

Wrong Table 1295

Chapter 1295 Clash of Intentions

Ashton was terrified and quickly drove the yacht away from the ship.

I have no idea what kind of enemy we are facing now, and I haven't even figured out what caused the explosion just now.

On the ship, Stone stood at the edge, looking down, and saw that Emmanuel had disappeared into the vast sea. He smirked triumphantly. "Is this guy so incompetent? Did he really conquer the Snake Master? It seems he was overestimated. He's not worth the 100,000-dollar bounty at all."

The next moment, he glanced at Ashton spinning around on the sea, secretly marveling. This woman has an amazing figure. I like such figures when I see them. They're much bigger than my own wife's.

How enjoyable would it be to massage them?

Smack!

Just as he was thinking this, his thigh was fiercely kicked from behind.

"You scoundrel, staring at women again, huh? You're so obedient in front of me. However, as soon as I'm not looking, you're not obedient anymore, right?"

“Chloe, it’s not what you think. I didn’t do anything. I’m not that kind of person.”

Stone quickly denied it three times in a row. He shook his head and waved his hands, looking as if he were telling the truth.

“It was Mackenzie who seduced me to escape before. I have such a beautiful wife; why would I need to look for other women?”

His explanation finally made his wife snort coldly.

Little did they know that Emmanuel, under the water, was not dead. In fact, he could even hear their conversation. Now, he was 100% sure that Mackenzie was on this ship.

ea the heat

However, the explosion just now had injured him slightly. Knowing that the other party was guarding the ship, he couldn’t rashly reveal himself.

What should I do? Emmanuel quickly pondered his strategy.

“Hey, Emmanuel, are you dead? Come out quickly.” Ashton called out loudly from the surface of the sea as she drove the yacht around the ship.

“Emmanuel?”

Inside the ship, Mackenzie seemed to hear his name vaguely. She listened carefully and realized it wasn't a hallucination. She hurried to the window of the room. It was just in time to see Ashton circling around in the yacht.

“Officer Summerton. I'm here, Officer Summerton!”

Mackenzie shouted loudly, but Ashton's attention was focused on Emmanuel underwater. Ashton didn't hear it, which made Mackenzie a little anxious.

At this moment, the wedding ceremony has already begun at the wedding venue.

Samantha and Felicity exchanged a rare glance. With Terence absent and Beatrix too young, only both women in the Quillen family guessed that the woman on the stage was hiably likely not the

09:09 Tue, Feb 27

83%

“Hey, Emmanuel, are you dead? Come out quickly.” Ashton called out loudly from the surface of the sea as she drove the yacht around the ship.

“Emmanuel?”

Inside the ship, Mackenzie seemed to hear his name vaguely. She listened carefully and realized it wasn't a hallucination. She hurried to the window of the room. It was just in time to see Ashton circling around in the yacht.

“Officer Summerton. I'm here, Officer Summerton!”

Mackenzie shouted loudly, but Ashton's attention was focused on Emmanuel underwater. Ashton didn't hear it, which made Mackenzie a little anxious.

At this moment, the wedding ceremony has already begun at the wedding venue.

Samantha and Felicity exchanged a rare glance. With Terence absent and Beatrix too young, only both women in the Quillen family guessed that the woman on the stage was highly likely not the real Mackenzie.

They were not particularly opposed to the marriage between the Quillen and Verkade, but they refused to be deceived.

Whether Mackenzie as a bride was real or fake, now that the Quillen family was present, this was an alliance marriage between both families from the perspective of the outsiders.

“Mr. Verkade, do you willingly take Miss Quillen to be your wife? Will you love her, care for her, respect her, and remain faithful to her until the end of your life, regardless of poverty, sickness, or death?”

“I do.”

Gautier smiled and agreed.

Just as they were waiting for applause from the audience, they heard a woman shouting in anger, “I object! I object to them being together! Gautier, you are mine. I won’t allow you to marry another woman.”

Everyone was surprised to see someone daring to disrupt the alliance between the Quillen and Verkade families.

Beatrix, Samantha, and Felicity had slightly different emotions as they had some time to process the situation.

As they looked in the direction of the sound, it turned out to be Susan. She crazily rushed towards the stage, lacking the demeanor of a wealthy daughter and more like an obsessed fan.

“Gautier, why did you suddenly marry this woman? If you want a partnership, you can marry me. Even though not from the main lineage of the Silverbane family, I can still help you achieve your business goals. Gautier-

Susan shouted passionately, attempting to rush onto the stage.

However, she was swiftly halted by the on-site security, unable to prevent the unfolding situation.

