

Ye Chen 3921

Chapter 3921

Therefore, the one who can get this Spring Return Pill at this stage is likely to be the strongest of the others, apart from those who intend to compete for the last whole Spring Return Pill.

In that case, it would be better for the strongest one to hurry up and get the second Spring Return Pill auctioned away; without him, the price of the next two copies of the Spring Return Pill would most likely fall back a little.

With this in mind, several people who still had the strength to continue bidding gave up their bids one after another.

However, their mistake was that they all thought they were the smartest ones, but they didn't think that there were actually quite a few people on the floor who thought the same as them.

So, when Todd raised the price to US$10 billion, the remaining man, too, gave up the competition.

He felt that when this strong competitor withdrew, the strongest person in the room would probably be himself.

Moreover, just now, he and he had started a one-on-one tussle from US$9 billion, and the others had been unable to keep up.

That way, once he had auctioned off the second Spring Return Pill, then when the third Spring Return Pill was up for grabs, he might only need nine billion dollars to take it.

In that case, wouldn't it save a billion dollars?

Although money had long since ceased to be money in such a perverse auction, a billion dollars out of this door would be a huge fortune anywhere, so if there was a chance to save, why not save it?

Song Wanting at this time, finally had the opportunity to make an offer.

A price of ten billion dollars had stunned her beyond attaching.

She quietly wiped the sweat from her hands with a tissue, picked up the wooden hammer and spoke: "No. 071 is currently offering US$10 billion, is there anyone else on the floor who is offering more than this price? If so, please raise your hand so I can see it!"

The scene was silent.

Song Wanting nodded and smiled faintly, "Good, ten billion dollars for the first time!"

"Ten billion dollars for the second time! This is the second copy of the Spring Return Pill tonight, so if there are any customers who want to compete, please hurry."

There was still no response from the scene.

Song Wanting then continued, "US$10 billion for the third time! Sold! Thank you No. 027, the second copy of the Spring Return Pill is yours!"

When Song Wanting dropped the hammer, Todd, the up-and-coming Silicon Valley entrepreneur who had finally managed to win the second copy of the Spring Return Elixir for US$10 billion, burst into tears of excitement.

Many people looked towards him, and some of them immediately recognised Todd.

Todd was not only famous in Silicon Valley, but was relatively well known worldwide, often featured in the media in various countries, and counted as a prominent young entrepreneur around the world.

The difference between young entrepreneurs and many invisible tycoons is that the wealth of the invisible tycoons comes from the years of cultivation and inheritance of their forefathers, and has long since spread around the world and touched all walks of life, revealing to the world only the tip of the iceberg.

But young entrepreneurs like Todd, who mostly start from scratch and build their fortunes very quickly, find it difficult to keep a low profile.

Not only him, but also Tesla owner Elon Musk, who is even richer and more successful than him, and Facebook owner Mark Zuckerberg cannot hide their wealth from the world.

It was precisely because he couldn't hide himself that the news of Todd's injury in Switzerland, like that of King Schumacher's skiing injury back then, hit the headlines worldwide as soon as it broke and became almost universally known.

So, when people around him recognised him, they immediately remembered that he had had a major skiing accident and was already paraplegic.

So, one by one, the crowd also waited and watched.

They were also curious to know, since the Spring Returning Pill could cure Parkinson's, whether this spinal cord type of paraplegia, for which there was absolutely no medical possibility of recovery, could it be cured or not?

Chapter 3922

A condition like paraplegia, although medically irreversible, is instead a bit of a big deal for the Spring Return Dan.

This situation is actually all too familiar to Xiao Changkun.

At the beginning, his injuries were almost as general as Todd's.

But when Ye Chen had cured him at the beginning, he had only used half of a Blood Dispersing Heart Saving Pill.

And the grade of the Blood Scattering Heart Saving Pill was far worse than the Spring Returning Pill.

Therefore, half a Spring Return Pill was simply more than enough to treat this kind of illness.

At this time, Todd, with the help of the burly attendant by his side, called his finance and impatiently instructed the other party to pay the US$10 billion directly to the designated account of the auction.

Once the payment was received, Song Wanting spoke up, "The treasurer has just told me that the payment has been confirmed, so next we have number 027 on stage to take the second portion of the rejuvenating elixir in public!"

