My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 2016-Not Worthy Of Being My Father

“Dorian Claymore, I’m back! If you still have a conscience, send my mother to the Hyatt Hotel. I don’t want to have anything to do with the Claymores!”

After lunch with Andrius, the two were ready to leave for Claymore Villa.

Before setting off, Mary called Dorian’s phone number to give him a heads-up.

However, Dorian refused in a calm tone. “Mary, as long as you come back, we can talk about everything. Dad also has some difficulties; I hope you can understand.”

Mary suddenly became irritable at his address. “Dorian, listen, I’ll be clear. A person like you is not worthy of being my father. So, don’t get close to me!”

“Mary, my decision was never to harm you...”

“Okay, since you don’t want to send my mother back, then I’ll go to Claymore Villa to find you. I don’t believe that you can lock me up in broad daylight!”

Mary stopped interacting with him and nodded in response to Andrius. The two immediately got into a Rolls Royce and went straight to the Claymores.

This vehicle was arranged by the hotel for Andrius.

Behind the Rolls-Royce, there were four to five Mercedes- Benz filled with bodyguards.

At the same time, Dorian also immediately called Roy to come to Claymore Villa.

“Mr. Calcraft, my daughter is back. If Mr. William is free, you might as well come over now. The young people can meet and chat to increase mutual understanding.”

“Alright, alright. Miss Mary has come back so soon, looks like you are very sincere too, Mr. Claymore. I hope this could happen.”

Roy agreed and immediately sent his son, William to drive to Claymore Villa.

“See, I was right. That girl will come back naturally if we just forcefully bring Camelia back. Don’t be fooled by her vehement rejection now, she might change her mind after seeing the handsome Mr. William Calcraft and agree to this marriage.”

Gleeful, Shaylene asked Dorian for credit.

“It would be best if this is the case,” Dorian nodded, admitting that there was a possibility.

After all, his eldest daughter, Ashley, was also initially very resistant to the arranged marriage. However, after the two parties met, they quickly developed an attraction and got married.

Feelings were not substantial! What is beneficial to both parties would be the most suitable!

This was his core belief in life.

“I’d better go up and have a good talk with Camelia and make her understand our difficulties. No matter what, even if the negotiation fails, we could get our stories straight first. As long as the deal with the Calcraft Group is done, it doesn’t matter if Mary and William’s relationship fell through!

Although Dorian was confident inside, he still felt that he was not prepared enough.

“All right, all right. I can’t be bothered to look at Camelia’s sour face. Go ahead and talk to her, just don’t talk about old feelings,” Shaylene rolled her eyes.

Dorian ignored her, walked upstairs quickly, and knocked on the door.

“Camelia, can I come in? Mary will be here soon!”

In the room, Camelia was worried when she heard that her daughter had rushed back to the Northwest.

She walked over, opened the door, looked at Dorian with a gloomy face, and warned him. “Dorian, I don’t care how you treat me, but you’d better remember this. No matter what, Mary is still your daughter. You best not to use any means against her!”

“Camelia, I know! I think we should talk. I hope you can help me this time after listening to me.”

Dorian still attempted to use gentle persuasion on Camelia, which was rather useful in the past.

However, Camelia was not moved at all this time. There was even a burst of annoyance on her face.

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 2017-He Would Grow Old Too

Before arriving at Claymore Villa, Andrius stopped the Mercedes-Benz behind him and asked a dozen bodyguards to wait for his clear order. Otherwise, if his mobile phone could not be connected within an hour, then they should break into the villa at once.

After the bodyguards took orders, the vehicles dispersed within a range of two to three hundred meters around the villa.

Andrius returned to the car and saw that Mary seemed a little nervous, so he immediately reached out to wrap her little hand around his.

“Don’t worry, I will take Auntie Wilson away with us today!” The determination in Andrius’ eyes made Mary’s panic gradually disappear.

The door of the villa was wide open as if welcoming Mary.

Rolls-Royce drove in quickly.

