

Ye Chen 3901

Chapter 3901

Ye Zhongquan smiled faintly and said, "Some time ago, there was a situation that caused some anxiety, but after Chen's return to Yanjing, many of the troubles were solved, and thanks to his blessing, the Ye family not only passed through the crisis safely, but also took the opportunity to further develop and become bigger. I've been very happy lately."

Lai Qing Hua said with a smile, "It is indeed a great fortune for the Ye family to have a true dragon like Young Master Ye."

Ye Zhongquan hurriedly said with an arch of his hand, "Then I'll take your advice, Old Mr. Lai!"

As soon as the words left his mouth, the two of them heard Song Wanting in the banquet hall say, "Next, please give a warm applause to our second guest of honour tonight, the direct descendant of the Song Dynasty Feng Shui Master Lai Buyi, the over 100 year old Feng Shui Master, Mr. Lai Qing Hua Lai!"

When Ye Zhongquan heard this, he was stunned. He originally thought that he should be the second guest and Lai Qinghua must be the last guest to appear in the grand finale.

But unexpectedly, Ye Chen had arranged for Lai Qinghua to appear first and let himself be the finale, so he could not help but feel excited in his heart.

Lai Qinghua was not surprised at all by this arrangement, after all, Ye Zhongquan was Ye Chen's grandfather and also the explicit head of the Ye family, Ye Chen would definitely arrange for him to be the grand finale, and this would instantly raise the Ye family's global popularity by a large margin.

Thus, Lai Qinghua smiled and said to Ye Zhongquan, "Mr. Ye, I will make my debut first!"

Ye Zhongquan hurriedly made an invitation gesture and said respectfully, "Please, Mr. Lai!"

Lai Qing Hua nodded slightly in greeting and also walked into the banquet hall with a vigorous pace.

And at this moment, in the banquet hall, most of the group of people who had not stood up to welcome the old Queen earlier had stood up.

These, almost all of them, were rich and powerful people from North America and Asia.

It was after hearing Lai Qing Hua's introduction that many of them were looking forward to the Spring Return Pill, and they had also always held Lai Qing Hua's attainments in feng shui in high esteem, so when they saw Lai Qing Hua enter, they naturally had to stand up to welcome him.

However, hardly any of the Europeans who had just stood up and bowed to the old Queen stood up.

Europe is actually very different from North America, which is itself made up of immigrants, with more faiths, more nationalities and relatively greater inclusiveness, while the Europeans in Europe, who have maintained many traditions inherited from the Middle Ages, are more stubborn and old-fashioned, as they would bow to a long-dead royal family, but scorn Lai Qing Hua, a Feng Shui master.

But Lai Qing Hua did not care about these strange glances, his expression was always cloudy and light-hearted at the same time, with a few hints of meticulousness.

Lai Qing Hua walked to the three VIP seats in the very centre of the first row, the old Scandinavian Queen had already taken the seat on the right hand side, at which point a staff member walked up and gestured for Lai Qing Hua to take the seat on the left hand side.

Just then, Song Wanting said aloud, "Next, please ask all present to stand and welcome with the warmest applause our third guest of honour tonight, also the Chairman of the Ye Group, Mr Ye Zhongquan Ye!"

Chapter 3902

Ye Zhongquan had never dreamed that Ye Chen would give himself the full ranking at this auction.

It was already a surprise to him that he was allowed to attend the auction as a VIP, but he did not expect that Ye Chen would not only give him the status of a VIP, but even let him make a finale appearance.

What was even more unexpected was that when Song Wanting was announcing the curtain, she asked all of them to stand up and applaud to greet his entrance, which was simply the highest treatment for such an occasion!

This was simply the highest treatment for such an occasion! One must know that all those attending the auction at this moment were top tycoons, and many of them were even more financially powerful than the Ye family.

However, even these people had to respectfully stand up and applaud to welcome her entry.

In this instant, Ye Zhongquan's vanity was greatly satisfied.

However, being treated in such a high standard made Elder Ye's heart inevitably even more nervous. He was even so nervous that he did not know whether he should step on his left or right foot first when he entered the auction hall later.

He forced down the excitement and nervousness in his heart before he stepped into the auction hall.

At this moment, more than four hundred people were standing straight on both sides of the auction hall, each of them turning their bodies to the side and back, while their eyes were fixed on the entrance.

