Chapter 151 Glenn

We go back to our room after we made sure Nora was settled in at the infirmary. Julian puts his arms around me as soon as the door closes behind us, I look up at him and shake my head.

He lets go of me and walks over to the window. I want to ask him what is going on in his head, but I keep quiet. He just stares out the window and after a while I think I have to ask for it myself, then he starts talking.

"When I was twenty-five I accompanied Alpha Maddox to a Full Moon Ball, when he was in search of his Mate. I met a woman there, we had a few too many to drink and spend the night together.

In the morning she left, I never knew her name and it was meaningless. But I will never regret that night, though." For a second I am baffled, but I decide to hear him out.

He stays quiet for a few minutes and I fear that he is backing out of his confession. "Six months later a Guard called me to the border. He was standing near a baby wrapped in a blanket, a folded note with my name on it pinned to it. Inside the note was written This is your daughter, she was born on November twenty-sixth at 14:25. Don't bother looking for me. I don't want you or your daughter in my life.

She has been my reason for living, until she left over five years ago. She found out I had kept the real story on her mother secret from her and no one has heard from her since." He turns to me with tears in his eyes and my heart breaks for him.

I open my arms and he walks into them, sobbing for his daughter.

"Julian, she will be back. She was mad at you for not trusting her with the truth. But she will figure out that you didn't tell her, because you did not want to hurt her" I just keep him in my arms, whispering sweet nothings in his ear.

I ask him to tell me more about his Daughter, but he shakes his head. I look at him in confusion, I couldn't understand why he would not tell me more about her.

Apparently he gets my confusion and says "You want to know about our Daughter." My eyes widen and he chuckles "She is part of the deal, My Love. With me, comes Izzy,"

I know he is right and I know I will love her as if she is my own. "Tell me about our Daughter, Julian. What kind of a kid was she?" And he starts talking, turns out lazy was an adventurous child Always getting in to trouble and had trouble with authority. But I could hear the love for her in his voice and I could not wait for the day I would meet her.

I must have dozed off, but I have no idea for how long A hand sliding down my chest wakes me and knowing my Mate, I know exactly where this is going. I open my eyes to see a mischievous smile on his Lace as his hand closes around my cock.

Since the night of the Full Moon we have spent every night making love, sometimes slow and sweet, but most time hard and fast. I can't get enough of this man or his cock, but I love it especially when Leo is Close to the surface and looking in his eyes I can see that Leo is the one in charge.

boundaries and so far I have loved it all. He squeezes my cock just a little harder every time he pumps his hand up and down.

Leo knows exactly how to make my cock harden, I feel his rock-hard cock against my hip and I grab it with my left hand. He groans and I start moving my hand up and down.

He leans his head against mine and whispers "I need to feel you inside me, My Love." He puts his hand back on my cock and I feel the chill of the lube he applies, still rubbing up and down my cock. When he is satisfied with his job, he pulls me on top of him and I slam my lips to his.

I am still holding on to his cock, as I get on to my knees and before I release it I give it a little. push his hips back so his ass comes up and I put my cock against his back-entrance, then I start pushing my cock inside him.

Leo pushes forward even more and grabs hold of my hips, pulling me towards his botly. I understand immediately what he wants and I slam my cock inside him. We both start groaning as I slid in and out of his back-entrance, faster and faster.

I can feel that I am getting close and not wanting to finish before he does, I grab his cock and start moving my hand up and down. Julian tells me to move faster, I know he is also close and then I feel his finger slipping into my ass.

I groan even louder, loving the feel of the intrusion and he pushes a second finger in. We both start pounding in to the other and soon we both groan loudly as we climax.

After we clean ourselves up, we crawl back in to bed and fall asleep, holding each other close.

A Gamma's Revenge Chapter 152 Rico

For the past five days, we have been searching hide-out after hide-out. All we have found so far are bodies of she-wolves locked in cages. It is getting more depressing by the day.

On the first day we had some success when Dagmar and Maddox found seven survivors and Marcus and Lily finding Jason, Julian and Glenn had found Nora a few days ago, but that was all that we had found of Alpha Max's prisoners.

Most location had been emptied and only in a few had we found papers or smashed up computers. Samantha is sitting next to me, studying the intel we have on our next location.

Having my Mate with me, is what keeps me going and know she feels the same. I am still amazed I found my Mate after all these years and I will do whatever I have to do to keep her save and protected.

In the past few days, Samantha has found out that I am very protective of her and despite the fact she hates it, she lets me, knowing it is in our nature. As we pull up to our next location, I tell her to stay behind me when we enter and she rolls her eyes at me, but I know she will do as I have asked.

Opening the door, the first thing I smell is a scent we have smelled every time we walked into a hide-out. I see Samantha wrinkle her nose, she keeps walking even though she hates the smell.

We move from room to room, but they are all empty and I just hope we won't find a basement here. The Alpha, whose pack is helping us, signals me to be quiet and I make my way over to him. He is standing in front of a door and we can hear a sound coming from the room. I nod my head at two Warriors and they kick down the door. My eyes widen as I look in the room, there are a few desks and on each desk there are computers.

They are all still operating, I check the doorframe for boobytraps and then I walk in side. Samantha is already on the phone with Maddox to inform him of what we have found.

I can't hear the entire conversation, but I heard enough to know that he is going to send Stephan here. After she disconnects the call, she tells me we have to wait here until Stephan shows up.

Which will be close to nightfall, so we decide that the Alpha and his men go home. Samantha and I will wait here for Stephan and his team to arrive.

Sitting in the living room, I hold Samantha in my arms and nuzzle her neck. My lips slowly find their way to the mark I made and as soon as my lips touch it, I hear her moan softly.

She moves in my lap and she puts pressure on my cock with her ass. I groan as my cock hardens against her body and that makes her move just a little more. "Woman, are you trying to kill me?" I ask under my breath, I see a smirk appear on her face and she moves her ass once again on my cock.

And I groan again, louder this time and she giggles. Before I can stop her, she starts grinding her ass and my cock grows harder. Igrab her hips and lift her, so she can straddle me. The second I put her down, she starts grinding her hips again. Samantha Feeling his cock grow makes me wet and I can't help myself as I start grinding my hips. I love this man.

I start pulling at his shirt, because I need to see and fed his naked body. Within seconds we are both naked and he puts me back on his lap, his cock slowly sliding into my soaking wet pussy.

With his hands on my hips, he guides me up and down his hard-on. Our movements become wilder, but not enough for me and I'm glad Rico knows what I need. He lets Jax come forward, knowing that in this moment I need what Jax is more than willing to give. "Hello, Beautiful." Jax whispers in my car, sending a shiver down my spine. Without warning he pulls me of his lap and bends me over the side of the couch we had been sitting on.

He slams his cock back into my pussy and starts thrusting in and out of me. One hand is twirled in my hair, the other is traveling from my side to my breast. As soon as he reaches my breast he pinches my nipple, making me moan.

Jax and Rico always know what my body needs and right now that is a hard and fast fuck. Jax keeps pounding into me, letting his hand slide from my breast to my belly and then further down.

He starts rubbing my clit, hard and fast, and it doesn't take long before I start panting. Feeling that I am close to climaxing, he starts thrusting into me even harder and I can feel his cock grow even harder inside my pussy.

Before I can brace myself, he pushes me over the edge and we climax together. He pulls me against body, kissing down my neck and it takes us awhile to come down from our high.

A few hours later, I get woken by voices and for a second I panic. "Samantha, it's okay. It's just Stephan and his team." Rico calls out to me and I know he has felt my panic.

He walks into the room and puts an arm around my shoulders. Having him close calms me down and It smile as six men walk into the room. Like Rico, these guys are Lycans and they are taller than most werewolves.

I know I am a small woman, but next to these guys I really feel small. I hear Rico chuckle next to me and without giving it a second thought I jab my elbow in his ribs.

I hear gasps coming from the guys and one of them steps forward reaching for me with his hand. But before he can grab me, Rico starts growling at him and, I turn to him and put my hand on his arm.

"It's okay. You are their Beta." I say and look him in the eye. He calms down and pulls me close to his side, putting his nose in my neck. That's when the guys realize who I am to Rico and the guy actually apologizes to me.

I tell him it's fine, that he couldn't have known and that they better make sure they wouldn't tell anyone. Rico explains that there are more mated couples, but that Alpha Maddox wants to surprise everyone back home.

I wake up, sprawled over his chest and I can feel his heart beat steady in my car, Sleeping in his arms is the best feeling ever, I don't think I have ever slept this good in my life.

I feel Maddox stir, he pulls me closer to him and I start placing kisses on his chest. His cock stirs against my thigh. I lift my eyes to his face and our eyes meet.

I slide my hand down his body, my fingers gracing the up of his cock. "Babygirl, what do you think you are doing?" I start to slide my fingers further down his cock and a smile crosses my face as he starts to groan.

I grab the base of his rock-hard cock, kissing my way from his chest to his crotch. Holding his cock. I open my mouth and slowly put my lips around the head, I start bobbing my head up and down.

He starts to thrust his hips up and I suck his cock harder, squeezing the base of his cock. He comes as he screams my name. He grabs the back of my head and yanks me of his body, flipping me on my back.

He gives me no time, before he thrust his cock into my soaking wet pussy. I moan loudly at the intrusion and he knows I love it.

have learned over the past week or so that I love it when they man-handle me and I am still hoping Cole will fulfill his promise to me. Maddox puts his arms under my knees to open me even further and he is able to slam his cock in even deeper. My moans are getting louder and I hear him groan as his movements become more erratic. As I look in his eyes, I see Colle close to the surface and the look I get tells me he is up to something.

He pulls his cock out, to replace them with two of his fingers and his head drops to my breast. As he nibbles on my nipple, his fingers start moving in and out of my pussy and just as I am nearing my climax, he pulls out his fingers.

And slowly he slides his fingers around my body to my ass and I shiver in anticipation. He pushes one finger in my ass and at the same time he shoves his cock back into my pussy.

He adds a second finger, as he starts to thrust in and out of me and I tell him to go harder. He does as I ask, his cock and fingers slamming into my body over and over until we both climax.

After we both catch our breath, we get ready for anothe day of searching-

This is our ninth day of searching the locations Greg gave us. Once more we are heading out, but I have no hope left on finding any of Alpha Max's prisoners alive

Uncle James is driving us and I curl up into Maddox's side in the backseat. Maddox puts his arm around me and kisses the top of my head. We go over the intel we have found on the area we have to search.

In this case it isn't a building we are going to search, but a series of caves. Greg drew us a map of the caves and the tunnels that connect them, so we should be able to find our way through the caves.

It will takes us a few hours to get there and I snuggle up to Maddox. It doesn't take long before my eyes close and I drift off to sleep in his arms.

Holding Dagmar in my arms while she sleeps, is not something I thought would ever happen. "You better take good care of my Niece or I will send Elsa after you James says with a ile on his face.

"Don't worry, James. My Sister will kick my ass before I can do anything wrong. When it comes to being overprotective of Dagmar, she gives us a run for our money." And we both laugh, because we know that that is true.

Elsa is like a mother-bear when it comes to Dagmar an she always makes sure that we remember that. James and I discuss the past week and a half of searching for anything we can find connected to Alpha Max.

James tells me that Stephan had been able to save the information from the systems that Rico had found. And that he was on his way home to analyze it all. Hoping we would get some more answers about Alpha Max and Grace.

A few minutes before we reach our destination, I wake her up. Giving her time to get a clear head and adjust to the light. We get out of the car, looking around us I don't see any caves and for a second I wonder if Greg send us on a wild goose-chase. Then Dagmar calls out my name and I can see excitement on her face. I follow her into some brushes and then I see the entrance to a cave, a rather small one.

Soon James joins us at the entrance of the cave and I tell him that none of us will fit through. "Elsa once told me she knew a girl that could slip through almost anything. She was quit fast and made you and her Father look like fools from time to time." I smile at his comment, because I know who he is talking about and he is right she would have been able to slip in there. "Izzy." I hear Dagmar mutter.

We walk around for a while, looking for a cave that has a bigger entrance. James finds one that is big enough for him and Dagmar, but there is no way I can get in there. We agree that I keep looking, while they go into this cave.

"You better keep our link open, Babygirl. Cole growls into her ear, she smiles at me and nods before she enters the cave. A few feet away, I find an entrance that is large enough for me to get through and I let Dagmar know through our link that I am going into the cave.

We search the caves and tunnels for hours, but all we find are a handful of bodies in cages. James was the only one to find something unusual, he found a braided bracelet in the cave with the small entrance. It looked familiar, but I couldn't place it. So I told James to put it away safely.

Today we go to our last location, hoping against all odds that we will find any of his prisoners alive. It is still dark outside, when we get into the cars and head to our last destination.

Paul puts his hand on my knees, I put mine on top of his and look at him, smiling. I still cannot believe I found my Mate or better said I can't believe I didn't run

My entire life I figured I didn't need a man and that I would run in the opposite direction if I ever found my Mate. However, the second I looked into his eyes, I knew I had found the place where I belonged and I am glad I have him with me. I lean towards him and he knows exactly what I want, so he grabs my face in both his hands and kisses me without holding back.

Paul holds me close to him and he chuckles when I try to snuggle closer to him. After we waste any time and before the night was over we had mated and marked one and other.

met, we didn't

Being a Lycan I always figured that a Werewolf as a Mate, would be a disappointment, but Paul proved me wrong. He knows exactly what I need and want and he is not afraid to give it to me.

His hand slides up my thigh, I try to stop him because we are not alone. But he just keeps going, further up my thigh and when he reaches my core I give in. Through my clothes he finds my sensitive spot and starts rubbing it.

I let my knees fall to the side to give him better access and then he puts more pressure with his hand. My eyes shut on their own, my head drops back and I have to bite my lip to keep from moaning out loud.

My breath starts to falter, I can feel he is about to push me over the edge and Paul starts rubbing faster. I climax hard and somehow I have managed to keep quiet, even though I know for sure our driver knows what happened. After I catch my breath, I whisper in his car "You are going to pay for this, Wolf." And all Paul does, is chuckle and pulling me to his side. Somewhere along the drive I must have dozed off, because when Paul wakes me, we are at our destination. The last location we have to search, some teams have already searched every hide-out assigned to them and some have their last search today, just like us.

None of us have any hope left on finding survivors, so our main concern right now is to find anything that can answer question about Alpha Max or Grace. Unfortunately we haven't found much that could contain any information that might provide answers. We split our team in to three, so we can search faster and more sufficient. Paul and I walk around the ground floor, opening every door we come across, only to find them empty.

Then Paul opens a door that leads to the basement "Probably more bodies." He says through our mind-link.

Paul

Jenna follows me down the stairs and even though I know she can handle herself, a part of me wants to Reep her from what we are about to find. I can hear Lex pacing in my head, he doesn't like the fact that Jenna is here with us, but he knows that she would not appreciate it if we told her to stay outside.

We can already smell the scent of blood and death, it doesn't upset me as much as it did the first time I smelled it walking into a basement. And I am glad that Alpha Max is already dead, otherwise I would be more than willing to help him out of this world. At the bottom of the stairs is a small narrow hallway and at the end of it is a door. Slowly I open the door and the stench becomes almost unbearable, I have to brace myself to make sure I don't empty my stomach.

I hear Jenna a gasp and for a second I contemplate tossing her over my shoulder and run out of the building. But then we hear a whimper coming from inside the room, I take a deep breath and the door further.

Again I see cages with dead bodies in them and I wonder where the noise came from, then I hear it again.

We step in to the room and I start walking past the cages, looking to see who made the noise we heard. Jenna grabs my hand, I turn towards her and follow her gaze.

She is looking at a cage to the far right of the room, the She-wolf inside is dead, but the Wolf lying in front of the cage is still breathing, barely.

One of the Warriors with us links his Alpha and in seconds the Wolf is taken away, he will be taken to the dungeons. And after the Pack-Doctor has taken a look at him, he will be questioned for information and I know that once he reveals all he knows, he will die. After we are sure there is nothing of interest, we head back to the Pack, we have been staying with. In the morning we will go back to the Black Moon Pack, meeting up with our Pack-members and then we will find out what everyone discovered during their searches. Jenna dozes off again and I hold her close, Lex makes sure I know that sleep is the last thing on his mind.

Jenna steps out of the car, after hours of driving. Before she can walk towards the house, I toss her over my shoulder and make my way to our room. I can smell her arousal and I know she is as eager as I am to get back to our room.

The second the door closes behind us, she wiggles of my shoulder and starts to take her clothes of, mine follow just as fast. She wants to walk to the bed, but before she can take a step Lex pushes forward and he pushes her up against the wall.

With one thrust, my cock is buried balls deep into her pussy and I hear her moan in response, Neither one of us needs slow right now, we both want it hard and fast and I know it will be fast and quick. I pound my cock inside her and she pushes her hips towards me with the same determination.

We don't slow down, until we both feel our climax coming and then I start thrusting into her, slow and hard. Her moans get louder as I hit her G-spot over and over again and then we both come.

Still holding my cock inside her, I make my way over to the bed. We crash down on it and drift off to sleep.

Every hide-out, Greg had marked on the map, had been searched and we had only found a handful of survivors. Seven She-wolves, a male, Nora and a baby boy were all that was left of all the Pack's Alpha Max had slaughtered. Today the last of our pack-members will return to the Black Moon Pack, the male, Nora and the baby boy would be coming with them. The seven She-wolves didn't have to travel, after all we found them not far from here. Alpha Owen has taken them in to his Pack and I have auspicion he will find his Mate in the woman he has been looking after. As soon as everyone was back here, we would be able to question the male Jenna and Paul had found. Paul had informed me that he needed medical attention, so we cleared a room in the infirmary and Guards will be outside, in place. I walk into the living room, seeing Dagmar on Maddox's lap and a smile appears on my face. I am still getting used to seeing them together, but they are perfect for each other and they look so happy.

I can't wait to get home and see the look on Elsa's face, when she sees the two of them.

She will scold me for not telling her, but it is worth it and she will agree with me in the end.

We hear a car pull up to the front of the house and we all walk to the front door. Rico and Samantha had picked up Julian and Glenn on the way back and it is good to see their smiling, happy faces.

Maddox hands Rico a tablet with a file on it and he starts reading it. He doesn't say anything, but his facial expression is no longer a happy one. Julian turns towards him and it looks as if he wants to ask something. but Maddox just shakes his head. Apparently we just have to wait until the rest is here to find out what those files entail. Then another car pulls up to the house and Jenna and Paul jump out of it Jenna opens the backdoor and holds out her hand to assist someone to exit the car. Marcus walks around the back of the car and I realize it must be Lily that needs help, but why. A smile appears on Marcus' face, when he looks down and when Jenna steps back I see Lily holding a baby in her artis.

"What?" I hear Rico and Julian mutter and I hear Dagmar and Maddox chuckle. Marcus has his hand on Lily's lower back as they walk towards us and with his other hand he is adjusting the blanket on the baby.

Dagmar walks up to Lily and looks at the baby in her arms "Hello, Jason. Nice to meet you." She the meantime everyone has gathered outside and they are staring at the baby in Lily's arms.

She hands him to Marcus and I have to stifle a laugh, because it kind of looks ridiculous a big warrior holding a tiny baby. Marcus' head snaps up to mine and says "You think this is funny? Wait until you are holding your own."

The others start laughing and I can't help but agree with him. We go over the file Stephan send, not that he had much to tell and what he had found out was not something useful.

But there was still much he had to go through, so we just have to wait patiently. "What about the male, Jenna and Paul found? Can he be questioned?" Rico ask and we all look at the Pack-Doctor,

He looks at Maddox and says "He is dying. He told me you guys found him in front of his Mate's cage. He has given up on living and I can't tell you how much longer he has."

Maddox tells Jenna and Paul to go talk to him, get as much information as they can and then to report back to him.

After they leave for the infirmary, John walks in with Nora and Glenn walks over to her. He holds out his hand and he leads her over to the couch.

Maddox sits across from her, he looks her in the eye and starts asking her questions about Alpha Max, the attack on her pack and other survivors. She answers any question he asks and confirms what Greg had told Us.

She starts crying as she tells us about the She-wolves and their Mates and that is my cue to get Greg. He is still not aware of the fact that we found her and it is time that they get reunited.

As I walk back to the house with Greg, he asks me if we found any survivors and I tell him about what we found in the hide-outs. The one thing I do not tell him is that Nora was found and that she is here.

The second I open the front door his head lifts up and be looks at me. Confused. I know he can smell her and I nod my head. He walks in, following her scent and the second he sees her, he crumbles. She runs over to him, throwing her arms around him and she kisses every inch of his face.

Maddox gets of the couch and walks towards Nora and Greg. "Nora, Greg. I know you have been through a lot, but there are certain things we have to discuss." They both get up and look at Maddox, waiting for what he has to say.

He tells them that they are welcome to come back with us, but that Greg has to prove his loyalty to our Pack if they want to become part of it. Nora looks up at Greg and they both nod at Maddox,

They understand where he is coming from and they know his offer is sincere. So they accept his terms on coming home with us.

John escorts Nora and Greg to the Pack-house, to show them their room. In the meantime we go over everything we found, from smashed computers to papers. Julian is talking to Glenn, but he stops in the middle of the sentence when he sees what James is holding in his hand.

"Where did you find that?" He asks under his breath and all heads turn to him. James tells him that he had found it in a cave with a small entrance and we hear him mutter "Izzy."

Glenn puts his hand on his knee and I can tell that they are talking through their mind-link. Julian holds out his hand and James hands him the bracelet. He turns it around in his hand, looking at it intently and then I see tears in his eyes.

"This belongs to Izzy." He whispers. Dagmar asks him if he is sure that it belongs to her. He nods his head. and I can tell that everyone is confused. So I ask him how he can be so sure.

Julian

Holding the bracelet, the memory of the day I made it for her comes flooding back. "I made it for Izzy when she was eight. We were going to visit another Pack and we would be gone for a few days.

She had been upset ever since she found out. Elsa told me to get her something that would remind her that I would come back. I put our initials in it, that is how I know that it is hers."

And I show Glenn the initials in the bracelet. When I look up I see that to some it still doesn't make sense. "Izzy is my daughter. She left over five years ago, because I kept a secret.

I haven't heard from her since" I am holding on to Glenn's hand. Knowing where it was found I have no hope anymore and I break down.

Maddox

Now I understand why it looked so familiar, I remember the day he gave it to Izzy and I can still see the huge smile on her face as he put it on her wrist.

Dagmar looks at me in shock and we all realize that it can only mean one thing, if that bracelet was there, so was Izzy, John rushes back in to the house with a worried look on his face and Alice runs to him, needing his comfort. Through the mind-link I quickly tell John what we had found out and I know he feels the same sadness, even though he never knew Izzy. We all know that the chance of her surviving was none, because we had found no one alive in those caves. Glean looks at me and I know what he wants to ask, so I just nod my head: Glenn pulls Julian from the couch and leads him up the stairs. All the females are in tears and Eric has put Maggie on his lap, rocking her back and forth. Lily is hugging Jason, while Marcus is softly whispering in her ear. Dagmar is in my arms and I can feel her sadness, she lost a friend. All the Squad members lost a friend and their Commander.

Sam walks to a window and as he looks up at the sky, he says "You will always be in our hearts, Commander." Matteo walks over to him and I can see that this hard on my men.

"Alpha Maddox, may I ask something? The question comes from Sienna. "What would you like to know, Sienna?" She looks around the room and for a second think she might not ask her question.

"I thought that Luna Dagmar was their Commander. So why did he say that." It is Dagmar that answers her question "I am Commander of the Guards. That means that every Squad Commander answers to me and I answer to Alpha Maddox.

After Izzy left, Jordan and I couldn't put ourselves to the task of finding her replacement. So we never did and I took over her Squad myself. But I always held hope that one day, she would take back her Squad."

After those words realization sinks in and her knees buckle. I catch her, before she can hit the floor and I sit down on the couch, pulling her on my lap. I hold her tight as I rock her back and forth, Cole is whispering in her car and we both know it will take some time for her to pull herself together again.

James

My heart breaks for the second time today. First when Julian told us that the bracelet belonged to Izzy and just now, when Dagmar realized that her friend would not be coming back.

I don't know how to break the good and the bad news to Elsa. She will be thrilled to hear that her Brother found his second chance, but the loss of Izzy will overshadow that.

I know from the stories Elsa told me, she helped raise Izzy and I know that she loved Izzy as if she had. been her own. From what Julian had told me, Elsa was the only one Izzy listened to whenever she had gotten herself into trouble.

In the time that I had known Izzy, I had found out she was a smart and talented young lady. She had a few, secrets of her own, even though I was never able to figure them out completely.

Lily

My heart aches for someone I never met, someone I never knew. I feel sad and Marcus and Jason are the ones keeping me from breaking down. "Will you hold Jason for a while? I need to keep myself busy, so I am going to prepare dinner."

