

Love at the Wrong Table

Chapter 153

Chapter 153

After saying that, Darren pushed his glasses higher smugly.

No one else in the hospital was happier than he to hear the news.

Emmanuel and Claudette inhaled sharply before whipping out their phones to check them. It was then Emmanuel realized that he had over ten missed calls from strangers while he was giving Claudette a checkup.

He never noticed them because he usually muted his phone while he worked.

Heartless Nephew Steals All Family Money And Lets His Uncle Die Abroad. The second Emmanuel saw the trending topic, his heart sank. At the same time, he was feeling a tinge of anger.

Without needing to click on the article, he already knew that Hermann and Jamison were behind this.

He was not surprised that his grandfather's family was full of vile people, but he was shocked that they actually managed to paint him and his sister as the villains on the internet.

Who's the one backing them?

In the meantime, worried about Emmanuel, Claudette tapped into the trending topic, only to find out that the people were all cursing at Emmanuel. Not only did they say that he conned his grandfather's money, but they even said that he fought with his uncle because of gambling issues. In the end, his uncle was embroiled in a job scam overseas and held captive, but as Emmanuel's grandfather had been conned out of his money by Emmanuel and Roselynn, Emmanuel's grandfather could not pay the ransom for Emmanuel's uncle. Thus, Emmanuel's uncle ended up dying abroad.

To provide evidence for the incident, there were even photos and videos posted online.

After briefly reading the articles, Claudette turned to look at Emmanuel in disbelief.

It was not that she did not have faith in Emmanuel's character. She was merely stunned that news as fake as this could actually trend on the internet. "Ms. Lenoir, now you know that I'm not lying to you, right?" Darren gleefully said. "Maybe it's time for you to change your doctor. Otherwise, you might not be able to keep your visits private in the future!"

It was defamation.

They were slandering Emmanuel's character and professionalism.

However, the nurses and passersby knew nothing about the truth, so they were all on Darren's side, insulting and making rude comments about Emmanuel.

"Rubbish!"

Right then, an angry voice echoed in the area, louder than the other voices. As it turned out, Frederick had arrived with other coworkers from the Department of Gynecology.

Agitated, Frederick snapped, "I know Emmanuel better than anyone else. Fame and wealth mean nothing to him, so how can he be the person they say he is on the internet? Clearly, someone paid to get this topic trending on the internet. They're telling tales to attack Emmanuel. He's a victim!"

Emmanuel, who had been overwhelmed by anger, was abruptly soothed by a wave of relief. He was glad to have a good friend like Frederick.

"That's right. I, too, believe that Dr. Lowe isn't someone like that."

Claudette was wise, and she trusted her own judgment. She uttered, "He's a righteous man. He would reject me if I were to offer him hundreds of thousands, so why would he try to con someone tens of thousands?

Someone is evidently trying to destroy his reputation with these rumors!”
Words from someone powerful like Claudette convinced the others better than Frederick.

Furthermore, Claudette was not lying. Emmanuel had treated her successfully, so she had told him several times that she wanted to reward him in private. Yet, the man had always rejected her offers.

“Hear, hear! Emmanuel has been working at the Department of Gynecology for over two years. How can we not know what kind of person he is? These articles are talking nonsense and full of loopholes. Only the ignorant will believe in them. We have faith in Emmanuel’s character!”

The nurses and doctors of the Department of Gynecology also voiced their support for Emmanuel.

Not all trending topics were true. There were truths and lies on the internet, and things tended to have a plot twist.

“Thank you. Thank you so much for trusting me.”

Emmanuel was moved, and tears nearly welled up in his eyes.

In times of adversity, true friends would appear.

Right then, Emmanuel’s phone rang again. When he realized that his sister was calling him, he quickly picked up the call.