Todd was already impatient and gave a sign with his eyes to his attendant, who immediately picked him up from his seat.

Two years of paraplegia had left Todd's torso very thin and his body had very noticeable muscle atrophy, an after-effect of the loss of mobility and the inability to move for a long period of time, which could not be avoided even though he had been undergoing the best rehabilitation training.

At the moment, Todd, despite being 5'8", weighed less than a hundred pounds and was easily carried to the stage by his entourage.

On the stage, Song Wanting also had a chair prepared, which was placed in front of the stage where the Spring Return Pill was displayed, so that Todd could easily sit and take his medicine.

For the organisers, who had always been cold, this was a special humanitarian care for Todd.

As soon as he sat down, he opened his mouth impatiently in anticipation of the moment when the Pill would enter his mouth and he would be back on his feet.

As usual, Song Wanting explained to him the rules of the Spring Return Pill auction, which meant that he was not allowed to bid on any other Spring Return Pills.

Without hesitation, Todd nodded repeatedly, and although he was impatient inside, he still respected Song Wanting's professionalism and said seriously after she had finished, "Yes ma'am, I understand what you mean, and I will not participate in any other bidding for the Spring Return Pill next."

"Good." Song Wanting smiled faintly and spoke, "Then we will ask our staff to feed you the medicine next."

With that, the staff member beside him picked up the Spring Return Pill and put it into Todd's mouth as everyone watched.

The staff member made sure that everyone could see the rejuvenating elixir in his hand at all times throughout, in case anyone was wondering if it could be switched.

As the elixir was placed in Todd's mouth, all Todd felt was a warm current reaching his throat and then he no longer felt any sensation.

This is because people with paraplegia are devoid of any nerve perception from the neck onwards and all the way down.

However, after a few seconds, Todd could feel his body sending a long-lost sense of warmth to his brain.

The feeling was like being in a hot spring in winter or being exposed to the warmth of the sun, it was very comfortable.

This was because the medicinal effects of the rejuvenating elixir had begun to repair Todd's damaged spinal cord, allowing his already disconnected nervous system to be repaired, so he could feel the warmth brought to his body by the rejuvenating elixir.

Having been a paraplegic for two years, Todd knew exactly what it was like to have his entire body feel like a black hole, with no sensation of his own, so when he suddenly felt the warmth coming from his body, he shouted excitedly, "I can feel it! I can feel it! I can feel the warmth coming from my body!"

His sudden shout instantly left everyone in awe.

All those present were wealthy and not poorly educated, so as soon as they heard him utter the words, they knew what they meant.

The biggest problem with paraplegia is that the brain is disconnected from the body's nerves, which is why it loses control as well as the ability to sense.

Chapter 3923

Now Todd had only taken the rejuvenating elixir for a few seconds and could immediately feel the warmth in his body, proving that within a few seconds the rejuvenating elixir had made a decisive difference where it mattered most.

Todd wasn't happy for long, but immediately afterwards, there was an intense pain that came from everywhere in his body.

His entire body screamed out in pain, startling the others.

The pain was felt all over his body, but especially in his limbs.

This was because his muscles had been atrophied for too long. This kind of muscle atrophy was originally very painful, but unfortunately, muscle atrophy is usually caused by paralysis, and the patient loses the nerve perception of the atrophied area, so he or she cannot experience the pain sensation transmitted by the nervous system after the muscle atrophy.

However, now that the Spring Return Elixir was rapidly repairing Todd's body, his nervous system was the first to be repaired, so the pain was instantly transmitted to his brain, killing him.

Todd himself didn't know what was causing the pain.

After all, his primary care doctor had never told him that muscle atrophy could cause him pain.

In fact, it was impossible for a doctor to say such a thing, because to a doctor, such a thing would be as disrespectful to a disabled person as telling a blind man that the sun outside would make him feel blindingly bright.

So, at this moment Todd thought that his pain was because something was wrong with the rejuvenating elixir.

So he subconsciously reached up and lifted his sleeves as well as his trouser legs all the way up to see why his limbs were causing such intense and severe pain.

This look did not matter, and allowed all the spectators in the audience to see his limbs, which were as thin as wood.

His limbs, which had become completely skinned and bony, were like four thin wooden sticks, with very disproportionate proportions.

The skin was also almost devoid of vitality, like that of a dying old man, not only a sickly dark brown colour, but also full of folds and chaffing, which was particularly shocking to the eyes.

