

Ye Chen 2721

Chapter 2721

Su Ruoli had always had a somewhat low self-esteem growing up.

She grew up without a father and grew up in the He family until she was eighteen, when she was finally sent to her father's side as a bodyguard.

After she came to the Su family, she saw Su Shoudao's overwhelming affection for Su Zhiyu every day, and every time she saw it, her heart was envious.

She knew that that man was not only Su Zhiyu's father, but also her own father.

But she could not call him "Daddy" in front of him, nor could she even pamper him in front of him.

He would only show his love and affection as a father when no one else was present, and once there was a third person around, he would immediately change back to that face of the Su family lord.

Therefore, Su Ruoli was particularly envious of Su Zhiyu.

She felt that Su Zhiyu was a swan who was loved by all and was from an extremely noble background.

She was just the ugly duckling in a fairy tale.

And she was only the first half of the ugly duckling, there was no chance of her becoming a swan.

A bastard daughter, in high society itself, is synonymous with the lower class.

Even if everyone now knew that she was Su Shoudao's illegitimate daughter, they would only look at her with contempt, so there was still a world of difference between herself and Su Zhiyu.

Now, instead of looking down on her, her sister Su Zhiyu even took the initiative to call herself a sister, which made Su Ruoli's heart warm and touching.

So, she held Su Zhiyu's hand and cried, "Sister, if anyone bullies you in the future, just tell me, I will take it out for you I have no other skills, and I have never been to school, but I have some fighting and killing skills.

no matter who bullies you at that time, I will teach him severely for you

Su Zhiyu smiled knowingly, and said: "With your words, sister will feel relieved. In the future, sister will also have a super expert protection. If anyone dares to bully sister again, sister will ask you to help

Su Ruoli nodded vigorously.

At the side, Du Haiqing hesitated for a moment, but still spoke up and said, "Ruoli, in the future, when you're around Ye Chen, you must control your temperament properly, don't always fight and kill like you did before."

Su Ruoli nodded in shame and said with an educated face, "Don't worry, Auntie Du, I won't do anything harmful in the future.

After that, you can change your identity and start again.

Su Ruo Li nodded gently with a slightly bewildered look on her face.

In fact, she knew very well in her heart that, in reference to the crimes she had committed, the Japanese would never give up their search for her in their lifetime.

Even if she had a face-lift and a new identity, she would not be absolutely safe, because her dna had already been taken when she was arrested, and this was something she could never change.

Su Ruoli has watched many criminal investigation programmes, there are many criminals who have been at large for more than ten or even twenty years, for such a long time, they have changed their environment, new identities, and some have even completely changed their appearance, but the police still rely on dna to bring them to justice.

Therefore, she had always felt that she had only escaped from Japan for the time being, but that incident could possibly stay with her for the rest of her life.

At this time, Ye Chen said: "Auntie Du, Miss Su, you two should stay in your room and rest, I will arrange for someone to send you away in the evening.

Du Haiqing was busy saying: "Thank you so much Ye Chen.

Ye Chen smiled slightly: "It's all as it should be.

Su Zhiyu said with courage at this time: "Your Excellency

Ye Chen looked at her and waited for her next words.

Chapter 2722

Su Zhiyu said: "Sir, can I leave you a contact information?"

Du Haiqing saw that his daughter mustered up the courage and asked Ye Chen for contact information. For fear that Ye Chen would refuse, he hurriedly added: "Oh yes Ye Chen, you still Leave us a contact information, so we can communicate with you if you have anything in the future.

Ye Chen saw Du Haiqing, the elders have opened up, so it is not good to refuse again, took out his mobile phone and said: "Then let's add a WeChat, there are things WeChat contact.

Su Zhiyu said awkwardly, "Your Excellency, your men have taken away both my mobile phone and my mother's.

Ye Chen nodded and said, "In this way, I will ask Lao Chen to arrange for someone to send the mobile phone back to you, and then let them send you my WeChat ID.

Su Zhi Yu's heart was overjoyed and hurriedly said : "Then I have worked hard and benevolent. Du Haiqing remembered something at this time, and said: "By the way, Ye Chen, at the previous auction, he kept asking me for the price and wanted to buy the small courtyard that your father lived in. you are also right, "

Ye Chen smiled and said, "Yes, it was me.

