

Ye Chen 5031

Chapter 5031

Ye Chen said thoughtfully, "It seems that the antidotes they gave you were all made using the methods of traditional Chinese medicine as well."

Li Yalin, who was at the side, remembered something at this moment and spoke, "Right, I have a question, you guys just said that you would have to take the antidote after five days, but the antidote only left for your compound four days later, aren't the managers of the organisation worried that if something goes wrong during the transportation process, resulting in the antidote not arriving in time, it would kill everyone? "

The primus at the head of the group shook his head and said, "This is only the daily transport process. Under normal circumstances, the antidote is delivered one day in advance, and as long as there are no accidents, it will not affect the time taken. "

He said, "In previous years, for some unknown reason, the antidote did not come for three weeks in a row, and those three weeks were solved by relying on the sectarian's reserves, but in the fourth week, the follow-up antidote was delivered."

Li Yalin was busy asking, "Do you know what caused the lack of antidote for three weeks?"

The man replied, "That's not quite clear."

Li Yalin asked again, "During those three weeks, did your supplies shipments with Turkey end?"

"No." The man said, "Our supply shipments with Turkey are very stable, the cargo ships basically run once a week."

Li Yalin nodded gently and said, "Since everything is normal with Turkey, then your antidote should not be processed and made in Turkey, Turkey should also be a transit, and the problem is with the line from the last station to Turkey."

"I suppose so." The man said helplessly, "There are many things we only know a little skin deep, we don't understand the deeper situation."

Li Yalin looked at Ye Chen and said seriously, "Young Master Ye, if your plan this time can be successfully achieved, then I suggest that you must find the opportunity to follow the vine and take down this copper refinery in Turkey as well, the hierarchy of this organisation is too strict and the information blockade is also very tight, the dead soldiers do not know things above the ground and the primus guards do not know things outside the garrison, according to this trend, I presume that the resident sectarians may not know too much either, and they should be one level up, that copper refinery in Turkey, and the copper refinery must know more."

Ye Chen nodded and said approvingly, "Inspector Li's analysis makes sense, the copper refinery should be the highest ranking existence within this organisation that we know of so far."

Li Yalin added, "Moreover, the clue of the antidote is also very important, Five-Four-Seven's station is near Sri Lanka, these primus inter pares are stationed in Cyprus, but the antidote they are taking is all of the same specifications, this is most likely processed by a processing plant, the antidote is processed in bulk at this processing plant and then distributed from here to the whole world, if this is really the case, then The distribution path of the antidote is an important clue to stringing together the entire organization!”

Li Yalin’s words made Ye Chen’s eyes light up.

The biggest impression this organization gave him was the clear division of internal hierarchy and the extreme blockage of clues and information.

Moreover, many of the garrisons basically operated independently and were themselves very secretive, so even if the garrisons were exposed, no accurate clues about the organisation would be revealed.

However, as Li Yalin said, if the antidote was produced centrally by this organisation, then by following the clues of the antidote upwards, one would definitely be able to find the exact location where the organisation produced the antidote.

Coupled with the fact that the antidote meant a lot to the organisation, once the location of the production of the antidote was found, then it would not be far from finding the core of this organisation.

Chapter 5032

Originally, Ye Chen’s attitude towards this mysterious organisation was to try to maintain restraint and only do precise sniping on the global dispatch of its six planes.

However, after learning about the other party’s garrison in Cyprus, Ye Chen suddenly realised that this management model of the deadly garrison, which seemed unbreakable, had actually left himself a four-two breakthrough point.

As long as he could silently take control of the Cypriot governor, and then remove the toxin that regularly attacked the bodies of all the dead soldiers and primus guards in Cyprus, he could directly take over the entire dead soldiers’ quarters without bloodshed or even alerting this mysterious organisation.

Moreover, the whole thing was highly feasible.

First of all, it was not difficult for him to create an antidote. If he wanted to release the poison from these people’s bodies, he only needed a small amount of spiritual energy to do so, and he could simply use a small amount of Spring Return Pill with Blood Dispersing and Heart Saving Pill as the base medicine, and simply configure a batch of quick-acting pills to ensure that these dead soldiers would be able to break free from the shackles of the poison immediately after taking the pills.

Secondly, it was not too difficult to penetrate the iron barrel of the copper mine, for there was a gap in the barrel, and that was the cargo ship that shuttled between it and Turkey.