But who would have thought that at that very moment, the skin of his limbs would rapidly begin to recover, the tightly wrinkled and cracked skin would begin to stretch out, and his skin tone would begin to become lighter and lighter at a rate visible to the naked eye.

Soon, although his limbs were still slim, the condition of his skin had improved tremendously, becoming white and tender, a day's worth of skin compared to what he had just seen.

As the atrophied muscles and skin were greatly relieved, Todd's pain began to fade until it was gone.

And as the pain disappeared, it was replaced by a sense of relief like no other.

Immediately afterwards, Todd also felt his strength in his limbs begin to return.

He couldn't help but brace his hands on the sides of his chair and with a violent push of his legs, he stood up on the spot!

At this moment, over four hundred people in the audience were shocked!

The whole venue was filled with shouts of shock and clamour.

Immediately afterwards, there was a lot of chatter like an explosion.

It was understandable that the Spring Return Pill could cure Parkinson's, perhaps this medicine could repair the human nervous system, after all, the cause of Parkinson's was the degeneration of the nervous system.

Based on this, the ability to cure paraplegia is also within the realm of understandable.

After all, it and Parkinson's are both neurological problems.

Only Parkinson's is a natural degeneration of the nervous system, whereas paraplegia is generally due to external damage to the nervous system.

But what was incomprehensible to everyone was how it had made Todd's deadwood-like limbs spring back to life in the blink of an eye!

Chapter 3924

Fei Jianzhong, who was sitting in the second row, saw with his own eyes Todd's shrivelled and dried up limbs, which had regained their vitality in an instant. While he was extremely shocked, he could not help but ask Yuan Zixu beside him in a low voice, "Master Yuan, you have seen a lot, have you ever heard of such a divine medicine in this world?"

Yuan Zixu shook his head with a trance-like expression, and at this moment, deep inside his heart, he had also turned over.

He was a martial artist, and his knowledge of this world was another level deeper compared to ordinary people, but even so, he had never seen such a miraculous elixir.

He then sighed, "I'm not going to lie to you Elder Fei, I've never seen such a miraculous pill in all my life this kind of divine ability to turn decay into magic has far exceeded my perception."

Fei Jianzhong smiled sarcastically and said seriously, "To be honest, this situation reminds me, when Ke Xin was small, I accompanied her to watch the domestic 86th edition of Journey to the West, and saw the episode where the Monkey King pushed down the man ginseng fruit tree after the Bodhisattva Guanyin rushed to save it"

Yuan Zixu nodded and sighed, "Although I had never seen that version of Journey to the West, I had read the original Journey to the West three times before I was fifteen, and I knew that episode by heart."

After saying this, Yuan Zixu said with a look of total longing, "Elder Fei, this Spring Return Pill has this effect of turning decay into magic, even if it is compared to the immortal medicine in the mythological stories, I am afraid it will not be inferior."

Fei Jianzhong asked curiously, "Why do you think this medicine is so miraculous? What exactly is the principle of it?"

Yuan Zixu pondered for a moment and said seriously, "Master once talked to me about it, saying that above the internal energy of the martial arts, there are two more powerful existences, one of which is True Qi, which is a type of internal energy that only experts above the Dark Realm have the chance to master, and above True Qi, there is also Spiritual Qi!"

After saying that, he said with a serious expression, "I feel that this Spring Return Pill, should be somewhat related to Spiritual Qi, even if it does not contain Spiritual Qi, it is at least refined with Spiritual Qi, otherwise it could never have such an effect!"

Fei Jianzhong asked in confusion, "Master Yuan, why do you conclude that it is related to spiritual qi and not true qi?"

Yuan Zixu explained, "True qi and internal force are only different in strength, just like an ant and an elephant, although the difference in strength is great, there is no difference in essence, this kind of strength is so great that it can destroy everything, but it can never bring back spring."

Speaking of this, Yuan Zixu continued, "However, aura is completely different, according to my master, aura is the most original energy of all growth, only this kind of energy can turn decay into magic, those who can master this kind of energy, their realm has completely jumped out of the realm of martial dao"

Fei Jianzhong was slightly stunned and subconsciously asked, "If it's really as you say, then wouldn't the person behind this Spring Return Pill be a legendary immortal cultivator?"

