

SHE MADE A COMEBACK AS A RENOWNED DOCTOR

Chapter 1033 - Capítulo 1033: 1033: They Are Considered Intruders

Capítulo 1033: Chapter 1033: They Are Considered Intruders

The man tossed the dagger he was playing with aside and lazily said, “With so many people, if I don’t set up a proper meal, it would look stingy of me.”

He glanced at Wesley, and Wesley pointed at himself with refusal written all over his face, “Big Boss, I can’t cook.”

“ . . . ”

Liam said, “I want you to instruct the chef.”

Wesley scratched the back of his head and said awkwardly, “Big Boss, we’ve never stayed here before, even the maids we got are temporary, where would we find a chef right now.”

“Is there any food prepared in the kitchen? If there is, I can cook.” Hope offered.

“No.” Waylon held Hope’s hand, “The kitchen has the smell of oil and smoke.”

Waylon couldn’t bear anything uncomfortable getting near Hope, not even a little bit of cooking smoke.

Liam raised an eyebrow, “How about a few of us go in and absorb the cooking smoke for your wife?”

“If you want to do that, no one will stop you.”

“With someone as stingy as you, even if I wanted to, there’s no place to do it.”

Hope raised her hand to stop Waylon, “Wait, how about we go eat out? How about it, you two... masters?”

In the end, everyone still decided to eat out.

“Wait a second.” Joseph suddenly spoke up.

Zoey blinked, “What’s up?”

“What about Nora? Can you let her go?” When he came in, he saw Nora being dragged away.

When Joseph arrived, he observed the place; the law and order here wasn’t as good as back home. In Nora’s situation, being thrown out meant having no way to survive.

“Brother, you’re pleading for her? I nearly got killed by her.”

Hope had already called the Sanders Family to tell them what happened, so he knew the situation.

“I’m not pleading, just taking her back home. There will be a way to punish her, at least not letting her die here directly.”

Liam raised an indifferent eyebrow, “As you wish.”

After all, she was an insignificant person, they could do whatever they wanted with her.

Zoey didn't say anything, implicitly agreeing with Joseph's words.

...

By lunchtime, everyone walked out together, none of them had been here before.

It could indeed be considered a little trip, just to relax.

This place didn't seem much different from other cities from the outside, the streets were bustling with traffic, looking lively.

However, the shops on these streets were somewhat different from those in other cities, there were many weapon stores here, while shops like fashion, accessories, and jewelry were few.

Walking all the way over, they even saw many shooting ranges, martial arts training centers, and arenas, which looked unique.

Zoey's previous bad mood had completely vanished, and with Luke, Willow, they were like discovering a new world, looking at every new and interesting thing.

Even Baby was unusually excited, coming out sleepy with his little head drooping on Waylon's shoulder earlier.

Now, in Waylon's arms, he was very energetic, wanting to grab every interesting toy to play with.

Baby, Luke, and Willow had almost become the center of attention, and Wesley, Roman, and Eliana wished they could buy everything to give to these three little ones.

Since they were unfamiliar faces, as they walked along, they inevitably attracted a lot of attention.

But with Liam walking casually and lazily in front, those people would glance at them for a moment and then quickly retract their gazes, not daring to act recklessly.

“Are these all people from the four influential families?” Waylon asked.

Liam glanced at him and nodded, “Mm.”

Hope was holding Waylon’s large hand, walking ahead side by side with Liam and the others, curiously asking Waylon, “Did you know about this place too?”

“I’d heard a bit about it before, but today is the first time seeing it.” Waylon answered her, providing a detailed explanation, “Not only do they have the four influential families, but there are also various gangs big and small, to them, we are intruders here.”

This was also why Joseph pleaded for Nora.

Here, a girl by herself, with no one to protect her, would have it rough.

“Will there be any danger?” Hope instinctively looked at Zoey and the others, who were playing crazily with Luke and Willow.

Fortunately, they had Joseph, Wesley, and the others watching over them.

“No, not with him here.” Waylon raised his eyebrows, indicating that as long as Liam was around, those people wouldn’t dare even if they wanted to.