As soon as they saw Ye Zhongquan step in, everyone applauded desperately at almost the same time.

The applause was so enthusiastic that Ye Zhongquan himself was even a little frightened.

The people who applauded were not really respecting Ye Zhongquan, they had only heard Song Wanting say that they had to give a standing ovation, and it had to be the loudest applause.

They were afraid of being written off for their poor performance, so they could only put in more effort.

Ye Zhongquan had already got used to the feeling of being in the limelight less than halfway down the red carpet, and his whole face was gradually relaxed, with a smile on his face.

After enjoying the attention and applause of the crowd, Ye Zhongquan sat down in the middle of the VIP seats with some reluctance.

After he sat down, the electronic clock hanging above the venue had reached 19:50.

Song Wanting then smiled and said, "I know that the vast majority of you have come to our auction for the Spring Return Pill, so here I would like to introduce to you the specific rules of tonight's auction."

After saying this, Song Wanting added, "Firstly, tonight we have prepared two incomparably precious Spring Return Pills for you all, except for one of the Spring Return Pills which will be auctioned as a whole and at the end of the auction for the finale, the remaining one Spring Return Pill will be divided equally into four portions, each of which will be auctioned separately as a single lot;"

"Secondly, of all the items in tonight's collection, only the Spring Return Pill is non-rebidable, meaning that if one of you bids on the first Spring Return Pill, you will automatically lose the opportunity to participate in the other Spring Return Pill auctions that follow, while the other lots are not subject to this restriction;"

"Therefore, if one of you is aiming to get a whole Spring Return Pill, then please do not participate in the first four bids for the Spring Return Pill, otherwise once you are successful, you will lose the qualification to bid for a whole Spring Return Pill at the end."

"In addition, in view of the fact that everyone has already paid the RMB 50 million deposit, so tonight's auction, except for the Spring Return Pill, all the goods you have bid on will be directly reserved and sealed for you, if the turnover is lower than the deposit, we will automatically deduct the amount of the goods to return the rest of the deposit in the original way; if the turnover is higher than the deposit, you need to return the rest of the deposit at the end of the auction. After the auction, the first time to make up the rest of the remaining amount of goods;"

"Finally, if you have won the Spring Return Pill, we and our staff will give you a mobile phone so that you can contact your treasurer directly and let him or her complete the transfer at the first opportunity."

Chapter 3903

"Of course, according to our rules, after you get the Spring Return Pill, you must take it in public, otherwise it will be considered a forfeit."

At this point, Song Wanting looked at the crowd and opened her mouth to ask, "Does everyone have any questions? If there are, please raise your hands to speak."

A number of people in the crowd raised their hands, and Song Wanting pointed to one of them and spoke, "Please ask number 095."

The one wearing costume number 095 was an old white man in his seventies. Seeing that Song Wanting had named him, he hurriedly stood up and asked, "What if we pay the money but the Spring Return Pill does not have the effect we want? After all, we have only heard about the efficacy of the Spring Return Pill, but we have not seen it yet"

Song Wanting replied seriously, "I can tell you responsibly that the effect of the Spring Return Pill definitely exceeds your previous understanding and perception of any related medicine, whether you are bidding for a quarter of a Spring Return Pill or a whole Spring Return Pill for the finale, after you take it on the spot, the effect will be visible to the naked eye, which is why we require the successful bidder to This is one of the reasons why we require the successful bidder to take the Spring Return Pill on the spot, in order for others to witness the miraculous effects of this medicine with their own eyes, if he did not have the effect, how could we have made such a decision?"

As for what you said just now, what if the Spring Return Pill does not have the effect you expected, I think this is a very subjective issue in itself, even if the effect is good, there are people who may not feel satisfied enough, just like everyone here, whose desire for wealth is never capped and never satisfied, so this is something we can only guarantee. We can only guarantee that the vast majority of people will be convinced after witnessing it with their own eyes, but if the person concerned does not approve or is not satisfied, we cannot accept any kind of refund or after-sales service, so please understand."

The old white man hesitated for a moment and nodded gently.

He also knew that it was difficult to quantify this kind of thing by some kind of public standard, but since the organiser dared to let everyone take it on the spot, it proved that they must have full confidence in the efficacy of this medicine.

