

Ye Chen 3641

Chapter 3641

Jimmy was previously only able to see a blurred outline, but now he could see things with a certain degree of clarity and brightness.

And his physical function indicators have indeed improved greatly. Before, he was in a dying state, but now, basically, his life is no longer in danger.

That attending doctor then called the couple out of the ward and said in a very puzzled manner, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith, although I don't know exactly what it's because of at this time, based on Jimmy's current assessment of his physical indicators, he is now temporarily out of life-threatening condition and we may also have a more optimistic assessment of the rest of his life cycle."

He said, a little confused himself, holding his chin, "This whole thing is just too much for me to figure out, just ten minutes ago when I tested him, I speculated that he only had no more than 24 hours left to live, but now, the whole body has taken a big step forward across the board, and as long as the cancer doesn't spread too fast in the next few days, then he shouldn't be in life threatening."

Jenny held up the Jiu Xuan rejuvenation pill in her hand and spoke, "I just gave this to Jimmy a few minutes ago."

"What is this?" The attending doctor looked at the box of Jiu Xuan Zhen Zhen Pills with surprise and asked politely, "Mrs. Smith, may I see that box in your hand?"

Jenny hesitated for a moment, but handed over the box of pills.

However, she kept her eyes firmly fixed on the box of pills, fearing that this attending doctor would say that he was going to take this box of pills for some kind of research.

For now, she was already very sure that this box of medicine was the only hope to save her son.

The attending doctor took the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills, looked at them back and forth, and said awkwardly, "Is this a medicine?! This description is too hastily and loosely stated, isn't it?"

Saying that, he looked at Smith and asked suspiciously, "Shouldn't he write down exactly what cancers he applies to? And, if he's a targeted drug, shouldn't he write about his relevant genetic targets?"

Smith finally heard the same point of view as his own and agreed in quick succession, "Yes! I think exactly the same as you! The instructions for this drug are a joke in medicine! Oh no! It's a disaster for the field of medicine!"

Jenny was furious and shouted angrily, "Smith, that's enough! You do realise that your son has just been pronounced out of danger, and the drug that took your son out of life, out of danger, is this, the drug you think it's a joke!"

At this point, Jenny became even more agitated, "Instead of being half grateful, you mock it and question it in such an arrogant tone! If you continue this arrogant to the core attitude next, then please get out of my sight!"

Smith hastily apologised, "I'm sorry Jenny, that's not what I meant, I meant to say that although I can't figure out what kind of drug he is either, you do have to admit that the way he wrote that description, it does seem a bit too sloppy too, doesn't it?"

"Sloppy?" Jenny sneered, "The reason people don't say what kind of cancer it's for is probably because it's for all cancers! Unlike those cancer drugs you've been researching, where one drug can only treat a measly one or a handful."

With that, she added, "And! The reason people don't say what gene target it belongs to is probably because he doesn't need a gene target at all!"

"Do you guys think that whatever targeted drug you're researching is really powerful? With your kind of medicine, only patients who find a genetic target have the chance to take the targeted medicine you're researching, and if he doesn't have that target in his genes, then this targeted medicine won't be half as effective for him!"

"But look at this drug, there's no need to find any target at all! It works immediately when you take it directly, much better than you guys!"

Speaking here, she continued, "Moreover, they also say here that it can quickly help the body recover its vital energy! In Chinese, isn't vital energy the root of a person?"

"Look at Jimmy's state now again, he's so much stronger than he was ten minutes ago, isn't that a sign that his vital energy has been restored?!"

"Facts speak louder than words, how dare you all continue to question it?!"

Chapter 3642

At this point, not only Smith, but also the doctor in charge, was a little ashamed to be reprimanded by Jenny.

He looked at the medicine carefully and said, "Can I take one for testing?"

"Don't you dare!" Jenny snatched the medicine back and blurted out, "This is my son's life-saving medicine, no one can take it away!"