Marcus takes Jason from my arms and Alice and Maggie follow me into the kitchen. We don't speak as we go to work, we don't have to because we all feel the same.

I just hope Julian will be able to come to terms with her death eventually. Once dinner is ready, I mind- link Glenn to let him know and I tell him if Julian would prefer to stay upstairs, I will bring dinner up.

It startles me, when it is Julian that links me and lets me now that they will be staying in their room. After preparing two plates, I walk upstairs and after placing the plates on the floor, knock on the door and leave.

"Alpha Maddox, may I ask something?" The question comes from Sienna. "What would you like to know, Sienna?" She looks around the room and for a second think she might not ask her question.

"I thought that Luna Dagmar was their Commander. So why did he say that." It is Dagmar that answers her question "I am Commander of the Guards. That means that every Squad Commander answers to me and I answer to Alpha Maddox.

After Izzy left. Jordan and I couldn't put ourselves to the task of finding her replacement. So we never did and I took over her Squad myself. But I always held hope that one day, she would take back her Squad."

After those words realization sinks in and her knees buckle. I catch her, before she can hit the floor and I sit down on the couch, pulling her on my lap. I hold her tight as I rock her back and forth, Cole is whispering in her ear and we both know it will take some time for her to pull herself together again.

My heart breaks for the second time today. First when Julian told us that the bracelet belonged to Izzy and just now, when Dagmar realized that her friend would not be coming back.

I see Lily coming out of the kitchen with two plates and I know that Glenn and Julian won't be joining us for dinner. Alice walks in to the living room and announces that dinner is ready, we follow her to the dining room.

A few moments later Lily joins us and no one says a word during dinner. Looking at James, I can tell he is miles away and I wonder what is going through his mind. And then it hits me, Elsa, she will be devastated when she hears about Izzy.

Coming home will not be as I had envisioned, it will not be the joyous occasion I had hoped for. After dinner, the girls clear the table and do the dishes. They all walk around with a glooming expression on their faces and once they are done, we all retire for the night. Dagmar

I sit up straight in bed, sweat gushing down my back and tears streaming down my face. I don't know what happened to Izzy, for real. But in my nightmare, I find her in a cage, barely alive and with her last breath she ask me why I didn't recue her.

Maddox is still asleep and I slide out of bed, making sure I don't wake him. It is early morning and I know I won't be able to get back to sleep. I put on some clothes and walk down the stairs.

I go out the back door and sit down on a chair on the back porch. I stare straight ahead, not really seeing anything. I don't see the sun rise, I don't hear the others coming down and I don't hear the door open behind me.

I do feel his presence the second he walks out the door he walks up to me and lifts me into his arms. "Are you okay, Babygirl?" He whispers into my ear. I shake my head, because I know I am not okay and I don't know how long it will take for me to feel okay again. As he holds me in his arms, I tell Maddox about my nightmare and the tears start coming again. Cole whispers sweet nothings in my ear as I sob uncontrollably in his arms and he pulls me closer to his body.

I feel him walking, but I don't lift my head to see where we are going. Suddenly I feel him bending over and then I feel another pair of arms around me. I smella familiar scent and I start crying even harder, I am in the arms of my friend's Father.

I would never be able to get to know her. Never find out if she was as much of a nuisance as Julian described her. Never able to ask her to tell me stories about my Mate and her childhood.

And I know it will be awhile before Julian will be able to talk about her. I will be there for him, every step of the wow I been watching them as the slowly drift off to deen holding the other one th

I open my eyes, smelling a familiar scent and I know it is not Maddox. I am looking at Julian, who I am holding tight and he is clinging to me as well. Then I remember what happened early this morning and I turn my head to see both Maddox and Glenn looking at us. "How long have we been asleep?" I ask. Julian stirs and can feel that he is slowly waking up. keep holding on to Julian. It comforts us both and I know it will be hard for him to move on.

I sit up, but

I am glad he has Glenn, because I don't know what would happen if he had to go through this alone. We sit in silence for a while and Lily has brought in some breakfast.

Then Julian asks "When are we going home? I need to leave this place, Alpha." Maddox tells us everything has been arranged and we will be leaving in a few hours. We will be back home before midnight.

I can't wait to see Aunt Elsa, but I also fear seeing her. Maddox feels that I am anxious and pulls me to his chest. "James will be there for her." He says through our mind-link. I nod my head, because I know he is right.

The hours we had left with the Blood Moon Pack was spent talking about an alliance, Sienna saying goodbye to her family, promising that she would return soon.

Our new Pack-members saying goodbye to a place they once called home. I am helping Jenna and Lily bring the last stuff to the SUV's and then we are ready to go.

We drive to the airport, where our jets are waiting. One belongs to our Pack, the other to an old friend of Maddox, who was more than willing to let us borrow it

After the planes take off, I crawl on to Maddox's lap and put my head in his neck, breathing in his scent. He rubs small circles on my back, while kissing me on the top of my head.

I lock eyes with Julian and I give him a small smile. I hear him mutter something, but it is too soft for me, to make sense out of it. I raise my eye-brow and he sighs.

"How can I face Gamma Elsa and tell her what we found out about Izzy? It will break her heart." He says: quietly. Glenn pulls him close and I can see they are communicating through their mind-link.

It is the last thing I see before I fall asleep, again. When Maddox finally wakes me up, we have already landed and I am glad to be home again. Because this has become my home over the years and I knew this was the place I would stay for the rest of my life..

We are home, the place I grew up in and I am relieved to be back. As the door of the plane opens, James jumps up and nearly knocks over the flight attendant. I guess my Sister is standing outside and he is in a hurry to get back to his Mate and unborn pup. Dagmar is walking behind me, when we descent from the plane and I can feel that she is getting anxious. I know Elsa will be happy for us, but she will also warn the to take good care of Dagmar or she will put me six feet under.

James turns her, so her back is towards us and asks me through the mind-link "When do you want to tell her? I look at him and tell him which news we start with would be the better question.

And I can see by the look on his face that for a moment it had slipped his mind. All of a sudden Elsa's head snaps up and I hear her ask "James, what is wrong?"

And we all know this is going to be hard on her. Dagmar walks past me and calls out "Aunt Elsa." Elsa pulls her in to a hug and her eyes are on me, immediately. She looks at me, confusion written all over her face and then a smile spreads across her face. Dagmar, if my Brother ever treats you wrong, you tell me and I will bury him. Her eyes don't leave mine as she says those words to Dagmar. It is Rico that starts hughing and tells her that if I ever would be that stupid, there would be nothing left for her to deal with, after Dagmar would be finished with me.

We all chuckle, because he is probably right. Elsa looks past me and I realize that Julian is standing behind Hearing everyone laugh at Rico's comment, I feel happy and relieved to have them all home again. As I look at Maddox, I see Julian standing behind him and he is not laughing.

He looks lost and broken, it is as if he is moving on auto-pilot. Was that what I had felt coming from James a few moments ago? I walk towards Julian as I see him fidgeting with something in his hand.

It takes me a second to recognize it and I break down, because my girl is not coming home. Maddox was close enough to catch me, before I could hit the floor. Tell me what happened?" I ask.

James lifts me out of Maddox's arms and carries me to one of the waiting cars. He gets in the back seat with me and starts telling me how he found the bracelet and that Julian had explained that it belonged to Izzy. As we drive home he tells me everything he knows and I let all of it run through my mind. Over and over I hear his words in my head and I know I cannot make heads or tails out of it right now.

So I push it aside and concentrate on the people in the car with me.

I look at James and all he does is shake his head, I guess I am on my own with this. "Yeah, well..." I don't get to say anything else before Elsa cuts me off. "Maddox, you better start explaining yourself. We don't have any new mated couples in the Pack." She says. I look at Dagmar, but she just stares back at me and I know that she won't help me out either. "Okay, Elsa. You already know that Dagmar is my second chance."

She nods her head and just gives me a stern look. "Well, we have taken in a few new members and out of them we have two new mated couples. Lance, who comes of a Beta-line, is mated to Jenny, who is from a line of Warriors.

And then there is John, a Warrior, whom is mated to Alice, she is an Omega." She looks at me and by the look on her face I can tell I am not of the hook yer.

Then there is Rico, Marcus, Jenna and Julian." I say those words real fast and for a second it is completely quiet in the car. Elsa looks at me and her eyes widen. "Julian found his mate?" She asks, looking at James and he just nods his head. James tells her who they are mated to and when she hears that Marcus and Lily adopted Jonas, a huge smile spreads across her face.

Elsa

James explains who is mated to who and of course he saves the best part for last, because he concludes with Marcus and his Mate Lily. When he tells me they adopted a baby boy they rescued, I can't help but smile.

I grab my phone and call a Pack-member, I tell her to prepare my cottage for residents and to put a crib in the room next to the master bedroom. After ending the call, I look up at James and he kisses my forehead.

"That is so nice of you to do for them." He says through our mind-link. An hour later we pull up to the Pack-house and I jump out of the car first, to make my way over to Marcus.

I watch him, as he helps his Mate out of the car and that is when I see the baby she is holding. "Marcus" He turns to me and bows in respect. He introduces Lily and Jonas to me.

I tell Lily that I am Elsa, Alpha Maddox's Sister and James Mate. "Marcus, where are you planning on staying with Lily and Jonas?" I ask him and his face pales, apparently he had not thought about that.

I shake my head while I suppress a giggle. "Don't worry, Marcus. Do you remember where I lived before I met James?" He nods his head at my question.

"Good, then show your mate the way to your new home. There is a crib for Jonas in the room next to the master bedroom." I see tears in Lily's eyes as my words sink in and I walk over to hug her.

Through the link I tell her that it is my gift to them and that I won't take No for an answer. Marcus is about to object, but James tells him that he better watch his words and that is when Marcus realizes that there will be hell to pay if he tries to turn my offer down. Thank you, Gamma Elsa. After that James sends them on their way and I turn to find Julian and his Mate.

When he sees me coming, a small smile appears on his face and he taps a young man on his shoulder. 2/3

I see the scarring on his neck and I shudder at the thought of what he went through. "It is nice to meet you, Glenn. This man has been waiting for his Mate, for as long as I have known him.

But I have to warn you, he can be an ass sometimes." And Glenn smiles at my words, Julian looks at me and even he has to smile. From the corner of my eyes see Jordan pushing through the Warriors that are standing around us.

His eyes lock with Julian's eyes and a howl escapes his lips as Julian shakes his head at him. The next moment he looses consciousness and Julian rushes over to him, his Mate and a young woman follow him.

I feel sad for Jordan, he will never know if she was his Mate or not.

We have been home for a few hours now, but I still can't fall asleep and I know most of us will have trouble sleeping. Tomorrow will be a painful day, we will have to inform the Pack about Izzy and I know that it will be extremely hard on one particular Pack-member. They grew up together and wherever you saw one, the other was never far behind. Izzy once told me they would actually finishes each other's sentences and that had annoyed the hell out of Julian. I try to remember his name, I know he never spend much time with her if Jenna and I were around.

"What is on a your mind, Babygirl?" Maddox asks. I tell him I can't remember the name of Izzy's best friend, the boy she grew up with. Maddox is quiet for a little while and then he says "His name is Stephan."

We look at each other and I wonder if her friend and our Tech-guy are one and the same. Eventually I do fall asleep, even though it is a restless sleep.

Maddox

Dagmar and I decide that we will debrief our Tech-teams first and after that we will inform the Pack about Izzy. We walk in to the kitchen to find a rather disordered James sitting there.

"Uncle James, what is wrong?" Dagmar asks him, as we sit down at the table. He looks up at her and says. "Elsa is not taking the loss of Izzy well. She has been up all night and an hour ago she bolted out the door. She even blocked me out."

He responds, looking into his coffee mug. I try to link Elsa, but she has blocked me as well. Dagmar is shaking her head and it looks like she has blocked all of us.

We finish our breakfast and I try to link Elsa one more time and this time she lets me through. I tell her we are heading to the Tech-building for a debriefing. She tells me she will be there shortly, but she doesn't explain herself.

We all arrive at the building at the same time and Elsa Has a look on her face that I cannot place. James looks at her and she just shakes her head. Everyone walks into the meeting room and we get greeted by Mason and Stephan. Both of them realizing at once what happened between me and Dagmar. Stephan starts up the screens, as Mason tells us that they can probably salvage most of the smashed computers, but that it will take time.

"Let us start with everything you have found besides the digital mess," Mason looks at me after he finishes speaking. I tell them what the teams found at each location and as we come to the location of the caves, Elsa grabs my arm. Elsa

Before Maddox can tell them what they found at that location, I stop him. "Maddox, I'm sorry to interrupt. But there is something that has been bothering me ever since James told me what you found at that location."

Elsa gets up and walks over to Julian. She takes the bracelet from his hand and I hear someone gasp. Looking around I see that the sound came from Stephan, he is staring at Elsa and now I know he was Izzy's best friend.

"Stephan, don't worry. First hear me out." Elsa says. "I couldn't sleep last night, going over what James told me, again and again. It didn't make sense to me and this morning I remembered something you told me. You said they had send you DNA-samples of all the deal she-wolves they found. I spend all morning with our Pack-Doctor and he told me that none of the DNA matched with Izzy."

The entire room goes silent as I speak and I look at Julian because I want to know if he understands what this might mean. "She can still be alive." He whispers under his breath.
Maddox

Hearing Elsa say that Izzy might still be alive, is nothing short of a miracle. I know Julian will not rest until he knows what happened to her and I will make sure that all the resources I have are at his disposal. Izzy and Dagmar were the only women ever to become Commander in our Pack, they were both determent to be the best they could be and they had both succeeded.

"Julian, whatever you need, it is yours. We will find out what happened to Izzy." Glenn has a smile on his face, it is a small one, but it is one that holds hope. I can feel that Dagmar is relaxing and I put my arm. around her shoulder. "Elsa, nice work. But next time, you better include me or you will be sorry." I say with a stern voice, but through the mind-link I tell her I am proud of her for connecting the dots.

Julian walks over to her and pulls her in for a hug, which causes James to growl. Elsa kicks her leg back against his shin and tells him to behave,

Dagmar

I have closure on my past, the Evil Moon Pack is a part of my past for good and I hope my nightmares died with Alpha Max.

The Full Moon finally brought me what I had wanted for years, I found my Mate, the man that I have loved for years. Some of my friends found their Mates, some had been searching for years and others had barely started their search. The couple I had been happiest about were Julian and Glenn. I have known Julian for as long as I had been part of the Pack. Izzy, his daughter, was a good friend and a fellow Commander.

A memory pops into my head, something Izzy once told me: Izzy was sixteen, when she had been discussing fated and chosen mates with Luna Gina. Her father had overheard the conversation and had butted in.

Izzy had told me that thinking back Alpha Maddox was probably glad there had been no visitors. I had looked at her confused and she told me the conversation had continued during dinner and she had made a rather inappropriate remark.

I had asked her what the comment was and she had turned beat red. She told me that her Father had made the remark "I hope that my Mate is a male, because females don't do it for me."

laughed and told her I had suspected something about her Father. She nodded her head and then said "Do you want to know my response!" Of course I wanted to know, but what she said next made me blush so red and it took me a few days to be able to look at Julian normally.

Izzy said "But at least you know how to fuck them." The memory made me giggle and I see everyone looking at me. I look at Julian and I laugh out loud and I decide to tell them, because I want to see his reaction.

I try to link Jordan, but he has blocked me and I understand he doesn't want anyone bothering him. But he needs to know this, so I link Maggie and ask her to inform Jordan about the news. A moment later he links me back and I can hear the relief he is feeling through the mind-link.

I had kept my eyes on Stephan when Elsa had taken the bracelet from me and something had been of with him.

Glenn asks me what is on my mind and I tell him that something about Stephan's reaction did not make sense to me. Glenn knows that they had been best friends, since they had been toddlers and he knows me well enough to know it was not my imagination. We discuss it for a little while longer and then I feel a hand on my shoulder. The meeting room is empty and Dagmar is standing next to me. "What is wrong, Julian? Something is troubling you." She says and I smile at her, she knows me so well. I explain what I had been discussing with Glenn. Maddox nods his head, because he agrees with me and he eks if he needs to talk to Stephan. I think about it for a second and then I nod my head, I know I need answers.

Maddox

I agree with Julian something was off with his reaction and I had noticed he checked his phone immediately after he saw the bracelet. Dagmar and I walk out of the meeting room and I mind-link Stephan, telling him to be in my office in an hour.

"Do you think Julian should be present at this meeting. I ask Dagmar. She is quiet for a few seconds and then she says "It is best if we talk to him alone. Julian might not like what he has to say or maybe he knows, nothing. Not everyone will react the same." I smile at the smart and very diplomatic answer of my Mate. I just nod my head and lead her to my office. Entering my office, I grab her hand and pull her with me to my desk.

I sit down on my chair and put her on my lap, pulling her close. I just need to hold her for a while and I need her to relax me. We just sit in silence, enjoying each other's company.
Dagmar

It is strange to be in his office, sitting on his lap and not standing on the other side of the desk to receive orders. A knock on the door, jolts me out of my thoughts.

"Come in I hear Maddox say near my ear. I try to get up, but he holds me tight and I know that he will not let me go. The door opens and Stephan walks in. By the look on his face, he knows why he was called in to the Alpha's office. Maddox signals him to sit down and he takes the chair to my left. "Stephan, do you have any idea why 1 asked you to come to my office?" Maddox asks him. Stephan stares at his hands and I can see that he is nervous. "Alacha Madday I don't Maddox looks at him and then at me, we both are wondering what his answer will be. So, I tell him to answer the question and that we will decide afterwards if it is disrespectful or not. Maddox

Dagmar gives him a very diplomatic answer to a rather unusual response. Cole is pacing in my head, not pleased with Stephan's answer. But he realizes that Dagmar is correct, we can decide later whether or not his answer is disrespectful. I can tell by his posture that he would preferer to be standing or walking around, so I tell him that he can stand if it makes him feel more comfortable. He gets up and walks towards the window.

While he looks out of the window, I hear a knock on the door and Dagmar gets up to answer it. She opens the door further to let Lily in who is holding a tray with some drinks and snacks.

She puts them down on the table, she looks at Stephan for a second and then she leaves my office. Dagmar sits down on one of the couches and asks Stephan if he would like something to eat or drink.

He shakes his head and keeps his gaze on whatever it is he sees out there. Dagmar signals me to join her on the couch and holds out a small plate with some snacks on it.

When Alpha Maddox linked me and told me to meet him in his office, I knew he was suspecting something But I have no idea what he suspects or what I should tell hi

He is my Alpha and lying to him would mean severe punishment, but it is not my place to reveal this secret. I am that I am sincere when I tell him my story. The day Izzy left, I was with her and I made her promise me to contact me every three months.

If she failed to contact me on time, I would inform you, Alpha. So far, she has always checked in with me on time." I look at Luna Dagmar and she nods her head and I continue with my story.

"Izzy wanted to find out who her Mother was and she knew her Father would or could not help her. I told her to write you a letter explaining why she was leaving and that she would return one day."

I see Luna Dagmar's eyes widen as I say these words. Apparently she didn't know that Alpha Maddox knew anything as to Izzy's leaving.

"The last time she checked in with me, was on the day Grace attacked you at the Black Moon Pack. She called me shortly after I had spoken to you, Luna."

"Stephan, thank you for telling us

You are right, we cannot make decisions for Izzy and we can't tell her story. Inform us the second you hear from her, we will find a way to tell Julian without betraying her trust."

Is there any way we can fake intel on her status. Knowing you talked to her the day Grace attacked, means. she was never in Alpha Max's hands. I believe it is important that Julian knows this."

Stephan is quiet, but I can see that his mind is working overtime. Then a small smile appears on his face. he nods his head and explains to us how he can manage that. Maddox dismisses him and I fall back on the couch, letting out a huge sigh. Maddox

We are sitting in the dining room to have lunch, when Stephan rushes in and he makes a bee-line for me with a tablet in his hand. "Alpha Maddox, you need to see this," He says out of breath and holds out his hand, so Fcan see what he is talking about.

My eyes glide over the screen, Dagmar is leaning in close to look over my shoulder and her eyes widen as she sees what is on the screen. That gets everyone's attention and I get up, still holding the tablet in my hand.

I walk over to Julian and lower my hand, so he can also see what is on the screen. Tears well in his eyes as he is staring at a picture of his Daughter. "Izzy." He whispers, before he grabs the tablet and shows Glenn the picture.

"Nicely done, Stephan. He will have questions though. say through the mind-link. Julian turns to Stephan, looking at him with a confused face. Stephan asks him if he remembers that the search system they put in place after Izzy disappeared. Julian nods his head and Stephan explains it to the others

"It is going over every photo and video, comparing her face to the footage. I check that system every few days. But so far it was always a false alarm, if I got a notification.

Because of the situation of the last few weeks, I had not checked it. This picture is from the day that Grace attacked the Black Moon Pack."

Even though Dagmar and I know the entire truth, we act as surprised and happy as the rest. Julian and Glenn keep looking at the screen and I can see that Stephan is getting anxious, so I decide to help him out.

"Julian, return the tablet to Stephan. He will send you the picture, so you can stare at itat all day." I say mockingly. Julian just shrugs his shoulders, but he hand the device back to Stephan.

He tabs a few times on the screen "Done. I send it to your phone, Julian," And then he hurries out of the dining room. Dagmar and I sit down again and looking at Julian, I just hope Izzy returns soon.

I have a feeling that if it takes too long he will go looking for her and that might back-fire, if he is able to find her. "I love you." I say to Dagmar, she looks up at me and after she pecks my lips, she says "I love you

Izzy's POV

Finished

My name is Izzy, I am a twenty-six year old Lycan and am a member of the Red Blood Pack. My Father raised me, because my Mother left me the day after 1 wils born.

My Father is a very strong and well respected warrior in our Pack. Being raised by just my Father, I was different from other girls. Always outside; playing, running, climbing and getting into trouble.

When I was twelve, my Lycan, Evie, showed up and six months later I shifted for the first time.

Most Lycans show up when their human turns sixteen and they shift for the first time at the age of seventeen. It takes a human and their Lycan some time to get to know each other, in most cases it takes: about a year and sometimes it happens sooner. So there you have it, my life's story in a nutshell.

I am laying on my back on the rooftop of one dressing rooms near our training field.

I spend a lot of time here after training, just staring at the sky. Every time I train with my Squad I have to see him. He always ignores me, unless he has to talk to me.

My face turns red just thinking about the day I asked him to be my chosen Mate. He turned me down, saying he didn't want a Mate. I still wonder if it was just me or that he would have said it to anyone.

Just as I am about to get up and go home, the door below me opens and I hear two sets of footsteps coming out of the building. "What do you have planned for her birthday?"

I hear a familiar voice, it is Beta Rico, ask the other person. And I can't help myself from eavesdropping. because I am curious who he is talking about. I know a few people whose birthdays are coming up, one of them being my own.

"I don't know yet. She made it clear that last year's party was a bust." I hear an even more familiar voice say, it is my Father.

Beta Rico laughs, because he apparently knows that the party my father threw for me last year sucked, big time. My Father is bouncing around a few ideas, but luckily Beta Rico has arguments against all of his. ideas. These ideas are even worse than the party from last year.

"How about the two of you go away for a few days and you can take that time to tell her the truth about her Mother."

My jaw drops and I want to jump up to demand answers, but Evie, my Lycan, stops me.

"How do I tell her that she is the result of a one night stand, that her Mother dumped her at the border wrapped in a blanket."

Beta Rico asks him to tell him the whole story, because he never understood any of it.

So my Father tells him he had accompanied our Alphan his search for his mate. He met my Mother at a Full Moon ball, he was twenty-five years old and she had turned eighteen a few months earlier, but they both had not found their mate that night. 1/3

Then about six months later a guard had called him to the border and the guy had been standing near baby wrapped in a blanket.

"There was a folded note attached to the blanket with my name on it. There was not much written on the inside, just that she was my daughter, the day and the time she was born and that I should not bother looking for her. She didn't want me or my daughter in her life."

I can hear the pain and sadness in my father's voice as he is talking. I hear him cursing under his breath and then they walk away. Leaving me behind, stunned and confused.

Evie and I want to find our mother and we know our father is not able to help. Evie keeps yapping in my head, because she wants to know who our mother is and I know I want that answer as well.

After I know for sure they are gone, I leave my spot on the roof and ask Stephan to meet me in my room. Stephan and I have been friends since we were toddlers, he is my best friend and the only one I trust to keep a secret. Jordan's PO.V

It never gets easier seeing Izzy train. Ever since the day she asked me to be her chosen Mate, I have been wondering if I did the right thing.

Nero starts pacing in my head, we both agreed a long time ago not to take a Mate. But we start having second thoughts on it and every time we see Izzy, the doubt becomes more and more.