Otherwise, as long as the first Spring Return Pill was auctioned and everyone saw with their own eyes that it did not have any effect, then it would be impossible to sell the later ones.

He then spoke up and said, "Thank you for Miss Song's explanation, I can understand."

Song Wanting then added, "Please ask No. 055 a question."

No. 055, an old man with a Middle Eastern face, stood up and asked, "Miss Song, if someone bids for the Spring Return Pill but the money cannot arrive, what will your organisers do with it?"

Song Wanting said seriously, "Because our auction tonight is interspersed with other collectibles for the Spring Return Pill, each person will have twenty minutes to transfer money after a successful bid for the Spring Return Pill, if the payment does not arrive within twenty minutes, we will automatically cancel his share of the Spring Return Pill and release that portion of the Spring Return Pill for another auction, and those who fail to pay will be disqualified from further bidding for the Spring Return Pill tonight!"

The man nodded and said, "I understand, thank you Miss Song for your answer!"

Song Wanting smiled faintly in response, and after answering a few more questions, the time had reached 19:59.

Afterwards, Song Wanting did not continue with the roll call, but watched the clock tick down to the final ten seconds, so she smiled and said, "I declare that the first Spring Return Pill Auction, now officially begins! And the first lot we have prepared for you tonight is the first quarter of a Spring Return Pill!"

Chapter 3904

As soon as Song Wanting's words fell, the whole room instantly let out a gasp of surprise.

Everyone thought that the Spring Return Pill would be put on the back burner and slowly warmed up, but to their surprise, the first item up for auction was the Spring Return Pill!

This was actually Ye Chen's deliberate arrangement.

What he wanted was this kind of feeling of an explosion right from the start.

He didn't need to go through the trouble of warming up the venue, he just threw the "heavy bomb" down and detonated it, and the venue would instantly heat up.

Moreover, by shooting the Spring Return Pill first, it would allow the group of people to see the effects of the Spring Return Pill in the quickest time possible, which would also make the others even more frantic.

At this moment, Ye Chen sat in the monitoring room, watching the live broadcast of the scene and smiled slightly, "Wanting's performance is much better than I expected, it seems that she has found the right rhythm."

"Yes." Richard Chen also couldn't help but praise, "Miss Song's live play is indeed steady, the scene has been held by her."

Saying that, he asked Ye Chen curiously, "Young Master, what price do you think this first Spring Return Pill will fetch?"

Ye Chen smiled, "I can't say this, but the first copy will definitely fetch the lowest price, I guess it should be around several hundred million to one billion dollars."

At this moment, the auction site.

Just before everyone had returned to their senses, an etiquette lady, carrying an exquisite silver tray, walked up.

Immediately afterwards, the live camera's lens focused on the silver plate, presenting the quarter of the black and shiny Spring Return Pill on the silver plate on the big screen behind Song Wanting.

The Spring Return Pill was already small, and a quarter of it was even smaller, so if it hadn't been magnified on the big screen with this high-definition camera, the bidders sitting below wouldn't have been able to see it at all.

The vast majority of people, at this moment, were sceptical about this tiny piece of elixir, unable to believe that such a small, ordinary piece could have such a magical effect as the legend says.

However, among the crowd, there were two people staring at the Spring Return Pill with eyes full of enthusiasm and eagerness, instead of any doubt.

Among them, apart from the Old Empress of Scandinavia, who had been saved by the Spring Return Pill, there was also an old acquaintance of Ye Chen, the richest man in Hai Cheng, Li Tailai.

At Song Wanting's birthday party last time, Li Tailai had won a Spring Return Pill at a price of 2 billion yuan, and after taking it, not only did all his illnesses disappear, but he was also at least 20 years younger.

At that moment, he knew that the 2 billion he had spent was well worth it!

Therefore, this time, he also signed up for the auction at the first opportunity, wanting to take advantage of this opportunity to try his best to obtain some more rejuvenation pills.

He also knew that he was not rich enough to bid for a whole Spring Return Pill, so he was hoping to grab a share of the Pill that was split into four parts.

At this point, Song Wanting spoke up, "For this auction, we accept payment in either RMB or USD, however, as there are more overseas friends present today, we are using USD as the unit for all our bids, and the starting price for the quarter of the Spring Return Pill in front of me is USD 100 million, with each bid increasing by at least USD 10 million, so please start bidding for interested buyers! "

The starting price for a quarter of the rejuvenating elixir was set at US$100 million, which really took many bidders who were not that rich by surprise.