Seeing that the medicine was snatched back, the attending doctor hurriedly explained, "Mrs Smith, don't get me wrong, I want to test the ingredients of this medicine to see what's so special about it, and by the way, analyse whether Jimmy's improvement is caused by this medicine or not, since it's science, we must be more rigorous, don't you think? "

Jenny said with an angry expression, "I said get out of here! I'm getting sick and tired of the faces of you so-called science people! You still don't believe the facts when they are right in front of you! Is so-called science any more convincing than reality?"

With that, she immediately turned around and went back to the ward.

Smith and the attending doctor hurried in after her, only to see Jimmy, by now, struggling to sit up slightly.

Jenny had walked quickly up to her son and asked with concern, “Jimmy, how are you feeling now?”

Jimmy spoke, “My body feels easier than before, and I have some strength, but I can still see very blurry, and the feeling that I was getting better just now is gone.”

Jenny said, “Don’t worry Jimmy, it’s probably because the medicine has run out of effect, wait until tomorrow and mum will give you another pill, I’m sure your condition will continue to improve!”

Jimmy asked with some excitement, “Mum, am I going to get better soon?”

Jenny cried tears of joy and hugged her son’s head. Choking back a sob, she said, “Yes Jimmy, you’re almost better!”

Jimmy said with a happy face too, “Then when I get better, I’m going to play baseball! Gonna go on the roller coaster! And go to the marine park!”

Without hesitation, Jenny said, “Yes! Whatever you want to do, mummy will go with you then!”

Smith was in tears and subconsciously asked the doctor beside him, “Is that medicine really working?”

The attending doctor said with a blank expression, “I can’t be sure but judging from my experience, the treatment options we’ve used on Jimmy really couldn’t have produced such an effect, so using the elimination method to see, then the odds are that this drug is the one that works.”

“HolyMotherfuc-ker!” cursed Smith, full of shock, as he ripped his tie off and blurted out, “Looks like the Chinese are going to shock the world this time”

After saying that, he immediately took out his mobile phone and called the PR manager who had arranged his meeting with Wei Liang.

When the call was answered, the first thing he said was, “I want Wei Liang’s contact information, immediately, right away!”

Although surprised, the other party immediately agreed and said, “Just a moment Mr Smith, I’ll send you his contact details.”

Soon, Smith was given a series of phone numbers starting with +86.

Without a second thought, he called Wei Liang directly.

At this moment, Wei Liang had just finished checking into his hotel in downtown Washington, D.C., and was about to continue his search for information on celebrities in the United States who had gone public with their cancer news.

Suddenly, he received a call from an unfamiliar number.

Wei Liang hesitated for a moment, but pressed the answer button.

Immediately, Smith’s voice came over the phone, “Hello Mr Wei, this is James Smith!”

Wei Liang frowned and asked him, “What can I do for you, Mr. Smith?”

Chapter 3643

Smith said stiffly, "Mr. Wei, it's like this, I gave my son the medicine you gave me, and now the child's effect has improved significantly, so I want to ask you, if I take one a day, how much improvement can the child's situation have, and also is this medicine a complete cure for cancer or not?"

Wei Liang said, "I can't tell you clearly about this because the effect of using it varies with different conditions, but no matter how serious the cancer patient's condition is, as long as he starts taking the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pill, his condition will definitely keep getting better, and even if it is very serious, he will definitely be able to be cured after taking it for a long time."

Saying that, Wei Liang added, "I suggest that you can first observe your child's condition with the medicine and see how much your child's condition will improve after taking this box of Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills."

Smith was about to ask Wei Liang if he could give him the other box of Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills as well, but Wei Liang deliberately spoke at this time, "Sorry Mr. Smith, I still have things at hand, I will talk about them later."

After saying that, he simply hung up the phone.

After Wei Liang hung up the phone, he called Ye Chen at the first opportunity.

And at this time, Ye Chen happened to be in Lebanon waiting for his return trip back to China.

When he received Wei Liang's call, he asked, "Wei Liang, did it go well in the United States?"

Wei Liang was busy saying, "Back to Master Ye, this side did not go well at first, the head of the FDA is very resistant to our traditional medicine and has a very condescending attitude."

Speaking of this, Wei Liang then recounted the details of his meeting with Smith to Ye Chen, and told him about Smith's phone call as well.