As the Primus said, they had been ensuring a steady output from the copper mine to ensure that they were not seen by the outside world, and had also set up a copper refinery in Turkey as a means of digesting the ore from the mine at regular intervals.

The copper mine has a stable output and a fixed sales channel, and the direction and route of the flow of both goods and capital are very clear, so that nothing unusual can be seen from the outside.

In fact, it would not have been necessary for the organisation to establish a separate copper refinery in Turkey if only to ensure the normal output of the copper mines.

After all, the copper ore produced by the copper mine itself contains no clues and has theoretically no impact on whoever it is sold to.

But the fundamental purpose of the organisation's matching copper refinery in Turkey was to ensure that it could fully meet the copper mine's internal material requirements.

As the size of the copper mine's staff is publicly known to be just a few hundred, but the real number of people living inside it is in the thousands, if all the supplies they need for their several thousand people were to be sourced directly from the local population of Cyprus, such a huge difference in quantity would inevitably trigger local suspicion.

This would have predetermined that they would have had to have a secure channel for the silent supply of supplies to the interior of the copper mines.

This is where that Turkish copper refinery, came into play to great effect.

On the surface, it was they who used shipping to transport the copper ore produced by the copper mines to Turkey.

But in reality the main thing was that the ships that came to transport the copper ore quietly carried large quantities of supplies to Cyprus, and then transported all the supplies quietly inside the mines before pretending to ship the copper ore back to Turkey.

The shipping channels for the copper mines were exploited, and at the same time, supplies were quietly supplied to the mines.

It may appear that the refinery imports the ore produced by the mine and generates revenue for the mine, but in fact, the core role of the refinery is just a disguised support facility for the mine.

It has to be said that this kind of play is very clever indeed.

And for Ye Chen, as long as he could seize the opportunity to touch the cargo ship carrying supplies to Cyprus, he could infiltrate all the way in until he came face to face with that sectional governor.

And once he was given such an opportunity, he would have enough certainty to bring that knight-errant under control.

Chapter 5033

However, Ye Chen also had two options.

If everything went smoothly, it would be natural to take the entire garrison without bloodshed.

But if he couldn't control that sect leader, it didn't matter, he could silently finish him off, and then distribute the swabbed antidote to all the dead soldiers and primus guards, and the rest, he would not have to worry about, and let these dead soldiers and primus guards play freely, when thousands of people suddenly escaped from control, it would definitely be enough for this organisation to drink.

Moreover, both options were for Ye Chen to act alone, so he was also absolutely sure that no clues would be left behind, and no matter if he succeeded or failed, he would not let that mysterious organization follow the trail and find him.

Subsequently, Ye Chen worked out a more detailed plan of action together with Wan Bajun and Li Yalin.

After the plan was completed, Ye Chen planned to depart back to the United States and use the remaining few days to prepare properly.

However, before departing, he specifically asked Wan Bajun to take him to meet with his elder brother, Lang Hongjun, who specialised in communications.

At present, Wan Long Temple has prepared a small independent two-storey building for Lang Hongjun, specifically for him to use for research.

Although Lang Hongjun had just arrived in Syria a few days ago, his whole state of being had undergone a radical change, not only did his spirit, complexion and mood look much better, but his whole person also seemed to be much younger.

When he saw Ye Chen, Lang Hongjun was particularly surprised and said excitedly, "Mr Ye, what brings you to Syria?"

Ye Chen smiled and said, "I came over for some business and stopped by to see you, old brother, are you still getting used to being here lately?"

Lang Hongjun said with a contented face, "Since I arrived, the whole person is refreshed every day, but the only regret is that the work still needs to wait for the equipment to be in place, so there is no way to carry out it directly for a while."

Saying that, he added: "I gave a list of equipment to Hall Master Wan, and he didn't discount any of it, he arranged for it all to be procured. What I want is basically the world's best equipment related to the civilian communications field, and after this equipment arrives in Syria one after another, I intend to first build an encrypted communications system that can cover the entire base, and in the process, design a set of encryption algorithms so that when the satellites will be able to synchronize this set of algorithms over after they take to the sky."

Ye Chen asked curiously, "Elder brother, when will our own satellite be in the sky?"

