Eric's POV

Finished

I am not paying much attention to the conversation around me, my thoughts are on the Full Moon and the young woman sitting next to me.

Maggie turned eighteen a few months before her first Fall Moon, she had told me that she never expected to be outside during the Full Moon and that she had been disappointed that she had not found her Mate that night.

Even though I understand her feelings, my Wolf, Don, and I were glad she didn't find her Mate. She always caught my eye if I saw her around our former Pack.

We were all told that an Omega was not suitable for a Mate, especially not for Warriors or High-ranking Wolves. But looking at Maggie, I never cared about that

I hear a sipall gasp next to me and I feel a pull towards the sound. Don wants to toss her over our shoulder, but I am able to restrain him from scaring the daylights out of her.

I hold out my hand after I get out of my seat, it takes a few seconds before she places her small hand in mine. Don is howling in my head as our skin touches.

I guide her toward the Pack-house still holding on to her hand, afraid she might run if I let go. I look down at her, just as she looks up at me and I can't resist.

am going to kiss you, my little Mate." before I lock

I stop walking and lean down towards her, whispering my lips with hers. Her eyes widen and I take a small step back.

"I am sorry if I am moving too fast. I will never hurt you, little Mate." I say to Maggie. She smiles at me and says "I know, you just startled me a little." And a blush creeps on to her face.

As she lowers her head, I put my index finger under her chin and lift her face back up. This time she parts her lips as my lips connect with hers.

I groan at the feel of her soft lips on mine and I deepen the kiss. Somewhere in my mind I register that a couple is rushing past us, but I am to occupied with my Mate to comprehend who they are. Maggie's POV

The entire week and even this morning I had been excited about the Full Moon, but the higher the Moon went, the more anxious I became. And right know I am actually thinking about running back to my room and hide.

It is strange sitting at the same table as Alpha Andrew, his Beta David and his Gamma Neill. When his Father was my Alpha, they didn't treat us very well. Even though they were among the few that never physically hurt us. "Maggie, Ella, have you settled in a bit?" Alpha Andrewasks and I freeze, not knowing what to think of this.

"I don't bite." He chuckles, making me and Ella giggle and Jeff and Eric choke on their drinks. "Okay, okay." He says "You know what I mean." And that makes me laugh even louder.

After that the conversation goes a lot easier and I realize that they, like Sienna, are not that bad. Just lousy

Suddenly I feel a pull, Essie jumps around in my head and in her sing-song voice I hear "Male, Mate". I let out a gasp when I realize that Eric is my Mate.

From the corner of my eye I see him getting up and he holds out his hand towards me. My heart pounds. in my chest and it is Essie that shakes me out of my thoughts. I slowly put my hand in his and he gently pulls me out of my chair. Everything turns in to a blur as I start walking and the next thing I know his lips are on mine. My eyes widen in shock and after I reassure him that he only startled me, he kisses me again.

I lean in to his body and tilt my head back, he slips his arms around me as he deepens the kiss. I press myself closer to him, needing to feel him against my body.

"Little Mate, we better go inside, unless you want an audience for what I have in mind." He growls and I turn beet-red. Before I can say anything. Essie pushes forward and grabs his hand, leading us to my room.

In my head she flashes images of what she is hoping for and I turn an even deeper color red, if that is at all possible.

Dagmar's POV

Alpha Andrew and David are so pre-occupied with Neill and Sienna, that they don't see the looks June and Elly are giving them. They are staring at their friend and sister as they walk away,

"Are you all right, June and Elly?" I ask through the mind-link and they both nod their heads. I chuckle as I see June getting ticked off with her Mate. Not that Elly doing any better, but in the past few days I had spent a little more time with June. And let me tell you, that girl has a temper. "If David is not quick enough, she might toss him over her shoulder." I hear Maddox chuckle in our mind-link and burst out laughing.

Luckily for us David is a bit to slow for June's taste and she walks over to him, still looking over his shoulder he does not see her coming. She grabs his neck and janks him out of his seat, he is about to open his mouth when reality strikes, "Mate." He growls, as he pulls June in to his arms and slams his mouth on hers.

Alpha Andrew seems to come out of his daze as well, he jumps up and turns towards Elly. For a second I see fear in her eyes, but it is gone the second she hears his Wolf growl "Mine."

He rushes towards her, picks her up bridal-style and runs off. As I watch them leave, I see June-and David rushing by and even though I am happy for both of them, I hate to see them go.

"They will show that Pack a better way of living. It may take a few outbursts from June, but they will get there." We both laugh at Maddox's statement even though we know that it is the truth. 44 002

Chapter 202

Jordan's POV.

After talking to Julian and Glenn for a while, I decide to go back to my cottage. The only place where I want to be right now.

Once another cottage stood there, but it had burned to he ground a few decades ago. This property had belonged to my Grandparents on my Mother's side. And after Mother had died, it was handed down to me and my Brother.

Jayce had no interest in it, so he had signed his half over to me. Living with my Father and later living at the Pack-house as a Beta, I never had any use for it.

After the cottage had burned down, I cleared the property up and never looked back.

But three years ago I made the decision to build a new cottage, with in the back of my mind a Mate and pups. But unlike my Grandparents one story cottage, the one I build was a two story cottage.

It was larger in every way, because I want a big family and the space to accommodate them. A large living area and a large kitchen across the hall from it. I had placed an armchair in such a way that I could keep an eye on whoever was in the kitchen. And from that position I could also look in to the garden, to keep an eye on playing pups. Nero helped me with that idea, he made it clear that he would want to know where our pups would be at all times.

Even though I told him that with our hearing that wasn't a problem, I indulged him when he kept bringing it up.

I close the door behind me and sit down in the chair, staring out the window.

Izzy's POV.

I know that Jordan left the party, but I forgot to ask my Father where I could find him. But Evie tells me to head towards the Pack-house, so we can pick up his scent.

It doesn't take us long to get to the Pack-house and suddenly Evie pushes forward, she has picked up his scent. We follow it along a path, we know leads to an empty property.

We wonder why his scent is leading us this way, why would he go to an empty lot. It has us both puzzled and for a second we contemplate on returning to the Pack-house. "Just a little further." I say to Evie.

As we come out of the bend in the path, my jaw drops. I am staring at a two-story cottage. I reminds Troy's cottage, even though this one has no straw roofing.

It is not small by any means and I can picture a large family living here. A few steps are leading to a double front door, the wooden outside is panted in an off-white color. The shutters are a bright dark-blue, framing the windows at the front of the cottage. Along the path that leads to the front door are flower-beds with all sorts of wild flowers in a variety of colors. And I take a few minutes to just gawk at my surroundings.

The smell gets stronger and I hear her coming up the steps. Before she can knock on the door, I rip it open and pull her in to my arms.

She stiffens at my action, but Nero has no intention of letting her go. "Don't worry, Princess. We just need to hold you." I whisper in her car. Nero rejoices as she relaxes a little.

I lean back a little and ask the question I dread the answer to "Did you get here by mistake?" She gives me a little smile before she shakes her head.

"I went looking for you, because we need to talk." The serious tone of her voice, has my heart sinking in to my boots.

I let her go and reluctantly 1 step back to let her in. I show her to the living-room and I feel a bit of a triumph as she looks around the room with a smile on her face. I tell her to take a seat and ask if she would. like something to drink.

She nods her head as she walks in to the room and I get us both a bottle of water from the kitchen. I hand her the bottle and sit down in my arm-chair.

"How is the view from there?" She asks me and I can tell she in genuine in her question. I tell her it is amazing. I tell her I put the chair in that spot because of Nero.

As I see confusion on her face, I tell her the story of the property and the cottage. When I tell her that Nero wanted a chair in that spot to keep an eye on our pups, she turns away from me. But I have already seen the pained expression on her face. Nero scolds me in my head and I can only agree with him.

"I never wanted a Mate ever since my Father and Brother committed suicide because of their Mates." I say in a whisper. "When you asked me to be your chosen Mate, it brought back the pain of losing them. And because of that I reacted more blunt towards you than you deserved."

I look up and see that she is still staring out of the window and I realize that this is my chance to explain everything to her. So I tell her the story of my childhood, not leaving one detail out of it.

"Seeing you every day, made us rethink our decision to live without a Mate. And after you left. I realized that I had been an idiot. It took a long time before your Father told me why you left. And it took me even longer to confide in him that you had asked me to be your chosen Mate."

She turns to me after I say those words and for just a split second I fear she is going to storm out. But I am shocked by what comes out of her mouth "And you are still breathing?" Izzy's POV.

Listening to Jordan as he tells me about his Mother, his Father and his Brother, Jayce, my heart breaks for him.

My jaw drops when he tells me that he told my Father about my request and as I turn around, I already know that I am getting myself in a lot of trouble. Seeing the look on his face at my words, sends me in to a fit of laughter and I have to hold my stomach because the expression on his face isn't getting better.

After a few minutes I have finally stopped laughing and have slowed down my breathing. As soon as I am able to talk again, I sit down on the table in front of hir

A persistent pressing in my head wakes me and it takes me a second to get my bearings. I am in an unfamiliar room, but I feel two arms wrapped around me and I know who they belong to.

I feel that someone is trying to link me and I open it up for whoever deemed if fit to wake me up this way. "This better be good." I grumble.

"Sorry to wake you. But I have the information you wanted." Stephan informs me. "Shouldn't you be in bed with your Mate." I reply and his response has me gasping for air "Who says I am not?"

I feel a hand on my cheek and I disconnect my link with Stephan. "Princess, what is wrong?" He asks as I look in to his eyes.

"Sorry, a link from a friend who doesn't understand that there is certain information he can better keep to himself. I growl. It is then that I realize that we are lying in a bed.

He apparently saw my confusion, so he tells me that he woke up a few hours ago and he figured this would be more comfortable.

I snuggle closer in to his body and decide to stay in his arms a few more minutes. "What did Stephan want with you?" He asks and I look at him in surprise. I wonder how he knew who it had been.

He chuckles and tells me he did some thinking before he also fell asleep last night. "I always wondered why there were so little alarms on his system. And I ran in to your Father after the Full Moon and he told me that he had already seen you. Someone had to have smuggled you in to the territory without alerting anyone. And the only person I can think of is Stephan." He says.

I nod my head and tell him about the day I left, the phone and the letter and note. He kisses my f and thanks me for telling him.

"Who is the lucky bastard?" And I am surprised for a second that he would know that it wasn't a woman. But then I remember Stephan telling me that he and Jordan had become friends, so Jordan probably figured it out like I did. I look up at him, my chin on his chest and say "Josh."

I kiss her forehead and as she looks up at me, I take the opportunity to bend down further and kiss her lips. I lick her bottom lip and as she gasp, I deepen the kiss.

I put my hand in her hair and angle her head for better access to her mouth. I groan as she moans in to my mouth and I can feel my cock harden. Nero reminds me of our promise to her and reluctantly I break the kiss.

She whimpers as I pull my head back. "Princess, if we don't stop this now, I am going to break my promise to you." I whisper as I put my head on my pillow.

She sits up straight, a smile on her face and then she bends down and pecks my lips. "Thank you." She whispers near my ear before she plants a kiss on my cheek. Nero is yipping in my head, just happy with the affection she shows us.

I pull her in my arms and we cuddle for a few minutes, then I tell her that we should go find Stephan and see about the information he has for her.

I point out the bathroom to her and tell her that I will prepare us some breakfast. Before I get a chance to walk out of the room, she walks up to me and gets up on her tip-toes to peck my lips.

I put my hands on her hips to keep her in place, I slide my tongue along her bottom lip and she grants. access to her mouth. I deepen the kiss and lift her up at the same time.

She wraps her legs around my waist and I feel my cock harden even more. I doubt it went down at all since our last kiss. I back her in to the wall and grind my cock against her core.

She pushes back and I know that I am about to lose my self-control. I pull my head back so I can look in to her eyes. "Princess, as I told you before, if we don't stop I am going to break my promise. As much as I would love to sink my cock in to your pussy." I say. She looks at me and I can tell she is struggling with her self-control as much as I am. I put her down on the ground, I put a kiss on her forehead and tell her to get ready for breakfast.

Reluctantly I walk out of the bedroom, adjusting myself as I walk down stairs to the kitchen.

Ten minutes later Izzy walks in to the room, sniffing the air and shockingly asks me "You know how to cook?"

I snicker at her remark and tell her it was either that or starve, which makes her giggle. Damn, I love the sound of her giggle and it does no good to my raging hard-on.

Half an hour later we walk out the front door and I tell Izzy to link Stephan. She asks him where they can meet, she tells me that they will be meeting at the pond As we get closer to the Pack-house, I notice something strange and suddenly I grab her wrist. I spin her towards me and I say "Now I know why I could never find you. You can hide your scent."

She nods her head, she walks in to my arms as she tells me that she never realized it herself. But that yesterday Evie finally told her that it was one of the gifts she has. She asks me not to say anything about it toanyone, not even her Father.

I promise her that her secret is safe with me as long as she promises me that she will explain it all to me

From the moment Izzy asked me to dig in to her Father's past, I have wondered why she couldn't ask him about it.

But when I received the information early this morning. I wasn't sure I wanted to share this with anyone. I know Izzy probably has a good reason for wanting this information.

I am waiting for my friend to show up, when I smell a familiar scent. "What is he doing here?" Jake asks in my head, but I have no answer for him.

My jaw drops when I see Izzy walk out of the woods, because the closer she gets the more I smell the scent. "He is your Mate?" I ask as soon as she is close enough to hear me.

Her cheeks turn red and I see a shy smile on her face. Ijump up and hug her close. I am so happy for her, but as I pull back I don't see a mark on her neck.

I raise an eyebrow and she quickly tells me that she talked to Jordan. "I am not running from him. I just need time and he is willing to give it to me."

"Why do I smell him on you, if you just talked?" I ask and Izzy turns even redder than she already was. She tells me she fell asleep in his arms and that she will be there every night until she is ready to move forward. Izzy's P.O.V.

After I tell Stephan about me and Jordan, I ask him about the information. He hands me a file and I start reading

The more I read the sadder I become, but I also get pissed. Pissed at the Evil Moon Pack, pissed at my Mother. I am sad for my Grandmother, sad for my Father and sad for the Grandfather I never knew.

Two arms wrap around me and I feel myself relax in to his arms. Apparently our night together already forged a bond between us. He is there for me, not talking or asking questions, he just holds me as I keep reading. "Stephan, get Josh and our guest and meet me in the Tech-building. Jordan, can you go to the Tech-building right now and ask Mason to pull up all the intel they uncovered before Alpha Maddox left?"

They both nod their heads and walk away in two separate directions. I link Alpha Maddox and ask him to assemble everyone in the Tech-building.

"Izzy, what is going on?" He asks me and I tell him it is time for answers, answers we all have been searching for. He tells me that he will make sure that everyone is there in half an hour.

I sneak back in to the Pack-house to take a quick shower and change in to some clean clothes.

As I open the door, I am hit by a tornado named Glene. He pulls me in to his arms and asks through the mind-link where the hell I have been.

Take it easy, Dad. I was with Jordan, we talked and then I fell asleep in his arms." I answer him. He pulls back and tells me that he is happy for me.

That is when my Father walks out of the kitchen and I look at him, knowing he will have the same question. "Sweetheart. I know Glenn already chewed your head off. I just want to ask you to inform one of us next time if you are staying out all night." I nod my head and tell them I need a shower before we can head to the tech-building. By the look on their faces. I can tell that Alpha Maddox left informing them to me.

"I have asked Alpha Maddox to assemble everyone at the Tech-building, because it is time for answers." I tell them and head up the stairs.

Half way up, I turn around and look at my Father with a smile on my face. "Dad, I will not becoming home tonight." I say teasingly.

"What the hell does that mean? I just got you back, I want to spent time with you. I want to know more about the past five years." He rambles and rambles.

I shake my head and look at Glenn as he puts his hand on my Fathers forearm. I can see my Father relax instantly and I take that as my que to fill him in on me and Jordan.

"Dad, I was with Jordan last night. I promised him that would spent my nights with him. Nero needs me close, even though they understand that I need time."

In a flash my Father holds me in his arms and tells me that he understands, that he is happy for the both of us. "Don't be too harsh on him, Sweetheart. He has had a rough past." He says after he has put a kiss on my forehead.

"He told me, Dad. We talked a lot last night and because of that I promised I would stay with him." I know my Father knows a lot about Jordan and his family and having a Mate of his own, he understands the need Jordan has for keeping me close. Glenn's POV.

Looking at my Mate and my Daughter a smile creeps on to my face. Julian told me a lot about Jordan and their friendship. And I believe he is right, they were each other's rock after Izzy left.

He had told me that he would never be his old self again as long as Izzy wasn't home. And after meeting yesterday, I have seen a change in my Mate.

He is less tense and I can tell he slept better last night. I know he will be fine as long as he has Izzy close by.

"We better get moving, Love. Izzy, go take that shower. We will be waiting in the kitchen." I say-through the mind-link and I turn towards the kitchen as I hear my Mate say "You and Jordan are meant to be, don't forget that. I love you."

I hear footsteps going in two directions on the stairs and I turn to walk in to his arms as soon as he enters the room. He holds me tight and I love the feeling of his body against mine.

It doesn't take Izzy long to get ready and soon we are on our way. Ever since she told us we were getting answers, my mind has been wandering in a million directions. But none of them come close to what she is about to reveal..

Mason thought it would be best to gather everyone there and I agreed with him, after all I have no idea what we are about to hear.

"Is everyone there?" Julian asks me through the mind-link and I take a look around, to see that everyone is there, including Alpha Andrew and his Pack-members. let Julian know that everyone is present. Within seconds the door opens and Julian walks in with Glenn, but I don't see Izzy with them.

Suddenly I see Glenn stiffen as he looks at June, she smiles at him and he pulls her in to a hug. Which draws a growl from Alpha Andrew and that is when I see that they both wear a mark. Looking at the people next to him, I see more of them are wearing a mark.

A huge smile appears on my face when I spot Maggie and Eric and I congratulate them through the mind- link. Maggie tells me to look at Ella and I think the smile on my face can't get bigger. I really like Ella and Maggie and I am glad they found their Mates.

But I was mistaken about my smile, because the second Izzy opens the door it becomes even bigger. Nero is finally settling a little, knowing she is in the same room.

The second she walks in, you can hear a pin drop. Her Squad welcomes her back, she gets pulled in to hugs and I have to restrain myself from growling. However the look on Izzy's face when she sees Jenna is priceless and I chuckle softly as I hear them

Izzy always has a comment ready and now is not different. I know she has a lot of catching up to do, but it seems as if she won't take that time right now.

"Duh, that much I figured out already. Did you already forget that I was always the smart one around. here. I mumble as she pulls me in for a hug. Dagmar laughs and my Father scolds me for my language.

Before I can say or ask anything else, I hear "If you ever scare me like that again, I will personally kill you." I turn around and am faced with a rather pissed looking Gamma Elsa.

"I am sorry. I never thought losing my bracelet would cause so much heart-break." I whisper with tears in my eyes. I get pulled in to a pair of arms and I feel my sadness

I start feeling uncomfortable, because I don't know where to start. "Why don't you start with the beginning." Jordan's voice sounds in my head. His hand is on my lower back, as he takes a step back.

I take a deep breath before I start talking. "For those of you that are unaware of why I left five years ago, I will start there." And I revisit that day, the conversation between my Father and Beta Rico, my decision to leave and my departure.

I am not sure if I should bring up the situation between Jordan and myself, But then I hear him in my head, telling me that they need to know all the circumstances. As soon as I finish telling them about my second reason for leaving. I see a few angry looks flying in Jordan's direction.

"I made a decision decades ago, after my Father and Brother both took their lives because of their Mates." Jordan makes me look up at him, before he continuous "I am sorry for what I did, I am sorry for hurting you, Princess."

I can see the sincerity in his eyes and I pull his head down to peck his lips.

I turn towards the others before I continue with my story, visiting Mrs. Manning, the search for answers. visiting all those Packs.

"You did all that on foot?" I hear an unfamiliar voice ask. I turn to my left and look in to a stunned face from someone I don't know. But there is a familiar scent hanging around her and after a second it sinks in. Marcus.

I look behind her and the sight I see leaves me breathless for a minute. There is Marcus, one of our best Warriors with a baby boy in his arms. The loving look he gives the woman tells me all I need to know.

"Yes." I answer. "I made the entire journey on foot, except for the trip to Yellow Forest Pack. Alpha Michael gave me a lift after I saved the children of his Bera and Gamma." I can see a look on Alpha Maddox's face that tells me that someone is getting hell for this. "Alpha Maddox, don't blame Alpha Michael. "Mason, Jordan asked you to pull up the intel. Can you put it on the screen?" I ask. "Of course, Commander Izzy." He says as he turns around in his chair.

I shake my head at his words and that sets off Matteo "You are still our Commander. Luna Dagmar did a great job covering for you, but no one could have taken your place. Just deal with it." He growls.

Matteo never sugar coats his words and it feels so good to hear his words. I smile at him and I can't resist saying "Matteo, I have told you before. Don't use that tone with me. I think two weeks laundry duty for the Squad will help you remember that in the future." And the look on his face sends us all in to a fit of laughter.

It breaks the tension I was feeling and I feel that I am ready to tell them the rest of my adventures.

I see that Mason is ready and I turn my attention to Stephan. Without saying a word he knows what I want him to do and he turns to his laptop.

"Before I went to see Beta Matthew, Stephan asked me to look in to something in connection to the Evil Moon Pack." I hear a few gasps and I feel Jordan stiffen behind me.

I tell them that Stephan had found a few strange things in the Council's files on those recent attacks. And after searching those scenes I realized that bodies had been drop at the scene, indicating that there were no survivors,

I feel Jordan tense up and Mason turns his head toward Stephan saying "You already knew the answer, when you asked us to look at those pictures." Stephan nods his head and tells them that he could not tell anyone how he had figured it out.

I explain that Stephan found other locations as well, bu from much longer ago. And that on the first Tocation I found the same anomaly. That I searched the Pack-house and found the Alpha's list of Pack- members. That Stephan and I had compared the Alphas list of Pack-members with the list of bodies the Council found "In total they matched, but there was a discrepancy in the amount of children and males." I explain that at that time we didn't realize what it could mean and that we thought it was of no importance to the strategy.

I look around me and see that Beta Rico also found his Mate. "Beta Rico, if someone told you that you either kill Mason or watch your Mate die. What would you chose?" I ask him and I know that they all realize that they did this on purpose.

"Some of us have seen the results of that. I am just sorry we were too late in most cases. Marcus' Mate says. I can tell she has seen the circumstances of the imprisoned Mates and children, the horror on her face says it all.

"Why would you investigate an attack from that long ago?" Mason asks and I can tell that everyone would like to know the answer.

"A year before they attacked the Blue Moon Pack, Max took over from his Father. Stephan and I needed to know if there had been any changes in the way they attacked." I state.

"The search of the second older location confirmed my suspicions. But it also confirmed that the MO Max used was the same his Father had used." Explaining to them that they both used the same ruse to keep the Council of their trail stuns most of my Pack-members. Dagmar has been staring at the screens during my explanation, when she suddenly gasps. "He was telling the truth. They have been searching for female Alpha's all those years." Stephan tells her that he found only a few files in the archives stating missing Alpha daughters, Dagmar sees the confused look on my face and tells me about the legend Max had told them about involving female Alphas. After she is finished I know I was just handed the last piece of the puzzle.

But I know that I have a few more things to say, before I can reveal the most important finding.

"The second location also confirmed my theory on the purpose of the dead bodies. Between the remnants of the Pack-house I found a lock-box, it contained a rapidly written note, photos and the list of Pack- members."

As I tell them about the attack on the Mountain Crest Back, I see Alpha Maddox grabbing Dagmar. She puts a hand on his cheek and I know she is calming down Cole.

I pull the lock-box from my back-pack and I walk over to Alpha Maddox. "Will you make sure her family gets this?" I ask as I hand it to him.

I walk back to where Jordan is standing, because I need his strength to carry on with my discoveries.

Princess, please tell me if you need a break. I can sense that this is not easy." I say and the few that had a quiet conversation fall silent. She looks up at me and shakes her head.

"No, the sooner this is done, the better. Thank you for asking, though." And the look in her eyes is enough

I will keep that a secret just a little longer, because I have a few more important things to discuss." I look around the room and I already know where to go next. Stephan had asked me to check out a location that he believed was used by the Evil Moon Pack. I watched them as they made preparations to leave, I saw two men gather clothes in duffle-bags and I followed them. to the Black Moon Pack." Suddenly Beta Rico starts laughing and his Mate punches him in the shoulder, but it doesn't help. He keeps laughing until Alpha Maddox tells him to shut up

"Sorry, but it just hit me. You painted their clothes bright orange." He blurts out, while pointing at me.

My Father, Alpha Maddox and a few others burst out in laughter and Jordan asks what the rest wants to know. "What is he talking about?"

So I tell them about the cupcakes and the light pink dye His Mate doubles over when I am finished with my story and Beta Rico looks at her with a slight pout.

My Father looks at me and says "I finally get to say Thank you." And he explains what he had said through the mind-link that day. Alpha Maddox states that it had reminded him of the light pink clothes as he is still catching his breath from laughing. "If you were there, did you see where Grace went?" Dagmar asks me tentatively.

"Yes, I saw the Wolfs follow her and I followed as well. I knew she would probably be able to shake them of her trail. But with the training I got as a young girl, I knew I would be able to stay on her trail." I say as I look up at Jordan.

"I followed her for days, until one day I felt as if I was coming home. I had to look around me a few times. But I figured out fast that we were not far from the border. She was staying in a cottage, which had been abandoned for decades." I pause for a moment to let them absorb the information, in the meantime I link John and tell him to get to the door. I had asked Stephan who else we could trust, because I needed someone to bring in Roger. He send Orwell to collect him. "Hold it right there." My Father yells. "She was that close and you didn't warn us. We still don't know what she was up to and now she might come back with vengeance."

In that moment the door swings open and John walks in with our guest. Right behind him is Orwell and he has Roger with him.

"We will get our answers soon." John says as he removes the hood from Grace's face. She is startled when she realizes where she is.

Roger isn't in any better shape, but he is clueless as to why he was brought in.

Everyone is talking and asking questions. Most are staring daggers at Grace and she is trying to get away from John, but he only tightens his grip on her.

I keep quiet and one by one my Squad-members fall silent, they are used to my action as I would always do it if I needed them to shut up. Soon the others realize that I am waiting for them to stop talking.

"Dad, I would never let her escape, not after what she did." I look from Grace to Dagmar. "I believe she told Max about you still being alive. And I also believe she convinced him to leave behind clues in the hope that you would go after him and you did." Matteo steps forward and looks at Alpha Maddox. "I accept any punishment you give me. But there is something I never mentioned, because I didn't think much of it at the time." He says.

I feel the same confusion, I see on Alpha Maddox's face and I wonder what Matteo is talking about.

"Eight years ago I was coming back from border-patrol carlier than usual. I cut through the graveyard, because I needed a shower and some sleep fast. When I heard someone talking I crept closer to see who it was.

Grace was sitting at Luna Gina's grave and she looked really pissed. She was mumbling that she should have been Luna by now. That she was not going to lose what belonged to her, to a little girl.

I was unable to figure out what she meant, but after we were informed that she left shortly after our departure I felt that it was connected." He is looking at the ground as he shares his story with us.

"Matteo, if you had told me this back then, I would probably have told you that we did not have all the information and that it was nothing to worry about." Alpha Maddox says and I see relief wash over his face. Grace is still trying to squirm out of John's hold on her but he is not budging. Dagmar snaps her head towards her and tells her to stop moving.

I am contemplating how to proceed with my revelations, absentmindedly I rub circles on Jordan's hand. with my thumb. A purr in my head pulls me from my thoughts and a blush appears on my cheeks.

"Jordan, I am having a black-out. I don't know how to proceed with what I have to tell them." I say through the mind-link, Seeing the look on everyone's faces as Izzy walked in, made me chuckle and I knew they all had a lot of questions.

But what surprised me the most was Jordan and his interaction with Izzy, seeing him hold her, seeing him. comfort her. I kept a close eye on them as Izzy was talking and I started to wonder if maybe they were Mates. When she kissed him after he apologized to her. I had my answer and I couldn't be happier for my friend.

These past few hours have been a rollercoaster-ride and I am curious as to what she still has to tell us. I feel Maddox pull me in to his arms and I turn around so I can nuzzle his neck.

Being in the same room as Grace has me and everyone else on edge. But something tells me that her role in all of this isn't over by a long shot.

Maddox leads me from the conference room to another one, someone has put lunch on the table and it is in that moment that I realize that I am starving.

I see Izzy staring at Marcus, who is holding Jason in one arm and the other is wrapped around Lily's shoulders. "I think you all need to introduce your Mate to Izzy. She could use the distraction." I say through the mind-link. Marcus turns to Izzy "Commander, this is Lily, my Mate. And this little guy is Jason." Lily steps forward and holds out her hand, but Izzy pulls her in to a hug.

As she steps back, the look in her eyes show that Marcus is going to be the target of her sharp tongue. "I don't know whether to congratulate you or to feel sorry for you being stock with shithat over there."

Marcus's jaw drops, Lily starts giggling and most of the others double over from laughter. Lily explains to Izzy that they adopted Jason and why.

Rico introduces Samantha to her and his face shows that he is fearful of what she might say. And knowing Izzy, I can't blame him.

"Samantha, it is nice to meet you." Izzy says and I can see relief on Rico's face. Looking at Izzy, I see that he is a bit quick thinking he is of the hook.

"If he ever gives you trouble, let me know. I know a few places where no one will ever find his body." She says with a smirk on her face.

I can't help myself, I start laughing as I see the expression on Rico's face and Samantha is not helping when she says "I will keep that in mind, Izzy."

Jenna introduces our new Pack-members and the Pack-members from the Black Moon Pack. Izzy looks at Alpha Andrew and I can tell that he is in trouble.

"If I ever hear the smallest rumor of you starting to act like your Father, I will come after you and tear you. pieces, Alpha. She growls at him. Andrew looks at her and surprises all of us as he bows his head to her. "Commander Izzy, I never felt comfortable with my Father's ways. However, I knew that I couldn't change se that something is on Maddox's mind and I ask him about it through the mind-link. As he tells me what is bothering him. I want to hit myself over the head because it had not crossed my mind. "Alpha Andrew, can you explain why you and David didn't find out about Elly and June during the last Full Moon?" The room falls quiet as soon as the words leave my lips.

He tells us that his Father had send him. David and Neill with a few warriors to the farthest border. I see Eric nod his head and know that he is telling the truth.

Neill is shifting his balance from one foot to the other, over and over again. And after a moment it sinks in that he is wondering about Sienna. I link her to point this out and ask her if she wants me to explain it.

She turns to Neill and after taking a deep breath she says "I have a hiding place in my room." He knows what she means by that and pulls her closer to him. "I am sorry for what your parents put you through." He kisses her forehead and says nothing else.

As we sit down to have lunch, I pull Izzy in to my lap and instead of fighting me on it, she snuggles my body. No one speaks as we eat and I am enjoying holding my Mate and the silence. Even though she eats, I sense that hear mind is running in circles. Ever since she walked in to the room, I have wanted to take out the bun she had made at the back at her neck and sitting here I don't hesitate for a second. As her hair cascades down her back, Nero starts purring in my head.

Because she is sitting down it almost hits the ground and I start running my hands through it. It sooths me, being this close to her and I feel like an ass for turning her down.

I could have had this for so many years and I want to kick myself for missing out on this. Nero points out that she would have never left, never finding answers if I had accepted her offer. Even though I know he is right, it doesn't make me feel better. Izzy turns in my lap, cupping my face with her hands. "Babe, what is wrong?" She asks through the mind-link and I feel guilty for putting more on her shoulders. I am still running my hands through her long curls as I explain myself to her.

"Babe, don't feel bad. We might have missed out on a few years, but there are many more ahead of us. I am not going anywhere and neither are you. It was just meant to go this way, I had to find answers and you had to come to terms with your past." Thinking about Izzy's words, I realize she is right and kiss her forehead as I pull here closer.

I ask Jordan to get everyone back to the other room because I have to talk to my Father about something. "Anything for you, Princess." I hear in my head as he reluctantly puts me on my feet.

"Dad, there is something we need to talk about before going back." I say and Jordan leads the others out of the room. Glenn is about to leave, but I stop him, knowing that my Father will need him.