After listening, Ye Chen scoffed, "The mouth says no, but the body is honest, really another case of true fragrance."

Saying that, Ye Chen added, "I reckon he called you just to ask for more Jiu Xuan Rejuvenation Pills."

"Yes." Wei Liang laughed, "I guess that was his intention as well, so I didn't wait for him to say anything, so I just hung up the phone."

Ye Chen said, "I guess he will still persist in calling you, so, when he calls you again, just tell him that the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills have no side effects, and if the situation is more serious, taking seven or eight pills a day is not a problem."

"Of course, if you take too many capsules, the part that is replenished may be a bit too much and there will be some waste, but it doesn't matter, it's best to tell him to give his son one every half hour and take all seven tonight, this will keep him alive for at least two or three more months."

There were only two ingredients in the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills, one was the Solid Gold Life Renewing Pill and the other was the Blood Dispersing and Heart Saving Pill.

These two medicines, one a great tonic and the other a cure.

There were indeed no toxic side effects.

If the patient's body was really too weak, it was perfectly fine to take a few pills at once to quickly consolidate the foundation and get better quickly.

And Ye Chen also had another layer of consideration, since this Smith was so pretentious before, he should let him see the miracle of the Jiu Xuan Zeng Zai Pills quickly now.

Since it was a slap in the face, one slap a day was not really too powerful, to swell and smash his face in one breath would be enjoyable.

Wei Liang hurriedly asked, "Master Ye, then if he comes running to me for medicine, how should I reply to him?"

Ye Chen laughed, "Didn't he say that he wouldn't allow proprietary Chinese medicines to be marketed in their country? Since they won't allow it to be marketed, of course we can't give it to him anymore, giving him a box is already a violation of their laws and regulations.

After saying that, Ye Chen added: "Isn't he very proud? Then rub his face on the ground and make him bleed! So there's no need for you to stay in the US, just go to the airport now and fly straight back to Jinling, but don't tell him yet, give him a good fight!"

Chapter 3644

After hearing Ye Chen's words, Wei Liang was enlightened.

He hurriedly said with a smile, "Master Ye, you are still the most resourceful in dealing with such people! If I leave now, I think this Smith will definitely come after China!"

Ye Chen laughed: "Come if you want to, but don't treat him well when he comes, and if he comes to meet you, don't take care of him either."

He said, "Right, didn't you find a public relations company and spend a lot of money to meet him?"

Wei Liang laughed, "Master Ye, we don't have such a company in Jinling."

Ye Chen laughed, "It doesn't matter, just let Hong Wu come out for a part-time job."

Saying that, Ye Chen added, "How much did you spend to meet that Smith?"

Wei Liang was busy saying, "Fifty thousand dollars."

Ye Chen then said, "Good, when the time comes, if he finds his way to Jinling, let him ask you out through Hong Wu, then I will ask Hong Wu to quote him a price of five million dollars, and he will have to come up with five million dollars in exchange for a chance to meet you for dinner."

Wei Liang subconsciously said, "Master Ye, I feel that Smith's financial situation shouldn't be very good, he definitely can't take out that much money."

Ye Chen smiled blandly and spoke, "Don't worry, when he comes to China to look for you, he won't just be here for his son alone, he must be here on behalf of the entire FDA, by then the FDA will definitely pay for this part of the funding for him."

It was only then that Wei Liang came to his senses and said with a self-deprecating smile, "It seems my eyesight is still too narrow, you are right, as long as his son has taken the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills, it would be the same as the entire American medical system knowing about it, I am afraid it would be a big news sensation across the United States!"

Ye Chen laughed: "Of course the more sensational this kind of thing is, the greater the influence, the greater the fame of Jiu Xuan Pharmaceutical."

After saying that, Ye Chen added, "Alright, just listen to me and hurry up and come back."

"Okay Master Ye!"

Wei Liang hung up the phone, only to find that he already had 11 missed calls on his phone at this point.

All of these missed calls, without exception, were from Smith.

Seeing so many missed calls, Wei Liang already understood in his heart that this Smith, had been completely taken in by the Jiu Xuan Recycle Pill.

