

Wrong Table 841

Chapter 841

“The person capable of such tampering must be a skilled martial artist with profound internal energy.”

Emmanuel didn't care about what Ashton thought and shared the crucial information. “They used their internal energy to tamper with the tire, allowing them to control when it would burst.”

“Nonsense!” Ashton erupted in anger. “Do you think anyone would believe this absurdity?! As if there's anyone in the world capable of that!”

Emmanuel smiled wryly in response.

“What's with that smile? Do you think I have a low cultivation level, or I'm ignorant?”

Being prideful, Ashton felt insulted and couldn't help grabbing Emmanuel by the collar. But with just a glance from Emmanuel, she obediently let go. She still remembered the consequences of tearing his clothes last time.

“If you don’t believe it, I can demonstrate it for you,” Emmanuel said calmly.

2/5

While Roselynn was slightly surprised, Ashton was stunned. Still, she gritted her teeth and said, “Fine! Let me see what you’re capable of!”

She absolutely didn’t believe that Emmanuel had such ability. Such a thing was beyond her comprehension and sounded like utter nonsense! However, soon enough, she would be left dumbfounded.

To conduct the experiment for Emmanuel, she used her own vehicle.

Emmanuel calculated that the tire would burst after approximately 300 yards, and sure enough, the tire burst after she drove about 300 yards.

If it weren’t for her quick reflexes, excellent driving skills, and mental preparedness, the car would have crashed into the guardrail.

w

“W-What the hell?!” Ashton sat in her car with her feet jamming the brakes, reeling with incredulity.

“Do you believe now that you’re ignorant, Miss Ashton?” The Lowe siblings walked over slowly, grinning at her.

Unexpectedly, Ashton became infuriated. She drew a gun from her waist and pointed it at Emmanuel’s head. “Are you still denying that you’re the murderer? You decided to get rid of the deceased for your sister because of your family conflict with the deceased, didn’t you?”

Roselynn burst into laughter once again. This female inspector’s imagination was quite impressive, but her logic was a bit far-fetched and presumptuous.

Even with a gun pointed at his head, Emmanuel remained fearless and said slowly, “I provided you with this information because I suspect this matter is related to Magnus.

“When I went to the hospital, Rhea told me that Magnus was at the hospital that day for charity work and had contact with the Oatleys. Sebastian’s death.

might be related to his refusal of some request from Magnus.” Emmanuel spoke convincingly, but Ashton didn't believe his words.

"Don't spout nonsense! I'm more inclined to believe you're the one, compared to Mr. Magnus, who planned this murder. You've already proven to me that you have this ability, yet you still want to shift the blame to Magnus Zelinsky?"

3

Faced with Ashton's excited suspicion, Emmanuel just sneered. "Miss Ashton, your doubts about me are pointless. I have a perfect alibi. The surveillance footage of my sister and the Cloudscape Mall can prove my innocence."

Emmanuel said nonchalantly before waving his hand. "I'm sorry, but I have issues to attend to. Goodbye."

Watching the siblings walk away, Ashton finally let go of her teeth and lowered her gun. Then, she remembered her burst tire when she wanted to drive away.

"D*mn you, Emmanuel Lowe, I'll make you pay sooner or later! Hmph!" Ashton grumbled as she angrily pounded the steering wheel and added another entry to the list of grievances against Emmanuel.

The next day at lunchtime, Mackenzie asked Emmanuel to drive her to the novelbin hospital to visit Alessandra.

When they entered the ward, Alessandra was rambling worryingly to Roselynn. "I don't even know how to criticize you, Roselynn! How did things escalate to this point? We were once good in-laws, and now we've become enemies!

"As for what's happened with the Oatley family, I wasn't involved, so it's hard to say who's right or wrong. See if there's any way to resolve this hatred so that we can part ways amicably..."

Chapter 842

Roselynn, on the other hand, peeled the skin of an apple silently while listening to her mother ramble,

Firstly, she knew she couldn't part on good terms with the Oatleys. Secondly,

Alessandra's health wasn't stable, and she couldn't handle too much stress.

Roselynn worried she might say something wrong in the heat of the moment and end up causing more distress to her mother. So, staying silent seemed like the best course of action.

“Why aren’t you responding to me? You’re really driving me crazy!”

Alessandra lightly pounded her chest, her voice tinged with a hint of tears.

Initially, she was already anxious, and now that her daughter’s affair with Jaxton had become viral, everyone called her daughter a demoness who destroyed her husband and his family. How would she ever be able to remarry well in the future?