Du Haiqing asked curiously, "Then why did you finally give it to me?"

Ye Chen shrugged his shoulders and said, "I thought that maybe you needed the house more than I did.

Du Haiqing smiled with some emotion and said, "Thank you for cutting the deal.

"You should.

After bidding farewell to Du Haiqing and Su Zhiyu for the time being, Ye Chen took Su Ruoli with him and came out of the mother and daughter's room.

As soon as he went out, he saw that Chen Zekai was already waiting outside the door, when he saw Ye Chen come out, he hurriedly went forward and said respectfully: "Young master, I have already made arrangements on my side, we will send Su Shoudao to the airport in half an hour, but he still has a few of his men here that we have under control, what are you going to do with him or not?

Ye Chen waved his hand: "No, if you send them over, doesn't it mean that you have arranged a few servants for Su Shoudao, so let Su Shoudao go to Syria by himself. When you get there, you will have to fetch the water and eat yourself. He has to shovel the pit and make it by himself, and let him go and hone it.

The other people are all sent to Hongwu.

Chen Zekai said with a smile: "Okay young master, I'll arrange it now.

Ye Chen added: "Right, I'll send you an account number later, ask Su Shoudao to remit the promised US$100 million, and send him away when the money arrives. 9

"Good

Ye Chen then sent the Swiss bank account number sent by Hamid to Richard Chen, who went to Su Shoudao the first time after he got it.

Su Shoudao did not dare to delay and immediately called the head of finance of one of the group's companies overseas and asked the other party to immediately remit US$100 million to this account.

Although Su Shoudao was not the head of the family, he still had the authority to mobilise US$100 million, so after verifying his identity, the head of finance immediately wired US$100 million into Hamid's account.

Ten minutes later, Ye Chen received a call from Hamid. On the phone, Hamid's shocked voice was somewhat incoherent as he blurted out, "Elder brother Ye Ye I just received a remittance of one hundred million dollars... you didn't arrange this, did you?"

Ye Chen smiled and said blandly: "Well, I arranged it.

Hamid exclaimed, "Brother, what are you doing sending me so much money?"

Ye Chen laughed: "It's just a small token of appreciation, besides, didn't I say that I would support your career, and if you become a minister in the future, don't forget me

Chapter 2723

Hamid did not expect that a huge sum of US$100 million would be nothing more than a "small token of appreciation" in Ye Chen's mouth.

He was so moved that his voice choked up and he sobbed, "Brother Ye, you're really my new parent. I owe this crippled leg to your miracle medicine, but I didn't expect that you would sponsor me with such a large sum of money.

Ye Chen laughed: "Meeting each other is fate, and it is fate that you and I have met each other.

As he said, Ye Chen added, "Right, old brother.

I don't know what your plans are after you have this money.

I'm not going to hesitate to say that since my leg was broken, my team has lost a lot of talent and I haven't had the chance to replenish it. Even if it's not, the main thing is to do upgrading on the equipment for single combat, as well as light equipment."

Ye Chen spoke up, "Old brother, I advise you not to blindly expand your army at this stage for the time being."

Why," Hamid asked, puzzled, "what is your opinion, old brother?"

Ye Chen said seriously: "The place where you are now entrenched can be said to be easy to defend and difficult to attack, plus the enemy's weaponry is not really well-equipped, so it's not that easy to attack you, so it doesn't really make much sense for you to blindly expand your army."

After a pause, Ye Chen continued, "But in my opinion, the biggest problem you have now is that your defence is relatively weak.

"You only have so many helicopters, one less than the other; the same goes for armored vehicles, one less than the other."

Instead of that, you should put more effort into infrastructure, go all out on infrastructure, further improve your defensive capabilities. Then bury your head in the sand and build up your strength.

"Infrastructure" Hamid asked in surprise: "Brother, what kind of infrastructure can I build in this mountain nest?"

Ye Chen laughed and said, "Of course, we should dig deep and accumulate food."

After that, Ye Chen reminded: Know that although your opponent is overall stronger than you, but can't get any real weapons of great lethality, so at most some old warplanes and artillery, can't even afford to use missiles, so what you are fighting between you is not considered a modern war at all, but can only be considered a war model from the 1940s and 1950s, to the 1960s and 1970s.

"If you were fighting a modern war, that base area of yours wouldn't stand a chance, the other side would send a few sorties of bombers or simply fire a few tactical missiles and just blow you to the ground."