Just when many people were still a bit stunned, Li Tailai raised his hand without hesitation and said, "I bid US$100 million!"

Inside the monitoring room, Ye Chen said with a smile, "Li Tailai is really smart, he knows that he has to compete for the first share, with his financial resources, if he can't earn the first share, it will be even harder for the rest."

Chapter 3905

"Yeah." Chen Zekai switched one of the images, to a close-up of Li Tailai's face, and said with a smile, "Look, young master, although this Li Tailai is calling for a very crisp price, his expression still seems to be very meaty."

Ye Chen took a look and couldn't help but laugh dumbly as he nodded and said, "In fact, at least half of the two hundred people who came today would have decided to give up when the starting price was announced. Even if they were willing to follow the bidding, with their strength, they probably wouldn't be able to afford it after a few rounds."

In fact, even Li Tailai himself was a little surprised at the starting price of US$100 million.

According to the current exchange rate, US$100 million was more than RMB600 million.

The last time he had bid for a whole Spring Return Pill, it had only cost him two billion RMB, and now, at a quarter of the starting price, it was a third of the price of the whole one last time!

However, Li Tai Lai couldn't help but calculate in his heart: "Of the four copies of the Spring Recovery Pill to be opened tonight, the first one is definitely the cheapest because the vast majority of people here don't know how miraculous the Pill really is yet, but once the first one is auctioned off and taken in public, it will definitely drive this group of people crazy! The price will definitely go up afterwards! That's why I'm determined to win this first copy!"

When Song Wanting saw that Li Tai Lai had placed a bid, she nodded and said with a smile, "Okay, No. 055 has bid US$100 million, is there anyone willing to bid US$110 million? Please raise your hand if you have one."

As soon as the words left his mouth, an old man with white hair in the crowd raised his hand and said, "I bid 110 million dollars!"

Without hesitation, Li Tailai continued to raise his hand, "I bid 120 million!"

Song Wanting was just about to speak when an old man with a Middle Eastern face raised his hand and said, "I bid 200 million!"

Li Tailai was instantly stunned by this sudden appearance of Cheng Biaojin, and thought to himself, "This guy is asking for $200 million from $120 million as soon as he opens his mouth, I wonder if he is really rich, or if he is deliberately trying to play a psychological tactic to scare the other competitors away with an instant and drastic price increase!"

Before Li Tai Lai could regain his senses, he saw the old Scandinavian empress sitting in the VIP seat in the front row speak up, "I bid $250 million!"

The Old Queen was not worth much, the entire Iliad family, together, had just enough assets to cover the entry threshold for this auction.

However, to the Old Queen, who had already walked in front of a ghostly gate, money was nothing in front of life.

She could not afford to pay US$2 billion or US$3 billion, but she could afford to pay US$200 million or even US$300 million by gritting her teeth.

After all, she was not strong enough and her ammunition was limited, so she had to fight quickly and catch everyone by surprise.

So, as soon as she opened her mouth, she raised the price by US$50 million, in order to show her determination to win and to scare off those bidders who were trying to fight with her a little.

Li Tai Lai did not expect to encounter two competitors who had raised their bids significantly right away.

However, on second thought, there were already two rivals who had played this way, so if he played the same way, it might not work.

So, he raised his hand nonchalantly and casually said, "I bid 260 million dollars!"

Chapter 3906

The main reason why auctions are so popular around the world is that there is only a lower limit and no upper limit for anything at an auction.

So, any item can fetch a sky-high price at auction, depending mainly on the strength and mentality of the competitors.

Sometimes when they get on each other's throats, even worthless items can fetch astonishingly high prices.

There are really not many tactics to use in this kind of straightforward bidding, and there are only two common ones: either to raise the price sharply and scare the other party with your momentum, telling them that I have plenty of money and that I can smash you to death; or to follow up slowly, while looking unperturbed and giving the other party the impression that if you want to play, I will play with you to the end.

The first method didn't work, so Li Tai Lai had to turn to the second one. What he planned to do was, from now on, as long as the price was still within his reach, he would increase the price at the rate of 10 million.

