Danica is waiting for us outside our building, "Find out what the fuck happened? I want answers and I want them fast." I growl at her and she nods her head as she infirmary and every head snaps towards us as we enter arms on her heel. I slam the door open to the don't see it because my eyes are on Beck.

Two members of Jaylen's unit are holding on to him and I can hear his wolf growling as I get closer to them, "Beck, stand down." I yell as I let my Alpha aura escape and in seconds Beck is on his knees, I slowly rain in my aura as I kneel down next to him. I place a hand on his shoulder as I look for any injuries on Beck, but he seems to be fine.

I don't say anything, I don't ask any questions, I just stay beside him as Jaylen and his unit members keep others away from us. "Beck." I hear Elder Emmett call out his name. "Doc wants you in there with Moura. she will be fine but with you beside her healing will go quicker." He says and I can feel relief wash over Beck.

"Go be with Moura, I will take care of things on this end. We won't make a move without the two of you, do you understand me?" I ask Beck and he nods his head before he follows Elder Emmett to see his Mate. "Jaylen, I want every piece of information there is on his Father and that Pack. I want everyone in the living room as fast as they can, if his Father or the Alpha is responsible for this I am going to make them. pay. I growl.

Jaylen pulls me into his arms, "You heard her, Emilio. Get that information and make sure everyone comes to the living room. I will inform King Damon." He says as he allows Midnight to push forward to calm down me and Amra, making me feel grateful that he remembered they can calm us down quicker together.

"Morgan. I just heard about your unit members. Find out what happened and take action accordingly, whatever you need you will have access to it."I hear King Damon say in my head, I tell him I will wait until Beck and Moura can join us and that I will inform him of the action we will be taking.

"Doc, how is Moura doing?" Jaylen asks and Doc tells us she will be fine but that it will take a few days, "She will need to take it slow at first, but she will recover completely. Whoever did this really wanted her dead, luckily Beck grab hold of her and didn't release her until she was in the infirmary. Being that close to her Mate saved her life, if he hadn't been there she would have died on the way over here." Doc says.

Jaylen and I walk back in silence, Tristan and Ace right behind us and both of them are quiet as well. I really hope Danice was able to get some answers for me. I want to know what happened to find out where things went wrong and then I will make a decision on how to get back at Beck's Father and his former Alpha

It is deadly quiet as we walking to our building, but with my hearing I know almost everyone is upstairs. I can hear their erratic heartbeats and I know they have no idea how Moura and Beck are doing. "Beck wasn't injured and Moura will be fine in a week or so." I say as we walk into the living room and I hear a lot of sighs of relief.

Danica and Emilio are the last ones to walk into the living room and I just look at Danica to get an answer to my question, "They identified themselves at the gate and one of the guards told them the Alpha was on his way. Our best guess is that one of the guards must have seen how Beck and Moura were acting towards one another and informed Beck's Father about it.

The Alpha was the first to show up at the gate and told Beck they were not welcome, that he wouldn't allow them to set foot in his territory. Beck apparently shrugged his shoulders and was already turning around when they heard a Wolf approaching at high speed. No one did anything to provoke what happened next.

The Wolf jumped across the border to barrel into Mours and as he moved towards her again he wounded a few of their team members. He was so fast that no one was able to prevent him from slashing his claw across her chest, they were able to shield Moura from another attack and allow Beck to grab her and run to the vehicles." Danica says,

I don't need to ask the question but I do it anyway, "Was anyone able to tell you who the Wolf was?" I ask her and I hear a voice from my left say, "Beck yelled at him I will get you for this, Father." Amra is pacing in the back of my head and I try to get closer to Jaylen for some comfort, I was hoping it hadn't been his Father that attacked Moura.

"We will go over every file we have on White Rock Pack we need to find out everything we can before we start making a plan. If necessary I will ask Amir to join us on this assignment, King Damon has been trying this Pack to change their ways and so far his units have failed. This was the last change he was giving White Rock Pack and we all know that they failed misembly." Jaylen says.

Emilio has placed every file on the table and Flora has opened every single one of them, before handing them out to be read. "Write down everything you find on the Alpha, Beta, Gamma and any Delta they might have. We need to know as much as we can on the characters of the leadership, anything that can tell us about how they might react to certain actions. Flora says.