"I am sorry for not asking you this personally, but I knew that I was missing an important piece of the puzzle. I look at my Father apologetically.

Sweetheart, what is going on? Why do I get this feeling that I barely escaped a nightmare?" He asks, while Glenn puts his arms around him.

"You will understand once I continue with my story. But I need you to come clean about your past, Alpha." I say, while holding his gaze. I see confusion in his eyes, but also a little relief.

My Love, you better listen to our Daughter. She wouldn't ask this of you, if it isn't absolutely necessary the truth to come out." I hear Glenn say to my Father in our mind-link.

I am looking around me and Glenn asks me what is wrong. "I don't have my hair tie." I say as I look under the chair and table.

I hear both my Fathers chuckle and I snap my head up at them. "Don't be mad at us. That Mate of yours put it in his pocket the second he pulled it from your hair." I shake my head and my hair dances in all directions.

I feel hands in my hair, looking up I realize that Glenn standing behind me and that he is braiding my hair. As he finishes, he pulls a hair tie from his pocket and both my Father and I look at him confused.

"In my former Pack, the girls didn't get much. So whenever I found something I knew they could use, I would put it in my pocket. Just before we left the Pack-house I found this one in the kitchen." Hearing his explanation, makes me both angry and grateful. Thank you, Dad." I say as I pull him closer for a hug. "Tam glad you are my Father's Mate, I love you." And I mean every word I say to him.

We make our way back to the large conference room. I don't look at Grace, but search for my Mate immediately upon entering the room.

I smile at him, the second our eyes meet and the look in his eyes tell me that he is not happy with my braid.

"Next time you walk off with my hair tie, I am going to find a pair of scissors," I growl at him through the mind-link. A flash of fear runs through his eyes as soon as my words register in his brain.

Ule holds out his hand and through the mind-link he apologizes for taking it with him. "But we like it when it is hanging down, we like running our hands through. And I smile as I remember the feeling of his hands in my hair.

Holding his hand I turn around, ready to get it all out in the open. My Father deserves answers and so do Dagmar and Alpha Maddox.

"Grace, Roger, you were not here when I started my story. So I will give you the broken down version. Five years ago I left in search of my Mother." Neither one responds to my words and I decide to take a different 1 approach.

"Before the Evil Moon Pack attacked you on the Full Moon, I went to my Mother's Pack after I learned her name from Beta Matthew." My eyes wander in Grace's direction, but it doesn't look like it registers.

My mind starts racing, because I was sure that I would get some sort of reaction from her.

"Dad, can I ask him. "I you please explain to everyone from which Pack you come and who you really a know you don't like talking about it, but it will help everyone understand what I am about to reveal. If there was another way, I would not ask this of you." He nods his head and takes a step forward. "There is a part of my past I don't like talking about. Sweetheart, I am sorry I never told you." He says to me. "My Mother and I came here after our Pack was attacked and that was all I ever said about it.

It wasn't a lie, but it was not all of it either. A few weeks before the attack, my Sister died after she was attacked by a rogue. It left my family shattered to pieces, she was smart, beautiful and annoying. Her name was Isabel, but I always called her Izzy.

My Father was killed during the attack, but before he died he ordered me to get my Mother to safety." The memories of that day become too much and he can't finish his story.

I walk over to him, hug him and kiss him on his cheek. I will take it from here, because now the real mess comes." I tell him.

I watched Grace as my Father was talking, but still nothing. It was as if she didn't remember meeting him or the events following. For a moment I am at a loss.

When she notice that I am staring at her, she growls and asks why she has to listen to this history lesson.

I make a bold decision and start talking again. "One of the Packs I visited along the way was Red Dawn Pack. Her head snaps up and I know I hit a nerve.

"I had an interesting talk with Troy, Luna Gina's cousin. He told me of a legend passed along Luna Gina's family bloodline and your interest in it, Grace.

The legend talks of a female that saved our Goddess and even though she was offered a reward, she declined it. So the Goddess told her what she would reward her with." I continue my story on the offspring of the first female mated to an Alpha within a generation and the gifts they could possess.

"Grace, you might want to listen to this part of the story very carefully." I say sarcastically

"My Father comes from the Red Stone Pack. There were not many survivors, but those that got away ended up here. His Father was Alpha Malcolm." I don't take my eyes of Grace as I say those words.

"So what. What has that to do with me?" She asks and I really start to wonder if she has no recollection of the night she spend with my Father.

My head is still clouded from the memories, I hear my Daughter talking and I hear Grace asking what it has to do with her. I am as confused as the others are, but feeling Glenn tense I wonder what I might have missed.

I look at him "What is it?" I ask and he just shakes his head. "It is not my place to tell you. Just keep listening, you will get the answers. He responds.

Troy also told me that you disappeared for a few months over thirty years ago." I hear Izzy say and I get this bad feeling inside me. I want to hold her, to comfort her because I can tell she is getting anxious, but I can see that Jordan is already doing that. Slowly a thought creeps in to my head and I can feel Lep starting to get agitated as I go over everything Izzy had said in regards to Grace. My head snaps towards her as it finally sinks in to me.

I feel Glenn running circles over my back to calm me and Leo down. I turn away from her and nuzzle my Mate's neck, needing his scent to calm me down.

Izzy's P.O.V.

She looks at me and if looks could kill, I would have dropped to the floor. "None of your fucking business." She growls. Alpha Maddox uses his Alpha voice to force the answer out of her. "To give birth." She says while grasping for air at the sheer force of his command. "Gina never mentioned that." Alpha Maddox says and Grace looks at him, a mischievous look in her eyes "Because I never told anyone. Why would I want a child that would keep me from getting what I wanted? Why get stuck in a bond with nothing to gain?" "As I told you, you should have paid attention to what was saying." I say tauntingly.

Everyone turns their attention to me and I can see that she still has not made the connection. "Where is your child?" I ask her. She tells me that she assumes she is with her Father. That she had asked someone to dump her at the border of his Pack, if he could find it. "Are you telling me that you have no idea if she was found or if she was taken in by her Father." A seething Gamma Elsa asks her.

"I couldn't remember who her Father was or from which Pack he came. The person that took her got all the information I had. So she could be anywhere for all I know." She has to force the words from her mouth, with the Alpha command still in place. Both my Fathers stiffen at her words and I know they have to fight their other halves to stay in control.

I grab for Jordan, because I know my next words will infuriate him and I need to keep him calm. Just as I need him to keep me calm.

"I am fine, Mother." I say and her eyes snap up to me. Lean hear the wheels in her head turning until she lets out a high-pinched NO.

Glenn jumps in front of my Father and he stops dead in his track, not wanting to hurt his Mate. My Father's head snaps towards Grace and he lets out a deafening growl.

Elsa is standing in front of Grace and James is trying to hold her back and failing at it miserably. Maddox is fuming. Dagmar is not doing any better and I can see that they are trying to calm one another down.

"How the hell could you leave your Daughter." Elsa screams at Grace. I am wondering the same as I hold on to Jordan, making sure he won't lose his control over Nero.

Evie and I feel anger radiating from Jordan and I turn around to cup his face with my hands. I peck him on the lips to distract him, because if they lose control, they will kill her. Not that I would mind, but other than abandoning us, she never set out to hurt us.

I pull his head down, look in to his eyes and I don't let go. After what feels like an eternity, but are actually. just minutes I can see him gaining control again.

For the time being I have seen enough of my so-called Mother and ask Carlos and Daniel to get her and Roger to the dungeons.

Alpha Maddox nods his head, understanding that we could all use a break from the drama named Grace. "There are guards on their way to relief the both of you so we can enjoy the rest of the day in each other's company. We will be at the Pack-house." He says as they walk away.

Jordan pulls me close and smashes his lips on mine, I gasp at the force and it gives him the chance to deepen the kiss. For a moment I want to push away, but Evie is not having it.

I tilt my head back a little to give him better access and he takes full advantage of the opportunity I give him. My head becomes foggy, not a coherent thought left as he keeps his mouth locked with mine.

As he pulls back a little, I gasp for air and slowly my head becomes clear again. "I am sorry I wasn't there when you discovered all this." He whispers as he looks in to my eyes.

"Babe, I am glad you were there for the worst part. I don't know if I could have handled finding out she didn't know where her Daughter ended up.

Once I knew who my Mother was, I was pissed about the fact that she could live in the same house as me and totally ignore me. Now I at least know she never knew anything about me or my Father.

Even though I still wonder why she acted the way she did around me. Or why she mothered over Dagmar, the way she did." I nuzzle his neck, because thinking about those things makes me mad all over again.

We are still laughing as we walk in to the Pack-house. The living-room is buzzing with all the people present, Izzy gets pulled away from me and before I can say or do anything, Gamma Elsa says "Shush, you get to have her for the rest of your life. Right now, I need to talk to my little girl."

Izzy's POV.

I chuckle as Elsa pulls me away from Jordan and then hear my Father say "Jordan, get your ass over here." And the undertone indicates that he is about to lay down some ground rules.

"Dad, I am an adult. Not sixteen and inexperienced." I blurt out and my Father's face turns a deep shade of red, sending me in to a fit of laughter. I am about to say some more, but he interrupts "Izzy, I don't want to know, I like being oblivious to certain things."

I start hiccupping from laughter and I hold on to Jenna to catch my breath. But I start all over again as she says "Who was the lucky bastard?" through the mind-link.

It takes her a second to realize I was pulling my Father's chains. We need to hold on to one and other to make sure we don't tumble to the floor.

There are so many people in the living-room that there are not enough seats, I sit down on the floor next to the chair Dagmar is sitting in. She jumps up and offers it to Elsa, just as she is about to sit down on the floor as well.

"You can take the chair, Uncle Jarnes will kill me if I let you sit on the floor in your condition." I jump up, looking at Elsa and my eyes drift down to her belly. When I had hugged her this morning I had not noticed it, but now I could clearly see the little baby-bump. "Congratulations. I know you will be a great Mom." I say as I hug her. James is standing next to her, I congratulate and hug him too.

After I settle on the floor between my friends, I look around the room at all the familiar and unfamiliar faces. I jab Dagmar with my elbow as I see an unfamiliar girl looking rather sad.

She follows my line of sight "Izzy, Jenna. I need you both to come with me." She says through the mind- link. She takes us to Alpha Maddox's office.

"Izzy, the girl you pointed out, is Lucy" She explains what our new Pack-members went through in their

"Is she not happy here?" I ask. Dagmar is quiet for a few minutes and then we hear a soft knock on the door.

Dagmar gets up to let the person on the other side in, itis Lucy and I feel the need to hug her. I go with my gut and as I hug her. I tell her that I will be there if she ever needs me.

"Lucy, can you tell us what is going on? I have noticed a chance ever since last night" Dagmar asks gently.

I hold her hand, hoping to put her at ease. She looks from Dagmar to Jenna and then to me. "I think my Mate is going to reject me." She whispers.

"Lucy, why do you think that? Did he say something along those lines?" I ask as I put my arm around her. She shakes her head and tells us that he had taken a few steps towards her before turning around and walking away.

Evie is getting pissed and I have to work hard to calm her down "Erie, stop it. Either you will scare her or you will make Jordan kick down the door. Ife can do without both those things."I say sternly.

"Lucy, who is your Mate?" Jenna asks. "I didn't know at first, I found out when you asked him to bring the prisoners to the dungeons." Lucy is looking at me as she answers Jenna.

"But he was there, at your old Pack during the Full Moon." Jenna replies at her statement. We are puzzled and I hate to ask my following question.

"Did you find out then or last night?" She drops her head at my question and for a moment I fear she won't answer me. I put my index finger under her chin and push her face up, making her look at me.

I pull her in to my arms and decide to give her time. To let her decide what to do, forcing the issue won't do us any good. And I want her to know that she can trust me.

"Princess, are you okay?" I hear Jordan ask in my head. tell him that I am fine, but that we need some time with Lucy. "I will explain everything later."

"Daniel." I hear her say softly. "We found out at my old Pack."

I want to jump up and knock some sense in to the idiot, but I don't want to upset Luce any further. So I ask if she talked to him after that. "Every time he sees me, he walks away." "Lucy, do you want Daniel as your Mate?" I ask and she nods her head. "Do you want me to knock some sense in to him?" She giggles at my words, but shakes her head.

"Too bad." Jenna says. "I would have liked to see the look on his face when she punched his lights out." I chuckle at her words.

We talk to Lucy about what she wants and she makes it clear that she wants to know why he is avoiding her and if he is going to reject her.

"Will you stay with me? I don't know if I can handle what he might have to say." I tell her that I am going to leave her with my Fathers and that they will be there to help her.

I link them as we exit the office and make our way back to the living-room. My Father is already there to lead her towards his Mate and I make a bee-line for Daniel.

"Have you lost your fucking mind?" 1 growl as I am standing in front of him. Carlos and Donnie step back as soon as they realize I am gunning for Daniel..

"Are you planning on avoiding her for the rest of your life or are you going to reject her?" Evie has pushed forward and she is growling at him. His face turns pale as my words sink in. Everyone stopped talking and I can hear his heartbeat racing in his chest. His eyes go from left to right until they find what they are looking for.

Lucy's POV

He looks at me before he answers Izzy "No, to both questions. I wanted to give her time to enjoy her freedom, to do what she wanted. Not what someone or something was telling her to do.

I am sorry if I caused you any pain by doing what I did I just...I thought you..." He starts stumbling on his words and I can see that he is sincere. And even though I appreciate his attentions, I hate that we wasted time.

"Daniel, all I ever wanted was to find my Mate. To have someone that would love me no matter what, that would be there for me. I never thought I would find my Mate, I thought that I would always be alone.

Never having a family of my own, I wanted that more than anything else in life." As I say those words I see tears rolling down his face and I hear him repeating the same thing over and over again "I am sorry." He lowers his head and I see his shoulders drop as he says "I understand. I hope one day you will forgive

Before anyone can respond he rushes out the door and collapse in to Glenn's arms, crying my eyes out.

I never figured that my actions would cause her pain, but I hurt my Mate in a way I never thought was possible. I keep running, giving control to Stan, my Lyon.

He warned me that my decision would bite me in the ass, but I had thought that I was doing this for Lucy. Giving my Mate the chance to enjoy her freedom, but instead I broke her heart.

I ignore the persistent pressing in my head, I don't want to talk to anyone. Stan howls as my thoughts go back to Lucy's face, she looked so hurt and fragile as she spoke,

But for the life of me. I can't recall what she said. All I was focused on were her eyes, those big brown orbs filled with pain, pain that I caused. I knew I had lost her and the realization of that sends bolts of pain through my body. The next moment my entire world turns black.

Lucy's POV

I hear voices shouting, but my brain is not able to process what is being said. I feel that a pair of arms lift me up.

but I am to numb to care.

Everything I ever wanted just ran out the door and I fear that my brain and body can't handle the pain and rejection I feel. Sasha, my Wolf, is whimpering and I can feel her withdrawing in to the back of my mind.

As I feel her presence fade, my lights go out..

Izzy's POV

The moment it registers that Daniel ran, I shout at Carlos and Donnie to follow him and to bring him back.

I can hear Lucy cry and as I walk towards her, to comfort her, I see her lose consciousness. Luckily my Dad already held her in his arms as it happened and I tell him to take her to the infirmary.

Jenna tells me that Daniel is blocking her and I curse under my breath. I am about to lose my patients when I feel two arms wrap around me from behind.

I lean in to Jordan and turn my face towards his chest, inhale his scent to calm Evie down. It takes a few seconds before I am able to focus again.

Carlos lets me know that they have picked up his scent and are in pursuit. I wonder what got in to him, for as long as I have known him, he has been talking about finding his Mate.

Daniel is the oldest member of my Squad at a hundred and thirteen years old, he has been waiting so long to find her and then he goes around and screws up royally. I just hope we can mend what he broke. Lucy's POV

As my head starts to clear a little, the events from earlier come rushing back and I want the blackness to claim me again. "Lucy, don't give up." I hear the whispered voice more clearly this time, but it doesn't sound familiar. I try to concentrate on my surroundings, but there is nothing there. I focus even harder, trying to pick up on something. The unfamiliar whispering voice keeps talking to me, keeps telling me not to give up.

I decide to focus on the voice, I want to know who it belongs too and to inform that person to shut the fuck up. Thinking that, I hear a faint voice in my head "You always say that." It is Sasha.

"I thought I had lost you." I say to her and she tells me I almost did. I ask her how it is possible that she is still here, but she doesn't respond.

It is then that I start to get a grip on my bearings and I feel something heavy on my chest. I try to remove it, but it only becomes tighter. I want to open my eyes, but for some reason I am unable to do so.

It is as if my body has a mind of its own and doesn't want me to break away from the comfort-zone I'm in. After trying a few more times, I finally give in and sink back in to the darkness. Izzy's POV.

Pacing in front of the door to Lucy's room in the infirmary, I link Carlos to find out if they were able to catch up to Daniel.

"Commander, we are on our way back. We found him collapsed near the border." He informs me as soon as I finish my sentence.

Without knocking, I walk in to Lucy's room and tell the Pack-Doctor about Daniel. He asks me to move the other bed in the room next Lucy's. I do as he asks and tell him to explain it to me. "Werewolves tend to fade after a rejection, but from what you told me there is still a chance to safe her. If she is separated from her Mate for too long, her Wolf will fade and that will kill h Making sure they are close to one and other might give her Wolf the will to fight." My heart sinks at that thought and I tell Carlos to double up his speed.

Without asking or saying anything, he closes the link and I know he will be here in seconds. The door slams open as he walks in with Daniel draped over his shoulder.

It is close to midnight when the Pack-Doctor kicks us out of the infirmary, we don't object, we just follow the order.

Jordan holds my hand as we head back to his cottage and we are both consumed by the thought of losing Lucy. I still can't believe Daniel did what he did and I want to kick his ass for it. Jordan can feel the anger radiating from me and I tell him that i can kill Daniel for what he did to Lucy, That I can't understand that he would be this stupid, after all these years of searching for his Mate. "Take it easy. Princess. If the Doctor is correct in his assumption that it will kill her to be separated him, then you might want to take it easy on the guy." He says as he pulls me in his arms.

As he holds me, I nuzzle his neck and his hands start to roam my body. One hand creeps up to my neck, he grabs my braid and pulls my head back as he locks his lips with mine.

The other hand has slipped under the hem of my shirt and is now make its way up the front of my body. The closer he gets to my breasts, the heavier my breathing becomes.

We break the kiss, because we are both out of breath, he looks in to my eyes and asks with a smirk on his face "Have you calmed down a bit."

I smack his chest and giggle, because he did menage to take my mind of Lucy and Daniel.

He kisses me again and his hand continues his travel up my body. He looks at me and says "Tell me No or I am going to take you inside and make you Mine, Princess." All I manage to say is "Please." Nero's POV

As soon as I hears her say Please, I push forward and toss her over my shoulder. I run in to the cottage without shutting the door and run up the stairs, taking two steps at a time.

In the bedroom I let her glide down my body, making sure she can feel the raging hard-on I am carrying. I pull her shirt up, lower my head and suck her nipple between my lips.

The moan that escapes her, turns my cock insanely hard and I have to restrain myself from devouring her. My left hand takes hold of her left nipple, as I slightly bit on her right nipple.

I can smell her arousal in the air, I pinch her nipple a litle harder and at the same time I bit down on the other nipple.

She whimpers at my actions and pulls my head closer to her chest, I sooth the stings with my thumb and tongue. I lift my gaze up, only to see my Mate with her eyes closed and a smile on her face. I use my claw to get rid of her pants, not having the patient to do it the old fashioned way. She gasps once I pull the fabric out of my way.

I slowly slide one of my nails over her belly and she shivers. I let it slide down to her panties, only to give it the same treatment as her pants. I pull in my claw as I let my hand slip between her legs. She moans loudly as soon as I touch her clit, I barely touch it and I can feel her push her hips towards my finger, demanding more.

I want to tell him to stop teasing, but all that comes outre moans and incoherent words. My eyes fly open, the second I feel his tongue replacing his linger.

He sucks my clit in to his mouth and just like with my breast, he gently bits down on it. My hips move on their own accord, my hands gripping his hair, trying to hold him in place.

As his tongue teases my clit, he pushes one of his fingers in my core and I hear him groan. "Fuck, Princess. That pussy of yours is tight, I love it." And he starts pushing his finger in and out at a slow pace.

"Is he for real?" I ask Evie. "What is it with this gentle, teasing Lycan." She snickers at my dissatisfaction with our Mate.

I push my hips forward, I moan and I grumble, but my Mate is not giving me what I want. I feel the need inside me built, I need him to go faster, to go deeper. But for some reason he is oblivious to what I am trying to show him.

My frustration finally makes its way to my Mate, because he pulls back to look at me and asks if something. is wrong. I try my best not to growl at him, but I fail at my attempt.

"What the fuck are you, a pussy or a Lycan?" I mutter as I walk away from him.

Apparently it is not a good idea to ask a Lycan if he is a pussy, because suddenly I no longer feel the floor under my feet.

He slams me against the wall, pinning my hands above my head and the look in his eyes doesn't promise much good. He locks his lips with mine and I willingly open up to grant him access. He deepens the kiss as I moan in to his mouth. 902

Nero's POV

With my head between her legs. I have to work hard to hold on to my self-control. The smell of her arousal drives me to the brink of losing it and I focus so much on taking it easy, that it takes a while before I sense that something is wrong.

When I hear those words fall from her lips as she turns her back on me, I lose my self-control and there is no stopping me. I push her up against the wall and slam my mouth on hers.

I grind my hips against her core and I hear the most delectable sound I have ever heard. My hand disappears between our bodies and I shove two fingers in to her soaking wet core.

As I push in, she pushes towards me and the movemen forces my hand to push against my own cock. It groan as I feel it harden even more.

I keep moving my fingers in and out of her and she starts panting as I speed up. Her head falls back and her eyes close, she keeps pushing and my fingers glide in deeper. I put my thumb on her clit and start to apply pressure, more with each thrust in to her. Her breathing tells me that she is about to tumble over the edge and I double my efforts. I want to hear my Princess scream as she comes on my fingers.

I barely thought the thought as she comes, her juices dripping down my fingers while she screams my name.

Not wanting to give her time to catch her breath, I unbutton my pants and free my cock from its confinement. I keep my eyes on her face as I line up with her entrance.

As I thrust in to her core, I am stunned for a second. "Fuck, she was still a virgin." I mutter at my human. I hold still to give her time to adjust, but apparently my Erincess was mad at me for a reason. Because I have barely stilled as she starts moving her hips.

My cock hardens and I know I am losing this battle. I pull out slowly, only to slam it back in and I repeat that for a few minutes. It feels so good being inside her and I have a feeling I will never get tired of this feeling.

My cock starts to twitch as my balls tighten and I know am about to shoot my load in to her. Our movements become erratic the closer we get to our climax and I tell her to open her eyes.

Slowly she opens them, looking in to mine and I hold her gaze as we both come authe same time.

Izzy's POV.

After we both come, Nero slowly lowers us to the ground and puts me on his chest. We are both breathing heavily-and-I have trouble keeping my eyes open.

I slowly drift off to sleep as my Mate's hands run circles on my back.

Something is poking my stomach, but I am so comfortable that I don't want to open my eyes and see what it is. I move a little, hoping that it will go away.

I feel it twitch and my eyes widen as his hand slides down my back and in between my ass-cheeks. He gets a mischievous look in his eyes and suddenly he presses a finger against my back-door.

I always believed that I would be disgusted if anyone would try that, but I can't help the moan that escapes my lips. My hips push back against his finger and the pressure spreads a heat through my body, I didn't know excited.

"Princess, don't tempted me." He groans, but I can't help myself. I like the feeling and I want to explore it further, I want to know what is feels like if he would actually penetrate my virgin ass.

1 whimper as he moves his hand further between my thighs, he slides two fingers in my pussy as his other hand pulls up my knee. His fingers slide in deeper now that he has better access. He starts to thrust in to my core, harder, faster, deeper.

My breathing becomes labored, the faster he moves and within seconds he pushes me in to another climax. As I am coming down from the high, his fingers slide back up to my ass and without warning he pushes his finger in to my ass.

It slides in rather easy because of my juices that glace his fingers. It stings for a second, but turns in to a pleasurable feeling fast. I push back and his finger slips in deeper. "Please, Jordan. More." I moan.

Saying I want more is all the encouragement he needs, he moves me of his chest on all fours and as he keeps thrusting his finger in to my ass, I feel his cock at the entrance of my pussy.

I push myself back in to his body and suddenly both my holes are filled. He starts slow at first, but as soon as he realizes I can handle it, he starts thrusting in to me.

I feel the tension building in my core and I know he will make me come again real soon. I don't even last a minute before he pushes me over the edge again and he is right there with me.

I collapse to the floor in exhaustion, Jordan scoops me up and places me on the bed. He crawls in right next to me and puts his arms around me.

Nero comes forward and I know I deserve whatever he has to say. "Princess, next time just tell me. Like I told you before that mouth of yours gets you in to trouble."

And I remember the last time he used those words, my cheeks flush at the images Evie flashed me at the time. But before I can ask anything. Nero is sitting up and I am laying over his lap with my ass in the air.

I yelp the second his hand collides with my ass, I try to put my hands on my bottom but he grabs my hands and pulls them out of the way. The second slap on my ass is a little harder and I yelp again.

As his hand connects with my ass again, the sting of pain on my ass turns in to pleasure fast and I can feel my pussy become wet. My head turns beet red, just thinking of the fact that this is turning me on.

After five times he puts his hand on my ass-checks and starts to massage them, making the pain subside a little. That was for this afternoon." He says and the undertone tells me that I am in for more punishment.

I relax in to his massaging hand and that was apparently what he was waiting for, because suddenly he hits my bottom again and I squeal at the impact. Four more follow after that and the room is filled with the scent of my arousal.

"I knew you would like this." And for a moment I want to deny it whole heartedly, but as he pushes his finger in to my soaking wet pussy, I know there is no use in denying it.

As he is finger fucking me, he tells me to straddle him and I am more than willing to comply with his request. He replaces his fingers with his cock and I mon at the intrusion

He guides me up and down his cock, slamming hard into my core with every thrust. I lean down and kiss him, I deepen the kiss and slam down on his body as he thrust back in to me.

I feel the pressure building again and I wonder how much more I can take, before I will explode in to an orgasm again.

As I feel my climax approach, my canines elongate and without hesitation I bit down on his neck. Jordan bites down on my neck at the same time and it pushes me over the edge. I scream his name as I come undone. Jordan's POV.

Werewolves are known to die if their Mate rejects them, the rejection causes their Wolves to fade away and their Human can't cope without them.

And I think my actions caused Lucy's Wolf to fade, taking my Mate with her in the process. Stan howls mournfully as we both get the ramifications of what I did. He keeps howling in my head and I know that I am to blame for his pain.

I hear mournful howling and with every howl my heart breaks a little more for the loss that that person has endured.

I feel that I am still in that comfort-zone I woke up to earlier and I snuggle in deeper. It makes me feel safe and protected, it becomes tighter, yet it is not uncomfortable.

I hear the unfamiliar voice again, but this time it is not talking to me. The voice sounds infuriated and I feel my comfort-zone move. Because I don't want to lose it, I pull my arms tighter around it.

"Lucy, open your eyes. Doll. I need to know that you are okay." I hear next to my car. My eyes fly open as I realize I am in Daniel's arms,

I push myself up to look at him and I see a look in his eyes I have never seen before. I am not sure if I want to jump out of his arms and make a run for it or that I want to sink back in to my comfort-zone.

He is still holding on to me, but I can feel that he is not trying to stop me. There are so many questions I want to ask, but the tension in the room is starting to make me feel uncomfortable.

Lucy, are you okay. I am sorry for making the wrong decisions, I will bear the consequences. But I need you to know that I thought I was doing the right thing for you.

You were finally free, only to be thrown in to the Mate-bond. I didn't want to make you feel trapped. I am so sorry, Doll." I can hear the sincerity in his voice.

I look around the table and notice that four people are missing. I am about to link Julian when they walk in, laughing and talking.

Dagmar stops running circles on my thigh and I follow her line of sight. A smile creeps on to my face as I see Izzy and Jordan marked.

"Congratulations." I say in their direction and everyone in the room turns their way. Izzy hides her head in Jordan's chest and he growls at the people in the room.

Most are quick to turn around, but Izzy's Squad is not that easily intimidated by his growling. Matteo up and the others follow his example "Commander, congratulations on finding your Mate. If you ever need help hiding his body..." Matteo lets the sentence trail off. gels Izzy's shoulders start shaking and Jordan's jaw drops as he realizes she is laughing. "Do I need to show you again what happens to feisty girls?" He growls.

For some reason it makes her laugh uncontrollably and even her Fathers seem to be in on the secret, because Glenn puts his hands in front of his mouth, but Julian doesn't hide his laughter.

"Only under the same circumstances." She manages to say out of breath. This time Glenn is not able to hide his laughter.

Julian looks at his Daughter with eyes as big as saucers and mutters "No way in hell."

"Izzy, can you tell us a bit more about what you uncovered regarding Grace." Dagmar asks and the room. turns quiet. Izzy looks at her and I can see that we won like what she has to tell.

I tell Carlos and Donnie that after breakfast they will get the prisoners and bring them to the Tech- building. Dagmar and Izzy decide to go by the infirmary first, they want to see how Lucy and Daniel are doing.

I tell Jordan, Julian and Glenn to come with me and even though Jordan wants to stay near his Mate, he does as I say.

"Jordan, do you have any idea what she might tell us?" ask him and he 'shakes his head. "I know as much as you all do. I can feel she is anxious, but I have no clue as to why."

Glenn puts his hand on his shoulder and I hear him say through the mind-link that all he needs to do is be there for Izzy. A smirk appears on Jordan's face and I have a feeling he is about to get himself in to trouble. "I'll keep that in mind, Dad." He responds and that earns him a smack on his head from Julian.

"What was that good for? I was just telling the truth, Glenn is Izzy's Father and whether you like it or not that makes him my Father-in-Law." Jordan looks straight in to Julian's eyes and I see reality strike him. 1/26

"Oh, hell No. You are not going to call me Dad." Julian mutters and I can no longer control myself or Cole, I burst in to laughter.

Jordan's POV.

I open a link to Izzy the moment I knew what I wanted to say to Glenn "Keep an eye on your Father's face" I say. Izzy tries to stop ine, but I guess we are to much like. No one would have been able to stop her from saying what is on her mind. Glenn looks at Julian with amusement in his eyes and can see he is trying not to laugh. The second Julian turns his head in to Glenn's direction, he burst out laughing too and I join him.

The horror on Julian's face is to comical and even Izzy Squad-members can't help themselves.

"Dad, you do realize that Jordan is correct?" Izzy asks in a sweet voice and I know that we are both in trouble. Julian looks at his Daughter with confusion in his eyes.

"Dad, he is my Mate and that makes you and Glenn his Fathers-in-Law. So he wasn't that far out of line when he called Glenn, Dad." Even though it is clear that Izzy is setting everyone up, Glenn nods his head. "Jordan, you do realize it is a bit strange to be called Dad by a Lycan who is a hundred and thirty years old?" My jaw drops because I had not expected her to know my age.

Glenn and Julian both look at me as Luna Dagmar whispers "One hundred and thirty seven?"

Izzy is standing next to me and something tells me that she is not done yet. She turns towards Luna. Dagmar and from the corner of my eye I see Jenna duck behind Paul, yeah my Princess is something. "Well, you

Everyone around me gasps as her words sink in and I know someone will not like it, but I burst out in laughter. "Princess, you are in trouble." I say through the mind-link.

"I know. But it was worth it." She answers and snuggles in to my side.

We all leave the Pack-house and Izzy and Luna Dagmar turn towards the infirmary. The rest of us go to the Tech-building, hoping to finally put this mess behind us.

I wait for the girls outside the building to make sure that she doesn't have to walk in to the room alone. My arm is around Izzy's shoulder and I pull her closer as we enter the conference-room.

She stiffens as she sees Grace sitting in a chair on the other end of the room. She steps closer to me and I can feel that her Fathers have stepped closer too.

Grace is staring daggers at Izzy and I growl at the sight Izzy makes circles, on the inside of my wrist with her thumb. It calms me and Nero down, but Nero has no intension of stepping back, he makes sure she sees it and he smirks in my head.

Knowing that my Mate is by my side makes me relax a little, even though I feel anxious telling them the rest of my story.