Roselynn, too, was anxious, caught between wanting to speak and knowing that silence wasn’t a solution. She was truly unsure about what to do.

“Mom!”

Fortunately, at this moment, Mackenzie’s voice came from behind.

Behind her were Emmanuel and Rhea.

Emmanuel came with Mackenzie while Rhea, a nurse at the hospital, walked behind them.

She envied Emmanuel and Mackenzie, their pair of lovebirds.

Her perspective was different from that of the Quillen family and other outsiders. No matter how she looked at it, she thought Emmanuel and Mackenzie were a perfect match. At least more compatible than she and Emmanuel.

“No, wait, why do I have such strange thoughts?”

W

At that, Rhea blushed again.

“Mackenzie, you’re here!”

Alessandra didn’t notice the person behind Mackenzie; her attention was solely on Mackenzie. Seeing her daughter-in-law, a faint trace of color returned to her pale face.

“Yeah. Mom, are you feeling okay?” Mackenzie walked over and gently held Alessandra’s hand, showing no signs of aversion toward the older woman.

“I’m fine, I’m fine, you don’t need to worry about me!” Alessandra held onto her daughter-in-law’s hand tightly.

3/5

Roselynn stuck out her tongue beside them and muttered softly, "She acts all sickly in front of her daughter and miraculously recovers when she sees her daughter-in-law!"

Her words didn't go unnoticed. Alessandra immediately glared at her and said, "Go away! I asked you to talk earlier, and you remained silent. Now, you're interrupting!"

Roselynn rolled her eyes, stood up, and offered the best seat to Mackenzie.

Mackenzie smiled slightly, feeling this family's playful atmosphere was quite nice. It would be wonderful if only the relationships within the Quillen family could be as harmonious as this family.

"Mom, please don't lecture Roselynn anymore," Mackenzie said in defense of Roselynn. "She didn't want any of this to happen. Don't worry. Roselynn is young and beautiful. She will definitely find a better family to marry into!"

The same words, when spoken by Emmanuel and Roselynn, couldn't have consoled Alessandra as effectively. But when Mackenzie said it, Alessandra nodded, and her mood visibly relaxed.

"If Roselynn doesn't mind, I actually have a suitable candidate to introduce to her," Mackenzie said suddenly.

She had known that man for a while; he was a wealthy heir. She had never considered being a matchmaker before, but Roselynn was her husband's sister after all.

"Really?" Alessandra's face instantly lit up with surprise.

Emmanuel was also quite astonished, and he doubted if the woman before him was the Ice Queen, not to mention she was going to introduce a man to Roselynn!

Even Roselynn was pleasantly surprised and said with astonishment,

"Mackenzie, you're really overestimating me. That man must be novelbin extraordinary. I'm not in a position to aim that high!"

After experiencing a man like Jaxton, she developed a trauma for young heirs from business families. She didn't want to go through that again and was even more reluctant to enter another business dynasty, with all its rules that would stifle her.

Chapter 843

"Yes, he is indeed an heir from a business family, but he's very easygoing.

Otherwise, I wouldn't dare to introduce him to you," Mackenzie spoke earnestly.

Emmanuel couldn't help but speak up in her defense. "Roselynn, trust Mackenzie's judgment. If she thinks he's a good guy, then he must be excellent."

At that, Roselynn playfully teased, "Hehe, like you, Manny?"

"Uh..." Emmanuel suddenly realized that his words might come across as self-praising.

Mackenzie promptly let out a cold hum and pretended to sound icy. "He wasn't my choice!"

1/5

Emmanuel felt a little embarrassed now. Alas, his wife was still the Ice Queen he knew.

"Alright, Roselynn, since Mackenzie recommended him, you must go on this blind date!" Alessandra quickly pressured Roselynn.

"Got it, Mom." Roselynn nodded. Either way, she had to uphold Mackenzie's pride.

Just then, another woman barged into the ward.

"Oh my, Ms. Cadigan, what happened? Are you feeling alright?"

It was Ruby Zimmerman!

Her expression seemed exaggerated as if Alessandra was her own mother.

The worried expression she put on seemed forced and insincere.

2/5

Then, she intentionally greeted Mackenzie and Emmanuel, “Ms. Quillen, you’re here with Emmanuel too! What a coincidence!”

Mackenzie remained expressionless and didn’t react to her words at all. On the other hand, Emmanuel snorted disdainfully, knowing exactly how kind of person Ruby was.

