

Ye Chen 5021

Chapter 5021

Seeing this, Hamid nodded and said, "Good, since you are in a hurry, then old brother will not delay you, you go ahead and get busy, next time we will get together again."

With that, he pointed to the overalls he was wearing and said, "I'm going to change, and I'll go back first after that."

"Okay." Ye Chen nodded, shook hands with him again and said, "I won't see you off then!"

Hamid said very dryly, "Okay, okay, old brother, you go ahead and get busy, don't mind me."

The two of them waved goodbye, and Ye Chen then walked into the main building in the core area of the base, together with Wan Breaking Army.

When they walked into the building, Ye Chen said to Wan Bajun, "Bajun, arrange a meeting room with the highest level of secrecy, and call Inspector Li, Five Four Seven, and the seven primus guards you brought back, and bring them here as well."

"Yes Mr. Ye!" Wan Bajun immediately took Ye Chen into a windowless meeting room, and then had someone invite Li Yalin and Five-Four-Seven over first.

Li Yalin did not expect Ye Chen to come to Syria and asked with some surprise, "Young Master Ye, why have you come here personally?"

Ye Chen smiled faintly and said, "Inspector Li, I just came from Northern Europe and got a few more members of the mysterious organisation to come over, this time there are more people and they are not dead soldiers, they are one level higher than dead soldiers."

"Not dead soldiers?" Li Yalin asked in surprise, "What level is that? What is it responsible for in the organisation?"

Ye Chen explained, "Their internal name is Primus Guard, specifically responsible for watching over the dead soldiers."

The five-four-seven sitting in the wheelchair said in astonishment after hearing this, "Primus Guards? Is it the Primus Guard that is responsible for watching over us?"

Ye Chen shook his head and said, "According to Inspector Li's analysis, your garrison should be near Sri Lanka, but these Primus Guards are based in Cyprus, a distance of several thousand kilometres, and separated by the Persian Gulf and the entire Middle East."

"Cyprus?!" After hearing this, Li Yalin exclaimed, "Young Master Ye, Cyprus is just west of Syria, ah, the nearest coastline to Syria is not even two hundred kilometres away."

"Right." Ye Chen nodded and said, "They are based in a copper mine located in the coastal area of Cyprus, it is said that there is also a copper refinery located in Turkey, the ore produced by the copper mine is basically exported to the copper refinery in Turkey, a closed loop is formed internally, so it is more difficult for the outside world to pry into the secrets."

Wan Bajun said with some excitement, "Mr. Ye, since we are so close, why don't we make a good plan and have all the troops of the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple work together to eradicate this residence of theirs!"

Ever since he had been spared by Ye Chen at Ye Ling Mountain, and was able to save his parents' bones, and even his own cultivation had been blessed by the disaster, Wan Bajun had been eager to build up his achievements for Ye Chen.

He was a man who did not have too many twists and turns in his stomach.

Chapter 5022

If he owed someone a favour, he would think of returning it to them.

If he owed someone a favour, he would also think of repaying it.

Originally, he thought that since Ye Chen had given himself a wide berth and had integrated the entire Ten Thousand Dragons Hall, he would definitely squeeze as much value out of it as possible, even making the entire Ten Thousand Dragons Hall have to work for him.

However, he had never dreamed that after Ye Chen had incorporated the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall, not only did he rarely make the members of the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall risk their lives for him, but he even continued to channel all kinds of resources and help to the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall.

Moreover, his gestures were only so large that they completely surpassed Wan Bajun's imagination.

Other than that, this base in front of him alone was the biggest dream of Wan Bajun for many years.

However, although he had been in the war-torn country for many years, he had never found a chance to get the local officials to allow the Ten Thousand Dragon Hall to station in its territory.

But Ye Chen did it with ease.

In addition to this, Ye Chen also helped to open up armed escort and armed security, two clean businesses that were highly profitable, low risk and completely legal.

Not only that, Ye Chen also continued to provide financial support to the Ten Thousand Dragon Palace, and on the current scale alone, in the next ten to twenty years, the Ten Thousand Dragon Palace would not be able to spend it all while lying down.

Therefore, during this period of time, Wan Bajun's desire to build up his success for Ye Chen became even more urgent.