Jordan slips his arms around my waist from the back and I can sense that Nero is near the surface. Right now, all I want is to go home and have some peace and quiet with my Mate.

I put my hands on his arms, needing something to hold on before I try to whip that arrogant look of her face.

"I told you my story yesterday, but a few things were left unsaid. As I explained Grace left me because she didn't know that my Father was actually an Alpha. She figured with me, she wouldn't get what she wanted. Isn't that right, Grace." She lifts her head up and for the first time I can see that she is really looking at me. "I am your Mother. So why don't you call me that?" she asks, but I can see that she is only taunting me.

I look from Grace to Glenn and say "I have two parents, I don't need or want you in my life, Grace. You blew that the second you decided to dump me.

You didn't remember my Father and you couldn't care less about what happened to me."

The look she gives me would have put the six feet under, if only looks could kill. "Thank you." I say. looking in to her eyes and I can see confusion crossing her face.

"Thank you for not giving a crap about me. Thank you for dropping me with the one person I could rely on my whole life." As I say those words my eyes wander towards my Father and he smiles at me.

"You never were what I wanted and you are something never wanted." She spits those words at me and I have to turn around to calm down Jordan and Nero. As soon as I have succeeded, I turn back to the woman that gave birth to me. "Alpha Maddox, on the day I left, you found an envelope on your desk. Could you tell who it was from, before you opened it?" I ask him and he says that he couldn't because there had been no scent in the room.

"Jordan, how often did you find me during the time you trained me as a little girl?" I ask him and Jordan says never.

I keep looking at Grace, wondering how long it will take before she figures it out.

"Beta Rico, were you able to find out who colored your clothes light pink?" He answers that he suspected it was me, but he couldn't prove it because my scent wasn't in his room or on his clothes. Apparently no one has figured it out and I don't know how to do it on command. So I ask Evie if she knows how to hide my scent. "Just imagine hiding it, that should do the trick."

My Father is the first one to notice "Sweetheart, why can't I smell you anymore?" He asks and I hear Jordan chuckle behind me. I keep my eyes on Grace as I say "Because I can hide my scent." Her eyes widen and I think that for the first time she actually is putting the pieces together. "Yes, Grace. That is correct I have gifts. But as I said earlier I am grateful you left me with my Father. 22:21 Fri, Jan 31 u.

As soon as I am finished, Alpha Maddox has his hand around her throat, her feet a few inches above the ground. "Don't kill her yet, Alpha Maddox." I say.-

He is still holding on to her throat, but at least he has put her down. I can tell that he doesn't understand why I stopped him.

"She still needs to answer a few questions regarding Luna Dagmar." I state and Grace is fuming at my last two words.

"She had a visitor while she was at the cottage. I overheard a part of their conversation. They have something planned so they can both get what is rightfully theirs, according to them." Roger is squirming in Donnie's hold on him, but it gets him nowhere. "And what would Roger gain?" Dagmar asks..

Jordan provides us with the answer to that question. "Roger hated the fact that you replaced him as Commander of the Guards. He said i was no job for a Werewolf, let alone a girl." Before anyone realizes it, she takes a swing at Roger and punches his lights out.

"So there you have it, two different stories crossing roads along the way and in the end you still have gained nothing. Grace." I say as I look at her.

"Alpha Maddox, there is nothing more for me to say and I have spent more than enough time with that woman in one room to last me a lifetime. I need some time with my Fathers and my Mate." I state and he just nods his head.

"Izzy, I am....." She doesn't get the chance to finish her sentence, because Jordan grabs her by the throat and lifts her up, growling at her "Don't speak to my Mate."

He drops her in front of Dagmar's feet, grabs hold of my hand and pulls me out of the room. Both my Fathers are following and I ask Jordan to take us to the cottage.

"Why did you ask me to take you here, the Pack-house was closer." Jordan asks, once we are sitting in the living-room of the cottage.

"Dad, please don't take this the wrong way. But if I never have to set foot in the Pack-house again, I will die a happy woman." Glenn chuckles, but my Father and Jordan are looking a bit confused.

"Grace lived in that house for many years, never realizing that her Daughter was there. But somehow she disliked me from the start, maybe sub-consciously she knew that she wanted nothing to do with me. Jordan pulls me closer to him and I nuzzle his neck, trying to get rid of the sadness and anger I feel.

I see my Fathers exchange a look and then I hear Glenn say through the mind-link "We talked about moving in to a cottage of our own, but your Dad didn't want to do that until you were back home."

Jordan asks them where they would want to build a cottage and my Father says that he wants to live near the woods and not too far from me.

And I know that Dad won this battle, even though I don't know who will win in the end. I know the cottage Jordan is talking about and I know that my Father likes it.

I ask Dad what he wants in a home and he says "Your Father." I roll my eyes at him and giggle as I snuggle in to Jordan a bit more. I tell him that I am serious and that if he needs help I will be there. "Thank you, Sweetheart. Growing up I always thought would be alone for the rest of my life. That I would never find my Mate or have a family of my own.

But I did dream of a home, a place near the woods, not too big or too small. With a kitchen, big enough to cook in and to eat in. I don't want a big dining room, I always hated the one in my old Pack.

I want a cozy home, a place to relax. A house that is filled with laughter and chatter." My Father is holding his hand and I have a feeling that there might be a few siblings in my future.

I smile as I think of my Fathers running after a pup, my mind wanders off to the dreams I have had over the years. Were those a look in to my future, was I going to be blessed with a boy and a girl. I am so lost in my thoughts that I don't hear my Fathers leave or that Jordan lifts me up and takes me to the bedroom.

But I know I have to calm him down, somehow. So I have to ask her "Did you recognize the man in your dreams?"

She looks at me and says "It was you. My jaw drops and I am at a loss for words. She dreamt of us and our children, she dreamt of me. Nero starts purring the second she says those words.

I pull her close and kiss her forehead, while my head is spinning with what she just told me. "Jordan, have I ever been to this place before I left?" She asks me and ook at her, questioning.

"Izzy, what can I do for you?" He asks and I don't waste time. I tell him about my conversation with Jordan and what I remember from that day. His eyes glaze over and I know he is linking someone.

The door opens and a Warrior walks in, I recognize him as a Warrior named Malik that tried out for my Squad and failed. "You wanted to see me, Alpha Maddox." After she leaves, Jordan, Rico and James walk in and I see confused looks on all of their faces. I tell them that we are not complete yet and ask them to take a seat

I have also asked Malik to get his Mother in here, so she can finally hear what an asshole her Son is. I have always suspected him to be guilty of some minor crimes, but his friend had always been his alibi.

The type of crimes I always connected to Malik stopped after his friend died and that made me even more suspicious of him.

Ten minutes later Izzy links me and tells me to proceed. I have no idea what is going on, but I decide to see where this is leading to.

"Malik, I have asked you these questions before, but something has been brought to my attention today and for that reason I have to ask them again.

On the day that Jordan's cottage burned down, you were seen near the scene. You stated that you did not set the fire and you had a friend to confirm this. However, your friend can no longer be questioned on the matter, seeing the fact that he died a few years ago. Did you set fire to the cottage in question?" I ask.

He tells me the same thing he did the first time I questioned him. After he finishes speaking, there is a knock on the door and immediately Izzy walks in. "Sorry, Alpha Maddox. I came as fast as I could." She mumbles as she enters the room.

"And why would anyone believe you were there?" His Mother asks. Izzy walks back to the couch and opens her back-pack. Everyone, except for Jordan, can see what she is holding. "Jordan, do you recognize this?" She asks as she holds the album in front of him. His eyes start to water as he reaches out and whispers "I thought I had lost everything."

I ask Jordan to turn the album around and I point out to everyone the emblem on the cover and I know that everyone recognizes Jordan's family emblem.

I call in John and tell him to take Malik to the dungeons. I thank Izzy for putting this case to an end.

I have to reign in Nero, because he is out for blood. We both know that Malik was responsible for the fire. but there was no proof. As Izzy sits down next to me, Nero calms down a bit.

After Alpha Maddox asks Malik how he knew the place had not been visited in ages, Nero becomes agitated. Izzy holds me as the tears fall, they fall for the loss of my parents, the loss of my Brother and the time I lost with Izzy. It takes a while for I can get myself back together.

I've been pampered all my life, but strangely, after my 8th birthday, my family stopped talking to me. I need to find out why.

I wake up with a smile on my face, yesterday was the best day ever. Last night I had my Sweet Sixteen party and Mom had organized it to perfection, I am not a girly girl so pink was out of the question. Mom had used a few of my favorite colors; indigo and maroon. From the table cloth to the decorations, she used indige and maroon throughout everything. Only our Pack-members were invited, just like every other year and that goes for every party we have. Whether it is a party for me, the Pack or one of my six older Brothers Mom and Dad never invite other Packs, it is an unwritten rule within our Pack. It has been that way for centuries and I doubt it will change anytime soon.

The best thing about my Sweet Sixteen was the present from my family, a Harley-Davidson Fat Boy and they ordered it in my favorite colors, black, indigo and maroon. Even the outfit, helmet and boots are black with indigo and maroon.

The jacket fits me like a glove and the same goes for the pants, both made of a sturdy material at demand of Mom, no doubt. My helmet is my favorite next to the bike, because Declan made sure our Pack's crest was airbrushed onto them using indigo and maroon. A Wolf laying near a water shore.

The boots have a two inch heel with every possible protection feature and again I know Mom was behind it, but it doesn't bother me at all. Dad made me promise not to ride my bike until Asthon taught me how to ride safely and I had to keep a straight face when I made him that promise. If only he knew I have been riding Ashton's bike for six months already.

My name is Morgan and I am the youngest Pup of Alpha Tate and Luna Giselle, like I mentioned before I have six older Brothers. Don't ask me how our parents did it but there is two years and a month between each of us and to make it even more creepy we were all born on the first of the month. We all spent our first year in the same room as Mom wanted the nursery near their bedroom, until on our first birthday we would get our own room.

Everything was well prepared weeks before my Brothers were born, Dad had made sure of that. The day before I was born Asthon had asked Mom why he didn have a baby Sister and Mom told him that we don't always get want we want. He had asked her if she didn't want a baby girl and she had said if I get a baby girl tomorrow I will be over the moon.

Ashton and Dad had laughed their asses off as they knew for a fact that Mom wasn't pregnant, Mom and Dad had been trying for another Pup ever since Landon was born and Mom had been devastated when she found out she wasn't pregnant a few months before that day. She didn't want to try again after that.

Mom collapsed the next day just after breakfast and Dad rushed her to the infirmary with my Brothers running behind him. Dad kept feeling the excruciating pain Mom went through from time to time and it took hours before our Pack-doctor came out to see Da You can imagine the look on Dad's face as Doc told him he had a baby girl. So, I am the youngest of seven Pups and also the only female, but my Brothers never treated me any differently. I might be Daddy' little Princess, but I am not a spoiled brat. Mom and Dad provide us with everything we need and if we want something extra we have to work for it, something we have always accepted without arguing.

I get out of bed to take a shower and as I wash my hair think about what to do today. I have the day off as Dad calls it, because they figured I would sleep in after my party and even though I woke up later than usual it is still early. First thing on my list is breakfast and my stomach rumbles in agreement.

I grab my training outfit from my closet, even though I don't have training today. I will go through my training by myself, because I doubt our Gamma will be expecting me and as I exit my room I think it is too quiet on our floor. This is usually the time everyone is running around to make sure they get to their destination on time.

Dad rushing out the door for his morning meeting, Asthon following right behind him for the same reason and Mom calling after them to be on time for lunch. My other Brothers running around to make it on time to training and again Mom yelling to be back on time for lunch, the only one that never rushes anywhere is me.

But today it is deadly quiet on our floor, even our Omega isn't in the kitchen and I am glad I can make my own breakfast. I sit down at the kitchen island with my breakfast and my coffee, still not understanding why no one is around.

After I finish my coffee I rinse off everything I used to place it in the dishwasher and I make my way down the stairs to go to the training grounds. Every Pack-member that I walk past looks a little confused and I have to stifle a smile, looks like everyone thought I would be sleeping in today.

As I walk down the last flight of stairs I see that Dad's office door is closed, he probably is in his usual morning meeting with his Beta and Gamma. One of the few times during the day he has his door closed and I walk towards the back of the Pack-house, the fastest way to get to the training grounds.

Again I am met with confused looks from Pack-members and it is starting to annoy me. Why is it so strange to see me out and about, other than my party from last night nothing unusual happened and that means I wake up at a decent hour. I shrug my shoulders as I reach the training grounds and I am met with confused looks again.

I go through my training routine like I do every single day, the only difference today is that our Gamma is a no show. It doesn't bother me and I have worked myself into a sweat by the time I am done. I grab my water bottle that I emptied about fifteen minutes ago and I head back towards the Pack-house, this time I get a smile or a Goodmorning from those I pass.

The door to Dad's office is closed and this time I wonder what is going on, normally the door would be open by this time. As I pass the Beta floor I hear a lot of commotion, but I ignore it because I am in desperate need of a shower and I want to be downstairs in time for lunch.

After my shower I blow dry my hair before I braid it and I decide to put on my light blue, high-waisted, skinny jeans with an off the shoulder black shirt. I grab my boots to go with my outfit and I apply a little mascara before I head out of my room, again I am met with silence.

I decide to check the kitchen and when I walk in I smell that no one has been here after I left, this really has me worried because Mom usually comes up here to change before lunch. I walk back towards the bedrooms and I can smell that no one has been here either in the past few hours, which is odd because my Brothers all take a shower after training.

Right now I wish Dad had initiated me into the Pack yesterday, but I understand that he didn't want me to have a splitting headache during my party. It would make things a little easier though if I could link Mom or Dad, but I will find out at lunch what is going on and I feel a little better knowing I will see my family in a few minutes.

I decide to my agenda on my way down to the main dining room to see when I have my Mother-

Check Daughter day with Mom and I nearly lose my footing when I don't see it scheduled for this week. I go through the agenda for the ne three months, but I don't see any Mother-Daughter days planned.

This is so unlike Mom, she loves our Mother Daughter days and she always plans them ahead. It is her way of spending time with me and even though I was reluctant at first, I look forward to them just as much as she does. I hear chatter coming from the dining room and I put my phone into my back pocket as I enter the room.

Every conversation halts for a second, but soon the room is filled with chatter again and when I turn. towards our table I notice my family isn't there yet. I walk over to the buffet to place my favorite foods on to my plate and I grab a cappuccino before I head over to my seat.

I smile when I hear Mom's voice getting closer, but the moment she walks into the dining room she switches to the mind-link as she looks at our Beta female and it doesn't take long before I realize that all of them are talking through the mind-link.

It has been three months since my Sweet Sixteen and am not sure if I should scream or cry. Every morning I wake up on an empty Alpha floor, my entire family out the door by the time I wake up and no matter what I try they either ignore me or they tell me they are too busy.

For as long as I can remember I was with one of my Brothers if I wasn't in school, helping in any way I could and I learned a lot over the years. During my first year in school I learned fast that females wanted to be my friend in hopes to meet one of my Brothers and if none of them was around they would find any excuse to leave.

Some people didn't want to be my friend for who I was, but for who I knew and because of my lack of friends I would help my Brothers in any way I could, filing papers or getting coffee as a young Pup and when I got older I would help them with more important things. Dad let me sit at a small desk of my own. in his office as long as I was quiet and I would just sit there reading, writing or drawing.

Mom always said that by watching my Father and my Brothers work I would know the work my Mate would have to do on a daily basis, it is one of the things most Lunas don't understand anymore and they are busier with their parties and dinners.

By spending so much time in Dad's office or that of my Brothers I know every nook and cranny of our Pack-house, I know every position of our Warriors that are not running patrol and I know every route our patrols run. They never run a route twice in a row and our hidden Warriors are an extra security measure.

I know which Packs we have an alliance with, which Packs are friendly with us and which Packs we need to avoid for whatever reason. I know who the Wolves or Lycans in the leadership of a Pack are and who is to take over which position in the future.

I think I know more about our Pack on my own than all my Brothers combined. Sometimes I would hear Dad talk about other Alphas that spoil their Pups rotter giving them everything they asked for. As I already explained Dad wasn't like that, he made us earn our "extra" things as he would call them and that were usually things we didn't really need.

I earned them by spending a lot of time in the kitchen, helping prepare meals throughout the day and I love being able to cook or bake. At first I would measure ingredients the Omegas needed, when I was old enough I helped with cutting fruits or veggies. The past few years I have helped cooking and baking for our Pack-members and Mom is really proud of what I Have accomplished so far.

Spending so much of my time with Dad and my Brothers made Mom decide we would have a Mother-Daughter day once a week, which could be a day at the spa, a shopping spree or just sitting in the garden talking about major events in my future.

I would rather spend my days on the training grounds with my Brothers and our Warriors than with Mom and the other Lunas talking about whatever it is they talk about. As I already mentioned before I am not a girly girl and this was her way of bonding with me,I think she secretly wrote down everything I told her, just so she knows how to organize every event to my liking. I'really enjoyed my days with Mom as long as Nit just the two of us, if other females joined us the conversation would always ends up in discussions on parties and their do's and don'ts.

But we haven't had a Mother-Daughter day in the past three months, I tried to bring it up with her during lunch after about two weeks and she just brushed me off as she said she was too busy. She is always of somewhere with our Beta and Gamma females, she even halts her conversations when I walk into the room.

I tried to talk to my Brothers and Dad during those first two weeks, but I got the same response from them. Dad barely says a word to me, even a simple Goodmorning or Hello seems to be too much. All I out of my Brothers is "not now" "I am busy" "don't have time" and more remarks along those lines. Even my training has stopped as our Gamma never shows up anymore.

Breakfast, lunch and dinner is spend in silence, even though I know they talk to one and other through the mind-link. Something I can't use as Dad still hasn't initiated me into the Pack and every time I try to bring on their sixteenth birthday, but for it up he cuts me off. Normally every Pup gets initiated to the Pack some reason Dad forgot he didn't hold the ceremony after my Sweet Sixteen Party.

I stopped going to the dining room for breakfast, lunch and dinner after a month, but I doubt anyone has noticed that I am absent. About a month ago I was wandering around the territory, just contemplating on what to do with my life and that is when I found a small cottage close to our northern border.

If I am not on the training grounds I am at the cottage, trying to find a new purpose in live and I think I have found it. Lam going to sign up for the King's Army, not really sure yet what kind of position I would like to get. I have moved quite a few things to the cottage in the past month and I will spend my days there to take some tests.

I hope those tests will help me figure out what I am good at and which positions within the King's Army. are best suited for me. Today I will head down to our Archive before I go to my own sanctuary, I am going to take my file out of the Archive and update it myself. I doubt anyone has taken a look at it in the past three months or someone would have noticed that I wasn't initiated into the Pack. As every morning I make my own breakfast and once I am done I erase every trace of me having been in there, I place a few items from the pantry into my backpack before I head out the door.

Walking down the stairs I go over everything I brought to the cottage already and I notice that even our Pack-members are too busy to greet me as I pass them No one stops me when I enter the Archive and it only takes me a few minutes to find my file, as I guessed the last entry into my file is from my Dad. It is from my sixteenth birthday and it just states that I turned sixteen that day.

I place it inside my backpack and walk out of the backdoor to head to my cottage. I don't run into anyone on my way over there and a week ago it would have made me sad, but not anymore. I am going to live my life the way I want it and not hold my breath for my family to finally notice me again, those days are behind me.

I have cried enough tears, I have had enough sleepless nights, I will focus on my future, a future away from this Pack and my family. I have taken everything from my backpack and placed it where I want it, before I sit down at the small table to start up my laptop. The alarm on my phone tells me that it is nearing dinner time, but I decide to cat at the cottage and continue with my test.

By the time I am done with my first test I notice it is dark outside and when I check the time I see it is almost midnight. I don't hear anything outside, telling me that no one has noticed that I am not in the Pack-house or in my room and I decide to spend the night at the cottage.

When I wake up the next morning I get ready for the day and I head out to the training grounds. No one. pays me any attention as I go through my training routine and after I have finished-I go up to my room to take a shower and get dressed, I eat my lunch in the kitchen on our floor and like every other day by the time I am done it looks as if I wasn't here at all.

I start my second test the moment I arrive at the cottage and by the time I am done it is time for dinner. I head back to the Pack-house to grab some dinner and lock myself in my room after I am done. I read through one of the books I took from I library, a book en Wolf and Lycan Law and just before midnight 1

After training and lunch I change into my leather outfit to go for a ride and when I reach the gate our Warriors let me pass without asking questions, something that is a huge No-No in Dad's eyes. I just let it slide as I speed away from the territory, just enjoying the freedom of riding my bike and when I return no one stops me to ask me where I went,

During Morgan's Sweet Sixteen party Dad told us we had an early morning meeting in his office the next day, there was something very important he and Mom needed to discuss with us. He told us he had given Morgan the day off, so she could sleep in and it would give them the time to tell us what they needed to tell us.

I had checked on her before we all went down to Dad's office and I was surprised to see our Beta and Gamma couple present as well. "What I am about to tell you never leaves this room, if this gets out it will cause a lot of problems and we will get attacked for it. Dad had stated and I knew he wasn't kidding.

"Most Pups born into our bloodline are males and once I have told you everything you will understand why most will think it is a good thing. A hundred and fifteen years ago the last female was born into our bloodline and despite all the precautions her family took it ended badly for her.

Like every other female in my bloodline she received her gift on her seventeenth birthday at the exact time she was born and a year later she found her fated Mate. Her Father asked him to stay with them for a week and during that week they got to know her Mate, he was a well-respected Alpha of a large Pack.

They felt they could trust him with their Daughter and her secret, they told him about her ability and he promised them he would protect her with his life. For a few years everything was fine, but as time passed. he realized what she could do for him and he started to force her to use her ability. The punishment for disobeying him became worse as time passed and in the end she saw no other way out

When she found out she was pregnant with a female Pup she took her own life and I know that his Pack is still waiting for the day that another female Pup gets born." Dad had said and for a moment none of us had said a word. Fletcher was the first one to break the silence, "Is that why you called her Morgan?"

We had always wondered why she had a male's name, but with this information it made sense and Mom had nodded her head at his question. Dad had called the meeting because he wanted our help to prevent the same thing happening to Morgan and we met every morning after that to discuss our best course of action.

Yesterday Hudson asked Mom the question that has been occupying all of our minds, what kind of ability will Morgan have. On her seventeenth birthday at three minutes past eleven in the evening she will receive her gift from the Goddess.

No one knows what kind of gift it will be as it is different with every female, Mom had researched the Pack's Archive and found out that there had been seven females born into Dad's bloodline, Two of them had been able to hear thoughts, two of them had been able to sense Werewolves and-Lycans from a mile away, one of them had been able to hear sounds from mile away and one of them could read memories of places as long as they had happened within twenty four hours.

Mom started planning for her seventeenth birthday from the day she was born and more was added to the list as Morgan got older or things were removed from the list, Landon made a huge printout of the list and taped it to the wall, a reminder for all of us that we still have a lot to do and I am relieved every time we get to cross something of the list.

There is a clearing near our western border and that is where we will celebrate her seventeenth birthday, it makes it easier for us to keep it a secret from her. We concentrate on one task at the time and right now my office is covered with fabrics in indigo and maroon we need to decide which ones to use for the party.

you there is nowhere to run or hide. I found that out when I tossed a few of her papers in the bin next to her desk, not only did she kick me she also refused to talk to me for two days.

Each of us has a story like that on her and the older she got the worse her tantrums became, Mom and Dad always say she is worse than all of their Sons combined. If you hear every story my Brothers and I have you will know that Mom and Dad are very accurate. Some may think we fear our parents, but there is only one person we all really fear in this world and that is our baby Sister. At first, she will be pissed at us for keeping this a secret, but once Dad explains everything to her she will be grateful.

Hudson asked Dad why no one ever informed the King Council or invited witnesses, Dad thought about it for a few days before he told us it might prevent Morgan from facing the same fate as our ancestors. Tomorrow morning Mom and Dad will leave to visit an old family friend and I will contact the King's Council.

I will also ask them to send some witnesses, I believe that the more people know the safer Morgan will be. Declan holds up two pieces of fabric and even though they are her favorite colors I doubt she would like the fabrics, he tosses them in the bin after I shake my head.

Landon has been watching him for a while now and I wonder when he is planning to put Declan out of his misery. Landon slowly gets up to walk over to Declan and he is looking at all the fabrics spread out on Declan's desk. He grabs one after the other to toss them in the bin without saying a word and steadily but slowly he clears the desk until there are only a few fabrics left.

Declan sighs in relief as Landon just made his life a little easier, both of them are looking at the pieces that are left and they reach for the same one at the same time. Looks like we finally have tackled that task and I see Michael smile as he checks off another box.
Morgan After I had tak

all the tests I received an email from the King's Army that I was accepted into the Army, I didn't have to go through any extra trials or tests and I decided that I needed to plan my departure to reach the King's Army on the day I turn seventeen.

I moved my bike from the garage to the cottage and so far no one has asked about my bike missing from the garage. I ordered myself a bigger backpack, so I can take a few things with me and the rest I sent to the Academy a week ago. It will be in the room I will call home for the next few years.

I wake up in the middle of the night to soft singing in my head and for a moment I think I am in my room. at the Pack-house, that is until I realize that the voice is unfamiliar to me. "Happy Birthday, Morgan." I hear the voice say and I automatically answer, "You are a week to early." Only to be met with laughter in my head.

"Silly girl, I am in your head. My name is Amra and I am your Lycan." She responds and again I tell her she is a week early, but then she tells me that I was born a week late. Making today my birthday instead of a week from today, don't ask me how that is possible because I have no clue and Amra doesn't want to explain it.

I allow Amra to go through my memories and when she reaches the memories of the past year she becomes furious. She understands why I want to leave but she asks me to give her one change to find out why my family started to ignore me and I reluctantly agree to join our family for dinner tonight,

The rest of the day we spend talking about my childhood, about our family and everything I learned over the years from following my Dad and my Brothers. She likes looking at my memories of the Mother-Daughter days I spend with Mom, but she gets angry when she can't find one from the past year.

We leave the dining room before dessert gets served and we walk back to the cottage to grab our backpack. I take a look around the cottage I called home for the past ten months for the last time. For the past week my Lycan has been acting strange, but she can't recall anything happening during the past week to justify her feelings. Well, nothing out of the ordinary that is and we both decide it has to do with our little miracle's birthday. Today we will spend the day on our own floor while our Pack-members organize the final details for the party.

Tate walks out of the bathroom as I walk out of our closet and he smiles at me before he asks me if I have everything under control. "Of course I have everything under control, I can't wait to see her face when she sees what we have organized for her seventeenth birthday party." I answer as I wrap my arms around his waist.

I walk into the kitchen to start preparing breakfast, I am going to make Morgan all of her favorite dishes. Colton and Landon are already setting the table as I am pulling everything I need from the pantry and the fridge, Ashton walks into the kitchen with a strange look on his face and I ask him what is wrong.

"I don't know Mom, Titan feels as if he missed something major. We have gone over the past week but we can't figure it out." Ashton answers me and I tell him that Sage has the same problem. "We have been so busy organizing everything, we had to reconfirm that the King would send witnesses and I think we just worry that something might go wrong"

Tate tells us that Roman has been going through the same thing and I think it is safe to say that we are all worried that something might blow up in our faces. We talk about tonight's party as the boys help me get breakfast ready and as they bring everything to the dining room I walk towards Morgan's room to wake her up.

As I walk down the hall to her room something feels off and I start to feel anxious the closer I get to her room, "Is something wrong?" Tate asks from behind me and I tell him that something doesn't feel right. Ashton pushes past me to open her bedroom door and then it hits me.

I can barely smell the scent of my Daughter and Sage starts to whimper in my head. Ashton is running around her room and he keeps saying that her stuff is missing, her closet is nearly empty as is her bathroom. Tate sends out a Pack wide mind-link to get everyone to the Pack-house and within seconds I can hear footsteps and paws pounding the stairs and the ground.

Everyone is quiet when we step onto the front porch, "Morgan is missing and with how faint her scent is in her room she has been gone for a while. I want the entire territory searched and if anyone can think of anything strange I want to hear about it, no one will get into trouble.

We just want to know what happened, we need to figure out why she is missing and if she left on her own accord." Tate says and in seconds everyone takes off in different directions to search for our Daughter. Her Brothers rush off as well and Tate holds me in his arms as I quietly break down.

After two hours of searching Fletcher informs us through the mind-link that he found a cottage at the north horder that holds her scent and Tate sends all her Brothers towards him, but an hour later they still haven't found her. One of our omegas that works in the main dining room walks up to us with a worried Jook on her face.

My Sons have just returned and I ask her if there is something she wants to tell us, "Luña, I mean no offence with what I am about to say. Morgan hasn't been to the main dining room for breakfast, lunch or dinner for months, I didn't say anything because none of you seemed to be worried when she no longer showed up.

A week ago she came in for dinner again, but left before we served dessert. I noticed her bike missing from the garage about a month ago, but I thought she might have gone for a ride as she has done it quite often in the past few months." She says and I just look at her Tate thanks her for telling us.

Once we are all back on the Alpha floor I break down and start sobbing as Tate wraps his arms around me. "Mom, if she left the territory we would have felt the Pack-bond snap. She still has to be in the territory." Landon says as he places his laptop on his lap and Colton runs out the door.

A few minutes later Colton walks back into the room and his face doesn't predict much good, "Her file is gone and I can't find her initiation papers." He states as he sits down on the couch and Tate mutters "Fuck" as he jumps of the couch, "We were supposed to initiate her the night after her sixteenth birthday, but we were too busy going over the gift she might get." Tate mumbles.

I try to remember the last time I spoke to her and for the life of me I can't remember, "I didn't have a Mother-Daughter day with her once since she turned sexteen." I say and one after the other remembers that they brushed her off after we told them about her seventeenth birthday. "She left on her bike, she crossed the border not far from the cottage." Landon says and Tate calls of the search for our Daughter, she left the territory so there is no use. I spend the rest of the day in a daze and at dinner I get the worst news

I could have gotten. Ashton tells me she hasn't been in the dining room for nearly a year, they even saw footage of her trying to talk to one of us and it always ended the same way. Ever since I left Blue River territory I have been noticing a change in myself, I can't explain it yet as it is very erratic and every time I think I have it figure out it changes again. One thing I do know for sure, my hearing has increased a lot and I am not talking about being able to hear things close to me.

I was riding along a forest when I heard whimpering and I stopped because I thought it came from beside the road, but I had to walk over a mile before I found the source. A female from about my age was laying on the forest floor, cuts and bruises all over her body and I took her back to my bike to attend to her wounds.

Her Father was grateful I found her and made sure she came home safely. It was also the first time I thought I heard someone's thoughts and at first I wanted to ignore it, but I decided to inform her Father as he walked me back to my bike. He didn't ask anything, be just nodded his head and I hope he will keep it in mind for the future..

It is my seventeenth birthday and I am finally at the gate of the Academy. I get quite a few strange looks, but every Wolf and Lycan steps aside to let me pass and the Lycan at the gate gives me a strange look. I pull to a stop in front of him and I remove my helmet, only to be met with a dumbfounded look from the guard.

"I am reporting for duty." I say to the guard and he asks me for my acceptance letter. I pull it from my back pocket and when I hand it to him I take the change to look around me. Every Wolf and Lycan around me is staring at me, I am not sure if it has to do with the fact that I am a female or with the fact that I am. only 575. Well, maybe it has to do with the fact that I just arrived on my Harley and Amra is laughing in my head.

The guard gives me directions to the main building and after I put my helmet back on I ride through the gate, heading towards my future. I watch the terrain as slowly make my way over to the entrance, the main building is where I will get my education, my temporary room and my meals, while most of the other buildings house the unit members.

The moment I pull to a stop every Wolf and Lycan on the front steps turns around. Almost every female has a smile on their face as they look at my Harley, but the moment they look at me those smiles falter. I get of my bike and remove my helmet without looking at any of them and I hear gasps when my black hair comes into view.

Elder Larson walks down the steps and I hold out my acceptance letter, he nods his head as he takes it from me. He smiles when he opens it and within a second another Elder approaches us, "You will be skipping the first two weeks of training, your test results were the best we ever had and it would be a waste of time to make you attend." Elder Larson says.

Most of the other Wolves and Lycans stare daggers at me, looks like they don't like to find out that someone is smarter than them and I have to stifle a smile when Elder Larson informs me I will only have to attend the introduction morning.