Lang Hongjun explained, "Recently, the people under Lord Wan Hall are ordering communication satellites from several world-renowned communication companies through a shell company registered in the offshore region, but the satellites are not ready-made now and need to be scheduled for production, after the satellites come off the production line, we will first transport them to Syria, I will make certain modifications to the satellites at that time, and then hand them over to commercial. However, the workload associated with the development of the algorithms and the modification of the satellites is very large, and it is estimated that it will take a year or two at the earliest to do so."

Ye Chen asked him, "Old brother, it must be difficult for you to complete so much work alone, why don't you recruit more people to help you with your work, if you can build a team for satellite communication, the efficiency will definitely be tremendously improved."

Lang Hongjun said helplessly, "I've thought about this, but it's not easy to achieve. I've contacted some old colleagues and subordinates, but they are all a bit reluctant to come to Syria to work, and the workplace is inside the base, so I'm also worried that outsiders coming in will cause the risk of leaking secrets."

Ye Chen nodded and said, "We don't lack money in our hands, what we lack is time, so in my opinion, how about this, we first set up or simply acquire a communications company in the United States that has a sufficient base, and then let this team do the research and development work in the United States according to your requirements, and let you do the overall unified coordination. In the course of this team's operation, if we find any trustworthy talents, we can gradually absorb them into Syria."

When he said this, Ye Chen gave a slight beating and added: "Besides, you don't have to worry about these people not wanting to come to Syria, as long as you can offer enough money, you will be able to move them!"

Chapter 5034

"Acquire a company?"

Lang Hongjun was taken aback by Ye Chen's words and spoke, "Mr. Ye, if we were to acquire a communications company with a sufficient base, its cost would be at least one billion dollars, would the investment be too high and I'm afraid it would be difficult to achieve profitability"

Ye Chen shook his head and said, "Profit is not the most important thing, how to solve our urgent needs at the moment is the most important thing."

Saying that, Ye Chen added: "Our biggest pain point at the moment is the time constraint, not to mention a year or a month, even if it's a day or an hour, we have to try our best to get it, time is far more important than money."

Ye Chen gave a slight beating and continued, "If you want to develop quickly at a speed beyond normal, you have to change the mindset of only solving immediate needs, without people, or unable to recruit people, if you are still stuck on how to solve the problem of recruiting people, it is basically difficult to make great things;"

"To do great things, the premise is that the pattern must be big enough, those big enterprises when faced with the same problem, will not think about how to build a team from scratch and then develop a product, the first solution they will think of is to directly buy the right product on the market."

Saying that, Ye Chen added: "Elon Musk won't waste precious time and energy to build a Twitter by himself, buying it directly is the most economical for him, in fact the same goes for us, if we still need to recruit employees one by one, the variables in this are too big, even if you expect to solve the problem in two years, but once there is a change in personnel That time becomes a long way off."

"First of all, the recruitment period is definitely longer than expected, originally planned for three months to recruit enough people, but in reality it may take at least six months or more;"

"The second is the lack of stability of the staff. "

“Also, employees are not stable alone, the prerequisite for stability is that they have to be competent enough to cope with their work, which will also require us to invest in unknown trial and error costs, in case we choose the wrong person, everything will have to start all over again as well.”

“In that case, even three years may not achieve what we want to achieve.”

“Moreover, doing things has always been about making a start, if we stumble and stumble at the beginning, it will take more than imaginable toll on our heart and confidence, and it will definitely be difficult to grow bigger and stronger.”

Speaking here, Ye Chen looked at Lang Hongjun and said seriously, “Although you have high morale now, if you really encounter all kinds of difficulties in the preliminary personnel stage, after a year or two, you yourself will not have the same energy now.”

The more you think about it, the less confidence you will have, and the more you will have to spend, the more you will lose. I’m not sure if I’ll be able to find a job.

The first thing that I did was to go from being a high-minded communications expert to being a seafarer willing to go to Mexico to do hard work

Ye Chen smiled faintly and asked, “Older brother, the job you had when your salary was the highest, which company was it in?”

Chapter 5035

Lang Hongjun was busy saying, “It was an old American communications company.”

Ye Chen asked, “What is the current market value of that company?”

Lang Hongjun thought about it and said, “The company was very prosperous some years ago, and its market capitalisation exceeded ten billion dollars at its peak, but as the bubble continued to burst and its performance continued to decline, when I was fired, the market capitalisation must have been just over one billion dollars.”

