrong?” Melody asked impatiently.

Byron and Rosalie looked at each other. They were unable to hide their joy. They asked Benedict and Melody to have a seat.

“Dad, Mom, you look so nervous. What’s wrong? I told Rosalie to tell you happy news!” Byron could not hide his smile.

Soon, Rosalie also noticed the expressions of the nervous elders and told them the news.

“Mom, Dad, we might be expecting our fourth baby!”

“What?”

“Really?”

Benedict and Melody were startled for a few seconds before looking at each other in disbelief.

“Rosalie, are you telling the truth? Have you finally gotten pregnant? This... is a great surprise!” Melody could not help but clap and got up. She approached Rosalie and held her hands.

Benedict was also beaming with joy, and he scratched his head as he asked, “Great! What should we prepare, then? Melody, you should start taking care of Rosalie’s diet.”

Melody agreed. “That’s for sure. Quick! Rosalie, write down what you want to eat and drink. I can cook anything for you. Even if I don’t know how to cook it, I can learn!”

Byron had expected this reaction from his parents.

“Mom, Dad, don’t get too excited. As for caring for Rosalie during her pregnancy, I’ve signed up for classes and will take care of the whole process. Dad, you’ll be responsible for the three kids. Mom, you can be in charge of the food. Let’s all get ready for the fourth little one!”

Byron was indeed the president of Lawrence Corporation. He had reasonably arranged the duties of everyone in the family.

Rosalie did not expect getting pregnant with this fourth baby to make such a commotion.

She felt happy and blessed.

The fourth baby was a blessing. They were more blessed than their brothers and sister.

At this point, she took the initiative to express her thoughts,” Dad, Mom, Byron, thank you for everything. However, there’s one thing I should warn everyone about. There is one thing we all need to do, and that is not to let Lucian, Nox, and Estie think we’re biased. We’ll treat them all the same. We can’t focus so much on the fourth baby that we forget about the three of them. I think it’s better to do things in a normal way.”

Benedict and Melody nodded in agreement upon hearing Rosalie's words.

Byron was shocked to hear that. He realized it was possible he would have made the mistake Rosalie just mentioned.

Thus, he reminded himself that he should treat each child fairly.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1967-During dinner, Mary sent a video to Rosalie of the kids eating well. It was indeed a delicious dinner, and the little ones enjoyed it.

Mary even reported to Rosalie about what they had done together. She accompanied Lucian and Nox to play some video games and relax. After all, she was not good at playing games and needed them to teach her.

Meanwhile, Estelle learned how to make small purses from Mary's mother. It was also something Estelle loved to do.

"Bestie, honestly, every time my mother sees these three little ones, she'll have a talk with me. After being nagged at for long, I could only bring these little ones over here to ease her anxiety!"

Mary complained. After all, the kids Rosalie gave birth to were outstanding. Anyone would be envious and even want to make her kids theirs.

It was worse now that Rosalie was pregnant with the fourth baby.

"If there's no progress between me and Andrius, my mom will arrange blind dates for me again!"

Rosalie wanted to comfort her, but she had done it many times, and it had become pointless. She could only laugh and say, "Don't be so pessimistic about a blind date. Maybe you'll find someone."

"Well, I'm going to hang up the call now. I've been playing games with Lucian and Nox! I must return the kids to your place at half-past nine!"

Mary hung up the call, and Rosalie was immediately immersed in her memory.

Her current state might be envied by many people.

However, who would understand how much she had suffered during those six years abroad?

Just as she was recalling, Melody called out for her from downstairs. "Rosie, come downstairs. I've made some broth for you. It's nutritious."

"I'm coming!" Rosalie snapped out of her memory and smiled.

Meanwhile, Mary was still in her villa.

She had been playing the game smoothly and got many rounds of victory with the help of Lucian and Nox.

"Without you two, I would've been bullied. I would've been pathetic!" Mary was impressed that the two kids were so outstanding and could play games well.

Their reaction speed was enough for them to play as professional players.

At this time, someone from the opponent's side messaged her.

[Marybeth, did you get someone to help you today? You're playing well. I mentioned before that I could guide you in the game. Looks like you don't need me anymore now.]

Marybeth was Mary's game ID. She looked at the ID of that person and felt it was familiar. She seemed to have played with him a few times.

The matching mechanism could be selected by region. She usually placed it on her default region, Coast City.

It meant that the player with the ID 'Waveheard.Dung' was a local.

Mary remembered his rank. It was high. She had won a few times on his team.

'Thank you, Waveheard. I just play games to relax and enjoy the process. I don't care much about the results!' Mary answered simply.