Elder Emmett tells me that he will be my tutor for the next two weeks, "We think you could become a great asset for the King and I will put you through a few more tests to see if our instincts are correct." Elder Emmett says.

The introduction morning was a morning that showed me that most of these Wolves and Lycans think very highly of themselves. They barely paid attention to Elder Larson as he explained what they could expect over the next two weeks and during lunch I could hear their remarks on some of the other students, remarks that pissed Amra off.

I did pay attention and I got the hidden message that Elder Larson gave, excel in your classes and your might end up as team Captain. But the other hidden message he gave was one I would enjoy much more, if you failed you would be sent home without a change to ever be accepted again.

My two weeks with Elder Emmett were amazing and 1 surprised him when I was able to pass every test he gave me. He tested my knowledge on Pack hierarchy, my knowledge on our laws and during my second week he gave me hypothetical cases to solve. I spend lunch with the rest of the students and with each passing day I got more annoyed with them. The worst out of them was Nigel, the second Son of the Alpha of Shadow Rock Pack and a close second was Marge, the second Pup of Shadow Rock Pack's Gamma Both of them thought they were the best of the best and both were arrogant enough to boost about it.

Today we will hear who has made team Captain and who will be send home. I doubt Nigel and Marge realize that they might be on that list and I can't wait to see the look on their faces when they hear that they are not as good as they seem to think. I have watched the other students over the past two weeks and I know who I will chose as a part of my team.

I sit down in a seat at the back of the room and let my eyes glide over the other students, all of them chatting among themselves. Every conversation halts as Elder Larson steps on to the stage and I hear a few gasps when the King follows him up there. Another thing most of them didn't hear during the introduction morning.

"Goodmorning and welcome to the final day of the try-out weeks." Elder Larson says and I can see a lot of confused faces. Elder Emmett chuckles softly and I glance at him to see a smirk on his face, I think they knew not everyone had been paying attention. "Today you will find out if you have what it takes to become part of the King's Army or if you are being send home. For those that end up in the group that gets send home, a little warning. You will never get a second change." He explains and I see a few faces pale. Amra is chuckling in my head and we both have an idea who might be on the list to be send home,

"I will start out by announcing the team Captains, after that I will announce the students that failed and last but not least I will announce the Unit Commander He says and everyone starts to mumble, another indication they didn't pay attention during his speech on the introduction morning.

He tells us that this year's students will be split into seven teams, meaning that only thirty five students will remain by the end of the day and that means that over forty students will be send home. I watch every student as Elder Larson starts calling out names, "Flora Beck, Waylen, Moura, Enzo, Orson and Morgan."

Each of us gets up after he has called out our name and I see a few strange looks when I get up. "The seven of you will reveice your team once we are done here, please sit down again, I will now announce who will be going home." He states before he picks up the list with the names he will be calling next.

One after the other looks devastated when they heard their name and I see Nigel and Marge looking rather smug as most around them hear their names. I have heen counting the names Elder Larson has 22:23 Fri, Jan 31 called out and I know he has two more names on his list. Nigel and Marge still looking as if they made it.

The moment he calls out Marge's name I hear her grow and when he calls out Nigel's name we hear a loud roar coming from him. I stifle a smile at the look on their faces, Elder Larson orders us to be quiet and the moment the room is silent he looks at the students. "As I already said I still have an announcement to make For those of you that didn't pay attention on their first day at the Academy, I will explain what a Unit Commander is. A Unit Commander is in charge of the teams from this year, every team Captain answers to the Commander. Unit Commander is the highest position you can have within the King's Army.

As Unit Commander you appoint an assignment to a team, you report to the King after an assignment is completed and you will report to the King if someone doesn't perform to the best of their abilities. If a Unit Commander deems a team member unfit that team member can be removed from his or her team.

It doesn't mean you will be send home, it means you will be reevaluated and you will be assigned to another function. Your place within the team will be filled by someone that was removed from a team and has proven himself or herself." He says as he looks around the room and this time the King gets out of his seat to step to the front of the stage.

"It is my honor to announce this year's Unit Commander. I have been watching each of you over the past Two weeks and I know that Elder Larson and Elder Emmett made the right choice by suggesting this student. This year's Unit Commander is Morgan." The King says and I just stare at him, I hadn't seen that one coming.

The King sits down again to allow Elder Larson to finish up. "You can leave for your rooms and pack up your belongings. I expect you to be of the territory within the hour, no exceptions." Elder Larson says and it becomes a noisy mess when over forty students get up to leave the room.

Royal guards are waiting just outside and I see them following those that have been send home, probably a precaution. I hear Marge complaining to Nigel, "What the fuck is this! Some punny Wolf gets to be Unit Commander and they send me packing. I will show them next year what they tossed aside." She mumbles and Elder Emmett gets up.

"Marge, you won't be coming back. Anyone that gets send home has no change of coming back." Elder Emmett states and I see a murderous look in her eyes. Nigel seems to have a bit of a brain left as he pulls her with him and growls at her to shut up.

Elder Emmett hands me a tablet and tells me all the files of my team members are on there, he tells me to go through them before I assign members to a team. In the meantime Elder Larson has informed the other students that I will be assigning members to each team in the morning and that we have the rest of the day to settle into our new building.

"Tonight you will stay on the visitor floor of your new home, after Commander Morgan has assigned the tearns she will also appoint you your Quarters. It will be your home for as long as you are in service of the King's Army and we expect all of you to uphold the oath you will take in the morning. He says before he dismisses us.

I follow the others towards our rooms as they chat among one and other and I already hear a few claiming their team Captain, but I doubt I will allow it. I need strong teams to function to the best of their abilities and that means I have to look at their files closely, forming teams that can hold up their own.

I am the first one out of my room and I wait for the rest to show up, but as I had expected most take off down the stairs. Those that waited with me are the one that understand I know where we are going and once everyone has cleared their room we head down the stairs, to find the others in sitting in the living room.

Instead of telling them to follow me I walk out the front door and I hear a few giggles and chuckles behind. me. Our building is the third building to my right and we will share it with a unit that has been in service of the King's Army for ten years, let's see how that goes with some members of my team. When we arrive at the building I hear someone shouting from behind me and as I turn around I see the others running towards us. W is the first to open los yap, "Why didn't anyone tell us where you were going?" I look at him before I sigh deeply. "Why would You didn't think it was necessary to wait for the rest of us." I respond.

I turn on my heel and head up the steps to the front door, I know the other unit isn't around at the moment and I walk up the stairs to the visitor floor once we are all inside. "Pick a room, but don't unpack. It will only be for tonight, so there is no need to get comfortable." I say before I open the door in front of

I spend most of my time going over every file, only taking a break for lunch and dinner and by the time I turn in I have assigned every member to a team Captain.

I woke up early this morning and after getting dressed I went for a run around the territory, a run I take every morning. Everyone I pass along the way either smiles at me or they greet me and I return the favor each time. I run back into the building and I hear voice coming from the living room, but I know none of the voices belong to my team members.

I stop in the doorway to look at the males that are occupying the living room, "Goodmorning." I say to get their attention and I see annoyed looks in their eyes, looks like they don't like newcomers. Too bad for them I am not going anywhere, they better get used to seeing me around.

"They are worse than Nigel." Amra grumbles in my head and she is right, Nigel was an ass but at least he would return my greeting. Without saying another word I head up the stairs to take a shower and I get dressed in my standard uniform for the last time. After today I will be wearing a Commander's uniform, showing everyone I meet who I am within our unit and my team Captains will receive another uniform as well. I walk down the stairs to see my team. members waiting for me and we all head out to get breakfast, I notice that the other team isn't in the living -room anymore.

"When we get back we will discuss the teams and move to our side of the building. The right side of the building will be our home from here on out, the left side belongs to Commander Jaylen and his unit." I say and I see a few males and females smile. "Let's see how fast I can get Commander Jaylen in my bed." "Thope that team has a few willing females." I hear in my head and I ask Amra if I am going nuts, but she tells me I am not. I shake my head to clear my mind and I follow my team into the main building to get some breakfast. We get in line at the buffet and I point out to the others where we will be sitting from now on, like every unit we have our own table in the dining room. Every unit sits along the outside of the dining room and every student or pulled member can sit at a table in the middle of the dining room, our table is situated near some floor to ceiling windows.

During breakfast we all look around at the other units and I notice that I have the largest unit, most of them have five teams. Our unit is the only one that has six teams and I stifle a smile when I see the other Commanders coming to the same conclusion as I did. By the time we walk out of the dining room Commander Jaylen walks in with his unit and I see him looking at every member in my unit, I doubt he will be able to figure out who the Commander is. Elder Larson is waiting for us outside the dining room and he guides us towards the library, where we will take our oath.

Elder Emmett will recite the oath and all we have to do is say, "Yes, I will or Yes, I do" after every question. There are eight Elders standing around us to make sure we all answer and to expose those that try to avoid answering. Amra is front and center, she wants to see how some of my unit will respond to the oath.

Elder Emmett starts to recite the oath and each time everyone answers in union, that is until the last part of the oath. "Do you promise to withhold yourself from having sex with your own unit members and that of other units? With the exception if you find your fatce Mate among them." Almost everyone responds with "Yes, I do" and I know who didn't respond.

Five members of my unit get called as Elder Emmett and he asks them why they didn't answer, each of them telling him they hadn't expected that to be a tart of the oath. "This is a part of the oath because history has taught us that a broken off relationship causes trouble within or between units." He answers.

He repeats the last part of the oath and all five answer with "Yes, I do" as we all did, I will make sure they understand the consequences if they break a part of the oath. We all get our new uniforms before we head back home and I tell everyone along the way to place in their beds before we will divide the teams.

My members and I are the only ones inside the building and I wait in the living room for everyone to show up. I see that a few sit down together, the ones that decided they would become a part of a team Captain's team and the rest just sits down wherever there is a seat available.

It takes about fifteen minutes before each of them are quiet and Flora is the one to start talking. "I have already picked my team members, so why don't I start my announcing my team?" She asks, but I shake my head. Luckily she is smart enough to keep her mouth shut and I grab the tablet to pull up the list of the teams I made.

"I went through each of your files and I have come to the conclusion that each of you actually has a brain." I say and everyone chuckles. "I mean that you will all be able to understand my reasoning when I explain how I came to my decisions and to make it a little easier I want to ask you to compare our unit to a Pack.

Pack-members have to answer to an Alpha, but if an Alpha had to talk to every member one by one it would take forever and for that reason only one person will answer to the Alpha. Which basically means that an Alpha has different teams throughout his Pack and he needs to make sure that every team within his Pack is the best he can have." I explain and I see all of them nod their heads.

"Flora, have you ever watched the Warriors in your Pack train?" I ask her and she answers that she has. I ask her if there has ever been a time she questioned their head Warrior's decision on pairing a team and she answers affirmative, "Can you explain to everyone why you questioned him?" I ask her.

She explains that one pairing stood out to her, "One of them is very strong and can take down any Rogue he has to face, the other one can fight but is no match for someone that is bigger." She answers and I ask her if there is something he is better at than his teammate. She tells me that he is better at seeing an opponent's weakness.

"Flora, that is exactly the reason they get paired. One has the strength to take down his opponent while the other can see the weakness, together they will be able to take down multiple opponents by working together. On their own they might be able to take down one or two opponents, but in the end it will cause them to lose." I say and I can see that Flora understands what I just said.

"I think we all understand what you are trying to say, Commander. I will accept whoever you assign to my team." Enzo says and the other team Captains tell me they will accept their teams as well. I start with Flora's team and one by one the teams move across the room, until only four members are left.

"Chaya, Skylar, Danica and Faith. You will be my team, will be counting on the four of you to help me guide this unit. I hope you will all show me that you are worthy to be in the King's Army and if any of you runs in to problems I want you to come to me, before I have to report you to the King." I say and I know most of them will come to me if it is necessary.

I had already checked out our wing and as Commander I would reside on the top floor, I chose the bottom floor of our wing for Flora and her team. The five of them are light sleepers and together they can form a solid front against anyone that wants to enter our wing giving the rest of time to come to their aid.

Flora looks surprised when I explain why she will be on this floor, but when she looks at her team she realizes that I am right. "We won't disappoint you, Commander. She says before she guides her team into their Quarters. The other four teams are divided over the two floors above Flora's team and my team walk. up to the last floor.

top floor covers the entire side of our wing and I notice that there is a living room and a kitchen next to an office on the left side of the stairs, while our rooms are on the right side of the stairs. Faith opens all the doors to the bedrooms and after checking all of them she tells me to take the last room on the right.

She points Chaya to the room across the hall from me, while she points Skylar to the room next to mine and she asks Danica which room she would like. Danica choses the room next to Chaya, which leaves the room next to Skylar for Faith and we all walk in to our rooms to unpack our bags.

Flora links me to inform me of the private living room and offices next to her Quarters, I tell her we will all meet in our private living room. We need to go over our schedule for our education and training.

It has been six months since the new unit moved into our building, but we have only seen glimpses of them. According to one of my team Captains they only saw a member once and that was the day they took their oath. Reece described her as tiny at the height of 5 with black hair falling down her back and ocean blue eyes, but they didn't get her name.

Apparently Reece's team had been to stunned to answer and by the time they came to their senses she had been gone. I had seen them walking out of the dining room that morning, but I had quickly glanced at them before I turned my attention back the assignments had in my hand.

Kaia and Marina pointed out after a week that they hadn't show up in the main dining room again and it took us another week to figure out they use the kitchen on the top floor for their meals. "Anyone seen Commander Morgan or his unit?" Tristan asks and I chuckle as he sits down in an armchair next to me.

My enure unit is curious about this guy and his unit, but we know as much today  We did the day they moved in and that is absolutely nothing. It will take at least six more months before I will meet Commander Morgan once a week for our meetings with the King and I wonder if he is as stuck up as some other Commanders.

Unlike me every other Commander is the second or third Son of an Alpha, making them think they are the best the world has to offer. This is the highest they will ever get, because they won't be able to take over from their Fathers and only if their older siblings die they might have a chance.

I have a different future ahead of me, a future only my unit knows about and I know they will keep it a secret from everyone. Once our Crown Prince has found his fated mate I will take over my Father's position as Royal Gamma and I hope I will have found my fated Mate by than as well. My team within my unit will also retire when that day arrives.

They are the future Deltas of the Kingdom and we took this opportunity to learn to work together even better. I earned my spot as Commander during our try-out weeks, the King made sure that the Elders didn't know who we were and when they were informed afterwards they had been nicely surprised.

Having the best unit also gives me a few privileges the others don't have, my team and I accompany the King often and I enjoy spending time with my friends. Tomorrow we will escort the King for a whole week, while he visits three Packs and with no one knowing that I am the future Royal Gamma I see and hear a lot more within those Packs.

Morgan

The past year flew by with all the studying and training we did and we all graduated three weeks ahead of time, so right now we are enjoying four days off. Starting Monday we will be a fully operational unit for the King and we can get send on assignment immediately. I will also have my first weekly meeting with the other Commanders and the King, but with the comments we have been hearing from the other unit members I am not as nervous as I probably should be. I actually look forward to seeing their faces when I walk into the meeting room.

After discussing it with my unit we decided to use our meals on the top floor of our wing, there is an amazing kitchen up there and every one of us can cook We enjoy our time off together, talking about our homework or training and making sure we are all on schedule. Resulting in all of us graduating together.

I hear it the moment she comes stamning in the stairs someone nissed off Moura and I know it takes a lot 1/3 for her to get pissed off. She is my most level headed Captain and even if she gets angry it doesn't show, but this time everyone can tell the moment she walks into the living room.

She shoves the box she is holding into Waylen's arm and makes a beeline for Beck, he opens his arms tot calm her and her Wolf down. Beck turned eighteen three months ago and on the first Full Moon after that he found out that Moura is his fated Mate, he was unable to keep his Wolf from making it known. I informed Elder Emmett and he had a good, long talk with the three of us.

Until Moura turns eighteen he can't sleep in the same room, but in situations like this he is allowed to calm her down and I allow them to sit together as long as we are in our own wing. He holds her in his arms. as he talks to her and in between her cussing and swearing I hear what happened, nearly making Beck lose control of his Wolf.

"Beck, I will deal with this Monday. I just want to know if this is the first time a Commander tried this." I say as I look at every female member of my unit, but it looks like this is the first time and I am glad that Moura can tell me the name of the Commander in question. "No one leaves the wing on their own for the time being and if a Commander or Captain ever tries something like this again I want to know about it." I growl and I know everyone will look out for the other to make sure this never happens again.

"Do you think the other unit heard me coming up the stairs, Commander?" Moura asks and I tell her that I doubt their hearing is as good as mine. My unit is aware of my ability and with Moura's interest for bloodlines with gifts she narrowed down my bloodline to two Packs.

that there were only two bloodlines known to get the gift of hearing I was surprised to about it, but we all growled and roared when she told us what used to happen to Wolves or Lycans with a gift and it made me wonder if that was why Mom and Dad never mentioned it to me.

My unit swore to me they would never reveal my gift to anyone and eventually it was Chaya that figured out from which Pack I was and who my parents are. It explained quite a few things for the members of my unit and it made working together a lot easier. Our four days off pass fast and on our last day off I asked Moura to cut my hair, I am getting sick and tired. of braiding it every time. I also got in some trouble during training a few times, either it got stuck somewhere or someone would grab it and it would put me at a disadvantage. She cut it off just above my shoulder, the same length all around and I can still put it in a high ponytail.

We had done it in the privacy of my bedroom and when I walked into the living room I got a lot of whistling, from the males and females in my unit. It makes my morning routine a lot easier and as I exit my bathroom I smell that breakfast is being prepared.

I put on my Commander uniform and grab my high-heeled boots as I walk out of my bedroom, "Coffee, please." I say as I walk into the kitchen and I pull my boots on as Waylen places my coffee on the table, while Faith places a plate in front of me. We talk about my morning meeting as we enjoy our breakfast and once I am done Orson reminds me that the other Commanders are expecting a male.

"Sorry, Orson. Last time I checked I still lacked a dick." have the balls, Commander." Skylar blurts out and I am to the Academy. I rush towards the meeting room and respond and Orson just stares at me. "At least you laughing my ass off as I walk down the stairs to go see Elder Larson waiting for me outside.

As I walk in I say, "My apologies for being late, I had to remind one of my members I lack a dick to be qualified as a male" I see every head in the room snap my direction and almost all of them look rather dumbfounded. "I am Commander Morgan. I say as I walk over to the King.

"Goodmorning, Your Majesty. I will make sure I am on time for our next meeting." I say as I make a small bow. The King keeps a straight face, but the twinkle in his eyes tells me he enjoyed my apology. "Commander Morgan, it is a pleasure to see you again.

Congratulations to you and your unit for graduating three weeks ahead of schedule." He responds and I hear a few gasps around us.

"I wouldn't mind having that in my bed" I hear in my head and I know exactly which Asshole was thinking that. "Commander Morgan, this is my Son, Crown Prince Casimir." The King says and I look at the male standing next to the King, "Crown Prince Casimir, it is an honor to meet you." I say and he asks me how my unit responded to the news I wasn't a male.

"One of my members pointed out I at least have the balls." I say with a straight face and I hear a few people around me choking on laughter. "Damn, I think I have to ask my unit to start looking for my filter. Sounds like it is missing again." I say as I look Casimir in his eyes and this time he can't keep a straight face.

"Excuse me for a second. I remember there is something I have to do." I say before I turn towards the other Commanders and I walk over to Commander Carl, punching his lights out without saying a word.

I am the first one to arrive in the meeting room and I smile when I see Casimir standing next to his Father, "What the fuck are you doing outside your bed this early?" I ask as I walk over to him and I greet him and the King. We talk about the new Commander that will be joining us in a few weeks and I see a strange look in the King's eyes.

I hear Elder Larson in my head saying that the others are on their way and I take a few steps away from the King and my best friend, if I can avoid anyone from finding out who I truly am it the others greet the King and Casimir and I patiently wait until Elder Larson joins Its me just fine. I hear

My jaw drops when I hear the female's apology and when I look at her Midnight pushes forward, she might be a foot shorter than me but she is hot like fuck My eyes nearly pop out of their sockets when I see her uniform and suddenly her remark makes a lot of sense, we all thought that Commander Morgan was a male.

The moment Casimir asks her how her members reacted I want to tell him to shut the fuck up, but Midnight is rolling in my head when she answers him see her turn towards the other Commanders and Midnight it front and center to see her punching Carl's lights out, "What the fuck did he do?" Casimir asks me but I don't have an answer.

"If you ever have the fucking guts to threaten a female to report her for whatever bullshit reason because she refuses to sleep with you, the King will be the least of your worries. I will hunt you down and make you regret the day my Father met my Mother, am I making myself clear." She says in a calm but deadly voice.

Carl is trying to get back up, but he stops the moment she takes a step forward and he cowers down to the floor because of her aura. "Fuck, she is an Alpha's Daughter" Midnight points out. Luckily for Carl the King isn't lected by her aura and he places a hand on her shoulder to get her attention, slowly dissolving her aura.

"Morgan, can you explain this to us?" the King asks. "Friday Captain Moura went to get our order from the kitchen, she didn't wear her jacket as it was our time off and she ran into Commander Carl. He blocked her way and told her he wanted her naked, on all fours in his room in an hour. Moura refused and he threatened that if she wasn't there he would report her today to the King. I wonder how many f Were reported by a Commander for bogus reasons because they refused to sleep with them." She says as she keeps her eyes on Carl and I know that by the end of the day the King has questioned every Commander, including me.

The door to the meeting room opens and two Warriors walk in to grab Carl of the floor, they haul him off to the dungeons. Everyone stares at Morgan as the door closes again, "After this meeting is over I will have a one on one conversation with each of you, Commanders. I will find out if anyone of you ever used these same tactics and the consequences will be severe." The King says.

Casimir asks Morgan how Moura is doing and I smile when I hear that her Mate was able to calm her down. We sit down to start our meeting and Elder Larson places the files that were meant for Carl in front of Morgan, looks like she will have enough work for the entire week. "Commander Morgan, because this is your first meeting I will explain a few things." The King says but she tells him to proceed, that she is aware of how these meetings work. There are two files in front of him and he grabs the first one, a case that got resolved with an unusual result. It was a case that my unit worked on and I see surprised looks on everyone's faces when they hear how we resolved the matter.

The second file is also a case my unit worked on, but we hadn't been the first unit to try and we didn't manage to find a solution either. Two Packs are fighting over a piece of land connected to their territories, but neither Alpha is willing to compromise and we are waiting on the first report of casualties.

"Your Majesty, how long has this been going on?" Morgan asks and she gets told that this has been going on for two years already. She asks the King which Packs it concerns and I can almost hear the wheels in her head turn when he tells her it involves Red Forest Park and Silver Dawn Pack.

"One more question, Your Majesty. What reason did they give for wanting that piece of land?" She asks and I am surprised none of us ever asked that question. The King looks through the file, but I already know what his answer will be to her, "There is no reason in the file and my unit never thought of asking that question." I answer.

Amir confirms my answer and Morgan asks if she can handle the case. The King hands it to her without asking a question and I think she might be able to resolve the matter. After the meeting is over Morgan walks out of the room with a stack of files in her hands and I know I will not be seeing her until our next meeting.

Morgan

I still don't understand where my Alpha aura came from, but it was amazing to see the piece of shit. cowering on the floor. I know we will never see Carl again and I really hope that no other Commander ever pulled this stunt, because I doubt the King will take it easy on them.

Looking at the files I am holding I know our first visit will be to Silver Dawn Pack, but before we leave we will go through the other files to see who goes where after our first assignment. I smile when I see everyone waiting in the living room on the top floor and the first thing I tell them is about my apology.

"Okay, the King is going to question every Commander Reason for that is because I knocked out Carl and threatened his life if he ever tried it again, he is currently in the dungeons." I say and Moura thanks me for taking care of the Asshole. "No need to thank me, it is my job as your Commander to look out for you and that goes for each and every one of you."

I hand out the files to my team Captains and ask them to take a look at them, "I want you to tell me which team will be best suited to handle it." I say before I start reading the file on our first assignment and I can see that both units tried their best to resolve it, but they forgot to ask the important questions.

An hour later I hand the assignments to the best suited teams, "Our first assignment will be a unit assignment, two Packs are after the same piece of land to add to their territory and neither Alpha is willing to make a compromise. I want to know how long that territory has been vacant, I want to know what the reason for wanting the territory might be.

We will head out there and ask both Alphas to join us at the territory they are after, we will listen to both sides. After that I will give them a solution to their problem, if they don't accept it I will inform the King and let him deal with it. As King he can order them to accept the solution we provide, but it will always be a last resort." I tell them.

We all pack a bag, knowing we won't be home for a few days and I see Flora place something between the door of our wing before she locks it, I ask her what she did. "A few of us have this feeling that someone has been entering our wing, it started about a week ago and I want to know if our feelings are correct." She answers me.

She explains she placed a card between the door and it is still in place when we get back they had been mistaken, but if it isn't we need to think about what to do next. "Good thinking, but next time come talk to me. I tell her and we head out to the SUVs, heading out to Silver Dawn Pack.

An hour before we reach the territory we make a stop at a diner and while we enjoy our meal we talk about what Danica and Orson discovered. We use our mind-link because we don't want anyone to overhear us and I have all the answers I need to talk to the Alphas, also have the solution for this dispute.

Our first stop in Silver Dawn Pack, I get out of the SUV to walk over to the guards at the gate, "Tell your Alpha to be at corner of your north-east border in an hour, no excuses." I say and I walk away before he can answer me. I get back into the SUV to drive to Red Forest Pack.

At Red Forest Pack 1 give the guard my message for the Alpha to be at the corner of their north-west border in an hour and again I don't wait for an answer, getting back in the SUV to head to the territory they are fighting over. I am leaning against the hood of the SUV and every now and then I look at my watch, time is ticking away. As we pulled up I told Moura to contact Elder Emmett and to tell him the current situation, to inform him that I would appreciate some backup. Minutes later he responded that Commander Jaylen and Amir were on their way with their units, but that I was still in charge of the assignment.

I am starting to lose patience with these Idiots, they only have seconds left to show up and by the way their Warriors are acting I know they are going to test my patience. Time is up." Beck says in my head and I push myself away from the SUV. Before I can take a step I hear multiple SUV approaching and I know my backup just arrived.

"Commander Morgan, Amir and I will stay in our vehicles. This is your assignment." I hear Commander Jaylen say and soon their units get out of their SUVS to join my Unit. I take two steps towards the border, "Inform your Alphas that their time is up, I will inform the King that both Alphas gave up their claim to the territory." I say before I turn my back on them.

Every unit member is staring at me in confusion, but I know that I have the law on my side and it seems that these Alphas don't know our laws that well. I hear commotion behind me and as I turn around I see two huge Wolves skid to a halt at the borders, both shift back to their Human forms.

"Not much to be proud of." I say through the mind-link and I hear everyone chuckle at their expense. "Alphas, you are both late. I gave you an hour and both of you decided to ignore me. By law that means you both give up your claim and that makes this an easy assignment for me. Next time a Commander of the King shows up I suggest you be on time and I suggest you wear some clothes next time. I wouldn't show my inadequacy to the world." I say before I turn on my heel, but before I have taken a step a roar tells me that they will attack and I allow Amra to take over control. Amra turns towards both Packs and she releases a mighty roar, shaking the ground under our paws. Every Pack-member shows fear in their eyes, Amra is larger than their Alphas and she has a purple black fur. She shows them her teeth as she growls and slowly she takes a step forward, making the Alphas take a step back.

"Commander Morgan says she will rip you to shreds if you step outside your borders." Flora repeats the words I told her through the mind-link. "Neither one of you upheld the law, now you get to deal with the consequences. The King will be informed about your response to Commander Morgan explaining the law to the both of you." Flora continues.

your Warriors to stand down and resume normal border patrols, now." Flora says as she looks at Amra and everyone can tell that she is repeating my words. It takes about half an hour before the Warriors have stepped back from the borders and another half hour before the Alphas shift back to their Human forms, but this time they put sweats on.

Amra walks to the back of the SUV and I shift back to my Human form, I put on a new uniform before I walk back towards the Alphas. Both of them start speaking at the same time, but clamp their mouths shut when I hold up my hand and I look from one Alpha to the other and back again.

"Alphas, I don't care what you have to say. If you don't agree with what I have said I suggest you with the King, but I suggest you read the law before you do, I will make sure that I am there if you are ever allowed to present your case in front of the King." I say I have more to do, so get back to your Pack-house and get the fuck out of my sight." I growl.

The rest of the week passes quickly as we finish the rest of our assignments and I sigh in relief when I return on Sunday morning. Skylar is about to open the floor when I remember Flora's trick and I ask her to open the door slowly while I keep an eye on the spot where she placed the card.

Fuck, the card isn't there anymore and we are the only ones in the building. I send a message to Flora to tell her where I found the card and in seconds my phone rings, "I knew we hadn't imagined it, someone has been sneaking into our wing." Flora says the moment I answer my phone.

I walk around every floor and every room, but one by one I eliminate them and I wonder who was here. and why. Danica follows me into my room with my bag when I see my world turn black, slowly the darkness disappears and I see a male curled up on my bed. It is Commander Jaylen and he is clinging to my pillow.

I see the time on my alarm clock pass quickly and suddenly his eyes open but they are not his usual ice blue color, his Lycan is control. He gets out of my bed and I see him walking out of my bedroom. I hear someone softly saying my name and every time it gets repeated it becomes louder, until I am pulled out of the darkness.

I sit down on my bed to allow my brain to process what I saw and I soon realize I might have the gift of perception as well, but I am not sure what I am supposed to do now, Should I just forget about it or should I talk to Commander Jaylen about it?

Should I call Dad to find out if this is normal? "Never." Amra growls in my head, she still hates our parents for what they put me through and she hates their Lycans for not acknowledging her. I still hate them for what my family put me through and I don't know if I will ever get to a point where I am able to forgive them.

Danica has been sitting next to me the entire time without saying a word and I am grateful she allowed me to process everything without interrupting me. She won't ask questions until the others are back and Moura will understand immediately which gift popped up, I just hope she doesn't ask me if I have any other gifts.

"Commander, I want to ask you a question but I understand if you don't want to answer it and I want you to tell me if it is none of my business. What will you do if an assignment sends you home?" Skylar asks and I know she has been walking around with this question for a long time.

The first time I heard that thought running through her head I had almost asked her if she had lost her mind, but Amra was able to stop me and to point out that she didn't ask the question out loud. I have had time to think about it, but I still don't have an answer and with that I mean an answer for her or myself.

"I don't know, Skylar. I have been asking myself that question too, but so far I haven't found an answer and I think we will have to wait for that day to arrive before have an answer." I say and I really hope I will know what to do if that day ever arrives. About an hour before dinner every member of my uni has returned to the Academy and Danica doesn't waste time when she tells Flora that I know who the intuder is. "Why do you think that Morgan knows who the intruder is?" Flora asks and Danica tells them what happened when I walked into my bedroom.

"The gift of perception." Moura mumbles and we all just stare at her, she will tell us whatever she knows about this gift. "A Wolf or Lycan that has the gift of perception can relive something that happened, whether it is in a room or outside: Most call it reliving memory and in all most ever known case the memory can't be older than twenty four hours.

If Morgan relived a memory it happened within the past twenty four hours, she will be able to feel how the people she watches are feeling and she can hear what they are saying. There isn't much known about what it does to the Wolf or Lycan that relives the memory, so it might be best if someone is with her at all times.

What I do know is that a memory can be summoned or it can happen without warning. How often has this happened, Morgan?" I hear Moura ask after she has told us what she knows. "This was the first time, but I doubt our intruder is aware of what he did. From what saw his Lycan was in control and all he did was sleep on my bed." I respond.

I decide to not tell them who it is, I need to think if I am going to confront him or not. After all he is unaware of what he did, but I can't think of a reason why his Lycan would take control like that. I have read a lot of books growing up and I have learned that a Wolf or Lycan can take control over his Human, but the Human will always find out about it.

"That is true, but how long will it take before Jaylen finds out what his Lycan did or why he took control." Amra says. Damn, she is right about that. It might take a long time before Jaylen has figured out that his Lycan took control or that he spend the night on my bed. 902

I stare at the ceiling, still not believing that I had a good night's sleep for once. I try to remember the last time I slept through the night, but I know it has been over fifteen years and I also know what caused it. The only thing I am not sure about is when it exactly started and no matter how often I go back to those memories I can't find the starting point.