"But the good thing is that everyone can't afford to fight a modern war, so it only makes sense for you to do infrastructure"

"And the more that happens, the more you have to strengthen your own bases"

Chapter 2724

"For example, you can mobilise your soldiers to build a large number of anti-aircraft and anti-artillery shelters in the villages, and then procure a batch of industrial and mining equipment to build frontal fortifications, as well as anti-slope fortifications, in the mountains, using the mountains as cover."

"In this way, whenever the other side bombards you, you can hide in the fortifications and let the other side hit you as much as they want, and you can minimise your losses."

"Even if they can penetrate your valley, your soldiers will be able to cover the entire valley with fire from the backslope halfway up the hill, making it impossible for them to come back."

Hamid at the other end of the phone, hearing this, already had both eyes shining.

Ye Chen continued at this time: You strengthen your own defense, let yourself become a barrel of iron, then they will not be able to defeat you, and then will certainly give up with you, choose to start a war with other opposition forces, and you, also try not to take the initiative to attack, just hunker down in your base, the enemy comes, I block, the enemy withdraws, I feed, is that way, you can not only well preserve the strength, but also have the opportunity to rely on a strong defensive capabilities, you will be able to absorb the defeated stragglers."

Hamid said excitedly, "Brother, where did you learn all this from?"

Ye Chen laughed, "I learned it from our old Chinese ancestors, they told you to do good infrastructure and defence construction, while not taking the initiative, it's called digging deep, accumulating grain, and slowly claiming the throne."

Saying that, Ye Chen added: "Let you sit back and wait to collect other armed opposition scattered soldiers, this is called watching the fire from across the shore, in other words, it is also called dying in the way of the poor.

Hamid lamented: "I can further strengthen my defensive capabilities by following the experience taught by my old brother, but if my brother troops ask for help, then how can I really mean to watch the fire from across the river

Ye Chen laughed: "What's so embarrassing about that other people fight other people, just look at it.

Hamid said awkwardly: "I'm afraid that will make the whole opposition camp spit on ah.

The most important thing is to survive, we don't take the initiative to find things, and don't get too close to the other opposition, and do our best to preserve our strength, so that if one day the opposition fails, and you are a hard bone that the other side can't even gnaw, then there is a great probability that they will recruit you, and once they recruit you, it's a good thing, so you can The first thing you need to do is to negotiate with them and get an official position.

The first thing you need to do is to get a good deal.

Long.

Hamid was silent at the other end of the phone for a long time

What Ye Chen said about these strategic tactics was something he had never thought of before.

Their current strategic situation was relatively simple, nothing more than a chaotic fight, and several forces that were incompatible with each other would definitely fight whenever they met.

However, most people only cared about the immediate future and simply did not have a long-term systematic strategic plan.

On the contrary, although Ye Chen grew up in a peaceful era and had never seen what it was like to fight a war at all, he had studied various allusions in Chinese history since he was a child and had a certain theoretical basis for various strategies.

Moreover, the several wars fought by the Chinese nation against foreign enemies had produced many classic battles and further highlighted the unique Chinese strategic thinking, so Ye Chen synthesised these bases of his own knowledge and soon had a relatively more accurate judgement of Hamid's current situation.

As long as Hamid could carry out his strategic instructions of digging deep, accumulating grain and claiming the throne slowly, then he himself would have a chance towards success, regardless of whether the opposition could succeed or not.

After hearing this, Hamid was greatly inspired and said, "I'm really enlightened after listening to you. I'll arrange to purchase a batch of light industrial and mining equipment and immediately start building fortifications on the key passes and surrounding hills, as well as purchasing more weapons, ammunition and food and drugs to prepare for a long-term defense of the base.

Chapter 2725

Relatively slow military development, relatively weak military power and relatively low military quality are the common problems of some small war-torn countries.

The disparity in economic power between countries is huge, and the disparity in military power is even greater.

Hamid himself did not come from a real military academy, and because he was in a relatively backward and chaotic environment, he did not have any strategic thinking at all.

The only strategy he could think of was to stay alive as long as possible.

The reason why he was not destroyed in the siege two days ago was because the government forces had made a mistake in intelligence, thinking that the village was just a small stronghold, but they did not expect it to be Hamid's main base, and that Hamid's base was easy to defend and difficult to attack, and that was why he failed.

