

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 667

The two followed Rosalie and Byron all the way. As the group walked into the concert hall, Andrea was so angry that she took several photos in succession and sent them all to Wendy.

On the other hand, Wendy was still furious when she saw the first two photos she received. Now, she suddenly received more. In the photos, Byron and Rosalie were taking the kids into one of the city's famous halls.

Wendy only felt a buzzing sound in her head like it was about to explode.

She knew that there would be a concert in the auditorium today. She even went to great lengths with her connections to get two concert tickets and invited Byron to watch it with her.

However, Byron simply rejected her without even giving her a reason.

Wendy had to console herself that it was because he was busy with work and gave the two tickets to a friend.

She did not expect that the reason why Byron rejected her was that he wanted to go with that b*tch Rosalie!

Wendy was going crazy looking at the photos on the screen.

Andrea called again.

Wendy picked it up, her expression terribly ugly.

"Wendy, have you seen the photos I sent you?" Andrea's voice was full of resentment.

Wendy gritted her teeth and asked her, "Where did you meet them? "

Andrea briefly explained what happened after meeting them at noon, and at the end, she said angrily, "That wretched wh*re has gone too far! she has no regard for you whatsoever! Aunt Melody has warned her before, but she still didn't repent. She's still so close to Byron and Estie!"

Hearing that they had lunch together, Wendy was even angrier. " That fckingbtch!"

She had spent so much effort in front of Melody before so that the elderly woman would warn Rosalie.

'I never thought that this b*tch still wouldn't know her place! '

"Wendy, you must be careful. Rosalie is Byron's ex-wife and Estie's biological mother. Now that Estie has become so dependent on her, I'm afraid..." Andrea worried that things would not escalate and added fuel to the fire.

Having said that, Andrea deliberately paused for a while to let it sink in for Wendy.

On the other end, Wendy also guessed the words that were left unsaid.

Presumably, Rosalie and Estie already knew about their relationship.

Moreover, as far as she knew, Byron had been investigating the car accident for the past few days.

If he really found out...

'If it goes to that point, what's there left for me, Wendy Fuller?!'

Wendy felt flustered and annoyed thinking of this possibility. Her voice trembled uncontrollably. "No way, that's Impossible!"

Andrea wanted Wendy to teach Rosalie a lesson and blindly fanned the flames.

"I also hope that it hasn't reached that stage, but they're so close now. That btch is a scheming fox. It's not impossible for Byron to reignite old flames. I'm reminding you so you can make plans early and carefully! After all, in my heart, you and Byron are the best match! who does that btch think she is?"

Wendy trembled in anger. "Got it. Thank you for your reminder!"

Andrea said a little more on the other side, then hung up the phone with satisfaction.

The phone screen was already dark, but Wendy seemed to still be able to see those photos.

"Rosalie! You fcking btch! Just you wait!"

Reflected on the phone screen was Wendy's twisted and hideous face.