It all started after my Father came home from one of his trips with the King, my Mother had left us years before and Father had finally come to terms with her rejecting him. They had been together for almost thirty years, but my Mother wasn't willing to give up on other men and Father had finally put his foot down.

Either she chose him and gave up on other men or she could reject him but she wasn't allowed to take me with her, without thinking about it twice she rejected him. I was seventeen at the time and understood perfectly that she had been waiting for Father to give her an ultimatum, but she hadn't counted on me siding with my Father.

After Mother left I helped Father in any way I could with his job and after almost five years he had become - the man I once knew, my Father. Before he left with the King he told me that he hoped that one day he nd someone he could spend the rest of his life with and I told him he should just keep his eyes open for her.

Father had met a She-wolf while attending a meeting with a few Alphas that had numerous attacks by Rogues, she was the younger Sister of one of those Alphas and they had gotten along great. The King had invited her for a visit a few weeks later, but somehow she had convinced Father that she should accompany them back to the Palace.

One of the rooms in the guest wing was prepared for her and at first she had been nice and polite, but after two days Father moved her into a room on our floor in the Royal wing. At first I didn't think much of it, but after a while I saw a change in my Father and I even pointed it out to the King.

Around that same time my sleepless nights started, for some reason I would wake up at least twice a night and I never found out what woke me up. She got pregnant and a month before I turned twenty three I got a baby Brother, Dalton. He was a very easy baby, sleeping through the night from the start and the only times he would cry was when he was hungry or if I handed him back to Father.

Father was over the moon with his second Son, but Lynah was not happy with him referring to Dalton as his second Son. Neither one of us understood why she didn't like it, but in hindsight it made perfect sense. During the day I would follow Father around to learn everything I needed to learn to take over from him. one day and in the evenings I would be with Casimir and the rest of my friends.

They knew about my sleepless nights and after a year of two Casimir suggested placing a hidden camera in my room. At first I had laughed at him, but after a few weeks I had told him to put it up and the next evening he told me that is was done.

That night I wen-through my evening routine as every other night and I linked Casimir every time I woke up, making sure he wrote down the times for us. Midnight growls in my head, he hates reliving those memories and I can't blame him. My world got turned upside down when the truth came out.

Because after I woke up I linked Casimir and told him wanted to see the footage that evening. After dinner we went to Casimir's room and what we saw left us all stunned. Lynah walked into my room just before I woke up, but she hid inside my closet and she didn't come out until I was asleep again.

I had turned to Casimir and told him that that was impossible, I had never smelled her scent in my room. We watched the rest of the footage in silence and a part of me wishes I had never found out the truth, but another part of me is glad we found out the truth that night. "Let's make sure we have everything we need to proof what she did." Casimir had said and we talked about what to do next for a few more hours. I can guarantee you that I was reluctant to go to sleep that night, but Ace, one of the Kingdom's future Deltas, had the solution for me.

We had a movie night in my room and even though Lynah entered my room that night, she left the moment she saw Ace and Tristan there as well. Tristan's Mother was the first one to find out the truth. because we needed her help with the first part of our plan and as I followed Father around she took care of her part. Just before dinner Tristan told y that we had what we needed and Casimir asked his Father to invite everyone to their floor after dinner. The King did what Casimir had asked without asking for an explanation, he knew his Son good enough to know it was important and after dinner we all followed the King up to their floor.

Casimir had made sure he was the last one to enter and as soon as everyone had taken a seat he started talking, "Dad, we have uncovered a rather twisted matter. Jaylen has had trouble sleeping through the night for a long time now, but he could never find out what woke him up." Casimir had said, while Tristan, Emilio and Deacon placed themselves behind him.

"With Jaylen's permission a hidden camera was placed in his room to find out what wakes him a few times a night." Lynah looked very scared when she heard him say that and we all knew why. "It turns out it wasn't a what but a who that woke him, someone that can hide their scent would enter his room and wait until he fell asleep again.

This is where it gets twisted, because this person took something from Jaylen without his permission and I know why." He said as he looked at Lynah, but it wasn't Lynah that responded. "Please tell me that he is not implying what I think he is." My Father whispered as he looked at Lynah and Dalton, but even if she tried. to deny it Casimir had the proof in his hand.

"When I didn't get pregnant after the first time we slept together I took some of your sperm to a friend of mine and she told me you couldn't get me pregnant no matter how many times we would have sex. I wanted to have a Pup and after I met Jaylen I knew I had found a way to have a Pup and make you believe it was yours.

Jaylen is a young male with natural urges, so it was easy getting from him what I needed in his sleep and I enjoyed what I did to Jaylen. So I kept going back again and again, after Dalton was born I decided to try for a second Pup and I succeeded." Lynah said as she looked from Dalton to me and I am glad the King was sitting next to me or Midnight would have ripped her to pieces.

Lynah had taken my sperm to impregnate herself with the help of her friend and four months later she had given birth to Thora, a tiny female copy of me. The King took her rights as a parent away from h and Father and I raised Dalton and Thora. They both call me Dad and three years ago I told them the truth about their Mother, both of them throwing a tantum of rage.

They know why I stay at the Academy, but both of them wish I would be home more often and I enjoy our just before they go to bed. They are my Pups and I wouldn't trade them for anything in the world, I wish my fated Mate was their biological Mother.

Dalton knows that even though he is my first born he will not take over my position as Royal Gamma, that position is for my first born with my fated Mate and I pray to the Goddess every night that she will accept me when she hears about Dalton and Thora.

Other than a few growls as I went down memory lane Midnight has been awfully quiet, he didn't even respond when I asked him how it was possible that I slept through the night. Normally he would go over everything with me, just to see if we could figure out what changed.

He just lies there in the back of my head, eyes closed and a stupid grin on his face and even that thought doesn't get a response from him. "Damn it, Midnight. You know why I slept through the night, you know what changed. Tell me what happened." I yell at him in my head, but he just gets up to turn his back on me.

Even my unit can tell something is up when I walk into the living room, I am not my usual cheerful self and Tristan asks me what is going on, "I don't know, I actually slept through the night for once and Midnight seems to know why. However, he won't tell me and even though I am grateful I slept an entire night I hate the fact that I don't understand why." I answer him.

The entire room is quiet and I know each of them is trying to figure out if they can come up with a reason, but I doubt they will be more successful than I was.

With my entire unit returning throughout the day it was noisy and chaotic all day long, dinner was even noisier than usual with everyone talking about my new gift and I chuckle when Orson asks which gift will pop up next. Danica got a lot of horrified looks when she said that she hoped I would get the gift of hearing thoughts.

Waylen had everyone laughing their asses off when he said, "No, Goddess. Please don't grant her that gift, my life will be over if she gets that." Waylen is one of the males that pops into my head at times with his thoughts and I can probably make him turn to every shade of red with what I have heard, not that I will make him that uncomfortable.

The evening was spend by most of my unit in their room, talking to family members or friends and those of us that didn't have anyone to call or didn't want to call anyone sat in the living room as we discussed the past week. Normally those that still have family and friends they are in contact with will visit them on weekends, if we have the weekend off that is.

By midnight everyone was in their rooms and fast asleep, except for me as I tried to figure out what to do about Jaylen and what to do about my family. After my morning run I walked back into our building and 1 heard voices coming from the living room, Jaylen's unit was sitting around. "Goodmorning, Commander." I hear a female voice say behind me.

I turn around to see one of Jaylen's Captains standing in the doorway, "Goodmorning. Captain." I reply, but other than that I don't say a word and she looks at me with a smirk on her face. I wonder which of the Elders she slept with to become Commander." I hear her think and my first instinct is to grab her by the throat, but I know I will expose my secret if I do that.

"Something I can help you with?" I ask her when she keeps quiet and I see anger flashing through her eyes. "Not really. I was just wondering what you did to become a Commander." She says and I know that Jaylen's unit heard her words, after all that was her intention. I smile at her before I say, "I pay attention when others talk, I ask questions when I want to know something and I actually read books. Maybe you should try that someday and maybe then you can climb the ladder to become a Commander." Before I turn on my heel and walk up the stairs to my unit's wing.

After taking a shower and getting dressed I grab the files with our assignments and head over to the main. building. After our meeting with the King we will have to report to him one by one on our assignments and I get to inform him that all of the assignments worked out just fine.

I am the first one to enter the meeting room and I see the smile on Casimir's face drop when he sees who entered the room. "Do you think he was expecting someone else to show up before me? I ask Amra after I have greeted the King and Crown Prince.

A few minutes after I sit down Jaylen walks in and he has a huge smile on his face. He is about to say something when he sees me sitting in the room and he clamps his mouth shut before he greets the King and Crown Prince as well. "Looks like Casimir isn't the only one that doesn't like the fact that you showed up early." Amra states.

About ten minutes later the other Commanders show up and after they have greeted the King and Crown Prince they sit down in their seats. "Goodmorning. I hope you all had a good week and that most of the assignments got dealt with." The King says before he turns his attention to me and asks how my first assignment went.

"It went very well, I did call for backup though. Both Alphas had stationed a large group of Warriors on their northern border and I didn't want anyone to get jured or worse. I gave each Alpha an hour to show up at their north border, but neither one of them was there when the hour was up and according to the law it meant they gave up their claim.

Not that they had a claim to begin with, but that is beste the point at the moment. Both Alphas made at threatening move towards me and I allowed Amira to take control, while Flora told them what I said through the mind-link. I also informed them that if they disagreed with me that they should take it up with you, Your Majesty.

However, I warned them to read the law first and that if you would ever grant them to present their case that I would be there. Oh, and I might have insulted their manhood." I say and Amir bursts out in laughter. The King looks from Amir to me and then to Jaylen and Jaylen tells him what happened when the Alphas finally did arrive. Which results in every Commander choking on their laughter and it takes a while for us to settle down.

"Morgan, what did you mean when you said they had no claim to begin with?" Casimir asks. "That piece of land belongs to Crescent Moon Pack, both Alphas should have been very aware of that and I wondered why they thought they could claim it. Crescent Moon uses that part of their territory for ceremonies, like the Alpha or Luna ceremony.

Other than that it is used for educational purposes, for Pups to learn about the ceremonies that take place there. Pups learn what to expect during a ceremony, what is expected of them during a ceremony and so on." I answer him and I am met with silence.

"Then why did they both claim the territory, Morgan? Jaylen asks and I am a little annoyed at the fact that he doesn't use my title as he does with other Commanders. "Commander Jaylen, none of you asked the right questions in the past two years and none of you took the time to even check if they could claim the territory." I say as I look at him, showing him I am not amused.

"Crescent Moon Pack hasn't needed to use it for ceremonies in over four years, even though it still gets used regularly for educational purposes. Both Alphas took over three years ago, both Packs lost their former Alphas and Lunas during the same Rogue attack and neither one of them has kept their Fathers Beta and Gamma around.

If they had it might have never gotten this complicated, they might have never tried to take a piece of territory that belongs to another Pack. I also have the answer as to why they didn't want to accept the compromise you and Commander Amir suggested, they both blame the other Pack for losing their parents.

Next time make sure you look at every angle before you head out for an assignment, Commander Jaylen." I say before I hand the King my file and Casimir has a smirk on his face as he looks at Jaylen. "Seeing the fact we have no other unusual files to discuss I suggest we start with going over your assignments from the past week. Commander Morgan, please follow me." the King says as he gets out of his seat.

Jaylen

I knew the King would save my assignments for last and I know he will give me hell for the disrespect I showed Morgan. We always refer to the other Commanders as Commander, but for some reason I couldn't use that title with Morgan and I have this feeling she will never allow me to address her by just here name when we are not in the presence of the King and Crown Prince.

The moment the door closes behind me I am looking a two pissed off faces, "What the fuck, Jaylen." Casimir growls and I tell them that I have no excuse, none other than that it didn't feel right. "I can't explain it in any other way. I know how our protocol works during meetings, but I just couldn't get it out of my mouth." I say. Finished

King Damon asks if I didn't get to spend time with Dalton and Thora, that usually is a reason for me to be distracted enough to forget about protocol sometimes. "No, I actually had a great day with them yesterday. But something did happen this weekend that has me puzzled." I say and I tell them about how I woke up Sunday morning.

"Well, we can rule one thing out." King Damon replies and both Casimir and I look at him. "You didn't spend the night with your fated Mate, she will be the only one that will be able to put you to sleep like that. I haven't had a decent night sleep since my Mate died and I know I never will until I find Ty second change Mate." King Damon explains and Casimir and 1 both just stare at him.

Casimir asks me a few questions, but I don't have an answer to any of them and soon we return to the assignments I had in the past week. Most of our assignments are little disputes between Packs or Pack- members and in most cases we can wrap them up in an hour or two, but sometimes there is an underlying issue.

Those cases usually last longer, but this week we had easy cases throughout the entire week and I had even taken a few cases out of Amir's hands. He had a few tougher cases and had asked if my unit could take on some of his smaller assignments, which my unit was more than willing to do.

Before they leave Casimir asks me if he should install another camera and I smack him on the back of his. head before we part ways, laughing.

I only see Morgan during our meetings with King Damon, other than that we don't cross paths and time she needs backup she asks for Amir's unit. It is annoying the hell out of me, because a part of me wants to apologize for not following protocol and the her of me part still refuses to call her Commander.

She treats me the same as the other Commanders, but I know that her unit started training with Amir's unit a few months ago and Midnight has been in a foul nood ever since. He won't tell me why it bothers him so much and the only time he is pushing forward during our meetings with King Damon, my Lycan is starting to drive me up the wall.

In the past four months I have woken up a few times after sleeping through the night and I haven't been able to find out why. Midnight isn't helping much either, he ignores me most of the time and when he pushes forward he just stares at Morgan.

In two weeks King Damon will be visiting a few Packs and he will announce it at today's meeting that my team and I will accompany him, he always announces a few weeks ahead of time. Just so the other Commanders know that my other unit members might call them if they run into trouble, I chuckle when I realize that this will be the first time Morgan will hear she has an addition to her unit for a week.

I walk into the meeting room and like every other time Morgan is already there. She sits in her usual spot with her files in front of her and when she looks at me he has a smirk on her face, "Goodmorning, Commander Jaylen." She says and I grumble something under my breath as I pass her to greet King Damon and Casimir.

Amir has the same kind of smirk on his face when he greets me and sits down in the seat on the other side, of Morgan, Midnight growling softly in my head. They talk about their training schedule from last week and I am surprised to hear that Amir asked Morgan to take some of his assignments, sounds like those two are really getting along.

King Damon asks for everyone's attention and we all look in his direction before he starts speaking, "Two weeks from today I will leave for an annual visit to some of the Packs in my Kingdom and as every time I will take a team with my as an extra protection detail. Morgan, I will explain this to you as this is the first time you are hearing about it.

I always take a team from one of the units with me, they hear more than I do or more than my Royal Guards do. I rely on that team to report everything they heard to me, I want to be able to form a clear picture of the Alpha and his Pack. Not just the image they try to show the outside world." King Damon says. Morgan

As King Damon tells me why he takes a unit team with him the smirk on my face gets bigger, a few days ago Waylen came to me with an interesting story. One of Amir's unit members had told Waylen that on Monday the Commanders would be informed that King Damon would be going on a trip and that he always announces which team will accompany him a few weeks ahead of time.

The guy had told Waylen that he always selects Jaylen nd his team and Waylen as curious as he is had asked why Jaylen, when the guy had told him because he always choses a team from the best unit Waylen almost peed his pants laughing his ass off. A few other members of Amir's unit had been listening and one of them had asked Waylen what the hell was so funny. "Do you think that Commander lavlens has the best unit? Wavlen had asked and all of Jaylen might have had the best unit for over a decade, ut right now my unit will give him a run for his money. When I had asked Amir about it he had confirmed what Waylen had been told me, but like the members of his unit he laughed his ass off when I asked him the same question Waylen had asked them.

here we are, waiting for King Damon to tell us who will accompany him this time and I am not so sure it will be Jaylen as usual. "Thank you for explaining, Your Majesty," I say once he is finished explaining. "This trip will take me to Crescent Moon Pack. I want to talk to the Alpha about his neighbors. After that I will visit with Silver Heart Pack and the last Pack on my list asked for witnesses about a year and a half ago, but on the morning of the ceremony they called it off.

I never got a clear answer as to why they called it of or why they made the request in the first place, but I want answer. So my last stop during this trip will be at Blue River Pack." He says and now I am really hoping he will still chose Jaylen to join him, I am not sure I am ready to face my family.

"As always it will mean that the Commander that will accompany me will leave behind his or her other unit members, I expect every Commander to help them out if they call upon you. I hope your unit can manage a week without you, Morgan." He says and I hear soft growling in my head, looks like Jaylen doesn't like the fact that I got picked by King Damon.

"I think they will be glad they don't have to listen to me for an entire week, I am afraid the other Commanders might quit when they find out that my unit can do without a Commander." I say with a smile. on my face and I see a few Commanders smiling back. They know my teams are very capable and we rarely ask for backup.

My head is spinning at the thought of going home, but make sure that no one can see the turmoil that is going on in my head. "Morgan, that also means your unit will have a light workload this week and the entire week off before we leave. King Damon says. "These files contain all the information on the Packs we will visit, I want you and your team to read them and if you have any questions Elder Larson will provide you with answers."

I take the files from him and as I sit down again I can tell that Amra is a bit agitated, but she doesn't say a word. I get called in to King Damon' office last and we go over every assignment from the past week. He smiles when I hand him the assignments that had been assigned to Amir's unit.

"Commander Amir already told me you took a few of his assignments, how did they go?" He asks and I go through each file with him. As I walk back to our building I ask Amra what is wrong with her and once we are on our way up the stairs she says, "The King doesn't know from which Pack you are, I doubt he would have given you that assignment without asking if he knew.

You read the information Moura has on our bloodline, I think they asked for witnesses to prevent you from having a future like our ancestors. I still don't like what happened to you, but I am starting to understand a few things and I think it is time they knew where you went." Amra says and ask her why she thinks King Damon is unaware of my birth Pack.

"If they had reported you missing they would have provided a picture of you and one of the Elders would have recognized you. Ife would have informed the King and he would have asked you questions before informing our parents." Amra states and I know that she is right.

My entire unit is waiting for me and they look surprise when they see I don't have that many files in my hand, "King Damon has decided to take me and my team with him." I say as I place the files on the table and instead of grabbing them as they usually would they all just stare at me.

"Our last stop will be Blue River Pack" I say as I sit down and for a while no one says a word. After half an hour Flora is the first to grab a file and soon she hands to Beck, indicating it is perfect for him and his team. "I am heading to the Archives, I need some additional information." He says and Amra tells me to go with him.

Once we are in the Archives she tells me to look for the section where they keep the missing person reports and I understand why she wants me to find it, she wants to know if they reported me missing or not. "Ihat do we do if they didn't report us missing?" I ask Amra and for a moment she is quiet.

"If they didn't report you missing it might not be because they don't care, it might be because they do care. What if that report found its way to the wrong person?" She asks and a shiver runs down my spine when I think about that possibility.

After walking around for a few minutes I find the section I am looking for," Fuck, Amra. There are a lot of files in here and some date back hundreds of years, does that mean they were never found?" I ask and I open a file that is on top of a desk, my eyes widen as I read from which Pack this report came.

I decide to take it with me and on a sheet next to the computer I sign my name and which file I took with me. I keep walking through rows of filing cabinets and every once in a while I open a drawer to look at the files inside. It takes me an hour to find out how the filing system works and I quickly find the filing cabinet that would hold my missing person report, if they ever reported it.

Chapter 235 Not Giving A Damn Jaylen

When it was my turn to go over my assignments from the past week Midnight was one furious Lycan, neither one of us understood why King Damon decided to take her along instead of us. The moment 1 walked in I knew I wouldn't like his answer, but I was unsure if there was an answer that could satisfy me.

"Sit down, Jaylen." King Damon ordered and I quietly obeyed, I couldn't go against our King. "Morgan has shown me she has a brain and knows how to use it. If it wasn't for Blue River Pack I might have chosen you, but I need her to figure out what is going in within that Pack and I doubt you would be able to come up with the questions she does ask."

I know he didn't mean to sound insulting, but it did. Instead I asked him what was bothering him about that Pack. "Over two years ago I received a request to send witnesses to a ceremony that would be held almost a year later, they didn't tell me why and I asked Elder Larson if he could think of a reason for their request.

He thought it might have something to do with their Alpha's bloodline, but when we looked at his Pups we found out that they have seven male Pups. Only a female born into that bloodline would have called for their request. King Damon had said and both Casimir and I had just stared at him.

He explained to us what was so rare about that bloodline and the more he told us the more I was convinced that Elder Larson was correct. With Elders there to witness the event it would be impossible for her Mate to abuse her or to take advantage of her gift and Casimir had asked what kind of gift they are known for.

"The gift can be any gift from the Goddess, their Pack's Archive holds records of seven females being born into the bloodline. Our Archives go back a lot further and we have found records of eleven females, but all of them committed suicide because of their Mates." King Damon had answered and we both told him that we believed it would have been a possibility.

My mind is still on that conversation from hours ago and I even talked to my own team about it, I need some insight before it makes me go insane. The rest of the week our assignments keep me busy and I don't even have the Sunday of to visit my Pups, but the calls in the evenings make up for a lot.

Monday morning comes to fast and I growl when my alarm clock wakes me. I hope we get enough assignments to keep us busy and to keep my mind of the fact that I won't be accompanying King Damon on this trip. In the little spare time I had I looked into the bloodline of Alpha Tate and what I found was rather unsettling.

I am rather surprised to see Morgan in the meeting room, after all she has the week off and that is when I see the files in front of her. There are a lot more than what she walked out with a week ago and I wonder which Commander asked for her help.

Midnight has pushed forward again to look at Morgan and I wonder what the fuck his obsession is with her, he just growls at my thoughts. She is talking to Casmir about their upcoming trip and both barely greet me as I walk past them. I greet King Damon before I sit down next to Morgan, but she still ignores Jile.

Casimir makes room for Amir the moment he shows up and I see Morgan giving me a strange look, but I doubt Midnight growled out loud as no one else is looking at me. Ever since Morgan joined as Commander there are no assignments left unresolved and our Monday morning meetings have become rather short.

King Damon takes Morgan with him when he heads for his office and the rest of us patiently wait until they are done, the moment the door of his office opens Midnight pushes forward again. If I didn't know any better I would almost say that she is our Mate and that he will do everything to keep an eye on her.

The only reason I know that she isn't our Mate is that he didn't push forward on any Full Moon to claim her and he keeps away from her other than looking at her during our meetings. She would have claimed us if we were Mares, but she hasn't given me any indication that we are Mates and I doubt she could hide it this well.

Morgan

When I walked out of King Damon' office after our last meeting Jaylen was so deep in thought that he didn't hear the King call his name and after calling his name a second time the King called another Commander to his office. I can see his Lycan near the surface and I feel that he is watching me, just like he does during every meeting.

I know they have been in my room quite a few times over the past few months, but I haven't relived a memory again. I know they have been in there because Amra was able to smell his scent and it happens every time we are at training after his unit has returned early in the morning from an assignment, no matter how I turn it I still don't understand it.

Our week off was nice as we spend it playing games and sharing stories about growing up. It didn't surprise anyone that I always followed my Father or one of my Brothers around, but I made a few jaws drop when I told them I had to work for anything Dad didn't consider essential and Chaya said it finally made sense I didn't wear anything expensive.

I heard some stories about the Alpha's Daughters in their Packs and I know they are the types of females Ashton always ran from, my other Brothers always made fun of it until they turned eighteen. I told them about Landon and his encounter with a female like that. Landon had just turned eighteen and it was his first trip with Dad to another Pack. Every one of my Brothers had warned him about the Alpha's Daughter, but Landon had been cocky and told them that it wouldn't happen to him. After Landon's visit to that Pack I learned a little more about this Alpha's Daughter and why she tried so damn hard to trick males.

I didn't remember her name, but my unit decided that should call her Pamela and that is what I did. Pamela was a beautiful female and growing up with everyone within the Pack telling her that, making her believe she was better than everyone else. At the age of sixteen she had set her eyes on their Beta's Son and she got him eventually, but a month later he had found his fated Mate.

She set her mind on another male and history repeated itself, over and over again. By the time she was nineteen she had slept with a lot of Pack-members, but none of them stayed with her long and every time she had to watch them find their fated mate.

Pamela had worked her way through every High-ranking member in her Pack and had started going after High-ranking visitors, but after she turned twenty one it had bit her in the ass. An Alpha was visiting with his second Son while his first born would arrive a little later due to a Rogue problem, she had taken an interest in the Alpha's Son and had made it pretty clear to everyone.

When the Alpha's first born Son had arrived she had given him a disgusted look, she assumed he was just a Warrior. That night was a Full Moon and at midnight she had been in bed with the Alpha's second Son. When her Mate found her she was in bed with his younger Brother and she told him she would never accept a Warrior as her Mate.

She asked for his name and had rejected him without thinking twice, the younger Brother had gotten out of the bed in the meantinie. Her Mate had accepted her rejection and used his full name and title to accept it, making her realize what she threw away. Ever since that day she tried to get an Alpha's Son as her chosen Mate, but no one ever took the bait. Flora had been shocked to hear the story and asked why it was so damn hard for some to wait for their fated Mate, which resulted in a full blown discussion on when you are in your right to reject your fated Mate. Moura and Beck just sat there, listening to the rest of us and laughing their asses off.

In the end we all agreed that a Mate that sleeps around should get rejected, but none of us would reject our Mate for not being a virgin and we also agreed that an abusive Mate should be rejected. Everyone promised the others that they would always tell them if their Mate fell into one of those categories, just to make sure none of us would end up with a "bad" Mate.

As far as I know every male and female in our Pack is waiting for their Mate, but I also know that not all of them are still virgins. My parents have always made it clear that they wouldn't accept Pack-members that slept around and I have heard the speech someone gets when they are about to cross that line in my parents' eyes.

My entire unit had looked at me in horror when I had repeated the speech I have heard my Mom or Dad give, each of them was glad they didn't grow up in my Pack or that they ever took it that far. If I understood everyone's stories correctly I am the only virgin in my unit, not that I give a damn about it.

Mom is a nervous wreck and Dad looks as if he can blow at any second. It has been that way ever since we received word that the King would be visiting us and we all know why he is coming to our Pack, he wants answers that Mom and Dad refuse to give him.

After we knew for sure that Morgan had left the territory we informed the Elders that the ceremony was postponed, but that we didn't know when the ceremony would take place. Elder Emmett had asked why it got postponed but Dad had refused to answer him and every once in a while Dad receives a message from the King asking why the ceremony wasn't rescheduled yet.

It has been over eighteen months since she left, but she never contacted us. Landon blew a gasket when Dad refused to file a missing person's report, but then he had asked Landon a question, "what if that report ends up on the desk of the wrong person?" Landon really lost his shit when he realized what could happen to Morgan.

Every weekend one of us leaves the territory with some Warriors and we try to find her but we don't even know where to start looking for her. All we found in the cottage were some groceries and her phone, but other than that everything that belonged to her was gone and the entire Pack blames themselves for not saying something earlier.

Mom responded to her disappearance by locking herself in her room, by neglecting her Luna duties and crying almost twenty four seven. Dad responded to her disappearance in a different way, he snapped at everyone and worked almost twenty four seven. An outburst from Fletcher almost four months after she left changed everything, Dad had snapped at him, for a reason I can't remember and Fletcher had gone off the deep end. "Have you lost your fucking mind, Dad? Everyone is affected by Morgan's decision, but it doesn't give you or Mom the fucking right to forget about your Pack or your other Pups.

We are all to blame for what happened and we deal with it the best we can. We don't need an unstable Alpha or Luna, so either the two of you snap out of it or step the fuck down." His Lycan had roared and that was the first time in my life I saw my Dad cry. It took Mom and Dad another week to snap out of it, but during that week we already noticed a chance in both of them and even though they still aren't the leaders or parents we had before Morgan left, they were. able to resume their lives.

We still don't understand how we missed all of it, how we didn't see that she was pulling away from her family and her Pack. Actually I should say that she was pushed away from us, because she tried to reach out to us. "Ashton, are the rooms ready for the King and his entourage?" Momasks and I nod my head. after I have checked my list.

I know she has already asked me that three times before, but I don't remind her I already answered her that question before. She has been asking questions again and again ever since we started preparing for the King's visit and I doubt it will stop until he arrives. Mom has been up since the break of dawn and she woke us all up half an hour ago, today the King will arrive. I am not sure who is more nervous Mom or Dad both of them know they can't lie to the King and we all know what he is going to ask them. Why didn't we reschedule the ceremony? That will be the first question the King will ask behind closed doors.

Our visit to Crescent Moon Pack was amazing, I already knew a lot about the Pack but now I have an even better understanding of their ceremonies. Their respect for the Mate-bond is very impressive, as is their respect for King Damon and Crown Prince Casimir. Silver Heart Pack was a totally different story, the Alpha was mostly unable to answer questions and had to rely on his Beta constantly. The rooms they gave to the King and Crown Prince weren't soundproof, but the rooms they gave to me and Faith were and I made the King and Crown Prince switch rooms with us.

We didn't inform anyone of the switch and that was a good thing. My team and I had taken the first shift in keeping an eye on the King and Crown Prince and we had just walked on to the floor where our rooms were when we heard a lot of groans and moans, it came from a room next to the room they gave to the King.

Danica had taken out her phone and recorded how I slowly opened the door to reveal the Alpha's Sister and the Alpha sitting on the bed. She kept repeating the words "Yes, Your Majesty" and "Please, Your Majesty" while the Alpha grumbled and mumbled, they didn't even notice that I stepped into the room.

Faith had warned the King and Casimir and both of them were standing behind me when the couple finally noticed that they weren't alone anymore. The King called in three Elders to investigate the Pack's history and the Alpha and his Sister were brought to the Palace to be placed in the dungeons.

That visit was rather interesting to say the least, I hope never come across people like that ever again. We spend the rest of our stay taking turns in keeping an eye on our Royals at night and during the day neither King Damon or Casimir were left alone, we didn't trust anyone in that Pack. King Damon told me to keep him company on the way to my birth Pack, he wanted to talk about what was bothering him. So here I am in the back of the King's SUV and as we leave Silver Heart Pack behind us he grabs an envelope.

"I received this over two years ago." He says as he hands the envelope to me and I slowly open it to find a letter inside; Your Majesty, we kindly ask you to consider our request. In eleven months we will hold a ceremony that hasn't been held in our Pack for a very long time and to prevent tragedy from striking we ask you to send at least one Elder to witness the ceremony. For safety reasons we can't explain this any further, but we will answer the Elder's questions on the day of the ceremony. With kind regards, Alpha Tate and Luna Giselle.

Mom and Dad were making arrangements for the ceremony that would be held on my seventeenth birthday, they asked the King for help. They were too busy planning for this life altering event, trying to make sure I would be safe and all it caused was for me to take off. King Damon starts telling me what he wants to know, but I can already answer that question for him, "Your Majesty, the ceremony got postponed because the guest of honor went missing." I say and Casimir asks me how I know, because according to him they didn't report a missing person's report.

"Of course they didn't, Your Highness. If that report had ended up on the wrong desk disaster could have struck, don't you agree?" I look at Casimir and I hear the King mutter, "Fuck" under his breath. "The reason I know is because the guest of honor was me." I ate and both of them just stare at me.

Suddenly King Damon starts laughing and both Casim and I stare at one and other while the King is laughing his ass off. We both wait until he has calmed down enough to tells us what was so funny, "Elder Larson and I ruled out that Alpha Tate's bloodline was the reason for the ceremony and the reason we ruled it out is that we assumed that Morgan was a male He says.

That's twice I have been mistaken for a male." I mumbac and Casimir chuckles as he realizes that his Father made the same mistake the Commanders had made. "Morgan, would you mind explain to us why you left your Pack?" King Damon asks and I tell him about the last year I lived in our territory Both males are furious by the time I am finished, but I tell them to calm down, "I know they messed up, but I am not sure how I would have responded if they had told me the truth. My abilities came gradually and are still growing. I don't think it would have made a difference if the ceremony was held, according to Amra I was born a week late and she arrived on the date I was supposed to be born.

I would have had my Lycan and my gifts on my seventeenth birthday and that ceremony wouldn't have made a difference what so ever. I can't tell you why they did what they did, but with everything I know today I doubt it was their intention. There is only one thing I might hold against them for the rest of their lives." I say and King Damon asks me what that is.