Shaylene saw the Rolls-Royce at a glance from the living room. She could not help muttering, “Mr. William got here so quickly, it seems that he couldn’t wait anymore. Hey, he changed his car again and it’s a Rolls-Royce! The Calcraft family is indeed loaded!”

Dorian nodded, got up, and walked out, ready to greet William with a smile on his face.

He never expected Mary to step out when the car door opened.

The modest smiles on Dorian and Shaylene's faces froze immediately.

In their eyes, they almost did not recognize Mary at all.

The current Mary was no longer the shabby little girl who was completely ignored by them more than ten years ago.

Her outfit, that clean and flawless face, and that vague quiet elegance about her. They could hardly imagine that this was Mary.

Especially Shaylene. When she regained her senses, jealousy burst into her eyes.

'How did Camelia's daughter transform into this? Just like an ugly duckling turned into a swan.'

From Dorian's point of view, he was worried that Mary's temperament would not match the heir of the Calcraft family. So, he waited for her to come back and quickly found a makeup artist to tidy her up.

Right now, there was no need to do so.

"Mary?" Dorian called softly.

Mary's eyes examined Dorian.

This man was completely unfamiliar to her. More than ten years ago, she only met him twice in a hurry.

At that time, it was always this man who came to say some cruel things to her dear mother.

Now, Mary saw that he was aging, and his hair had turned white. Mary was not sad but felt a different kind of glee.

'It turns out that he will grow old too!

'When he gets old, he will no longer have the appearance he had when he was young. That youthful look made my lovesick mother adore him to death.'

Her gaze instantly turned cold, and she glared at Dorian angrily.

Immediately, her gaze fell on Shaylene again.

In an instant, the anger exploded to its peak. Her eyes widened as she stared at Shaylene fiercely.

'This woman, with her two daughters, bullied me badly! My books, my clothes, and my snacks were all ruined by them.'

"Shaylene, is it your idea? Take my mother away by force and force me to come back for a blind date?" Mary gritted her teeth and walked towards Shaylene quickly.

Shaylene was startled, she quickly looked at Dorian. "Dorian, look at your daughter, she looks like she's going to kill me now."

"Mary! What are you doing?" Dorian shouted coldly, and stepped in front of Shaylene, preparing to stop Mary from approaching.

Mary stopped in her footsteps; a sneer appeared on the corner of her mouth.

"Don't worry, I don't have time to exact my revenge on you. My purpose today is to take my mother home. From now on, we will never have anything to do with each other. That would be enough!"

No matter what, Mary wanted to see her mother first, to make sure she was not being bullied.

"Mary, let's discuss this in the house. I'm very happy that you are back."

Dorian also knew that Shaylene had bullied Camelia and Mary before.

However, his career had just started at that time, he could not care about that at all. He could not negotiate with the high and mighty Miss Shaylene, so he could only meet with Camelia after the bullying.

Every time, he wanted to make amends with some money. However, Camelia never accepted it. She just cursed his betrayal and lack of attention to his daughter.

Dorian felt guilty in his heart. However, as time passed, it continued to wash away any guilt he had.

He could not lose the group he had built up with great difficulty, and he could not lose his reputation and status. As for feelings, he did think it was important.

“Dorian, don’t pretend to be polite anymore. I won’t accept your conditions. I will never obey any of your arrangements.

I just want to take my mother home. Please, bring her out now. Otherwise...”

Mary’s face was icy cold. Her eyes were like blades, slashed at Dorian fiercely.

If looks could kill, she wished to chop Dorian into pieces.

‘How could there be such a shameless man in this world, who abandoned his wife and daughter, ignored them for more than ten years, and now he wants to sell his daughter for profit?

‘It was a disgrace to have his blood flow within me.’

“Otherwise, what? Mary, you better be clear that you are now in the Northwest. Not in Coast City...” Shaylene became angry when she heard this,

Just now, she was frightened by this young lady, Mary.

When she thought about it, ‘I’ve bullied Camelia and this little girl to death before, so why should I need to be afraid now?

‘She just drove a Rolls-Royce and looked slightly more refined than before. Can everything else within her bones be changed?