Yuan Zixu shook his head, "I can't be sure about this, after all, my master said that in recent centuries, there seems to be no record of aura, so this Spring Return Pill could have been made by a person of divine power who possessed aura hundreds of years ago, and it just coincidentally passed into someone's hands and was then put up for auction again."

Fei Jianzhong asked him, "Master Yuan, what if this Spring Return Pill was made by someone who has now mastered the aura?"

Yuan Zixu was stunned for a moment and spoke, "Although I can't rule out this possibility, I still don't quite believe it, as my master said, the cultivation of aura has actually been lost for a long time, it is unlikely that it suddenly appeared in Jinling at this time, so I am more convinced that this Spring Return Pill was made by someone before me."

Fei Jianzhong's expression was grave as he said, "Master Yuan, if it was just the Spring Return Pill, I could still agree with you, but have you ever thought about the fact that Jia Cheng disappeared from Jinling?"

Yuan Zixu's expression was suddenly astonished, and he frowned thoughtfully.

Chapter 3925

At this moment, Todd, after standing in silence for a long time, suddenly turned around and looked at Song Wanting, saying gratefully, "Miss Song, thank you and your Jiqing Hall for giving me a new lease of life!"

After saying this, he bowed deeply to Song Wanting and when he looked up, he was already in tears.

Song Wanting said seriously, "No. 027, you don't need to thank me or Jiqing Hall, what really gave you a new lease of life was the Spring Return Pill."

Todd said gratefully, "Yes! I can get back on my feet, all thanks to the Spring Return Pill"

Song Wanting smiled slightly and spoke, "Alright 027, please go back to your seat, our auction will continue."

Todd hurriedly nodded and wiped his tears while striding off the stage.

Everyone watched with their own eyes as Todd walked lightly back to his seat, each one feeling like a lifetime ago.

The man had just been carried up, his body paralysed except for his mouth and eyes above his neck.

But in the blink of an eye, this man walked down from the stage by himself, and this huge contrast between before and after was just too impactful.

At this point, more people began to regret in their hearts, regretting that they hadn't put in all their efforts to fight for the second Spring Return Pill.

Song Wanting on the stage, on the other hand, smiled faintly and said, "Tonight, more than half of the four Spring Return Pills have been sold, and there are still two split Spring Return Pills to come, as well as a whole Spring Return Pill, so if you miss this one, you may have to wait at least a year for the next one, so please, for those bidders who are sitting here and have not yet won a Spring Return Pill, grab the last three chances.”

As soon as these words were spoken, those who had their eyes on the Spring Return Pill became even more anxious inside, especially those who knew that they were not qualified to compete for the last whole Spring Return Pill, and they all knew very well in their hearts at this moment that they only had two real chances left!

Immediately afterwards, Song Wanting added, “The next lot is rather special, it did not appear on our auction materials as well as the catalogue before, it is a good item that we have deliberately kept secret and have only brought out for you to share until now.”

With that, she asked the staff to bring the lot up.

Once again, the staff brought a silver tray onto the stage, only that the silver tray contained four thumb-sized, colourful shell items.

Song Wanting then spoke up and said, “These four amulets are made of the finest giant clams and are made by the hand of a feng shui master in Jinling, and have the ability to ward off evil spirits and disasters.

Before Song Wanting finished her sentence, a group of people below snorted.

It was fine to start the bidding at US$100 million for the Spring Return Pill, but how dare you ask for US$10 million for a broken amulet? What’s the difference between this and robbing money?

Even if the amulet was made by the best Feng Shui masters, in their eyes, it was not worth that much money.

However, no one expected that Lai Qing Hua and Ye Zhong Quan, who were invited as VIPs, would raise their hands in unison and simultaneously say, “I bid 10 million!”

The crowd could not help but be dumbfounded.

Many of the Chinese here had heard of Lai Qing Hua’s reputation and knew that he was a true feng shui master, but they did not expect that Lai Qing Hua would bid for a talisman made by another unknown feng shui master, which was a bit outrageous, right?

And Ye Zhongquan, the head of the Ye family, who had not bid at all for half a day, suddenly bid for the amulet at this time, which also seemed a bit incomprehensible.

However, both Lai Qing Hua and Ye Zhong Quan knew very well that the amulet was made by Ye Chen himself, so there must be something special about it!

