

SHE MADE A COMEBACK AS A RENOWNED DOCTOR

Chapter 1041: Chapter 1041: Request to Meet Liam Cloud

At this moment, Eliana Shaw walked in from outside and approached Liam Cloud. "Big Boss, Evelyn Sinclair is here."

Liam Cloud raised an eyebrow, responded indifferently, his eyes deep, pondering something unknown.

"Big Boss, she says she's here to pick up the child. Should we let her in?"

"Ignore her."

Perhaps sending the child here wasn't Evelyn Sinclair's idea, but if she can't even protect her own daughter and lets others use her, what use does she have?

Saying to send here and then don't want, to pick up then take away—quite interesting. Do they really think he has nothing better to do all day than play their games?

Joseph Sanders raised an eyebrow, looked at Olivia, "This child really isn't yours?"

Liam Cloud frowned.

Throughout the day, he couldn't remember how many times he'd been asked this question, and hearing it too much was annoying.

Recalling what Evelyn Sinclair said about that banquet, it did ring a bell with him.

He wasn't someone who frequently attended such boring banquets, just once in a while, accompanying Hope Williams if he remembered correctly, it was to cheer her up.

That day, he indeed drank a bit, but not to the point of being drunk, let alone enough to sleep with someone without noticing.

As for who it was that had relations with Evelyn Sinclair.

Liam Cloud's eyes narrowed slightly, his gaze focused in one direction, Roman Frost's direction.

He wasn't sure, but Roman Frost's attitude towards Olivia seemed off.

"He doesn't want to see me?"

Evelyn Sinclair paced back and forth anxiously at the door, upon hearing Eliana Shaw's words, she became even more unsettled.

She knew George Sinclair had done this on purpose, it was obvious to Liam Cloud, and it would inevitably lead to his dislike.

Precisely for this reason, she was even more worried about Olivia's current situation.

Filled with worry, Evelyn Sinclair stepped forward and stopped Eliana Shaw, who was just about to leave, "Wait a moment."

Eliana Shaw halted and turned back to glance at Evelyn Sinclair, "What else do you need?"

Evelyn Sinclair frowned, "Could you trouble yourself to tell him once more that I want to apologize in person, then take the child back?"

Eliana Shaw crossed her arms, leaned lazily to the side, and sneered, "Apologize? What's there to apologize for?"

"Your Sinclair Family is truly bold, our Big Boss has already given you a pass, yet you plot against him, sending the child to his side to elicit sympathy, and then you want to leverage the child for your own gain? But you should know what kind of person our Big Boss is, Miss Sinclair, don't you think this move is exceptionally foolish?"

Listening to Eliana Shaw's words, Evelyn Sinclair's eyes lowered.

Indeed, anyone with a bit of wit could figure out the intention behind sending the child to him.

Such an obvious move, bound to cause dislike, yet George Sinclair still insisted on making the gamble, disregarding Olivia's safety.

In her heart, Evelyn Sinclair felt only desolation; in his eyes, nothing was more important than family legacy.

Ha.

Yes, even a son isn't more important than the family legacy, let alone a granddaughter.

Repeated tricks, not seeking self-improvement, but rather pinning hopes on others, trying to be a vine clinging to a big tree, the decline of the Sinclair Family is inevitable.

Eliana Shaw noticed the slight sadness in Evelyn Sinclair's eyes and found it amusing.

They were the ones who sent the child here, then wanted her back, and now they come to demand her back.

It was indeed quite amusing.

Now putting up such an act for whom?

Eliana Shaw sneered, somewhat disapproving.

"I know your family likes to say one thing and do another. Miss Sinclair, please just leave. Don't infuriate our Big Boss and lose more than you gain."

Faced with Eliana Shaw's ridicule, Evelyn Sinclair didn't explain much because no matter what she said, it wouldn't help.

She was part of the Sinclair Family; in their eyes, whether it was George Sinclair or her actions, it made no difference in essence.

She just sincerely said, "We indeed handled this matter improperly. I now only want to take Olivia back. Sorry to have caused you trouble."

"Take her back? No need, if you dared to send her, we're willing to keep her."