However, he did not call Smith back, but grabbed the time to pack his luggage and prepare to leave.

At this time, Smith's phone call came again.

Wei Liang smiled, picked up the phone and asked in a somewhat impatient tone, "Mr. Smith, do you have anything else?"

Smith hurriedly said, "Mr. Wei, I am trying to make amends with you!"

"No need." Wei Liang said ungratefully, "You are the head of the FDA and in charge of the power of life and death of all drugs in the United States, so why do you need to make apologies to a nobody like me?"

Smith was embarrassed and said, "It's my fault Mr. Wei, I was too ignorant, I just want to apologize to you in person now, I don't know which hotel you are staying in"

Wei Liang said indifferently, "Apology is not necessary, to be honest, I do not want to see you now either, I do not know if you have heard of it, we have an old saying in China, called eyes not seeing, heart not bothering."

Smith's face was on fire and he said with a smile, "Mr. Wei, it's true that I had a bad attitude before, I'm really sorry"

He said, he cheekily asked, "Mr. Wei, I know you don't want to see me now, but can you please give me the other box of Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills? My son may be depending on this medicine to save his life"

Wei Liang did not answer his question, but asked him, "How is your son's condition?"

Smith was busy saying, "There has been a significant improvement, the doctor said that he is temporarily out of life threatening condition."

Wei Liang asked, "How many pills did you give him?"

Chapter 3645

“One!”

Wei Liang then said, “Our Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills do not have any side effects, and if his condition is more critical, you can give him more pills, one for each half hour, and take all seven, this way you can at least ensure that he will not have a life-threatening condition for the next two or three months, otherwise if the cancer cells continue to spread and grow, he may soon fall into a critical condition again in.”

Smith hurriedly asked, “If we finish all the medicine today, what about tomorrow?”

Wei Liang said, “I have already said that if we finish all the medicine today, we can guarantee him at least two to three months of life, and if the cancer cells are well controlled, he may live for another six months.

Saying that, Wei Liang added, “Mr. Smith, I’m going to rest now, goodbye.”

Immediately afterwards, Wei Liang did not wait for Smith’s response and hung up on him once more.

As soon as the phone hung up, Wei Liang immediately called the flight crew and told them to request a route and prepare for take-off, and that he would immediately rush to the airport.

After calling the crew, Wei Liang directly turned off his mobile phone, packed up all his belongings and left the hotel without even going through check-out procedures, and headed straight for the airport.

The other box of Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills was still in the hospital, and Smith still hadn’t given up on Wei Liang.

He hesitated and called Wei Liang again, but to his surprise, the other party’s phone was turned off.

If he had known this, he would not have dared to play hard to get with Wei Liang, and he would have had to bring over the two boxes of Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills.

Unfortunately, there was nothing he could take for regret, so he could only refocus his attention on his son, Jimmy, for now.

Smith recalled Wei Liang’s words, and when Wei Liang said that he could give his son seven Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills, Smith’s heart immediately pressed on a bit.

So, he immediately said to his wife, “Jenny, you give Jimmy another pill, then mark the time and feed him one every half hour, I just asked the person in charge there, he said that critical patients can take more at once, so that the situation will improve faster.”

Jenny could not wait until tomorrow to get her son to take his second pill, so when she heard this she immediately took out another one.

She was about to pa*s it to her son’s mouth when she remembered something and hurriedly asked, “What if we run out of pills after this one?”

He said, “If we consolidate well today, Jimmy’s life will not be in danger for the next two or three months, and if we’re lucky, we’ll last another six months!”

Jenny was relieved at this and was busy saying to Jimmy, "Jimmy, quickly take this pill too."

At this point, Smith's career-related sensitivities also immediately tightened up.

He immediately said to his wife, "Jenny, wait a minute! Wait a few minutes before you give Jimmy his pills!"

As Jenny was amazed, he said to the attending doctor, "Get all your men over here and monitor closely all the changes in Jimmy's body from now on and record them all, word for word, and arrange for someone to prepare a camera to record the whole thing."

"Yes!"

That attending doctor was also impatient by now.