I trained Izzy as a young girl, but other than that I never spend much time with her. So I never got to know her.

Izzy's P.O.V.

Stephan walks into my room, while I am packing my hack-pack. I make sure I have everything I need to get through the next few days.

Then I explain to him what I had overheard, I tell him want to go looking for answers and luckily he understands my need for answers. Going over the conversation between my Father and Beta Rico, we both realize that there is not much for me to go go on.

He tells me to leave a short note for my Father and a letter to Alpha Maddox. I ask him why I need to write a letter to my Alpha, Stephan explains that in the letter have to explain to Alpha Maddox that will be back, because if I don't he can break my bond to the Pack and that will turn me into a rogue.

Stephan tells me I also have a responsibility as a Commander in the Alpha's Army.

I write the letter and ask Stephan to read it, to make sure I have not forgotten something that might be important. He approves the contents of the letter.

I make my way down the stairs and I hear Alpha Maddox talking to Camma James. They are discussing the Evil Moon Pack, like they do at least three times a week.

Alpha Maddox still has not given up the search for the Pack that took his Mate and unborn pup. And 1 doubt he will ever give up.

As soon as both men have left the Alpha's office, I make my way inside.

After training the new recruits, I head back to my house near the forest-line. Suddenly I see Izzy coming from the training fields and it looks like she is upset.

A part of me wants to go after her and find out what is going on, but the more rational part of me tells me to keep walking. Then Nero, my Lycan, butts in: "Go after her, she really looks upset.

What are you waiting for, a written invitation?" Nero keeps yapping in my head, but then the memories of my Father and Brother surface and I turn on my heels and head home.

I try to fight the memories, but I know that once they come, there is no stopping them.

My mother was killed by rogues when I was eight years old and Father was never the same again. But three years her death he met Sandy, she pulled him out of his depression.

For some reason I never liked her and my gut feeling was right about her. Two years after they met, my Father no longer saw any of his friends and Sandy did everything she could to keep us away from him.

Jayce was sixteen at the time and he couldn't wait to get out of the house. So he joined our Pack's Army and then it was just me and the two of them.

Sandy convinced Father it would be good if I would join the Army as well, but there was one problem, I was too young.

After that the arguments and fights started, day after day I would hear them shouting at one and other

Less than a year later Sandy left, she took everything my Father owned and a week later we buried him.

I feel the anger building and I slam my fist in to the wall. It still hurts and it is the reason I avoid females, no matter how gorgeous they are.

"She wouldn't hurt us." Nero says, but I am not too sure and I shut him out.

Izzy's POV.

I leave a note for my Father saying: Your secret is out. I will not be back, until I have answers. Don't bother looking for me.

I know he will understand what secret I am talking about.

I leave the letter to Alpha Maddox on his desk before 1lip out of the Pack-house. Stephan walks me to the border and on our way there he makes me promise him to contact him once every three months, if he doesn't hear from me in time than he will warn our Alpha. After I promise him that I will contact him once every three months, he hands me a phone and tells me to stay in touch.

I cross the border and start my search for answers. For a second I contemplate going by Jordan's cottage, but I wouldn't know what to say..

And with the way he has been treading me, I doubt he wants to see me..

Telling Rico about my one night stand with Izzy's mother was the best thing for me. It was a relief to tell someone the entire story.

Alpha Maddox knew Izzy was the result of a one night and. Rico now knows the truth and he is right, Izzy deserves to know the truth about her Mother and me.

As I walk back to the Pack-house, I run in to Jordan, our Pack's former Beta. I ask him if he has seen Izzy, he gives me a strange look and then he tells me she went home.

I walk into the Pack-house and I peek into the kitchen and living room, looking for Izzy. She must be in our suite, because I don't see her in her favorite places.

I walk up the stairs and as I open the door, I call out her name. "Izzy." But there is no answer.

Maybe she is in her room, with her headphones on. So open the door to her room, but it is empty.

I stare at her bed and that is when I notice a piece of paper on the pillow. As I pick it up, I sit down on her bed and fold open the note. I lower my head to see what it says and for a second my heart stops beating. I link Rico and tell him I need to talk to him and Maddox.

Maddox's POV.

Rico linked me a moment ago that Julian needed to talk to the both of us, so I told him to come to my office.

As I walk to my desk, I spot an envelope on my desk and I wonder who put it there. I don't smell any other scents than my own and that of my Gamma, James.

I open it and I let my eyes glide to the bottom of the paper, it is signed by Izzy. I quickly read the letter, there is a minimum written down and I realize she only left it so I would not break the Pack-bond. There is no reason mentioned for her departure, but it must be important.

A knock on the door, pulls my attention from the letter "Come in." I say, the door opens and Rico and Julian walked in.

Julian looks worried and I wonder if her letter might have something to do with it. Without a word he puts a note on my desk and sits down..

I read the note and I now know that the note and letterare connected.

"What secret is she talking about, Julian?" Julian looks at me and I give him time to make up his mind on whether or not he wants to tell me.

He asks me if I remember that he accompanied me to a few Packs and Balls in search of my Mate. I nod my head, I had hoped he would find his Mate as well.

After Julian is finished with his story, I slowly move the letter further under a folder. Even though I understand why Julian never told Izzy, I also know she deserves to find answers.

I just wish Izzy had talked to me before taking off.

Izzy has been gone for nearly three hours, but I have not heard anything about it yet. I just hope that she will be back soon, with or without answers.

I believe she took this opportunity not only to find her Mother, but also to get away from Jordan.

After Izzy decided she wanted a chosen Mate, we made a list of suitable guys together. I was the one whol suggested Jordan, because I felt he would be able to handle her. I still can't believe he turned her down.

I would have put myself on that list, but a few months before that Izzy had made me see that my interest was in males. Even though I haven't traveled down that road yet.

I am staring at my computer screen, hoping to find information on the Evil Moon Pack. Our Alpha wanted to find that pack, ever since they killed his Mate and unborn pup. Mason asked me to join the Tech-team a few months back when I helped him solve another problem. Even though I have been helping out whenever they needed me. There had only been one survivor, her name is Dagmar and she has been friends with Izzy for a long time. Dagmar became friends with Jenna since the day she moved here.

Over the past few years I have only found small pieces of intel, but it had all been worthless. The door slams open and I look up to see Dagmar and Jenna walk in, they head straight for Mason. Jenna tells him Izzy took off, but no one knows where she went or why she left. Mason tells them that he will think of a way to find her and I know if he comes up with something that he will find her. After the girls leave, I walk over to his desk and ask him if he has a minute. I tell him I might have an idea and Mason looks at me, thinking for a few seconds and then he nods his head.

He tells me to do what I can and I tell him that I will keep him informed. I go back to my desk and start setting up a tracking system, but I will make sure it contains a flaw.

Growing up with three siblings and both parents, I have no idea what it is like for her. I hope her search will give her answers and maybe she will find a family.

Jordan's POV

I heard a few of the recruits talking about Izzy and the fact that she left without explaining it to anyone. I wonder if the reason has anything to do with why she looked upset the other day or maybe it is because of 1. me.

"Do you think she will be back?" Nero asks me, but I don't have an answer for him. I know that I had not been. fair to her and I couldn't blame her if she left because of what happened.

After the childhood I had, I knew I never wanted a Mate. I know my parents were happy, but seeing what happened to my Father after my Mother died made me decide to never want a Mate.

I know every Werewolf and Lycan has a Mate, but with my luck I will probably get a meek and tiny female. I know I can take a chosen Mate, but I knew that that opportunity had passed.

15. 15.

Sitting on a bench in a park, I enjoy the sun and the chatter of people around me..

Maybe I should go home and accept the fact that I will never find answers about my Mother.

My attention gets drawn to a group of Human girls sitting on a plaid in the grass, chatting about a girl that just moved to their neighborhood. As I listen to them, I realize that one of them answers every question they have about the girl and her family. They are under the impression that no one can hear their conversation, but with me being a Lycan my hearing is better than that of Humans or Werewolves and I smile at their chatter.

Humans know we exist, but we do not live among them and Humans stay clear of us.

Because of rogues, Humans fear us and I can't blame them for that. Rogues are vicious and ruthless, they attack unprovoked and a Human never survives.

I am still listening at the girls and they keep asking questions, which the other girl keeps answering

Then I sit up straight, because the girl reminds me of a woman that visited our Pack years ago. She knew everything about Full Moon Balls and how many found a Mate during one of those Balls.

I start thinking back, because she might be able to help me and I need her name to find her.

I am in the living room with Dagmar and Jenna, when Alpha Maddox and his sister in law, Grace, walk in with a woman in tow. "Girls, this is Mrs. Manning. She will be staying with us for a few days.

Alpha Maddox says and the three of us introduce ourselves to her. As usual Grace ignores me and directs all her attention to Dagmar

It took me almost a week to find out where Mrs. Manning is living and now I am on my way to see if she is willing to see me.

It will take me a few days before I get to her Pack's territory and I am not even sure if she will be inclined to help me out.

But this is the closest I have been to finding answers and I am not going to back down now. And even though I have not been gone for three months yet, I decide to contact Stephan so I can let him know I am moving a step forward in my search. 902

I had set up the system about a day after Izzy left and since then I have seen more of Dagmar and Jenna than I have before.

Even Jordan pops in from time to time and when he asks if I heard anything about or from Izzy, I give him one word replies.

At first they would walk in multiple times a day and now the girls show up every day, but leave as soon as they see me shake my head.

Jordan is a different story, he shows up and always makes his way over to my desk, even though I shake my head. Apparently he wants to hear me say the word.

The system has been in place for over a week now and I have only seen Izzy's image twice. I don't understand how it is possible she was able to dodge so many camera's. But I am glad that the combination of her dodging camera's and the flaw I put in the system keeps the alarm from appearing to often.

Ring, Ring; I see an unknown number on my screen and for a second I want to ignore it, but it could be Izzy in need of my help.

"Yeah." Is my response as I pick up my phone. "Can you talk?" I hear Izzy ask. I look around me and notice that I am alone, so I inform her the coast is clear.

She tells me about Mrs. Manning and I tell her about the system, Izzy tells me she had suspected Dagmar and Jenna would not take this lying down.

And for that reason she was very aware of camera's, I tell her that there are camera's around that are unnoticeable and to try and dodge those as well.

I also tell her that the girls are not the only one's bugging me about her. She is quiet when I tell her Jordan is even worse than the girls and that causes her to chuckle.

We say goodbye and I know she will be watching her every move even closer from now on.

Izzy's POV.

After I talked to Stephan, I knew I had to walk my surroundings even closer. Making sure I avoided camera's as much as I could, so Stephan doesn't have to erase to many alarms

But what surprised me the most was Jordan's reaction to my leaving, why would he care.

I didn't tell Stephan where I was heading and he was wise enough not to ask.

I have been on the road for a few days now and I have fallen in to a routine that works well for us. Early in the morning I find a place to sleep, after midday I walk in my Human form and after dinner and a small nap I run in my Lycan form. Because the opposite questions run through my mind as well. What if she doesn't know which ball it was, what if she doesn't want to help me?

I force myself out of the thoughts and take in my surroundings, because I need to find a place to sleep.

Walking around for a few more minutes I find a cluster of caves and I choose the one with the smallest entrance.

Crawling inside, I feel a familiar feeling and a smile spreads across my face. When I am inside, the memory from minutes ago comes rushing in to my mind.

A 6-year old me is teasing my Father, while our Beta is watching us. "You cannot catch me. Nah, Nah, Nah, Nah, Nah."

I say and this makes the Beta laugh, because he knows that I am fast. Our Alpha and his Sister are sitting on a couch, watching, as I am taunting my Father

"Be careful. Little One." Our Alpha says. "There are not many that can outsmart your Father.

I smile at the Alpha and then I stick out my tongue, making his Sister laugh. My Father lunges at me, thinking I am distracted.

But I dive down and disappear in a small opening between the furniture.

My Father lands flat on his face and that sends our Beta in to a fit of laughter. "Where did she go?" I hear my Father shout and I know he is looking for me in the room.

What he did not see is that I crawled out of the room through the door that had been left ajar. I slipped out the back- door and sneaked up to the window.

We both peak through the window at the same time, startling each other and that sends us all in to a fit of laughter.

A smile creeps on to my face and I know I had an amazing childhood, despite the absence of my Mother.

I place my back-pack near the back wall of the cave, when I see another opening to my left. It leads to a tunnel and soon I find out that the tunnel connects to another cave.

1 decide to have a look around before I go to sleep and wander through the tunnels and caves.

I go back to the cave were I left my backpack and lay down to get some much needed sleep.

After waking up and eating some breakfast or lunch seeing the fact it is already midday, I crawl out of the cave.

Opting the small entrance, instead of walking to a cave with a bigger exit, I lose the bracelet that I had tied to my back-pack. A gift my Father made for me.

I walk until my stomach tells me it is time for dinner, lockily I am not far from a small town and I find a restaurant near the edge of town.

As I walk in, I see a sign that says that today's special is stew and Evie and I both get excited. Stew is a dish we both love to eat and our Father knows how to make the best. After I order my dinner. I look around me and the place has a homely feel.

The waitress puts the stew in front of me and when I see the size of the portion I smile. "Something wrong. Sweety?" the waitress asks and I shake my head, Normally Human portions are too small for a Werewol or a Lycan, but here it seems that they are generous. Then a man appears from the kitchen and I en smell he is a Werewolf, for a second I look at him confused.

He smiles at me and the waitress walks up to him. He puts his arm around her shoulder and kisses her forehead. This is something I have never seen before, only heard of. Sometimes a Werewolf or Lycan gets paired with a Human, but it doesn't happen often.

It is difficult enough to find our Mate, finding it in a Human is even more rare. Watching them, I wonder if I will ever find that happiness.

I nod my head, now understanding the portion of stew and I start eating. It tastes almost as good as my Father's.

Once I'm done, I ask the waitress for the check and head towards the door. I look over my shoulder at the couple and wish them a goodnight, before I walk out the door.

I am a few hours away from the Golden Star Pack, when the sun starts to come up. "Should we stick to our routine or not?" I ask Evie.

She doesn't answer me right away. "Stick to the routine. I are more likely to catch her at home in the evening," I agree with her and start looking for a place to rest.

To my left I see a dense forest and decide to take a look. After half an hour I find a huge tree, the further I look up, the denser it becomes and I know I have found the ideal spot to rest my eyes for a while.

I climb the tree and I am already halfway up, when I spot the perfect place. The branches are thick and so close together that I can lay down to sleep for a while.

After getting comfortable I close my eyes and soon I drift off to sleep.

A cry for help wakes me up and from my spot in the tree I can see the person standing under the tree. I see three rogues surrounding a Human female and I do not think twice, I just jump down..

The first rogue is dead before anyone has time to realize what is happening.

It pisses of Evie, she pushes forward a bit and I swing my claw toward his neck, slashing it wide open. Before he hits to ground he is dead, Evie gives me full control again and I turn toward the woman.

"Are you okay?" I ask the young woman in front of me. She nods her head, still looking terrified. I can smell the fear coming from her and I take a small step back.

"I am not going to hurt you. I just want to know that you are okay. Did they hurt you?" She shakes her head and then says quietly "Thank you for saving me. Why did you risk your live for me?"

I look at her and for a second I actually think she is kidding. But the look on her face tells me that she is serious.

I tell her that I took an oath to protect those that canno protect themselves. That I am very well trained and that I am a Lycan, unlike those rogues.

Her eyes widen as I mention that I am a Lycan, but she stays where she is.

After getting my back-pack from the tree I introduce myself to the woman. She tells me her name is Christa and that she was on her way to see her Aunt when she ran in to those rogues. We have lunch and then walk for a few more hours towards the Pack where her Aunt lives.

It is almost dinner-time when we arrive at our destination, the Guard recognizes her and lets us through without asking any questions.

I am puzzled because this is something that would get us in to real trouble with Alpha Maddox. We had to question everyone, who wanted to enter our land, even if they were accompanied by someone we knew, Christa looks: at me and asks me what is wrong. I know the Guard can hear me, when I tell her my thoughts and I hear a gasp behind me.

I know he is going to tell the Alpha what he overheard and from which Pack I am.

I walk next to Christa, when she points at a small cottage and tells me that that is where her Aunt Jean lives. Lask her how it is that her aunt works for a Pack of Werewolves, knowing that Humans usually stay far away from Werewolves and Lycans. She tells me that about fourteen years ago her Aunt had found a pup and that it took a few days before she find out that the boy was a Werewolf and belonged to the Golden Star Pack.

Her Aunt had returned the boy home and Alpha Chris Bad told her that she could have anything as a reward. Her Aunt had asked for a job and a place to stay

At first he had been reluctant until he found out that Jean had been attacked by her neighbors and family for helping Werewolves.

The only family member that had never ignored or mistreated her was Christa and for that reason Christa was free to come and go whenever she wanted.

And Jean had found a new family with the Golden Star Pack, Jean had raised the boy, named Peter, and he was a Warrior now. And Christa visited her as often as she could, because she felt at home here.

I inform the Guard that I will be at the front door when they reach the Pack-house and then I end the link.

I never had much of an interest in women, but for some reason Christa is able to turn me

She introduces Izzy to me and tells me how they met.

"Izzy, thank you for saving Christa. I don't know how I would have explained everything to Jean. If there is anything I can do to repay you, just ask" I say as I hold cut my hand to Izzy.

"Actually, I was on my way here. I would like to speak to Mrs. Manning. I hope she has a few answers to questions I have." She says as she shakes my hand.

I link Stella and ask if she can join us for dinner, because there is a guest who would like to talk to her.

Stella agrees to join us for dinner and I inform Izzy and Christa. I am curious to hear Izzy's story, if she is willing to tell anyone besides Stella.

Half an hour before dinner Stella walks into the Pack-house and starts smiling when she sees Izzy. "Hello, my dear. It is good to see you again." She says as she pulls Izzy in for a hug and that is when I remember that Stella went to the Red Blood Pack for a visit. But that was over a decade ago. Stella sees the funny look on my face and starts laughing. "You sometimes forget that I remember every face and name of people that I have met."

Jean walks in and asks Christa to help her get everything ready for dinner. My eyes follow Christa as she follows Jean in to the kitchen.

I gesture to the living room and Stella guides Izzy to a couch in front of the window. Instead of getting straight to the point, Stella asks her about her friends, Alpha Maddox and his Sister-in-law. When she ask about the latter, I can tell that Izzy is not big fan. But she keeps her answer polite and if it had not been for my gift, I would not have known that he does not like the woman. "There is one topic that Stella avoids, because we know that this is a sore subject for any member of the Red Moon Pack.

Just as I think that Stella will come to the point, Christa walks in and tells us that dinner is ready.

I walk ahead of Stella and Izzy to the dining-room, keeping an eye on Christa.

During dinner we talk about a variety of subjects and I can tell that Izzy is starting to relax. After dinner we go back to the living-room and Jean gets us all coffee. Izzy's POV.

Since we got to the Pack-house, I have been having this feeling something is going on between Alpha Chris and Christa. But it looks like they are hiding it from each other.

"Izzy, can you tell me why you came to see me or would you prefer to do this in private?" Stella asks me and it pulls me out of my thoughts.

I take a sip from my coffee to give me the time to think whether I am willing to tell my story to all of them.

I tell her that my story is not that shocking and it sends Christa in to a fit of laughter. From the corner of my eye, I see Alpha Chris looking at her and for a second I can see affection in his eyes.

I turn my attention back to Stella and tell her what I had overheard.

For a second it is quiet and then they all start talking. Jean says she can't believe a Mother could do that to her pup. Christa says she is glad my Father stepped up and Alpha Chris was just cussing and swearing.

And through it all Stella remains silent, I could tell she was thinking and I hoped she would be able to remember anything that could help me,

It takes a while before she speaks and for a moment I am afraid she will not be able to help me with my search.

"It was the only Full Moon Ball in May that year, because of a huge rogue problem. Most Balls were cancelled due to security issues. But this Ball went ahead, because this Pack was more than capable to guarantee everyone's safety." She looks at me and smile. She continuous her story and tells us that she remembers Alpha Maddox and my Father. But she could not recall the woman my Father met that night.

She promises to contact the Alpha of the hosting Pack and ask if he is willing to meet with me.

I feel relief wash over me, because I am getting a step closer to answers.

We spent a few more hours talking about the Ball and shortly after midnight we all get ready to get some sleep.

Christa walks me to a guest-room and Evic and I are excited to sleep in a normal bed tonight. We fall asleep just as our head hits the pillow. We sleep straight through the night and wake up well rested the next morning.

I look at Izzy as she walks up the stairs with Christa and I am glad that she came to see me. I have a feeling there is more going on, but I don't have all the pieces.

As I walk back to my little cottage near the forest, I pull out my phone. I sent a text to Alpha Ralph to give him a heads-up on my call in the morning

I don't waste time when I get home and head for bed. wake up earlier than usual and for a little while I just stare up at my ceiling.

By the time I get out of bed, I know that I will not tell Ralph the story. I will just ask him to meet with Izzy and then she can decide whether or not to tell him.

After my morning ritual, I go to the kitchen to make myself some breakfast. With my coffee I walk to the back porch when I have finished breakfast and cleaned the dishes. Looking at the forest line in front of me, I grab my phone and make the call to Ralph.

"Hello, Stella. What can I do for you?" Ralph says and I smile at the fact that he goes straight in to the business part of our conversation.

I tell him about meeting Izzy, from which Pack she is and that he can help her with her quest. When he asks what her story is, I let him know that it is not my story to tell.

The only thing I tell him is that she will be asking for the guest-list of the Ball twenty-seven years ago. He promises he will have it for her and that he is more than willing to meet with Izzy. Izzy's POV.

During breakfast I see a lot of Pack-members and after a couple walks in, Christa leans towards me.

"Can I ask you something?" She whispers in my ear. By the sound of her voice I can tell it is something serious and I tell her to accompany me to the guest-room.

Once we are inside, I sit down on the bed and look at her. After a minute she looks at me and asks if I know why the marks on that couple looked different from the rest of the Pack.

I had noticed it too and I knew the answer to her question. "They are chosen mates." And by the look on her face I can tell she doesn't understand what I mean. ask her what she knows about a Werewolf's Mate.

"Not that much, just that Werewolves can find their Mate on a Full Moon." Is her answer. I explain that every Werewolf and Lycan has a mate, that they are meant for one and other and that it is the most sacred thing for our kind.

I tell her that sometimes it can take our kind years to find our Mate and that sometimes a Werewolf or Lycan will give up hope. And that they then will take a chosen Mate, someone they love, but that the connection is not as strong as with a true Mate. For that reason the mark of true Mates and chosen Mates looks different. She asks me if I have given up on my true mate or that I am still hoping to find mine,

Because I would be able to find my Mate and I knew that was what I wanted more than anything in the world. I was so excited and my friends helped me get ready for the party on Full Moon. Dagmar and Jenna helped me pick out a dress and I felt a bit awkward, because I had never worn a dress before.

But just after midnight I only felt disappointment, because I had not found my Mate. And every Full Moon after that my hope on finding my Mate became smaller and smaller iihen I was twenty-three I decided that I was done, I gave up hope and made the decision to look for a chosen Mate.

Most of the men in our Pack had not given up on finding their true Mate yet and I didn't want to travel in order to find a chosen Mate.

With my best friend I made a list of men that were suitable

And one by one I eliminated them from my list, for one reason or the other. After six months of watching the men in my Pack, there was only one name left.

After I thought about it, I decided to ask him to be my chosen Mate on the next Full Moon. Unfortunately he rejected me, because he didn't want a Mate. After that fiasco I gave up completely. Christa looks at me in shock and ask if the guy is an idiot.

"I don't understand why he would reject you. I bet there are some men around this Pack that would say yes without thinking twice." She says and I smile at her.

"I never understood either, but my Father told me he probably didn't want a Mate because of his Family's history." She looks at me and asks if I discussed this with my father and I tell her I only asked him if he knew why the Beta didn't have a Mate. Then a smile appears on her face and she says: "Maybe this search for your Mother, will also bring you your Mate. After all you will be going to different Pack's

And I nod my head, she could be right about that. But also realize that I will not always be at a Pack during Full Moon.

"Have you ever been here during a Full Moon to see if you might have a Mate?" I ask her and I see her face turn different shades of red.

Looks like Evie and I had read the situation correctly when we saw her interact with Alpha Chris.

I tell her she should make sure that she is here on the next Full Moon. She tells me that she is afraid she will make a fool of herself.

"There is nothing to be afraid of. I think he might even ask you to be his chosen Mate." I tell her and I hear her sigh. I really hope that she will take my advice.

Izzy's POV

I am on my way to the Silver Moon Pack to meet with Alpha Ralph. Stella told me that she didn't tell him my story, but requested that he have the guest-list ready.