“Don’t you ever get tired of acting? Do you have no f*cking idea what happened to my mother?!” Not as mild-tempered as the others, Roselynn retorted against Ruby. “It’s because you deliberately told my mother about my situation that she worried and passed out, and now here you are pretending to be innocent?! Get lost!”

Ruby feigned innocence again as she choked with sobs. “No, Roselynn, you’re mistaken! I’m worried about you, aren’t I? I just wanted to show some concern. Ms. Cadigan lives alone, and I’ve been meaning to spend more time with her, keeping her company. That’s why we exchanged numbers. When I heard about your situation, I immediately informed her!”

At that, an icy chuckle escaped Roselynn. "Sure, you can inform her, but who permitted you to exaggerate it?! I'm the demoness of Yeringham who murdered her husband and father-in-law, eh?! It's because of you my mother fainted from the shock, you despicable woman!"

With tears in her eyes, Ruby vigorously shook her head and addressed

Alessandra, "Ms. Cadigan, please testify for me. I really didn't mean it! I didn't say those things. I was just relaying what others said!"

"Enough!" Alessandra immediately stopped Roselynn. "Ruby meant well. How can you condemn her?! Who knew how much longer you and Manny would hide it from me if she hadn't told me about your situation?!"

At that, Roselynn let out a cold snort and remained silent.

Unexpectedly, another couple entered, and it was Ryder and Tia.

"Mom, are you alright?"

"Yeah, Ms. Cadigan, we came as soon as we heard you fainted and were hospitalized!”

Ryder and Tia were equally concerned, but their worried expressions were much more genuine than Ruby’s.

“I’m good. I’m all okay now that all of you have come to check in on me.”

Alessandra beamed, appearing joyous.

She had already been delighted with Mackenzie’s visit but hadn’t expected

Tia to come with Ryder. It seemed that their relationship was developing well.

Ruby clenched her teeth in frustration.

Any woman with the slightest self-respect would’ve left by now.

Her initial intention was to cozy up to Mackenzie, so she used Ryder to get close to the Lowes. But now, Mackenzie ignored her, and the Lowe siblings disliked her. She knew her only hope was Alessandra.

What should she do? She needed a way to win Alessandra’s favor.

Coincidentally, Rhea entered and announced, “Ms. Cadigan, your dialysis is done, and you need a new urinary bag.”

That's it! Ruby immediately stood up and volunteered, "Let me do it, Miss! I'm good at this!"

Good at it? Good at what?! Sucking up, that was what. Alessandra would surely be impressed with her if she was willing to help change the urinary bag.

The elderly tend to like young people who weren't afraid of getting dirty and tired, right?

Her proactiveness shocked everyone.

Then again, most of them knew what she was up to.

But Ruby didn't care. What mattered was that Alessandra was oblivious to it.

"Alright, you do it then." Rhea didn't argue with her.

Just then, Mackenzie's phone rang.

Chapter 844 Seeing Ruby's True Colors

"What? The Oatleys breached the contract? They chose to terminate the cooperation, and if we can't find a processing solution in time, we'll face huge breach compensation? There's even a high chance of bankruptcy?"

Mackenzie had walked to a corner of the hospital room to answer the call, speaking quietly, but Ruby had perked up her ears and heard it.

"The shareholders demand an immediate meeting? Alright, Lexi, arrange it for

1. me. I'll rush back to the company now!"

Mackenzie, in an unusual hurry, hung up the phone and approached Alessandra, saying, "Mom, there's an emergency meeting at the company. I have to go back immediately!"

"Oh, I see. In that case, let Manny take you!" Alessandra was also concerned.

Mackenzie nodded and left.

Emmanuel also advised, "Roselynn, Ryder, take good care of Mom!"

Ryder nodded in acknowledgment while Roselynn deliberately said, "With Ruby here, we don't need to do anything. She'll take care of everything!"

Since this woman wants to please us, let her do so to her heart's content!

Lo and behold, Ruby immediately changed her attitude completely. “Is she your mother or mine? Why should I serve her? Seriously, you people are crazy!”*

2/4

With a disdainful look, she dropped the urinary bag and left the ward, leaving those stunned. This woman can do a one-eighty in a split second!

“Mom, have you seen her true colors now? You have to stay far away from her from now on. Block her contact immediately!” Roselynn implored her mother.

Alessandra sighed. In actuality, she didn’t understand how Ruby’s attitude changed so quickly. She had just offered to change the urine bag moments ago...