Right now, Shaylene did some mental gymnastics. ‘She must’ve rented this car, right? Who gave her the idea to come to us with a bluff?’

Shaylene had a clue upon a closer look. ‘Isn’t this car the car of the general manager of Hyatt Hotel?’

“Hahaha, Mary, you are so embarrassing! You rented this car from the hotel, right? You had a driver too, so how much is it for a day? How dare you come back to show off to me?” After confirming the license plate number, Shaylene’s voice rose. Her face turned sinister.

“...” Mary choked a bit.

Unexpectedly, Shaylene’s attention was entirely on this.

Come to think of it, people like her would always judge the value of others from external things. As the saying goes, a snob would not know respect.

Dorian’s eyes also sank, and he asked coldly, “What’s the matter with this car? Is it rented?”

“Ah, they say birds of a feather flock together!” Mary shook her head slightly and chuckled.

“Dorian and Shaylene, so if this Rolls-Royce belongs to me, you will think highly of me; if it’s rented, you’d think I’m easy to bully?”

“That’s right! If you want to put on a facade in front of us, don’t blame us for exposing you!” There was a thick sneer on the corner of Shaylene’s mouth.

At this time, slow applause came from the Rolls-Royce.

“Clap-Clap-Clap!”

Andrius slowly got out of the car, with a playful smile on his lips.

“Mr. and Mrs. Claymore, I forgot to tell you that Mary not only rented a Rolls-Royce, but she even rented a boyfriend!”

Dorian and Shaylene thought that there was only the driver in the car. They never expected another person in the back seat.

When Andrius appeared in front of them, the two of them looked at Andrius with uncertainty.

With sharp eyes, Dorian immediately noticed that the young man was covered with some low-key top luxury brands.

The watch on his wrist was a Patek Philippe model, which was astonishingly valuable.

This young man had an unmistakable, restrained, and noble temperament in his gestures.

Andrius just glanced at the two of them and walked to Mary's side. He looked at her tenderly, and gently stretched out his hand to pull her in, letting her lean on him.

For some reason, Mary's impatience dissipated upon the man's embrace.

Immediately, she was completely enveloped by the tenderness in the man's eyes.

At this moment, Shaylene was still skeptical. She looked at Dorian with some puzzlement, and asked, "Dorian, I don't think we know this gentleman here, right?"

Dorian nodded slightly. He felt uncomfortable looking at the intimacy between his daughter and this young man. "Are you... from Coast City?"

Andrius couldn't help but smile lightly. 'This Dorian is really an old fox; he can judge the situation at once.'

"Yes, I am from Coast City. Besides, I'm Mary's boyfriend. I heard that she was asked by her father to come back for a blind date. I want to see if the other party is better than me?"

Andrius' voice was flat.

However, that sounded more like a stern warning to Dorian and Shaylene.

Shaylene could not help it and responded coldly. "Sir, it doesn't matter whether you are Mary's boyfriend or not. Mary came back today to discuss family affairs with us. I'm afraid it's very rude for you to turn up unannounced."

Dorian also squinted. There was some anger in his eyes.

This was Claymore Villa after all. For a young man from Coast City, no matter what power background he has, speaking to him in the manner in the Northwest was already extremely disrespectful.

“Family matters? Rude?” Mary snorted coldly, with a thick sneer on the corner of her mouth.

“Shaylene, I’m afraid you must be mistaken, right? I’ve never considered you as family. Besides, you forcefully took my mother to the Northwest from Coast City. Screw rudeness, this is a crime, understand?”

Shaylene did not expect Mary to become so sharp-tongued now.

She wanted to retort, but Dorian waved her hand to stop her.

“Young man, do introduce yourself! You say that you are my daughter’s boyfriend, but you haven’t gotten my approval, right?” Dorian approached Andrius, and a strong aura suddenly appeared.

The pupils in Andrius’s eyes shrank. Without the slightest sign of fear, he greeted him vigorously instead.