If the price went up to an unacceptable level, then he would just withdraw silently.

At this moment, when the Old Nordic Queen saw that the price was still far from her own limit, she also raised her hand without thinking and said loudly, "I bid US$300 million!"

As soon as the words left her mouth, Li Tai Lai cursed in his heart, "D*mn old woman, are you f*cking crazy or what? You know that $300 million is almost two f*cking billion RMB, and I only paid that much for the whole thing in the first place! It's f*cking bad luck!"

While cursing in his heart, Li Tailai said, "I'll give you 310 million dollars!"

After saying this, Li Tailai's heart was dripping blood.

He had originally thought that since none of these people had ever seen the Spring Return Pill before, and he had stolen the first copy while they were unprepared, the price should not exceed US$300 million, but who would have thought that the price would already exceed US$300 million as soon as he turned his head.

But the good news is that he is also an entrepreneur with tens of billions of dollars, which translates into at least 10 billion dollars, so this 300 million dollars is nothing to him.

The Middle Eastern tycoon from earlier also raised his hand again and spoke, "I bid 320 million dollars!"

"f*ck!" Li Tai Lai cursed in his heart and was about to call for $330 million when a black man who had never raised his hand before suddenly raised his hand tremblingly and spoke with a slightly shaky voice, "I I bid 500 million dollars!"

This black man, one of the richest black men in the world, was from Nigeria and was a super giant in Nigeria and Africa as a whole.

This man was on holiday in London some time ago when he heard the news that the high society was all talking about the auction of the rejuvenating elixir.

He himself, having suffered from Parkinson's disease ten years ago, has been travelling around the world over the years in search of the most advanced treatments.

But the cause of Parkinson's is still not understood by the scientific community, so although he has been actively undergoing various treatments, his Parkinson's symptoms have still not improved much.

Not only has it not improved, but his condition has worsened over the last two years, to the extent that his own life has been greatly affected.

He is now unable to walk on his own because the tremors in his hands and feet are so strong, and he is unable to eat on his own and has to rely on others to feed him, so he has completely lost his ability to take care of himself and his quality of life has deteriorated dramatically.

Not only that, his five senses have now lost their neural control and his crooked mouth and slanted eyes are so unpleasant that he is not even willing to look in the mirror for several years.

So, even though he had a million dollars, he simply did not have the opportunity to enjoy himself.

Chapter 3907

The continuous years of illness had long ago tortured him beyond human form. His biggest dream now was to be cured of his illness so that he could enjoy the rest of his life in peace, even if he had to make some more sacrifices in terms of money, it did not matter to him.

Therefore, as soon as he came up, he directly raised the price by almost 200 million, just to get this Spring Return Pill.

Neither Li Tailai, nor the Old Nordic Queen, nor the Middle Eastern tycoon who had called for the price before, had expected that this black richest man would be so tough, adding so much money to the previous bidder right away.

Li Tai Lai was instantly depressed.

US$500 million converted into RMB would have exceeded $3 billion!

And it was not that he, too, could not afford to pay the 3 billion or so.

It was just that when he thought that he had only used two billion dollars to auction the entire Spring Return Pill before, but now he had to spend more than three billion dollars or even more for a quarter of a Spring Return Pill, there was a strong feeling of disparity in his heart.

Just as he was still struggling with the whole hesitation, the Old Nordic Empress put her hand in the right place and raised her hand, "I'll give you five hundred and fifty million!"

She intended to make a last-ditch effort, and if she succeeded, then she would have to put all her hopes on Ye Chen.

Although the richest black man had never participated in the bidding before, he had suddenly come out to give the other competitors a surprise attack by surprise, this kind of tactic of being as quiet as a child and moving like a rabbit was the style of action he personally believed in.

Thus, he spoke up with complete reluctance, "I offer 600 million!"

The old queen sank inwardly, knowing that she would probably have to return tonight without any success, so she could only make one last effort and raised her hand, "Six hundred and ten million dollars!"

Li Tailai also came back to his senses at this time, although the price of six hundred and ten million was high, it was definitely the lowest price for the Spring Return Pill tonight.