“Mackenzie, is Terence Group really facing a bankruptcy crisis?” Emmanuel quickly caught up with Mackenzie after leaving the ward.

10:50 Fri, Sep 22

How could the Wolf Warrior not hear Mackenzie and Lexi's conversation when even Ruby could?!

Mackenzie smiled nonchalantly upon his concern. "Do you think Terence Group is so fragile? Is your wife so incompetent that she can't even handle a small matter?"

At that, Emmanuel breathed a sigh of relief and smiled wryly. "I accidentally overheard you discussing the company facing a bankruptcy crisis."

"I said it on purpose," Mackenzie clarified with a smirk. "It's to make your mom see Ruby's true colors. Women like her ultimately show up for their own benefit. If I were to go bankrupt, do you think she would still fawn over your mom?"

"Right!" Emmanuel finally caught on. Through the reflection in the glass window, he saw Ruby hurrying away behind them. He couldn't help but secretly give his wife a thumbs up.

After another smile, Mackenzie's expression gradually turned serious...

Chapter 845

Soon after, Emmanuel dropped Mackenzie back at Terence Group, and she hurriedly entered the company.

Meanwhile, Emmanuel sighed with a touch of concern as he watched his wife's receding figure. Just as he was about to leave, someone called out to him from the side.

Emmanuel! Manny!"

Emmanuel turned to the voice and was surprised to see a familiar face.

"Sheldon? What are you doing here?!" He was rather excited to run into a brother-in-arms whom he had fought alongside in the past.

"Haha, did you just realize I'm working in Terence Group?" Sheldon's excitement was even greater than Emmanuel's, and there was even a hint of envy and admiration in his eyes.

"It's all thanks to you! Do you remember how I joined you in driving Mr.

Webber away before the New Year and helped Terence Group complete their warehouse project? With that achievement, I applied to work at Terence Group and was successfully hired!

Though I was just a clerk in the Legal Department before, due to my unfamiliarity with the work, I got transferred to the Security Department. Now, I've even been promoted to captain, hehe..." Sheldon explained slightly bashfully.

"Haha, security does suit you well!" Emmanuel laughed and lightly patted his shoulder, well aware of Sheldon's lack of familiarity with the tasks. Back when he was in the Legal Department at Cloud Construction, he was quite a slacker. Given his skills, the fact that he was able to stay in the Legal Department at Terence Group was quite surprising.

"Hehe, security is not bad either. The treatment at Terence Group is much better than at Cloud Construction!" Sheldon was still quite happy and whispered with envy, "I finally understand why you were so determined to get rid of Mr. Webber and his gang back then. It turns out that you're Ms. Quillen's boyfriend, huh?!"

Seeing his shocked yet incredulous expression, Emmanuel simply smiled and let it slide. But in truth, he was Mackenzie's legal husband. Yet, it seemed that many people still didn't know, and he saw no need to proclaim it either.

"Appearances sure can be deceiving. It turns out that your skills in picking up girls are unparalleled in Yeringham. Can you share some tips with me?"

"You flatter me!" Emmanuel quickly waved his hand. "I just got lucky and met Mackenzie by chance."

If he were a master at picking up girls, he wouldn't have failed in eighteen blind dates and would have married and had children with other women long ago. How could he have had the chance to meet Mackenzie?!

"Why don't I have such luck? Are my ancestors even looking down at me?!"

Sheldon sighed and shook his head before changing the subject abruptly. "By the way, Manny, do you know that there is a mole in the Terence Group? It was said that someone from Terence Group bribed Mr. Webber to occupy that piece of land back then!”

Emmanuel immediately frowned. “Where did you hear this news?”

Sheldon looked somewhat surprised. “Aren’t you Ms. Quillen’s man? Didn’t she tell you? There must be a mole in the Terence Group!”

“The matter with Mr. Webber is one thing. Recently, there have been frequent financial problems. Ignacio Wallace Inventod 2 billion only to sell all his shares to another shareholder soon after. Clearly, someone is plotting against the Quillen family. Manny, your woman’s position is now in jeopardy!”

Emmanuel clenched his fist and asked, “So, who did you hear is the mole?”

Sheldon was timid and quickly stammered, “What I said is useless. If you want to know, you must ask Mr. Webber!”

Believing Sheldon was right, Emmanuel immediately turned to the car.