Moreover, the starting price was only US$10 million, so it was a good price.

Chapter 3926

The fact that both Lai Qing Hua and Ye Zhong Quan called for bids at the same time immediately aroused the interest of others in the scene in this amulet.

At this time, Ye Zhongquan did not expect that Lai Qinghua was also interested in this amulet, so he smiled and made an inviting gesture, saying politely, "Mr. Lai, the first one will go to you first, I will not compete with you."

Lai Qing Hua arched his hand and smiled, "Thank you, Master Ye, for putting up with the pain, in that case, I will take this one first, and for the next one, I will not compete with Master Ye either."

Ye Zhongquan laughed and nodded, "Very good, very good, Mr. Lai please go first!"

Lai Qing Hua then raised his hand and said, "I bid 20 million!"

Song Wanting said, "Mr. Lai, the price of the amulet will be increased by one million dollars each time, you don't have to ask so much."

Lai Qinghua waved his hand, "It's not a hindrance."

Song Wanting had to nod her head and said seriously, "The first amulet, the distinguished guest Mr. Lai bid twenty million dollars, is there anything higher than this price?"

Although the crowd at the scene was interested in the amulet, most of them knew Lai Qing Hua's status and had quite a lot of respect for him, so no one bid against him for a while.

However, although everyone did not bid, they were still secretly wondering in their hearts what was so powerful about this amulet that could make even Old Mr. Lai go out of his way to bid US$20 million to compete.

Fei Jianzhong also muttered in a low voice, "Elder Brother Lai and that Ye family head, who have been sitting here for so long without bidding, why are they suddenly interested in this amulet?"

After saying this, he asked Yuan Zixu, who was beside him, "Master Yuan, do you see anything special about this amulet?"

After staring at the screen for half a day, Yuan Zixu said seriously, "Master Fei, these four amulets are indeed made of the finest giant clams, which are not often seen these days.

But even so, it shouldn't be so expensive, after all, this amulet is only a small piece of giant clams, and I don't know the strength of the feng shui master who made it, so there's no way to deduce how effective this amulet really is."

Fei Jianzhong nodded and spoke, "Although I don't know exactly how effective this thing is, but since he can interest Elder Brother Lai, it must be extraordinary."

Having said that, he made up his mind and said, "I'll compete for the next one too!"

Yuan Zixu hurriedly said, "Elder Fei, don't bid on the next one for now. I think the Ye family head is interested in the next one, so we might as well let him bid first. "

Fei Jianzhong nodded gently and said, "Then let's shoot the third one."

At this point in the field, there was no one else bidding against Lai Qinghua, so Song Wanting then simply dropped the hammer after three enquiries.

Lai Qinghua was in an extraordinarily happy mood when he won the amulet, he knew that he was not capable of competing for the Spring Return Pill, so he had also looked past it a long time ago, but being able to harvest an amulet made by Ye Chen himself was also a very rare and great thing for him.

According to the rules of the auction, all products other than the Spring Return Pill would not be delivered to the bidders until after the auction was over, so Song Wanting started the auction for the second amulet straight away.

This time, Ye Zhongquan naturally did not hesitate to raise his hand and bid US$10 million right out of the gate.

Interestingly, all the other participants in the auction knew that the Ye family was one of the organisers of the auction and no one wanted to leave a bad impression on the Ye family because of such a small matter.

So, Ye Zhongquan easily won the second amulet as well.

When the third amulet came next, the number of bidders increased at once.

Chapter 3927

The price started at US$10 million and quickly rose to US$87 million.

At this point, Fei Jianzhong raised his hand in a cloudy manner and said, "I bid two hundred million dollars."

The offer of US$200 million was tantamount to doubling and rounding up the previous offer.

This price instantly scared off many people who were planning to compete.

The Amulet was different from the Spring Return Pill after all. Everyone had witnessed the efficacy of the Spring Return Pill with their own eyes, but the Amulet, no one knew how powerful it really was.

Such an amulet fetched a price of US$200 million, which could definitely be considered the most expensive amulet in this world.

No one was willing to pay a higher price than US$200 million, so the third amulet was successfully auctioned off by Fei Jianzhong.

When it came to the fourth amulet, some interested bidders quickly pushed the price to US$150 million, but at this stage of the bidding, perhaps because they felt that the amulet was really not worth that much money, many people had already withdrawn from the competition.

