

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 807

As soon as she arrived at the research institute, she received a call from Xander.

Rosalie put away her thoughts and picked up the call. "Young Master Xander, what's the matter?"

On the other end of the line, Xander heard her voice and remembered what happened last night. A dark shadow flashed across his eyes, "oh, it's nothing. I just want to ask for your opinion. Heronial Corporation wants you to be their technical consultant, and I think that's a great idea, what do you think?"

Hearing this, Rosalie couldn't help but be slightly startled. After a few seconds, she agreed with a smile. "Since it's your and Heronial Corporation's wishes, of course, I won't refuse."

Hearing this, Xander smiled solemnly. "Then I'm relieved."

The two of them then briefly chatted about some details before hanging up.

Rosalie put the phone aside, and the emotions in her heart surged again.

'According to Xander, Lancer Corporation could successfully cooperate with Heronial Corporation because of my assistance.

'Now, I've promised to be their technical consultant.'

'If Byron finds out, I'm afraid he'll be angry with me again.'

Realizing what she was thinking, Rosalie frowned and put away her thoughts while full of self-deprecation.

'The matter is a foregone conclusion, and the competition between Byron and Xander is over. The man won't come to pester me anymore...'

On the other hand, Byron did not go to Lawrence Corporation but drove directly to Quirke Enterprise to meet Andrius. He discussed with him the matter of Heronial Corporation.

Seeing Byron, Andrius got up and nodded to him. He initiated the conversation. "I heard that Heronial Corporation officially signed a contract with the Lancers last night, and our plan to acquire Heronial Corporation isn't successful."

Byron sat down across from him, his face was solemn. "Apart from Heronial Corporation, do you have any other pharmaceutical companies of your choice?"

In terms of medicine, Quirke Enterprise was more involved in medicine than Lawrence Corporation, so it was crucial to seek Andrius' opinion on these matters.

Andrius pondered for a while, then shrugged helplessly. "Currently in Coast City, apart from Heronial Corporation, I can't think of any other company. Only the acquisition of Heronial Corporation will benefit us the most."

Both their faces were solemn from the discussion.

According to Andrius, they had no other choice except Heronial Corporation.

However, now that Heronial Corporation had signed a contract with Lancer Corporation, it was even more difficult to negotiate the acquisition.

“If we can’t acquire Heronial Corporation, our project this time will become very passive,” Andrius said truthfully.

Byron nodded clearly. He frowned and tried to think of other ways.

The last time they discussed the acquisition with Heronial Corporation, it took a lot of thought and effort to persuade Heronial Corporation to agree to the terms.

However, this was intervened by Lancer Corporation, and Heronial Corporation called off their agreement at the last minute.

Now that Heronial Corporation had established a cooperative relationship with Lancer Corporation, along with public opinion, it may be even more difficult to acquire Heronial Corporation.

Andrius suddenly said, “Otherwise... I’ll find another company and talk to Lancer Corporation? I’ll find out the asking price from Heronial Corporation. I’ll try to put the price lower than theirs. If Lancer Corporation is willing to terminate their contract with Heronial Corporation, we can negotiate the acquisition with Heronial Corporation logically and the purchase price would be lower than last time.”

If Heronial Corporation was abandoned by Lancer Corporation, then this matter could be used as leverage. Along with the fact that Heronial Corporation broke the agreement first, they would feel indebted to them. If they wanted to talk about the acquisition again, Heronial Corporation would definitely make concessions.

After Andrius finished speaking, he was quite complacent and felt that what he said was a good way to kill two birds with one stone.