But just because it was easy to defend doesn't mean it couldn't be attacked.

The first time was the opponent's slight of hand, but if the next time the opponent made sufficient preparations and made a comeback, and Hamid did not take care to defend properly, the odds were that he would be dumpling.

Although Ye Chen's friendship with Hamid was still shallow, he did not want to hear the news that he had been killed one day.

Besides, Su Shoudao was sent there immediately, so it would be more or less embarrassing if he had just arrived in Syria and died not at his own hands, but at the hands of Hamid's rivals.

After all, Ye Chen still wanted to keep Su Shoudao as a back-up.

In case Su Zhiyu was not capable of inheriting the Su family, then he could still let Su Shoudao back.

As for what terms Su Shoudao would have to pay when the time came, all the initiative was in Ye Chen's hands.

So in other words, a considerable portion of Su Shoudao's US$100 million was also used to strengthen his personal security.

But this US$100 million from Su Shoudao was a great favour for Ye Chen in exchange for a heavenly favour.

Because this US$100 million, as well as this series of strategic guidance given by Ye Chen to Hamid, meant a great deal to Hamid.

So, while Hamid was moved, he humbly asked Ye Chen: "Brother Ye, I understand the importance of infrastructure, but according to what you said, how do I implement it?"

He said, "I'm sorry, most of the soldiers under my command have not read any books, let alone asking them to come up with a plan."

Ye Chen smiled and said, "This situation is also understandable."

After saying that, he further explained: "When I went to your place, I probably observed the topographical features of your place, except for a relatively narrow junction into the mountains to the north and south, the rest is almost entirely surrounded by mountains, there must be at least seven or eight mountains"

"There are eight mountains in total, the two on the east and west sides are the highest, the others are relatively shorter, but they are all relatively steep, heavy equipment and armored vehicles definitely can't run up."

The first stage is to build eight frontal fortifications and eight counter-slope fortifications on these eight hills, to put it bluntly, one frontal and one counter fortification on each hill, and then separately on the hillsides on both sides of the north and south entrances, add two more frontal fortifications each.

"The fortifications must be built as strong as possible, relying on the structure of the rocky hills and then using reinforced concrete to make permanent fortifications that will ensure that ordinary artillery fire cannot destroy them."

Hamid asked, "What about the second and third stages?"

Ye Chen said: "The second stage is to at least double, the fortifications, to ensure that at least half of your soldiers can directly hide in the permanent fortifications, in this way, let's say the opponent's artillery fire is heavy and intensive, your soldiers can still be saved in the permanent fortifications."

As for the third stage, you have to make it so that all your soldiers can survive inside the permanent fortifications for a long time, and the permanent fortifications have to be built more and more and bigger, so that eventually every fortification on every hill is able to interoperate internally, and the permanent fortifications can not only be used for defence and living, but also for storing strategic supplies, and when you achieve this, you can rest easy

Chapter 2726

Without hesitation, Hamid said, "Yes, let's do it my way."

After saying that, he hurriedly asked: "Brother, what other suggestions and instructions do you have?"

Ye Chen said: "In addition, you must immediately purchase a large amount of food and drugs, stored in a dry and safe environment, the first stockpile, must be enough to store more than three years of total rations

Hamid exclaimed: "Three years, that's a lot of food for an adult, that's at least 200 kilograms of food a year, for 2,000 people, that's 400 tons, three years is 1,200 tons!

Ye Chen asked rhetorically: "Then I ask you, how much does 1,200 tons of grain cost?"

Hamid thought about it and said, "At the current market price, a ton of wheat costs about three hundred dollars, so twelve hundred tons, including transportation costs, is four hundred thousand dollars.

Ye Chen said helplessly: "Now we are asking you to make strategic reserves, not to eat fresh food every day

"Think about it, you first keep three years of rations in your hands, and then each year you will purchase additional according to the actual amount used that year.

That way, you'll always have a surplus of three-year rations on hand

"And as long as the grain is stored properly, it won't go bad in three years, and the relatively dry climate in the Middle East makes it easier to preserve, so you can replace the oldest batch with a new batch every other year."

With this method, you can ensure that no grain stored in your hand will last longer than three years. ,

Once the other side can't beat you down, prepare to surround you and trap you, you can still carry it for three years even if no grain can be brought in at all.