Just now he had missed the whole process of Jimmy taking the medicine and had only seen one result when he rushed here, so now he also wanted to witness with his own eyes, just how amazing this medicine, really was!

Chapter 3646

Soon Jimmy's hospital room, was filled with a large number of doctors in white coats.

All the top oncologists from the Mayo Centre were here.

All those who could get into the room were the heads of departments and labs, while those of lesser rank could only stand outside the room in front of the large glass window and watch.

Everyone had heard that there had been a huge miracle in the ICU, that the son of FDA executive Smith had been given a huge cure for a traditional Chinese medicine, and it was said that he would be monitored all the way through his continued medication, so no one wanted to miss the chance to witness the miracle, or witness the rumours.

At this point, Jimmy swallowed a pill into his mouth with the help of his mother.

Once again, the pill melted in his mouth.

Jimmy said in amazement, "Mom, that pill melted in your mouth faster than even a marshmallow can melt!"

Smith said with a surprised look on his face, "I don't think this pill dissolves that well, how come it all melted just after you took it?"

Jenny ignored him and asked her son impatiently, "Jimmy, how are you feeling?"

The attending doctor was also quick to say, "Yes Jimmy, describe to us as clearly as you can what you feel."

Jimmy thought for a moment and said, "I feel a little hot after the medicine melts into my stomach, then I just feel a little better than I did earlier with the pain in my body and my head doesn't hurt as much"

At this point, the attending doctor's assistant said in amazement while staring at the data and indicators on the instruments, "Doctor, Jimmy's physical indications have improved significantly again, his blood oxygen, blood pressure and heart rate have improved some more, basically almost reaching the minimum values for a normal child."

The attending doctor gulped and blurted out, "What kind of medicine works that fast? Adrenaline doesn't work this fast either"

He then asked a pharmacy expert at his side and said, "Dr. Matthew, given your expertise, could this drug contain some kind of hormone?"

Smith, with a look of realization, blurted out, "Yes! It's very possible! The Chinese pharmaceutical companies love to add chemicals or other active ingredients of modern medicine to their herbal ingredients!"

He added, "I think we should take a sample from the pill and send it to the lab for a proper examination!"

The pharmacy expert named Matthew held his chin and said with a puzzled expression, "With such a fast-acting cycle, it is indeed possible that it contains some kind of hormone, but with my knowledge of existing hormones, it seems that there is no hormone applicable to Jimmy's current physical condition, if there was such a hormone, we would have used it already wouldn't have waited until now"

The crowd was stone-faced.

Because what Matthew was saying seemed to make quite a bit of f*cking sense.

They had already thought of all the treatments and resuscitation methods they could think of, and used everything they could more than once.

There really wasn't any hormone that could have such a good positive effect.

Smith asked again, "So could it be that they've found some kind of hormone that we haven't discovered yet?"

Matthew said awkwardly, "I don't think so. If they had discovered or invented a new hormone that worked so well, they could have just registered a patent and exported it to the world. It doesn't make sense!"

"F*ck" Smith scratched his head and said offhandedly, "Gotta admit, this stuff has me confused"

Chapter 3647

Just then, Jimmy in the hospital bed spoke up in surprise, "I'm seeing better! Mum! I can probably see your face clearly already mum!"

"Really?!" Jenny was wildly happy to hear this, her eyes falling in a flood of tears.

Although she was not a doctor or an expert in the field of medicine, she was, after all, a top Ivy League graduate and a high achiever.

She knew that the reason why her son could not see was because the visual nerve had been compressed by a tumour.

So it was clear to her now that since her son was gradually regaining his vision, this was proof that the tumour that was compressing his visual nerve had, in all probability, gone into remission!

She choked up and said, "That's wonderful! That's wonderful!"

With great strength in his hands, Jimmy lifted his right arm, which still had an IV tube and oxygen monitor, and gently wiped the tears from the corner of his mother's eyes, saying, "Don't cry, Mum, you should be happy that I'm getting better!"

Jimmy was able to lift his arm and wipe away the tears from the corner of Jenny's eyes with such precision that everyone looked on in amazement.