‘Mr. Claymore, I don’t need your approval to become Mary’s boyfriend. On top of that, Mary did not approve of you as her father.’

Dorian’s pace stopped instantly. A strong hostility appeared on his face. There was a glint of viciousness in his eyes as he looked at Andrius.

However, Andrius still had a calm demeanor, and said indifferently, “Why...does Director Claymore want to use the usual Northwest way to deal with me?”

“What a speech!”

Dorian’s sanity was on the verge of collapse.

However, a highly scheming person like him, saw that Andrius was so indifferent and was not intimidated by him at all, forcibly suppressed his anger after all.

Andrius cut to the chase and said bluntly, Mr. Claymore, listen carefully. I am Andrius Quirke from the Quirke family in Coast City! I am Mary's current boyfriend. Apart from me, Mary would not wed anybody else."

In an instant, Mary turned her face to the side and looked at the man in disbelief.

The man was still so shy while she was changing at noon. Right now, with a strong aura of superiority, he seemed like a different person.

Andrius responded to Mary's gaze. In an instant, his eyes were doting and tender.

"The Quirke family?" Shaylene was taken aback for a moment and immediately looked at her husband.

Dorian's brows were furrowed heavily. His strong front had crumbled completely.

He knew the Quirkes in Coast City.

They were the core ally of Lawrence Corporation, with assets worth hundreds of billions, and industries spread across various industries.

'I never expected my daughter would have a boyfriend like this!

'His powerful background was simply ten times that of the Calcraft family.

'No wonder, he had that defiant posture just now!'

In the past, Dorian would have immediately put on a different face, and changed his attitude towards the eldest son of the Quirke family.

Right now, he was caught in a tight spot and could not let go of his ego.

"Mr. Quirke, maybe all of this was just a misunderstanding!"

He lowered the pitch in his voice and his tone became milder.

Shaylene's heart was filled with turmoil seeing the helplessness in her husband's eyes and the sudden change of tone.

'So, is the Quirkes from Coast City far superior to the Calcraft family? How could Camelia's filthy girl have such good fortune?'

Even when her heart was full of jealousy and reluctance, she did not dare to speak anymore.

"Mr. Claymore, whether it's a misunderstanding or not, the purpose of my visit today is very simple, to pick up Auntie Wilson. If there's anything else, let's talk about it when we have time!"

Andrius' imposing aura calmed down and returned to normal.

However, his words finally made Dorian and Shaylene take them seriously.

The old couple looked at each other. They had no choice but to accept this reality – the Quirke family in Coast City was not somebody they could offend. The Quirke family's influence could still reach them even if they were tens of thousands of miles apart.

Not to mention, the Lawrence family who were bigger than the Quirkes!

"Mary, don't worry. Your mother is fine, I'll ask her to come down and see you!" In the end, Dorian could only nod his head in agreement.

He turned around and entered the villa, leaving only Shaylene at a loss.

Andrius completely ignored this person and smiled knowingly at Mary.

"Andrius, thank you!"

To be honest, Mary never thought that her boyfriend could easily help her get her mother back with such a crushing posture.

No wonder, he made double preparations. A Rolls-Royce, plus a dozen bodyguards.

This plan was simply diplomacy before violence!

Not long after, Camelia was brought out. She quickly approached her daughter and Andrius when she saw them.

“Andrius, Mae, they didn’t do anything to you, did they?” With that, she turned her head and glared at Dorian and Shaylene angrily.

Neither Dorian nor Shaylene looked pleased, but they could only watch quietly.

Letting Camelia go today meant that their idea of marriage with the Calcraft family is completely shattered.

Andrius shook his head, but asked instead, “Auntie Wilson, did you have a hard time?”

Mary hugged her mother and looked left and right. She made sure that there was no injury on her body before she could be relieved.

“Mom, get in the car, let’s talk slowly on the way back,” Mary took her mother’s hand and immediately got into the Rolls- Royce.

Andrius was not in a hurry and turned back to Dorian.” Thanks, Director Claymore! If you come to Coast City next time, please drop by our place! I’ll welcome you!”