The same applies to weapons and ammunition, as well as medicine.

You should make more arrangements and plan for cycle rotation. You must have strategic reserves in your hands, and you must always prevent others from following you. Fighting a protracted battle.

Hamid suddenly realized, and exclaimed: "Brother, I understand this trick is wonderful.

Ye Chen said helplessly: "What's so great about it, this truth, in our Chinese summer, those who have studied in primary school basically know, thanks to you also came to China to study, why not learn the history of China," he said.

Hamid said with embarrassment and shame: "Hey, I mainly wanted to go to China for gold plating and to practice my Chinese, but I really neglected other aspects".

The main thing is to use the 100 million dollars to strengthen the defense, not only the fortifications should be strengthened, the defense materials should also be well prepared, don't worry, I will arrange someone to purchase food, ammunition and medicine, in addition to some infrastructure equipment and construction materials.

Ye Chen said, "In this case, the problem of defense and materials can basically be solved. However, there is another problem that requires you to start immediately.

Chapter 2727

Hearing Ye Chen say that he had another problem that needed to be started immediately, Hamid was busy asking: "Older brother, what problem are you talking about Ye Chen said: "The last time I went to your place, I found out that your base now relies entirely on diesel units to generate electricity.

"Right." Hamid said: "The diesel generator set is quite convenient to use, but the cost is slightly higher.

Ye Chen said: "It's not a bit high, it's quite high, the cost is at least several times higher than coal power

Hamid said: "I have been implementing a strategy to conserve electricity here, basically no electricity or less electricity during the day, and ordinary soldiers only use electricity for lighting at night, so the overall electricity consumption is not high, the cost is acceptable.

If you have a dozen or even dozens of fortifications in the future, each one of them will need to provide a corresponding electrical system to ensure lighting, ventilation, communication and even cooking inside the fortifications. would be very high.

When Hamid heard this, he exclaimed: "Oops I forgot about this but I don't have any good solution now, the government army can't supply me with electricity and I can't afford to build a thermal power plant, so I can only solve the power problem by generating my own electricity with diesel units

Ye Chen said: "Although you do not have the possibility of developing thermal power there, you can try to develop a certain amount of photovoltaic power generation.

You only need to invest two or three million dollars at a time, and then you can build several sets of independently operated power systems generated by solar energy and then stored by batteries, so that you can completely get rid of fuel power, and the power generated every day is enough for your two thousand soldiers to use normally. use."

The solar panels for photovoltaic power generation can be placed directly on the roof of the house, or on the hillside near the internal backslope fortification, which can also prevent enemy sabotage, and then put your diesel generator set into a safe cellar, and only maintain it during normal times, and then activate it to provide emergency power in times of emergency, in this way, you will have two sets of power supply systems.

The only way to improve the chances of survival is to immediately replace the other set if this one doesn't work. To put it mildly, most of your men don't have much literacy, and you yourself haven't studied the military systematically, so your team has a theoretical basis. If you don't force yourself to think more and study more, it will be difficult to survive in a constant war.

Hamid also realized the importance of Ye Chen's words, and immediately spoke: "Older brother reminds me that I must strengthen my knowledge in this area in the future, and strive to improve myself quickly

After that, he said, "I will also start working on the photovoltaic power generation as soon as possible. 100 million dollars is a huge sum of money, and many problems can be solved.

He didn't dare to expect Hamid to be a prime minister now, but to survive first would be an initial success.

Then, Ye Chen remembered something and asked him: "By the way, the people under you have not studied much, if you really want them to operate the infrastructure equipment to build fortifications, can these people be able to do it?"

Hamid said without thinking: "I can't rely on my men, I'm angry at the mention of it.

I don't think it's possible to expect them to build permanent fortifications," he said, smiling:

But...

I happen to know a friend who is in the construction industry in Iraq and has a lot of construction workers under him. He has long been used to the war in Iraq, and as long as the pay is enough, they won't refuse even if they have to go to the moon to dig a hole.

The fact is that this kind of permanent fortification I'm talking about doesn't require too high a cost or too high a technical content. As long as you can take advantage of the height of the heights, the strategic advantage of the pits and the backslope to build fortifications, even if the enemy's artillery fire is extremely powerful, it will be difficult to defeat you Hamid said without hesitation: "OK I'll try to download it on the satellite network and have a good look at it.