The attending doctor slapped his face and said to himself, "Am I hallucinating something"

Smith was so excited at this point that he rushed to his heels, crouched down in front of his son and asked him, "Jimmy, can you see Daddy's face?"

Jimmy spoke up, "Daddy, above your nose, why is there a red lump"

Smith subconsciously touched the bump on his nose, also like his wife, could not help but tear up and choked up, "Daddy may have some endocrine disorder in the past two days, it doesn't matter, it will be fine in a few days."

Saying that, he grabbed his son's hand and cried, "Jimmy, you can finally see mommy and daddy's face I thought you would never see us again in your life"

At this point, the whole ward was on the verge of exploding.

All the specialists were talking in twos and threes with their heads down, shock and disbelief written all over their faces.

The attending doctor muttered, "How did it actually happen Even if it was really hormones that could bring back a person's state, it could never have brought back the compressed optic nerve along with it! The recovery of vision must have been caused by the tumor becoming smaller to relieve the compression but this is too fast"

The other experts were even more amazed.

These are all people who have been fighting cancer for decades, and they have each tackled a variety of cancer categories, from head to toe, from front to back, from inside to outside, with extremely rich cancer-related experience.

But the more experience they had, the more they couldn't see what was happening before them.

It was a reversal of all the experience they had accumulated over the decades.

At this moment, the attending doctor hurriedly said to the assistant beside him, "Hurry up and inform the nuclear medicine centre, tell the doctors in charge of PET-CT to get ready and give Jimmy a full body scan!"

PET-CT is different from ordinary CT in that it can scan the entire body of a patient, and can obtain tomographic images of every aspect of the body at once, making it the best choice for examining the whole body of a cancer patient for tumours.

It is only through this means that the doctor can get a complete picture of the tumour in Jimmy's body in the shortest possible time and see exactly what is going on now.

Plus Jimmy has been in this hospital for most of his treatment, and this hospital has his CT images from every stage over the years, with the most recent scan just over half a month ago.

So, by rushing to take another full body scan and comparing the results with the one from half a month ago, we could find out exactly what had happened to the cancer cells in his body, exactly!

Chapter 3648

Soon after, young Jimmy was wheeled along with the doctors and nurses to the nuclear medicine centre.

After being injected with a contrast agent, he was then taken into the CT room for a full scan.

Half an hour later, the scan results came back and a large group of doctors gathered around the computer to look at Jimmy's latest CT images.

The attending doctor simultaneously opened the images from half a month ago and, after comparing them, exclaimed, "This is unbelievable too! The large number of lesions in Jimmy's body have actually shrunk substantially!"

As Jimmy's cancer had reached the end stage, there had long been multiple metastases, with tumour lesions in the lymph, bones, liver, and lungs, all of which were not small in size.

The largest of these were already the size of a baby's fist.

Moreover, as treatment was exhausted, Jimmy's cancer cells were spreading faster and faster, and the tumours were growing.

Normally by trend, after half a month's time, the tumours must have grown relatively larger again.

And now, instead of increasing in size, these lesions were all getting smaller!

In particular, the huge tumour inside the skull, which had previously compressed the visual and auditory nerves, had shrunk by one millimetre in diameter!

Don't underestimate this millimetre, because it was this millimetre that was compressing the nerves.

The doctors were in a frenzy!

Matthew, the previous pharmacist, exclaimed, "What the f*ck are we researching for an anti-cancer drug, this is the best f*cking anti-cancer drug in the world!"

The attending doctor on the sidelines couldn't help but exclaim, "Yeah! This drug is such a good treatment for cancer, if it really covers the whole world, we oncology specialists can be laid off."

Smith was also completely convinced!

He really couldn't understand why, traditional Chinese medicine was so powerfully effective.

At this moment, Jimmy's mother hurriedly took out another pill and said excitedly, "It's time to take the third one!"

The crowd snapped back to attention and hurriedly urged, "Hurry! Let's see what other miracles will happen when the third pill is taken!"

This night, the entire Mayo Centre's doctors had volunteered to work overnight at the hospital.

Even if there was nothing at all for them to do, they were reluctant to leave.