Moreover, he saw the way the Parkinson's patient was trembling and his mouth was slanted, and immediately knew that this person was definitely a serious Parkinson's patient, so he couldn't help but think in his heart: "If we really let that Parkinson's patient take the first Spring Elixir, once he takes the Spring Elixir on stage, in case he is cured on the spot, I'm afraid the Spring Elixir after that will be even more expensive! I'm afraid the rest of them will be even more expensive!"

Thinking of this, he gritted his teeth and was about to shout out the price of 650 million when he heard the trembling voice shout again, "I I bid seven Seven Seven hundred million!"

The scene was in an uproar!

More than half of the bidders wanted to cry.

This was because they couldn't even imagine that even a quarter of a Spring Return Pill could fetch such a price.

This had already broken their psychological ceiling early on.

Li Tailai's mouthful of $650 million had been forced back by the other side, and he was naturally indignant in his heart.

However, when he thought that this might be the closest he would ever get to the Spring Return Pill for the rest of his life, he could only grit his teeth fiercely and said in a loud voice, "$750 million! I'll give you seven hundred and fifty million dollars! I can't f*cking beat it!"

Song Wanting immediately reminded, "No. 055, please watch your words, no swearing in public!"

Li Tailai nodded hastily and said in fear, "I'm sorry Miss Song, I'm really sorry, I was impulsive, I'll be careful in the future!"

Li Tailai's roar did not deter the rich black man, who continued to raise his trembling right hand and shouted, "Eight hundred million! I'll give you eight hundred million!"

Chapter 3908

When the black tycoon shouted out the price of US$800 million, the old Nordic queen instantly sat down in her chair like a deflated ball, her eyes hollow and a little resigned.

This price was already more than she could afford.

Even if she were to sell it to herself at this price, she would not be able to get this much money.

Therefore, she knew very well in her heart that she was completely out of touch with the Spring Return Pill.

And at this moment, many people at the scene had also started to mutter privately.

Everyone knew that these five Spring Return Pills tonight were bound to go higher and higher like a ladder, so the price of this first Spring Return Pill was tantamount to laying the foundation and setting the tone for the Spring Return Pills to follow.

If its price was raised too high, then the price of the Spring Return Pill would probably explode to an unbelievably high price.

At this moment, Li Tailai's mind was on the verge of collapse.

He cursed in his mind, "Seven hundred and fifty million dollars! And that's in US dollars! Converted down, that's more than four billion RMB, just to auction off a quarter of this Spring Return Pill, isn't that f*cking enough?!"

After saying this, he violently tugged at his hair, hesitantly struggling whether he should continue to call for another hand of eight hundred and ten million.

But while he was hesitating, the Middle Eastern tycoon who had bid before but hadn't moved in this moment, raised his hand again and said in a deep voice, "One billion!"

Hearing this figure, Li Tailai felt a surge of anger in his heart and cursed in his heart, "One billion, how can anyone live with this?"

Before he could respond, the rich black man raised his hand again, "I'll give you 1.1 billion!"

And the Middle Eastern tycoon, as if from a sudden burst of energy, blurted out almost without delay, "1.2 billion!"

The black tycoon gritted his teeth and said without changing his face, "One billion and three hundred million!"

From one billion, to 1.3 billion, it took less than ten seconds.

The scene was once again in an uproar.

Some of those who were originally determined to win the Spring Return Pill had inwardly given up on the idea of competing for it altogether.

This was because in their existing mindset, they felt that even if this medicine was magical, at this price it was already outrageous, outrageous enough to open the door.

Some people, even, have started to watch the show.

They felt that the price of a quarter of this rejuvenating pill had already been speculated to a sky-high price of US$1.3 billion, and whoever bought this rejuvenating pill would regret his impulsiveness after taking it.

While everyone was shouting in amazement, one of the country's tycoons said in a low voice to the people around him, "f*ck, these people are all f*cking crazy, how dare they ask for US$1.3 billion? What is the concept of US$1.3 billion? If they used it to buy Airbus a320s, they could buy 20 of them!"

A Chinese American next to him asked with a smile, "You're funny, how you think of comparing planes."

The man said, "Because I run an airline myself, you know, there are at least a dozen airlines in China that don't have a fleet of 20 planes, and the worst one, Daxing Hua Airlines, only has three planes in total, counting all its a*sets, this is f*cking great, you can afford to trade 20 planes for a quarter of an elixir that you're not sure is that effective. Can you stand this?"