He originally thought that the debt of gratitude he and the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall owed Ye Chen was already immeasurable, but who would have thought that the cup of celebratory wine Ye Chen poured for each of them in Mexico would lead to a qualitative increase in everyone's cultivation!

Ever since he came back from Mexico, Wan Bajun had been dreaming of fighting for Ye Chen and killing the enemy in front of the battlefield.

Therefore, after hearing Ye Chen say that he had the exact address of the Mysterious Organization's compound, he couldn't wait to pull it down for Ye Chen!

But Ye Chen waved his hand and said seriously: "A copper mine with hundreds of primus guards is already very strong in its own defence, not to mention the intricate underground fortifications, so if we venture in, we will definitely be caught in a trap. And there are thousands of dead soldiers inside, as well as thousands of relatives of the dead soldiers, those dead soldiers are also a great hidden danger without their knowledge."

The five-four-seven on the other side also nodded and said, "Mr. Ye is right, the dead soldiers and their families have to take the organisation's antidote regularly, so even though they have hated the organisation to their bones for generations, once the organisation is in trouble, they will still subconsciously go up to fight for their lives;"

Chapter 5023

The organization will only give us the antidote if we fight for the organization, otherwise, once the organization finds out that we are not loyal enough, they will kill our loved ones first and let us see our loved ones being killed with our own eyes before publicly executing us as a punishment;"

"Moreover, because the poison is certain to die without an antidote, we dead soldiers are also not afraid to fight for our lives at all; not fighting for our lives is certain to die, and our loved ones are also certain to die, only if we fight for our lives will we have a chance to survive, and even if we die fighting, our families will be treated well."

"Therefore, if Hall Master Wan intends to attack this garrison, these dead soldiers will definitely fight to the death at the first opportunity."

Only when Wan Breaking Jun heard this did he realise how impulsive he had just been.

Embarrassed, he said to Ye Chen very apologetically, "Sorry Mr. Ye, it was my subordinate who was ill-considered and made a fool of himself, so please forgive me!"

Ye Chen said indifferently, "Those who do not know are not guilty, you were not present when Five-Four-Seven told me this, so it is understandable that you do not know the actual situation of these dead soldiers of theirs."

Saying that, he added, "Bring those seven primus guards here, so that they can give us a good introduction to the situation in the garrison."

"My subordinates obey!"

Soon, the seven primus guards were brought in.

These seven men had been apprehensive from the time they arrived until now, because they knew deep down that the poison in their bodies would take effect in six days, and if they could not get an antidote within those six days, the seven of them would surely die.

However, Ye Chen had promised to cure the poison in their bodies, but before they could see him again, Wan Bajun had brought them to Syria, so they were even more uneasy in their hearts.

It was not until the moment they walked into this meeting room and saw Ye Chen that the seven finally saw their saviour.

The man at the head of the room, upon seeing Ye Chen, said excitedly, "Sir, you are ..... You are also here!"

Ye Chen nodded slightly, pointed to the row of empty seats in front of him, and smiled, "You guys sit down first, there are some situations that I need to understand more deeply with you."

"No problem!" The man hastily agreed, but his expression was still a little uneasy.

He was afraid that Ye Chen had no intention of relieving them of the poison at all, but would first squeeze all the information they knew out of them within these few days, and then just leave them to their own devices.

Ye Chen could also see the worry and apprehension in their expressions, so he smiled faintly and walked up and patted their shoulders one by one before speaking, "Are you guys worried that I won't give you the antidote to the poison as promised?"

The seven men looked at each other, but none of them dared to answer.

The one in the lead plucked up the courage to nod, and only then did the other few dare to follow him and nod gently.

Ye Chen, however, smiled playfully and spoke, "It is normal to worry, but now there is no need to worry, the poison in your bodies has already been lifted!"

Chapter 5024

To these Primus Guards, the poison in their bodies was a shackle that imprisoned them for life and could never be broken.

But to Ye Chen, he only needed a little bit of spiritual energy to completely remove the poison from their bodies.

Therefore, when he had tapped them on the shoulder one by one just now, Ye Chen had already used his spiritual qi to remove the poison from their bodies one by one.

And at this moment, when the seven people heard Ye Chen say that the poison in their bodies had been resolved, they were first filled with astonishment, then they closed their eyes and felt carefully, and indeed the force that had previously gathered in their dantian had vanished!