Ye Chen nodded and asked him, “What is the bottom line of this business?”

Lang Hongjun said, “The bottom of the software and hardware technical level is very good, but the reason why it went downhill over the years is mainly because the market direction did not find the right direction, the person in charge misjudged the development direction of the communication market, and then gradually killed its own to-C side business, and then turned to eat the old capital, turning to provide hardware equipment and technical support for other communication enterprises. ”

Ye Chen said with surprise: “That just suits us, if its business is doing very well and its market value is very high, it would be difficult for us to take it down instead, and after taking it down, the to-C business would also involve a lot of our experience, but now since it specialises in hardware equipment and technical support, isn’t that just suitable for serving us? After all, we’re not seeking to start a new communications company in the world either, we just want to establish our own communications network as soon as possible.”

Lang Hongjun nodded and said, “If combined with our situation, it would indeed be suitable, many of this company’s technologies, we can take them over and use them directly, and the company is left with almost all scientific researchers, although the market is doing a mess, but the R&D strength should not be underestimated.”

Ye Chen did not think twice and said, “That’s it! Older brother, pack up and come back to America with me right away!”

Lang Hongjun was surprised and said, “Back to America? Mr. Ye, I’ve only been here for a few days, I haven’t sorted anything out yet”

The company’s market value is around one billion dollars. As long as he is willing to make an offer, I can offer up to two billion dollars, as to how much can be negotiated down, that depends on your ability.”

Lang Hongjun’s jaw dropped as he listened and said offhandedly, “Mr Ye You really want to buy that company?”

“Yes.” Ye Chen nodded with certainty and spoke, “Buy it and then let it design the satellite for us, since it has ready-made technology, it should be able to design the satellite in a few months, right? Then use a few more months to produce it, and it will be ready for launch in the first half of next year.”

Lang Hongjun said with some excitement, “It won’t take that long! That company itself is developing communication type satellites for many large companies, both the technology and the supply chain are complete, if we can successfully acquire them, we only need to make certain customization adjustments to the original foundation and we will be able to put it into use, and within three months at the earliest, we will be able to develop our own communication satellites according to our own needs.”

Saying this, Lang Hongjun added, “If we book our launch quotas with commercial launch companies now, our own satellites will be in orbit in the autumn/winter season this year at the earliest!

Hearing this, Ye Chen said without thinking, “Good! Great! Older brother, if you come back to the US with me this time, you must take down this company against all odds!”

Chapter 5036

A few hours later, Ye Chen and Lang Hongjun returned to the United States together.

The plane landed in Providence first, and after Ye Chen got off the plane, it immediately took off again, carrying Lang Hongjun to Silicon Valley together with Hong Wu and Richard Chen.

The main reason why Hong Wu and Richard Chen accompanied Lang Hongjun was to protect his personal safety, after all, he was going to talk about a billion-dollar business deal, and it was not certain whether Mei Yu Zhen had any other unknowing accomplices in the United States.

After getting off the plane alone, Ye Chen drove back to the hotel where he was staying with Xiao Churan.

In the days that followed, he asked Fei Kexin to help him deliver a batch of medicinal herbs, and took advantage of Xiao Churan’s daytime cla*s*es to make a new batch of Blood Dispersing and Heart Saving Pills.

Afterwards, he mixed one Peiyuan Dan and two Spring Return Pills into it, and paired them with a large number of herbs that were mainly for strengthening the body, melting and refining thousands of pills that contained enough medicinal power and also a little bit of spiritual energy.

These pills were not as effective as the Blood Dispensing and Heart Saving Pill, but they could easily dissolve the poison in the bodies of the dead soldiers and Primus Guards, helping them to completely break the shackles that had been passed down for centuries.

Apart from preparing the antidote, Ye Chen had also set himself two plans of action.

The first option was to find a chance to sneak into the cargo ship carrying the antidote at sea, seize the line of delivery and find a way to obtain a higher level of secrets about the organisation, and then look for an opportunity to swap the antidote.

The alternative is to find a way to infiltrate inside the copper mines and then quietly target the sectional governor once he has the antidote in his possession.

The advantage of the former option was not only that it allowed access to people at a higher level, but also that it was one step ahead in time, so that if this option did not work out, the latter option could still be chosen, but if the latter option was taken as the preferred one, then there would basically be no suitable alternative.