Alpha Chris offered me a car to use, so that it wouldn't take me too long to get around. But I declined, 1 needed to do this my way.

Sticking to my routine it will take me about a week to get to the Silver Moon Pack.

Evie and I are enjoying our solitude and we both love being outdoors, so traveling on foot is no hard-ship for us. Evie loves the freedom she gets at night and we both feel that it is making our bond stronger.

I love our nightly runs as much as Evie does, just watching my surroundings from the back of Evie's mind.

We talk a lot about the future and we both realize it is an uncertain one. We talk about our Mother, our Mate and our Father. When it comes to our Mate, we both agree that the chances on finding him during our search will be slim.

But we can't help but wonder if just maybe we will be lucky enough to find him. Maybe after we return -home we will give the Full Moon one more chance, we can always go for a chosen Mate after that.

Our Father is a different story, we don't know how he will react when we come home again. Will he hate us for leaving or will he be relieved that we are back again?

We don't even know how long it will take us to find the answers we are looking for. But we won't give up until we have exhausted every possibility on finding then. Jordan's P.O.V.

Izzy has been gone for weeks and no one knows where she went or why. Even though I have a feeling that a few people know those answers, they are not talking about it to anyone.

Nero is become more annoying by the day and most of the time I block him out.

With his nagging I can barely concentrate on training the recruits and now I also have to find a replacement for Izzy. Alpha Maddox told me that he expects her to return eventually, but that her team needs a Commander in the meantime.

I hope he is right, because right now there is no one qualified enough to take her plate. Only one person could take over, but that is not a great option.

After all being Commander of the Guards is a fulltime job on its own. But I might not have an option, because time is running out.

I know Alpha Maddox hopes that I will volunteer for the job, but I can't and I won't.

Filling the position Izzy left vacant is nearly impossible, she is one of a kind and sometimes I wonder why she is this good at her job.

I know she found a lead on the Ball her Father had mentioned and I know that she will be gone for a long time if she has to go through the entire list.

I told her that she had been able to avoid all the cameras since we last spoke, because the alarm had not gone off once.

When I told her that Alpha Maddox was looking for her replacement as Commander of her Squad, she went quiet for a few seconds. But she understood why he had to find a replacement.

However, I could tell that it pissed her off when she heard who was tasked with finding her replacement. She didn't say anything, but I knew she was still hurting from his rejection. Eventually she would tell me why this bothered her, as she did with everything before. Most things I could not relate to, but there was one subject that I had understood, even though I had never been in a similar situation.

She could go on and on about the way Grace, our Alpha's sister-in-law, would ignore her.

The first few times I brushed it off, until I witnessed it myself and it had pissed me off.

I was standing in the kitchen, when I heard Izzy talking to Alpha Maddor, excited about her first training. After the stunt she pulled, her Father and Alpha Maddox thought she was ready.

As they walked in to the kitchen, Izzy sees Gina and rushes over to her to tell her about her first training.

Alpha Maddar had finally found his Mate, Gina, and they were a perfect match for one and other.

Her sister, Grace, had moved to the Pack with her, because they only had each other. Gina listens to her and a smile spreads across her face.

Gina tells Izzy that Grace is a good fighter as well, but when Izzy asks Grace a question about it, she gets up and walks out of the kitchen.

That is when I understood what Izzy had been talking about after that I would pull Izzy out of a room, whenever Grace would be there.

Once Dagmar moved to our Pack, it became even more clear that Grace treated Izzy different from any other girl. It never made sense to me and after a few years I gave up trying to figure it out. Even now after all these years it pisses me off. Izzy did not deserve to be treated the way Grace treated her.

Alpha Ralph contacted me, about an hour ago, shortly after Izzy had left his Pack's territory. Izzy had told him her story and he had given her the guest-list.

He had also made sure she met with all the She-wolves from his own Pack that had attended the Ball. But none of them remembered her Father or the woman he had met that night.

He had also given her a list of all the She-wolves that moved away since that night in the hope that maybe someone had an answer for her.

They had gone over the Packs that she needed to visit and she had drawn out her route on a map.

Being on foot it would take her ages to visit them all and like Alpha Chris, Ralph also offered her the use of a car. But as I expected, she had declined his offer as well.. Alpha Chris and I had decided not to inform Alpha Maddox of Izzy's visit and I asked Ralph to do the same.

He told me he had already promised Izzy he would not inform her Alpha and if he was ever asked he would tell them he had not seen her.

With a smile I disconnect the phone and send a prayer to the Goddess to keep Izzy safe during her travels and to grant her a Mate.

Julian's POV.

I hate being in our suite, it is too quiet without Izzy. Lee has been withdrawn ever since Izzy left and we both know it is our own fault that she is gone.

We should have told her about her Mother ever since she was old enough to understand. Alpha Maddox convinced me to give Izzy some time to figure how to deal with this.

I know he is right, but it doesn't make it any easier. Going over everything in my mind Leo and I realized. there was not much we could tell Izzy once she would come home. And I hate not being able to answer her questions.

The blanket, the note and everything else from that day is laying on her bed. Looking at it, I realize it is not much and I fear Izzy may never get the answers she deserves.

Ever since she left, I have been going through the motions and it is starting to affect my work. Rico and James have told me to learn to deal with the fact that lazy has left, because that is what Izzy would have wanted.

But it is still to fresh and painful. Every day I hope that she will walk in and that I get to hold her in my arms again. But I know I have to give her the time she needs and I know there is a search for her, led by her friends Dagmar and Jenna. Maybe her search for her Mother won't give her the answers she seeks. But she might be able to find happiness along the way.

It has been a week since I left the Silver Moon Pack and the first Pack on my list was no help in my search. The She-wolves did not recall my Father or the woman he met that day.

But I still have a lot of Packs to visit, so I have hope that one day soon I might get answers. It will take met two days to reach the next Pack on my list and the Alpha is already aware of my arrival.

Alpha Ralph called each Pack on the list notifying them with the request of keeping my visit quiet.

He explained little to them, just that it was a personal favor to him. And each Alpha promised to help met in any way they could, keeping my visit a secret from anyone that would inform after me.

I miss home, I miss my Father and I miss my friends. And no matter how much I hate to admit it to myself, I even miss Jordan. He was my trainer for many years, until I became too good and I was advanced to another class.

When Stephan and I put him on my list of potential chosen Mates, I didn't think he would be the last one left. Other than him training me, we never interacted and I didn't know much about him.

Even though I miss home, I know I have to see this through, because if I don't I will never be at peace with myself. I need to find out why my Mother did what she did.

I also know that there is a chance that she is no longer alive and when that is the case, I will never get answers

But at least I will know that I did everything possible to find those answers.

Jordan's POV.

Julian is walking around like a ghost ever since Izzy left and I am starting to get worried about him.

When I saw him on the training field this morning trying to climb the mountain-wall, he almost lost his grip. And in my mind I could hear Izzy yelling at him "Watch it, old man.

She would have made fun of him, like she did when she was a little girl and put most of us to shame.

After I finished with my recruits for today, I went looking for Julian. Half an hour later I find him, sitting on a rock near the pond behind the Pack-house.

This is where we could always find Izzy." I say and he looks up at me. I sit down on a tree-trunk and stare at the water.

Not saying a word I wait until Julian starts talking. "What if he is not ready?" Nero asks and I tell him we will do this every day until he is ready to talk.

My mind drifts of to Izzy and the training I gave her. She was a small girl, but she was fast and eager to learn. She would always listen to my explanations and mimic everything I showed her.

It is almost dinner-time when Julian gets up and puts his hand on my shoulder, pulling me out of my thoughts, and whispers: "Thanks,"

Nero and I both know this is his way of telling us that is not ready yet, but we will be patient and we will be there when the time is right.

It's been four months since I left home and I have visited seven Pack's from my list so far. When I talked to Stephan about a month ago, he told me that I had been successful in evading camera's on my way.

And that Dagmar and Jenna only pop in to his office when they have business in the Tech-building. Jordan still shows up every day and now he also talks with Stephan about other things than just me. I asked him about my Father and my replacement, turns out Dagmar took over my Squad and I was glad.

My Father was a different story, he had turned in to a grumpy man and most of the Pack avoided my Father if they could. The only one he spends any time with is the last person I expected, Jordan. Apparently my absence affected my Father a great deal and then he told me that my Father sits by the pond nearly every day and that Jordan keeps him company.

Part of me wants to reach out and let him know that I am fine, but the other part of me doesn't want to, afraid he might talk me in to coming home.

I am walking through a forest on my way to the next Pack on my list, when voices drift in my direction.

I follow the sound and as I can see and smell Werewolves I climb a tree to watch them undetected.

Four boys, about sixteen, are looking up a mountain-wall and they are challenging one and other to climb it.

Evie gets excited, because it reminds her of the mountain-wall back home.

Stephan and I are creeping closer to the training fields even though I know that Father does not want me near here.

As we watch the group in front of us, we see them climbing the wall one by one as fast as they can. Beta Rico and Gamma James are shouting at the men to climb faster and that is when Stephan and I realize that they are racing against someone, that someone is Father. He reaches the top before the others do, every time.

From that day on I started climbing everything I could and Stephan kept track of my time. The buildings and trees I would climb became higher and higher every day.

And after two years of practicing / told Stephan that I would limb the wall that day.

He told me I was nuts and that my Father would kill me if he found out. But I talked him in to accompanying me

He sounded a bit off, but I blamed it on excitement. Slamming my hand on the top of the wall I yelled "Beat ya." and turned towards Stephan with a huge smile on my face. -

And that is when I sate my Father, he looked mad as hell and he ordered me to take the path down the mountain. But I wouldn't be me if I did that, so I ignored him and climbed down the same way I climbed up.

As I walk over to my Father I keep my eyes to the ground, because I know I am in trouble. My Father puts his index- finger under my chin and makes me look up at him.

"Don't ever scare me like that again." He whispers before he pulls me in to a hug. And I can't resist the urge and whisper in his car "I beat you by ten seconds."

I smile, because after that day Alpha Maddox and my Father decided that it was time for me to start training.

They assigned the Pack's former Beta, Jordan, to that task. And I enjoyed every training, no matter what he told me to do.

I watch as the first one starts climbing and before he is halfway up, he slips and falls to the ground. After all four have tried, they realize that they can't climb it and give up.

Evie and I settled in and within seconds. I am fast asleep. I need the rest because it will take me another Two days before I reach my destination.

My hopes are not as high as they were when I left the Golden Star Pack, but they are not gone, yet

Still a lot of Pack's on my list to go, so I know it might take a lot of No's before I get a Yes.

After I wake up, I eat a snack and drink some water. On my way I will pass a town and have some lunch there, I will keep walking after that until dinner-time.

I know one day soon I will have to get some new clothes, but I hope I can do that at the next Pack.

Julian is slowly getting back to his old-self, but everyone can tell that he misses her and whenever there are reports on found Jane Doe's it is even worse.

Luckily, so far it was never Izzy, but it is getting on his nerves every time. And even Nero has a hard time dealing with those reports.

I find him at the pond again and as every other time, I sit down on the tree-trunk and stare in the distance. "I kept a secret from her and that is why she took off."

I am startled when I hear those words, but I keep quiet. After a few minutes he tells me the whole story and I can tell it has weighted heavy on him.

"Maybe

she found some answers." I tell him, but he shakes his head at my comment.

"I never knew her Mother's name and I didn't know which Pack she was from. I wouldn't be able to recognize her scent, if I ever met her again."

I understand what he means, because that means that there was not much to go on. But I am glad that he confided in me and now I understand why she left. Izzy's POV

It's been a year and I know I still have a long way to go. For now I have settled down in a town and work at a bistro.

Over the past year I have met a lot of unmated males, who have showed interest in me. And every time I thought about staying for the Full Moon, seeing Jordan's face made me decide against it.

I smell her hideous perfume, before I see her. So I am prepared for what might come, trouble with a capital T

Even though I still have money left, about a month ago ran in to Mandy. She was being harassed by a few females and from their comments I could tell this was not the first time and it would not be the last time.

I stepped in and within seconds it was clear to everyone that they were better off walking away.

Mandy thanked me for my help and offered to buy me lunch. During lunch we talked about the women and that is when I found out she owned a small bistro at the edge of town.

After that the harassment started, first a few remarks on-line and soon that escaladed in to harassing her personally. And now the main source of the trouble was on her way.

We had filed complaints with the police, but they did nothing and I was determined to find out why.

So I had sent Mandy out on an errand, knowing trouble would hit again today. The bistro was empty. I had made sure of that. The woman starts smiling as she sees the bistro empty, but the smile freezes on her face when I step in front of her. As I grab her by the collar, a scent hits me and Evie pushes forward to make herself known. She starts shaking and tries to get away from me, but it doesn't do her any good, not with Evie in control.

Evie tells me that the excessive use of perfume finally makes sense and I have to agree with her. It had puzzled us from the start, but we finally had our answer.

Knowing the Alpha of the closest Pack, I get out my phone and dial his number.

After explaining myself, he tells me he will be there as soon as he can with some of his men.

The She-wolf has heard every word and starts to freak out, mumbling something about not getting paid enough.

Half an hour later the Alpha shows up and soon we have all the answers we need.

The big shot is a rogue and the police is terrified of him. We decide to deal with the guy and his little gang of rogues.

The Alpha calls in one of his men, who had been keeping an eye on things outside and then we get a real shock. It turns out the She-wolf was his mate and had rejected him a few months ago.

We wait until Mandy returns from her errand and I tell her that her troubles are over. After hearing us out, she nods her head and thanks both me and the Alpha for dealing with her problem.

He chuckles and says: "Rogues are our problem, not yours. I am just sorry you were caught in the middle of this."

Mandy looks at me and knows that I will not be coming back. She hugs me and tells me she will grab my back-pack for me.

As I walk out the door she wishes me luck and tells me to drop by whenever I am in the neighborhood.

The Alpha tells me his plan on dealing with the rogue leader, but he also tells me we need to notify the police.

I agree with him, because I don't want Mandy to get into trouble because of this.

Luckily the police station is not far from the bistro and as we walk in I see the officer we spoke to last time. The look on his face tells me that he is not happy to see me, but then he recognizes the Alpha and his attitude chances completely.

The Alpha demands to talk to the Chief of police and the officer escorts us to his office. He doesn't ask for permission, just explains what we are going to do and if any of this comes back to Mandy there will be hell to pay. After that we walk out of the police station.

By the time I was twelve / was the fastest runner in the Pack and I could shoot with a bow and arrow, hitting every mark.

But I wanted more and I kept watching my Father train and practiced what I saw. It took me another year to convince my trainer that I was ready for more.

He told me to report to the training fields the next morning to train with the sixteen year

After dinner I heard him talking to our Alpha and my Father, he told them that I wanted to learn more and that he chose his class to teach me that I was not ready yet.

I got pissed and hoped that I would be able to prove him wrong the next day.

As I got to the training fields / saw my Father, our Alpha with his Mate, our Gamma and our Beta. I saw the worried looks on their faces and I had to make sure that I didn't start laughing.

He called Andy to the center, the best in this class and I knew he really did not think that I was ready. Evie chuckled in my head, because she could not wait to put that arrogant pup his place.

You see, Andy always bragged about how good he was and that no one could beat him. He calls me to the center as well and tells Andy that I think I am ready for more than he has been teaching me so far. Andy chuckles and says: "I hope you can stand the

I don't think about it and start to climb the tree next to me. A minute later he is standing under the tree, enjoying what will be his last cigarette.

I lower myself on to a branch above his head, then I hang on to the branch with my knees and slit his throat before he realizes what is going on.

I put his body against the tree and it slides to the ground. After getting out of the tree, we start making our way to the cottage and in ten minutes all the rogues are dead.

We clean up the mess and I say my goodbyes to the Alpha once more, after he promises me that he will keep an eye on Mandy. And something tells me it is no hardship for him. Stephan's POV.

I know Izzy spent the last month in one place, helping out a Human and still she was able to avoid the camera's. She called me an hour ago, to let me know that she is on the move again.

I hope she finds answers soon, because we all miss her. It is not the same without her here.

I am still waiting for the day that either her Father or Jordan demands a search-party to be sent out. I know both of them have changed in her absence and I know they want her back as much as I do. 902

Nearly four years have passed since I started visiting Pack's to find my mother and I am close to losing hope.

So far only a handful of She-wolves remembered seeing or meeting my Father, but that had mostly to do with the fact that he was accompanying Alpha Maddox. But not one of them remembered seeing him with a female. There is one more Pack on my list and then it will be over, whether or not I have answers. Not being able to find answers is so frustrating and I don't understand how it is possible that no one remembers my mother. My frustration turns to anger and I am hoping that I will run in to some rogues, just to get rid of my frustration and anger.

I keep walking in the direction of a small town, when I smell Werewolves. Apparently I am territory of a Pack and I think it is wise to make sure that I do not trespass onto their land. close to the

Suddenly I hear screaming and even though it is coming from Pack-land I do not hesitate. I follow the screams and soon I find a She-wolf trying to protect a few pups from four rogues.

I make sure they hear me coming and I let Evie take control, so we can get rid of our anger. By the time I take down the last rogue, I notice that other Werewolves have shown up to the scene.

I raise my hands as I turn towards the Pack-members and that is when I recognize Michael, an Alpha that has visited our Pack a few times.

"Alpha Michael, I am sorry for trespassing onto your land, but when I heard screaming I just reacted the way I was thought." I say to the Alpha,

A She-wolf steps from behind the Alpha and tells me to put down my hands. She thanks me for protecting her Pack-members.

Finally Alpha Michael has recognized me as well and says: "Izzy, welcome to the Blue Mountain Pack. This is my Mate, Savanah." Luna Savanah invites me to stay for dinner and I accept the invitation. The Luna shows me to a guest-room to clean up, but I tell her I have nothing else left. After I tell her the highlights of my story, she tells me that she will take care of it and that I should go take a shower. By the time I am done and walk in to the room with a towel wrapped around me, there are clean clothes on the bed. There are even three sets of clothing and undergarments.

"Evie, remind me to thank Luna Savanah for her generosity.

As I walk down the stairs, a Warrior walks out of the kitchen and he tells me to follow him to Alpha Michael's office.

Alpha Michael and Luna Savanah are waiting for me in his office and I know that the Luna has told him my story. "Izzy, what do you need to continue your search?" Alpha Michael asks.

I tell him I am on my way to the last Pack and that I could use a place to stay for the night. That I will be

I am about to turn his offer down, when Evie says: "Accept the offer. We can use a rest and we won't lose any time at all." And I know she is right, so I accept the offer and thank Luna Savanah for the clothes she left in the room.

She says it is no trouble at all and if my search continuous that I will need the clothes.

We talk for a few more minutes and then Alpha Michael tells me dinner is being served. Walking towards the dining room I hear children talking and running around.

As soon as we enter a woman gets up and pulls me in to a hug, she thanks me for saving her children. Alpha Michael makes the introductions and I find out that the children I saved belong to his Beta and Gamma. During dinner I hear how he met his Mate, how his Beta and Gamma found their Mates and I can happy they are. It makes me rethink my decision to take a chosen Mate. see how Luna Savanah can tell something is on my mind and she takes me to her own office to talk. When I tell her that I made the decision to take a chosen Mate a long time ago and that I even asked someone to be my chosen Mate, he just nods her head.

Then I tell her that he turned me down, that he didn't want a Mate.

But I also tell her that seeing them all tonight makes me long for my true Mate and that I have some thinking to do on this matter, before I settle down with a chosen Mate.

The next morning I walk around the Pack-house towards the training fields. Hoping to get some training in, while I am here.

Evie and I find a group of teenagers on one of the fields, but I don't see a trainer. When I ask them why there is no on around, they tell me the Gamma was called away to one of the borders.

I ask if they would mind if I took over for the time being, one of the girls walks up to me and says: "Getting trained by a Lycan, that would be awesome."

We start training and I can tell that they are well trained and serious about it. Time passes quickly and before I know it, it is already time for lunch.

I spent my afternoon with the children of the Beta and Gamma. We chase after one and other, playing hide-and-seek and climbing trees. After another night spent in a bed, I wake up the next morning feeling at bit anxious.

Today I will find out if my search has come to an end of that I am lucky enough to finally get some

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - A Ga 174[1,092 words]

Chapter 174 Stephan's POV.

On my way to the Tech-building my phone starts buzzing and I wonder who could be calling this early in the morning.

A smile spreads across my face, when I see it is Izzy. I am glad she accepted the phone I gave her on the day she left, she knew no one was aware that the number was hers and she knew I would not try to locate her with it. "Good morning, this is Stephan. How can I help you?" It is the way I always answer the phone, when she calls or if it is a number unknown to me.

I hear her giggle, because after all this time she still thinks it is so unlike me to answer is this manner.

She tells me that she will be heading to the last Pack on her list and that she hopes she will find some answers there.

She says that she will be in contact with me after she is done there.

As I walk in to the building, I disconnect the call and make my way over to my desk. I start up my -computer and make my way over to the coffee counter

With my coffee in hand, I sit down behind my desk and see an alarm icon flickering at the bottom of the screen. I reluctantly move the cursor and click it.

For a second I fear it might be an alert on Izzy, but when I see what the alert is for, I call out to Mason. It is on the Evil Moon Pack and I hope it is some solid intel because I have had enough of dead ends on this Pack already.

And as we are going over the intel, a second alert pops up and again it is on the Evil Moon Pack. Mason and I decide it is best to gather our team and go over the information together. Jordan's POV

Julian and I are on the training fields watching a new batch of recruits sparring with each other.

Over the past few years we have become good friends and even though neither of us have ever spoken the words out loud, we both fear that Izzy is never coming back.

Nero doesn't want to think of the reason why she won't becoming home, but it still-lingers in the back of our head. I had seen Izzy grow up, but I had never taken the time to get to know her.

Julian has told me stories about Izzy and the trouble she could get herself in. Like the time she climb the mountain-wall at the back of the training fields. I could tell he was proud of her and if anyone could. survive out there on her own, it would be Izzy. And that is what Nero and I kept telling ourselves all this time. I knew I had been an idiot all those years ago and I have regraded it ever since she left.

"Where the hell did you go?" Julian asks me. Apparently he was talking to me, while my mind had been on Izzy. "Tell him." Nero says in my mind and I think it is time that I confide in someone.

When Julian gets to the pond, I am sitting in my usual spot. Still not knowing how to tell him, it takes a while before i start talking.

"I was thinking about Izzy and what an idiot I am." I say Julian looks at me in confusion and I tell him to hear me out before he says anything. He just nods his lead and I start talking. Every time the Full Moon arrives, I run. I go to the edge of our Pack's territory and stay there for a few days. I don't want to find my Mate and I don't want to celebrate the new couples.

The older I get, the more determined I am on staying away from She-wolves during a Full Moon

One day I overhear a conversation between Izzy, Dagmar and Jenna. They have not found their Mates yet and they are getting impatient.

Jenna is the one to point out that some of the older unmated males run border-patrol, so the younger ones can join the Full Moon party. Izzy and Dagmar say in unison that on the next Full Moon they need to run along the borders, just in case their Mate is out there. A few years pass and one day Izzy asks if she can talk to me about something. We walk to the pond and she sits down on a rock formation near the water.

It takes her a few minutes to gather her courage and starts telling me that she has given up on finding her true Mate. She has decided that she will take a chosen Mate and had ever made a list of men that she thought were suitable for her.

But one by one, for one reason or the other, they were crossed of her list and there was only one name left. I look at her. waiting for her to continue. It takes quite some time before she is ready to speak her mind and I am shocked when she tells me that the last name is mine.

I tell her in a rather blunt manner that there is no way in hell want a Mate and then I walk away.

After finishing my story I look at Julian and there is anger and shock in his face.

Probably anger because I rejected Izzy and shock because he didn't know she had given up her search.

"It had nothing to do with Izzy, I would have said it to any female that would have asked me to be her chosen Mate. Hell, I probably would have rejected my true Mate, back then"

I tell him about my Father and how it still angered me thinking about what Sandy did to him.

I tell him about my Brother and his true Mate, how she lead him on and how she had finally rejected him. after months of toying with him. How the experience had driven both my Father and my Brother to suicide.

Julian puts a hand on my shoulder and says: "I understand. I just hope that you will keep in mind that not all females are the same. Your Father and Brother were both unlucky to have run in to those females."

I know he is right and I know that I have changed my mind about staying single for the rest of my life.

Before he walks away he says: "Thank you, Jordan. For sharing this with me."

Chapter 175 Izzy's POV

After breakfast we head out to the Yellow Forest Pack. Traveling by car is a lot faster, but Evie and I miss looking at the scenery, smelling and hearing everything

Along the way we stop for lunch, Luma Savanah had a picnic prepared and we all enjoyed sitting in the open air, enjoying a good meal.

the But the closer we get to the Pack's territory, the more anxious I become. There is only one name on list, a former member of the Silver Moon Pack moved here after she found her Mate. Alpha Drew of the Yellow Forest Pack is her Mate and that makes her the Luna.. Suddenly someone taps my arm, it is Luna Savanah and she is pointing ahead.