“Susan, I married Mackenzie out of love, and it has nothing to do with anyone else! Thank you!” Gautier responded to Susan from a distance, causing an uproar and applause in the audience.

“It’s so romantic.”

Lara and the other women exclaimed, filled with awe and admiration.

The priest proceeded with the wedding ceremony.

Chapter 1296 Unforeseen Objections

“Miss Quillen, do you agree to marry Mr. Verkade as your husband? Are you willing to love him, take care of him, respect him, and be faithful to him until the end of your life, regardless of poverty, illness, or death?”

“I do,” Mackenzie answered sweetly and without hesitation,

Witnessing this scene, the entire Quillen family was surprised.

Is this really our Mackenzie?

“That’s wonderful! That’s amazing!” Lara exclaimed with excitement, standing up and applauding, hoping to lead the applause of the entire venue.

However, at that moment, a vigorous voice rang out again. “I object!”

The whole audience gasped in shock again.

How can there be so many people objecting to this Yeringham wedding of the century?

It is unbelievable.

“Emmanuel?”

Now, it was Lara’s turn to get angry. Beatrix stood up in excitement and quickly looked toward the back of the church.

The man appeared like a messenger emerging from darkness into light, with a face like jade and eyes like bright stars, his black hair flowing.

He walked with a powerful stride, exuding a strong aura, with scars on his face as if he had experienced life and death, resembling a fierce beast in the jungle.

Behind him were six or seven big men, adding to his imposing presence.

Everyone in the venue turned their attention to him.

Jade Beast-that would be Sage-had arrived. He was here to oppose this wedding.

“What’s happening? Why is it him? Why isn’t it Emmanuel?”

The excited expression on Beatrix’s face gradually faded and was replaced with confusion. Is it possible that Emmanuel had given up, and this Jade Beast had feelings for Mackenzie and wanted to take advantage of the situation?

“Dominique.”

Upon seeing the arrival of Captain Payne, Hattie, who had maintained an expressionless demeanor, finally showed some unease.

“Ms. Zelinsky. What are your orders?”

Hattie asked softly, “What’s the situation over there?”

Dominique replied in a low voice, “The man fell into the sea, but the woman is still there. Should we eliminate her?”

Hattie nodded and hesitated for a moment. However, she still didn't give the order to kill, even though she had foreseen that the assassins who quickly approached him.

“Tsk tsk, impressive. No wonder you defeated even the Snake Master.”

Chloe quickly turned around and stared at Emmanuel. She was unable to hide a hint of excitement in her eyes.

It had been a long time since they had encountered such a formidable opponent. If Emmanuel couldn't even board the ship and was blown up, it would be too boring.

Emmanuel didn't respond to them. Instead, he suddenly kicked the deck with force, blocking the bullets fired at him from the side.

Bang! Bang! Bang.

As the deck landed, several black-clad men with guns on the ship lost sight of Emmanuel.

When they suddenly turned around, the man was already standing behind them like a hungry wolf, glaring at them fiercely.

Snap!

Bang! Bang.

Emmanuel kicked two black-clad men into the sea, twisted the neck of another one, and effortlessly snatched the gun from his hand, shooting down two more.

In the blink of an eye, he had taken out five people.

It was terrifying.

Buzz! Buzz! Buzz.

At this moment, there were suddenly faint buzzing sounds of flapping wings behind him.

Emmanuel swiftly turned around and saw a swarm of electronic flies. With a casual flick, he managed to hit one of the flies with a droplet of water and then swiftly rolled on the ground, lifting a piece of the deck.

Pop! Pop! Pop!

One after another, the mechanical flies flew towards him and exploded.

The ship was instantly engulfed in dazzling flames and thick smoke.

“Emmanuel!”

“Emmanuel!”

Two different voices rang out in different directions.

Mackenzie, who was confined to a room, was a woman with delicate thoughts. She couldn't see the situation outside and panicked even more.

On the other hand, Ashton, who was outside, was a woman with a direct demeanor. Seeing the explosions on the scene, she felt that Emmanuel was in grave danger.

Nonetheless, she took advantage of the fact that Emmanuel had attracted the attention of everyone on the ship and quickly boarded it.

Chapter 1298 Demise

“The micro bombs you have been researching are indeed very versatile, but they have a fatal flaw, which is that they become ineffective when they come into contact with water. That's why these bombs didn't continue chasing me into the sea just now,” Emmanuel explained.

However, Stone and Chloe still couldn't accept it.

It was true that their bombs would malfunction when exposed to water, but these bombs had powerful waterproof functions. It wasn't easy for an ordinary person to inject water into them.

Moreover, there were three reasons why the bombs didn't land in the sea just now.

