

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 894

“Did they take their watches when they left?”

Mary was calmer and frowned as she asked Rosalie.

Rosalie realized that and regretted it.

So many things were going on today that she immediately panicked when she found out the little ones were missing.

Fortunately, she had gone to look for Mary first.

After Mary reminded her about the smartwatches, Rosalie decided to call the little ones at once.

There was no answer even after the call went through for a while.

Rosalie tried Nox’s number instead, but he did not answer either.

Mary’s and Rosalie’s hearts sank when they could not reach the little ones.

There were so many possibilities why the little ones did not answer her calls.

They thought of the worst...

Rosalie clenched her fist and calmed herself down. Then, she checked the little ones’ location through her phone.

Looking at the green dots on her phone, Rosalie heaved a sigh of relief.

Fortunately, they could still locate the little ones.

“I’ll drive,” Mary saw the dots on the phone screen and started the car.

Rosalie nodded and stared at the two dots which were together. She did not take off her gaze even for a second.

Fortunately, the two green dots stayed where they were. It would be easier for them to find the kids.

Rosalie looked at the distance between them and the green dots and found the road familiar and strange at the same time.

Meanwhile, Lucian and Nox were in Estelle’s bedroom.

Estelle looked at Lucian’s blinking watch and tilted her head, feeling confused. “Lucian, someone seems to be calling you.”

Lucian looked at the caller ID and shook his head guiltily. “No, it’s my alarm clock.”

Then, he hid his wrist.

After a while, Nox's watch blinked.

Nox hid his wrist after giving Estelle the same excuse.

When the watches stopped flashing, the little ones looked at each other cunningly.

If Mommy could not get in contact with them, she would look for them according to the location on the locator.

Mommy and Mr. Byron would meet then.

20 minutes later, Mary pulled over at Lawrence Manor.

Looking at the luxurious building and the name on the gate, Mary's expression changed, and she looked at Rosalie subconsciously.

The expression on Rosalie's face was strange too.

Her mind was so confused that even though it was obvious enough where they were, she had not realized it yet.

"Rosalie, I've been wanting to ask you something all this while..." Mary could not help herself from asking, "Do Lucian and Nox know who their father is?"

Rosalie quivered upon hearing the question and shook her head as she tried to calm herself down.

"No, I didn't tell them. Even Byron doesn't know about it."

The little ones would not know about it if she kept it a secret even from Byron.

Mary looked at Rosalie helplessly.

She could see that her best friend was unsure about it and was convincing herself.

Rosalie looked troubled. Mary decided to say nothing more that would stress her best friend out. She only asked, "What should we do now?"

Rosalie lifted her head and looked at the manor, feeling helpless.

The little ones were deliberately trying to get her to go to them.

There was nothing else she could do now.

"Why don't you go home first? I'll go in and take a look."

Rosalie said that apologetically to her best friend and got out of the car.