As for how to board a moving cargo ship silently, Ye Chen also thought of a feasible plan and informed Wan Bajun of his requirements in advance, so that he could prepare for himself in advance.

Four days later.

With the tried and tested reason of "reading feng shui for a client", Ye Chen left Xiao Churan for a while, carrying a black waterproof duffel bag, and took off directly from Providence on a Concorde to Beirut, the capital of Lebanon.

Beirut is located in the westernmost part of the Middle East and the easternmost coast of the Mediterranean Sea.

The city is located across the sea from Cyprus and the shortest distance is just two hundred kilometres.

By the time Ye Chen arrived in Beirut, it was already dark, and Wan Bajun was already here to greet him.

As soon as he saw Ye Chen, he reported to him, "Mr Ye, the seven primus guards and the five-four-seven have all been arranged to board the ship in advance, as a cargo ship of the Isuzu Line has just crossed the Suez Canal and its first destination is Cyprus, so I have sent them on board by helicopter in advance at the Suez Canal. the first major port, Lima*sol."

Ye Chen nodded and asked him, "That copper mine of theirs, it's in Lima*sol, right?"

"Right." Wan Bajun said, "The exact location of the copper mine is almost thirty kilometres northeast of Lima*sol, on the coast, and the mine has its own dock."

Ye Chen asked again, "Have you found out where the ship carrying the supplies left from in Turkey?"

“Figured it out.” Wan Bajun said, “According to the copper mine’s sales data, all the copper ore they produce is sold to a copper refinery in Hatay province in Turkey. This copper refinery, ostensibly to reduce transportation costs, has purchased an eight thousand tonne cargo ship of its own, specifically for transporting copper ore from Cyprus, and their shipping route is also very fixed, which is from the Turkish Hatay Iskenderun port, to the Lima*sol copper mine’s own port, a journey of about two hundred and ten nautical miles, almost three hundred and ninety kilometres.”

Chapter 5037

Ye Chen asked him, “Do you have the movements of this ship?”

“Grasped it.” Wan Bajun explained, “Their registration information is all very formal, so the information of the ships can also be found, it just so happens that the Iskenderun Line also has ships pa*sing through from the east of Cyprus to Turkey, as well as returning ships, we have been monitoring the nautical radar data of these ships, and on the nautical radar, the information of this ship’s position was found, this ship more than six hours ago departed from Iskenderun port and is now almost halfway there, and will arrive in Lima*sol in a little over three hours.”

“Good.” Ye Chen nodded slightly and asked again, “Is the speedboat for me ready?”

“It’s ready.” Wan Bajun said, “According to your request, a speedboat equipped with six Mercury outboard engines has been prepared, capable of reaching a maximum speed of one hundred and twenty kilometres per hour.”

Immediately, Ye Chen said, “Take me there now!”

Wan Bajun drove Ye Chen and brought him to a deserted coastline.

At this moment, on the beach, a large modified pickup truck was parked, with the rear of the pickup truck facing the direction of the sea, and a six to seven meter long thing wrapped in a black tarp was attached to the back with a trailer.

The tarp was lifted by Wan Bajun and a streamlined speedboat came into view.

Immediately afterwards, Wan Bajun asked Ye Chen, “Mr Ye, do you want me to go with you?”

Ye Chen waved his hand, “I can go by myself, you can take the helicopter and board the boat later to join the others and follow my orders on board.”

Wan Bajun nodded and took out a backpack from the cabin and said to Ye Chen, “Mr. Ye, everything you asked me to prepare is ready, and the satellite communicator is also inside.”

“Good!” Ye Chen jumped on board and briefly familiarised himself with the operation of this speedboat, so he said to Wan Breaking Jun, “Breaking Jun, go and back the boat into the sea.”

“Okay Mr. Ye!”

Wan Bajun drove the pickup truck and slowly backed the towing rack towed behind into the sea.

As the speedboat entered the water, the whole boat floated.

When Ye Chen started the engine, Wan Bajun's voice came over the communicator, saying, "Mr. Ye, you will be able to reach that boat's course after driving one hundred and thirty kilometres on bearing 320, and if nothing goes wrong, you should be able to reach the set location half an hour ahead of him."

"Good." Ye Chen used his communicator to say to Wan Bajun, "Bajun, I'll see you in Cyprus."