Firstly, regardless of how good the waterproofing was, they didn't want to come into contact with water.

Immersing in seawater would increase the chances of malfunction.

Secondly, once they entered the sea, they lost their line of sight and couldn't track the enemy.

Thirdly, they believed Emmanuel was dead just now and didn't see the need to go the extra mile.

"I have already tested it just now. When water is injected into the bomb using internal strength, it will malfunction," Emmanuel said expressionlessly. "You openly used high-tech to analyze my actions and combat habits. Do you really think I'm a fool who wouldn't take any precautions? I deliberately fought in a normal way to make you think your analysis was correct. AI can never defeat humans."

After saying that, he leaped up and attacked Chloe directly.

He had long known that the backbone within this couple was actually Chloe. As long as he dealt with her, Stone was not to be feared.

He had just deliberately made a normal move just to analyze Chloe's combat style. Relying too much on high-tech analysis was not what a martial arts expert would do.

A true, strong fighter needed combat intuition. Relying on high-tech analysis would always be a step slower.

However, despite Emmanuel's consecutive attacks, Chloe managed to anticipate and dodge them in advance.

"Haha! Although your moves are powerful, I have the ability to predict your actions. What can you do—"

Before Chloe could finish her sentence, Emmanuel suddenly changed his move, altering the direction and catching her off guard. It made it somewhat difficult for her to respond.

"Ha!" Emmanuel's internal strength erupted.

Even though she tried to resist, he forcefully grabbed her throat. "This move has been honed through twenty years of practice. Do you really think that predicting my actions can stop me?"

"Uh." Chloe wanted to respond to Emmanuel's words but couldn't speak.

While Stone still wanted to save his wife, Emmanuel tightened his grip.

Chloe, the fourth-ranked assassin of the Redback Assassins, immediately met her demise without even closing her eyes.

A strong wave of fear instantly spread throughout Stone's body, momentarily causing him to lose his will to fight.

The man in front of him had terrifying combat talent.

09:12 Wed, Feb 28 B

"Haha! Although your moves are powerful, I have the ability to predict your actions. What can you do?"

67%

Before Chloe could finish her sentence, Emmanuel suddenly changed his move, altering the direction and catching her off guard. It made it somewhat difficult for her to respond.

"Ha!" Emmanuel's internal strength erupted.

Even though she tried to resist, he forcefully grabbed her throat. "This move has been honed through twenty years of practice. Do you really think that predicting my actions can stop me?"

"Uh..." Chloe wanted to respond to Emmanuel's words but couldn't speak.

While Stone still wanted to save his wife, Emmanuel tightened his grip.

Chloe, the fourth-ranked assassin of the Redback Assassins, immediately met her demise without even closing her eyes.

A strong wave of fear instantly spread throughout Stone's body, momentarily causing him to lose his will to fight.

-The man in front of him had terrifying combat talent.

Not only did he possess overwhelming internal strength, but he could also quickly analyze the battlefield and accurately identify his opponent's abilities and weaknesses after exchanging a few moves. He was truly a man born for battle.

Fighting against such a warrior would be nothing short of foolish and suicidal.

Hence, without waiting for Emmanuel to free up his hands to deal with him, Stone directly turned around and fled. He completely lost his will to fight.

After Ashton witnessed this scene in its entirety, she was simply in awe of Emmanuel. No wonder Captain Payne also admires this man so much. He's truly powerful!

To put it mildly, even if an entire police force came, they might not be able to complete today's mission.

However, Emmanuel alone managed to handle this internationally renowned killer duo. It left Ashton dumbfounded, and she did not know what else to do.

At this moment, at the wedding, Sage stepped onto the ceremonial platform step by step. With a serious expression, he loudly said, "I object to their marriage."

The people below suddenly looked at one other in surprise.

It was truly unexpected that the highly anticipated Yeringham grand wedding gradually turned into a farce.

"Captain Payne, why are you against our marriage? Is there any animosity between us? Could it be that you have feelings for my bride?" Gautier said half-jokingly.

Everyone was also curious.

Sage did have feelings for Mackenzie, but he felt nothing when he looked at her standing in front of him.

Love was such a mysterious thing, where two people could have almost identical appearances, yet one could make him fall in love at first sight while the other left him feeling nothing.

Chapter 1299 Deceitful Wedding

"I don't have feelings for your bride, but I must put an end to this deceitful wedding today."

As soon as Sage spoke, the atmosphere became restless as the crowd started wondering what he meant.

“Captain Payne, you are going too far with your words.” William quickly stepped forward with his wife.