We have reached the border of the Pack and there are guards waiting for us.

The one that steps forward recognizes Alpha Michael and he bows his head in respect. Than his head snaps up and his eyes land on me, he probably smelled the presence of a Lycan.

He nods his head at me and tells the driver to drive to the Pack-house.

As we approach I see a man standing on the front porch and I am impressed with the size of the Pack- house. Most Pack-houses are small compared to ours, but this one is the biggest I have seen during my travels.

He approaches the car, as we are getting out. Just by looking at him, I can tell that this is Alpha Drew. He smiles as he shakes Alpha Michael's hand and hugs Luna Savanah.

He turns to me and he says he is surprised to see me in the company of Alpha Michael and Luna Savanah.

Alpha Michael tells him about what had happened and that they asked me to tag along, seeing the fact they were heading here anyway.

"Ashley will be joining us after her nap." He says and I see a surprised look on Luna Savanah's face. "I hope nothing is seriously wrong with Ashley." Luna Savanah replies.

"No, she is fine." Alpha Drew says with a smile on his face. But both Luna Savanah and Alpha Michael keep looking at him.

It only takes me a second to figure out why she is taking a nap and I say: "Congratulations, Alpha Drew."

And now they are staring at me as if I have grown a second head or something.

I start laughing and Alpha Drew says: "She is six months pregnant and the twins exhaust her." Luna Savanah hugs him and congratulates him as well, while Alpha Michael slaps him on the shoulder with a smile.

About an hour later Luna Ashley walks in to the living room and you can see that the pregnancy is hard on her. Alpha Drew guides her to a chair and helps her as she sits down. Looking at the interaction between. the Alpha and the Luna, I realize I want a family of my own.

And thinking about that a face pops in to my head. I shake my head to clear my mind, because Jordan is

I introduce myself and thank her and Alpha Drew for being kind enough to see me. "I just hope I can be of some help. Luna Ashley says.

I tell them how I overheard my Father talking to our Beta, that I decided I wanted to find answers and that so far I had been unable to find any.

"Mrs. Manning from the Golden Star Pack told me everything she knew and she arranged a meeting with Alpha Ralph of the Silver Moon Pack." I tell them that he had hosted the Ball and Luna Ashley nods her head.

She remembers that Ball, because it had been her first one and she had been disappointed when she had not found her Mate. I tell her that I know that my Mother had just turned eighteen and that my Father had accompanied Alpha Maddox.

At first she shakes her head, but then she looks at me with a glitter in her eyes. "I might know who can tell you who she is. That night I met a Beta and he was accompanied by a woman."

She reaches for her phone and starts going through it.

Suddenly she holds it to her ear and seconds later she asks if she can talk to Beta Matthew. It takes a few minutes, but finally she smiles: "Hello, Matthew. I need to ask you for a favor." For a second she is quiet and then she says that it is not her story to tell. She thanks him for his time and tells him my name and from which Pack I am.

"Please, Matthew. Don't tell them that she is coming, it is important." She thanks him again and then. disconnects the call.

Alpha Drew invites me to stay the night and head out to the Crystal White Pack in the morning. I accept the offer and then I excuse myself, because I need to talk to Stephan. Stephan's POV.

My phone buzzes and I see a familiar number on my screen. This time I answer with just my name, because there is no one around that can overhear me.

After twenty minutes I am up-to-date on everything and I am glad she is getting closer to some answers.

I just hope that her Mother is still alive and that Izzy will find closure, whether her Mother wants to be a part of her life or not Jordan and Julian still come to my office almost every day and I feel bad that I can't tell them that Izzy is fine. After all it is not up to me to reveal that.

Over the years I have seen both men change and I know it is because of my best friend.

Sitting at my desk. I look at my system and see an alert with a 72% chance of a sighting. I open it and quickly realize it is not Izzy, so I leave it open on my screen for anyone to see.

It doesn't take long before I hear a comment from behind me "Another false alarm?" I just nod my head, knowing that Mason will inform Dagmar of this..

We have been going over the intel on the Evil Moon Pack and some of us are questioning it. But Dagmar and Mason are convinced it is accurate and genuine.

So in an hour there will be a meeting with Alpha Maddox, Dagmar and her Squad. As I gather every piece of information we have, my computer shows another alert on the Evil Moon Pack.

I open the information and I cuss under my breath. The information shows that they attacked two Pack's in the past week and as usual there were no survivors found at the scene.

But the thing that stands out, is that according to the Council, both Alpha's had daughter's and neither of them were found at the scene..

I decide to dig around in the Council's archive a bit and ten minutes before the meeting starts, I have found what I hoped I would not find.

Dagmar's P.O.V.

Before I called this meeting, I sat down with Mason and he had given me the concerns of his team. But we both agreed it was worth investigating and we knew Alpha Maddox would have the last say in what would happen next. As I prepare to leave the Pack-house, Mason links me that he has some new intel and he wants me to read through it before the meeting.

I start running as I tell him I will be there in a minute and close the link.

He meets me at the entrance of the building and holds out a tablet, I go through it as we make our we over to the meeting room. I look at Mason and I can tell by the look on his face that he hates this intel as much as I do.

My Squad-members are already there and I wonder when the day comes that I have to turnover command of this group again. Even though I enjoy leading them, I wish their Commander was here.

Their Commander had left almost five years ago and there was still no trace of her. "Everyone misses her." Emma says in my head and I know that that is the truth, especially for her Father, Julian.

I even suspect that Jordan, the Pack's former Beta, is affected by her leaving.

Alpha Maddox walks in with Beta Rico and Gamma James, who happens to be my Uncle. Mason and I go through all the gathered intel, but the newest intel we safe for last.

Mason tells them one of his men had a hunch after the ast reports from the Council and that he went digging through the Council's archives.

"There are multiple recordings of Alpha daughters who went missing over the years, after they were attacked by the Evil Moon Pack." I give them the very short version of what was uncovered. We go back and forth with the intel and after three hours of debating whether or not to pursue this, Mason looks at the tablet in front of him.

He has gotten a request from three Pack's for assistance because the Evil Moon Pack is getting closer to their territory. "Good, tell them we're coming." I say, but then I see the look on his face.

"You might want to take a minute to think about that. Their territories surround Blue Moon Pack territory." Mason says and the entire room goes still.

No one says a word or moves a muscle, Uncle James is standing next to me, before Mason has finished speaking.

My first instinct tells me to run, but my training grounds me and I tell Mason it doesn't change anything. We will go and lend them a hand in fighting the Evil Moon Pack.

And if we can get some answers and revenge in the process that will be a plus.

After that I get up and storm out of the room, needing some time to myself I give control to Emma. She runs to the edge of the forest and I don't even take the time to undress. She runs for hours before she decides it is time to head home. James's POV.

The second I hear Mason mention Blue Moon Pack, I am moving towards Dagmar. I can see she has to pull herself together and I am so proud of her, when she answers Mason.

I know that this will not be an easy trip for her, but I will be with her every step of the way. After Dagmar takes off, I excuse myself and go off to find my Mate

Elsa is already waiting for me, I quickly explain everything to her and she puts her arms around me. "I know she will be okay, my Love. She is a strong woman. Elsa whispers in my ear.

I hold on to Elsa, knowing that she is the one that can calm me down. I need the comfort she gives me. because thinking about the past still hurts. Not as much as it once did, but it is still something I'd rather not think about.

Meeting Elsa was a dream come true, I had been looking for my Mate for so many years and a trip to the Red Moon Pack gave me what I wanted most in live.

We both lost a lot that day, I lost my Family and Pack and Elsa lost her Sister-in-law and unborn pup. Dagmar was the only survivor and she came to live with me and Elsa after that day.

I can feel the sadness running through her and then I feel the tears drenching my shirt. We hold on to each other and just stand there.

After a few minutes she lifts up her head and I kiss her. My hands start roaming her body, from her waist up to her breasts and I hear her moan. It encourages me to keep going with my ministrations.

It only takes seconds for my cock to get rock hard and know I won't be gentle with her.

Carl takes advantage of the fact that Elsa is surprised to see him, he start thrusting in and out of her pussy. He groans as he is balls deep in her core and Elsa moans loudly.

He flips her on her stomach and I know this won't last long for both of us. When he slams his cock in to her from behind, I hear her moan even louder and it turns us on even more.

He pumps in and out, over and over again. Not relenting for a moment, we can both feel that Elsa is close to her orgasm. And it makes him loose control, he starts to fuck her harder and faster.

I can feel my cock grow as it starts twitching in side of her, we both come hard and it takes a while to come down from our high. After that we fall asleep, satisfied and sated.

For the first time since left, it is Stephan that contacts me and my heart sinks. "Please tell me my Father is fine." I say as I pick up the phone.

"Your Father is fine." And I let out a sigh of relief and before I can help myself I blurt out "Jordan?"

"No, nothing going on with him either, but there is and her reason I called." He tells me about the intel and his digging in the archives and I tell him that I will help him in any way that I can.

Settling down for a rest in a cave I discovered, I go over everything Stephan told me. He asked me to make a small detour on my way to the Crystal White Pack, it would take me off course almost a day, but I knew he needed the answers I might be able to find.

So I close my eyes and drift off to sleep. After an hour I wake up and head out again. I walk in my human- form and after dinner I hand over control to Evie.

She knows where we have to go and with her speed we will be there by morning. Evie runs through the forest, feeling in her element as she picks up even more speed.

Everyone always wondered why I was able to run this fast. I couldn't answer that question, I was just glad I could. When Jordan was still my trainer, he would always make me chase him. It took a year, but eventually I was able to catch him.

Evie feels content with the wind running through her fur. She gives me back control about ten minutes before we reach our destination.

I can feel where the Pack's territory start and Evie and I keep close taps on our surroundings. As I walk further onto the territory, we can see the slaughter that took place here and a shiver runs down my spine.

The Council had cleared the grounds of all the bodies, but you could still see the blood stance. As we get closer to the Pack-house, we see more ground covered with blood and it shows that a lot lost their lives here.

But it is not as much blood as I had expected. Stephan had told me that this was a rather large Pack and there were no survivors. I wonder how it is possible that the amount of blood did not add up and I decide to keep this information to myself for the time being. Walking around the feeling that something is off gets bigger and bigger. We head to our next destination. hoping that we will find answers there.

Just across the Pack-border I find a place to sleep and after some breakfast and a few hours of sleep I start walking again.

In the evening Evie takes over again and gets us to our next destination before the sun comes up.

I rest for a while and every time I am about to drift off to sleep, I see Jordan's face.

After first light I make my way on to the Pack's territory The same feeling comes back as I make my way over to the Pack-house, because again the amount of blood doesn't compare to the number of members This Pack had.

"Let's look at what we can see. He have seen evidence in both racks of a lot of mated couples and what is the best way to get to a mated male?" Evie is right, a mated male would do anything for his Mate or pup. "Okay, let's say they captured the mated females to subdue the males. Then w/did the Council not figure this out." Evie and I walk around some more and that is when I see something strange.

The flowerbed in front of me shows signs of indentations as if something had crushed the flowers down. "Bodies, Dead bodies. Shit, I know what happened. They threw down dead bodies."

I am puzzled and Evie has to explain herself to me. She asks me to smell the air around the flowerbed and then the air on the back porch of the cottage to my left

After I do as she asks I tell her the air around the flowerbed smells stale and that is when I realize what she means. They dumped bodies here that had been dead already, that way it looked as if everyone was killed during the attack. I grab my phone and call Stephan to fill him in. He wonders why they would go through all that trouble, just to make it look like there were no survivors.

And we talk about my assumption, was I correct in thinking they only took mated couples.

After discussing it for a few more minutes, we come to the conclusion that we don't have an answer to that question. yet. He wishes me luck before he disconnects the call.

Evie and I continue our way towards the Crystal White Pack and we both are looking forward to meeting Beta Matthew. Both of us are hoping he remembers the name of his date and maybe he even knows what happened to her.

It will take us until tomorrow night to reach the Pack, but it doesn't bother us one bit. Inhaling the fresh air, now that we have left the Pack's territory, a smile spreads across my face and I start humming a song my Father always sang to us.

Thinking about that we both start to laugh, because my Father couldn't sing at all. But we loved him for trying. And on occasion he would overdo it, just to annoy the hell out of me.

I keep humming as we continue our search for a place to sleep, with a smile on my face.

Half an hour after we left the territory, I find a place for us to have breakfast and get some sleep. As I drift off to sleep, my Father's face appears and I can hear him hum.

I am sitting on a rock near the pond. I am watching a little boy running around. He is being chase by a man and they are both laughing.

As the man turns around I am surprised to see that it is Jordan. The little boy runs passed him and reaches out his hands to me and yells "Catch me. Mommy. And that is when woke up. Evie and I are puzzled about our dream, we felt so happy and I hope one day it comes true, even if the man is not Jordan

Our routine is the same as it has been these past years and I wonder if I will be able to go back to a normal life. Staying in one place, sleeping in a bed every night and being awake during the day.

Soon night falls and Evie takes over, by this time tomorrow we will be at the Crystal White Pack. I enjoy watching the night fly by through Evie's eyes, after all these years having her it still amazes me. Evie and I discuss everything we have seen over the years and there is not one thing that is favorite for either of us.

We enjoyed meeting new people, seeing new places and just feeling free. We answered to no one but ourselves and we both agree that that will be what we will miss the most.

Stephan's POV.

It has been two days since I spoke to Izzy and I finally figured out a way to explain my "theory" to Mason. I found some pictures from the latest attacks and with those I can explain it all.

I ask Jordan to come to the Tech-building because I need his help. He will be able to see what Izzy and I discovered.

"Mason, can you assemble the team. There is something I need to run by all of you." I say as I walk in to the room with Jordan.

Within five minutes we are seated in a meeting room and I put a few of the pictures up on the screen-Lask them to look at them carefully and tell me if they see something strange.

It takes a few minutes, but then Jordan asks from which territories these are tell him about the attacks and ask him to take a guess and he tells me that he thinks they are from the smaller Pack.

"No, these are not from that Pack. Now that you have seen the same thing I did, I hope that we can figure out what is means. Because so far I have been unable to figure this out." I decided not to tell them about the theory Izzy and I came up with

I can't tell them that I think that the Evil Moon Pack tock prisoners after each attack and dumped bodies of people long dead.

Mason nods his head and we go back and forth on the why. Jordan is the one who comes up with the same theory and Mason tells us it is a theory we can work with, but he will not inform Alpha Maddox until we

Just before dinner, I reach the Crystal White Pack and when I tell the guard my name his eyes glaze over. "Beta Matthew is on his way to pick you up." The guard says after a few seconds.

I nod my head at him and sit down on a tree-trunk at the side of the road. Taking in my surroundings, I realize this is yet another place for my list with amazing views.

Staring straight ahead I look at a mountain ridge and I wonder if their training field has a mountain-wall too. If they do, than I will love trying to climb it.

I hear the engine of a car and I get up from the tree-trunk to see a black SUV arriving at the gate. A man steps out, like my Father he is tall and handsome and my best guess is that he is about my Father's

It is difficult to guess the age of a Lycan or Werewolf, because we age a lot slower than Humans. For the first seventy or eighty years of our lives it looks as if we are stuck in our early twenties.

Before a Lycan or Werewolf looks like he is sixty years old, he can actually be close to three hundred years old. So I am not going to make a guess as to how old Beta Matthew might be. "Hello, Izzy. Welcome to the Crystal White Pack." He holds out his hand and I shake it.

Thank you for agreeing to see me, Beta Matthew." Is my response.

There are not many people around and I ask Beta Matthew about it. He explains that a neighboring Pack asked for assistance with a rogue issue and the Alpha had gone there with a team of warriors. And because of that, most Pack-members were in their homes.

He tells me his Mate, Anne, prepared dinner and after that he will answer any question I have. And that is when my stomach grumbles, my face turns beet-red in embarrassment.

Beta Matthew chuckles and steps down on the gas pedal. "We better hurry up and get some food in to you." He says laughing.

Anne is waiting for us on the front porch, Beta Matthew introduces us and instead of shaking my hand, she pulls me in for a hug.

That is when I actually smell that Anne is Human and am a little surprised by that. "Don't worry, you're not the first to be caught off guard by it." Anne says.

As we walk to the kitchen Beta Matthew tells me that at first he wanted to reject Anne, but his Alpha convinced him to get to know Anne before he would make a decision.

That was the best bit of advice I ever got and I am glad that I listened to him." He pulls Anne closer and plants a kiss on the top of her head.

Anne made us lasagna, it smells and tastes amazing and I ask for seconds.

"Where the hell do you leave it!" Beta Matthew asks as his head ducks under the table, Anne and I both go in to a fit of laughter.

Ever since Ashley called me and asked me to do her a favor, I have been wondering what this girl wants know. Anne and Izzy walk in to the living room and I know I will get my answers soon.

Anne sits down on the couch. Izzy sits down in an armchair and I take my seat next to Anne.

"Izzy, what can I do for you?" I ask her and Anne grabs hold of my hand, while we wait for talking.

Izzy to start

"I never knew my Mother, she left after I was born and my Father raised me by himself. Don't get me wrong. I had a great childhood. My Father is amazing, loving, caring and a tat nuts." A smile appears when she speaks of her Father. "Almost five years ago, I overheard a conversation between my Father and our Beta. My Mother did not just leave me, she dumped me at the border of our Pack.

A guard found me and alerted my Father. She left a note, saying she wanted nothing to do with me." For a moment she say stops talking and I want to something, but Anne squeezes my hand.

"There is not much information on my Mother. She attended the same Ball my Father did, neither found their Mate and after a few too many drinks they had a one night stand.

You attended that same Ball and I have reason to believe that you know who my Mother is." After she says that, she looks at me.

"The woman, you brought as a plus one, is my Mother and I am actually not surprised she left Izzy. I also know who her Father is and I know she is right when she said she had a great childhood.

"Julian is your Father." I say. She nods her head and I have to think for a second to remember the woman's name.

"She visited our Pack with her Alpha and her Sister. They arrived a few days before the Ball and during dinner one night, she mentioned that she was disappointed that she could not attend the Ball.

Her Alpha had declined the invitation, even though he still had not found his Mate. My Alpha suggested she accompany me, seeing the fact that I had already met all the females that were invited."

I look at her and continue telling my side to the story. She was so excited that I couldn't turn her down and took her to the Ball.

In the days she was here, I found her to be a bit arrogant. On our way to the Ball, she told me she was convinced she would get an Alpha as her Mate.

She didn't find her Mate that night and I saw her with your Father. But I didn't realize what had happened, just that she was gone by the time I went looking for her to go home."

I tell her I went home without her Mother and that her Alpha was pretty pissed that I came back without Listening to Beta Matthew, I feel a bit disgusted with my Mother and I don't even know her.

I hope he remembers her name or the Pack she belong to, because that will get me closer to answers. "Do you remember the name of her Pack, Beta Matthew?" ask.

He nods his head and tells me she belongs to the Red Dawn Pack. I ask him if he is sure about that and he tells me he is positive on the name of her Pack, then he asks me why I questioned him. "Because our Luna was from that Pack." I tell him. "Shit Your Luna was named Gina, so was your Mother's sister. Could it be?" he says.

1 ask him if he remembers my Mother's name and when he tells me her name was Grace Velee, I am the one that is cussing.

I apologize to Anne for cussing and she just shakes her bead.

"I need to process this information and the best way I can do that is while I am on the road. I will and see if he is willing to talk to me. If he refuses, I will ask him to give you a call."

Beta Matthew nods his head and tells me to spend the night there and head out after breakfast.

Alone in my room, I am debating with Evie whether or not to call Stephan and inform him of the information I had gotten. We agree it is best to leave it for now.

We still have to many questions ourselves and thinking about it, I can feel the anger building inside of me. Evie wants to run to relieve the anger we are feeling.

I walk out of my room and almost run in to Anne. I ask her if it is possible for me to let Evie run along the border, her eyes glaze over for a second and then tells me the guards are alerted to my presence.

"You are the only Lycan around, so they will know it is okay for you to be there." She explains and after that I make my way out the back of the Pack-house.

It takes a few hours of running before our anger tempers down and we can actually try to get some sleep.. As I walk up the stairs I remember Jordan telling me during my training it was better to run off the anger then to hurt someone. And I smile thinking about the only person that can make me nervous as hell and pissed off at the same time.

Izzy's POV.

I wake up after a restless night and I still don't know how to feel about it all.

Running last night helped us to deal with some of the anger we feel, but there is still enough left.

Finished

I know that walking to my Mother's Pack will do me good and the runs at night will be the best way for Evie to cope with it.

At breakfast Anne asks me why I was so upset and I tell her that maybe one day I will explain it to her.

With a full stomach, a packed lunch in my back-pack and clean clothes I start the next part of my journey. I leave the mountains behind me and make my way through the forest to the nearest road.

The sun is shining, but it is not to warm and I enjoy the sounds of the birds singing. The forest is not to dense, so the sun keeps me warm and I know that by the end of the day my skin will have darkened even more.

Being outside every single day has given my skin a darker tan than it has ever been. My blond curls are a few shades lighter and if I don't braid it, it reaches my lower back.

Sometimes when I see my own reflection, I wonder if my Father would recognize me. Evie snickers as I imagine standing next to my Father without him recognizing me.

It has been three days since I found out who my Mother is and I still can't wrap my head around it.

How could she live in the Pack-house with me and ignore me the way she did? Did my Father realize she was my Mother, did anyone?

Did she tell anyone she was pregnant and if she didn't how did she keep it a secret? Question after question pop up in my head and there is only one person that can answer them.

The one person that wants nothing to do with me.

Suddenly I feel tears running down my face, I sit down against a tree and for a while I just sob, feeling sorry for myself.

After I am done, I get up and start walking again. More determent than ever to get answers.

Stephan's POV.

The past few days I have been busy with all the intel we found and I know it won't be long before Alpha Maddox will make his move. As more and more intel came in, some of the team mentioned it was rather strange we were getting this much information. After all we had been unable to find anything on the Ev Moon Pack for years. But I couldn't convince Dagmar or Mason of my doubts.

Everyone knows why Alpha Maddox wants to find this fack and every Pack-member will back him up when he decides it is time to react. I just hope that it will be with a minimum of casualties.

Over the years there have been a few survivors and they all say the same, this Pack is ruthless. I also found was the one that attacked Dagmar's Pack.

Finished

Why they both had the same cruelty and determination was a question I still had no answer to. Mason made sure every piece of information was communicated to Alpha Maddox, Beta Rico and Gamma James.

I still keep a close eye on my "Izzy" program, but as usual it only gives false alarms and I wonder how long it takes before someone starts questioning it.

Going through the Council's archives I found a few more anomalies and I hope Izzy will contact me soon. I need her to go to the territory of one of those Pack's to get me a few answers, if there is anything left to find after all these years. Izzy's POV

I am halfway my trip to the Red Dawn Pack and I need to talk to someone before I lose my mind. So as I find shelter in the morning, I get out my phone and call Stephan.

He picks up after it rings twice and it is good to hear his voice. We talk about the weather for a few minutes and then I reveal that I found out the name of my Mother's Pack.

Stephan wants to know where she came from and I know I can't share that information, at least not yet.

"Stephan, I can't tell you. Her identity has raised even more questions than I already have. But the major question I need an answer to first is, why did she walk away from me. And I think I will find that answer in her Pack."

Like I suspected he doesn't argue with me and I am grateful for that. Instead he says he needs me to do something for him. He tells me what he found in the Council's archives and that he wants me to go to one of the Pack's that got attacked. He gives me a few locations and I know that I am about a day away from one of them. I ask him why he wants me to look in to one of these Pack's.

"A year before they attacked Dagmar's Pack the Son took over and I want to know if there was more that changed." I understand what he means and I tell him that I will make the detour and get him as much information as I can find. I ask him how everyone is doing and he tells me that everyone is fine.

After that we say our goodbyes and I lay down to get some sleep, before going on my mission. The excitement of a mission makes it difficult to fall asleep, but after tossing and turning for an hour, I finally drift off to sleep.

As I had figured I got to the territory at first light, the next day. I can tell that no one settled down here after the attack and that makes it a little bit better for me.

No one will interfere with my investigation and there will be no one asking questions I don't want to answer. Even though it has been close to fifteen years since the attack, with my Lycan senses I can make out more than Wolves could.

I can still make out the bloodstains on the ground and again it is less than there should have been. Most buildings are gone, but the Pack-house for some reason is still standing.

It looks like it might crumble if I blow at it, but it is still there. Walking around the Pack-house, I find the Alpha's office and I know that if I am able to find any answers it will be in there.