The people around, they all nodded their heads involuntarily.

They also felt that taking the money of 20 planes to buy a quarter of an elixir was really unacceptable.

However, even though others found it unacceptable, Li Tailai was not yet willing to give up.

He had truly experienced the miraculous effects of the Spring Return Pill and knew that this medicine brought people not only health, but also more and more precious time.

To him, twenty planes was indeed a lot, but it was not as important as a long life.

So, with his teeth clenched in death, he bellowed angrily, "I'll pay ten billion! Renminbi!"

Song Wanting said helplessly, "No. 055, this auction is uniformly bid in US dollars, please pay attention and re-state a price."

Li Tailai hurriedly said, "Miss Song, I can no longer calculate the exchange rate in my head, so please help me to see how much 10 billion RMB is in US dollars!"

Song Wanting used the calculator prepared in advance on the auction table to do some calculations and said, "About 1.6 billion."

Li Tailai nodded his head and said with extreme indignation, "Then it's 1.6 billion!"

Li Tai Lai thought to himself, "Ten billion RMB is the limit of what I can afford, instead of going on with these two sons of b*tches, why don't we just go for it and raise it by 300 million USD, and see who dares to follow!"

Just when Li Tai Lai thought that his angry price increase would definitely scare off the other two, to his surprise, they both raised their hands almost simultaneously.

The Middle Eastern tycoon shouted, "I bid 1.7 billion!"

The black tycoon was even more vicious, shouting out in one breath, "Two billion! I'll give you two billion!"

Chapter 3909

Li Tailai's psychological defences were instantly shattered and he gave up in an instant.

He sat back in his chair, his back completely soaked with cold sweat.

He knew that he couldn't follow through.

He couldn't accept that he was paying more than five times the previous price for a quarter of the Spring Return Pill, a difference of twenty times between the two.

If he had bought the Pill back at a higher price, he would have had a hard time getting over it, and the more he thought about it in the future, the more painful it would be.

So he sighed in frustration and gave up bidding.

All eyes on the scene were focused on the rich Middle Eastern man.

If he was still willing to continue bidding, the price of the quarter of the rejuvenation pills would exceed US$2 billion.

If he gave up his bid, then the quarter of the Pill would become the property of the black tycoon.

Song Wanting also spoke up at this time, “No. 047 bids two billion dollars, is there a higher price than that?”

Saying this, Song Wanting looked around and said seriously, “The highest bid received so far for the first Spring Return Pill is two billion US dollars, this is the first Spring Return Pill of the night, is there any higher price than two billion please? If there is, please raise your hand so that I can see it.”

No one on the floor answered, and even more so, no one raised their hands.

With a faint smile, Song Wanting then said, “Okay, two billion for the first time, now if any of you wish to compete, there is still a chance to give an offer.”

There was still no answer from the floor.

And that Middle Eastern tycoon, at this point, was also a little hesitant.

After all, two billion dollars was indeed too high and too high, he was not royalty, and money did not come from the wind, let alone spewing out from a well drilled in his own backyard, so he had to consider whether the two billion was worth paying or not.

And the main reason he had called it all the way up to $1.7 billion before was because he had discovered pancreatic cancer three years ago, but fortunately the disease had not progressed very far, so he underwent surgery to remove it.

However, as pancreatic cancer is the least detectable, by the time he was diagnosed, the tumour had more or less invaded the lymphatic tissue and was, therefore, a mid-stage cancer.

Doctors speculated that his probability of survival five years after surgery would be, by and large, no more than 60 per cent.

Many celebrities around the world have died of pancreatic cancer, the king of all cancers, and the most difficult thing about it is that it is very difficult to detect and very difficult to treat.

Other diseases can be treated with special drugs and high-end advanced treatments, which can give patients a few years or even a longer survival period, but once pancreatic cancer is diagnosed, even if there are mountains of silver and gold, it cannot be replaced by a few years.

This is also the fundamental reason why Gu Yanzhong, who is so rich, can only wait for death after getting pancreatic cancer.

Had Ye Chen not appeared in time and cured him with the Spring Return Pill, I am afraid that he would have only had a month to live at most at that time.