At this moment, someone in the crowd suddenly raised his hand and spoke indifferently, "I bid 300 million."

The person who spoke was the middle-aged man who was quite similar to the middle-aged Zheng Shaoqiu, and was even a bit stronger than him in terms of image and temperament.

Fei Jianzhong only felt that this voice was somewhat familiar and subconsciously looked at it.

At that moment, the middle-aged man's offer of US$300 million also managed to scare off the others.

Although everyone in the room was quite rich, it was still difficult to accept US$300 million for an amulet of unknown effect.

So, there was a moment of silence.

Song Wanting spoke up, "The last amulet, No. 99 has bid US$300 million, are there any bids higher than this one?"

There was still no answer from the floor.

After calling for three bids, Song Wanting announced, "Congratulations to bidder number 99, who has won the last amulet of the night at a price of US$300 million."

At this moment, Ye Chen in the surveillance room was staring at the middle-aged man in the surveillance video who had just auctioned off the amulet for US$300 million.

At a certain moment, Ye Chen always felt that he had a sense of déjà vu with this person.

However, if he really had to say where he had seen him before, he could not tell for a while.

So, he instructed Chen Zekai, "Old Chen, find out for me what this number 99's name is and where he came from."

Chen Zekai immediately took out the roster and flipped through it for a moment, and spoke, "Young master, number 99's name is Huo Yuanzheng, a native of Vancouver, Canada."

Ye Chen nodded gently, from his memory, he did not know any Canadians, the only two he knew and had a relationship with were Auntie Li and Li Xiaofen who had gone to Canada some time ago.

As for why this Huo Yuanzheng looked familiar, Ye Chen thought that either he had misremembered, or this Huo Yuanzheng was hiding his identity like Fei Kexin.

If it was a hidden identity, it would be difficult for Ye Chen to investigate the other party's true identity within a short period of time, as each of these tycoons had multiple identities, each with different names and nationalities, but without exception, all of them were verifiable true identities.

He does feel, however, that the former is more likely and should be more

Chapter 3928

At this time, Song Wanting, who was at the auction, announced aloud, "The next lot that will take to the stage is the third Spring Return Pill of the night! There are not many chances for the Spring Return Pill, so please make sure you all make good use of it and don't leave yourself with any regrets."

Hearing these words, the spirits of everyone in the audience were once again lifted.

It was because Todd had just taken the second serving of the Spring Return Pill, allowing the crowd to see with their own eyes the even more miraculous side of the Spring Return Pill.

Many people had already started to shake their fists at this moment, deciding that they would take the third Spring Return Pill regardless of the cost.

The staff once again brought up a copy of the Spring Return Pill on a silver tray, while Song Wanting smiled and said, "The starting price for the third Spring Return Pill remains unchanged at US$100 million, with each bid being increased by 10 million.

As soon as the words were spoken, someone immediately shouted, "Five billion!"

As soon as that person's words fell, someone else spoke up, "What time is it, still 5 billion, I'll bid 10!"

Everyone knew that it was impossible to sell the third Spring Return Pill for less than ten billion, and it was not surprising that the bid was ten billion in two bids.

So, although the bidding for the third Spring Return Pill started at US$100 million, before ten seconds had passed, it had already been pushed to US$10 billion.

The bid of US$10 billion was placed by the same tycoon who had wanted to let Todd off the hook first so that he could pick up a bargain on the third Elixir.

He had originally thought that he would be able to take this Spring Rejuvenation Pill for himself at almost US$9 billion, but who would have thought that there were quite a few people who were so impressed by the changes in Todd after taking the Spring Rejuvenation Pill that those who had withdrawn from the competition early in the previous round were almost all clenching their teeth in this round.

So, when that tycoon quoted a price of US$10 billion, someone immediately added another US$100 million to his offer.

Immediately afterwards, the price continued to go up.

It was soon pushed to a new high of US$12 billion by several other bidders.

The tycoon was already regretting the price, but there was nothing he could do about it. If he didn't put up a fight, he was afraid that there would be more variables when he reached the fourth copy of the Spring Return Pill.

So, he gritted his teeth, raised his hand and said in a trembling voice, "I bid 13 billion!"

As soon as the words left his mouth, someone else immediately raised their hand, "13.5 billion!"

