

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 2417

The six servants sat on the ground and looked at the rabbit in the basin. No one said anything.

Firstly, they didn't know what to say. Could it be that they were publicly cursing their master? If anyone heard them, it would be a capital offense.

Secondly, the ancestor in the room hadn't woken up yet. If they woke her up, she might teach them a lesson!

After an hour, there was movement in the house. A few servants scrambled to ask, "Miss, do you need me to help you wash up?"

As soon as the words left their mouths, their eyes locked together. They had clearly figured it out. Since they had already become the abandoned children of the original owner, they could only gain the favor of Miss to have a chance of survival.

Therefore, in order to compete for the favor, the few of them began to compete in their hearts.

Yun chujiu naturally would not let them serve her. No matter how heartless she was, she did not feel that pleasing to the eye when she saw the maids with rashes all over their faces.

After Yun Chujiu left the house, she saw the rabbit in the medicinal soup bowl and smiled. “This medicinal soup is not useless. Look, there’s no need to remove the fur. It can be directly chopped and stewed into meat to eat.”

The corners of the six servants’ eyes twitched violently. How dare you eat Rabbit Meat Like This? Aren’t you afraid of rotten intestines?

Yun chujiu stretched lazily. “Did you all see that? If it weren’t for me, all of you would have become the same as this rabbit! Shouldn’t all of you express your gratitude to me? For example, spirit stones, spirit tools, and the like. The more the Merrier!”

The six servants were dumbfounded. Did this little ancestor mean to ask for benefits? Heavens, I’ve never heard of a master asking for something from a servant. Doesn’t your conscience hurt?

However, the six of them didn’t dare to refuse. They gritted their teeth and gave Yun chujiu some spirit stones.

Yun chujiu naturally didn’t care about these spirit stones, but if some people didn’t let her feel the pain, she wouldn’t remember it.

After Yun Chujiu put away the spiritual stones, she glanced at the six people. “If you want to live, listen to me in the future, or else you will be killed!”

The six people quickly knelt on the ground and swore to show their loyalty.

“No matter how nice you say it, it’s useless. Let me see your actual actions. Now, you will howl and say that all of our faces are disfigured! The more miserable the howl, the more loyal she is to me.” Yun chujiu blinked her eyes and said.

boxn ov el. c o m

The six servants couldn’t figure out Yun Chujiu’s intentions. One of the maids said, “Miss Cousin, but our faces haven’t been disfigured at all. If someone comes in to check, what will we do then?”

Yun chujiu curled the corners of her lips, she took out a few veils from her storage ring and handed them to everyone. “When someone comes in later, hide your hands in your sleeves and put on the veils. Just follow behind me. Whoever wants to ask anything, just cry.

However, don’t worry. I reckon that apart from Doctor Deng, no one will enter the courtyard to check.”

Although the six servants were still confused, they did not dare to disobey. Now, apart from trusting the little devil in front of them, they had no other way to survive.

The six servants began to howl, each more mournful than the last.

Especially the two old ladies. They knew that they did not have the advantage over the other four maids in other aspects, so they could only perform in the howling. They raised their voices and howled as if they were slaughtering pigs.

Yun chujiu was shocked. She thought that if these two old ladies were in the modern era, they would definitely have the potential to be sopranos. It would not be difficult for them to sing like dolphins.