God knew how furious she got when she lost the game. She even wanted to smash her phone.

Lucian and Nox saw their godmother's dishonest reply and smiled.

Waveheard.Dung immediately sent an emoji with a text. [ Really? I remember the last time you lost badly, you mentioned wanting a teacher. Will you consider me?]

'The man must have remembered wrongly. When did I say that?'

Her two godsons looked at the phone screen. Mary chuckled awkwardly and quickly denied it.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1968-
[Waveheard, let's play a few more rounds! I want to see what makes you so confident. With my godsons here with me today, don't think about winning me!]

Mary snapped. That man had exposed her dark past and embarrassed her before her godsons.

She had to teach that man a lesson.

In the end, Waveheard only replied to her with an emoji.

However, he accepted her challenge readily and changed the five versus five mode to three versus three.

Moreover, he got rid of random teammates and personally called two friends to come and help.

"Brother, the player opposite has almost the same rank as us. This won't be an easy match. We must do our best!" Nox used the fastest speed to check the opponent's information and knew what they were good at.

Lucian nodded. He looked at his godmother. "Godmother, don't be too reckless. Pay attention and protect yourself.

Don't be killed repeatedly. It'll affect the overall game."

Mary nodded obediently since her godson had reminded her. "Okay. I'll do anything as long as we can defeat them!"

The war started!

Both sides were using their skills in the game.

Mary looked serious and could feel her blood boiling from nervousness.

The expressions on Lucian and Nox were still calm. They just looked more focused than before.

"Quick, quick. Godmother, retreat. Don't go over there and get yourself killed!" Lucian controlled the game.

Nox reacted quickly and helped her block the attack when he saw she was almost killed.

Then, he forced the opponent to retreat with an attack.

The match got more and more intense. After Waveheard.Dung was killed by Lucian, he sent a text.

[Both of you are good at playing. Otherwise, Marybeth would have brought you down.]

When Mary saw this, she almost burst into anger.

Fortunately, Lucian immediately comforted her." Godmother, ignore him. He's trying to play the psychological war and make you nervous. He wants to break our strategy!"

Nox also nodded and praised Mary on her improvement.

Mary never expected she would need to be comforted by two kids one day. She was touched.

"Well, I'll cooperate with you and control my emotions!"

They won the first round!

Soon, they started the second round. They won again but nearly lost. Their three opponents were cooperating better now.

Mary gradually got the hang of the game and chose auxiliary techniques to help her godsons.

Such cooperation was surprisingly effective. The opponents could not endure the attacks from Lucian and Nox for long, and they lost worse than the second round.

After winning, Mary's mood brightened, and she was pleased.

Lucian pondered and told his thoughts, "Godmother, I notice you play well when you choose auxiliary characters. They're more suitable for you. You're also good at using their skills."

"Yes, I think the last shot you gave them was crucial.

Originally, I thought that the other side would do better in the third game, but I didn't expect our output power to skyrocket after getting your help. It made us win faster!"

Nox also praised Mary.

That made Mary's day. It was not easy to get the little boys to praise her.

However, the opponent was in a low mood after being defeated. He was inactive momentarily and said nothing, yet he did not leave the game interface.

After a long time, a deep and somewhat pleasant male voice sounded. "Could it be that the two little ones with you are the boys from the Lawrence family? If they are, I don't think it's a humiliation to lose to them. Is that you guys,

Little Young Masters?"

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1969-Mary did not want Lucian's and Nox's information to be leaked on the internet.

She glanced at Lucian and shook her head. "Don't answer him. There's no need to explain.

I had a great time tonight. Let's stop here."

Lucian and Nox nodded and exited the game.

"Godmother, you performed well today. You played at a level several times higher than before."

Nox was good at peaking and immediately flattered Mary, making her happy.

Lucian was more like Byron. He frowned slightly as if pondering something.

After a few seconds, he told Mary, "Godmother, try to practice your auxiliary skills, especially the routes and movements. It'd be better if you could move swiftly."

Mary was convinced and nodded.

These two boys were good at everything they played with.

It was nine at night, and Mary's mother brought Estelle downstairs. Estelle took the purse she made for the first time with her.

"Godmother, this is for you. If you like the scent of any flower, you can dry it and put it in it. It'll be very fragrant!"

Estelle said seriously.

Mary took the purse and nodded. "Estie, you're amazing. Seeing you make a purse so well for the first time is nice. You're a genius like your brothers!"

Then, she carried Estelle and gave her a peck on the cheek.

Mary's mother looked at the three little ones and smiled. She was envious of Melody and Benedict for having such cute grandchildren.

