

My Ex-Wife and Kids Came In Like A Wrecking Ball Chapter 934

Wendy looked at those people, her eyes narrowed gradually, and her hand unconsciously clenched the medicine bottle she took from the man before.

On the other hand, Rosalie knew nothing about Wendy's existence.

After lunch, the sun was just right, and the little kids did not feel sleepy at all. However, the temperature has risen a little, and they felt a little warm. Rosalie looked around and took the kids to the waterfall.

A refreshing coolness came over them. Even Rosalie could not help it and sighed in a comfortable release.

"Ah!" Estie suddenly ran and hid behind her.

Rosalie looked down in confusion.

Her two little boys had taken off their coats and shoes at some point, stepped into the water with bare feet, and were splashing water at Estie. As the boys saw Estie hid behind their mommy to take cover, they stopped their movements guiltily.

Rosalie had observed the terrain earlier. Although this was a waterfall, the stream was slow and gentle, and the water depth was just below the kids' calves. Along with the kids' ability to swim, there will absolutely be no accidents.

Therefore, Rosalie did not say much, but leaned over and pulled Estie out from behind.

"How dare you splash our Estie? That's it boys, you are finished!" Rosalie took the lead, squatted down and splashed water towards the two little boys.

When the boys noticed that Mommy was not angry, they picked up the pace and splashed water happily. Estie also joined in the fun.

Rosalie had limited energy in the end. After playing with the little guys for a while, she stepped aside and took pictures of the little ones while she watched over them.

The atmosphere is very pleasant.

Estie's upturned lips remained smiling, there were echoes of the little kids' crisp laughter all over.

Rosalie's face was also full of smiles.

Beside the green road, Wendy laid low for a long time.

When Wendy realized that the group had no plans to return to the tent for a while, she sneakily got out of the car and approached the tent.

Almost at a glance, Wendy saw several glasses of water lying on the ground beside the tent.

Rosalie had prepared those glasses for the little ones to have a drink of water. While they were having a barbecue just now, the kids were so thirsty that they filled the cups with water. There were still remnants in the cup at the moment.

Wendy's eyes flashed dangerously at this.

She took a glance over by the waterfall. When nobody was looking, Wendy took a deep breath and glanced at the bottle in her hand.

After a while, Wendy made up her mind. She quickly opened the lid of the cup, and poured the contents of the bottle into the glass one by one.

In just a few minutes, the deed was done and Wendy returned the glasses to its original position. Except for herself, no one knew that these glasses had been touched.

Wendy's eyes were icy cold as she watched the few of them still having fun unknowingly.

'This time, I must let these wretched b*tches have a taste of my power!'

After Wendy did all this, she quietly returned to the car yet did not leave immediately. She wanted to personally watch Rosalie and those little b* tches drink that water!

After she got into the car, a few lights flashed on a big tree in the forest.

The private detective's camera had followed Wendy all the way from the car to the tent. All her actions were filmed. In the end, the private detective removed the camera and checked the photos he had just taken.

He pulled his lower lip in satisfaction when all the shots were crystal clear.

With these photos as collateral, he will not have to worry that this woman will not pay her dues in the future!