“Emmanuel sure is impressive and authoritative. No wonder Ms. Quillen likes him.” Sheldon sighed in admiration as he watched Emmanuel take swift action.

“Hey, Eve, can you gather a few guys and meet up with me right away?”

Emmanuel immediately contacted Eve after getting into the car.

“Okay!” Eve responded readily.

Then, Emmanuel contacted Samuel and arranged a meeting location.

Half an hour later, Emmanuel and Mackenzie entered a private club, a base for Samuel’s minor faction.

Samuel thought that Emmanuel had something good to offer him. Still, when he saw him coming in with a group of people aggressively, he immediately let go of the beauty in his arms, even dropping the cigarette from his mouth.

Chapter 846

Even more so, the two lackeys behind him shuddered in fear.

Isn’t Emmanuel Mr. Webber’s friend? What is up with this vibe?!

“It’s been a while, Mr. Webber,” Emmanuel greeted gravely, his gaze somewhat intimidating.

“Haha, Manny, it has been a-” Samuel hadn’t even finished his words when he felt a chilling gaze on him.

1/4

He had been focused on Emmanuel just now and thought the woman next to him was his 'lady.' But now, upon closer look, he trembled in fear and stood up in surprise.

Holy sh*t!

"Isn't this the leader of the Wolf Warrior Society, Miss Eve Thompson?"

Samuel was indeed a big shot when facing ordinary people, but his minor faction of a hundred people was nothing compared to the thousands-strong

With Samuel

Wolf Warrior Society. So, how dare he sit when Eve was standing before him?!

"Who are you trying to be familiar with?" Eve questioned, making Samuel shudder in fear even more.

The scene was truly a spectacle in the eyes of his lackeys behind him. They had followed Samuel in their struggles for years, but they had never seen him like this.

It was evident how intimidating the pair before them were to Samuel.

“This is my boss, Emmanuel!”

Eve also understood Emmanuel’s purpose of having her there. Once she acknowledged Emmanuel, Samuel would definitely show some respect.

Sure enough, Samuel was instantly dumbfounded, his expression filled with shock.

He had long known that Emmanuel wasn’t ordinary, so he had shown respect and went buddy–buddy with him. But now, it struck him that he had underestimated Emmanuel. It turned out that he was the boss of the Wolf

Warrior Society’s leader

“Um. What brings you here today, Mr. Lowe? Samuel’s tone immediately changed, and he no longer dared to claim the position of a Kingpin in front of

Emmanuel

Mr. Webber, if you want us to remain on good terms, I have some questions for you today. So, I hope you won't hide anything from me Emmanuel went straight to the point. 'Did a mole in Terence Group instruct you to occupy the project site?'

Well Samuel turned extremely unecay, and he hesitated to answer.

Snap.

With a wave of her hand, Eve cracked her whip, which flashed like black lightning, but the table before them split in half the next second

What a terrifying woman!

Cold sweat formed on Samuels forehead.

"If you don't speak honestly, this table will be your fate!" Eve made no attempts to sugarcoat her words.

Those in the underworld knew she was a woman of her word, and Samuel didn't dare to doubt that she would actually do it. novelbin us

“Yes, it was the son of the third Terence Group shareholder. He paid me five million to do it and promised to cooperate with me internally, ensuring my safety.”

4

Samuel knew the stakes on both sides, and his cooperation with Oscar Blue’s son ended long ago. He was well aware of how to make his choice now.

“Alright, hand me the evidence.”

Emmanuel didn’t waste any time. His wife was currently preparing for a shareholders’ meeting, and the truth of these matters might be helpful to her.

Even if it wasn’t, he still had to find a way to eliminate this threat and prevent it from undermining the foundation of Terence Group.

Chapter 847

After meeting with Samuel, Emmanuel returned to Terence Group to pick up his wife after work.

His gut feeling told him that his wife’s shareholders’ meeting would not go smoothly, and sure enough, he received a call from Lexi before arriving at the company's entrance.

"Mr. Lowe, where are you?"

"I'm almost at the company entrance. What's up?"

Emmanuel's worry deepened upon hearing Lexi's slightly anxious tone.

"Can you come up to the top floor?" Lexi got straight to the point. "Lower-level employees are forbidden to approach the conference room because of the shareholders' meeting. But I worry Ms. Quillen and Ms. Beatrix can't handle it alone. Can you come and keep them safe?"

"Okay, I'll be there right away!"

Emmanuel frowned after hanging up the phone. The company's shareholders were indeed planning to cause trouble for his wife that day.

