

YOUR GUISE 28

Chapter 28

“Is Pearl interested in Sean? Richard’s gaze was filled with gloominess. He gave a slight nod and turned to leave.

Having successfully annoyed Richard, Sean was in a great mood. Before leaving, he asked Pearl to take care. He even tried to pat her head but she dodged his hand.

Everyone had their thoughts.

At last, Dustan waved and decided it was time to go home given that the situation was awkward and Pearl was injured.

Pearl was sent to Hugo’s hospital because of her injury. Dustan knocked on the door and walked into Pearl’s ward, which was rare. When he saw her face, he started reminiscing about his ex-comrade. His expression turned gentle. “Pea, are you feeling better? My disappointing sons failed to take good care of you and got you injured.”

“Nothing to do with them.”

Pearl felt a warmth in her heart. “It was my fault, Mister Dustan. I was careless. It had nothing “Don’t worry, Pea. I’ll give whoever marries you twenty percent shares of Walford Enterprises and twenty villas in Bodgow. No one will treat you unfairly.” Dustan promised.

Pearl’s heart softened when she heard this. She was touched.

Hugo was at the door and about to enter the ward. When he raised his hand, he was struck dumb as he was attracted by what he had heard. One would surely gain a lot of benefits by marrying Pearl. All the brothers had only five percent shares. If they married Pearl, they would gain another twenty percent.

Dustan gave Pearl some more advice until he got a call and left in a hurry.

Hugo found it hard to suppress his excitement. Standing at the door, he took a deep breath to calm himself before entering the ward. When he looked at Pearl, his gaze immediately turned gentle. He walked toward her and pinched her ankle.

“Does it still hurt?”

Pearl knew that he was inspecting her injury, but she inexplicably felt uneasy. She retreated and resisted his approach. Forcing out a smile, she said, “I’m feeling much better. It doesn’t hurt as much anymore.”

Hugo smiled tenderly. “I’m glad to hear that. Call me if anything happens.”

Pearl was stunned as she was unused to Hugo's attentive care. She could not figure out why he cared so much about her given how much he was bothered by her previously.

She shook her head. "I'm fine alone."

Hugo smiled dotingly and rubbed her head. "I told you not to struggle on your own. You're a girl and sh

Pearl was struck dumb as if she had been electrified. A few days ago, he claimed that he was uninterested in her. Why was he showing so much concern for her now?

Richard's gaze was filled with emotions. He asked coldly, "Why aren't you riding with Sean?"

Pearl chuckled. "I like your car better. Hurry up and get in or we'll be late."

He failed to outspoke her, so he helplessly gave her a ride to work.