For the next few hours we work in silence, no one says a word as they read every file we have and I hope we can find out a way to deal with White Rock Pack. There are to many files to deal with in one day, but we will not rest until we have gone through all of them and I hope it won't mess with our weekend off.

I really want to meet Dalton and Thora and of course Jaylen's Father, I hope they will accept me as his Mate. I am not sure if I could handle it if they were against me and Jaylen building on our bond, if they believe I will be more trouble than a blessing to Jaylen and I move a little closer to Jaylen's side.

"Would you like to sit n my lap, Princess?" Jaylen asks before he pulls me onto his lap and I feel my nerves disappear as I cuddle closer to him. I am reading a file on a matter that happened five about years ago, a female was found at the side of the road by a Gamma returning to his Pack and I smile when I read a familiar name.

I try to remember if I can recall hearing something about this and slowly a memory comes to the front of my mind. *Flashback"

"Luna Giselle, they need you in the infirmary," An Omega says as she interrupts our Mother-Daughter day. but if Mom gets called to the infirmary it is a serious matter and we both rush to the infirmary to find out what is going on. Dad is talking to Gamma Brian and an see blood on his clothes, but he doesn't seem to be injured.

I take the clothes one of our nurses is holding and make my way over to Dad and Gamma Brian, no one tells me to leave so I just wait somewhere to the side. Tate, whoever did this to her meant to kill her. She is a little older than Morgan and had no way of defending herself, she was attacked by someone in Wolf form.

The amount of blood, the slashes on her body and where I found her all tell me she wasn't meant to survive. You need to report this to the Council, this girl needs to get justice."

Gamma Brian says and Dad asks Ashton to take care of it. Gamma Brian takes the clothes from my hands and thanks me for giving him time to tell Dad what happened.

Mom spend the next forty eight hours in the infirmary, it took that long for them to stitch up every wound and to get her stabilized. The next day Mom took me with her, she wanted me to sit with the girl and just talk to her about whatever popped into my mind. I will never forget the way she looked with the bruises and bandages covering her body, she was drifting in and out of consciousness and I decided to tell her about my family. I started out with my Mom and Dad before I told her about my Brothers, getting a small smile from her every now and then.

It took two weeks before she was able to stay awake for few hours in a row and I never heard what happened to her or who was responsible for the attack. She was only fifteen at the time, Gamma Brian decided to raise her himself and Sam, his Son, treats her like his baby Sister. The only thing I ever heard about her past is that she couldn't go back to her former Pack, but I never found out why.

"End Flashback"

Once I have relived the memory I look around me and see that everyone is staring at me, "Where did you go?" Jaylen asks as he points at the file in my hand, I quickly tell them the content of the file and that I need to make a phone call. I grab my phone to call Dad and in the meantime I ask Flora if she can make me some coffee, "I think I am going to need it. I mumble.

For the past few days we have been making plans to take down the leadership of White Rock Pack and I still can't believe that one of their victims survived, even if it was barely. Morgan refuses to talk to Beck about it, she wants to wait until Moura gets released from the infirmary and she needed to explain to all of us that Moura would be able to calm Beck down.

Damon has given our unit the weekend off because he knows we have been working our ass off, but I have this feeling Morgan and I will be the only two that will have other things on our minds. Ace and Tristan will join us when we go home for a visit, but I know both of them have already asked their baby Brothers to get them some more information.

I think they will be working while Morgan and I will enjoy some time with my Dad and my Pups, Dad knows I am bringing Morgan but I didn't tell him why and I wonder if anyone of them can figure it out without me telling them. "You hovering all over her will tell them enough." Midnight snickers and I am afraid he has a valid point.

Emilio and Deacon are waiting for me and Morgan outside our wing and they walk us to the SUV with Ace and Tristan inside it, Deacon decided it was best if they stayed here to keep an eye on Moura and Beck. Amir had heard rumors that his Father was planning on coming to the Academy and we have been taking precautions to keep them both safe.

"See you when you get back, Commanders." Deacon says as he closes the door and Ace drives off, heading to the Palace. I am not sure if Morgan has made the connection yet and I can't wait to see the look on her face when she realizes she will be spending the weekend at the Palace, I doubt most people will understand that I live at the Palace.