"Amra reached out to the Lycans of our parents and our oldest Brother, but none of them acknowledged her. I doubt I could ever forgive them for that." I say before I look out the window at the passing scenery. "Morgan, if Amra showed up a week early it might be the reason why they didn't acknowledge her. Their Lycans wouldn't expect her to be there or to be able to reach out to them.

They weren't ignoring her, she probably couldn't reach them because the bond wasn't there and it wouldn't have occurred until she was supposed to show up." King Damon says and Amra and I think about what we just discovered.

Amra pushes forward when I see our territory come into view and this is the first time in my life I am seeing our territory from a different perspective, it looks amazing. I look at the guards as we get closer to the gate and I am shocked by the way Hudson looks, Casimir seems to notice the change in me.

"What is it, Morgan?" He asks quietly and I tell him that the male talking to the Royal Gamma is Hudson. "Pup number five and he looks like he has been through hell and back." I whisper. Casimir tells me that that is normal if he has been worried about me all this time and I want to jump out of the SUV to wrap my cams around him.

Before I can give in to my urges Hudson has gotten into the SUV with the Royal Gamma and I watch the front porch as we approach the Pack-house. "They all look like shit." Amra says to me, "Morgan, put them out of their misery. Take your time to come to terms with what they did and why, but don't allow this to hurt any of you anymore." King Damon says and I nod my head as I open the door.

I step out of the SUV as I keep my eyes on Mom, but I have to stifle a smile when I realize that she doesn't recognize me. I cut my hair. I have a tan from all the time I spend outdoors and with the help of Skylar and Faith I learned to apply makeup. Not to mention that I am wearing my Commander's uniform and just stepped out of the King's SUV.

The moment I take a step forward Dad looks at me and I see tears rolling down his cheeks, "Morgan?" I hear him whisper and then Mom looks at me, Ashton is fast enough to catch her before she can hit the floor. Hudson wraps his arms around me and I hear him softly crying as I look around me at our Pack- members.

All of them have guilt written all over their land 1 understand that they blame themselves for what happened, not just my parents and siblings. Dad is the next one that wraps me in his arms and I let my tears fall for the first time since I woke up after my Sweet Sixteen. It takes a while before my entire family has hugged me and Ashton is the last one to hug me, whispering "I am sorry" in my ear over and over again. Ashton steps back and I hear Dad gasp as he looks at me, "You're a Commander in the King's Army?" Dad asks me. "Yes, Alpha Tate. She is a Commander in my Army and you can be very proud of your Daughter. I have never met someone like her in my life and that covers quite some years." King Damon answers. "Why don't we go to your office, Alpha Tate? I think there are a few things we need to discuss, what you tell your Pack after that is up to you."

My team follows us into the Pack-house, but Danica closes the door behind me and I know they will stand. guard outside. Mom pulls me down on the couch next to her and I know she wants to apologize, "Mom, I know you are sorry for what happened and I know none of you intended to hurt me.

Moura, one of my team Captains, has an obsession with unusual bloodlines and after my unit found out about my hearing she told me that some bloodlines have gifted Wolves or Lycans." I say and I tell them how she narrowed it down to two bloodlines and how Chaya figured out from which Pack I was.

"I know it is normal for females in our bloodline to get a gift from the Goddess when she turns seventeen, but apparently I am abnormal. Amra showed up a week early and we decided to leave when your Lycans refused to acknowledge her, even Titan didn't acknowledge her." A roar from Titan interrupts me.

"I knew something was wrong, but I couldn't figure it out. Amra, I am so sorry for hurting you. It might have felt to you as if we didn't acknowledve you but we were unable to sense you. I am so sorry." Titan says 1/3

"Thank you, Titan. We needed to hear that, even though King Damon already explained it to us." I say as I wrap my arms around his neck and after he sits down in his own seat I turn towards Dad, "I have the gift of hearing, which developed over night. I have the gift ofense, which developed within the following week.

I have the gift of hearing thoughts, which developed in that same week. I also have the gift of perception, but that didn't manifest itself until recently. I will not tell you how I found out about that one, just know that I have only gone through it once." I say and Dad stares at me with eyes as big as saucers.

Everyone starts talking at once and I just lean back in my seat as I listen to what everyone is saying. Do you remember what happened when you told Hudson what your Mate should look and be like?" Mom asks and the entire room goes deadly quiet while I am laughing my ass off.

Casimir gets up out of his seat and places himself between me and Mom, "Luna Giselle, will you please tell me what Commander Morgan is looking for?" He asks and Mom looks up and down before she says, "Well, she didn't describe you." And I know exactly what Casimir is thinking.

"She said he had to be taller than her Dad, he had to have Ashton's blond hair and Colton's ice blue eyes. He had to have Fletcher's sense of humor, he had to have Hudson's ability for cuddles and Landon's ability for loving her." Mom answers him and I know by looking at Dad, Ashton and Colton that she described. Jaylen to a T.

The look on King Damon' face tells me he came to the same conclusion, but when Casimir turns towards me I know he has realized it too. "I will explain this later to you, but note something is starting to make sense." Casimir says in my head, "You seem to have it all figure out, but what if your fated Mate had green eyes?" He asks.

"She'll reject him." My Brothers say in unison and Casimir gives me the same look Mom had given me when I gave her that answer, King Damon luckily understands it was a joke and he is in stitches. Dad smiles at me while Mom just shakes her head and I tell Casimir there are only two reasons why I would reject my Mate.

"If he is known for sleeping around or if he is known to be abusive, that is when I will reject my Mate and no one will be able to stop me." I say as I look at Casimir and he nods his head, "Those reasons I can understand, I would reject my fated Mate for the same reasons and I would like to see anyone try to stop me." He responds.

"Sweetheart, I want you to listen to me. You already told us that you know we never meant for the things that happened to happen, but unfortunately they did happen and there are no words to tell you how sorry we are for causing you to feel unwanted.

You were our Little Miracle and you still are, but you are also a Commander in the King's Army. If I could turn back time I would have done it in a heartbeat, unt I saw you again. Seeing you in your uniform and the way your team followed you, I think this is where you were meant to be. I hope you will visit us every change you get and I hope you will find your fated Mate one day, but you have outgrown this place." Mom

I think about Mom's words, she is right. I never would have taken those tests if things hadn't changed, I never would have left without talking to my parents. Asthon opens the door for an Omega to bring in some coffee and I smile when I see that there is a latte macchiato caramel on the tray she is holding, "That is one thing I do miss at the Academy, a nice latte macchiato with or without caramel." I say as I snatch it of the tray.

Casimir looks at me with a pout and I giggle as I turn the latte away from him, "Don't even think about it.

Your Highness. You saw what I did to former Commander Carl." I say as I look at him and he raises his hands in surrender. Landon asked me what I broke and King Damon asks him what he meant with that.

"Your Majesty, I believe all this could have been prevented if my baby Sister had just given in to her anger. Ashton is her senior by twelve and a half years, but ever he isn't stupid enough to piss her off. She has broken four noses, fourteen ribs, two wrists, one upper arm, three eye sockets, one ankle, one elbow and two legs among the six of us.

If she had taken a swing at anyone of us we would have known not to ignore her again and I can guarantee. you we would have asked her every single day if we did something wrong, until she would have knocked us out for asking that question every day." Landon answers

"Landon, you forgot four knees," I say and Casimir looks at King Damon, "Dad, I want her as my personal bodyguard during the Summer Gala and the Autumn Ball. At least she can break a few bones and get away with it." He says and I tell him he can count me in. I would like to see the looks on a few faces when I show up, I may not be a girly girl but there is one thing

It has been almost a week since King Damon left on his trip and at the end of every visit Casimir called me to tell me about the Pack and how the visit went. I should be annoyed because I am not with them, but hearing how Morgan is handling things makes me feel a bit better. It also might have something to do with the sleep I have been getting.

There hasn't been a single night that I woke up once and even Ace tells me I have been a nicer person for the past week. Casimir asked me about it during one of our calls and I told him how it had been amazing to get this much sleep. My phone ringing pulls me from my thoughts and I see that it is Casimir.

After I answer he tells me they will be staying at Blue River Pack until Sunday evening. I ask him why but he tells me he will inform me about it face to face and accept the fact that my friend is keeping secrets from me. "What if he found his Mate?" Midnight asks and I know that would be something he wouldn't tell me over the phone.

"It would be about damn time he found her, he has been waiting for over twenty years." I say to Midnight. It doesn't mean that King Damon will step down immediately, but it does mean that I am close to retirement from - the King's Army and I hate to admit it but I will miss this job.

It has taken me to every Pack in the Kingdom and it has shown me Wolves and Lycans at their worst, but in some cases also at their best. I have witnessed how Alphas and Lunas would be on their best behavior around King Damon and Casimir and their true colors if King Damon and Casimir weren't around to see their behavior.

I never really believed the stories about females that would do just about anything to get a High-ranking Mate or a better Mate, but Lynah should have been an eyeopener for me. I just decided to believe that not every female was like her, damn was I mistaken about that though. I think I have met Alphas' Daughters that were even worse than Lynah and that is saying a lot

It was during one of my first assignments that I found out the hard way that Lynah had been the lesser evil of some of the females I would meet during my career An Alpha had asked Elder Emmett for help, his Son was forced to take the Daughter of a neighboring Alpha as his Mate and the reason they had given was. that his Son had gotten the other Alpha's Daughter pregnant.

The Son had been adamant that he wasn't the Father, but a paternity test had said otherwise and both Packs had been ready to go to war. When we got there Both Alphas refused to enter the other's territory and they finally had agreed to meet a few miles outside their territories. I was given the results of the paternity test and when I had asked the nurse to explain to me how the testing works Tristan had taken a closer look at the nurse's background.

I had asked numerous questions to give Tristan as much time as I could and when he finally joined us he had asked the nurse what her Uncle had promised her to falsify the results. But we were no closer to the answer why and she refused to answer that particular question.

That was until another male showed up at the scene, he turned out to be the Pup's Father and the Alpha's other Son. At that moment I had even more questions and when he explained why she had tried to pass the Pup off as that of his younger Brother I wouldn't have blamed them for going to war.

She had been at a Ball his parents threw for unmated Pack-members and she had found him in his bed, but there hadn't been any lights on. She just crawled into his bed and they had slept together, but she had stopped him from marking her. She wanted that done during the ceremony that would take place a week later, but when she woke in the morning she had finally seen his face.

attack had costed him an eye and he was still recovering from the attack and she had seen most of the injuries he had sustained a few days earlier. When I asked her why she tried to force his younger Brother to become her chosen mate Midnight got pissed, she didn't want to be seen with a monster.

Then Ace had asked a question, "What if we had believed the paternity test was legitimate? Would you have accepted her?" He had asked and the Alpha and his Sons had started laughing their asses off. A Warrior had stepped forward to answer, because they were in no shape to do it themselves, "He would have shown her his mark, the mark I gave him a year ago."

Those Packs still don't get along, but I think it has more to do with the decision I made. We took the female with us to the Academy to make sure the unborn Pup would be safe and after giving birth the Pupt went to live with his Father, she is only allowed to see her Son if his Father is present. Which hasn't been that often, she still can't stand the sight of her former Mate. "I think it is more about the fact she can't stand to see him happy." Midnight growls and I know that he is right. This was one of the worst cases I had and I have seen males and females reject their Mate for different reasons, but most reasons I don't understand. The Goddess pairs us for a reason, she knows who is best suited for us and I for one will not argue with her.

History has taught us that in most cases a male or female that rejects their Mate doesn't get a second chance Mate, there are exceptions of course and those are the ones I support for rejecting their Mate. If a male or female get rejected by their Mate or if their Mate dies the Goddess always gives them a second. change Mate, but it can take years to find him or her.

The

past few days have been amazing, King Damon and Casimir have been able to walk around our territory without getting disturbed. Well, not by pushy females that is. The Pups in our Pack are a different story, but neither one of them seems to mind and I have caught Casimir playing hide and seek with them once or twice.

King Damon has enjoyed reading to our youngest Pups and both of them sit wherever they want during meals. Our Pack-members treat them with respect, but aren't afraid to ask questions either and King Damon and Casimir answer them as best they can. I even walked into the kitchen one time to find Casimir helping with the desserts for that evening and when I had thanked one of the Omegas for an excellent dessert he had asked with a little whine, "What about me?" King Damon had grabbed his phone to film my reaction, but I doubt Casimir got the response King Damon thought he would get.

I had gotten up from my seat to walk around the table and when I stood next to Casimir I had patted him on the head and said, "You did a great job too, Pup." Before I ran from the room of course with Casimir on my tail, I ran out the front door and made sure he saw went around the Pack-house. What Casimir didn't see was that I ducked behind a bush that stands at the corner of the Pack-house.

I waited until he passed me before I quietly made my way back into the Pack-house to enjoy the rest of my dessert, King Damon shared the video with me and told me he never had this much fun visiting a Pack. I have spent a lot of time talking with my parents and my Brothers about what happened and when Ashtont explained what they had been doing I actually felt bad for leaving. Mom, who can read me like a book, told me I had nothing to feel bad about and after we talked it all through Dad said it was meant to go this way. My future wasn't inside our Pack's territory and if I hadn't left I wouldn't have found a career that I love. Today we will be heading back to the Academy, but Dad asked if he could talk to us before we left and I have been wondering what that could be about. I follow Casimir into my Dad's office and I see concerned. looks on my Brothers faces, King Damon doesn't waste time but asks my Father to say what is on his mind as he sits down.

"Morgan, I know that you are aware of what happened to the last female in our bloodline. What you might not know is that that Pack is still waiting for the day a female is born into our bloodline again, I don't know how but they know that our seventh Pup isn't a Male and that you left Pack-territory. What we don't know is how they got the information or if they know where you went." Dad says.

Casimir asks if Dad found out when they figured all this out and Ashton gets up to retrieve an envelope from Dad's desk, "We received this almost two weeks ago." Ashton says as he hands it to King Damon. I think back on where I was two to three weeks ago, but I never left the Academy in those weeks.

Two weeks ago was my unit's week off, because of this trip with King Damon and the week before that the assignments had been easy ones. Waylen and Moura had suggested my team and I would stay at the Academy, giving me an extra week to come to terms with going home and even though we took some assignments from Amir I never left the Academy.

After King Damon has read the letter he hands it to me and Casimir sits down next to me so he can read it at the same time.

We know you did your best to hide from the world that your youngest Pup is a female, but your secret is out. We know that you never had the change to tell her about her gift and we will make her a part of our Pack, one way or the other.

Your ancestor robbed us from a long line of gifted females, but Morgan will take her place. We won't make the same mistake as our ancestor made, she will be kept under close watch. Don't try to warn her or anyone close to her, if you do we will not only come for your Daughter Shadow Rock Pack.

I stare at the letter for a moment before I start cussing and swearing, Casimir just wraps an arm around me and lets me rant until I have calmed down a little. "How did he know?" King Damon asks and I know he is asking me that question, but I tell him I don't have an answer.

"My unit didn't find out until after the try-out weeks and Nigel was long gone by then. No one in my unit has any contact with him, Nigel was an ass to most of them and the rest was ignored by him. Even if he had contact with one of them none of them would have told him, not after hearing from Moura what happened to my ancestors." I respond.

"I think I might have the answer." Dad says as he gets out of his seat. "Your Mother and I have always been very aware of this and that is why we never invited Packs to celebrations or took you with us. You look exactly like her." Dad says as he shows me a picture of a female and I could be looking at a picture of myself if it wasn't for the clothes she is wearing-

She is wearing a silver dress with sequins all over it, something I can't wear because they give me a horrible. rash and if Shadow Rock Pack has a similar picture Nigel would have recognized me immediately. "But why wait this long to send this letter?" Casimir asks, "Nigel was always complaining about his Father ignoring him, of not including him in Pack business and always talking down at him. What if he didn't know about this until recently and was shown a picture once he was told." I mumble and I truly believe that he never knew this about his ancestors, he would have bragged about something like that.

Damn it, this will collide with my job. How can I travel to Packs to settle an argument or a fight, if I have to look over my shoulder? How can I keep my unit safe, if someone is coming for me? I doubt they would stop an attack if my team or unit are with me and knowing the members of my unit they will protect me

"Morgan, I know I can't stop you from pursuing your career. I don't want to stop you, but you must understand that this is something we will worry about constantly.." Dad gets interrupted by our Pack's alarm. "Mom, take King Damon and Prince Casimir with you to the saferoom. Wait for the signal before you come out again." I yell as I run towards the door.

"Warn Jaylen and Amir. We need all the help we can get." Amma says and I link Amir as I run out of the office. Jaylen is a bit more difficult to reach and when I finally get him to open the mind-link he sounds confused, but I don't have time to ask questions. Jaylen, Blue River Pack is under attack. The Luna is taking the King and Crown Prince with her to the saferoom, Amir is on his way. Gel here as fast as you can and bring as much help as you can." I say before I close the link. Lets make sure no one enters the territory, Commander Amir and Commander Jaylen are on their way." I yell through the mind-link at my team and the King's Warriors, Landon is right beside me and tells me they are at the gate and our northern border. "Chaya, Faith. Take half of the King's Warriors with you and head to the gate, the rest follows me." I order through the mind-link, "Hudson, go with them and inform them about everything you hear through the mind-link." I yell at him before I sprint towards the northern border, Landon still right behind me.

The future Royal Beta shows up next to me with Casimir's personal Warriors and when I open my mouth he just shakes his head, "The Prince told us to stay with you and to protect you with our lives. He didn't say why, just that they are after you." He says and I know they will do whatever it takes to protect me.

Persistent pressing against the block I have up wakes me up and I am confused as to where I am, until I see a picture next to the bed. A picture of Morgan and her unit, I shoot up straight in bed as I realize where I am. Again someone is pressing against my block and I open it to find out what is going on.

I nearly jump out of my skin when I hear Morgan and fam out of bed before she is finished speaking. I know I will have some explaining to do but right now I have other things on my mind, I open the door to be met with Flora and she looks really pissed off. "Captain, I will explain everything when I find an answer myself. Right now I need you to wake everyone and get them ready to leave for Blue River Pack, they are under attack. Meet me down stairs as fast as you can." I say as I look at her and she nods her head before she walks away.

I run down the stairs of Morgan's wing and find everyone still fast asleep in my wing. I know I can wake them with a mind-link but something tells me to open each door to wake them myself. When I open Kaia's room it is empty and when I ask her team where he is they tell me she leaves for a night more often, but that she always comes back on time.

As we all get ready I link Amir to ask him how far out he is, it will take us the better part of the day to get there and it will take Amir over four hours to get there. Only the King can link all units at once, so Amir and I decide to each link another Commander to get the message through to every unit the King has and to get as much help as we can.

By the time we have left the Academy I have linked three Commanders and two of them are close enough to be there within half an hour. "Morgan, two units are half an hour away, one unit is over an hour out and Amir will be there in less then four hours. For us it will take a lot longer, just hold on." I say through the mind-link, I close it before I get a response from her.

Knowing it will take us a long time before we reach Blue River Pack I decide to have a talk with Midnight, "Why did I wake up in Morgan's bed?" I ask him. "Don't try to ignore me or to make excuses, I didn't walk into her room." I say and I watch him as he turns towards me. I know I will not like what he has to say, I can tell by the look in his eyes.

"After the stunt Lynah pulled you closed yourself off to everyone, except our Father and our Pups. Every time someone would bring up their Mate you practically ran from the room, you closed yourself off from the change to find happiness and you will never find it if you keep living in the past. I can't answer your question as long as you are not willing to let go" Midnight responds.

I know it was difficult for me to listen to someone talk about how happy they were with their Mate, I also know it had everything to do with Lynah, Because of what she did my Mate will never be able to give me my first Pup, I never got to experience the joy and happiness of going through that first pregnancy with my Mate.

Lynah took all of that away from me, she probably also destroyed my chance of happiness with my mate. It mean a male or a female will never accept their Mate's Pups, unless they are someone's second chance Mate and how do I explain my situation to my Mate. I hear Midnight growl in my head. "You will never have to wonder about that, because you will never find her with your mindset, Asshole. Midnight growls at me before he turns his back on me and retreats to the back of my head as far as he can.

"Jaylen, are you okay? You have been very quiet." Tristan asks and my entire team looks at me. "I just had a discussion with Midnight and he told me that with my mindset I didn't have to worry about how my fated Mate will react to Dalton and Thora, because I will never find her according to him." I answer them honestly, maybe they can help me understand what my Lycan means.

All four of them are quiet as they think about what I have said and I try to figure out how everything is connected with one and other. Before I can even tell them what is running through my mind I roar as a searing pain runs across my arm and I grab it to see that there is nothing wrong with my arm. Midnight is whimpering in my head as if we are in pain.

When we reach the border half the males and females with me have shifted, but Amra and I know it is best if no one sees our Lycan form at the moment and I know I can handle most Wolves and Lycans in my Human form. What I didn't expect to see was Kaia, one of Jaylen's team Captains, and I link Casimir to inform him of that fact.

I don't get a change to link him as the first thought hits me, "Soon she will be out of the way and she doesn't even know that Jaylen is her Mate" I just stare at her as I step closer to the border and in the meantime I link Casimir. I know she told them that I would be here, but how did she get in contact with Nigel.

I don't even have to ask the question out loud when I hear his thoughts in my mind. "It was smart to keep my fated Mate around a little longer, once we have Morgan I will reject her and forcefully mark Morgan." Amra growls in my head and I keep my eyes on Kaia, "Does Commander Jaylen know that you are here, Captain Kaia?TM 1 ask her.

I use her title and name to make everyone understand that she is the one that sold me out, that she is the reason this attack is taking place. I ask Amra if what Kaia thought was the truth and for a moment she is quiet. "It would explain why he is constantly sleeping in our bed, but why hasn't he claimed us yet?" She answer my question with a question of her own.

I don't take my eyes of Kaia, hoping that she will keep her train of thoughts going and I might be able to get a few more pieces of information from her. "No one will ever tell her about how Lynah tricked his Father or how she gave Jaylen two Pups, not even Jaylen will tell her."nearly lose control to Amra when we hear those thoughts run through our head.

Amra is not angry at Jaylen but at Kaia for thinking he wouldn't tell his Mate the truth. Amira thinks that Kaia hopes he will take her as a chosen Mate with us out of the way. I just don't get the connection between this Lynah and Jaylen's Father, maybe I should talk to King Damon about this or maybe confront Jaylen.

"Well, it looks like we have found the female we were looking for. Hello, Morgan. Nigel's Father says or at least I suspect that he is Nigel's Father, but before I can say anything one of Casimir's Warriors steps forward and tells him that he is no female. "I think he was talking about the Commander." Casimir's Beta says with a smile on his face.

"Morgan, you better come with us willingly or we will attack your Pack." Nigel says and 1 just laugh at hist words. "No offense, Nigel but there isn't much up there in that head of yours, is there?" I ask and I see anger flashing through his eyes. "My Pack isn't here, it's at the Academy. But than again you never paid. attention during any of your classes, if you get accepted into the King's Army you join the Royal Pack and if it is there, you break the bond with your birth Pack."

"Your Father says we outnumber them, but he feels it is better to hold them off until backup arrives." Chaya says through the mind-link. I know it will take at least twenty more minutes before the first unit arrives and I decide to taunt our opponent a little, let's see if I can rattle some cages.

"Kaia, why are you willing to toss away your career for male that lies to you? Do you really think they are here to kill me?" I ask as I look at her. "Shadow Rock Pack is here to take me alive, dead I am useless to them and your Mate is well aware of that, aren't you Nigel?" Kaia snaps her head towards Nigel, but before she can say anything his Father has slit her throat with his claw.

"Your Father finally told you the truth, didn't he?" Niges Father asks. "No, one of my unit members did. I have known for over a year who and what I am, it is the outside world that doesn't and if you do not give up your silly quest I will show you who and what I am, hithat." I growl. 22:26 Fri, Jan 31

"What are you hoping for, Nigel?" I ask. "The gift of hearing isn't that big of a deal, it can give you an advantage but that is about it." Nigel stares at me and I can feel two of Casimir's Warriors stepping closer to me. "The gift of sense is a bit better, because it can tell me whether you outnumber us or not. The gift of hearing thoughts is a neat one, it can give you insight to a situation.

However, I think the gift of perception is the best one. A bit overrated if you ask me, because sometimes it gives you more questions than answers. So tell me, Nigel. Which one is your Father hoping for?" I ask him and I can tell that he is linking his Father.

I warn everyone to stay alert, that I expect them to attack any minute and I wasn't mistaken. The moment I have warned the others Nigel lunges towards me, but he doesn't get far as two Warriors step in front of me and rip him to shreds before he has fully shifted into his Wolf

I look at Nigel's Father as he stares at his Son's shredded body and I can see him debating with his Wolf. I think I have a pretty good idea what they are arguing about and I won't allow him to forcefully mark me anymore than I would have allowed Nigel, I will wait for my fated Mate as long as it takes.

"Morgan, I don't like repeating myself. Make a choice." He says and I look him up and down before I shake my head, "No, thanks. I'll wait for my fared Mate." I answer him and I hear Landon chuckle next to me. Nigel's Father is better at controlling his anger and I doubt he will make a rash move like Nigel did, he will wait for what he thinks is the right time to strike.

"Commander Morgan, we are only minutes away. They will probably attack when we show up behind them, be prepared." I hear our backup say in my head and I link Chaya to inform my Father. I know everyone in the King's Army has heard it and moments later I can see that Dad has informed his Warriors about the arrival of our backup.

"Tell me something. Alpha. Nigel always complained about your lack of interest in him, of keeping him out of Pack business. Why did you finally tell him about my ancestor?" I ask him, I really want to know the answer and I think Dad would like to know it as well. "I didn't. My oldest Son was stupid enough to let it slip few weeks ago and Nigel kept asking questions about it. When I finally got fed up with his nagging I told him the story every Alpha heir hears when they turn eighteen, he was never meant to know about it and if his Brother hadn't let it slip he never would have.

Looking back I should thank my oldest Son, because when I showed Nigel the picture we have he whispered your name. He told me everything he knew about you and with his Mate still at the Academy we knew where you were going. I knew it would be a matter of time before your Father would tell you the truth, but finding out you have known all along surprised me." He answers my question.

At that moment I sense our backup arriving, but I don' let it show as I inform the others through the mind-link and in mere seconds all of them take a fighting stance to protect the Pack. Nigel's Father starts laughing when he sees it happen, "You really think you stand a chance against us, we have been training our entire lives for this day and I will get want I am after. He says.

"Alpha, you do understand that no matter what the outcome is today your Pack will be annihilated." I say and I see a strange look on his face. "Oops, didn't Captain Kaia tell you everything or maybe it was Nigel that kept it to himself: And the strange look on his face tells me he still hasn't figured it out.

I turn to Casimir's Beta as I ask, "He doesn't know that you are Prince Casimir's Beta? He doesn't know that King Damon is here as well and he just signed the death warrants of all of his Pack-members. I hear Nigel's Father growl and in seconds all his Warriors charge at us,

I work in unison with the Warriors around me, we strike at every Wolf that comes our way and help each other to end them. A Wolf gets punched in the face by Landon and as he steps back he comes into my line of sight, I slash his throat with my claw before he sees it coming.

Landon returns the favor when I punch a Wolf in the face and after a few minutes Nigel's Father orders them to shift. Not expecting him to give that order I feet a claw run down my arm and I scream out in pain. Amra has had enough of it and she forces me to shift, ready to rip each of them to shreds.

At the sight of Amra our attackers take a step back, but their Alpha orders them to capture me alive and Amra gives such a menacingly roar that the Wolves closest to us fall to their knees. None of them try to get up as Amra stalks towards their Alpha, but he turns to run away from her and I actually laugh my ass off in her head.

He can't out run us, not only is Amra faster than him but there is also a unit blocking his escape route and Amra slashes her claw down his back. He crumbles to the ground, screaming out in pain. Amra didn't wound him fatally, but severe enough to make sure he isn't going anywhere.

She makes him scream out in pain again as she places her paw on his back, pushing him face down onto the ground and she lowers her head to release a mighty roar net

The pain in my arm is slowly subsiding, but I still don't understand where it came from. Midnight is still whimpering in my head and I can't figure out why, nors he answering my questions. Emilio keeps met informed about the attack at Blue River Pack when suddenly King Damon links me, "Go back to the Academy, the fight is over. You will hear the details later."

I link both my own unit and Morgan's unit to inform them that the King ordered us to return to the Academy, no one asks questions as we turn our vehicles around and for the next two hours we drive in silence. Emilio has had no more updates and I guess King Damon ordered everyone to keep quiet, which makes me feel on edge.

King Damon has never kept me out of the loop, he feels that as Casimir's Gamma I need to know what is going on and I try to link Roan to get an update. Roan is Casimir's Beta and he joins Casimir wherever he goes, but it seems that he put a block up on the mind-link. My Dad is waiting at the Academy with Dalton and Thora, he probably heard about the attack and just wants to get some answers. The moment I get out of the SUV Thora breaks away from her Grandfather, "Dad, are you okay? Did you get hurt? Did anyone get hurt?" She fires the questions at me as she jumps into my arms.

"Sweetheart, I am fine. I never even reached Blue River Pack, King Damon told me to head back because the fight was over." I tell her and I see a strange look on Dad's face, almost as if he knows something I don't. Dad most have sensed that I wanted to ask something because he links me, "I will explain it over the weekend if you haven't gotten answers by then."

Dalton is talking to Flora, one of Morgan's team Captains, he asks her if she isn't disappointed that she didn't get to fight. "I would have liked to kick an ass or two, but the fact that it was over quickly tells me that there was hardly a fight at all. I don't know if anyone got hurt of killed, we will probably find out soon." She answers him.

Most Wolves and Lycans wouldn't answer him this honestly, they consider him to be to young at nearly fifteen. Thora has her nose buried in my neck and I wrap my arms around her even tighter, she loves cuddling with anyone. I listen as Dalton asks Flora questions about her Commander and when he hears. her Commander is a female he looks at me.

"Yes, Dalton. Flora's Commander is a female and her name is Morgan." I say and Thora pulls back a bit to stare at me, "Why did her parents give her a boy's name?" She asks and I tell her that we all thought Morgan was a male until she showed up for her first meeting with the King.

Flora starts laughing at my admission or at least I thought she was, "Do you want to know what she said when she entered the meeting room?" Flora asks and both my Pups are nodding their heads and I remember to late what she had said, "That she was sorry for being late, but that she had to point out to one of her unit members that she lacked a dick." Flora blurt out.

Dad is laughing his ass off while Thora giggles and Dalton looks at me for confirmation, "Yes, Dalton. She actually said that with King Damon in the room." I say and now Dalton is also laughing his ass off. He knows that King Damon always hates it when people ac differently around him and I know he will ask King Damon about this as soon as he can.

them in custody. Through the mind-link King Damon instructs everyone to not relay to anyone what happened, that those that need to know will be informed by him and I think it might have to do with me. After all Roan, Casimir's Beta, must have reported to him what Amra looks like.

"Commander, where do we place all these Pack-members? I doubt the dungeons are going to be enough." Roan asks and I nod at Landon to lead the way. "They won't be placed in the dungeons, we will put them in the arena." I answer as I follow Landon to our training grounds, Dad uses it for competitions between Pack-members.

Skylar is walking right next to me and she keeps looking at my arm, the wounds disappeared when I shifted into Amra. "I am fine, Skylar. Amra is a fast healer and the wounds weren't to deep." I answer her unspoken question and she smiles as she looks at my arm again. The rest of the way to the arena is spend in silence and when the arena comes into view I see Colton and Hudson guiding Chaya and Faith out of the arena, looks like they already placed their prisoners inside. "Roan, hold on to Shithat for me. We have a special place for him." I say as I walk towards the entrance, once all prisoners are inside I turn towards Roan.

"Ready to see where we place our special guests?" I ask Roan with a smirk on my face, I grab Nigel's Father to yank him to his feet and walk towards the building dat holds our prison. It is a one story building from the outside and when you walk in you can't imagine what lies beneath it, but once you descend the stairs it will hit you full force.

One of my ancestors build it to imprison Rogues, but mostly to get information out of those that hurt our Pack in any way and not many outsiders have ever beer down there. Asthon, Declan and Fletcher are standing guard outside and that tells me that King Damon and Casimir are already inside.