The poison in their bodies was not an ordinary poisonous substance, but an energy that was not controlled by their bodies. This energy was like a time bomb in their bodies, counting down in a cycle of seven days, and once the seven days were up, this energy would completely destroy their meridians and internal organs.

The so-called antidote is not a cure for the toxin, but a single dose that will reset the seven-day countdown.

It was precisely because of this that they could clearly feel at this moment that the toxin in their bodies had completely disappeared.

This caused several people to be filled with horror for a moment, they really could not understand when the toxin that they could still feel just a moment ago had disappeared in this instant.

The leader's brain was relatively quick, he remembered that just now Ye Chen had tapped his shoulder again, so he subconsciously asked, "Could ..... Did you help us detoxify the poison with that tap on us just now?"

Ye Chen gently nodded his head.

The man's face was astonished as he asked, "There is no medicine at all to cure this kind of poison, you ..... How on earth did you manage to do that?!"

Ye Chen smiled, "The reason there is no medicine to cure it is that the poison left in your bodies is not really a toxin, it is just an energy that you cannot harness, and since you cannot harness it, you have to be harnessed by it."

The seven people's expressions were both shocked and happy, and at the same time, they had a little more respect for Ye Chen.

Although Ye Chen's words were few and far between, they signalled a hierarchical relationship.

They, the primus guards, were weaker than this energy in their bodies that had been controlling them, which in turn was weaker than Ye Chen's strength.

So, to them, Ye Chen was the strongest ceiling in all their perceptions at this stage.

The man at the head of the group stood up from his chair, took a step back and walked around the chair, knelt down on one knee towards Ye Chen, and said respectfully, "I thank you, sir, for saving my life!"

The other six, too, immediately rose, stepped back and knelt down without thinking, saying in unison, "Thank you, sir, for saving my life."

Ye Chen nodded slightly and said to several people, "Get up, sit down and talk together about what you know about the organisation, and see if you can still provide some valuable clues."

The man immediately nodded his head and said, "Don't worry, I will definitely know everything and say everything!"

Ye Chen looked at Li Yalin and spoke, "Inspector Li, do you have anything you want to ask?"

Without thinking, Li Yalin blurted out, "I have quite a few questions."

Ye Chen nodded, "Then you ask them."

"Good." Li Yalin immediately picked up his notepad, and during Ye Chen's conversation with a few people just now, he had already listed out the questions he wanted to know.

The first few questions were actually the ones Ye Chen had asked them before back in the Nordic Bergen.

Things like, their identities, intelligence, where the quarters were located and some specifics about the quarters.

These seven people naturally told all that they knew in one go.

Li Yalin listened carefully, and when they had finished introducing the basic information, he asked, "These Primus Guards of yours, what is the organisational structure in Cyprus?"

Chapter 5025

The man at the head of the group explained, "There are two hundred and seventy-one Primus Guards in total, divided into three banners: left, middle and right, each with ninety men, each banner is divided into three battalions, each with thirty men, each battalion is further divided into three squads, each with ten men, with a commander, below which are the banner commanders of the three banners, the battalion commanders of the nine battalions, and the captains of the twenty-seven squads, I am the battalion commander of the battalion of the middle banner."

Saying that, he continued to introduce himself, "Apart from that, further up there is a sectional amba*sador, and five close guards beside the sectional amba*sador, but they are the people of a different system, and their status is much higher than ours."

Li Yalin asked him, "What kind of official position is a knight-errant?"

The man replied, "A sectional amba*sador is the supreme commander of the entire garrison, in charge of the life and death of everyone in the garrison."

Li Yalin frowned and asked, "Sectional envoy, commanding officer, primus inter pares, all these functional titles of yours seem to be very old, what is the origin of them?"

The man explained, "They all originated from the Ming Dynasty's military system."

Li Yalin blurted out, "This organisation of yours has not continued from the Ming Dynasty to today, has it?"

The man said, "I'm not going to lie to you, the history of the dead soldiers who were manipulated and enslaved alone can be traced back at least three hundred years, so it's likely that the organisation was first created during the Ming Dynasty, but I'm just speculating, I'm not too sure about the details."

Li Yalin could not help but suck in a breath of cold air, then he settled down and asked again, "Then do you have any information on the identity of this sectional leader?"