I get in through a window and the floor squeaks under my feet. Knowing where Alpha Maddox keeps his records on Pack-members, I make my way over to the desk.

- I find them in the bottom drawer and I make a call to Stephan even though I know it is in the middle of the night for him. At the third ring he picks up and crumbles: "This better be good."

Laughing I say: "Good morning, Sunshine. For a second it is quiet at the other end. "Izzy, what is it?" he asks and I tell him I found the Alpha's list of Pack-members.

He tells me to hold on a second and I hear him rummage through some papers. "Okay. According to the Council's list, they found thirty-five pups, sixty-six females and ninety-three males. What does your list say?"

I look at the list and I realize that the total amount is correct, just the amount of males and children are incorrect. I tell Stephan that there were forty-six pups and eighty-two males and that this list was up-dated the day before the attack. And once again we wonder why they would take prisoners and dump dead bodies in their place. The only answer I can come up with is an answer I am not willing to share with Stephan, it is to horrifying to consider. After talking for a little while longer, I tell him I will make another detour for him before ending the call.

An hour after I leave the Pack's territory, I find a spot to have my breakfast and get some much needed sleep. This time I fall asleep within minutes.

Jordan's POV.

I am still sitting on the tree-trunk, staring at the pond. Julian left hours ago, but I am still processing everything he told me. Because of Stephan I knew they were on to something, but this was a lot to process.

There has been a lot of intel on the Evil Moon Pack lately and Alpha Maddox is considering helping three Pack's that fear they are next on their list. When Julian told me where the Packs were situated, I asked him how Dagmar felt about it. And it did not surprise me when he said she wanted to lend a hand. But something about it was bugging me and for the life of me I could not figure it out.

down here.

This Pack was attacked almost two decades ago. I could still make out the bloodstains, but it was already too far gone to give me the same impression the other scenes had given me. There is barely any sign of structures left and I walk around for a few hours, before I realize I have walked over the Pack-house a time or three already.

I start digging through the rubble and hope that with some luck I might find something. I am tossing a few planks aside and are about to give up my search, when accidently uncover a metal lock-box.

On the top is an engraving depicting a Werewolf under a Full Moon, it looks so familiar and it takes me a minute to remember this symbol was discussed in my History-class once.

It belonged to a strong Pack and rumor had it that they were betrayed by friends. There had never been any prove for it, but rumors tend to stick with people.

After looking around for a little while longer, I finally give up my search and I decide to find a place to rest. I will try to open the lock-box after I have had some sleep and something to eat.

And I hope that even if the contents is irrelevant to my mission, I might find something in there that was worth my search of the ruins.

Suddenly Evie pushes forward, she senses danger and run for the nearest tree. Just as I have taken cover between its leaves and branches, I hear voices coming closer.

Soon I can smell that they are Werewolves and I wonder what they are doing here. Officially it is no-man's land, but no Werewolf would come here unless they had a good reason. And I don't have to wait long before I get an answer.

The Werewolves are getting closer and I am able to hear their conversation.

They take off in three different directions and that is my que to get moving. Quietly I drop out of the tree and make a run for the tree-line. Evie lends me her speed, to make sure that I can make it there, undetected.

I keep running until I feel comfortable enough to slow down. It is near midday when I see a town in the distance and I decide it is a good place to get something to eat.

Maybe I'll be able to open the lock-box and see what is in side of it. I promise myself that tonight after dinner I will call Stephan and fill him in on what happened and what I found.

I find a small bistro at the edge of town, order my lunch and take in my surroundings.

A man sitting in the far corner of the bistro, is staring at me and I get the urge to go over to him to knock some sense in to him.

Then the waitress shows up with my order, she puts it down in front of me. She hands me a few napkins and gives me a strange look. Before I can say something she walks off towards the man and for some reason I open the napkins. "He is a Werewolf Is written on the napkin and I have to stifle a laugh.

It's a good thing that she doesn't know that I am a Lycar, she might run, screaming, from the place.

After I finish my lunch, I make my way to the counter to pay and ask the waitress if she knows where I might find someone who can help me open the lock-box.

As I hand her the money, the man steps up next to me and I hear him growl softly. "Is there a problem, Mister?" I ask rather irritated. Looking me straight in the eye, he wants to say something, but I let Evie come forward and he steps back quickly. "Don't underestimate someone you don't know. It might bite you in the ass." Evie says and from the corner of my eyes I can see the waitress turn pale.

I turn back to the waitress, fully in control again. She hands me my change and I smile at her.

As I walk out of the door, I hear the man tell the waitress he is not going to pay, that it is his payment for protection Another voice comes from the back and tells him he has to pay his bill.

Evie and I can feel the anger coming from him and in second I am standing in front of him. I hold him a few inches of the ground and squeeze his throat tightly "Pay up and don't ever come back here or I will finish you." I say before I drop him. He scrambles to his feet and grabs his wallet. The waitress tells him his total and he pulls out a few bills.

He has it unlocked in seconds and when I just put it under my arm without opening it, he looks at me in surprise. "Sorry, but what is in there is private. Thanks for your help." As I get some money from my back-pack, he shakes his head and tells me that there is no charge because I helped out his Father and Sister.

I smile, nod my head and walk out the door. Today I have to break with my routine, because I want to know what is in the box.

A cave would be the best place, but I will take a huge tree if I can find one.

I have been walking for almost two hours when I finally find a place to settle for a few hours. The cave has a narrow entrance and it reminds me of the caves I stayed in all those years ago.

I check if I have reception on my phone, before I open the lock-box. I don't know what I was expecting to find, but it is a mixture of photos and official papers.

On top is a folded note, by the looks of it written in great destress and I wonder if it was penned down during the attack.

On the outside it reads: "To whomever finds this. I am curious and want to start reading the note, but Evie stops me from doing so. She tells me it is best to call Stephan, so we can go through it together. It only rings once before Stephan answers and I ask him if he was staring at his phone in the hope it would

I hope that Izzy is right, that whoever wrote that note did it during the attack and maybe we will get some answers. I ask her to read the note out loud and I can hear her unfold it.

Five minutes ago my Mate. Alpha John, told me to gather certain papers and put them in this lock-box.

We are under attack and my Mate has tried to surrender, but they just laughed at him. They have taken some of the women and pups captive, their Mates and Fathers have surrendered and have been bound with silver chains. Their leader gave the order to capture me alive as they made their way to the Pack-house. I will take my own life before they can capture me.

However there is something else you need to know, some of our attackers were carrying dead bodies with them. I don't know why, but I hope you will be able to find out. If any of my Pack survive, please take care of them. For a little while Izzy and I stay silent, the note raises even more questions and there are not many. answers. I hear Izzy rummage through the papers and photo's in the lock-box.

"I found the Alpha's list of Pack-members. Let's see if our speculations are correct." And again we find out that the amount of Pack-members is correct, but that the amount of pups and men are off again.

"Izzy, I don't know how to explain this to Mason or Alpha Maddox. How do I explain to them how I found out about this?"

Izzy is quiet for a moment "Do you think this information will make a difference? Will it change to gameplan? I don't think so."

I take some time to process what she said and I know she is right.

"Okay, I agree with you on that. It won't make a difference. But why would they take captives and especially children?" I ask out loud, I hear Izzy sigh and get a feeling she already has an idea as to why.

I stay quiet, knowing that she will tell me what she figured out. "What is the best way to get a Werewolf or a Lycan to do as you say?" She asks me and for a second Tam dumbfounded, before the answer pops in to my head. Making a Werewolf or a Lycan do something against their will is nearly impossible. Unless you have the right leverage, a Mate or pup will suffice.

"It wouldn't surprise me if the women and pups all belonged to Warriors. It is the only thing that makes sense to me," Izzy mumbles.

Izzy's POV.

Stephan checks the information he found in the archives, but none of it contains names. Not that I expected him to find names in there, after all if they had than they would have found out themselves something was off. "Do you think they made them fight?" I wonder if any of these people are still alive. I know she came from a different Pack, but I was not sure if her old Pack still existed. If there was still someone left of her bloodline, I would make sure that they would get these pictures. Stephan's POV

Thinking about what Izzy and I uncovered, a shiver runs down my spine and I shake my head in disbelief.

After hours of going over everything about a hundred times, I still have no way of explaining this to anyone. And I conclude what Izzy already mentioned, what good would this information do anyone. But I had found a way to make sure that in the end it would all be known.

Izzy's POV

My mission for Stephan not only took me off course, it also put the negative thoughts out of my head..

But I have finally made it to the Red Dawn Pack and this morning Evie had given me an idea on how to get information without revealing too much.

In a few months it would be Luna Gina's birthday, a day the Pack uses to remember her and what she meant to our Pack.

A second guard shows up and the first guard's eyes glaze over. After a few minutes two Lycans emerge from the forest and the second guard tells me to follow them.

As I follow the Lycans, one of them stays next to me and looks at me from time to time. After a little while. it starts to annoy me and before I can help myself I blurt out: "Never seen a female before?"

It sounds like the other Lycan is laughing and the one next to me turns his head away. After a twenty minute walk we reach the Pack-house and I can tell that the man standing in front of it is the Alpha.

The two men that guided me to the Pack-house come out of the forest, in human- form and dressed in sweatpants. The Alpha invites me in and he proceeds towards his office, the two men following behind me. "I was looking at you, because I was wondering why a girl looking like you would be out there by herself." One of the men says.

The Alpha makes quick introductions, the one that spoke is named Andrew, his Beta and the other is Paul, his Gamma and he tells me to call him Donny..

"Well, Andrew. Do you think that someone would survive attacking a Commander in a Lycan army?" Task.

"No one would be stupid enough to do that. It would be suicide." Is Paul's response.

I never met Izzy before, but the second she walked up to the house I knew she was a high-ranking Lycan. I had not expected her to be a Commander in Alpha Maddox's army. Like me, he is strict in who he appoints as a Commander. "Why didn't Maddox let me know that you were coming?" I ask.

"I'm sorry, Donny. But Alpha Maddox is unaware of this visit. And I would appreciate it if you could keep this a secret. I don't know if you are aware of this, but every year on Luna Gina's birthday we have a memorial and a Pack-member prepares a speech." She look at me to see if I was aware of this.

"I know about this tradition. And I feel grateful he keeps her memory alive." I know she can tell it is difficult for me to talk about Cina.

"This year I volunteered to hold the speech, but I wanted to do something different. I came here in the hope to find out more about Luna Gina before she joined our Pack. To find out more about the Pack she grew up in."

A small smile appears on my face and I nod my head. think that is an excellent idea. There are even some family members still living here, maybe they can tell you about her bloodline."

Andrew suggests that I asks a few Pack-members if they are willing to share their stories about Gina. I nod and through the mind-link I reach out to a few members, it takes a while before I look at her and tell her that in the morning she can use my office to talk to people that knew her the best.

Paul, Andrew and Donny tell me their stories involving Luma Gina. She was a caring woman, something I witnessed first-hand.

She helped Paul when he found his Mate and made the stupid mistake of walking away from her. "I hope she kicked your ass for that." I say and a voice from the doorway says: "No, but I use it against him every change I get." And I can't help but laugh at Paul's expense. Andrew's story was a sad one, she had been there for him after his mother was killed by a rogue.

And Donny relied on her a lot to help him with various Pack problems. He hadn't found his Mate yet and Luna Gina had helped him in any way she could. A year before Alpha Maddox met Luna Gina, Donny had finally found his Mate and Luna Gina had helped her settle in to the Pack as their Luna.

"I still miss her." A soft voice says, as a petit, dark-haired woman walks in and sits on Donny's lap.

We talk throughout dinner and just before midnight I excuse myself. I need some sleep and I have to let Stephan know that I will do the memorial speech this year.

So I send him an e-mail from my phone and tell him to make sure that he puts himself on the list. Within a few minutes I have a response that it is taken care off

After breakfast Donny guides me back to his office and feel bad for deceiving him this way, but I myself that one day I will tell him the truth.

I thank him for the use of his office as he walks out the door.

One after another, Pack-members walk in and tell me their story. It turns out Luna Gina was a born Luna, the way she handled a lot of the issues these Pack-members dealt with.

Illness, death, rejection and so on. And every time Luna Gina was there to listen and to lend a helping hand. The last Pack-member I speak with is the Luna and I hope she can tell me a bit more about my Mother.

"Luna Liza, thank you for taking the time to talk to me I say to her as she sits down on the couch. She tells me that when she met Donny, she was afraid he would reject her.

Her family and Pack had always said that she was worthless and that if she ever found her Mate that he would reject her without thinking twice. She had been surprised when Donny had accepted her in front of her entire Pack.

"I was relieved when he took me away from there, but part of me was still afraid. Gina made me see that Donny meant everything he said. And I will be forever grateful to her for being my friend."

We sit there in silence for a while, when suddenly Luna Liza asks if I have a Mate. I tell her about everything, searching for my true Mate, deciding on a chosen Mate and getting turned down. "I have thought about staying with a few Packs over the years for the Full Moon. But every time I would see Jordan's face. I am not sure as to why, but it always made me decide to leave."

After telling her my story, I finally have gathered enough courage to ask her about my Mother.

"Luna Cina has a sister, Grace. What was their relationship like? Luna Gina once told me she was a good fighter."

That was all it took to get Luna Liza to open up about my Mother. She told me that this was information she got from other Pack-members after she herself started asking questions about Grace.

Grace was always around the high-ranking Lycans and that she made sure she was introduced to every visiting Alpha.

"I heard stories about how different they were and witnessing it for myself again and again, made me realize all of it was true. Gina was caring, sweet and patient. Grace was selfish, arrogant and obnoxious. They were worlds apart when it came to their characters" I tell her that Grace always ignored me, but that she was like Gina when it came to a friend of mine.

"Then that girl is a means to an end. That was the only reason if you ever saw another side to Grace."

I ask her if she knows if she ever had a Mate or a lover. Or if she could remember anything that hinted towards a lover. Luna Liza tells me that Grace never found her Mate or least she never told anyone she did.

But for a time Gina thought she had had a lover, because she vanished for a few months over thirty years ago. But Grace never told Gina were she had gone or why.

We talk for a little while longer and then Luna Liza tells me it is time for lunch.

During lunch I hear a few more stories about Luna Gina and my Mother. Everyone tells the same thing. they were opposites in every way.

Then Paul tells me that after lunch he will take me to a cousin of Luna Gina. He will tell me about her family and bloodline.

I can't wait to find out more about my family, to find out if more of them are like Luna Gina. I just hope that none of them are like my Mother.. Gamma Paul's P.O.V

Izzy seems real excited to meet with Gina's family and can't help but smile.

Knowing Gina's Mate and Pack will get to know her a bit better through this, is what made her family agree to this meeting. Troy volunteered to talk to her, he knew Gina and Grace the best and he knows all the history of their bloodline.

Soon I can see the cottage that belongs to her family and I point it out to Izzy. After two more turns in the road, I get on to the dirt road that will bring us to the cottage.

The cottage is white with straw roofing, the windows have gray shutters and on the attic are two semicircular windows. "That is a very pretty cottage." I Hear Izzy say and I have to agree with her.

Troy is waiting on the front porch and I tell Izzy that Toy will mind-link me when she is ready to go back to the Pack-house. She nods and gets out of the car, I turn the car around and drive off. Izzy's POV.

This cottage belongs to Luna Gina and looking at it, I finally understand why she felt so uncomfortable in our Pack-house at first. After all this cottage looks the seize of the suite my Father and I have in the Pack- house.

I walk up the three steps and introduce myself to Troy Thank you for meeting with me." I say as I bow my head in respect.

I see surprise on his face when I lift my head up again and I smile at him. "You are related to my Luna and because of that I am obligated to show you the same respect, I would show her."

He thanks me and tells me to take a seat. "What is it you want to know?" He asks me and I tell him the same story I have told everyone. I tell him that I have met with a number of Pack-members already, but that I would like to know more about her childhood. Maybe even a family legend if there is one. And I see him smile, which probably means there is a family legend.

"I will get us something to drink and then I will tell you the legend of our blood-line."

Troy's POV

I put the tray with two long-drink glasses and a carafe of iced lemon lemonade on the table in front of Izzy. Before I am seated, she has already poured the two glasses full with lemonade..

I take a zip of mine and look at her "This is a story handed down generation on generation. I don't know if it has any merit, because no one of the family that is still alive, ever witnessed it."

Centuries ago, one of our ancestors rescued a woman, not knowing she was our Goddess. She asked the woman what she wanted as a reward and the woman declined. She thought it had been her duty to rescue her.

So the Goddess told her that she would bless her bloodline, starting with the girl she was carrying.

Every female in a generation would have the chance to mate with an Alpha, but the female mated to an Alpha that would bare a pup first would be blessed even more.

For her pups would get gifts from the Goddess. So in every generation of our blood-line there could be pups with extraordinary ability's. From masking their scent to feeling an individual's intentions.

Legend has it that she lost her Mate a few weeks earlier and on the day she gave birth to her daughter, she found her second chance. With him she had two boys and when her daughter became of age, she found out that the Alpha to be of the neighboring Pack was her Mate. They say they only had one child, a boy, it is unknown if he had ability's. But the story was handed down and every once in a while another mating with an Alpha was added to the legend.

However there has never been any mention of pups with ability's.

There also have been mentions through the centuries that some sisters would try to gain the favor of an Alpha and even once or twice murder was mentioned.

Gina was the last of our blood-line to mate with an Alpha. Maybe someday we will be able to add another name to the list, but for now Gina is the last one.

"Gina never gave much about the legend, not even when she met Maddox. But Grace on the other hand was very curious about it and wanted to hear it over and over."

Izzy is staring in to nothing and I wonder if she even heard the whole story.

"Were there no written records on the legend?" She asks and I nod my head. I had already pulled the records and put them on the chair next to me. Handing them to her, I ask her why she is interested in it.

She asks if I can keep a huge secret, I can't even tell my family. "You're lucky I don't have a Mate, because I could never keep a secret from my Mate. But I promise you, whatever you tell me, it will stay between us." Izzy's POV.

I can tell that my secret is going to be safe with Troy, so I decide to tell him everything.

"I am sorry but I have not been completely honest. I will be holding the speech at Luna Gina's memorial, but that is not the sole reason I came. Luna Liza told me that over thirty years ago Grace disappeared for a few months. What do you know about that?"

He tells me that he remembers Grace disappearing for a while, but that no one in the family knew why and that Grace would get really mad if anyone asked her about it.

I look him in the eye and say "She left to give birth to me and dump me with my Father." His jaw drops and he shakes his head in disbelief.

I tell him how I found out, what I overheard and that I had been searching ever since. I tell him that I still don't understand that she could life in the same house as me and completely ignore me.

"You are Grace's Daughter?" He asks, looking at me in disbelief. I tell him my entire story, about the four and a half years of my life. I even confide in him about Jordan and my doubt on whether or not I should settle for a chosen Mate.

"You are Grace's Daughter?" He asks again and I nod my head. He tells me that if Grace put any value in to the legend, he could imagine her leaving me. After all my Father was not an Alpha, so I would not have any ability's. And maybe that was what she was after. We talk for hours about why Grace would have left me or treated me the way she did. But we both realize. there is only one person that can answer those questions.

Troy's P.O.V.

Izzy found answers, but I have a feeling that there are still a lot unanswered. And not all of them involve her Mother

Like Izzy, I searched for my Mate for years and I had already given up when I finally found her. Molly was the best thing that ever happened to me and it still makes me sad, thinking about her.

I was sixty-three years old and my Alpha had sent me to a Pact to escort a family to our territory. They had asked Alpha Donny for help, because their Alpha was a sadistic ass. Their Daughter had found her Mate, but her Alpha refused to let her leave.

When the two of them had decided to run off together, they were caught by the Alpha and he had killed her Mate. So they asked Alpha Donny to get them all out of that Pack.

Her Aunt was a member of pur Pack, mated to a Warrior. Alpha Donny knew about the Alpha and the way he ruled his Pack

The first Full Moon they spent in our Pack, was the night I found out Molly was my Mate. Knowing she had just lost her first Mate, I told her that she was the one setting the pace,

It took Molly two seconds to make up her mind, she jumped in to my arms and I took her back to my cottage. She had not been marked by her first Male and they never mated. So she was nervous when we got home.

I walked straight in to the bedroom, still holding her in my arms. Looking in her eyes, I lowered my head and kissed her. She gasped and that gave me the change to deepen the kiss Slowly undressing her, I kept an eye out on any chance in her posture and I would have stopped at the first signs. But it seemed she was as eager as me and she started pulling on my shirt.

Within minutes we were both naked and I took in every inch of her gorgeous body. We made love all night, but the first time I took it slow. I spread her legs and lowered my head, she started moaning the second my tongue touched her clit. After I made her come twice with my tongue, I crawled further up the bed and put my cock at the entrance of her pussy. Het core fel so good that I almost lost control, I managed to take it slow and as I breached her hymen I drove my cock

After that there was no stopping me, I would let her rest for a while and then wake her up by playing with her clit. After the second time, we found out that Molly liked it a bit rough. And that was fine with me and my Lycan.

Molly was always ready for me and I loved taking her whenever I had the change. If she was inside, she would wear a dress and nothing underneath. I would sneak up on her and bent her over, lifting her dress and slamming my cock inside her. The years I had with Molly, were the best years of my life and was glad I never settled for a chosen Mate.

I ask him what happened to Molly and he tells me that he was killed by a rogue while protecting their twin boys.

He tells me that the boys are all grown up now and have Mates of their own. That they live just down the road and that he is the proud Grandfather of two boys and four girls.

"If you don't want to answer my next question, I will understand. But how old were you when you finally found Molly?" I ask. When he tells me, my jaw drops because I would not have given him more than maybe sixty years. Jordan's POV.

It is a few days before the Full Moon and I wonder where Izzy might be. Did she find her Mate in the past few years or did she really give up?

This morning Alpha Maddox left with Dagmar, her Squad, his Beta and his Gamma. Julian joined them on this mission, because he is an excellent warrior.

I am left in charge of the training, while Mason is left in charge of the Army and the search for more intel on the Evil Moon Pack.

Gamma Elsa has tasked herself with arranging the party for the Full Moon and she asked me to take that in to account for my schedule on the border patrols that night. I have assigned myself to the farthest border there is and every unmated male and female is off duty. Before he left, Julian and I talked about the Full Moon and he is hoping that he might find his Mate. He also told me he would be keeping an eye out for Izzy.

Nero and I don't expect him to find anything on her, after all I trained her and she was an excellent student. For some reason she could get lost without leaving a trace.

Izzy's POV.

After I went back to the Pack-house of the Red Dawn Pack, I called Stephan to give him an up-date.

He told me that Alpha Maddox was getting ready to leave in search for the Evil Moon Pack. My Father was going with him, so was my old Squad, Dagmar, his Beta and his Gamma.

told him I met a cousin of my Mother and that he told me about a family legend, which was probably the reason why my Mother abandoned me.

the call. I ask him to tell me what he needs. He goes over the intel he found on a location connected to the Evil Moon Pack.

The next morning I leave at first light, I want to make sure that I am close to my destination by nightfall.

Right now I am sitting in a tree, watching my Pack's enginy at request of my best friend, Stephan. We grew up together, me being ten days older, we were inseparable.

Father always said that people, that did not know us, would think that we were twins. If you saw Stephan, I was not far behind and vice versa. We even finished each other's sentences for a long time. It always annoyed the hell out of my Father.

Even though I left the Pack years ago, I will still do everything I have to do in order to keep them save. There are Werewolves gathered in a clearing not far from my position and I can listen in on their conversations.

Right know my interest is peaked by two Werewolves discussing how much clothing they should put in the bags. Finally they put the bags down and walk away.

Next my attention gets drawn to a Werewolf, he is walking with a bucket towards the tree I am sitting in. As he puts the bucket down. I see it contains a bright orange paint and a smile crosses my face. Gamma Elsa, Luna Gina and I spend the day backing cupcakes, tonight my Father would return from visiting a neighboring Pack. I asked them to make his favorite, chocolate chip.

Alpha Maddox, Beta Rico and Gamma James walked in to the kitchen, sniffing the air and that made me giggle. Because it is a silly sight, seeing those bulky men with their noses in the air

Gamma Elsa and I take two cupcakes and put them in a container, because in the raid those men are eating, there will be nothing left for my Father. I even put a note on it "Don't touch. For my Father."

Gamma Elsa makes sure I am in my pj's before my Father gets home, I jump in to his arms as he enters the room. Then I run to the kitchen to get the container, but / see Beta Rico stuffing the last one in his mouth.

I scream on the top of my lungs and everyone comes running in to the kitchen. It takes Luna Gina one second to see the issue, she scolds Beta Rico for what he did and tells my Father to put me to bed.

I wanted to get even with him for eating my Father's cupcakes and after tossing and turning for an hour, I finally come up with my revenge.