"Roan, you are allowed to follow me inside. The rest of you will have to wait out here, King Damon and Prince Casimir will be safe in there." I say before Fletcher opens the door for me and Roan. Dad is waiting for us with King Damon and Prince Casimir and Roan is looking around the space we are in.

It resembles the lobby of a hotel with a few guards around, Dad walks towards a door that will lead us to a corridor with some interrogation rooms. At the end of the corridor is another door which leads to a stairwell and as you walk down the stairs you can see the cells in the middle, a boardwalk is mounted around the cells with smaller boardwalks leading to the cell doors.

The boardwalk ends in a stair leading down to the next level of cells and it repeats itself over and over again, until you reach the bottom of our prison. At the bottom there is one huge cell with a smaller cell inside, whoever ends up here will beg for death real soon and I shove Nigel's Father into the smaller cell.

King Damon doesn't spare his surroundings a glance, while Casimir and Roan are looking around in amazement. I remember the first time Dad brought me down here, I had just turned fifteen and I had overheard him and Ashton talk about the underground prison we have.

I was told why the prison was build in this fashion and who had decided to build it. One of my ancestors had build it after he had failed to get answers from a Pack-member that had betrayed the Pack, his actions had costed many Wolves and Lycans from our Pack their lives and they weren't able to find out why he had betrayed his Pack.

So my ancestor had thought about a way to break someone without killing them to fast and with his Beta and Garuna he had gone over every way you could instill fear into someone. Enough fear to make them talk, enough fear to make them understand that talking meant a quick death and once they had figured that out all they needed to do was design a prison that could help them accomplish that.

I now knew it was because of that Pack-member that we lost one of our gifted females to a gruesome death and I think it is poetic justice that we will get answers from Nigel's Father here in the prison that was build. because of an Alpha like him. "Morgan, can you explain this prison to me?" Roan asks and I ask him to scream on the top of his lungs.

He does as I ask and his scream echoes around the room. His face contorts as he keeps hearing his own. scream over and over again and it keeps going for almost five minutes, "Now, try to imagine that is the scream of someone that is getting tortured." I say and I hear him cussing under his breath.

King Damon walks towards the cell that holds Nigel's Father, "Why did you attack Blue River Pack and don't give me the nonsense you wrote down in your letter?" He asks, but he doesn't get an answer. I wasn't expecting the male to answer, so I am not surprised to ee him ignore King Damon.

Some would say Shadow Rock Pack is delusional for attacking Blue River Pack, to claim something that doesn't belong to them. While others will side with their way of thinking and believing that Shadow Rock Pack was deprived of something that should have been theirs.

Every member of Blue River Pack hates the males that drove my ancestors to their deaths, we don't hate entire Packs because of what one person did. Maybe we should in some cases, because they teach their Pack-members only a part of the story and leave out the way they treated my ancestors.

I hope that King Damon will make an example out of Nigel's Father, to show other Alphas what happens if you go after something that doesn't belong to you. Even if it means that the entire Kingdom will know who I am and what my abilities are.

Instead of leaving on Sunday we left on Tuesday, it took them two days to realize that Nigel's Father wasn't going to answer any questions and a few hours before I was able to convince them that it was best to put him on trial. Dad and King Damon were reluctant to reveal the truth about me and even though my Brothers, my team and Casimir agreed with them at first they saw it my way in the end.

I had to make a promise to King Danion though, I am not allowed to go on an assignment without an extra team and I need to inform Commander Amir and Commander Jaylen where I am going. The latter condition was one I fought hard, but King Damon wasnt backing down and after he threatened to take my title away from me I finally caved.

My entire unit is waiting for me on the top floor of our wing and as I walk into our living room with my coffee Flora and Orson walk in behind me, "Commander Jaylen's Pups are smart and not afraid to ask questions." I hear Flora say and I look at them in confusion, his Pups were here.

I ask Flora when they were here and I think I surprised her and everyone else in the room. "Kaia was thinking about Commander Jaylen and his Pups." I explain, but that seems to confuse them even more. "Sorry, I forgot I didn't tell you everything about me. I have all the gifts my bloodline has ever had, only my gift of hearing and sense are stable. The others seem to come and go as they please." I say.

I tell my unit why Blue River Pack was attacked, but I don't mention to them that I have experienced the gift of perception more than once. I wanted to wait until the Commanders were informed before I would tell my unit the consequences from the attack, but I need to be honest with them and I tell them what King Damon demanded of me.

As I finish my coffee I listen to my unit discussing how this will work best and soon Beck comes up with a solution everyone can live with. My teams will rotate going on assignments with me, but we will take in consideration to switch teams if they are best suited for another assignment.

We talk about how my abilities helped me during the attack and I thought I was getting away with talking about the gift of perception, the only gift I still don't understand, "Have you relived any other memories, so far?" Moura asks and I just shake my head, I still don't want to tell them what I saw. At least not until I understand everything myself.

It is close to midnight when we turn in for the night and Amra points out that she finally understands why Jaylen's Lycan takes control of him, "If we are their Mate would make sense that they want to sleep in our bed, but how did Kaia figure it out or why hasn't Jaylen claimed us yet?" Amra mumbles and I know she doesn't expect me to answer.

"Kaia mentioned Lynah in her thoughts. What if it is connected to her and whatever she did to Jaylen and his Father?" I answer her question with a question of my own and I think it is time talk to Jaylen about everything I found out

Thinking about how to bring this up I drift off to sleep and when I wake in the morning I still don't have an answer to my own question. I slowly get out of bed to make my way over to the bathroom, I am going to take a shower before I get dressed and head into the living room. Flora places a mug of coffee in front of me and she asks me if I will be able to function with the restrictions King Damon gave me.

"If I find out that the restrictions he gave me make my job impossible I need to discuss that with him, he isn't an unreasonable man and we might need to come up with another way to handle this situation." I answer her before I take a sip of my coffee, during breakfast Chaya tells me that she, Faith and Waylen will be coming with me to the main building.

They will be following me around today keeping an eye out for any trouble, I'm not really sure how to feel about it but I know I don't have a choice. I love my job and I have no intention of giving it up just because some Idiot thinks that he has a claim to me. "What do you think Jaylen will say to that when he hears that Nigel and his Father tried to claim you?" Amra asks me.

don't have an answer for her, but I know we will find out soon enough. Maybe his reaction to what happened at Blue River Pack will be the opening I need to ask him certain questions and to explain to him. that I know a few things he might not have realized so far. Because I doubt a male like Jaylen would let his Mate walk around without claiming her.

Amra agrees with me, Jaylen would never allow us to walk around without being claimed. I just wonder why neither one of us ever figured it out, there have been several Full Moons since I turned 18 and yet for some reason, I am unable to tell that he is my Mate I ask Skylar through the mind-link if there is a way for me to find out if I have missed finding my Mate for some reason, she asks me why I want to know and I tell her it has something to do with what my Mom said. I don't want her to know that I suspect that Jaylens my Mate, I need to understand why neither one of us has felt the Mate-bond.

Skylar tells me she will have an answer for me by the end of the day and I know that when she says that she will have the answer, you will have an answer that will surprise everyone. She always goes the extra mile when it comes to finding answers and I'm grateful she is a part of my team.

Waylen tells me it is time to get ready and to go to the main building, all the Commanders will be in the meeting room very soon to hear about the attack and the reason why the attack took place. I just hope that everyone will accept King Damon' decision on letting me keep my title and that Commander Amir and Commander Jaylen will accept the extra responsibility they are getting.

Once all of us are ready we walk down the stairs to the front door, I don't see or hear anyone in the main living room and I wonder if Jaylen already knows that he is missing a Team Captain. Waylen, Chaya and Faith follow me to the main building and they wait outside the meeting room while I follow Elder Emmett inside.

greet everyone as I walk into the meeting room and sit down in my usual space. Jaylen asks me if I know what this meeting is about and I tell him to just be patient, that King Damon will explain everything. The look on his face tells me that he isn't too pleased with that answer, but I promised King Damon I wouldn't mention anything about what happened at Blue River Back to anyone.

At least not until this meeting has started, King Damon wants to make sure that everyone understands that my safety is a priority and that anyone that decides to take advantage of my abilities will get punished severely. He also wants their opinion on how to procece with Nigel's Father, after all as long as he is still alive he will always pose a threat to me and my safety. And even though the easy way out would be to take my title away from me King Damon doesn't want to do that.

Once everyone is seated King Damon gets up and starts spacing the room, I understand that this is not an easy task for him to do. He has to explain to the Commanders he has worked with for many years that he is going to bend the rules for me, a newcomer. "Good morning, Gentlemen. Thank you for giving me your time, as you are all aware Blue River Pack was attacked while I was visiting there. I also know that you would all like to know why it was attacked and that is what this meeting today is about. It turns out that we have a rather special Lycan anong us, a Lycan with abilities and quite a few of them.

Blue River Pack was attacked for the sole purpose of getting their hands on this special Lycan, a Lycan that possesses four abilities; the gift of hearing, the gift of sense, the gift of hearing thoughts and the gift of perception. The gifts will be explained once I have told you what I want to tell you, because we were betrayed from within our own ranks.

"Commander Jaylen, can you tell me where Team Captain Kaia is?" King Damon asks him and he tells us that she went to visit her family, but that she hadn't returned yet. "We have been trying to reach her and her family, but so far no luck" He answers. King Damon tells him that she won't be coming back, he betrayed us by informing the attackers, she was the fated Mate of Nigel the future Alpha of Shadow Rock Pack and I can tell you that neither one of them is still breathing" He says and every Commander is staring "Don't look at me, I didn't kill them." I say as I raise my hands. Commander Amir turns to King Damon and asks him who the gifted Lycan is. "That would be me. I answer his question and except for our back-up each Commander stares at me, Roan is standing behind my chair as a precaution.

I tell them the history between Blue River Pack and Shadow Rock Pack, why my ancestor took her own life to protect her unborn Daughter and when I explain that Nigel wanted to forcefully mark me I hear Jaylen's Lycan roar. Casimir and Roan walk over to him, but I know they wont be able to calm his Lycan down and I place my hand on his arm.

Everyone stares at my hand on his arm, but the confusion becomes bigger when his Lycan calms down almost immediately.

I spend many hours talking to my parents and my Brothers, they understand how it made me feel and they apologized for it at least ten times a day. eventually had to tell them to stop apologizing or ! would wait another year to come visit again." I say and hear the others chuckle as I look at my hand on Jaylen's arm.

"Does this mean she can hear my thoughts at all times?" I hear Amir think and I decide to explain my gifts to them a little more. "No, Amir. Not all the time." I answer his thought and his jaw drops as he looks at me. "Sometimes I just hear another's thoughts, but I have no control over it and I am not sure if I can train it.

- I can hear better than anyone of you, even a soundproof room isn't completely soundproof to me. The gift of sense can tell me when my back-up arrives and how many of them there are. Those two gifts are present at all times and I didn't have to do much to learn how to use it, but it was strange in the beginning as I thought something was closer than it actually was. The gift of perception is a strange one and it has only Happened once, but it didn't make any sense to me. I am hoping that I can train that gift to be more useful in the future, because right now it is quite useless to me." I say and King Damon has been watching the other Commanders while I was explaining my gifts.

"Your Majesty, how can we make sure Morgan can do her job safely?" One of the Commanders asks and King Damon tells them he had a hard time to make me accept his conditions. "Morgan will take an extra team with her on every assignment and she has to infohn Commander Amir and Commander Jaylen about where she is going.

We need to make sure that no one will be able to get to her and forcefully mark her. The Alpha of Shadow Rock Pack will have to stand trial for the attack and for planning a forceful marking, meaning that it will get known who Morgan is." He says and every Commander has a serious expression on their face.

Each of them vows to King Damon that they will do everything in their power to keep me safe and Jaylen is the last one to make the vow. He holds on to my hand as he vows the same thing the other Commanders- did and I can tell that his Lycan is close to the surface. Once we have discussed everything that happened at Blue River Pack Amir asks about Nigel and his Father, "Kaia was his fated Mate and she told him where I would be. Who kept it hidden that the King and Crown Prince would be with me I don't know and thanks to Nigel's Father we didn't get a change to question Kaia.

As for Nigel he got killed by two of Prince Casimir's Warriors, they were ordered to protect me at all costs. Ashton and Colton started questioning Nigel's Father after we left and if the stories I heard over the years are true he will be singing like a bird by the end of the week." I say.

"She never mentioned finding her Mate." Jaylen mumbles and I tell him she thought Nigel was there to kill me, "She wanted you as her chosen Mate, but what that has to do with me I don't know." I tell him and Amra and I watch him as he processes my words. 22:27 Fri, Jan 31 2.

I doubt he realizes that everyone else was send out of the room by King Damon, he seems to be arguing with his Lycan and we are waiting for them to finish their discussion. An Omega walks in with some coffee for us and she stares at Jaylen for a moment, it looks strange seeing someone argue with their Wolf or Lyc Casimir sits down in a seat across from me and Roan sits down on my other side, "Morgan, you mentioned that thoughts come to you randomly. What do you do when you hear something disturbing?" Roan asks and I tell him what happened on my way to the Academy. "I paid them a visit on my way back from one of my assignments and her Father told me that my instincts. had been right, the female that tried to kill her back then had tried again. Luckily he had heeded my warning, she had visible and invisible Guards and they were able to stop the female from killing her.

She found her Mate a week after that and I met him when I was there, he is an overprotective ass according to her. She even says it to his face and all he does is smile." I tell them and I accept the coffee King Damon offers me. I am half way through my coffee when Jaylen finally seems to realize that it is just the five of us left in the meeting room.

"Care to tell us what you and Midnight were discussing King Damon says and he gives me a strange look. before he looks at King Damon again. "Just hear me out before anyone of you responds." He says and we all nod our heads. "When Morgan linked me I found myself in a place I shouldn't be in and Midnight refuses to tell me why.

All he keeps saying is that I need to let go of the past or will never find my fated Mate, but it still doesn't answer the question I keep asking him. His response to someone forcefully marking Morgan has me confused, I understand he doesn't like hearing it and I understand he feels anger towards Nigel.

It is the fact that he feels murderous just thinking about it that has me confused, only Mates react like that when their Mate would be involved." Jaylen answers. Amra is pacing around in my head and I know she wants me to ask questions, but I am not sure if I should ask them with the others around.

"Jaylen, what if Midnight keeps telling you that because you already met her and didn't recognize her as your Mate because of the past?" King Damon asks and understand that they know more about his past. It look at Jaylen as everyone waits for him to answer King Damon.

I see all kind of emotions flash through his eyes and I realize that whatever Lynah did to him it hurt him deeply. It hurt him enough to close himself off from his feelings, making it impossible for him to find hist happiness and I wonder if he understands that everyone deserves the change to find happiness with their Mate.

"Jaylen, I don't know what happened and I understand it if you don't want to tell me. I want you to- understand that most females will listen to your story, doubt a female would reject you just because of something that happened in the past. I can't guarantee you it won't happen, that depends on the female and I hope she is willing to listen to you.

Kaia apparently knew something about your past, she was thinking about your Pups and someone named Lynah. Other than that I don't know what happened between Lynah and your family, but looking at you I can tell that she hurt you deeply. I just want you to heed Midnight's warning, let go of the past before it destroys everything." I say before I get up and walk out of the meeting room.

Jaylen

Could Morgan be right? Would my Mate take the time to listen to me? Would she understand I had no control over what happened? The questions keep running through my head as I watch, Morgan walk out the door and I look at Damon to find him deep in thought.

"Jaylen, how many of your unit members know about Lynah?" He asks me and I tell him only my own team is aware of what she actually did. "Then how did Kaia know about it?" He asks and I just stare at him. I have no idea how Kaia found out about the details. "I will look into her past, maybe we can find an answer there." Roan says and I know if an answer can be found in her past he will find it. He proved it years ago when Jaya had shown up at the Palace claiming to be King Damon's Daughter, she had a very convincing ory and she even had test results showing that he was her Father.

Roan had felt that something was off and he dove into her past. He went to the Pack she was born in and when he returned three weeks later he had good and bad news for Damon and Casimir. The good news was that Jaya wasn't his Daughter and the bad news was that Damon did have a Daughter named Jaya, but she had died in a Rogue attack at the age of six.

It had taken Roan a little longer to return because he found out that Jaya's Mother had died in the same attack, but she had left a three year old Son behind. Damon took him in and Casimir treats him like a little Brother, he even carries the title of Prince.

The fake Jaya was banned from the Kingdom after she told Damon and Casimir how she had found our about his Daughter and once a year they visit the grave of the real Jaya.

After I say my goodles to my friends I walk out of the main building and I head to the tree line to walk around the terrain, taking some time to think about everything I heard today. First I try to wrap my head. around the fact that Morgan is a gifted Lycan, she has multiple gifts and that puts a target on her back.

I remember the words she spoke just a little while ago, he said my Mate would listen to me when I find her. I just hope I can find the courage to tell her about Lynah and what she did to me and my Dad, it is that I have my Pups to remind me of it or I might have had hard time believing that someone could do that to another person.

Midnight is awfully quiet, but I think his mind is on Morgan and the target on her back. He never liked it when females were targeted for whatever reason, but I think it is worse with Morgan and a part of me understands him. Morgan is an amazing woman, she is good at her job and she has resolved many disputes since she became a Commander.

Maybe I should ask her to listen to my story and then she can tell me if my Mate might reject me because the of it. I just need to find the courage to tell her. I still hate the fact that I never caught Lynah in act, - sometimes I blame myself that she was able to pull one over on me and what I hate even more is the way she hurt Dad.

The only good thing that came out of it are Dalton and Thora, I wouldn't trade them for anything in the them as a world and I hope my Mate will be able to accept them as a part of my life. "She will not only accept part of your life, she will love them." Midnight says and I ask him how he can be so sure.

"The Goddess wouldn't have paired the two of you together if for a moment she thought she would reject you or your Pups, the Goddess understands that you, Dalton and Thora are a package deal." He answers me with confidence in his voice.

He is probably right, but it doesn't change the fact that my dreams were shattered by Lynah. I always wanted to find my fated Mate, to have all of my firsts with her and I really mean all of my firsts. Another thing that will be difficult to explain to my Mate, that I am still a virgin and the Father of two Pups.

Everyone keeps telling me that my Mate will understand once I explain everything to her, I am just the one that keeps having doubts and a part of me wouldn't blame her if she rejected me for having Pups with another female. It was something I thought I would do if I found out my Mate had Pups with another male, but now I know I would listen to her story first and then I would make up my mind.

Over the years there have been males and females that have asked me who the Mother of my Pups was, but I never told anyone the true story. All I ever told them was that their Mother was no longer alive and that isn't far from the truth, because to us she is dead. Dalton and Thora know the truth but they don't want anything to do with her and Dad and I cannot blame them, after all she ruined a lot of lives with the trick she pulled. As a result of Lynah's betrayal Dad never went looking for another chosen Mate, my Pups and I just want him to be happy but we do understand why he is reluctant to take another chosen Mate.

"You should find Morgan and talk to her, maybe she will be able to show you that your Mate will not reject you after you tell her your story. I think it is time you told someone about Lah and what she did to you, the only reason others know the truth is because they were there. Maybe if you tell Morgan she will be able to make you understand that you have closed yourself off and she might be able to make you see that not every female is the same as Lynah or will reject you because of what Lynah did." Midnight says in my head.

I know that I have kept feinales at arm's length, I wasn't willing to take a risk and I had two Pups to think about. I still have my doubts though that I actually closed myself off as much as Midnight claims and It think I would be able to smell our Mate when we meet her. I am not too sure how my Mate will react and that is what frightens me the most. After discovering what Lynah did I was mad at her for taking away my chance to start a family with my Mate, I kept going in circles for a long time and I'm still not convinced that it will be easy to make my Mate understand that this happened out of my control.

I am afraid that my Mate will make me choose between her and my Pups and if she does I already know what I will choose, Dalton and Thora will always come first to me. Midnight is right though, I think it is time I told someone that wasn't there and who doesn't know anything about the situation.

After I leave the main building I head up to my own room, I need some time to myself and I need to figure out what I can and cannot handle when it comes to Jaylen's past. What if Lynah was his chosen Mate and she betrayed him? What if Lynah was his chosen Mate and she died? Could I handle it if he had a chosen Mate before me? Could I handle knowing that he wasn't willing to wait for his faded Mate? Questions keep running through my mind and I know I need someone to talk to, I link. Skylar and ask her to come to my room.

It doesn't take Skylar long to get to my room and just one look at me shows her that whatever is going on in my head is serious. "Okay, Commander. What is running through your mind?" Skylar asks and I gesture towards my bed for her to take a sheet.

I tell Skylar about the first time the gift of perception showed itself, I tell her what I saw that day and that in happened a few times after that day. I tell her about the thoughts I heard from Kaia and that apparently Lynah hurt Jaylen deeply, "I am not sure how or why she hurt him, all I know is that just mentioning that he has a past shows anger and pain in his eyes.

I truly believe that Midnight knows that I am their Mate, but for some reason Jaylen is unable to tell and F think that Midnight is right, it has everything to do with his past. Jaylen has probably closed himself off to the point where he can no longer feel or smell his Mate and I fear he may never be ready to tell anyone. about his past.

I doubt he has ever spoken about his past with anyone that wasn't related to him or who wasn't there when. it happened. If he is unable to tell anyone what happened in his past, how will he be able to tell his faded Mate." I confide in Skylar and for a little while we just sit there in my room in complete silence.

"Would it matter to you if he had given up on finding his fated Mate? Jaylen is about two decades older. than you are, what if he was just tired of waiting for his faded Mate?" Skylar asks me and I tell her that if he had given up on finding his faded Mate he didn't have waited long.

"He might be two decades older than I am, but if Flora was telling the truth then Dalton is nearly fifteen years old and that means that he gave up searching for his fated Mate after only five years. I mean, we can find our Mates from the day we turn eighteen and if Dalton is close to fifteen years old then Jaylen must have taken a chosen Mate within five years after turning eighteen.

Why would anyone choose to take a chosen Mate so shortly after turning eighteen? So yes, I think it is safe to say that it would matter to me if Lynah was his chosen Mate." I answer Skylar's question, I think it would matter to any female.

Skylar is nodding her head and I can tell she agrees will me, if he gave up searching for his fated Mate so fast then it should matter. "I guess I just have to wait until he is ready to tell me his story or until he is able to come to terms with his past. I just hope that by the time he comes to terms with his past it won't be too late for the two of us." I say to Skylar as I look out the window.

"Morgan?" I hear Jaylen ask through the mind-link. "Can you come to the garden at the back of the main building? I need to ask you something and I need to do it in private." Jaylen asks me and I tell him I will be there in a few minutes. Looks like I might get my answers socner than I thought and I hope it will help him move on.

When I reach the garden I see Jaylen sitting on a bench in front of the fountain, I can tell he is deep in thought and I slowly approach him to give him time to sense me coming. I am only a feet or two away from him when he finally looks up and I see a small smile appear on his face, I smile back at him as I close the distance between us to sit down next to him.

I don't say a word because I don't want to scare him off this is his story to tell and I will not rush him. We just sit there in silence for a long time and the longer the silence lasts the more convinced I am that this is very y difficult for him to talk about, I just hope he is willing to tell me what happened with Lynah.

Chapter 245 Explanation Morgan

"I will start at the beginning and I need you to be paticn with me, this isn't easy for me to talk about. Just thinking about it is bad enough for me and I never thought I would discuss this with anyone other than the people that were there when it happened. My parents were fated Mates and growing up I thought they had the perfect relationship, but I was mistaken.

My Mother cheated on my Father for almost as long as they were together, I was seventeen when Dad was finally fed up with her and gave her an ultimatum. She chose to reject my Father and leave me behind, not that I would have chosen to go with her. It took my Father a long time to finally accept that my Mother had rejected him and left us both.

When he finally came to terms with it he told me he was going to look for a chosen Mate, neither one of us realizing that that would be the start of our trouble. Dad met Lynah during a trip he made with King Damon and it didn't take long before they were mated and marked.

I can't remember exactly when it started but it was sometime after Lynah moved in with us, I could barely sleep through a night without waking up at least once and it took me a long time to figure out why. The only reason we found out why I was having trouble sleeping was because Prince Casimir planted a camera. in my room and when we took a look at the footage it bad stunned all of us.

You already know that I have two Pups, what nobody knows other than my family and my best friends is that I never conceived them in the old fashioned way." Jaylen says and I am staring at him dumbfounded. "What do you mean exactly with not conceived in the old fashioned way?" I asked Jaylen confused.

Jaylen tells me what they had seen in the footage and to say I am shocked is putting it mildly. I can understand that a female would like to have a Pup someday but to do what Lynah did that was outrageous, I can't imagine what either one of them was feeling. I mean she was his Father's Mate and his stepmother, I can understand that this is very difficult to explain to anyone and I think I finally understand why Jaylen feels his fated Mate might reject him.

"Amra, should / tell him that I know he has been sleeping in my bed when I am off on assignment?" I ask and she tells me it might be best if I do tell him. It might force him to face the truth and it may finally open his eyes to the fact that I am his fated Mare. "Jaylen, do you remember that during the meeting I told you all that the gift of perception had only happened once?" I ask him and he nods his head in answer. "Well that wasn't completely true, it happened a few times but what I saw was the same every time and that was you sleeping in my bed.

I know you probably don't remember getting into my room or into my bed, Midnight was in control of that and I think he has been hiding it from you ever since." I tell him as I keep looking at him, I want to see if he can figure it out on his own or if I might have to spell it out for him.

Jaylen should be able to figure it out on his own, if he knows that he was sleeping in my bed and add tha To the fact that I was able to calm Midnight down, he should be able to tell that I am his fated Mate. I keep looking at Jaylen as he mumbles softly, the words are incoherent and don't make sense to me but if it helps. him to cope with what I just told him I will wait.

Suddenly Jaylen's head snaps towards me and the look in his eyes tell me that he has finally figured it out, the only problem seems to be that he doesn't feel the Mate-bond. "You are my mate?" Jaylen asks me and I rell him that like him I don't feel the Mate-bond, but that I might have an answer to that question soon enough.

22:33 Fri, Jan 31

Chapter 245 Explanation Finished

He asks me which question that would be and I tell him the question is how it is possible that I know that he is my Mate even though I cannot feel the Mate-bond "Midnight feels the Mate-bond and that is why he has led you to my bed every time I am not around.

I asked Skylar, a member of my own team, if she could find out if there was a possibility that I missed finding my Mate and if anyone can find that answer it's her. The first time the gift of perception showed me that you had been sleeping in my bed I wondered what you were doing there, it was when you left my bed that I saw that your Lycan was in control and I knew you were unaware of what he was doing.

Adding pieces of the puzzle together I figured that Midnight knew that we were Mates, but as he already explained to you it is the fact that you closed yourself off that makes it impossible for you to sense that I am your Mate. When Midnight became angry because of what Nigel tried to do or wanted to do I knew I was the only one that could calm him down and we both know that it worked." I explain to him. Jaylen

Fuck, I found my fated Mate and she didn't run off. She seems more concerned with the fact that neither one of us felt the Mate-bond and the only reason she figured it out is because of her gift. I chuckle when I remember Damon's words when I told them about my first full night of sleep and Morgan asks if she can share in the fun.

"After my first night of not waking up during the night I informed Damon and Casimir about it and Damon told me we could rule out me spending the night with my Mate." I say and when I see the stunned. look on her face I realize what I said. "Damon, I need to tell Morgan the truth. I will explain everything later, I just wanted you to know." I say through the mind-link before closing it again.

"Besides the Elders and my wn unit no one knows this, but I am the future Royal Gamma and my team members are the future Royal Deltas. I say and I see Morgan shaking her head as she is laughing her ass off. Midnight has a dumbfounded look on his face as he stares at Morgan and I wrap an arm around her waist when I see she is about to slide of the bench.

"Once you are done laughing, could you tell us what is so funny?" I ask her and after she has caught her breath she looks at me, "Females hate me for being an Alpha's Daughter, not all of them say it or act on it but it is noticeable. I get the same look when they find out I am a Commander in the King's Army and 1 think they will be seeing green with envy when they find out about my abilities.

And on top of that you tell me that my Mate is the future Royal Gamma. Damn, how did I get so lucky to have multiple targets on my back." She says. Midnight doesn't think it is funny, but I can see her point of view. "Sorry for adding to the targets, Princess." I whisper in her ear as I pull her onto my lap.

Midnight keeps looking at Morgan as I hold her close and I wonder if she is willing to stay with me tonight, I would like to have a good night sleep. She becomes quiet for a few moments before she looks at me, "Skylar says she might have an answer for me, would you like to come with me?" She asks me and I tell her I would like to hear what Skylar figured out.

We walk back to our building and the moment we open the door we hear a lot of shouting from the living room. "If that Bitch shows up I will give her a piece of my mind." I hear a member of my unit say and I wonder if he is talking about Kaia or Morgan. "She did nothing wrong, Kaia betrayed all of us and the Alpha of Shadow Rock Pack killed her." I hear a very angry female say.

"What the fuck is going on here?" I ask and every head snaps towards us, before I see it coming one of my men lunges for Morgan. He doesn't get the chance to get near her because two of her unit members step in front of her and I pull her behind me out of reflex, "What the fuck are you doing?" I ask as I look at my unit member.

"Commander Morgan is responsible for Captain Kaia's death." He shouts and I just shake my head, I tell everyone to settle down and to sit down. "Kaia made a decision that got her killed, she decided to betray a member of the King's Army and she did it because she hoped I would take her as a chosen Mate." I say.

I tell my unit what happened at Blue River Pack and why it happened, by the time I am done talking my unit is staring at me. "Commander, you have got to be kidding. Did Kaia know about Morgan's bloodline?" Tristan asks and Morgan tells him that Kaia was Nigel's fated Mate, "Nigel probably didn't tell her exactly why they had an interest in me, she thought he was going to kill me and that is what she wanted." She says.

She turns to one of the females in the room, "Skylar, did you get an answer for me?" She asks and I am surprised to hear that Skylar found out that we were never at the Academy during a Full Moon, "I did find out that we left during a Full Moon and Commander Jaylen returned to the Academy about two hours later.

If your assumption is correct I would say that Midnight smelled your scent when they returned, but I don't understand why Commander Jaylen didn't sense it." Skylar explains.

Chapter 246 Commanders Morgan

I let Skylar's findings sink in and I think I finally figured out why neither one of us is feeling the Mate- bond, even though Jaylen in unable to feel it for a totally different reason than I am unable to feel it. I think Jaylen and I need to discuss this in private, I doubt this is something we need to discuss in front of everyone.

My unit seems to understand that Jaylen and I need some privacy, it is his unit that seems to be a little more reluctant to give us some time and some privacy Jaylen actually has to tell his unit to leave us alone and once they have all left the room he lifts me up bridal style, he walks over to an armchair in the far corner of our living room to sit down.

"Do you think it is possible what Skylar told us? That you never found out we were mates because we never spent a Full Moon together at the Academy, we both know why I have not been able to feel that you are my mate." Jaylen asks me and I have to tell him that Skylar is probably right, if the both of us were never the Academy during a Full Moon I would never be able to feel the mate bond with Jaylen.

ro of his Pups, II wonder if Jaylen will ever be able to let go of his past and with that I don't mean letting go mean letting go of what Lynah did to him. "Jaylen, I'm going to ask you a question and I want you to think real carefully about it before you answer me. If you could go back in time and stop Lynah from doing what she did, would you?" I asked Jaylen.

Jaylen seems to think about it real hard and I know it is a question that will be difficult to answer, it takes him a while before he can finally look at me again. "A part of me wishes that I could go back in time and stop Lynah from what she did, it means I will have all my firsts with my fated Mate. I know I will have a lot of firsts with my fated Mate, but that first pregnancy and my first Pup is something I will never have with my fated Mate.

Lynah took that away from me and it is something that will always haunt me, but another part of me doesn't want to go back in time. I love Dalton and Thora and I wouldn't trade them for anything in the world, they are my Pups no matter how they got into this world." Jaylen answers me and I know that he is right, I doubt anyone would want to go back in time to change the past and to miss out on their Pups.

Even if it meant a less painful past to think about, even if it meant preventing heartbreak and I understand Jaylen's answer. If he knows that he wouldn't want to change the past because of his Pups, does that mean he realizes that whoever the Goddess pairs him with she will not make him choose between her and his Pups.