"Manny, you're back!" Sheldon approached Emmanuel after seeing him get out of the car.

"I'm going into the company. Don't stop me!" Emmanuel said and walked toward the elevator in the building.

2/5

The security at Terence Group was much stronger than usual, with guards surrounding the building. However, they didn't allow entry to the top floor. If it weren't for Sheldon being on duty today, Emmanuel wouldn't have been able to enter the building at all.

"I won't stop you from going up, Manny, but you need a key card to go up to the top floor in the elevator. Don't put me in a tough spot; please climb the stairs," Sheldon said somewhat reluctantly.

"Fine!" Emmanuel didn't want to make things difficult for his friend and proceeded to climb the stairs to the 13th floor.

Upon reaching the top floor, he heard angry roars coming from the largest conference room.

"Insolent! Do you think the shareholders' meeting is a place for little girls like novelbin you to make a scene?! Is it because your father died early and no one taught you manners?! In that case, I shall teach you a lesson today! Liam!”

“Yes, father!”

Upon hearing his father’s command, a young man immediately stood up.

Slap!

In the next moment, a harsh slap echoed from the conference room, making Emmanuel’s skin crawl involuntarily.

What’s going on? Someone actually resorted to physical violence at a shareholders’ meeting?!

Upon hearing Beatrix’s scream, Emmanuel rushed toward the glass door of the conference room, and a surge of anger hit him when he saw what was happening inside.

What the hell! How dare someone hit his sister-in-law in the company?!

Were they trying to start a rebellion? Also, what was his wife doing?!

“Open the door for me!” Emmanuel rapped the conference room door angrily when he failed to push it open.

He didn't care what kind of meeting was going on inside. All he knew was that he would take action if anyone dared to bully his sister-in-law!

People were surprised to see Emmanuel audaciously causing a scene inside the room. They couldn't believe that a man like him had appeared.

Who's this guy? He clearly doesn't know his place!

When Mackenzie saw her uncle, Oscar, allowing his son, Liam, to hit her sister, she was also angry. And while she was trying to figure out how to defend her sister's honor, she found Emmanuel pounding on the door from outside.

She was instantly astonished. Why is that idiot here, and what does he intend to do?!

Bam!

Right as everyone was still in shock, Emmanuel unexpectedly delivered a powerful kick, opening the locked glass door.

Chapter 848

Everyone was left utterly dumbfounded.

This guy is crazy—powerful! The lock on that door is extremely sturdy!

“Beatrix, what happened? Why did this guy hit you?” Emmanuel asked through gnashed teeth as he pointed at Liam.

He knew that Beatrix was his wife’s closest sister, and he also treated her like a sister.

Emmanuel grew up without little sisters and had a special affection for Beatrix, though he hadn’t shown it much before. But this day, seeing her slapped, he, as a brother-in-law, had to avenge her.

15

Liam, who had just laid a hand on Beatrix, immediately retreated in fear when he sensed Emmanuel’s intense animosity. He wondered how Terence Group could harbor such an individual.

Beatrix bit her lip and explained, “They pressured Mackenzie to use our father’s belongings for business purposes. I objected because our father never wanted that during his lifetime!”

The Quillen family’s two treasures? I knew it! Emmanuel knew the shareholders’ meeting would certainly revolve around those two things.

“Shut up! Who do you think you are? Do you have the right to make such decisions?” Oscar audaciously scolded Beatrix condescendingly. “The Quillens’ energy business is facing bankruptcy. If we don’t use those two items to attract substantial investment, Terence Group could go bankrupt at any moment! What would a little girl like you know? Keep spouting nonsense, and I’ll teach you a lesson!”

“Try me! Lay a finger on Beatrix, and I’ll put your death on the agenda!”

Emmanuel was beside himself with rage at this point.

Beatrix was the darling of the Quillen family, and everyone doted on her.

What is this middle-aged man, with his inflated belly, trying to prove? Does he think my little sister-in-law is an easy target to bully?!

“H—How dare you speak to my father like that?!”

Liam initially wanted to berate Emmanuel, but when he met Emmanuel's gaze, he was so frightened that his legs went weak.

"Not only do I dare to speak to him like that, but I also dare to confront him face-to-face and deal with a punk like you in front of him!" Emmanuel declared, taking a step forward and delivering a powerful kick to Liam's abdomen.

Boom!

Liam Blue slammed into the conference table like a cannonball, shattering it upon impact.