Chapter 2728

2-3 minutes

Hamid said offhandedly, "Don't worry, old man! I will definitely learn with an open mind!

Ye Chen gave a hint and added: "Right, when this batch of construction workers you are looking for arrive and start construction, you must select some smart and resourceful earth soldiers from your team to help and learn along with them, so that while you can speed up the construction progress, you can also let your men learn to learn the construction experience, and perhaps after a period of time, you will be able to pull out a company of engineering soldiers!

"Good!"

Hamid immediately said, "I will definitely find a way to form an engineering company!

Ye Chen instructed again, "This matter must-be done as soon as possible, or else your entire unit might be wiped out before the fortifications are built."

Hamid was busy saying, "I'll get started on this today, I'll lay low until the fortifications this."

"Good."

Ye Chen said gratefully: "Forty

The rest of the money will be used as reserves and flexibility, basically. The rest of the money as a reserve, flexible, basically ... you can raise your overall strength by more than a notch, make it whole!"

After thanking Ye Chen, Hamid hung up the phone and immediately started to study the concrete plan for the infrastructure, while coordinating all kinds of resources to prepare for the launch.

At this moment, Chen Zekai and Su Ruoli, who were beside Ye Chen, were both looking at Ye Chen with shocked faces.

Su Ruoli did not understand why Ye Chen was suddenly instructing others on how to fight a war over the phone, after all, this was a time of peace and war was too far away from ordinary people, and she did not know about Ye Chen's trip to Syria.

As for Chen Zekai, he was too shocked to speak.

He was puzzled and wondered, "I can't understand why the young master is helping that Hamid? Could it be that the young master still wants to develop in the Middle East in the future? !

Chapter 2729

Ye Chen himself is clear that a truly high-return investment is actually no different from gambling.

The risks are high, but once the gamble is won, the returns are even greater.

Making a moderate investment in Hamid nowadays by himself was almost equivalent to his mother investing in those fledgling internet companies in Silicon Valley back then.

Investing in them at this point in time would cost very little and would enable them to reap huge rewards once they succeeded in the future.

Although Hamid's Armed Forces is not a company, he is also a project with great potential for development, and if it succeeds, there will definitely be inexhaustible benefits, so putting in more effort and giving him more advice and support himself is also an investment for the future.

Moreover, this investment is nothing more than a blood-saving pill and some strategic experience, while the US$100 million in real money is all sponsored by the Su family.

Once Hamid got it going, he would have a return cycle of at least a few decades for himself in the future.

So, Ye Chen did not explain more to the two, but said to Su Ruoli: "Ruoli, your current identity is still too sensitive, for the time being, you can not be allowed to leave freely, this period of time is still condescending to you to continue to stay here.

Su Ruoli did not hesitate to say: "Ruoli all listen to En Gong arranged!

As she spoke, a few moments of sadness still surfaced in Su Ruoli's eyes.

Ye Chen could see the sadness in her eyes and remembered that she had been here for quite a long time, other than that, she must have missed her mother a lot.

Her mother had given birth to her alone and brought her up, and now that she was dead or alive, her mother must be very worried.

After thinking about it, Ye Chen said: "Ruoli, you've been cut off from the outside world for so long, your mother must be very worried about you, right?"

When Su Ruoli heard these words, her expression suddenly became incomparably bleak, and she gently nodded her head and said: "I think she must still be looking for me everywhere until she finds my body, she cannot possibly believe that I am really dead "

Ye Chen nodded and spoke: "How about this, you give me your mother's contact information, I'll have someone bring your mother to Jinling, then you mother and daughter can meet.

Su Ruoli was immediately surprised and asked, 'Sir! Are you really going to let me meet my mother? !

Ye Chen nodded and said, "Of course, but meeting is meeting, but we still have to make sure that the news that you are alive is not leaked to other people, at most, only your mother will know, so it won't be possible for you to initiate contact with your mother."

"Otherwise, in case your mother finds out you're alive, gets emotional, doesn't control it all at once, and then it becomes known to others, the news will be very troublesome once it leaks out and gets to the Japanese.

"With their persistent drive to catch you, they will definitely apply for your extradition back to Japan to stand trial."