Maybe if I were to spend time with Jaylen and his Pups it will show him that he has nothing to fear about, I know Dalton and Thora are not mine but it doesn't mean I will make him choose. I think about the fact that my Mate has a Son that is only three years younger than I am and that both his Pups are still teens just like me.

"What are you smiling about Princess?" Jaylen asks me and when I tell him what I was thinking about his jaw drops, apparently I was the only one that was thinking that far ahead. "Do you think Dalton and Thora will have a problem with me as your fated Mate?" I asked Jaylen and with a huge smile on his face he shakes his head.

"I actually believe that my Pups will welcome you with open arms, Flora told them what you said when you entered the meeting room that first meeting and know that the first chance Dalton gets he will ask Damon and Casimir about it. He knows that Damon hates people that act differently in front of him and Damon has always warned Dalton to be aware of those kind of people.

Dalton is close to the King and to the Crown Prince and to some that is a very appealing thing, but Dalton and Thora know that not everyone is interested in them because of that and those are the people that they will trust. I think to Dalton and Thora you are someone that's interested in them and not the fact that they are friendly with the King." Jaylen answers me.

Jaylen and I stay seated in the armchair for a very long time, just enjoying the silence and each other. Faith walks into the room to tell us that dinner is ready and can tell that Jaylen is reluctant to let me go, but when Faith tells him that he is invited for dinner as well he starts smiling.

We are barely halfway up the first stairs in my wing of the building when I can hear a lot of chatter coming from our private living room upstairs and I smile when I realize that both units will be having dinner together. "Your unit is up there as well, looks like we will all have dinner together."I tell Jaylen through the mind- link and I feel him relax beside me.

The moment Jaylen and I enter the living room Tristan steps closer to me and I wonder why he did that, but then I remember something Dad told me as a little girl. The King has four Deltas with a reason, two Deltas that do the work Deltas in a Pack do as well and that is to provide protection for the Queen. His other two Deltas provide protection for the Beta female and the Gamma female and I guess Tristan understands a little bit more than the others.

"Looks like I have an extra shadow." I say teasingly to Jaylen and he smiles when he looks over his shoulder to see Tristan right behind me. Suddenly the door to my wing bursts open and I can sense six Wolves coming up the stairs, "Six Wolves." I say out loud and Tristan pulls me behind him as Jaylen steps next to Tristan.

"Why the fuck didn't you warn me you were coming up here?" Jaylen shouts the moment the six Wolves step into the living room and by the way he and Tristan relax I understand that they know these Wolves. "Sorry, but King Damon ordered us to come here and to protect Commander Morgan. I assumed he informed you about our arrival." One of them responds.

"Jaylen." I hear from behind me and as I turn around I look at his team member named Ace, "Red Forest Pack is here and the Alpha claims that Morgan is his Mate." He says and I hear Midnight roar menacingly, I quickly step forward to wrap my arms around his waist and calm Midnight down.

He buries his nose in my neck as he pulls me tighter to his body and I relax into his arms as I let him hold me. "Skylar, find out if we visited Red Forest Pack on the Full Moon. I doubt we did, but I want to be sure before I confront the Moron." I say as I place my head against Jaylen's shoulder.

As Skylar starts up her laptop Beck and Moura walk out of the living room with a serious look on their faces, a look that tells me that they have thought of something important and I will hear about it once they have found conformation. If they were mistaken they will eventually tell me about it, including why they thought it could have been important.

The Warriors the King send stay near the landing of the top floor and Tristan and Ace have stepped closer to me and Jaylen. I doubt it would take Skylar this long to find an answer for me and the smile on her face tells me she found an answer she was looking for herself, "I knew it, none of us ever spend a Full Moon together at the Academy."I hear Skylar think.

"Who do you mean with us, Skylar?" I ask her and I see her turn a few shades of red as she looks at me. "Damn, you heard my thoughts didn't you?" She asks and I just nod my head as I am still waiting for an answer. "Both your units were never at the Academy during a Full Moon at the same time." She finally replies.

"Is there a reason you looked into that?" I ask her through the mind-link and she tells me that if it happened to me it could have happened to anyone of them, "I will talk to King Damon about this and see if we can arran something during the next Full Moon. "I tell her, everyone deserves to find their fated Mate and I know King

"Commander Morgan, can you hear everyone's thoughts?" Ace asks me and I explain that it still happens at random, "I don't know if I can train it or that it will get better on it's own as time passes. There isn't much known about the gifts, because my ancestors Mates never documented anything and I think we all understand why they didn't keep records." I answer him

"I will train with you, just to see if you can do it whenever you want to. I think it would be very useful for you if you could control it and it might come in handy luring certain assignments." Ace says and I accept his offer to help me train my gift, maybe I can train my other gifts as well.

"King Damon wants us to meet him in the meeting room, looks like he couldn't stall them any longer." Jaylen says as he gets out of his seat and he pulls me with him. "Skylar, I want you to come with us. Don't answer the question just yet, I would like to hear the Maron's story first." Jaylen growls and I can tell that Midnight is near the surface.

I walk next to Jaylen towards the main building and we are surrounded by the Warriors King Damon send with the future Deltas, if anyone tries to get to me they will have quite a few Lycans to get through. I smile when I see that every Commander that is at the Academy has shown up at the main building with their entire unit.

I know the King has quite a few units in his Army, but fuck it is amazing to see so many of them gathered at the main building and even though they are just standing around it is intimidating to Red Forest Pack. Every Commander joins the protection detail around and I know they will follow us to the meeting room, no one in their right mind would try to stop them.

Morgan doesn't seem surprised the Warriors of Red Forest Pack to step aside, I know it doesn't surprise me and most of the members of my unit and as we wall into the main building I notice that a lot of the pulled members from units are waiting on either side of the hallway.

Casimir is pacing up and down the hall in front of the meeting room, the moment his eyes land on us he walks towards us as he is shaking his head. It tells me that either the Alpha of Red Forest Pack has a pretty convincing story for the King or something else is bothering Casimir, but I doubt Morgan will fall for it.

"The Alpha says that Morgan is his Mate and that he is here to claim her. Dad doesn't really believe him but he said he didn't want to claim her in front of the Alpha of Silver Dawn Pack and with the history between both packs we can all understand he would have been reluctant to claim his Mate in front of them. Casimir says as he looks over his shoulder from time to time.

Morgan doesn't seem to be affected by what Casimir sail, I doubt anything could rattle that girl's cage and I look forward to hearing what the Alpha has to say to her. Midnight isn't that pleased and all he wants to do is tear the Idiot's head off, but he also knows that I will stop him at any cost.

"Do you think Skylar will catch up soon enough to give that answer?" I ask Morgan and she just nods her head with a smirk on her face. "Yeah Skylar will be here on time to tell that idiot to fuck off. I also think that Beck and Moura have something up their sleeve, they don't always tell me what's on their mind and sometimes it turns out that they were mistaken, but in the end they always tell me what has been on their mind.

"If it is important to this case they will let us know and if for some reason they don't find the answer they were hoping for, they will tell us once this is over." Morgan says as she looks up at me. Elder Larson approaches us and tells us that the King wants us inside the meeting room, looks like we will get an answer

Elder Larson guides us into the meeting room and when I see the Alpha of Red Forest Pack Midnight becomes murderous. The fucking Idiot has a smirk on his face as if he knows something that I don't and I'm real close to letting go of my control over Midnight Midnight might have been right about me not being able to sense my Mate because I couldn't let go of the past but there's no way in hell I will give her up and I will fight for her if I have to, because I finally realize that Morgan is the kind of female I would like to spend the rest of my life with.

The Alpha walks towards Morgan and he says, "Hello, Sweetheart. We meet again, I'm sorry I didn't claim you on the day we met but I couldn't risk it in front of Silver Dawn Pack" I can hear Amra growl the moment he steps too close and it makes the Alpha take a step back, I have to stifle a smile as he looks. rather uncomfortable towards Morgan.

Looks like Amara doesn't care much for the Idiot and I doubt there are many females that would be jumping up and down if this Idiot turned out to be the Mate. "Commander, I am trying to apologize here for what I put you through, I understand your Woll isn't too happy with me for ignoring her the first time we met." The Alpha says.

Midnight is laughing his ass off in my head and I wonder what the hell is going on, that is until I let the Alpha's words run through my mind again. If the Alpha was Morgan's Mate he would have known that she is a Lycan and not a Wolf, that sounds like strike one tone and I wonder what else he will come up with.

The Alpha doesn't seem to realize the mistake he made but the look on King Damon's face tells me that he did notice it and that he understands that the Alpha was lying to him. If there's one thing King Damon hates, it is when people lie to him to gain control or power and because he knows what Morgan is capable off it is clear to King Damon that the Alpha only claims her as his Mate because she is a special Lycan.

Not that the Alpha seems to be aware of the fact that Morgan is a Lycan, I think it is clear to everyone in this room that he isn't her Mate and that he was trying to claim a Lycan that isn't his to claim. I wonder how long King Damon will allow him to keep talking nonsense, maybe he should allow him to dig an even deeper grave for himself and I am more than willing to shove him in to it.

"Commander, will you please explain to King Damon that I never meant to hurt you or your Wolf. You must understand what could have happened if I had claimed you in front of the Alpha of Silver Dawn Pack and I don't think I would have been able to live with myself if I had put you at risk by claiming you that day." The Alpha says as he looks at Morgan.

I wonder how long it will take him before he realizes the mistake he made and something tells me that it won't be until he has dug himself a really deep grave. A King Damon has done so far is listen to what the Alpha had to say, but he hasn't made an attempt to correct the Alpha on his mistakes nor has one of the Elders tried to point out that his Mate isn't a Wolf but Lycan.

Casimir seems to have finally settled down and he is sitting in the seat next to his Father, he seems a lot calmer knowing that this Alpha is full of bullshit. Just as the Alpha is about to say another word we all hear a knock on the door and Elder Larson opens it to reveal Skylar with Beck and Moura right behind her.

"Your Majesty, I apologize for interrupting this meeting" Skylar says as she walks into the meeting room. "When we went to Red Forest Pack to resolve an issue that had been going on for two years there wasn't a Full Moon, I am not sure why the Alpha says he recognized Commander Morgan as his Mate. It would be impossible for him to know that she is his Mate as there was no Full Moon to confirm it"

Beck is the next one to step forward, "Your Majesty, I think I understand why the Alpha claims Commander Morgan as his Mate. His Father was Nigel Uncle and I think it is safe to say that his Father knew about the Blue River Bloodline. There's no need for the Alpha to confirm or deny this, because I have the evidence right here in my hand and it comes traight from the Elders' Archives." Beck says as he hands the file to King Damon.

"Well, Alpha it seems there are two things contradicting your claim. I think it is safe to say that you heard about what happened to Nigel and his Father and knowing that we met one another before you decided to take a chance, but you hadn't counted on a few things. My unit will always find any answer they need to find to keep me out of trouble and next to that if and that is a huge if I had been your Mate you would have known I wasn't a Wolf but a Lycan. Morgan says to him, just before she punches his lights out.

She turns around to walk into my arms and I pull her close to my chest to let her calm down. Midnight purrs as I bury my nose in her hair to take a moment to calm myself down as well, Midnight forces me to inhale her scent as he needs it to calm him down and ljust enjoy holding her in my arms for a few moments.

I feel relieved to know that he failed to claim Morgan as his Mate, I don't know what I would have done if she had fell for it or if King Damon had ordered her to go with him to find out if they were Mates. Just thinking those thought makes me feel angry, it makes me feel uncomfortable and I squeeze her even closer to my body.

I hear a growl coming from behind Morgan and I know that the Alpha has just gotten back on his feet, "I suggest you go home and forget about claiming Commander Morgan as your Mate, if you come anywhere. near her the Royal Guards have orders to take you out Casimir says to the Alpha and he runs out of the meeting room.

I thank Skylar, Beck and Moura for their help and King Damon asks Beck why he thought he could find the reason for the Alpha wanting Morgan as his Mate, had overheard a conversation between Nigel and one of the others that didn't make it and I thought I remembered him saying his Uncle was also an Alpha, but I couldn't remember from which Pack.

The part about him knowing about the Blue River Bloodline was a bluff though, I just hoped he wouldn't try to deny it when I confronted him with it and I am glad he thought that I had hard evidence against him." Beck answers and I hear Morgan giggle into my chest, a sound I could get used to hearing for the rest of my life.

"Than you better let go of the past or you might not be able to tell on the next Full Moon that she is our fated Mate." Midnight growls in my head.

I am glad Jaylen is holding me in his arms, I feel that I can kill that fucking Alpha and I sigh in relief when I hear him running from the room. Amra is pacing my head, she has trouble calming down and I know how to get her to calm down. "Jaylen, can you allow Midnight to come forward? Amra isn't calming down." I ask him through the mind-link.

The moment Midnight pushes forward I can see Amra stop dead in her tracks and I allow her to push forward, this way is the fastest way to calm a Wolf or Lycan down. It only takes moments for Amra to calm down and through the mind-link she thanks Jaylen and Midnight for giving her the comfort she needed.

"You are welcome, Princess Midnight answers her and if Wolf or Lycan could blush she would have turned a little red at his words. I turn in Jaylen's arms to face King Damon and I see him staring at us with a small smile on his face, looks like he approves of me and Jaylen.

I take a look around the meeting room to see that it is just King Damon, Prince Casimir, Roan, Jaylen and 1. "Morgan, I know I told you that you could keep your title and I have no intention of going back on my word. However, Casimir and I believe it will be best if Jaylen accompanies you from here on out

We know that Midnight will give his life to protect you and Amra, if this Alpha tells anyone else what you are there will be more coming after you. I would feel a lot better if you weren't out there without your Mate, even though I know you both won't know for sure until the next Full Moon and only if Jaylen is able to let go of his past." King Damon says.

"Your Majesty, even if Jaylen doesn't let go of the past I believe today proved to him that Midnight is right. They wouldn't have been able to calm Amra down if they aren't our Mate and Midnight wouldn't have been able to link us if they aren't our Mate, so I think there is enough evidence to confirm to Jaylen that we are Mates." I reply

Three pairs of eyes look at us and I can tell that they are happy to hear what I said. We can link one another because we are part of the King's Army, but our Wolves or Lycans can't mind-link one another and only a Mate can calm down an angry or distraught Woll or Lycan. Midnight was able to do both which is a strong indication that we are Mates.

"Thank you for explaining that. I did pay attention during my classes on the Mate-bond, but I didn't remember this specifically."Jaylen says through the mind-link, but Jaylen didn't seem to be the only one that forgot about that part of their classes on the Mate-bond, "Damn, I can't believe I forgot about that." I hear Roan mutter.

"Don't feel bad about it, Roan. I believe that Morgan is the only one in this room that actually remembers her classes on the Mate-bond." King Damon says and Prince Casimir nods his head to indicate he had forgotten as well. I am thinking about my unit as they talk about the Mate-bond and I realize that it might be a bit complicated to have Jaylen follow me around.

"Your Majesty..." I stop talking when I see an annoyed look on King Damon's face, "Morgan, with you being Jaylen's Mate I want you to call me Damon in private. When Casimir takes over from me Jaylen will take over from his Father and that means that you will become the Royal Gamma female." King Damon says.

"Oh. Fuck." I mutter under my breath and I hear the others chuckle. "Thanks for pointing that out, Damon. I already thanked Jaylen for putting an extra target on my back, but this is a little more than I was expecting." I mumble and all of them go quiet until I start laughing my ass off.

It takes us all a few moments before we stop laughing and Damon asks me to continue with my question, "I was just thinking about our units and how this would affect them. Elavlen is to stay with me at all times it will affect his unit, he won't be able to lead them the way he has always done and I think we need to resolve that before we can move forward. I say.

Jaylen pulls me with him as Casimir starts to talk and as we sit down in the seat across from Casimir Roan sits down next to us. We talk about the best way to make this work without it affecting our units, but we keep going in circles. "Couldn't you combine the units!" Arra asks me and for a moment I let it run through my mind.

"Okay, Morgan. Out with it." Damon says and I smile at him when I realize he noticed I had zoned out. "Amra made a suggestion and I needed a moment to think about it, but I think it would be the best solution. We can combine our units, it will make it a little easier to assign the files to the right team and we both have team Captains that don't need us to hold their hand.

It will also guarantee that I have enough protection with me at all times, something you demanded before we left Blue River Pack." I say as I look at Damon and everyone is thinking about the suggestion Amra made. "I think that will be the best solution, but what if Jaylen has to leave your side?" Casimir asks.

I get out of my seat to walk to the door and pull it open to reveal Tristan standing in front of it with his back to the door, "He hasn't left his spot since we walked in here, he will not leave my side as it is his job as the future Royal Delta to protect me." I say before I thank him for standing guard.

After I have closed the door I walk back to my seat, but aylen seems to have another idea when he pulls me onto his lap. "I think Amra's idea is the best solution but I want Ace to stay with Morgan as well. Both of them are trained to protect the Beta and Gamma female and this will give both of them a change to train on the job." Damon finally says.

A moment later the door opens and both Ace and Tristan walk into the meeting room. "You asked for us, Your Majesty." Ace says as they stop near the chair Jaylen and I are sitting in. "Yes, I want Jaylen to stay v with Morgan as much as possible. If he can't stay with her it will be your job to protect her, it may not be necessary but I want us to be prepared.

If Alpha Idiot tells anyone about Morgan and what she is there will be more Alphas coming for her. Until the day Jaylen takes over from his Father she will be at risk and there is no way in hell I will take any changes. Am I making myself clear?" Damon looks at Ace and Tristan as he speaks to them and both nod their heads.

Jaylen

I know that Ace and Tristan will keep her safe if I am not around, but I wonder if I will be able to tell that she is my Mate when the Full Moon arrives. There is no pull towards her, at least not between our Human sides and I doubt Amra feels it the way Midnight does. We don't feel the sparks or tingles everyone always mentions, but I think Morgan and Midnight are right. about us being Mates and that has to do with all the evidence of the Mate-bond. My sleeping better in her bed, Midnight calming Amra down and Midnight and mra being able to mind-link one another.

Having Morgan in my arms feels natural and Midnight has been curled up in my mind, I can't remember the last time he felt this content in my head. I am to deep in thought to hear what is being said around me and I let my mind wander to the future, a future I never thought I would find after Lynah.

My first priority has and always will be my Pups and I always feared my fated Mate wouldn't be able to accept it, but I think Morgan will kick my ass if I ever put her before my Pups. I hear Midnight chuckle at my thoughts but he knows that I am right, Morgan is the kind of female that would never make me chose between her and my Pups.

I get up when Morgan pulls me out of my seat and she asks if my thoughts were happy ones, I must have looked a little confused as she answers, "You had a soft smile on your face, but we knew you were deep in thought when Casimir said that Thora was wounded and you didn't respond what so ever." She says as she looks up at me.

I smile down at her as I think about my reaction to Thora being injured if I had been paying attention, "Ifl had been listening and Thora had been wounded, I am afraid you would have ended flat on your ass on the floor. I probably would have forgotten that you were sitting on my lap." I tell her honestly and I hear chuckles around me from my friends.

I see Morgan turn towards Casimir as she says, "Now I understand why you told me to brace myself, you knew what would happen if he was paying attention. Well, at least I learned early on that you are an ass." But we can all hear the teasing undertone in her voice and I pull her closer to my side as we walk out of the meeting room.

Suddenly I remember what Skylar had mentioned to me and I turn on my heel to head back to the meeting room. I just hope Damon and Casimir are still there. Jaylen follow me without asking questions. and as I step into the meeting room I see Damon opening the door on the other end of the room, "Your Majesty, can I have a minute?" I ask.

Damon turns around with an annoyed look on his face, but when he sees that the other door is also open the realizes why I didn't call him Damon. "Is it possible for us to have as many units at the Academy as possible during the next Full Moon? Skylar pointed out that most units are never here at the same time."

For a moment Damon is quiet but then he turns to Elder Larson, "Inform all Commanders of Morgan's request. I think it will be good to find out if we have any fated couples in our ranks." Damon says and I smile as I see Skylar grin at me, she is hoping to find her fated Mate. I hope a lot of Wolves and Lycans in the King's Army will find their fated Mate during the next Full Moon.

When we get back to the top floor of my unit's wing I see that both unit members are present, the guy that lunged at me earlier takes a step forward and he hands his head before he starts talking. "Commander Morgan. I want to apologize for my behavior earlier. I acted before I had all the information and 1 apologize for making assumptions about something I didn't witness myself."

Amra and I can sense that he is sincere, "I am putting you on probation. Once Jaylen and I have explained. everything you will understand why." I respond, I need him to understand. I need to be able to trust him. and even though he apologized I don't have that much faith in him.

Jaylen explains to everyone what happened in his past and I hear almost all of them roar or growl, the ones that stay quiet are the men in his own team. "From the moment Morgan and her unit moved in here we haven't spend a single Full Moon at the Academy, but we have crossed paths so to speak. Morgan and her unit left in the morning and we returned about two hours later during a Full Moon.

Midnight scented his Mate but I didn't because of my past, Midnight has been telling me for a few years now to let go of the past and he has been more persistent since that Full Moon. Midnight knew that Morgan is our fated Mate, but as you can understand I didn't and I truly believe I would have never figured n out if it hadn't been for a few recent events.

Midnight had enough of waiting for me to figure it out on my own finally, so he decided to take control as I was asleep and I have been sleeping in Morgan's bed every chance Midnight saw to do that. The day Blue River Pack was attacked I woke up in her bed and I can tell you I was completely at a loss; I didn't understand what I was doing there or how I got there.

Today I talked to Morgan about my past and the worries that come with that past. I know she will never make me chose between her and my Pups, something that has been my greatest worry when it comes to finding my fated Mate. I hope that during the next Full Moon I will be able to tell for myself that she is my fated Mate, but I know without a doubt that she is my fated Mate" Jaylen explains.

Flora asks him how he can be so sure and when he explains what happened in the meeting room she. knows that the two of us are fated Mates. Flora had asked question after question during our classes on the Mate-bond, she had an example for every question she asked and it gave us all a better understanding of the Mate-bond..

"I know you all heard about the Alpha that came here to claim me as his Mate, but he made a few mistakes along the way and he bloodline and that will mean that there might be other Alphas that will come after me or who will try to forcefully mark me. will not be bothering me again. However, he might inform other Alphas of my King Damon isn't willing to take that risk and asked us to find a way to make sure I will be protected at all times. As long as our assignments allow it Jaylen will be by my side, but if he can't stay with me Ace and Tristan will take over from Jaylen." I say and I know that everyone will want to know why Ace and Tristan were assigned to that job,

One of Jaylen's unit members asks that question and I see Jaylen mind-linking someone, not difficult to guess he is linking King Damon. It takes a few moments before he looks around the room and after a few seconds he looks at me, "I am the future Royal Gamma and my team are the future Royal Deltas, that is why Ace and Tristan will stay with Morgan if I can't." Jaylen says.

For a moment there is absolute silence around us, but that only lasts for a few moments. Everyone starts asking questions and Jaylen answers as many as he can, in the end everyone agrees with him that this was the best way to handle his title and the Academy. Beck asks a question I have been thinking about myself "Where will you move to? Your team lives here with you and Jaylen and his team live on the other side of that wall." I look at Jaylen to see if he has an answer but he looks at me for an answer, "I will bunk with Danica and Skylar can bunk with Chaya, that way we will have two rooms available for Commander Jaylen's team." Faith says.

Emilio tells Ace and Tristan to take the room next to mine and that he and Deacon will take the other room. Jaylen looks from Emilio to me and I start laughing my ass off before he even utters the question. running through his head, "Where am I supposed to sleep?" Faith doesn't hesitate and softly knocks him on his head. "Yeah, not much up there." She mumbles as she walks back to her seat. Jaylen is to stunned by her action to react and everyone is laughing their asses off, "You will stay with me, Dummy."I say teasingly through the mind-link and I can see Midnight pushing forward.

He doesn't think twice as he pulls me onto his lap and buries his nose in my neck, "Damn, I can get used to this." I say to Amra and she just nods her head as she lies down in the back of my head, she feels as comfortable in his arms as I do. My arms wrap around his neck and I just hold him close to me, enjoying the warmth and comfort I feel in his arms.

I don't know how long we have been sitting like this before Moura calls out that lunch is ready, Beck follows her out of the kitchen and both of them are holding two plates. Moura hands me a plate as Beck hands Jaylen a plate and I am glad I don't have to walk into that kitchen to get myself a plate of food.

Jaylen and I eat our lunch as we watch our unit members walking in and out of the kitchen, Moura gets compliments on the lunch she prepared for us and I hear Beck growl a few times. Jaylen warns his men that Beck is Moura's mate and Moura just smiles at Beck as she wraps her arms around his waist.

The first Full Moon after she turned eighteen was the day Beck had been waiting for, he could finally claim his Mate and I made sure their teams went with me on assignments that week. I wanted to give them time to spend together, something I learned from watching Dad after every Full Moon at Blue River Pack and Moura and Beck appreciated the week they could spend together.

I usually send their teams on assignment together, but know with the current situation neither one of them will expect it anymore. They are both smart enough to understand that sometimes I will need one of them with me, I will try to minimize that from happening. But I know they will understand it if I need to split them up for some reason.

It will probably happen a lot less now, that Jaylen and I will join our units together, his team will undoubtedly follow me wherever I have to go on an assignment and Jaylen won't be far behind them. Tristan and Ace have been near us the entire time and annoys me a lot less than I thought it would, maybe I will get used to having them follow me around "Yeah, right." Amra chuckles in my head.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - A Ga 250[1,722 words]

Chapter 250 Rush Finished

My team has left Morgan's wing to collect their belongings and Morgan's team is clearing out two of the bedrooms in their Quarters. By the end of the day they will be moved into Morgan's Quarters and I will knowingly spend my first peaceful night with my Maten my arms, I still can't believe I had to ask that question out loud.

Dalton will laugh his ass off when I tell him what Faith did, just like Midnight is laughing his ass off right now. I didn't ask the question because I didn't know the answer, I just didn't want to assume I would be staying with Morgan and then have the rug pulled from under me. I needed someone to confirm my own thoughts and I hear Midnight chuckle when I remember she called me Dummy.

"I hope the rooms are soundproof because you are going to pay for calling me a Dummy." I growl teasingly through the mind-link and I feel her squirm in my arms, I think she understands very well what kind of punishment I have on my mind. Tonight I will have a few firsts with my Mate and I hope they will be a first for her too.

"Good to hear you think of her as our Mate." Midnight comments on my thoughts and I smile as I realize that I did think of Morgan as my Mate, I hope this means I will be able to tell on the next Full Moon that she is my fated Mate. My unit still has an assignment to complete, but I hope we will have the weekend off because I want Morgan to meet Dalton and Thora.

Jam grateful that both of my Pups look like me and not their Mother, it would have been a constant reminder of what she did to me and Dad. Both of them have my blond hair and Thora has my ice blue eyes while Dalton's eyes resemble Morgans. Midnight pushes forward to look at Morgan and he is surprised to see that my observation was correct.

Dalton and Morgan have the same ocean blue eyes and I can't wait to point it out to her. "Jaylen, do you still have assignments left? Flora just tells me that they only have one more assignment to finish and I think I could use the weekend off." Morgan says, but before I can answer her Maverick responds by holding up the file of our last assignment.

Flora hands the file she holds to Beck and after he has taken a look at it I see a smirk appear on his face, "Yeah, Moura and I will take care of this one. Can't wait to see the look on his face when he sees me. Beck responds and he tells us this assignment will take him home. "My Father always told me I wouldn't be able to succeed in the King's Army." He mumbles.

"Looks like your Father was wrong on two accounts." Moura says and I think everyone is looking at her rather confused, "My Father said I would never find my Mate, that no female would want a loser like me. I never figured out why my Father would say that about his own Son, but it made me more determined to succeed in everything I do." Beck responds.

I ask Beck who his Father is and when he answers me I hear a few growls around me, we don't have a good experience with his Father to say the least. His Father is the Gamma of White Rock Pack, but unlike the name might suggest the Pack is known for its cruelty towards Pack-members and enemies.

Something I have never been able to understand is why their Alpha would refuse any help from the King or why he refuses to grant us access to his territory. I know Damon is giving him a last change to turn their ways around and if Beck is unsuccessful we will pay them a visit with both our units, maybe I will ask Amir as a backup if that day comes.

Once our teams have either gone on their assignment or went back to their own Quarters I get out of the chair with Morgan in my arms. I walk her to her room while some of the others start cleaning up in the living room and kitchen, I sit down on her bed with her still wrapped in my arms and I allow myself to enjoy the peace and quiet for a moment.

"If we manage to have the weekend off I would like youho meet my Pups." I whisper in Morgan's ear before I suck her earlobe in my mouth, her breathing hitches as I suck on it a little harder and I chuckle when I can smell her arousal fill the air. "I told you I was going to make you pay." I whisper before I start to explore every inch of exposed skin with my mouth and hands.

Morgan is a moaning mess by the time I pull her shirt up and start to explore the skin that was hidden under the fabric, her hands are roaming my body as I move her shirt higher and higher. She starts pulling on my shirt as I unclasp her bra, I help her get rid of my shirt but I use her shirt to cover her face and to lock her arms above her head.

I push her bra out of the way with my nose as I place kisses on her exposed skin, her back bucks of the bed the moment I suck a nipple into my mouth and the smell of her arousal becomes a lot heavier. I let my rongue circle around her nipple while my free hand cups her other breast and I pinch her nipple with my thumb and index finger.

Once both her nipples are hard little buds I pull her shirt out of the way, quickly followed by her bra and I kiss my way up to her mouth. I gently nibble on her bottom lip until she opens her mouth for me, I don't waste a moment to kiss her deeply and I enjoy exploring every inch of her mouth with my tongue.

My cock is getting harder by the second and I place myself between her legs as I slowly break our kiss. Both of us are breathing heavily and I stare into her eyes as I press my cock against her core, Morgan moans as I put more pressure on her clit. She pushes her hips against mine, making me groan as my cock grows even harder and I know neither one of us will last long.

"Damn, Morgan. This feels so fucking good." I groan as we both start moving faster, I can see Amra pushing forward as Midnight shows himself: "Your punishment will happen once we have made you come, Princess." Midnight says and I feel her pussy clench against my cock, pushing both of us over the edge.

It takes both of us a little while to catch our breath and Midnight suddenly grabs Morgan as he pushes me to sit up straight, pulling Morgan over my lap. She squeals as he pulls her leggings and panties down in he leaves them around her knees before our eyes glide to her ass and before she can comprehend what is going to happen our hand collides with her ass,

"This.." slap "is" slap "for" slap "calling" slap "a" slap "Dummy" slap. After the second slap to her ass her squeals turned to moans and the smell of her arousal lingers heavy in the air. I keep my hand on her rubbing and massaging it gently and her moans become louder. I pull her panties and leggings back up before I pull her onto my lap and smash my lips to hers for a breath taking kiss, "Do you like your punishment, Princess?" I ask her as

I hold her close and I see at confused look in her eyes, just before she starts to move around on my lap. "No, Princess. You get no release right now." I whisper in her ear and I chuckle as-hear her whimper. "Jaylen, please." Morgan says as she looks at me and for a moment I contemplate on giving in, that is until Midnight reminds me of why she is getting punished. A knock on the door prevents me from saying anything and I place Morgan on the bed before I walk towards the door to open it, Emilio is standing on the other side with my bag in his hand. "Thanks but I could have done it myself." I say as I take the bag from him and he tells me that I should concentrate on my Mate.

I hear Morgan groan behind me as Emilio walks away chuckling, I turn around to find her hiding under the covers and I slowly pull the covers of her. "Are you ever going to call me Dummy again?" I ask her as I crawl onto the bed, she giggles as I start placing kisses on her stomach and Midnight shows me an image

I don't hesitate and start blowing raspberries, making Morgan giggle even harder. I make my way up her body while blowing raspberries along the way, "Jaylen, stop it." She giggles as I blow a raspberry on the side of her breast and I slowly continue to make my way to her mouth.

I place feather light kisses on her face, "We will continue this later, Princess," I say before I kiss her again, I doubt I will ever be able to get enough of her lips on me and I can't wait for the Full Moon to come. I need to know that she is my Mate without a doubt before I will mate and mark her, I want our first time to be special.

An urgent knock on the door has us both jumping of the bed and when Morgan opens the door I see Faith standing on the other side, she looks pissed off about something. "We need to get to the infirmary, Beck and Moura just returned and most members of their teams are injured." Faith says and both of us rush down the stairs after her.