People in the meeting room were taken aback and quickly stood up.

Emmanuel's audacity took Mackenzie off guard.

Liam was the son of the second largest shareholder, and now, the situation had escalated beyond control.

Despite her anger, a sense of inexplicable satisfaction filled her heart. She wanted to mangle Liam for daring to slap her sister.

“D*mn it, where did this barbarian come from? How dare he act so arrogantly at the Terence Group shareholders’ meeting? Get him—ah!”

Next to Oscar, a man had attempted to curry favor with him by suggesting they deal with Emmanuel. But before he could finish his words, Emmanuel casually picked up a piece of paper from the table and threw it at him, cutting his mouth open and causing blood to flow.

It was a horrifying sight.

Everyone present trembled with fear.

To harm people with a piece of paper was unimaginable. Who is this guy with such extraordinary skills?!

“And who do you think you are to dare act so arrogantly in front of me?!”

Emmanuel’s anger flared up, and his demeanor completely changed. His presence was like lightning and thunder, a force to be reckoned with.

In the face of the ferocious aura emanating from the Wolf Warrior, all the men present fell silent, afraid to challenge Emmanuel's authority.

Witnessing her brother-in-law stand up against Liam on her behalf, Beatrix felt a surge of satisfaction. However, she wasn't foolish. Acting on impulse might provide instant gratification, but consequences could follow. She was concerned about how her sister and brother-in-law would handle this situation later. She quickly advised, "Emmanuel, calm down. Violence won't solve the problem."

At that, Emmanuel turned to the Blue father and son, snorted in contempt, and said, "You're right; violence won't solve the problem, but it can relieve some anger! Anyone who dares to mistreat the women in my family won't get any mercy from me!"

Beatrix was touched. Upon realizing how manly Emmanuel could be, she realized why even her eldest sister could fall in love with him.

Outside the meeting room, Lexi wore a slight smile on her lips. This was precisely why she had called Emmanuel over. It was evident that the Blue father and son would target the Quillen sisters during the meeting. With Emmanuel present, at least they wouldn't get away with physical aggression.

Chapter 849

"Quick... call the security, deal with this barbarian!" Liam struggled to catch his breath and yelled in pain. If it weren't for Emmanuel's mercy, he would have been a corpse by now.

Just as Mackenzie was about to speak, Emmanuel sneered, "Sure! Go ahead and call the security! Have them give this guy a good beating, the one who's been taking advantage and intentionally disrupting the company's projects, then arrest him!"

"What?"

"What does that mean?"

Some of the shareholders present couldn't help whispering in response to Emmanuel's words.

Caught off guard due to a guilty conscience, Liam was also visibly surprised.

Before he could respond, Mackenzie deliberately said coldly, "Emmanuel, although we're close, without evidence, you shouldn't make baseless accusations in a situation like this!"

Knowing Emmanuel well, she was confident that the idiot wouldn't talk nonsense, especially in this setting. She believed that he must have some sort of evidence.

Emmanuel secretly gave his wife an appreciative look, thinking how clever she was. By saying that, she was intentionally allowing him to present his evidence.

"Okay, since you put it that way, Ms. Quillen, I shall present the evidence!"

"This..."

The shareholders present were all surprised.

Liam's countenance turned even more awful. He couldn't tell what Emmanuel would do next at all, and he even suspected that Mackenzie had deliberately orchestrated this turn of events.

"Very well, I'll give you the chance. If you can't provide substantial evidence, as the CEO of Terence Group, I'll have to punish you for causing trouble!"

Mackenzie pretended to be cold, but her gaze held high expectations for Emmanuel.

What she was most troubled by right now were Oscar and his son.

Oscar wasn't just her uncle but also the guy who acquired Ignacio's 2 billion shares, giving him a 72% stake in Terence Group, making him the second largest shareholder.

Now, he had teamed up with the other minor shareholders to challenge her authority. Dealing with them was proving to be quite a challenge for Mackenzie.

3/5

It would be great if she could take action against Liam first and dampen their spirits.

“I’m most afraid of your punishments, Ms. Quillen, so I will do my best!”

Emmanuel swore seriously.

Mackenzie suddenly felt a little flustered. This idiot, how can he say such a cheesy thing in this kind of situation? Is he trying to make a fool of himself?!

Beatrix also suspected that her brother-in-law publicly displayed affection, and she was fed a mouthful of feelings just like that!

Hats off to you, Emmanuel, for daring to do this, even in this situation.