“The Verkade family has always been law-abiding and charitable. I have always considered you a good friend, and we were originally delighted to have you here today. However, your words will undoubtedly damage the reputation of both the Quillen and Verkade families. We have no grievances or conflicts, so why would you do this? Why would you disrupt everyone’s blessings with such discordant words?”

William’s words were very wise. First, he portrayed the Verkade family in a positive light. Then, he emphasized that everyone was here to give their blessings, aligning himself with them and putting Sage on the opposing side.

In doing so, Sage would no longer represent the righteous side but the antagonist. Antagonists often represented falsehood and evil, so whatever he said next, his credibility would greatly diminish.

The Verkade family needed this marriage. Hence, William had to think carefully to defend it.

“Captain Payne, words should not be spoken carelessly.”

“Even though you are a powerful figure in Yeringham, you cannot bear the consequences if you make a mistake.”

“Uninvited guests should leave now.”

There were immediately people on the scene who joined William in pressuring Sage, wanting him to leave with his people immediately.

Sage also admired those seasoned businessmen like William, who had a persuasive way of speaking.

Unfortunately, he was not someone who could be easily pressured.

He solemnly said, “If the woman before us is the real Mackenzie, I will offer my blessings no matter who she chooses to marry. Unfortunately, she is an impostor. Today has been a scam, from beginning to end.”

“What?!”

Sage’s words shocked the entire scene.

The crowd of thousands exploded in an instant.

The Quillen family was also thrown into panic, and a group of women were at a loss.

Even Hattie, who had always been composed and capable, couldn’t help but furrow her brows slightly.

She knew very well about the relationship between Sage and Emmanuel.

Does the daring Captain Payne not fear that the real Mackenzie would meet a tragic end if he exposes the impostor at the wedding? What's happening on the side of the real Mackenzie?

"Sage, you have gone too far!"

After a moment of uncertainty, William's face suddenly turned red. He, who had always carried himself with grace, pointed at Sage and scolded him angrily, "You are a representative of justice, so why are you deceiving people like this today? This is the Verkade family's first and only wedding of the third generation. I have said that we have no grievances or grudges, so why did you bring people here to cause trouble?"

"You may hold a high position of power with great strength and armed with firearms and you may also have a gun."

09:12 Wed, Feb 28 Ba.

"What?!"

Sage's words shocked the entire scene.

The crowd of thousands exploded in an instant.

The Quillen family was also thrown into panic, and a group of women were at a loss.

3.67%

Even Hattie, who had always been composed and capable, couldn't help but furrow her brows slightly.

She knew very well about the relationship between Sage and Emmanuel.

Does the daring Captain Payne not fear that the real Mackenzie would meet a tragic end if he exposes the impostor at the wedding? What's happening on the side of the real Mackenzie?

"Sage, you have gone too far!"

After a moment of uncertainty, William's face suddenly turned red. He, who had always carried himself with grace, pointed at Sage and scolded him angrily, "You are a representative of justice, so why are you deceiving people like this today? This is the Verkade family's first and only wedding of the third generation. I have said that we have no -grievances or grudges, so why did you bring people here to cause trouble?"

"You may hold a high position of power, with great strength and armed with firearms, and you may also have many followers. The Verkade family, being a small and insignificant household, cannot contend with you. However, I believe in the existence of justice in this world. Today, with thousands of people watching, it is clear that you intentionally disrupted the century-long marriage between the Quillen and Verkade families. Once this incident spreads, even if you have power and influence, you will still be infamous and will pay a great price in the years to come.”

William sounded passionate and indignant, assuming the posture of someone rising up against injustice.

His speech was indeed quite provocative and had gained support from many people present. However, it almost made Sage, who was usually serious, burst into laughter.

If they were to talk about who held the most power in Yeringham, it would be the Verkade family. Yet, William portrayed the Verkade family as victims while describing Sage as someone who concealed the truth and committed heinous crimes.

He was truly a clever, cunning merchant.

However, Sage was not one to be underestimated either. Throughout the years, there hadn't been a case he hadn't handled or individuals he hadn't encountered.

Although William might have a sharp tongue, Sage was not afraid of him.

“Enough with the charade, Mr. Verkade. Are you pretending just to hide your lack of knowledge? So, you can avoid taking responsibility for everything?”

“Lack of knowledge? Captain Payne, I honestly have no idea what you’re talking about. Please-”

William wanted to continue his lengthy speech and further provoke the crowd’s emotions.

However, as a martial artist, Sage had no interest in engaging in a battle of wits with him. He turned directly to Hattie and said, “Ms. Hattie Zelinsky, please release the real Ms. Quillen from her captivity.”