"No." The man shook his head and said, "The structure within the residence is extremely strict, and although we primus guards have a somewhat higher status than the dead soldiers, we are still objects of slavery to the organisation, and we do whatever we are ordered to do every day, so we don't know the exact identity of the sect leader."

Li Yalin pursed his lips and asked again, "If we divide them according to strength, which group is the strongest, the sectarians, the sectarians' personal close guards, the primus inter pares, and the dead soldiers?"

The man thought for a moment and said, "We have never seen the sect leader and his personal close guards strike, but we are, in general, a little stronger than the dead soldiers, because we ourselves are the ones who stand out from the dead soldiers."

Li Yalin asked him, "Do you primus guards usually go on missions?"

The man replied, "The primus guards only carry out emergency missions."

Saying that, he further described, "For normal missions, there are usually dead soldiers to carry out, we will select the dead soldiers for the mission in advance, then make them deeply unconscious before setting off, then hand them over to the postman to transport them to the location of the mission, but this kind of preparation time before and after is rather long, and it is too late for unexpected events, so once there is an unexpected event, our Primus Guards will be in charge. "

Li Yalin asked again, "Then describe to me all the details of the mission you received this time."

The man thought for a moment and said in a clear voice: "We received the impromptu mission only a few hours before we set off. The section commander gave the commandant a picture profile of eight Nordic people, and the commandant selected seven of us based on the physical characteristics of the eight people in the picture, and after going through make-up at the copper mine, he led the team and took the plane to Bergen. "

Chapter 5026

Li Yalin felt a little tricky at once.

He said to Ye Chen, "Young Master Ye, this organisation is so structured, and the segregation of information between each layer is so well done, that even the Primus Guards, all the inside information they know is limited to that garrison of theirs, and some of the operations of the garrison to hide their eyes and ears, and almost nothing else is known, so looking at it, if we want to know deeper information, we will have to find that The festival amba*sador."

Ye Chen nodded and added, "The sectional amba*sador may not know much valuable information either."

Li Yalin suddenly remembered something and hurriedly asked Ye Chen, "Young Master Ye, you said just now that the severe poison in their bodies requires regular medication to delay the onset of the disease, right?"

Ye Chen nodded slightly, "That's right."

Li Yalin asked Five-Four-Seven again, "Five-Four-Seven, you dead soldiers who live near Sri Lanka also need to take medicine regularly, right?"

Five-Four-Seven nodded truthfully and said, "Yes Inspector Li."

Li Yalin then looked at the primus and asked him, "Where did the medicine that you have to take every week come from? Is there a large stockpile placed in the copper mine, or does someone come to deliver it every so often?"

The man was busy saying, "The medicine comes regularly, and it is all delivered by the cargo ships that travel between us and Turkey, and a great deal of the supplies we need are sent in through the channels of the cargo ships."

Li Yalin nodded and muttered, "In other words, if there was a way to cut off the supply of the antidote, then all the dead soldiers in the entire garrison, all the primus guards, would not survive more than seven days, right?"

The man's back went cold and he subconsciously said, "In theory, that's true, but you can't do that!"

Li Yalin looked at him and said indifferently, "I only raised this possibility."

After saying that, he looked at Ye Chen and said seriously, "Young Master Ye, if you want to solve this garrison, then cutting off the supply of the antidote is definitely a good way, and, once the supply of the antidote is successfully cut off, then you can enter a state of siege, just like a sniper on the battlefield, not killing the wounded, but using the wounded to attract the opponent's rescuers, and then one by one, you will those who come to their aid are taken out."

Hearing this, Wan Bajun could not help but say excitedly, "Surrounding the point and fighting for help! This is a great idea from Inspector Li!"

After saying that, he hurriedly said to Ye Chen, "Mr. Ye, if we use Inspector Li's method of surrounding the point and fighting for help while waiting for the seven-day deadline, then after seven days, I am afraid that this garrison will perish on its own."

Five-Four-Seven said fearfully, "Mr. Ye, think twice! Once this is done, several thousand dead soldiers and the families of the dead soldiers may die without a burial place!"

"Yes ....." The primus guard also said in a panic, "Most of the dead soldiers and primus guards are forced to work for the organization, if we really cut off their supply of antidote, none of them will survive, this ..... It would be ..... It's too cruel ....."