It isn't a long drive, but Ace decides to take the scenic tour and I am glad he made that decision. Morgan is leaning out the window while hanging over my lap and the wind blows through her hair as I point out a few landmarks, I keep my eyes on her face that holds a huge smile.

Suddenly she shoots up straight as she looks around her. "Jaylen, isn't this the road that leads to the Palace?" She asks and I see both Ace and Tristan with a smirk on their face. "Yeah, it is." I say as I keep my eyes on her face, hoping to see it the moment she puts two and two together and Tristan has turned around in his seat to watch her too.

"Fuck." Morgan mutters as I see her eyes widen and Tristan is laughing his ass off, she looks at me as she punches Tristan's arm. "Why didn't you tell me you live at the Palace?" She asks and I ask her where she suspected the future Royal Gamma would live. She buries her face in my chest as I wrap my arms around her and Ace chuckles as he slows down at the gate, the guard quickly waves us through when he sees me in the backseat. "Turn around, Morgan. The Palace will come into view and I think you will like to see it." I say and she slowly turns in my lap to see what I am talking about.

The Palace is nothing like the buildings they describe in fairytales, it is more like a huge mansion or maybe better put multiple mansions connected to one and other around a garden. Made of light yellow bricks with white bricks framing the windows on every loor and a huge double door opening into a lobby that makes you think you are in a hotel.

No one gets into the Palace without going by the reception, no appointment means no entry and there are several guards on duty to make sure you leave the premises if you don't have an appointment. I guide Morgan inside with Ace and Tristan right behind us. Ace is carrying my bag while Tristan is carrying

All of us are wearing our uniforms and every guard shows Morgan the respect she deserves, but the females at the reception are a different story. "Do you have an appointment, little girl?" Mandy asks and I can see that one of the guards is mind-linking someone if I had to guess it is Darnon.

"I don't need an appointment as I am a Commander in King Damon's Army. Every Commander can come to the Palace to see him if it is necessary and King Damen will always make time to see one of his Commanders, maybe you should ask for a copy of the book on Palace protocol." Morgan replies and I hear a few chuckles through the mind-link.

"Everyone without an appointment gets escorted off the premises and there are no exceptions, not even for someone that claims to be a Commander in the King's Army" Mandy says and I have a lot of trouble controlling Midnight. Mandy turns towards me with a huge simile on her face, "Hello, Jaylen. Home for the weekend 1 see, if you need company just let me know. She says, "Wow, I thought this was the Palace, not a brothel." Morgan mumbles and Midnight has forgotten about his anger towards Mandy immediately, he is rolling around in my head. "Mandy, report to the Academy immediately. Elder Larson will find you another position, I don't ever want to see you in or around the Palace ever again." Damon says.

Two of the guards step towards her as she tells him that she did nothing wrong, but apparently Damon heard more than any of us is aware of. "I warned you before, Mandy. I gave you one last change and you just blew it. Commander Morgan seems to know Palace protocol better than you and yet you took a test to get this position." Damon states as guards guide her out of the Palace.

"How is Moura doing?" Damon asks and Morgan tells him she is fine but pissed off at Beck's Father for attacking her. "She will be released from the infirmary today and when we get back I will tell everyone what I know about the victim from White Rock Pack that was found five years ago. I need Moura to calm Beck and his Wolf down, if she isn't there he will go on a rampage.

After that we will discuss our best way to take down the leadership of White Rock Pack and I am afraid I have to ask that Commander Amir joins us in that task. You might want to keep a unit or two on hand as back-up, I am not sure what will happen when we get there." Morgan tells him as we walk to the back of the Palace.

The back of the Palace belongs to the King and his family, his Royal Beta and his family and the Royal Gamma and his family. The ground floor holds the living room, the dining room, a few offices and the kitchen. The first floor belongs to the Royal Gamma, the second floor belongs to the Royal Beta and the top floor belongs to the King.

Ace and Tristan take the stairs up to my floor to put our bags in my room before they head to their own Quarters in the right wing of the Palace, I walk into the living room with Morgan and I see Dad smile at us. Thora only has eyes for me and she jumps in my arms squealing as I catch her, Dalton walks over to us with his eyes on Morgan.