After saying that, he steered the speedboat backwards into the sea, then turned 180 degrees at the surface and sailed into the vast Mediterranean Sea.

An hour or so later, Ye Chen had arrived at the set location on the route map.

After stopping the speedboat about one nautical mile off course, he opened the package that Wan Bajun had prepared for him and took out a waterproof black night suit from it.

He then changed into the suit and switched off the boat's engine, even turning off the ship's navigation radar.

Over the satellite communicator, Wan Bajun's voice came out, "Mr Ye, that ship is less than 20 nautical miles away from you, we will monitor its position in real time and report back to you in time."

About twenty minutes later, Ye Chen could already see the lights of that cargo ship, at sea level.

After confirming with Wan Bajun that this ship was the one he was looking for, he picked up his own waterproof duffel bag, locked the locking buckle in the middle of the two straps, and kept his gaze fixed on the cargo ship that was getting closer and closer.

When the other side was only less than two nautical miles away, Ye Chen used a soul piercing blade to decisively cut the speedboat off. As the speedboat sank into the sea, he poured his aura into his feet and used it to prop himself up above the sea with his whole body underneath his feet.

Immediately afterwards, he was on the surface of the sea as if he was on level ground, dashing towards the moving cargo ship!

Chapter 5038

At this moment, the cargo ship, which was less than 10,000 tons, was sailing at full speed on the sea.

The noise and undulations of the ship's sailing made them unaware that on their left side, above the sea, there was a black shadow running rapidly towards them.

And this black shadow was Ye Chen.

Because of the aura, at this moment, under his feet, it was like stepping on two invisible air cushions, the soles of his feet were always about ten centimetres away from the water.

Every step that Ye Chen took on the waves would cause a splash of water to erupt beneath his feet, and if it were daytime, not only would it be very eye-catching, but if people saw it, they would probably drop their jaws in shock.

However, the sea was dark at the moment, and with his black clothes, he was like a ghost, so even the enemy with a keen sense of smell did not notice anything unusual.

As he got closer and closer to that ship, Ye Chen could even see a few heavily armed sentries standing by the deck and bridge building fences.

Like most cargo ships, this one was not very large in tonnage, but the structure was such that the cargo hold was at the front and middle of the ship, while the entire bridge building was at the stern.

The bridge building is the superstructure of the ship, where the bridge, which controls the ship's operations, and the living quarters of the crew are concentrated.

There are six sentries on board, two at the bow, two on the sides of the ship in the middle and two on the platform at the top of the bridge.

As there were no other ships visible to the naked eye in the nearby waters, these sentries were more or less lax, but just stood around routinely, and the two at the stern of the ship even got together to smoke a cigarette.

Although most of the other side's personnel were concentrated here, the starting engine and propeller of the whole ship were also at the stern, so the environment here was the noisiest, in this way, even if the other side had martial arts masters, they were not afraid that the other side would notice.

The two sentries smoking at the stern of the ship did not notice that the black shadow had approached the ship under their noses and leapt up on the sea, climbing directly onto the left side of the bridge building.

After Ye Chen checked with his aura, he found that there were fifteen people in the entire four-storey bridge building.

On the top floor, apart from the two sentries, three others were in the C*ckpit, and of the remaining ten people, eight were on the third floor and two on the second.

In addition, there were four more men in the engine room below the bridge floor.

Ye Chen speculated that the three people in the C*ckpit and the four people in the engine room should all be staff members responsible for the operation of the ship, and it was possible that the captain was one of the three people in the C*ckpit, but the supreme commander of the ship was definitely not among them.

As for the real commander, it should be among these ten people on the second and third floors.

Chapter 5039

So, Ye Chen focused his aura on the second and third floors and conducted a more detailed investigation of these ten people.

With this look, he immediately found that the eight people on the second floor were spread out in four modest rooms, two to a room that felt like crew quarters.

The room on the third floor, where the two men were located, was much larger, with the size of one room being as large as three crew quarters.

What Ye Chen didn't expect was that the two men on the third floor were close to each other and doing intense sweating.

Ye Chen thought to himself, "If you can go on a mission on a ship and still have sex on board, I think the top commander of this ship must be one of them!"

He then tumbled straight through the railing of the third floor and dived into the third floor rest area inside the bridge building.