Because they knew that they were witnessing a medical miracle.

Jimmy, who was studied by a large group of top doctors, as if he were an alien, did live up to expectations.

Every time he took a Jiu Xuan Zai Zai pill, the tumour in his body would undergo a substantial shrinkage, a shrinkage that was literally visible to the naked eye on the video material.

Moreover, his physical quality was indeed improving by leaps and bounds.

Just like what the packaging of the Nine Mysterious Reclamation Pills said, his vital energy, was rapidly restored.

After taking seven pills, he was able to sit up on his own and walk down to the ground with a staggering gait.

Jimmy, however, had been bedridden for a full year as he had previously had bone metastases from his cancer for over a year, particularly in the leg bones of both legs.

To walk again after a year, even if it was only with difficulty for a dozen metres, was a miracle of miracles in the eyes of these specialist doctors.

This had never happened before in their medical history. It was as if they had never seen any paraplegic patient who was able to walk on the ground again.

Smith and his wife were so excited that they stayed up all night.

His wife Jenny, on the other hand, was not only excited and thrilled, but also vaguely worried.

So she couldn't help but ask Smith, "Honey, you must find a way to get another box of Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills for Jim today, I see his current trend, if he takes one more box, he should be able to go home to recuperate!"

At this point, she couldn't help but choke up again, "Jimmy hasn't slept at home for three years"

As Jimmy had long since entered the critical stage, he had never been out of 24-hour hospital supervision, and even when he went to Europe for treatment, he left directly from the hospital to the airport and then flew directly to Europe on a special medical charter flight.

So, as far as Jenny was concerned, she was keen to get her son home.

And as far as she was concerned, as long as she could still follow up and ensure that her son could take the Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills, he could be completely free from the hospital and recover properly at home.

Chapter 3649

After all, in her eyes, the Jiu Xuan Zhen Zhen Pills were now far more credible than the hospital.

It was a sleepless night at the Mayo Centre.

The story of Jimmy and the miracle of the Jiu Xuan Zhen Zhen Pill had spread rapidly from here to the medical system across the United States.

By dawn, almost all of America's top hospitals, medical research institutions, and pharmaceutical research companies had heard the shocking news.

Only, so far they had only heard the rumours and had not yet seen the perfect information, so everyone was still sceptical.

After all, cancer has been attacked for so many years, and no one has managed to save the terminally ill. Once terminal cancer is cured, it means that cancer has been truly conquered!

After the night's experience, Smith had completely changed all his previous opinions and was eager to find Wei Liang and kowtow to him, slap himself a few times, and then ask him for more Jiu Xuan Zai Zai Pills.

He looked at the time and saw that it was already six o'clock in the morning, so he muttered, "I reckon Mr Wei should be awake too, I'll give him a call now!"

Saying this, he immediately took out his mobile phone and dialled Wei Liang.

Like last night, Wei Liang's phone still showed that it was switched off.

He put down the phone and said with some embarrassment, "That Mr. Wei's phone is still switched off, I reckon he might have been angry with me yesterday."

Jenny said in exasperation, "Anyone else would have been angry with you, people came from far and wide to send you such good medicine, and you had the insensitivity to put someone else in a sarcastic dig, if it were me, I would have added your number to the blacklist straight away!"

"sh*t" Smith said in a sudden panic, "He didn't really blacklist me did he?"

Jenny was also anxious and asked, "What then?! Jimmy's subsequent treatment and recovery will all depend on this medicine!"

Smith stroked his chin and paced back and forth, the more he thought about it, the more anxious he became.

He was most afraid that Wei Liang would stop talking to him in a fit of anger, in which case there would be no possibility of his son getting the medicine afterwards.

So he hurriedly said, "I'll ask my friends at the police station to help me out, see if I can find out which hotel he's staying at, and I'll go to his door and apologise to him personally!"

Jenny also felt that this was the only solution, so she said, "I'll go with you then!"

Smith said, "Don't go, Jimmy will be anxious if he wakes up and doesn't see us, just stay here with her, besides, our daughter needs looking after."