Alas, Emmanuel was unaware of his wife and sister-in-law’s thoughts; he was just speaking the truth.

Mackenzie’s punishment for him would always be to kick him out to fend for himself or sleep on the floor, and he hated it.

So, he quickly used the equipment in the conference room to present the evidence he had just collected from Samuel.

When the shareholders saw the specific chat records between Liam and Samuel, as well as the transfer records, they were shocked beyond words.

“What a hypocrite! He actually paid someone to disrupt his own company’s projects?!”

“Y–You’re slandering me! These chat records are all fabricated!”

Liam’s lips gradually trembled as he felt the hostile gazes around him. Still, he tried to deny it.

“Still refusing to admit it, huh?” Emmanuel pulled an icy smirk, his confident demeanor evident.

Seeing her brother–in–law’s smile, Beatrix trembled inexplicably, as if she was electrified.

She loved it when villains held on to their pride and were struck by a well–timed blow from the hero, completely shattering their despair.

Emmanuel didn't disappoint her either. He immediately connected with Samuel via video call.

Chapter 850

When Samuel personally revealed that Liam was responsible for the actions and even mentioned his willingness to confront the police to verify the authenticity of the chat and transaction records, Liam was utterly shocked.

He couldn't fathom why Emmanuel had such incredible abilities, enough to make Samuel fatally betray him.

"What do you have to say for yourself now, Liam Blue?" Emmanuel asked aggressively.

Liam's legs gave way, and he collapsed to the ground.

Just then, Sheldon and a few security guards rushed in. They were notified to remove the troublemakers from the shareholders' meeting!

Though Sheldon had a personal relationship with Emmanuel, he had a job to do and couldn't show favoritism. However, before they could take action, Mackenzie ordered icily, "Security, restrain Liam Blue and call the police to take him away!"

"Huh? But—"The security guards, including Sheldon, were dumbfounded.

What's going on? Liam notified us to apprehend someone. How did he end up being the one apprehended instead?!

"Sheldon, don't you want a promotion and a raise?" Emmanuel couldn't help shaking his head and sighing at Sheldon's reaction. This guy's comprehension skills are really worrying!

"Oh, right!" Sheldon snapped back to reality. With Mackenzie and Emmanuel backing him, he had no reason to fear Liam. At that, he promptly escorted the latter out. —

On the other hand, Oscar didn't dare protect his son either. After all, public anger was challenging to defy.

He had initially planned to unite with other shareholders to challenge

Mackenzie's management of Terence Group, focusing on the company's recent performance.

He had two objectives: one, force Mackenzie to step down and let him take charge of the company, and two, compel the Quillens to release the Heart of the Sun prototype,

However, he never expected that his well-orchestrated plan would be instantly overturned by Emmanuel's sudden intervention, changing the course of events.

Nonetheless, Oscar Blue wouldn't easily let go of this great opportunity. He gritted his teeth and said, "Emmanuel, I won't argue with you about Liam's matter, but the shareholders' meeting will continue. You're not a shareholder, so you must leave immediately!"

His reasoning was sound, and he relied on his status as Mackenzie's elder to present himself as a person of authority.

Emmanuel, however, wasn't buying it and responded directly, "Oscar Blue,

Liam is your son. Are you saying you're unaware of his actions? Are you trying to bankrupt Terence Group with these actions?"

The shareholders immediately stared coldly at Oscar.

They had joined forces with Oscar Blue to pressure the Quillen family into releasing the Heart of the Sun energy component, well aware that its market launch would bring immense profits.

As shareholders, they naturally aimed for Terence Group to make substantial profits so they could receive dividends. However, if Terence Group were to go bankrupt, they would lose everything!

"Don't spew nonsense, Emmanuel Lowe!" As a seasoned businessman, Oscar wasn't as easily dealt with as Liam. Faced with the skeptical looks of everyone, he remained composed. "I have nothing to do with what Liam did!

As the second largest shareholder of the company, I stand for the interests of Terence Group. That's why I propose restarting the development and mass production of the Heart of the Sun energy component!

"This revolutionary energy product far surpasses oil, natural gas, and other traditional energy sources. It's bound to bring substantial commercial profits to the company!

"Shareholders, don't you want to get rich? Do you really believe that the novelbin Quilles farsily would rather coo Terence Group do bankrupt than allow this product to succeed?"

His words were well-founded, combined with a passionate and convincing delivery. The shareholders nodded one after another, expressing their support for his proposal.