

Zeke Williams 17

Chapter 17

"Impossible! I got them through the official channel! There's no way they're fakes!" Jackson exclaimed.
"Impossible! I got them through the official channel! There's no way they're fakes!" Jackson exclaimed.

"I'm not repeating myself. Leave!" the guard warned.

"Wait? What's happening?" Lacey, whose eyes never left her parents, panicked. "They can't get in? Zeke... Did you really guess it right?"

"I wasn't guessing," Zeke said as he pulled Lacey towards the gate. "Come on, that Jackson brat is only going to drag your parents down with him."

Jackson continued to struggle at the gate. "There must be a mistake! Do you think you can shoulder the consequences of wasting my time?"

The guard smiled coldly as he threw the tickets into the trash and snapped his fingers.

A dozen guards surrounded the three people with guns pointing at their heads in an instant.

"Consequences? You'll have to explain the fake tickets first. Do you know that forging these tickets warrants you a death sentence?"

Reality struck the three of them instantly as they realized they were about to be killed.

"W-wait!" Jackson yelled as he pointed at Daniel and his wife. "I-it's them! They told me they got their hands on the tickets and asked me to join them! I'm innocent!"

"Impossible! I got them through the official channel! There's no way they're fakes!" Jackson exclaimed.

"I'm not repeating myself. Leave!" the guard warned.

"Wait? What's happening?" Lacey, whose eyes never left her parents, panicked. "They can't get in? Zeke... Did you really guess it right?"

"I wasn't guessing," Zeke said as he pulled Lacey towards the gate. "Come on, that Jackson brat is only going to drag your parents down with him."

Jackson continued to struggle at the gate. "There must be a mistake! Do you think you can shoulder the consequences of wasting my time?"

The guard smiled coldly as he threw the tickets into the trash and snapped his fingers.

A dozen guards surrounded the three people with guns pointing at their heads in an instant.

"Consequences? You'll have to explain the fake tickets first. Do you know that forging these tickets warrants you a death sentence?"

Reality struck the three of them instantly as they realized they were about to be killed.

"W-wait!" Jackson yelled as he pointed at Daniel and his wife. "I-it's them! They told me they got their hands on the tickets and asked me to join them! I'm innocent!"

"Impossible! I got them through the official channel! There's no way they're fakes!" Jackson exclaimed.
"Impossible! I got them through the official channel! There's no way they're fakes!" Jackson exclaimed.

"I'm not repeating myself. Laava!" the guard warned.

"Wait? What's happening?" Lacay, whose ayes never left her parents, panicked. "They can't get in?
Zaka... Did you really guess it right?"

"I wasn't guessing," Zaka said as he pulled Lacay towards the gate. "Come on, that Jackson brat is only going to drag your parents down with him."

Jackson continued to struggle at the gate. "There must be a mistake! Do you think you can shoulder the consequences of wasting my time?"

The guard smiled coldly as he threw the tickets into the trash and snapped his fingers.

A dozen guards surrounded the three people with guns pointing at their heads in an instant.

"Consequences? You'll have to explain the fake tickets first. Do you know that forging these tickets warrants you a death sentence?"

Reality struck the three of them instantly as they realized they were about to be killed.

"Wait!" Jackson yelled as he pointed at Daniel and his wife. "It's them! They told me they got their hands on the tickets and asked me to join them! I'm innocent!"

The Hinton couple couldn't believe their ears as they stared at Jackson angrily. This young man is using us to shield himself.

The Hinton couple couldn't believe their ears as they stared at Jackson angrily. This young man is using us to shield himself.

"You better die! You tricked us!" Henne roared.

Lecey witnessed the whole incident and cursed Jackson. She quickly ran to her parents and said, "Wait! I can prove their innocence! The tickets belonged to those men over there!"

"This is their daughter! She's just covering for them!" Jackson laughed hysterically.

"Funny. It's their honor to have us here. We don't need no tickets," Zeke suddenly said.

"What? Are you humiliating the Great Marshal? Apprehend them!" Jackson yelled.

Lecey and her parents turned pale. They couldn't believe Zeke was still putting up with this.

But the reaction from the guards shook the whole crowd.

The guard saluted Zeke and said, "Mr. Williams, Ms. Hinton. I apologize for the commotion! Please, proceed through the gate."

Zeke turned to look at Daniel and Henne. "They're with me as well."

The Hinton couple couldn't believe their ears as they stared at Jackson angrily. This young man is using us to shield himself.

"Y-you bo****d! You tricked us!" Honnoh roared.

Locey witnessed the whole incident and cursed Jackson. She quickly ran to her parents and said, "Wait! I can prove their innocence! The tickets belonged to that man over there!"

"This is their daughter! She's just covering for them!" Jackson laughed hysterically.

"Funny. It's their honor to have us here. We don't need no tickets," Zeke suddenly said.

"What? Are you humiliating the Great Marshal? Apprehend them!" Jackson yelled.

Locey and her parents turned pale. They couldn't believe Zeke was still putting up with his act.

But the reaction from the guards shook the whole crowd.

The guard saluted Zeke and said, "Mr. Williams, Ms. Hinton. I apologize for the commotion! Please, proceed through the gate."

Zeke turned to look at Daniel and Honnoh. "They're with me as well."

The Hinton couple couldn't believe their ears as they stared at Jackson angrily. This young man is using us to shield himself.

"Y-you ba****d! You tricked us!" Hannah roared.

Lacey witnessed the whole incident and cursed Jackson. She quickly ran to her parents and said, "Wait! I can prove their innocence! The tickets belonged to that man over there!"

"This is their daughter! She's just covering for them!" Jackson laughed hysterically.

"Funny. It's their honor to have us here. We don't need no tickets," Zeke suddenly said.

"What? Are you humiliating the Great Marshal? Apprehend them!" Jackson yelled.

Lacey and her parents turned pale. They couldn't believe Zeke was still putting up with his act.

But the reaction from the guards shook the whole crowd.

The guard saluted Zeke and said, "Mr. Williams, Ms. Hinton. I apologize for the commotion! Please, proceed through the gate."

Zeke turned to look at Daniel and Hannah. "They're with me as well."