No one had expected that when the price reached 13.5 billion, there would still be many people unwilling to give up.

So, the price went higher and higher as the crowd kept bidding.

Fourteen billion, fifteen billion, sixteen billion

The price was so strong that it broke through the billion-dollar barrier one after another, and without even stopping, it went straight through the 18.7 billion mark.

As the price continued to rise, one after another, people fell out of line.

It was not that they did not want to get the Spring Return Pill, but the price was too high, so high that it was beyond their affordability.

Even if some people were willing to pay that much money, they could not immediately come up with US$10 or 20 billion in cash tonight.

For that much money, they would have to sell at least some of their assets, or even pledge or reduce some of their shares, in order to come up with it.

So many people gave up bidding with tears streaming down their faces, while regretting in their hearts that they had not insisted on bidding for the first US$2 billion and the second US$10 billion, and had missed the opportunity to own the Spring Return Pill, and now they could only watch the opportunity slip away from their eyes.

Even the tycoon who thought he could take the Pill for nine billion dollars cried out in pain and gave up bidding for no other reason than he had no money or because the current price was beyond his ability to pay.

In the end, the elixir was sold to a Jewish businessman in his seventies for eighteen and a half billion dollars.

The Jewish businessman had been suffering from diabetes, hypertension and coronary heart disease, among other chronic illnesses, and his health was declining.

Chapter 3929

And some time ago, his doctors detected that his blood creatinine index was high, and they diagnosed that his kidneys had also begun to fail irreversibly.

Coupled with other medical conditions, the doctors speculate that he will enter the end stage of kidney disease in a few years' time.

At that point, he would have to rely on long-term dialysis to stay alive or hope for a kidney transplant.

With so many chronic illnesses plaguing him, coupled with his already very poor health, the doctors estimate that his life expectancy will hardly exceed ten years.

Although he is only seventy years old this year, he already looks so old that he doesn't look half as old as he is, and there are many who would believe him if they said he was 85 or even 90 years old.

Once he had successfully auctioned off the rejuvenation pill, he slowly walked onto the stage, supported by his own son.

On the stage, after praying reverently, he gratefully took the rejuvenating elixir that the staff fed into his mouth.

This time, the whole audience witnessed the turning back of time.

The old man, who was so old, became much younger and his body, which had been hunched over, gradually straightened up at a speed visible to the naked eye.

The Jewish tycoon, himself, did not know how much the chronic illness in his body had improved at this moment, but he could feel that the state of his entire body was improving at an extremely fast pace, soon making him feel much lighter all over.

If not ten years younger, he had at least regained the state he was in five years ago.

This made him so excited that he knelt on the ground alone, looking up at the top of his head, and chanting some kind of religious ritual.

At this moment, the surveillance room.

Seeing this old man kneeling on the ground, his mouth constantly breaking into pieces, Richard Chen could not help but spit out a sentence, "Obviously it was the Spring Return Pill that helped him, but he turned his head and wanted to thank God."

Ye Chen smiled slightly and said, "From a materialistic point of view, it was indeed the Spring Return Pill that helped him, but if we look at it from a materialistic point of view, he might think that it was God who entrusted my hand to bring the Spring Return Pill to him, this kind of situation is not uncommon in China, ah, doctors have a hard time saving their patients, but as a result, the first thing the patients do when they are discharged from the hospital is to go to the temple to offer incense and thank the gods and goddesses for saving his A life, in fact, their mode of thinking is similar, and there is no need for us to judge others."

Chen Zekai nodded and said seriously, "You are right, young master."

Ye Chen couldn't help but smack his lips at this time and spoke, "Aiya, the situation is a bit beyond my expectations, a quarter of the Spring Return Pills have already been bid up to 18.5 billion, so it seems that the whole Spring Return Pills for the final finale should not be a big problem to break 100 billion."

Speaking of this, Ye Chen could not help but think in his heart, "According to the analysis of Elder Lai's trigrams, the odds are that Fei Jianzhong will not be able to bid for the Spring Return Pill, which means that there must still be a certain big shot hidden in today's auction who is more powerful than Fei Jianzhong and can overpower him."

"Otherwise, Fei Jianzhong, with a price tag of nearly US$1 trillion, would have been able to take the Spring Return Pill at today's auction."