After saying that, he looked at Ye Chen and begged, "Sir, please, for the sake that we are all forced to do so, leave a way out for us and our loved ones and friends ....."

Ye Chen did not say anything, a man pondered for a moment before speaking, "Although the method of breaking the antidote works well, it is indeed not very humane, once it succeeds, several thousand lives will cease to exist."

Speaking here, Ye Chen suddenly looked at Five-Four-Seven and these Primus Guards and asked seriously, "If one day, you find that after you take the antidote given by the organisation, instead of the severe poison in your body being delayed in its onset, it is suddenly completely removed, what would be your reaction?"

Chapter 5027

Ye Chen's words left these seven primus guards, as well as the five-four-seven sitting on the other side, all dumbfounded!

They did not know why Ye Chen would suddenly ask such a question, but all eight of them, at this moment, had somewhat agitated expressions.

Five-Four-Seven was the first to speak, clenching his fists and saying sternly, "Mr. Ye, if it's really like you said, we dead soldiers will definitely organise to kill our way out of the siege! Even if we have to die, we will die in the sunlight!"

The man at the head of the primus guards also said subconsciously, "That's right Mr. Ye ..... If this really happens, the primus guards will definitely take the opportunity to fight to the death as well!"

Five-four-seven sighed, "For all dead soldiers, the shackles of the organization are mainly the poison in their bodies and their own families, once the trouble of the poison is solved, the dead soldiers will be able to use their strength to defend the safety of their loved ones to the death, and have the chance to lead their families to escape, this is the greatest dream of every dead soldier's ancestors for dozens of generations, once there is a chance, every dead soldier will do their utmost for this dream!"

The words of Five-Four-Seven were shared by several other Primus guards and they felt the same way.

Like these soldiers, they all longed for the day when they would be able to break away from the control of this mysterious organisation.

The main reason why they had never stood up to the organisation was because the poison in their bodies was simply too strong to fight.

It is not that they have not done so before, but whether they resist or escape, the maximum life span of each person who escapes is only seven days.

So, this kind of thing that had absolutely no chance of success, no one was willing to do it for a long time.

But if the kind of situation Ye Chen described really happened, where the severe poison in their bodies was suddenly and completely removed, they would also be like dead soldiers who would immediately stand up and resist to the end.

After seeing the attitude of several people, Ye Chen nodded in satisfaction and opened his mouth to ask, "Does the sectarian need to take the antidote regularly?"

"Not that I've heard of." The primus guard at the head of the group spoke, "The sect leader is mysterious and low-profile, so we have no way of knowing whether he has to take the antidote like us."

Night Chen asked, "Then how is the antidote distributed to you and all the dead soldiers each time it is delivered?"

The man explained, "Each time the antidote is delivered, the sectional governor personally interfaces with the postman responsible for delivering the antidote, which is wrapped in ten pieces of waterproof wax paper and sealed with a special fire paint and seal. personal guards, who would then personally distribute them for us primus inter pares."

Saying this, he continued, "When the antidotes are distributed, we will line up by the establishment, queue up to receive the antidotes, and after receiving them, we must take them immediately and not take them away quietly."

"After we have finished taking the antidote under the supervision of the personal guards of the festival amba*sador, we will also join them and distribute the antidote to the dead soldiers and their families, the overall process is basically the same, and the dead soldiers and their relatives must also finish taking the antidote under our supervision, so that the whole process of taking the antidote at one time is considered to have been completed."

At the side, Li Yalin could not help but ask, "I have a question for you, since you can only live for seven days without the antidote, why do they still supervise that you must take the antidote? Could there be anyone else who would deliberately not take the antidote they gave you?"

Chapter 5028

The man let out a bitter laugh and said, "Both we and the dead soldiers have actually always thought about resisting, although it means that we know we are not capable of fighting against the whole organisation, but we still have somehow gotten lucky. Therefore, it has happened before that several dead soldiers deliberately did not take the antidote, leaving the antidote for many people to one person, and then trying to help that person escape from the premises, hoping to asking for help from the outside world and revealing the inner workings of the entire organization in exchange for help from the outside world, but without exception, they all failed, but because of such things happening, the organization's requirement is that someone must supervise when taking the medicine."