"Mary, when do you think I'll have the..."

"Mom, stop, stop! Don't say it every time. When you see these three kids, you always nag at me. I want to have a baby soon too, but who will I have a baby with?"

Mary knew her mother would start to nag again. She quickly took the kids and wanted to drive them back in her car.

She drove to a McDonald's to reward the little ones and bought them ice cream.

"Don't tell your mommy and daddy when you get home, or you won't have any ice cream to eat next time!" Mary took a big bite of her ice cream and reminded the kids.

The three little ones agreed at once, laughing. They knew very well that if they did not listen to Mary, they would not have delicious food to eat the next time.

After having ice cream, Mary drove them back slowly as she chatted with the kids until they reached Lawrence Manor.

"President Lawrence, I've safely returned your kids!"

Byron nodded and told the kids to head upstairs. Their mommy was waiting to bathe them.

Mary waved her hand, got into the car, and left.

Byron was startled. He just wanted to tell her Andrius was drinking tea and talking about work with him in the living room.

He was trying to get these two together.

Mary felt a weird feeling rising in her as she drove out of the manor. She naturally saw Andrius' car. However, lately, she had been afraid to see him.

She did not know what the hell was going on with her.

She could not understand even after pondering.

She decided to go back to her game. As Lucian and Nox said, she was good at playing auxiliary and should practice it. Many of the game events had passed. It would be bad if her rank was still the same.

"Andrius, Mary came. Didn't you hear?" Byron asked curiously.

"Really? Just now? Why didn't she come in?" Andrius' attention shifted to the door in the living room.

Byron shook his head. He had no idea what was on Mary's mind.

Andrius pondered, and his expression turned gloomy. He murmured, “Does she not want to run into me?”

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 1970-Mary returned home and was worried about her mother’s nagging, so she quickly got a wooden bucket and boiled the herbs Andrius had given her. She poured them into the wooden bucket.

Then, she respectfully brought it to her mother to soak her feet.

“Mom, it’s best to close your eyes during foot soaking. The effect would be better!”

She was basically asking her mother to shut up.

Mary’s mother saw her daughter being so filial. She stopped nagging and silently enjoyed the feet spa.

Mary turned on her phone and logged into the game, preparing to play.

As a result, she received a private message from Waveheard.Dung.

[Marybeth, if I’m not mistaken, you must be Mary, right?]

Mary was startled.

Who the hell was this guy? Why would he know her name? He already guessed Lucian’s and Nox’s identities before.

Was it someone she knew?

Mary recalled everyone she knew. She had few male friends and could not figure out who this man was.

Probably knowing she was online, that man sent her a smiling emoji.

Then, he asked: [Marybeth, let’s play another game. You have no teammates to help you now, right?]

Mary frowned and typed: [How do you know who I am? Is there a virus in my phone?]

[f you want to know who I am, how about having lunch tomorrow?] The man had a habit of using emojis.

This time, it was a smirk.

Mary looked at the emoji and felt a little uncomfortable.

She immediately replied: [Whoever you are, I'm not very interested. Considering you're someone who likes to pry, it's better for me not to get in touch with you. I'm going to play the game. Stop bothering me!]

Immediately, she chose her character and teamed with others.

However, when she entered the game, she saw Waveheard.Dung on the opposing team.

Why did she have to face him again?

[Guys, Marybeth on the opposite team is my girlfriend. She's not very good at playing. Please don't slay her too many times!] Waveheard.Dung sent a message in the game channel.

That made Mary feel sick.

It made her wonder if he was out of his mind.

Immediately, she opened her voice message and explained to the opposing team, "Don't listen to this man's nonsense. I'm not his girlfriend. I don't even know who he is. You're out of your mind, Waveheard! Are you used to tricking women with this kind of dirty trick?"

The battle had not begun, but something strange happened. Those gamers started chatting in the chat box.

[Hey, is this couple quarreling?]

[What's going on? If you're a couple, please leave the team. We want to have fun and not endure this.]

[Marybeth, I know Waveheard.Dung. He's a wealthy man. Look how much equipment he bought. I wonder who they are in reality.]

[Marybeth, you have a pleasant voice. If you aren't Waveheard.Dung's girlfriend, I wonder if I'll have a chance to get to know you?]

Mary was so pissed off that she logged out of her game.

"Mary, what's wrong? Aren't you playing a game? Why are you so angry?"

"Mom, I'm fine!" Mary gradually calmed down.

Immediately, she logged into the game again. She entered the reporting channel and reported Waveheard.Dung for harassing her.