The interior of the bridge building was huge, and apart from the large room on the third floor where two people were having a good time, there was also a large conference room, a dining room and a bathroom.

Ye Chen skipped these empty rooms and arrived at the door of the innermost one just as the two people inside had finished fighting.

At that moment, he heard a rustle of clothes inside, and then he heard a man smile and say, "Wait for me, I'll go to the C*ckpit and take a look."

The other man didn't say anything, just heard the sound of two people kissing in a mushy way, and then there was a sound of footsteps coming from far and near to the door.

The moment the door opened inwards, he saw a middle-aged man flashing out from the door.

The other party, whose strength was already at the full level of the Ming realm, saw Ye Chen's instant arrival and subconsciously tried to attack with both hands.

However, before he could react, Ye Chen directly sealed the consciousness of the man in front of him with a hint of aura, making him completely unable to manipulate his body in any way, just like Chen Zhonglei, the War King of the Ten Thousand Dragons Hall at that time.

Before the man could understand what was happening, his consciousness was completely imprisoned and his body stood in place, unable to move his eyelids even a little.

After finishing the man, Ye Chen planned to control the woman inside as well, and then interrogate him again.

At this time, the woman inside the room was unaware of what was going on as there was a corridor nearly two metres long inside the door.

But when Ye Chen stepped inside the room, he discovered that the person sitting by the bed at that moment, who was arranging his clothes, was an old man in his fifties or sixties!

When the old man saw a man in black barge into the room, he was startled and reached out to grab the pistol on the bed!

What Ye Chen didn't expect was that the old man was extremely fast, his right hand instantly grasped the pistol, he simply moved like a rabbit, not like an old man at all!

Chapter 5040

However, although he was fast, he was nowhere near as fast as Ye Chen!

Ye Chen saw him hold the gun in his hand, and with a fierce shake of his right hand, a soul piercing blade instantly shot out!

With a click, it severed the old man's pistol from the side.

The old man was startled by the severed pistol, his pupils shrank fiercely and he was about to make a direct move against Ye Chen, but he did not expect Ye Chen to suddenly appear in front of him and choke him with one hand.

The old man was no slacker, so he grabbed Ye Chen's wrist with both hands and used all his strength to resist to his death.

Ye Chen didn't dodge either, he just gathered his aura at his wrists and choked him to death, sneering, "I thought that the guy outside at the Ming realm was the strongest one here, but I didn't expect you to be a Dark realm third-day expert! Come, let me see how strong you really are!"

Among the ranks of martial artists, apart from the Bright Realm, which differentiated ranks according to the number of meridians opened, the Dark Realm, the Transformation Realm and the Sovereign Realm were all divided into one to nine heavens.

Wan Bajun, who had just taken a step into the Dark Realm, was currently still at the most basic level of the First Heaven of the Dark Realm.

However, this old fellow, surprisingly, had already reached the Third Sky of the Dark Realm.

With his strength, if Wan Bajun was in front of him today, he definitely wouldn't be able to last more than three moves.

And this old man also did not expect that Ye Chen's strength was so strong that he was completely defenseless in front of him, so he struggled and asked, "You What are you?!"

Ye Chen didn't answer his question, he just sneered and sneered, "You don't need to care who I am, but you, at such an old age, your tastes are quite f*cking special!"

The old man's expression was instantly appalled and he asked nervously, "You You You are so young, how can you tell that I am a Dark Realm? You're a Dark Realm expert too?!"

Ye Chen laughed, "The Dark Realm is not much of an expert in my eyes."

Saying that, Ye Chen used his aura to check around his dantian and frowned, "You've even mixed up to the Dark Realm, but you still have severe poison in your body."

The old man asked him, dumbfounded, "You How did you see that?!"

Ye Chen's frown tightened as he said in a cold voice, "Not only can I see that you have severe poison in your body, I can also tell that the severe poison in your body is not the same as those dead soldiers and primus guards, it seems that the severe poison in your body is a bit more virulent."

After saying that, Ye Chen stared at him and said in a stern voice, "I'll give you a chance to give an honest explanation, if you can't grasp it, then I'll use my method."

The old man calmed down slightly for a few moments, looked at Ye Chen and asked, "If I am correct, your Excellency should be the one who killed all our Primus Guards in Noppergen, right?"

Ye Chen asked with interest, "What, you already guessed that someone had killed all the Primus Guards?"