Hearing this, Ye Chen said, "In other words, the antidote given to you is specially forged, but the exact means by which it is forged is known only to the sect leader, so after the antidote is delivered, he will dock it and authenticate it, and only after making sure there is no problem will it be distributed to the primus guards first, followed by the dead soldiers and their families. "

"Right." The man nodded and said, "The whole process is actually very strict."

Ye Chen asked again, "In your impression, what anti-counterfeiting features does the antidote have?"

"This brother ....." The man hesitated for a moment and spoke, "I can't be sure what anti-counterfeiting features all of them have, although each pill was opened in front of us and issued to us, but the fire paint used to seal the wax paper was reheated each time, as you know, once that kind of thing is heated, the original pattern printed on it doesn't exist, so I don't know what the fire paint looks like on the original pill seal, exactly what it looked like."

Ye Chen nodded gently and said, "In that case, it should be impossible to steal the medicine without revealing it, and then fool the sectional amba*sador. "

"Yes." The man said approvingly, "We don't even know exactly how many security seals will be on the medicine seal, and it's likely that there will be more than just one type of fire-painted seal, so with the slightest negligence, all the previous work will be lost."

Hearing this, Li Yalin could not help but say with a pitying face, "If we can really cure the poison in the bodies of these 1,000-odd dead soldiers and 200-odd primus guards, even if we don't take them for our own use, once they escape, it will be enough for this organization to drink, thousands of them escaping, they won't even be able to catch them, and they will definitely be in a mess by then."

Ye Chen could not help but laugh: "In fact, to the organization, even if all these thousand people run away, it will not have any effect, after all, this is only one of their multiple dead soldiers' quarters, even if the whole thing is uprooted, it will not hurt their bones, if one or two people run away, they will definitely chase after them desperately in order to keep this quarters, so that the secret will not be leaked, but once the whole quarters are all gone , this garrison would be of no value to them, a garrison that has no value, just give up, it's not much of a problem for them."

Saying that, Ye Chen added, "This is just like the US having so many military bases around the world, if any of them were really taken out in one fell swoop, to the US, apart from making the White House nervous and angry as well as fleshly, it wouldn't bring any real harm to the overall national power of the US."

Li Yalin was slightly stunned, then he nodded and said, "Young Master Ye is right, this organisation is so powerful beyond imagination that a mere garrison might not really mean anything."

Chapter 5029

Ye Chen smiled playfully and said casually, "Since there is no way to conceal it from the sectarian, then we should simply make him one of our own, in this way, we can truly achieve concealment in the true sense of the word!"

The primus at the head of the group asked in disbelief, "Mr Ye, how do you intend to realise this idea? A knight-errant is a frontier official in the organisation, and has the power of life and death over the entire garrison, so how can such a person become one of your own?"

Ye Chen smiled and said lightly, "You don't have to worry about that, as long as I meet him, I will be able to make him obey me."

Using aura to brainwash a person was a trick that Ye Chen had tried time and again.

If he could brainwash the sectional governor of Cyprus and make him his puppet, and then smoothly cure all the dead soldiers and primus inter pares of the poison in their bodies, he would be able to make these dead soldiers and primus inter pares join his banner, while at the same time, he would let them remain in the garrison of Cyprus, and continue to play everything normal for the organisation with the sectional governor who had become a puppet.

In this way, not only would he be able to dismantle one of their garrisons, but he would even be able to put an eye under their noses, so that once the organisation had a mission for Cyprus, he would be the first to know about it.

Thinking of this, Ye Chen asked them, "If the dead soldiers and primus guards, are really as eager to break this shackle as you say, I can give them this opportunity then, but only if they must swear their allegiance to me and swear to join the Ten Thousand Dragons Temple, if they agree to stay on the compound after the poison is removed and prepare for the complete defeat of the organisation, do you think they will agree? "

Without thinking, Five-Four-Seven said, "Don't worry Mr. Ye, I believe all the dead soldiers will not refuse!"

The primus at the head of the group, however, said with some concern, "Mr Ye, I'm not going to lie to you, within the ranks of the primus, there are already individuals who have developed the idea of continuing to move up the ranks, their hearts, they are very close to the organisation, and are bent on making merit for the organisation and subsequently being able to move up to the next level, if these people are not eliminated, I'm afraid that in the future, bad things will happen."