"You must be Commander Morgan." Dalton states as he stops in front of her. "Flora told me about you after the attack on Blue River Pack, did anyone get hurt Heasks and Morgan tells him that she was the only one that got hurt, "But Amra healed the moment we shifted and we took the Alpha down before anyone else could get hurt." Morgan answers him.

Dalton grabs her hand and pulls her to the couch in front of the window, "How can you take down an Alpha? Dad says it always takes at least two or more unit members to take down an Alpha, except for Dad of course. He will be the next Royal Camma and is strong enough to take down an Alpha." Dalton rambles as they sit down

Morgan tells him about her Father being the Alpha of Blue River Pack, about the special bloodline that runs through her family and then she explains all the abilities she has. Thora has gotten out of my lap and without hesitation she crawls onto Morgan's lap, both of them asking Morgan questions about each ability she has.

Even during lunch they keep asking her questions and Midnight is sulking in the back of my head, our Pups have claimed the seats on either side of Morgan. Dad seems to think it is funny, but I feel like sulking myself and I keep my eyes on Morgan as she eats her lunch while talking to my Pups.

Suddenly Dalton gets a worried look on his face and Morgan asks him what is on his mind, "If you are a special Lycan then your life is in danger, is that why you are staying here?" Dalton asks and for a moment I want to tell him that it is none of his business. "Dalton, you are right. Being a special Lycan means that until I get marked by my Mate others might try to get their hands on me and because of that the King has demanded I take an extra team with me if I have to go on assignment. The reason I am here has nothing to do with that, I am here because I wanted to get to know you and Thora.

Your Father has told me about the two of you and about how much he loves the two of you, I was curious about the two young Lycans that can actually put a smile on his face. I thought that was something he wasn't capable of, he always looked so grumpy." She says as she winks at Thora and Dalton.

I knew I was getting myself in to trouble with Jaylen, bu I couldn't help myself when I answered Dalton's question and hearing Thora giggle while Jaylen looked at me dumbfounded was worth it. I hear Midnight growling at me, but everyone can tell he isn't angry with me and I just give him a sweet smile.

After lunch Dalton and Thora give me a tour of their flor and Jaylen just follows us around as I get guided from one room to the next, I suppress a smile as I hear his thoughts. He doesn't like the fact that his Pups are holding my hands and that he has no other choice but to follow us, I know I am blushing the moment

I hear him think: "Don't show her my room, I don't know how to explain her bag is in there."

Dalton is talking about his latest project in school when he opens the door to Jaylen's room, he is so preoccupied with his story that he doesn't notice the two bags on the bed and I see relief in Jaylen's eyes the moment Dalton closes the door again. "Looks like he didn't see that Thora did notice your bag on his bed." Amra chuckles in my head and I get this feeling she will ask Jaylen about it with a lot of people around. Thora keeps holding my hand as we continue the tour of the Royal Gamma floor and every once in a while I see her glancing at her Father, she is smarter than Jaylen gives her credit for.

Morgan, do you think I can become a Commander in the King's Army?" Thora asks and I start laughing my ass off when both her Father and Brother start growling. "Of course you can, Thora. I think the only thing you have to worry about are the two overprotective males in your life." I answer her and she gives both her Father and Brother a death glare.

We are on our way back to the living room when I hear rapid footsteps approaching from behind and I can sense that it is a Werewolf that is coming our way, I decide to ignore it as we are in the Royal Family's private wing. I listen to Thora and Dalton arguing about whether or not Thora should become a Commander in the King's Army.

"Jaylen, I heard you were back and it looks like you finally got those two a nanny." I hear a voice coming from behind me and the way Dalton and Thora react tells me I will not like what I will find behind me. I slowly turn around to see a female in a dress that barely covers her ass and I can tell she isn't to pleased to see Thora and Dalton.

"Jo-Anna, this is Commander Morgan. Morgan, this is Jo-Anna. Jo-anna is Roan's Aunt." Jaylen says as he introduces us and he moves a little closer towards me. Jo-Anna looks me up and down before she returns her attention to Jaylen, but Dalton has stepped in front of his Father.

"Dalton, why don't you show your nanny to the servant Quarters and take your Sister with you." Jo-Anna says and I feel Amra pushing forward, she doesn't like the way Jo-Anna is talking to Dalton. I can hear Midnight growling and by the looks on everyone's face I am the only one that can hear him, Jaylen's hand is on Thora's back and I place mine on top of it, calming Midnight down.