Chapter 1300 Evidence

The boisterous crowd of thousands suddenly fell silent at the utterance of this sentence.

The women of the Quillen family were all taken aback and stood up.

Many people wore expressions of disbelief.

After a moment, the scene erupted into discussions.

“How is this possible? A beauty had kidnapped another beauty?”

“The beauty from Zovince and the beauty from Yeringham have no grievances, right? Why would she do this?”

“Could there be a misunderstanding in all of this?”

“If the real Ms. Quillen has been kidnapped, then who is the woman marrying Mr. Gautier on the stage right now?”

Doubts and questions filled the air, accompanied by cold glares from the women of the Quillen family and the presence of armed special police. However, Hattie remained unfazed.

She sneered and said, “You’re Captain Payne, right? Nice to meet you. The Zelinsky family and the Verkade family are business partners and old friends. I’m only here today to attend Mr. Gautier’s wedding. Miss Quillen is also standing on the stage. Hence, please forgive me for not understanding what you’re talking about.”

Sage also admired the composure of this young woman. She was young but as steady as a rock.

However, he proceeded to explain in detail, “On Saturday morning, the real Ms. Quillen was kidnapped at the market. Her husband, Emmanuel, saw you. Besides, you admitted to kidnapping Ms. Quillen yourself. Now, please confess and hand over Ms. Quillen.”

“What?!”

With this revelation, Samantha and the other women of the Quillen family could no longer remain silent.

They were not so foolish that they couldn't see through Sage's flawless speech.

Moreover, as the chief captain of the criminal police, he couldn't have brought so many people to this place to talk nonsense.

Even Lara was gradually becoming uneasy.

"Hattie, did you kidnap Mackenzie?"

"Who is standing on the stage? I knew she and Mackenzie were completely different."

"So, it was all your doing? Release my sister now!"

Led by Samantha and Beatrix, the Quillen family and others confronted Hattie.

Lara's expression suddenly changed. She still couldn't believe that the eldest sister standing on the stage was fake.

How could that be possible? She looks exactly like Mackenzie.

In this situation, Hattie remained calm and composed as she said coldly, "Captain Payne, as a police officer, you should know that everything requires evidence, right? Without evidence, you bring a team

here to bully a weak woman like me. Don't you feel ashamed?

09:12 Wed, Feb 28 BA

"Hattie, did you kidnap Mackenzie?"

"Who is standing on the stage? I knew she and Mackenzie were completely different."

"So, it was all your doing? Release my sister now!"

Led by Samantha and Beatrix, the Quillen family and others confronted Hattie.

Lara's expression suddenly changed. She still couldn't believe that the eldest sister standing on the stage was fake.

How could that be possible? She looks exactly like Mackenzie.

67%

In this situation, Hattie remained calm and composed as she said coldly, "Captain Payne, as a police officer, you should know that everything requires evidence, right? Without evidence, you bring a team here to bully a weak woman like me. Don't you feel ashamed?

“Or is it that you like Ms. O en

no don and don’t want to see this marriage happen, so you’re trying to find an excuse to and don’t want to see this marriage happen, so ruin it?

“If you can’t give me an explanation today, spouting nonsense and tarnishing my reputation, I will seek justice no matter what, even though I may be weak.”

Everyone’s gaze turned to Sage.

If Sage didn’t have evidence, it was unacceptable for a grown man like him to humiliate a weak and gorgeous woman. The crowd would definitely seek justice for the delicate Hattie.

Sage couldn’t help but admire the woman in front of him. She was indeed Magnus’ sister. Known as a rose-like beauty, beautiful yet thorny, she had a sharp tongue, and her eyes seemed to see through people’s hearts. Even Emmanuel didn’t know that Sage liked Mackenzie, but Hattie saw through it at a glance.

She must have deduced it from some small details.

Sage didn't believe that she was just making it up because Hattie's expression was too certain.

"Do you want evidence? Well, we have Ms. Quillen's relatives here. Let them come and confirm whether the person in front of us is the real Ms. Quillen or an imposter. Then, the truth will be revealed," he suggested.

As soon as he spoke, the atmosphere became even more animated.

Without waiting for anyone, Samantha immediately took the lead and stepped onto the stage.

The women of the Quillen family followed suit.

Hattie observed this scene with a blank expression.

Gautier's eyes flickered as he remained unusually silent. He hadn't uttered a word from the beginning to the end, completely contrasting his usual dominant demeanor.

The women of the Quillen family ascended the stage and carefully examined Mackenzie, even posing questions. Mackenzie was able to answer them, but her demeanor and temperament were indeed different from her usual self.