After everyone is fast asleep, I make my way down to his room and quietly open the door. I take all his clothes and underwear out of his room and take it up to the attic. There pull out all the whites and then I head downstairs to the laundry room.

I know there is still some pink dye left from a few months ago and I throw his clothes in the washer with the dye. After I dried all the clothes, I sneak back in to his room.

The next morning / hear Beta Rico cussing and swearing as he sees his clothing. But there is nothing else present in his Toom, so he has no choice but to go in to the living-room dressed in a light pink outfit..

I hear Luna Gina and Gamma Elsa laugh and I can imagine the look on Alpha Maddar's face. That is when I hear my Father's voice "What the hell did you do?"

Everyone knows I did this, but there is nothing that ties me to it. And I get away with it. Even though my Father told me that maybe one day, Beta Rico might try to get even withe.

It is Full Moon and I have watched my friends fight wave after wave of Werewolves. They managed to take them all down and right now they are enjoying a meal

I left after they returned to the Pack-house, because I don't want to be anywhere near the Pack when the Moon is at its highest.

I am still asleep when my phone dings, a message from Stephan, a new wave of the Evil Moon Pack is coming. Putting the back-pack on my back, I run back towards the border.

I am stunned as I see my Mother near the forest-line and that is when I realize that she is the one that sold out Dagmar. I text Stephan my findings and it stays quiet on the other end. Then I receive a text back "Yeah, we found out a day after they left. No idea why.' I keep my eyes on my Mother, she walks towards the border and together with about half of the Wolves. present she shifts to her human-form. One of the men turns one of the bags up-side down and the bright orange clothes tumble out Evie is having a laughing fit in my head and I have a huge grin on my face.

Just as they cross the border of the Black Moon Pack, I see my Alpha and my friends come out of hiding. I am too far to be able to hear what is being said, but I don't care.

As the battle starts, she hightails it out of there and I see six Werewolves in pursuit. Knowing they can't keep up with her. I run after them and then I see her climbing up the mountain-ridge. I take a look at it and know that it will be a piece of cake for me to climb t I keep my distance as she climbs higher and higher. About halfway up there is a ridge she climbs on to and disappears in to a cave. It doesn't take me long to find out that it is a passage way through the mountain.

I have to blink my eyes as I make my way to the exit. It takes me a second to pick up her scent and I rush. after her. Because I want to know where she is going, I make sure there is enough distance between us. Jordan's POV.

It is a few days after the Full Moon, but there were no newly mated couples this time. Gamma Elsa is preparing a party anyway, because we have new Pack-members. And this is our way of welcoming them in to the Pack..

"Any news?" I ask Stephan as I sit down next to his desk He tells me there is still no sign of Grace, even though it was confirmed that she had been in cahoots with the Evil Moon Pack.

He tells me that one Werewolf was spared by Alpha Maddox, in hopes to get some information. "It turns out his Mate is being held captive to make sure that he would comply. "Can you think of anything they might want to keep from you? And don't just think of the bad." And for a second I am stunned. Because I had been thinking about the worst.

My head snaps up and I ask him if it could be possible that one of our Pack-members found his or her Mate. "You would have known if we had lost someone. But a Mate would not be that easy to know. Only a Luna would be able to sense that." Jordan answers and know that he is right.

We discuss who it could be and we keep coming back to two names, Dagmar or Maddox. In both cases I would be jumping up and down and that is when I understand why they didn't tell me.

"They didn't tell me, because I am not with them. Now can celebrate with them when they tell me." Jordan nods his head and I see a sad gloom in his eyes.

I put my hand on his arm and say "We all miss her and we all are waiting for her to return." He looks at me in surprise and I tell him that Izzy told me about asking him to be her chosen Mate.

I ask him if he ever found his true Mate and he shakes his head. "For all we know it could be Izzy." Fhear his Lycan say and I ask him how that could be.

He tells me his story, his decision to never take a Mate and to avoid females during the Full Moon. "I was never anywhere near Izzy, so I don't know if she could be my Mate."

Jordan's POV

A week has passed since the battle and they are still searching hide-outs for survivors. So far there have. been seven captives that were rescued and they decided to stay with the Pack that helped set them free. And a baby boy was found in a cage with his Mother's body.

Two days ago Stephan was called to head to a hide-out that contained computers that were still running. He is on his way back now and I hope he can find answers.

Nero has been stirring in my head more than usual and he is driving me nuts. It started after my talk with Gamma Elsa, he seems to think that we should take a chance. But I know I don't want anyone other than Izzy.

I walk out of the living-room in a cottage that somehow looks familiar and I hear footsteps hurry down the hallway. As I look up, I see a little girl rushing towards me, followed by a boy. When they see me a huge smile appears on their faces.

They rush down the hall even faster and in seconds I catch both of them in my arms. "Where are those little demons of mine?" I hear from the back of the house.

"Please, Mommy. Hide us from Daddy." The boy says and I push them in to the kitchen. Leaning against the doorframe I see a man coming down the hall, by the way he walks I can tell who it is. For a second I want to run, but then he comes in to view and he smiles at me "Are you hiding those two from me?" And I shake my head, smiling up at him. I hear soft giggles beside me and I push the girl a little further back. "Princess, are you lying to me?" He asks with a devilish smile on his face.

Suddenly the children run past me in to the living-room and before I can run after them, he grabs me around the waist and pulls me close. And as his face comes closer, I wake up.

I have had these dreams for a few years now and they always leave me feeling empty inside. I wish have convinced him back then, but what if he had found his Mate or if I had found mine.

Evie gets me out of my thoughts by pointing out that Grace's scent is fading. I have been tracking her for over two weeks now and I start to feel as if I am getting closer to home.

Last time I talked to Stephan he told me they had searched every hide-out and what they found was bad. One rescued captive had died a few day after they found him, other than that there were only eight survivors.

Today they come home and he promised to call me to let me know once they returned.

As I walk through the forest sniffing the air for Grace's scent, I suddenly realize that I am near the border of our Pack.

"Where the hell is she going?" Evie asks me and I am stunned as well.

Then I recognize where we are, not far from here is a little abandoned cottage. No one has lived there in decades. The closer I get to the cottage, the stronger he scent gets.

I know there is a huge tree close by and I decide to climb it to keep an eye on Grace: Then I hear a mournful howl that touches the depths of my soul and can barely refrain Evie from responding. Grace's P.O.V.

Julian just got back from his trip and I can tell that something is wrong. I push two guards aside and as I approach Julian, Nero starts howling in my head. Julian looks at me, my knees buckle and I am glad that the guards catch me before I hit the ground. Nero howls out loud as we both realize that she is gone and then the world goes black.

"Julian, he is coming to." I hear an unfamiliar voice say and I look in to the face of a young woman. The next face I see belongs to Julian and I can see the sorrow in his eyes.

I have so many questions, but I don't know where to begin. "It is still not easy for him to talk about it." Another unfamiliar voice says in my head. I sit up straight and stare at the young man standing behind Julian.

The mark on his neck shows me he is mated and as I look at Julian, I start smiling. "At least something good came out of this." I say looking at both men. I introduce myself and I find out the young woman is Maggie and Glenn is Julian's Mate. Maggie tells me what they found out just before they came home and tears start rolling down my face. Maggie holds me as I cry for the woman I lost, but never truly had.

Stephan's POV

Alpha Maddox is going over everything they found and suddenly his Sister stops him from talking. I am shocked she did that but what shocks me even more is that they think that Izzy is dead. She is holding a bracelet that belongs to Izzy, but then she tells us that there were no DNA-matches to Izzy.

I can see relief wash over Julian's face and I can't imagine what he went through. Then his eyes glaze over and for a second I wonder what he is doing, until I remember the howl from last night.

I bet he has informed Jordan that Izzy's DNA was not at the site. I know I need to be careful, because the way Julian is looking at me tells me he suspects something.

After we are done, I head to my desk and go over the "Izzy" alert. I didn't check it over the past few weeks. I see a picture of her on the day of the battle and I know I might have the answer to my problem. "Stephan, report to my office." I hear Alpha Maddox order through the mind-link.

I talk to Alpha Maddox and Luna Dagmar, telling them the basics and offering a solution to Julian's Someone tries to link me, but I keep my block up. A few minutes later Maggie stands in front of me, her hands on her hips and she looks as if she wants to knock some sense in to me.

I link Julian and tell him Maggie told me the good news Now all I need, is to see Izzy again, to let her know that I have been an idiot. That I want to be her chosen Mate if the Full Moon shows us we are not truc Mates.

Stephan's POV

After I leave the Alpha's office, I pull out my phone and send Izzy a message to contact me as soon as she can. Before I am able to put it back in to my pocket, it starts buzzing.

"Izzy, where are you?" I ask as I pick up the phone. She asks me what is going on and I tell her what I discovered that morning. I also tell Izzy the plan I made with Alpha Maddox and Luna Dagmar. "What did you say?" She asks and I tell her I had no other choice but to tell them that I knew she was still alive.

"Not that, Dummy. Did you say Luna Dagmar?" And then it dawns on me and I chuckle. I tell her that they found out during the last Full Moon that she is his second chance.

It is quiet at the other end, I hear her breathing so I know she is still there. Then she tells me that she is fine and that she will contact me soon. Before I can say anything else, she disconnects the call.

Last night I met our new Pack-members and I decide to spend some time with Josh. I want to hear his story and show him around the territory.

I find Josh near the Pack-house and ask him if he would like it if I showed him around. To make him familiar with the area.

"I like that. I know I might get lost otherwise." Is his response. And as we walk away from the Pack-house we start talking about his old Pack.

Maddox's POV

Dagmar and I are in the living-room with James, Elsa, Samantha and Rico. Ever since Stephan walked in with that picture of Izzy, Elsa has been watching me.

"Okay, you better tell me what you know or this Pack will be without an Alpha soon, Brother." My Sister says and the look on her face tells me she is not kidding.

Luckily Dagmar is the one that responds and I am happy to hear her explain it, because I would hate to lie to my sister. "Aunt Elsa, it is not our story to tell, but we can tell you that she is still alive."

My Sister nods her head and I sigh of relief. "I understand, thank you for being honest with me." She says to Dagmar.

Then we start to discuss our new Pack-members and where to house them. We need to make sure that the newly mated couples get a place of their own.

neone knocks on the arch leading to the living-room, Dagmar gets up and walks towards Sienna. "Come in, Sienna, Have a seat."""""

After she sits down, Dagmar explains to Elsa why we brought her back with us. "Sienna, I hope that your time here will show you that your parents raised you the wrong way." I say gently, knowing she is still adjusting to the way we live in our Pack. Izzy's POV.

After hearing Stephan, I know it is time to go home. Evie is whining in my head and I feel sad for making my Father and Jordan think that I was dead. I knew I had lost the bracelet somewhere along the way, but to lose it in a hide-out used by Alpha Max was the worst place.

I now know the howl I heard last night was Jordan and my heart breaks thinking about it. Thinking about my Father and what he went through.

I want to jump out of the tree and head home, to let my Father know that I am still alive. But Evie says

"We can't, at least not yet. We need to find out what she is up to before we take her down." I nod at her, because I know she is right.

And I know that Stephan already has the answer to resolve the issue, so I know my Father will no longer be mourning me.

We need to make sure that she has no more tricks up her sleeve before we can take her back. So I make myself as comfortable as I can in the tree and keep watching the cottage. Stephan's P.O.V.

It's been a week since Alpha Maddox and the others returned home and I spend almost every day with Josh. Jake starts pacing in my head and I know he wants to go see Josh.

All our new Pack-members have settled in and our guest Sienna is turning out to be a rather nice girl. Josh told me stories about her on the first night I showed him around and I thought I would dislike her.

She is opening up to us more and more and from the stories I have heard from everyone, I would have hated living there. I hope that she will find her Mate one day, just as I hope I will find mine one day.

As I shut down my computer, I can sense Josh walking in to the room and I know he is not alone. Maggie, Sienna and Eric are with him and they are all laughing

"Are you ready to get out of here?" Maggie asks me and nod my head as I get out of my chair. We walk over to the Pack-house for dinner and I find myself walking next to Josh.

We talk about his training and Eric tells me that our Warriors are tough trainers, but that they keep their background in to consideration. Josh says that they now realize that the training they received in the past was a walk in the park and we all laugh.

It is almost dinner-time and I am in our room getting ready as Maddox walks in. He pulls me in to his arms and I lift my head up for the kiss I know is comin

As he deepens the kiss, I start undressing him and soon we are both naked. "We better stop this or we will be late for dinner. He whispers in my ear and I let my hand slide down to his cock.

He hisses as I wrap my hand around it and I know we will be late for dinner. He lifts me up and I wrap my legs around his waist as he starts walking to the bathroom.

He puts me down on my feet and turns on the shower. As he turns to me, I see that it is Cole that has come forward and he has a smirk on his face. Goosebumps spread over my body in anticipation, hoping he will do what I have been waiting for.

"Are you ready for me. Babygirl" He says as he makes his way over to me. I am at a loss for words, all I can do is nod and he pulls me closer. He lowers his head and I put my arms around his neck.

One of his hands slides down my back, squeezing my ass. He knows exactly how to turn me on an as his hand moves between my legs from behind. He stops moving as he reaches my core, which is soaking wet.

I moan

I hear him chuckle in my ear, he slips a finger in to my pussy and I moan again. Cole always knows what to do to make me weak in the knees, but before I buckle be lifts me up and walks in to the shower.

He lowers me down and I can feel his hard-on press against my belly. "Turn around and put yo put your hands against the wall" He orders and I am more than willing to comply,

His hand travels to my core again and he slips two fingers in making me moan. He starts sliding them in and out of me as his other hand reaches my breast, he pinches my nipple and I moan even louder.

If he keeps this up, I will be coming very soon. As if he knows what is on my mind, his hand moves faster and harder in to me and within seconds I shatter.

He slowly pulls his fingers out and goes to my ass. As he presses against my hole, he guides his cock to my core and thrusts in to me. His finger keeps pressing against my hole as his cock slams in to me again. "I am almost good to go, Babygirl." He whispers in my ear. After a few more minutes of delicious torture, he pulls out of me and I whimper at the loss of this amazing feeling. Then I feel him pushing his cock against my back-door and I take a deep breath, while I push back.

"That's it. Push back more." Cole growls and as I push back again I feel a slight pain as my hole opens up for his cock. It stings for a second and as it turns in to pleasure 1 moan. He starts moving his cock further in to my ass and I keep pushing myself towards him. Suddenly I can feel that he is all the way in and he holds still, but I don't want him to hold still, I need him to fuck me. So I push myself back and he gets the message. He pulls out, almost all the way and then slams back in.

Cole is not holding back, he keeps slamming his cock in to my ass and my moans get louder and louder. There is not a coherent thought in my head left, I can't think straight not even if my life depended on it.

He picks up the pace even more and I can tell that he is close to coming. I can feel his cock twitch inside of me and that sends me over the edge. I come hard and Cole is right there with me.

After we clean ourselves up, we head down to have dinner and everyone is waiting for us. Jenna looks at me with a smirk on her face as she bends towards Paulnd I see a blush creep up his cheeks. And I can't help myself but laugh. Jordan's POV.

Watching Alpha Maddox and Luna Dagmar enter the dinning-room, I once again tell myself that I am an idiot. I could have had some of that with Izzy, if I had been such an ass.

"How does it feel, not having to deal with all the schedules anymore?" Julian asks and I realize he did it to distract me. I give him a smile and tell him I am glad that he is in charge of that mess again.

Everyone around us starts laughing, because they know I would rather be on the training field than in an office. But Julian and Alpha Maddox know that I will do whatever is asked of me, if it benefits the Pack.

I see his phone is lying next to his plate and I ask him what that is about. Suddenly Glenn punches him in the arm and through the mind-link I hear him say "You didn't tell him?"

As I look at Julian, I see a look of shame on his face. "I am sorry. The day we heard that Izzy's DNA was not found at the scene, Stephan found an alert on his computer." He says as he hands me the phone.

I am staring at a picture of Izzy and she looks more beautiful than ever. Her blond curls are falling down her back and Nero is cheering in my head. I hear my phone buzz, but I can't be bothered. Seeing Izzy's face is more important.

"Get your own phone, Jordan." Julian says as he janks his phone from my hand. I look up at him and then I realize that someone must have send me her picture. I turn to see Stephan waving his tablet and I quickly pull my phone out of my back-pocket. I open the message that Stephan send me and there she is, the woman I love with all my heart.

So far no one else has shown up at the cottage and I start to wonder if someone ever will. Every night I hear Grace cussing and swearing as another day ends without anyone knocking on the door.

My eyes are starting to close as I smell a familiar scent and I shoot up straight. We are not close enough to our Pack-borders for me to smell anyone from our Pack. Evie is pacing in my head, she knows the smell is from someone we know and it irritates the both of us that we can't put a name to it.

A twig snaps near the tree, we can hear footsteps and then we see a man appear below us. From where I am sitting I am unable to recognize him, so I know I have to be patient.

Just as he approaches the cottage, Grace opens the door and walks out to the man. He pulls her against him and starts kissing her. Before I am able to see his face, they disappear in to the cottage.

Knowing that I have to stay awake, Evie and I start to talk about the next Full Moon. It is only a few days away and we both wonder if we will be home by then.

From time to time I want to cover my ears, because I can hear everything that is going on in there. Then it gets real quiet in there and I wonder if he will be leaving soon.

The door opens and they both walk out holding a drink in their hands. They sit down on a small couch on the front porch.

"Tell me, how are things in the Pack-house." Grace asks him. He starts telling her that everyone is thrilled about the fact that Alpha Maddox found his second chance Mate. I see her face contort and I know she is definitely not thrilled about it.

He doesn't seem to notice and continues to tell her about new Pack-members. The preparations for the next Full Moon and of course the Luna ceremony. This gets her so riled up that she starts cussing and swearing.

All the while my head has been going in circles, because for the life of me I can't remember the guy's name. Then he turns to face Grace and that is when it hits me. It is Roger, the former Commander of the Guards.

He cups her face and looks in to her eyes. "Calm down, Sweetness. Soon we will both have what we want. I will make sure of it." He says to her. After that he gets up and walks back to our territory.

Before I drift off to sleep, Evie and I agree to wait a few more days to see if Roger might come back. But no more than that because we don't know what they have planned. Izzy's POV

The morning of the Full Moon, I decide that we have waited long enough.

"Let's grab the Bitch and go home." Evic growls in my head We get out of the tree and make our way over to the cottage. We can smell that she is alone and that is to our advantage. Before Grace knows what is happening, I have her pinned to the ground and I pull a sheet of the couch to cover her face. I don't want her to know who caught her or where she is going. 1/3

About twenty minutes later I see a familiar face, but there is also someone with him that I have never seen before. Stephan tells me his name is Josh and that he is a new member. 1 link both of them, explaining that under the sheet is Grace and that I don't want her to know who caught her. They nod their heads, Josh an Stephan grab her and I follow behind them. We get to the dungeons without being seen and Josh tells me that he will stand guard at her cell. I see Stephan look at Josh as they say their goodbyes and I have to hide a smile. Stephan's POV

After we leave the dungeon. I ask Izzy where she has been and what she has found out. "Sorry, Stephan. But I still have a few questions and as long as I don't have those, I can't tell you anything." She answers. We agree that she will hide in the attic and make her way to her Father's suite during lunch. However I make sure that I do not tell her about Glenn.

Lunch started ten minutes ago and I link Izzy that the coast is clear. I am sitting at a table with Josh, Maggie, Eric, Sienna and a few Wolves from her Pack. They arrived yesterday and will leave after the Full Moon. We can all tell that Sienna is a nervous wreck and I link Luna Dagmar with the request that she talks to Sienna about what might be bothering her. She tells me that she will take care of it. Dagmar's POV.

After I end my link with Stephan, 1 link Jenna and tell her about Sienna. She agrees we need to talk to her, the sooner the better. So as soon as I have finished my lunch, I walk over to Sienna and ask if she has a few. minutes for me. I take her to Maddox's office and Jenna is already waiting for us.

"Sienna, please sit down. A few people are concerned about you. Can you tell us what is going on?" I say after we all have our coffee.

She stays quiet for a while, just staring in to her coffee cap. Then she starts telling her story, how her parents instilled a fear for men in her, how it made her fearful of finding her Mate and her decision to make her own hide-out in her room. Jenna looks at her and says "If you want you can stay in the dungeons tonight. But maybe you should give this a chance."

"Being here has shown me that my parents were wrong, but what if it is someone from my Pack. They were all raised the same way and I fear my future might turn out the same as my Mothers." She whispers.

Before I can respond Jenna tells her that she will stay close and if it is someone from her Pack, she will knock some sense in to them first. That gives us a laughing fit, knowing that she will do just that

After an hour or so Sienna promises us that she will give it a shot and we leave Maddox's office.

I walk in to the suite and I take in the familiar smell of my Father, but then I smell something unfamiliar, Evie and I discover that the smell is all over the suite, but strongest near and in my Father's room.

We are both puzzled and for a second we want to link Stephan and ask him about it. But we know that there is not much time, so I want to take a shower and change in to some clean clothes before my Father gets back.

As I walk in to my room. I see a few things spread out of my bed. And even though I have never seen the items before, I know that they are mine. Sitting down on my bed, I see a blanket and a note. Next to them are pictures I have never seen before.

I soon realize they were taken on the day my Father found me. I hold the blanket close and start softly crying. After a few minutes I wipe the tears from my cheeks and go to the bathroom.

After my shower I chance in to black skinny jeans and a bright blue tank top. Just as I am getting comfortable on my bed, we hear the door open and then we hear voices. I sneak to my door and peak outside.

The door is open and I see my Father walk in, his eyes on his phone. There is a young man walking right behind him and he has a huge smile on his face.

My jaw drops when I hear my Father say "Doesn't our Daughter look gorgeous, My Love." They walk in to the living-room and I wonder why there is no response. Suddenly I hear a faint "Izzy" coming from the living-room and I know that that is my que.

I leave my room and make my way over to the living-room. As I step in to the doorway, the guy's jaw drops and in a second I am in his arms. I look at my Father as he hugs me even tighter.

"Izzy?" My Father whispers. "Hi, Dad. Who is this?" I ask pointing at the guy that is still hugging me, "I am Glenn and I am your Father's Mate." I hear through the mind-link. I look at my Father and he chuckles.

"My Love, let go of our Daughter. I would like to hug her myself now." And as soon as Glenn lets go of me, I see the scars on his neck. Next thing I know I am pulled in to my Father's arms.

"I missed you so much, Sweetheart. I am sorry I never cold you about your Mother." My Father whispers in

"I am sorry, Dad. I didn't want you to worry about me and I am sorry you thought that I was dead." I say as I dry my eyes. I look at Glenn and smile.

Glenn asks me if I found what I had been looking for and I tell him the same thing I told Stephan. He nods. his head and pulls me to the couch with him. After we sit down, he puts an arm around me and we just sit there.

She tells me basically the same thing I heard from Jordan and that during her search, she changed her mind about taking a chosen Mate.

I ask her if she can tell us why she changed her mind.

"I met a lot of people during my search and a lot of them had a mate. Most met their Mate under normal circumstances, but a few had interesting stories. I met Christa, a human girl, on my way to the Golden Star Pack and she found out after I left that the Alpha is her Mate. Then there is Beta Matthew from the Crystal White Pack, who is also mated to a human female and if it had not been for his Alpha's advice, he would have rejected her.

My Cousin Troy was sixty-three when he finally found his Mate and his Alpha found his Luna in a Pack that convinced her that she was worthless.

They all showed me that I had to hold on to hope and not give up on finding my Mate."

I tell her I am glad that she changed her mind and that she is home on time for the Full Moon.

Hearing my Father say those words, makes Evic jump up and down in my head and I have to tell her to behave. But I know it will do no good, more than ever Evie is dead set on finding our Mate.

I hear my Father and Glenn chuckle and I ask what is so damn funny. "You are. Is your Lycan giving you a hard time?" Glenn asks while he still chuckles.

And that is when I realize they watched as I was arguing with Evie. I look at my Father and then at Glenn and a smirk creeps on to my face and I hear my Father say Uh Oh.

I keep my eyes on Glenn and say "Get used to it, Dad." His eyes begin to water and he pulls me in to his arms. "Thank you." He says through the mind-link as he puts a kiss on my cheek..

When Izzy called me Dad. I choked up. I never thought I could be this happy, but I am living my dream right now. I have my Mate and our Daughter is home.

Seeing the smile on Julian's face I realize that this might cause trouble if Izzy really wants her presence to stay hidden.

"Izzy, we might have a slight problem with your Father They both look at me in shock as I say those words. I explain that with that huge smile on his face, everyone will ask questions and Izzy agrees with me. For a little while we are all just sitting there and I try to figure out what to do. Because I may not understand why she doesn't want to reveal her presence, but I know it is important to her.