This Middle Eastern tycoon, at this moment, was also hesitating, worrying that the Spring Return Pill would have little effect on his condition, and that he was suffering from pancreatic cancer, and that there was no professional equipment at the auction site to see the effect of the Spring Return Pill treatment, so in case he found that his condition had not changed after he returned, wouldn't he have spent US$2 billion for nothing?

Thinking of this, he couldn't help but glance at that 047 again.

He could also see that No. 047 was a severe Parkinson's patient, so he suddenly thought in his mind that with a disease like Parkinson's, so the disease was almost always right in front of his eyes, so why didn't he let this guy have a wave, let him shoot the first one and eat it on the spot for himself?

Think of it as having him come in and make a bunny out of himself!

If, after he took a quarter of the Pill, Parkinson's could be visibly alleviated or even cured, then he would have to bid for the second Pill, no matter what!

If there was no improvement in Parkinson's after he had taken it, then he would not bid for the second Spring Return Pill!

Chapter 3910

Once the Middle Eastern tycoon decided that he wanted to use the richest black man as a guinea pig and watch patiently for a while, no one continued to bid upwards.

In fact, everyone was not stupid, and seeing that this Parkinson's patient was shaking more than a tractor, they knew that he must be a serious Parkinson's patient, so now everyone wanted to see if this man could be cured on the spot after he had bid for the first copy of the Spring Recovery Pill!

At this point, Song Wanting then spoke up and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, the highest bid for tonight's first Spring Return Pill is now US$2 billion, US$2 billion for the second time, and if any of you still want to compete, there is still a chance to give an offer before I ask for the third time, so if you want to raise your bid, please raise your hand for me to see."

The floor remained silent.

Everyone was determined not to see the hare.

Everyone was impatiently waiting for Song Wanting to finish her third offer and then quickly put the hammer down on the deal.

In this way, the Spring Return Pill would also have a chance to be walked around.

We will all know whether it is a mule or a horse when the time comes.

At this time, Song Wanting said, "Okay, it is now US$2 billion for the third time, and we are asking for the last time if there are any higher offers.

The Parkinson's patient's body shook even more strongly because of his nervousness.

He didn't know whether this Echo Spring Pill could cure him or not, but he knew very well in his heart that modern technology had absolutely no chance of being able to cure him.

Therefore, this Spring Return Pill might be his last chance.

At this moment, Song Wanting had already picked up the small wooden hammer on the auction table.

She raised the hammer up, looked around the room one last time, and smiled slightly, "Two billion dollars, Sold!"

With that, she brought the hammer down with a crisp thud.

With that, she turned her palm towards the rich black man and said with a smile, "Please use your applause to congratulate No. 047 for winning the first Spring Return Pill of the night at a price of two billion dollars!"

There was thunderous applause.

And that black tycoon, too, was thrilled beyond addition.

At this time, Song Wanting added: "Next, please ask our staff to hand the phone to No. 047, and ask No. 047 to confirm with the finance or his family to complete the transfer as soon as possible."

As he spoke, a young General of the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall, holding a specially customised mobile phone, stepped in front of No. 047 and handed him the mobile phone.

The other man did not reach out to take it, but let his entourage take the phone, then immediately picked up the phone and dialled an overseas number.

The call was quickly answered and his entourage immediately lifted the phone to the ear of the rich black man, who said in a trembling voice: "Make a quick payment to the auction house Two billion dollars"

Everyone then waited in silence for confirmation that the money had arrived.

Five minutes later, Song Wanting received a prompt from the treasurer informing her that the two billion dollars had arrived, so she smiled and said, "Our treasurer has confirmed the receipt of the money, here is number 047 to come to the stage and take the rejuvenation pills in public!"

The black tycoon's entourage hurriedly spoke up, "Hello, our chairman has very limited mobility and had a very hard time getting through security to get in just now, can you arrange for staff to bring the rejuvenation pills over?"

Song Wanting shook her head and said politely, "This gentleman, I'm very sorry, the rules of our auction are that all customers who bid for the Spring Return Pill must go up on stage and take it on the spot, if No. 047 has mobility difficulties, we can arrange for the staff to assist him up on stage."

The accompanying staff were a little indignant, after all, two billion dollars had been spent, and such a small request could not be granted? That's just too D*mn impersonal!

However, before he could comment, the rich black man next to him immediately warned, "Don't talk nonsense!"

The attendant immediately had the sense to keep his mouth shut.