Of course Su Ruoli understood Ye Chen's caution, so she hurriedly said, "Then what are you considering, Sir?"

Ye Chen said, "I will ask Lao Chen to invite your mother over in the name of the Ye family, but I will not tell her about you.

Su Ruoli said with red eyes, "Grandpa, as long as I can see my mother, Ruoli will be satisfied! If it's really inconvenient, even just a phone call will do.'.

Ye Chen said with a smile "you should let your mother to come to Jinling without knowing that you are alive, and then if she has enough time, she can stay here with you for a while, and the public can claim that she came over to talk to me about cooperation, after all, I heard that when you had an accident, the

He family completely flipped with the Su family, this time to talk about cooperation with me, and will not cause other people's suspicions.

Su Ruoli nodded her head and said excitedly, "Thank you, Your Excellency! Then everything will be hard for you to arrange

Chapter 2730

Ye Chen looked at Chen Zekai and said, "Old Chen, you will remember Ruoli's mother's contact information in a moment, and first communicate with her in the name of the Ye family to see if she is willing to come over, if she is not interested in cooperating with me. Interested, I told her that the young master of the Ye family wanted to talk to her about dealing with the Su family together.

Chen Zekai hurriedly said: "Good young master, I will implement this later.

Ye Chen turned to Su Ruoli and said, "Ruoli, give Lao Chen your contact information, then go back to your room and rest.

"Good

At this moment, the Northeast Desert City.

This modest little city was one of the coldest places in the whole of China.

Even though it was already the end of the first month, the lowest temperature in Desert City still reached minus 17 or 18 degrees, almost the same as the freezer of a refrigerator.

At the coldest time of the entire winter, the temperature here is able to reach around -50 degrees Celsius.

The He family, one of the four major martial arts families in China, is rooted in this county-level city with a population of less than 100,000.

The He family's ancestors were not born and raised in Desert City.

They originated from the Jiaodong Peninsula, and during the Ming and Qing dynasties, they were one of the more famous martial arts families in the Peninsula, and their ancestors had always made a living by running dart boards and martial arts schools.

At that time, however, the Ho family mainly practised external martial arts, so they were still far from the level of a martial arts family.

It was not until the end of the Qing Dynasty, when war broke out in the Jiaodong Peninsula, that the Ho family, by coincidence, obtained a remnant scroll of an internal martial art.

The main reason why it is called a remnant scroll is that nearly half of its contents were lost long ago, and there are many fragments of both the kung fu and the corresponding mind techniques.

But even so, after the He family moved to the northeast, they relied on this fragmented internal martial art to become one of the martial arts families.

Moreover, the internal martial art that the Ho family received was so defective that when the Ho family practised it, they would often experience disruptions in their internal energy and reversal of the flow of their meridians, which could result in serious injuries for months or even the death of many of their descendants.

This is why the He family has gradually come to the conclusion that they should practice this internal martial art in the coldest places possible, as the cold weather helps them to control their internal energy better, thus reducing the probability of accidents.

It was for this reason that the He family moved to Desert City, the coldest city in China, decades ago, and then took root here.

Su Ruoli spent her childhood and her entire teenage years here, and her mother, He Yingxiu, has lived here since she broke her arm to save Su Shoudao, rarely leaving Desert City.

However, during this recent period, He Yingxiu has spent almost half of her time running around outside.

At first, when Su Ruoli was first captured in Japan, she heard Su Shoudao say that he was going to save Su Ruoli and personally rushed to Japan to see Su Ruoli and tell her to wait for her return home without fear.

However, the news of Su Ruoli's disappearance and the betrayal of Su Ruoli by her family came out immediately afterwards.

Since then, He Yingxiu has spent most of her time in Japan searching for Su Ruoli's whereabouts.

Although she knew it was a needle in a haystack, she searched Tokyo and the surrounding areas for a long time, and then spent a lot of money to hire search and rescue boats to search the Japanese waters, and even searched the coastal areas of China, but never found any relevant clues.

She had just returned from the south-eastern coast the day before, and this time she had run through several key port cities, but still no news of anyone having been smuggled ashore.

She knew very well that the longer time dragged on, the less chance Su Ruoli had of surviving.

So she discussed with her father, He Hongsheng, about raising some more funds to search the coastal areas of the Jiaodong Peninsula to see if she could find Su Ruoli's whereabouts.