Jenny looked at her sleeping little daughter on the sofa next to her and helplessly admonished, "Then when you go to the door to apologize, you must put away your usual condescending posture, not to mention flaunting your so-called expertise in front of others, you must use the most humble and humble attitude to beg forgiveness from the other party, got it?"

"Understood" Smith said without thinking, "I swear to God I will never again have any contempt for traditional Oriental medicine"

Jenny added, "By the way! I've heard that the heaviest etiquette among the Chinese is to get down on both knees! You'd better get on your knees and beg for forgiveness the moment you see the other person!"

Smith's expression was depressed to the core and he grumbled offhandedly, "Holysh*t! Jenny, you're such a good wife to me! How dare you make me kneel for someone else!"

Jenny said coldly, "What's wrong with making you kneel to someone else when they saved your son's life? I'm telling you, if Jimmy doesn't get the follow-up treatment medicine because of you, I will definitely divorce you because I've had enough of living with hopeless people like you!"

Smith said woefully, "All right, all right! Whatever you say, I'll do it! When I meet, Wei Liang will be on his knees first thing!"

Jenny hastily added, "Right, kneel all the way down, don't forget to kowtow again, I see this ritual is popular in China!"

Chapter 3650

At this moment, Smith had no idea that Wei Liang hadn't even left him a chance to kneel and kowtow in apology.

And at this moment, Wei Liang was on the flight back to Jinling.

Although Ye Chen's private plane was not as fast as the Concorde, the interior decoration was no worse than the Concorde, and at this moment Wei Liang was resting in the more luxurious than five-star guest room on the plane, not at all sleepy and tired from the journey.

Smith, on the other hand, had started looking for his connections in the Washington Police Department early in the morning to investigate Wei Liang's place of residence.

He only knew how to pronounce Wei Liang's name, but not how to spell it in English letters, so it was quite a struggle to find out.

The police officer then used a filtering method to find all the Chinese male travellers in Washington who had checked in yesterday and let Smith sit in front of the computer and look at the photos one by one for an hour before he finally identified the hotel and room number where Wei Liang was actually staying.

The friend from the police station helped make a phone call, then patted Smith on the shoulder and said with a smile, "You don't have to be too anxious, I've already asked the hotel, this Wei Liang guy has booked a room for a week, so he definitely won't be leaving Washington anytime soon."

Smith sighed with relief and said busily, "Thank you Pete, I'll buy you a drink some day!"

The other man laughed, "No need to be so polite, would you like me to accompany you there?"

Smith waved his hand, "No, no, I'm going to apologise, and if I take a police officer with me, I'm afraid he'll think I'm threatening him."

"All right." The other party nodded and said, "Then I'll say hello to the person in charge of the hotel, so that the hotel will let you in."

"Good!"

Smith left the police station, got into his own car and hurried to the hotel where Wei Liang was staying.

When he arrived at the hotel, he gave his name to the security staff, who had received the officer's message in advance, and immediately helped him swipe his card and get into the lift of the guest room.

When he arrived at the door of Wei Liang's room, Smith was apprehensive.

He was afraid that Wei Liang would simply close the door when he saw him, or perhaps even look through the cat's eye and see that it was himself outside the door and simply not even open it.

After a long hesitation at the door of the room, he could only stiffen his head and press the doorbell of the room.

The doorbell rang three times and there was no movement inside.

Smith kept his eyes on the little bright light in the cat's eye.

When you looked inside the cat's eye from the outside, you certainly couldn't see anything, but you could see the light from the inside.

Smith was also trying to determine whether anyone was walking around inside or not by the change in this little bright light.

But after ringing the doorbell several times, the little light in the cat's eye never changed.

Smith was a little surprised and thought to himself, "Is that Wei Liang still sleeping? I've rung the doorbell so many times, even a pig should be awake by now."

Thinking of this, Smith could only continue to ring the doorbell while knocking hard and shouting, "Mr. Wei, it's me, it's Smith, are you up?"

There was still no response from inside the room.

Smith held his chin: "Strange no sense pretending to be deaf in the room, right? Wouldn't that be too childish?"

Smith had no choice but to continue knocking hard on the door.