Then it hits 1 me, it is not her friends she wants to keep in the dark. It is Jordan she wants to hide from and I guess that I cannot blame her for that.

"Izzy, I understand that you want to avoid Jordan. But you did not see him when he thought you were dead. He blacked out and after he came to, Maggie told him what we had discovered and he cried for at very long time."

I look at her and I see tears in her eyes. "I heard him howl." She whispers.

We talk for a little bit more and Izzy decides to go out to the party, but she will try to stay out of sight. Because she can't answer the questions we all have Izzy's POV

Listening to Glenn telling me what happened to Jordan it breaks my heart all over again. Evie and I both. wonder why, because he was so adamant when he turned me down. So I asked my Father what he knew about it.

He told me it wasn't his story to tell, but that he knew Jordan had changed his mind. That Jordan had been his life-line while I was gone and that he had been Jordan's life-line.

After that Glenn talked me in to going to the party, but told them I would not make myself known to anyone.

I am in my room, getting ready for the party. I link Stephan and ask if he can meet me at the back of the Pack-house. He asks if it is a problem if Josh comes with him.

"Who is guarding Grace?" I ask him. He tells me that one of the new Pack-members found his Mate during the last Full Moon. Josh trusts him and his Mate and that they volunteered to relief him.

An hour later the three of us meet on the back porch and Stephan pulls me in to a hug. We sit down and they both want to know how my Father reacted to my presence.

I tell them the whole story from start to end. I tell them that after a long talk with my Father and Glenn I decided to attend the party, but that I would stay out of sight.

During a talk we had just before I left with Alpha Maddox, he told me Nero had been agitated ever since Izzy left.

Back then I did not realize it, but after meeting Glenn realized that Nero probably picked up on something. After all, I had started feeling off whenever Glenn was around and it was even worse if he was not in sight. Leo chuckles in my head, because we both know that Jordan will not find his Mate tonight.

Jordan's POV

I must be nuts, there is no other explanation.

I can't believe Julian talked me in to joining the Full Moon party tonight. But after seeing him with Glenn. I know he is right.

I don't want to stay single for the rest of my life, but every time I look at a female, Nero flashes images of Izzy in my mind.

And then I start comparing the female to Izzy and the female always pales in comparison. No one will ever match up to her. Nero and I hope that she will return soon, so we can tell her that we want a chance to prove that we are worthy of her. Izzy's P.O.V.

I am leaning against a tree, when I smell Alpha Maddox approaching. I turn towards him and I see a huge smile on his face.

"Is that smile for me or has it been stock on your face since you found your second chance?" I ask him teasingly. "Both." Is his response as he pulls me in for a hug.

I tell him he can't let anyone know that I am back, except for Dagmar of course. Suddenly I hear rushed footsteps and I know who is coming.

"Maddox, what...." Dagmar stops in the middle of her sentence and her jaw drops. "Izzy?" She whispers before she jumps in to my arms. We hold each other for a while, not saying a word.

I explain to them that I still have questions and can't tell them yet what found. But that I will tell them as soon as I can. After they leave, I turn around to see where Stephan is.

She is seated at the table between her brother David and their Pack's Gamma Neill. Her Alpha, Andrew, is sitting across from her. Even though she still is not very comfortable around men, she has come a long way in the past few weeks.

Maggie. Ella. Jeff and Eric are talking with their former Pack-members as the moon slowly reaches its highest point. I can see that Jenna moved a little closer to Sienna.

As I look at her, I see her facial expression drop and I see Jenna putting a hand on her shoulder. Neill is looking at her with confusion and I can hear Jenna whispering.

I don't listen to what she says, I just keep my eyes on Sienna. She turns to face Neill and a small smile appears on her face.

Realizing this will work out just fine, I look around me and see Jeff walking off with Ella tossed over his shoulder. I chuckle at the sight in front of me.

Maddox tells me through our link to look at Maggie and that is when I see Eric looking at her with surprise on his face. He slowly gets up and holds out his hand, it takes her a minute to find her courage to place her hand in his.

Instead of tossing her over his shoulder and run, he just walks away with her. I know that by morning she will be wearing his mark.

We are here to pick up Sienna, my best friend's baby Sister, Seeing her again after two weeks, I can tell that she has changed, for the better that is,

David explained to me and Andrew that her parents had made her fearful of men. He hoped that one day she would be able to accept her Mate. So we were all suprised to see her at the party. Suddenly Drake starts pacing in my head and all I hears "Mate, Mate."over and over again. I snap my head towards Sienna and then I hear Jenna whisper in my ear.

I tell Sienna I will never hurt her and as she takes a hold of my hand, I get up. Drake and I need to be with our Mate, but I hope that she will not reject us.

We slowly make our way back to the guest-room she has been staying in and I can't help but smile. We found our Mate and she had been with us all these years She opens the door and as we walk in, I tell her that she sets the pace for this.

Sienna's POV

Hearing Neill say that I am in charge makes me happy and I relax a little.

I turn around and look up at him. I stand on my tiptoes and peck his lips. But apparently that is not enough for him. He grabs my waist and pulls me closer as he looks in my eyes.

He lowers his head, putting his lips on mine with demand. I gasp and he pushes his tongue in. I moan at the feeling of his intrusion and he deepens the kiss even further.

I slide my arms around his neck, pulling him closer and pushing my body against his. His hands start roaming my body and I shiver in anticipation.

He breaks the kiss and asks if I am okay. I nod my head and pull him back down. Even though I have been fearing this my whole life, I know now that I don't want him to stop.

As he turns us around, he lifts me up and slams my body against the door. Again he breaks the kiss and we are both breathing heavily. "Tell me to stop or I am going to take you up against this door. I don't think I can be gentle right now." He whispers in my ear.

I know that I don't want him to stop and Vicky makes it known she wants this as much as I do. We both need this and that is what I tell Neill.

Sienna says the words Drake and I wanted to hear and Islam my lips on hers. I know this will be fast and hard, but I need my Mate and I need her now.

I am glad she decided to wear a dress, because that makes this a whole lot easier. Slipping the dress up. I keep an eye on her face. The second she looks uncomfortable I will stop.

The higher my hands wanders, the heavier her breathing becomes and the harder my cock becomes. I push my hips towards her core and I hear her gasp and moan.

Loving the sound she makes, I do it again and I see her eyes close. Looks like my Mate loves what I am doing to her. And I start moving faster, pushing her dress up even further.

I need to be inside of her and I don't want to let her go, so I open the fly on my pants. With one hand I pull her panties to the side and with the other I guide my cock to her soaking wet pussy.

"This might hurt a little, but only for a second, Beautiful." I whisper in her ear before I slam my cock in her core. I hold still, letting her adjust to the intrusion.

Sienna moves her hips towards me and I know that she is ready. I pull back slowly, until only the head of my cock is still inside her. And then I slam back in to her, over and over again.

This feels so good and Drake starts to push forward, he makes me slam in to her even harder and faster. I can tell that we are both close and I tell her to look at me. I want to see her face when she comes on my cock for the first time.

Her eyes flutter open and they are filled with lust. That turns me on even more and I can feel my cock growing inside her pussy. "Fuck, Beautiful. You feel so good around my cock, I am going to fill you with my cum." I growl. Sienna starts to push herself towards me and I know that she wants this as much as I do. It takes just a few more thrusts before we both tumble over the edge.

Sienna's P.O.V.

I slowly open up my eyes and find myself naked in bed, with Neill's arms wrapped around me. The memories come flooding back and I can feel my body become tingly again.

I never thought I would enjoy it this much, but I know that I will never be able to get enough of Neill.

I turn to face Neill and I look in to his smiling face. "Hello, Handsome? I whisper. He grips me tighter and I put my lips on his. He squeezes my ass and as I gasps be deepens the kiss.

As we kiss, I can feel his cock becoming hard again and start to blush. He sees the blush on my face and pushes his hips forward, which makes me moan. Remembering what happened just a little while ago, I moan even louder. The hand that was on my butt, travels towards my pussy and I open up my legs for him. Without warning. he shoves two fingers in to my core and I squeal.

He holds his hand still and asks if I am sore, if he has to stop. "If you wanna die, than you can stop." I

Within a few minutes he has me panting and demanding more. He flips me on my stomach and pulls my hips up before he thrusts his cock in to my hungry pussy from behind.

He keeps thrusting in to me, until he feels that I am getting close to my orgasm. He slows down and I start to whimper because I was about to come. He chuckles and turns me on my back without taking his cock out of my pussy.

He leans more towards me and then I realize why he turned me on my back. He wants to mark me as we both come and that knowledge makes me moan even more.

He pushes my legs up and spreads them even further, making him sink in to my core even deeper. Moving his cock in and out of me faster and harder with each thrust, pushes me closer to the edge.

I can feel my canines elongate as he moves his mouth to my neck and as soon as I feel him biting down, I do the same. We both climax as we mark each other.

He holds me in his arms as we come down from our orgasm and slowly I drift off to sleep.

Neill's POV

Holding my Mate in my arms, I link David to let him know that everything worked out. He tells me he is happy for us, but that he will kill me if I ever hurt his baby Sister.

I look down at Sienna and I can't help but smile. I know I have to ask her why we never found out that we were Mates, but it can wait until she is ready.

Drake agrees with me, we need to give her time. And we have the rest of our lives to get to know her secrets and her fears.

I am still surprised that Sienna is my Mate. If anyone would have told me this a month ago, I would have run for the hills.

But the woman I found here is nothing like the spoiled brat I knew back home. I'm glad we listened to Luna Dagmar and let her visit Red Blood Pack. It did her good to see that Mates can be different from the way they are in our Pack. I hold her closer to my chest, inhaling her scent as I drift off to sleep.

I can feel eyes on me and it takes me a second to realize that it is Izzy, she is watching me while leaning against a tree. I am aware of the moon and I can't wait to find out if my Mate is here.

My body moves of its own will to my left and as I look to Joshi's eyes, I know that I have found my Mate. A smile creeps on to his face and I waste no time, slamming my mouth on his.

I grab his hand and pull him with me towards my cottage. I hardly ever stay there, but I keep it clean and ventilated. It belong to my grand-parents and I had told myself that only with my Mate, I would life there. As we stand in front of the cottage, Josh looks at me and I explain who it belonged to. I tell him I never took anyone here, not even Izzy. Because this would be home to me and my Mate.

We hold hands as we walk in to the cottage and I am on cloud nine. Jake is howling in my head, he can't wait to mate and mark Josh.

I close the door behind us and turn Josh towards me, I place my lips on his and start tracing his lips with my tongue.

He opens up after a few seconds and we deepen the kiss. Then it looks as if Josh is becoming impatient he start to remove my shirt. His hands roam my naked chest and I moan in to his mouth.

We take each other's clothes off, so we can feel the other one better. In the raid we are going, we probably won't make it to the bedroom and I don't care.

I want my Mate, now. I start walking him towards the couch and he doesn't seem to mind either.

As we both kneel on the couch, we both reach the other's ass with our searching hands. But it does not stop us, we continue to feel each other up.

I know what I wanna do and it feels as if Josh has the same idea, as we both lower our hands even further. I let my finger slide through his butt cheeks as his hand sides in between mine.

My cock hardens and I can feel his harden against my hip. I move my hips forward, rubbing my cock against his body. And that action makes his cock rub against my body, we both moan at the feeling it gives

1. us.

We start moving faster, as our hands reach their destination. My cock becomes even harder as I feel his finger push against my back-door. I push my finger against his and as we push our hips towards one and other, we keep slightly pushing our fingers.

I can feel that I am close, so I start moving faster and Josh keeps up with me. We are both panting and I feel his cock twitch just before he comes, I follow him immediately.

We crash on to the couch, catching our breath. I hold him close as we are coming down from our orgasm.

We lay there for a while, just holding on to each other and enjoying the silence.

"Stephan, there is something I need to tell you." He says quietly. I turn to face him, he is not looking at me and I grab his chin to force him to face me.

Stephan's admission shocks me. I thought he had been with someone before. I relax in to his arms, knowing that we will figure this out together.

I feel his cock harden against my leg and I let my hand trail down his body. As I wrap my hand around his cock, mine comes back to live as well.

He grabs my hand and for a second I fear I did something wrong. "Let's take this to the bedroom." He whispers in my ear before he pulls me of the couch.

He lays me down on the bed and gets down next to me my hand already wrapped around his cock again. "Oh, yeah. Just like that, Babe," He growls as I start stroking his cock.

One of his hands is wrapped around my cock as the other is making its way to my ass. As it slides to my back. he gathers some of my cum on his finger and I groan at the idea of what he is going to do.

We keep a steady pace, moving up and down each other's cock. His other hand reaches my ass and he pushes his finger in without warning. "Fuck." I mutter. It is the best feeling in the world and I want more.

I start pushing my ass back and Stephan gets the hint as he starts finger-fucking my ass, hard and fast.

I whimper as he let's go of my cock until I find out that he was reaching for some lube. I am surprised to feel that he is putting the lube on my cock, but I can't think about it too long as he start spreading the lube,

"I want to feel you inside me, Babe." He groans as he turns on to his back. Even though I was still a virgin, I had seen my share of porn and knew what Stephan wanted.

I get to my knees and spread his legs as I move between them. I take some of the lube and start spreading it around and in his ass. First with one finger, but soon add a second one and start sliding my fingers in and out, faster and harder with every thrust.

His cock is jerking, realizing that he is close to coming I pull my fingers out. He growls at that and I look at him with a smirk on my face. I lean forward to kiss him and as we kiss, I line my cock up with his back- door.

I give it a gentle push and he starts groaning. I do it again and he groans even louder. Then my Wolf, Tom, pushes forward and takes control. Without warning he shoves his cock in Stephan's ass and then he holds

Stephan opens his eyes and smiles when he sees that Ton is in control. He lifts his hips and that is Tom's que to fuck him good and hard. "Babe, you better hold on. I can't be gentle right now." And Stephan nods. his head

I push his knees towards his chest and pull my cock out only to slam it back in without hesitation. I keep pounding his ass and all I can think about is how I hope he will return the favor soon.

I can feel my balls tighten and I know I am about to come. I flip Stephan over, which is easy because he is so relaxed, I thrust in to his ass from behind and I lower myself forward.

"Soon it is your turn." I whisper in his car as I move faster and harder. Just as I start shooting my load in to

We both collapse on to the bed as we are catching our breath. This was amazing and I plan on returning the favor.

"Stephan." I hear next to me and I look at my Mate. "Why did you let...?" His question trails off and I know what he wants to know.

I tell him that Jake wanted him to realize that he will not always demand to be in control. "But most of the time I will be." Jake growls in to his ear. I feel him shiver and I know it is in excitement.

I leave Jake in control because I know he wants to mark Josh, just as Tom marked me.

I kiss his shoulder, his collarbone and move down to his nipple. I start sucking on it, slightly biting it and I hear him groan. I stay there, sucking, licking and biting, while my hand travels to his cock.

I stroke him up and down as I kiss my way down his body. His cock is rock-hard by the time I get and I lick the pre-cum off that is leaking from his cock.

As soon as I feel him coming close to his release again. pull my fingers out and replace them with my cock. I push in gently, but apparently Josh has other ideas. He starts pushes back on to my cock and that is all the encouragement I need.

I thrust my cock hard in to his ass, I don't even give him time to adjust to the intrusion. I start pounding harder and faster with every thrust, my canines come out and I lean forward.

We both know that I will mark him, the second I start coming in his ass. "You are mine, Babe." I whisper in his ear as I am thrusting in to his ass, puncturing his skin, leaving my mark behind. I come hard and so- does Josh. Josh's POV

We are both panting, coming down from our orgasm and I can't help the huge smile that appears on my face. I have my Mate and he is an amazing guy.

Stephan pulls out of me slowly and plops down next to me, bearing a huge smile as well.

I sit up against the headboard and I wonder if any of our friends found their Mate. Stephan can tell my mind has started to wonder and he puts a hand on my thigh to get my attention.

I tell him that our former Alpha's had send Eric, Jeff and myself to the farthest border at the last Full Moon. Preventing us from finding our Mate, if one of the so-called Omega's were our Mates. Stephan knew about Maggie and Ella's past because he was the one that had uncovered it.

He chuckles and tells me that I would not have found my Mate, even if I had joined the party. And I realize that he is correct because he was not there.

Stephan's POV.

I look at Josh and I hope our friends found their Mate as well. My thoughts drift towards Izzy and I wonder if she found her Mate.

"Babe, are you okay?" Josh asks me, I just nod my head as turn my face towards his.

"I was thinking about Izzy. She gave up on finding her Mate, years ago. She even went as far as asking Jordan to be her chosen Mate, but the Moron turned her down."

He looks at me confused and I decide to tell him the whole story. I tell him about the list we made, that she would talk to me before crossing a name of her list About Jordan being the only one left after a few months and the talk they had.

I tell him about her discovering the truth about her Mother and using it as an excuse to leave. I tell him everything that happened over the past five years and by the time I am done, his eyes are as wide as saucers.

"I hope she finds her true Mate one day." He whispers and I pull him close for a kiss.

I ask him who he thinks might be mated, besides us. He tells me that he believes Eric and Maggie would make a great couple. And I point towards Ella and Jeff, we both also hope that Sienna found her Mate.

We talk about June and Elly, about Sienna's brother and her Alpha. We know not everyone will have a Mate in the morning, but we know that one day they will.

"Well, we will figure that out in the morning. Right now I want you to get some rest." I say to Josh and I pull him in to my arms. We lay down and as we hold on to each other, we both fall asleep.

Chapter 199

Ella's POV.

This is my second Full Moon party and I hope that I will find my Mate. Sienna, Maggie and I have been talking about this for a few days now. Sienna is more afraid than excited, but Maggie and I are over the moon.

Since we got here, we have spent most our time with Je and Eric. Getting to know other Pack-members and the territory. Maggie and I confided in Sienna that we actually like Jeff and Eric, but that we found out our first Full Moon that they were not our Mates. "Well at least this time they // be close by. Sienna responded and Maggie and I had looked at her in surprise. Sienna told us that they had been on border-patrol that night, so far from the Pack-house that none of us could have felt the mate-pull.

I am sitting next to Jeff and am talking to Maggie, when I feel my body pulling to my right. I look at Jeff, I start smiling and before I can say something he has tossed me over his shoulder.

He is walking towards the Pack-house in a fast pace and I know where he is going. Liz is cheering in my head, so relieved to finally have her Mate.

One of his arms is around my knees, holding me in place and the other is moving up my thigh. My body starts to heat in anticipation and I wiggle on his shoulder. "Hold still, Sweetness. I don't want to drop you He says. "Then you better stop moving that hand, Jerk." I reply. Next thing I know his hand connects with my ass and I squeal. It hurts for a second and then it turns my body even warmer.

He hits my ass again and I moan before I can stop myself. "You like that, don't you." He states teasingly. I want to deny it, but then I smell my own arousal.

Instead of spanking me again, his hand moves between my legs and as he touches my core, I moan again.

He opens the door to my room and kicks it closed behind him. He lets me glide down his body and I can feel his hard-on as my feet touch the ground.

We don't waste a minute, he lowers his head and starts kissing me. I open my mouth and let him deepen the kiss. Our tongues are dancing a sensual dance and hear him groan as I push my hips forward.

He walks me backwards to the bed and as my legs hit it he drops me. He unbuttons my pants and pulls them down with my panties. Once he is done, he spreads my legs and lowers his head to my core.

He blows on my clit and a shiver runs down my spine. Then his tongue connects with my clit and I almost jolt of the bed. He pushes me back down and this time he starts sucking.

After a few minutes he pushes a finger in my pussy while he is still licking and sucking my clit. I tell him to move faster and he is more than willing to oblige.

Hearing her moan and telling me to move faster is heaven. I slide my finger in and out of her faster, adding a second finger as her body starts writhing at my assault.

She starts pushing her pelvis up and I really pound my fingers in to her pussy now. She is so soaking wet that they slide in, nice and easy. I put a third finger at her entrance and for a second I feel her body resist.

But I don't give up and push again, stretching her as my three fingers invade her sopping core. She whimpers as her pussy allows me to push in further.

My Wolf. Hank, pushes forward and starts to pound he pussy hard and fast. I can feel her body tense and 1 realize she is on the verge of coming, so I thrust even faster. Ella's POV

I wake to a tingly sensation on my chest and it takes me a second to remember. I found my Mate and he gave me an orgasm with just his fingers.

"Open your eyes, Sweetness." I hear Hank say and a shiver runs down my spine.

His Wolf is in control and I know from stories that mating with a Wolf in control is usually hard and fast. I open my eyes to see him hovering above my face, his eyes filled with lust.

He guides his cock to my entrance as my eyes follow his movements. Seeing his cock, my juices start flowing and I can't stop a moan from escaping my lips.

As he start pushing forward, he leans down and captures my lips. I am distracted by the little bite he gives my bottom lip and as I gasp, he thrusts in to my pussy.

It doesn't hurt as much as I had thought and after a few moments I know that I need more. I push my hips up, looking in to his eyes and I see his eyes become lustful again.

He pulls back and then thrusts back in to me, I push my hips up every time he thrusts-in and I start moaning.

"Sweetness, I am trying to be gentle. But keep this up and I might lose control." He groans as he slams in to me again. I can't hold back the whimper at his comment and I push my hips up, knowing that I want what he offered.

Jordan's POV

Nero has been behaving erratic for the past few hours and I start to wonder if one of our new Pack- members might be our Mate.

I am walking around, talking to several people and then I decide to go and find Julian. I know he asked me to give this a chance, but I don't think I want to stay for the Full Moon. Something is off, Nero tries to take control and he tells me to go towards the area of the party. As I look around, a blond catches my eye and I stop dead in my tracks. It's Izzy, she is here and she is looking at me. Then she turns and runs away.

Nero shocks me when he says "Go after Mate." I am stunned and ask him what he means. He keeps repeating his words, over and over. And that is when it hits me, Izzy is our Mate. I start running in the direction she disappeared in to, but as soon as I turn the corner I know it is a lost cause. She is gone and I know from experience that I will not be able to find her. After all, we played this game many times during training. I was never able to find her and she would always laugh her ass off, knowing she won again.

Nero chuckles at those memories, we let the memories run through our mind as we stand there.

"Jordan, are you okay?" Julian asks me, pulling me from my thoughts. I look at him and for a second I don't know what to say.

"Izzy is back." I whisper. He nods his head and says "We know. She was in our suite when we returned from lunch."

I look at him stunned, he knew she was back and he didn't tell me. Nero let's out a deafening growl and Glenn jumps behind Julian.

"Take it easy, Nero. She asked us not to tell anyone. And we both know who is to blame for that." Nero- whimpers as we realize that Julian is right.

I look at Julian and Glenn, not sure what to say. But I know that I have to apologize to Glenn. "Glenn, I am sorry that I startled you. But Nero and I just found out that she is our Mate."

A huge smile appears on his face and through the mind-link he tells me that he is fine. "Go find her." Julian orders and I shake my head.

I explain to them that during training we would play hide and seek a lot and that I was never able to find her. "It was always so damn infuriating. We never found out how she managed to delude us." "You know that you cannot avoid him forever?" She says and I know that she is right. He can track my scent, I think to myself and Evie starts to chuckle.

I ask her what the hell is so funny about that. And then remark Alpha Maddox made, when I saw him. hits home. He had said that he couldn't smell who had left the envelope on his desk, the day I left. "They can't smell you because you can mask your scent. So far you have only done it subconsciously. But you can use it whenever you want it or need it. Right now you do it, without thinking about it." Confused as to what she means, I ask her to explain it to me. "You have a gift, well actually you have two gifts. The first one, you always called in your gut feeling, is to tell if someone is genuine, is telling the truth. The second one is your ability to mask your scent. Why do you think you could always get close to someone without detection?" Slowly puzzle pieces fall in to place and a lot of things from the past start making sense. "Then what did you mean when you said I can't avoid him forever." She answers with the name of the one person I never want to see again. But Evie is right, I need to go back and explain everything to my Father and my Pack. But then Evie asks me what I am planning on doing with Jordan. I freeze, not knowing how to answer that question.

A part of me wants to keep running, but a bigger part of me wants to run in to his arms. "What am I to do, Evie? What if he still doesn't want us?" I start to panic, because I don't know if I can handle another rejection from Jordan. "Izzy, calm down. You heard Father and Dad, when they told us why he howled that night." And I giggle at her distinct mention of Glenn in that sentence.

I know that I need to talk to Jordan, tell him that I will not run. But he needs to know that I need time to come to terms with him being my Mate.

"You better do it now. I want to be close to our Mate tonight." Evie demands and I guess I can give her that.

I link my Father and tell him not to wait for me. He chuckles in response and lets me know that they ran int to Jordan. I ask if he went looking for me, but he says that Jordan told them that it would be a waste of time.