"Who could that big shot be? Of all the registrants, it simply doesn't look like there is such a powerful presence, after all, even Fei Jianzhong himself has only declared a*sets of US$100 billion."

"As for that Bernard Elnor, who I forced to allocate two billion RMB, although on paper, he looks like the person with the highest value in this auction, there is no way he could be Fei Jianzhong's opponent."

At this thought, Ye Chen again stared at that Huo Yuanzheng in No. 99 for a long time through the surveillance camera and said in his heart, "Could it be that the big man hiding in the shadows is him?"

Chapter 3930

After a few more auctions of ordinary collectibles, the auction was nearing its end.

As the auction for the fourth Spring Return Pill was about to begin, Ye Chen said to Song Wanting on the auction stage through the intercom system, "Wanting, before the fourth Spring Return Pill begins, make sure to make a friendly reminder that if there is anyone who is still waiting to bid for the last Spring Return Pill, but whose financial strength is slightly risky, advise them to play it safe and get the fourth Spring Return Pill first, otherwise otherwise, it's likely that the bamboo basket will be empty."

Song Wanting understood the situation and immediately said, "Next, is the last of the four Spring Return Pills tonight, I believe that the miraculous effects of the three Spring Return Pills just now are obvious to everyone, and I also believe that there must be many people here who regret missing out on the first three Spring Return Pills. of the opportunity."

In addition to this, I would like to give a friendly reminder to those bidders who are interested in the last Elixir of Spring, the competition for the last Elixir of Spring will be very fierce. grasp the opportunity to get the last copy of the Spring Return Pill, otherwise, it is likely that the bamboo basket will be empty."

Song Wanting's words caused a few of the stronger buyers present to have somewhat difficult expressions.

They had made up their minds after seeing the effect of the first copy of the Spring Return Pill that they would find a way to bid for that last whole one no matter what.

But how could they have imagined that the first copy of the Spring Restoration Pill had fetched two billion, but the second copy, in one fell swoop, had doubled five times!

By the third portion, the price had already reached 18.5 billion.

If this price was converted, the price of that last whole Spring Return Pill would be 18.5 billion times four, which would be 74 billion.

If it really came to that price, then most of them would actually have no chance of competing for the last Spring Return Pill.

So, Song Wanting was right, if they didn't put in the effort to compete for this last copy, then they would have no chance at all.

This also caused many people to secretly curse the organisers of the Spring Return Pill in their hearts.

This was because, in their opinion, the rules of the Spring Return Pill auction were simply too f*cked up.

Firstly, it had to be auctioned on the spot, taken on the spot and not taken away, which cut off the possibility of them selling it for a higher price, or splitting it up for sale or crowdfunding.

Otherwise, it might be more cost effective for four wealthy people to put their money together, bid for the last elixir and then split it up into four parts than to keep fighting.

What's even more f*cked up is that whether you bid for a quarter of a Spring Return Pill, or a whole Spring Return Pill, you only have one chance of success.

If you want to bid for a quarter of a pill and then compete for the last one, that's also a fool's errand, the rules simply won't give you that chance.

So, they had to make a choice and a decision now, either to throw their weight around and wait for the last one, or to try to compete for the last one first, so that if they succeeded, they would at least have a copy of the Spring Return Pill in their pockets and not end up empty-handed.

As a result, many tycoons who had not wanted to participate in the bidding for the fourth Spring Return Pill joined in at once.

This made the bidding for the fourth Spring Return Pill even more intense.

The reason why Ye Chen had asked Song Wanting to remind the crowd was that he did not want the fourth copy of the Spring Return Pill to be sold at a lower price than the previous one.

After all, during the last auction, the bids of the bidders had basically reached the extreme, and if those who were aiming for the last one were not diverted, the sale price of the fourth Spring Return Pill would definitely be lower compared to the last one.

However, after the successful diversion, the price of the fourth copy of the Elixir immediately soared.

The price of the previous copy of US$18.5 billion was quickly surpassed and rocketed upwards to surpass the US$20 billion mark.

At this point, there were only three people who had not bid up to this point.

These were Fei Jianzhong, Huo Yuanzheng and Bernard Aylneau, the king of distribution.

At this moment, there was only one thing on the minds of these three people, and that was to bid for the last Spring Return Pill at all costs.

Soon, the price of the fourth Elixir went all the way up, surpassing the US$20 billion mark.