

SHE JUMPED PART THREE

JOHNNY'S POV

We had just gotten back home from going out with my sister, Jack and Jeff. When my sister came down crying and when we asked her what was going on she gave Jeff a letter which he read out loud and when Jeff asked where she could have gone my sister said the cliff and we all ran out hoping to catch her before she ran off the packs lands, once we saw her by the edge of the cliff we all started to get worried and we all wanted her away from the edge.

"Paty please come away from there" my sister said but she did do it

We all took a step forward and she took one back getting even closer to the edge, we stopped in that instantly wince we didn't want her to jump off the cliff.

"Paty please come this way and let's talk okay, just get away from that cliff and we can talk I promise I will listen to you but please get away from the edge" I said wanting to get her away from the edge

"Paty please come back this way, please baby sis don't do this come towards us I promise I will be the brother I was supposed to be but please come towards us" Jeff said

At that moment Paty closed her eyes, tilted her head back, opened up her arms and let herself fall back while saying "WE ARE FREE." We all ran towards the cliff only to see her falling and hitting the trees at the bottom of the cliff, I couldn't believe that she had killed herself all because she was mistreated and then used and I rejected her. We walked back to the pack house with our heads down, Jeff was holding my sister as she cried for losing her best friend. We all sat in the living room when mom and dad came home and asked what had happened and we told them, mom started to tear up and dad had to hold her just like Jeff was doing the same thing with my sister.

"Why are you crying Johnny" dad asked

"Because this was all my fault" I said

"What do you mean this was all your fault" my sister asked him

"I was the one who rejected her" I said

She got up and started to attack me, hitting me where ever her punch landed until she was pulled away from me. She then pulled away and ran up the stairs to Paty's room and fell on top of her bed and cried until she fell asleep, when she woke up she walked down the stairs and saw everybody still in the living room, when we saw her she walked up to me and through a pregnancy test in my lap.

"Not only did we all see her kill herself but we also saw your pup die too" she said

She walked away back up the stairs into her room and locked it so she wouldn't be brother while she mourned her best friend's death but also my pup as well.

"Did you know she was pregnant" mom asked

"No" I said

"Why would you reject her" Jeff asked

"I don't know" I said looking at the pregnancy test

I got up and walked to my room and laid on my bed still looking at the pregnancy test, I was responsible for the death of my mate and our pup. I pushed her to do what she did and I would live with that for ever, I couldn't feel my wolf which meant he was mourning the loss of his mate and pup as well. How could I have done this to her, when I had her in my arms that night was pure pleasure. I wasn't just having s*x with some random girl I was making love to my mate all night long and then I rejected her, while I walked away I could hear her cry and I wanted to turn around and hug her asking her to forgive me but I didn't I just kept walking. When I got home I went into my room and took a shower before I laid down and fell asleep, when I woke up mom was making dinner and when I asked about Paty she said that she must have met her mate and was still out with him because she wasn't home yet which let me know she was still at the cliff. That night I heard her come home and go into her room moving something heavy but I couldn't tell what it was and she didn't come out until today but only to end her life and that of our pup because she felt used by me, I wasn't going to take any other shewolf as my Luna even though I wouldn't have any kids I could allow my sister's first born son to take over as alpha of the pack.