

Zeke Williams 22

Chapter 22

Zeke thought for a moment before giving out his order. "Let him go. I still need to take the Hamilton Group from him and give it to Lacey. It's time for her to live an extravagant life or else she's going to reject me again. Another thing, station ten thousand soldiers in Oakheart City. They might come in handy when we want to take the other families down."

Zeke thought for a moment before giving out his order. "Let him go. I still need to take the Hamilton Group from him and give it to Lacey. It's time for her to live an extravagant life or else she's going to reject me again. Another thing, station ten thousand soldiers in Oakheart City. They might come in handy when we want to take the other families down."

"Yes, Sir!" Lone Wolf replied.

As soon as Jackson returned to his mansion, he got a visit from Emily.

"What do you want?" Jackson questioned Emily impatiently.

"Are you going to let Zeke off the hook?" Emily asked. "I have a plan to bring him down."

"Oh? Tell me."

"Didn't you know that Lacey got a huge deal with the Schneider family recently? They need to produce a huge amount of metal," Emily explained. "According to my sources, Lacey still owes the supplier a lot of money. If we ask the supplier to stop supplying the mill unless she pays, the factory will shut down in two days. This will affect the Schneiders' doing their business, which will anger them. Zeke will come running to beg for your help by then."

Zeke thought for a moment before giving out his order. "Let him go. I still need to take the Hamilton Group from him and give it to Lacey. It's time for her to live an extravagant life or else she's going to reject me again. Another thing, station ten thousand soldiers in Oakheart City. They might come in handy when we want to take the other families down."

"Yes, Sir!" Lone Wolf replied.

As soon as Jackson returned to his mansion, he got a visit from Emily.

"What do you want?" Jackson questioned Emily impatiently.

"Are you going to let Zeke off the hook?" Emily asked. "I have a plan to bring him down."

"Oh? Tell me."

"Didn't you know that Lacey got a huge deal with the Schneider family recently? They need to produce a huge amount of metal," Emily explained. "According to my sources, Lacey still owes the supplier a lot of money. If we ask the supplier to stop supplying the mill unless she pays, the factory will shut down in two days. This will affect the Schneiders' doing their business, which will anger them. Zeke will come running to beg for your help by then."

Zeke thought for a moment before giving out his order. "Let him go. I still need to take the Hamilton Group from him and give it to Lacey. It's time for her to live an extravagant life or else she's going to reject me again. Another thing, station ten thousand soldiers in Oakheart City. They might come in handy when we want to take the other families down.”

Zaka thought for a moment before giving out his order. “Let him go. I still need to take the Hamilton Group from him and give it to Lacay. It’s time for him to live an extravagant life or else he’s going to reject me again. Another thing, station ten thousand soldiers in Oakheart City. They might come in handy when we want to take the other families down.”

“Yes, Sir!” Lona Wolf replied.

As soon as Jackson returned to his mansion, he got a visit from Emily.

“What do you want?” Jackson questioned Emily impatiently.

“Are you going to let Zaka off the hook?” Emily asked. “I have a plan to bring him down.”

“Oh? Tell me.”

“Didn’t you know that Lacay got a huge deal with the Schnaidar family recently? They need to produce a huge amount of metal,” Emily explained. “According to my sources, Lacay still owes the supplier a lot of money. If we ask the supplier to stop supplying the mill unless she pays, the factory will shut down in two days. This will affect the Schnaidars’ doing their business, which will anger them. Zaka will come running to beg for your help by then.”

“Heck, you sure are one scary woman,” Jackson exclaimed. “I happen to know the supplier. This will be a piece of cake. But... Wouldn’t the Great Marshal stop us if we try to harm Lacey?”

“Heck, you sure are one scary woman,” Jackson exclaimed. “I happen to know the supplier. This will be a piece of cake. But... Wouldn’t the Great Marshal stop us if we try to harm Lacey?”

“You don’t have to worry about that,” Emily smiled. “You know that my brother is in the army, right? He called me just now and told me the whole army has learned that Lacey has rejected the Great Marshal; they’re furious. My brother even warned me to stay away from her. Let’s see how the Great Marshal is going to protect her now.”

“Shit! That’s why I was released!” Jackson sighed. “I’ll take care of this right away! Zeke and Lacey, both of you are so dead!”

...

Zeke was woken up by a loud voice early morning the next day.

“Heck, you sure are one scary woman,” Jackson exclaimed. “I happen to know the supplier. This will be a piece of cake. But... Wouldn’t the Great Marshal stop us if we try to harm Lacey?”

“You don’t have to worry about that,” Emily smiled. “You know that my brother is in the army, right? He called me just now and told me the whole army has learned that Lacey has rejected the Great Marshal; they’re furious. My brother even warned me to stay away from her. Let’s see how the Great Marshal is going to protect her now.”

“Shit! That’s why I was released!” Jackson sighed. “I’ll take care of this right away! Zeke and Lacey, both of you are so dead!”

...

Zeke was woken up by a loud voice early morning the next day.

"Heck, you sure are one scary woman," Jackson exclaimed. "I happen to know the supplier. This will be a piece of cake. But... Wouldn't the Great Marshal stop us if we try to harm Lacey?"

"You don't have to worry about that," Emily smiled. "You know that my brother is in the army, right? He called me just now and told me the whole army has learned that Lacey has rejected the Great Marshal; they're furious. My brother even warned me to stay away from her. Let's see how the Great Marshal is going to protect her now."

"Shit! That's why I was released!" Jackson sighed. "I'll take care of this right away! Zeke and Lacey, both of you are so dead!"

...

Zeke was woken up by a loud voice early morning the next day.

"Listen! Someone has just sent ten thousand soldiers into our city!" Daniel exclaimed.

"Listen! Someone has just sent ten thousand soldiers into our city!" Daniel exclaimed.

"Something big might go down soon!" Hannah guessed. "Why else would anyone deploy that many soldiers during such a peaceful time?"

Zeke stared at Lacey affectionately. They're here for you.

Lacey's phone suddenly rang. After she'd answered it, her face turned pale.