Ye Chen nodded and said blandly, "These are good to solve, when the time comes, only a slight trick will be needed to make these people come forward."

Saying that, he asked, "When is your next medicine delivery?"

"In four days." The primus guard at the head spoke, "Normally, we will take the next round of antidotes in five days, and the medicine will usually arrive the night before the day it is to be taken, and after completing the verification, it will be taken centrally between the hours of four in the morning and eight in the morning."

Ye Chen asked, "The medicine, like the other supplies, was shipped from Turkey, wasn't it?"

"That's right." The other party nodded, "Other living supplies will also arrive in Cyprus along with the transport ships."

"Good." Ye Chen smiled faintly, "I'll make a trip over there alone in four days."

Saying that, he looked at Wan Bajun again and instructed, "Bajun, you prepare for the next few days, bring your men to wait for my news on the high seas then, once I have solved the problem, you will bring your men to land and take over that copper mine together with me."

Without thinking, Wan Bajun said, "Yes Mr. Ye, my subordinate will do his best!"

Ye Chen nodded and spoke, "The antidote for several thousand people, I also need a few days to prepare it, after four days, I will fly directly to Lebanon Beirut, Broken Army prepare a small boat for me in advance, I will cross the sea alone to meet them!"

Chapter 5030

Hearing that Ye Chen wanted to act on his own, Wan Bajun hurriedly said, "Mr. Ye, there are still many uncertainties about the other side's situation, moreover, they are crowded and heavily guarded, why don't we let my subordinates choose a few elite soldiers and go with you!"

Ye Chen waved his hand and said seriously: "This kind of thing only has the greatest success rate when one person acts, and even if it fails, one person can still get out in one piece, once there are more people, the chance of exposure increases greatly instead, I not only want to make sure that this thing is as successful as possible, but also want to make sure that if this thing is unsuccessful, it leaves as few clues as possible."

Li Yalin also agreed at this time, "I support Young Master Ye's point of view, from my experience in the police for so many years, the vast majority of major cases that have been unsolved in the true sense are single suspect cases, as long as the person is professional enough and strong enough, he will be able to accomplish his goal with ease and without leaving the police any valuable clues, and once this single person operation turns into a gang operation, the chances of leaving usable clues increases geometrically."

Speaking here, Li Yalin added: "To use a less appropriate analogy, those serial murder cases with double-digit victims, the murderer behind them is almost invariably all one person."

Hearing this, Wan Bajun could only nod and say, "In that case, then my subordinate will be ready in Beirut, any time Mr. Ye needs the Hall of Ten Thousand Dragons, my subordinate will be the first to bring his men there!"

Ye Chen nodded and smiled, "I really have something that I need you to prepare in advance in Beirut."

Saying that, Ye Chen said seriously, "Broken Jun, on the day of the action, you bring Five Four Seven, as well as these seven primus guards to wait for me on the high seas, once I succeed, you bring them all to that copper mine, in order to make those primus guards and dead soldiers completely subservient, you need several of them to show themselves."

Without thinking, Wan Bajun said, "Okay Mr. Ye, my subordinates will arrange a cruise ship in advance and wait for your news in the high seas."

Ye Chen nodded and looked at Five Four Seven and the other seven Primus Guards and spoke, "When the time comes, it will be hard for you all to make the trip, and if this matter can be successful, you will also need to work together to manage this station for me."

All eight agreed without a second thought.

Ye Chen's bold and radical plan made them all very excited. If the disappearance of the poison in their bodies was the breaking of the shackles that had been placed on them by the organization for many years, then going with Ye Chen to take the whole compound was the first step to launch a counterattack on the organization.

Afterwards, Ye Chen asked a few people, "Gentlemen, can you describe to me exactly what the antidote that this organisation usually gives you is like?"

Five-Four-Seven was the first to speak up, "The pills we take are round pills, roughly a centimetre in diameter, dark brown in colour and with a certain shine on the surface."

Several other primus guards also nodded, and the one at the head spoke, "The one we took was also the same."

Ye Chen frowned and took out a Blood Dispersing and Heart Saving Pill and spoke, "Does it look similar to this?"

Five-Four-Seven nodded, "It's basically very similar already, except that the colour of this pill of yours seems to be a little better."
