

Read Revenge of the Sixth Young Lady RSYL Chapter 13 Startled horse

the fastest update of the latest chapter of the girl strategy!

This statement is very abrupt, and the things you want are special. Although the objects are small, they mean different things. For a person who has not yet arrived in Beijing, this is almost impossible to accomplish, but Wei Yüewu believes in Yan Huai He must have a way. For the future master of Yandi, which the emperor has taboo, such things are trivial ...

The carriage started moving slowly again, with the hoofs in front advancing, the uniform snow-colored horses uniformly, and before they reached the gate of the city, everyone had already looked back. Although they did not know who was in the carriage, but looking at the situation, I know that it is not an ordinary person.

Such a group of men and horses entered the city gate and broke up at the gate of the city. The large and beautiful carriage went toward the main road in the city. The carriage that fell behind and a carriage that seemed to be cluttered with debris. Then, go to the branch road on the other side. Only then the coachman stopped and asked to pass, there is the direction to Huayang Houfu.

The Yan State Mansion in the capital is completely different from Huayang Hou Mansion.

Yan Huaiyu's carriage slowly moved forward. In the carriage, Yan Huaiyu leaned on the soft couch beside him, his attitude was idle and lazy. He stretched it on his long fingers and got it from Weiyüewu. The ring that came, turned twice elegantly, and finally fell back into his palm.

The slender eyelashes drooped slightly, his eyes fell on the ring, and the corners of his handsome lips evoked a thoughtful smile.

I didn't expect this Huayang Hou's daughter to be so smart, not only to judge the situation but also to have the courage.

Incompetent? Such courage, such demeanor, coupled with that delicate little face, are really looking forward to. Is this Beijing's Huayang Houfu always too peaceful?

However, there is the variable of Weiyüewu, which is more conducive to his own plan ...

On the one hand, Xiaoyi peeked into the smiling gentle and harmless face of his family son, and hurriedly lowered his head, and secretly took a nap. Is this family son child interested? Really worried for the young lady of Huayang Houfu House. It was pitiful for this young man to be caught up by his gentle and practically ruthless son.

The carriage of Weiyuewu just turned into the crossing. When the body was still half horizontal, the opposite side rushed straight towards a galloping carriage. The horse pulling the carriage seemed to be shocked. The coachman was desperately pulling the reins while yelling. : "The horse was shocked, let it go, let it go!"

Passers-by flickered in panic, but the carriage of Weiyuewu was too late to avoid the turn.

Eyed at the carriage, Fei crashed into it, but there was a loud noise. The carriage that came over rushed forward for a few steps and stopped, but the Tochigi carriage of Weiyuewu was directly disconnected, pulling the carriage. Horse, raised his legs sharply and hissed, and made the whole car stand upright.

This street is a street next to the river, and on one side is leaning against a wide river.

The horse rushed a few times and broke free from the disconnected Xuanyuan. Although the coachman jumped off the carriage sharply, he had no time to hold the frightened horse. The erect carriage body did not pull forward. The strength immediately fell back and turned into the river ...

Everyone on the road watched the car roll over into the river, all stood still, exclaiming involuntarily.

The heavy carriage with wheels, the top of the four-cornered carriage, and the iron skin, there is almost no stoppage on the water, and it sinks directly. After the roof, the water rolls down in a vortex. Needless to say, this carriage If anyone is here, there will be no doubt!

All this happened so quickly that many people's exclamations just came out, and the carriages were already dying ...

Everyone watched a small accident, but brought the * incident of car crash and death, all stunned there!

The pony car that followed was stopped impatiently.

The car curtain opened a gap silently. Wei Yuewu's eyes crossed the crowd, looking at the vortex in the river channel, her eyes became dreary, her eyes moved, and she found a lively wife, face Shang was still smiling, and the clothes were clearly the same as those of some of the women who came to pick him up.

The people of Houyang Houfu ...

Seeing the whirlpool in the river, a glimmer of pride flashed on the driver's face. Toward the crowd, the wife of Huayang Houfu secretly winked. The skilled whip in his hand was about to drive his own carriage. Escape the scene.

Even afterwards, what happened to them was that they came out of the street and got off the carriage and changed clothes. Who can say that they are the perpetrators, in their own identity, as long as they are not caught on the spot, why not Something may happen.

However, this was also his wishful thinking. The driver of the accident had to leave, only to find that the whip was pulled by someone. Then he turned around and did not see who was pulling the whip. The whole person was pulled off the wagon. Come down.

He fell heavily to the ground, and was severely beaten on the back door ...

No data found.