"Jo-Anna, Commander Morgan isn't a nanny." Jaylen growls at her, but it seems that she has a rather selective hearing and the way she is eyeing my Mate is rubbing Amra the wrong way. "Jo-Anna, do you live at the Palace or do you and your Mate live elsewhere?" ask with a fake sweet smile on my face and I hear Midnight chuckle in my head, "Way to go, Princess." I hear Jaylen mumble in my head.

If looks could kill I would be dead with the look Jo-Anna gives me and I think it surprises everyone when she finally answers ine, "I rejected my Mate, he couldnt give me what I deserved and that is status. Jaylen will be my chosen Mate." Jaylen looks from Jo-Anna to me and he shakes his head when he sees the smile my face.

"I might be mistaken, but for Jaylen to become your chosen Mate he has to agree to become your chosen Mate and I have a feeling Jaylen is still waiting for his fated Mate, I also think it is safe to say that he would never take you as a chosen Mate, not now that he know you are a power hungry Wolf." "Jaylen, tell that..." "Aunt Jo-Anna, I don't want to hear other word from you, I have told stay away from Jaylen and 1 believe King Damon told you to stay out of our private wing, unless Dad or I invite you here." Roan interrupts her and I see her Wolf pushing forward. "I will get what I want and you can't stop me, little Pup Jo-Anna growls at Roan and I can't help but join Amra in laughing our ass off. "If she thinks she can take on lycan she is really stupid. Even Dalton can defeat her and he doesn't have his Lycan yet." Amra says. We sensed King Damon coming as Jo-Anna was talking and the moment he steps into view she becomes a different female, "King Damon, it is so good to see you came to see my Brother in law and Jaylen just. introduced me to one of your Commanders, I think its great that you allow a female to lead one of your units." She says in a soft voice.

Jo-Anna doesn't seem to notice the two Guards that are behind her and King Damon asks her if Royal Beta Tom invited her over. "Your Majesty, I wouldn't be here if he hadn't." She answer and I feel Thora tensing beside me, I place my hand on her lower back to run circles with my thumb.

Thora steps a little closer to my side and after a few moments she rests her head against my side, relaxing more as I keep my hand on her lower back. "Jaylen, escort Morgan to the living room. I will be there as soon as I have dealt with Jo-Anna, I want to discuss the Full Moon party at the Academy Sunday evening." King Damon says.

He turns his attention back to Jo-Anna, "I know that Tom didn't invite you and this time you have crossed a line. Jo-Anna, you are banished from our private wing and if you ever set foot in here again the Guards will escort you to the dungeons instead of your room." King Damon says before the two Guards grab her arms to lead her away.

I know King Damon will not follow us until he is sure that Jo-Anna is lead out of their private wing and as 1 sit down on a couch I pull Thora onto my lap, "Do you want to talk about Jo-Anna?"I ask her through the mind-link before I remember I can't link her, but her head snapping up at me tells me she heard me just fine.

Amra had to explain it might have something to do with my bloodline or with Jaylen being our Mate, but she wasn't sure which one it was. So I decided to test the theory of it being my bloodline, I chose Royal Beta Tom as there was no connection between us and even as the Royal Beta he had no mind-link to the King's Army.

I waited until everyone was gathered in the living room, I still had Thora on my lap as it seemed to keep her calm, "Tom."I said and he jumped from his seat looking around the room and Thora was in stitches. because I told her what I was planning to do.

"Is something wrong, Dad?" Roan asks him and when Tom tells them what happened every head in the room turns in my direction. "Sorry about that, Tom. I needed to test a theory and this was the fastest way to do it. I asked Thora a question through the mind-link without thinking about it, until she looked at me and I realized I shouldn't have been able to do that.

Amra gave me two tons and I chose to test the one that made the most sense to me, the other theory might have proven to be correct under different circumstances." I explain to them and Damon ist shaking his head with a smile on his face,

"I will tell you about Jo-Ann when you tuck me in tonight, Morgan." I hear Thora reply and for the moment 1 will just need to wait to find out what Jo-Anna did to make her an Dalton feel uncomfortable around her. "Looks like we can add another gift to the list." Casimirays. I ask Dalton what he has learned in school so far in regards to bloodlines and I am not really surprised to find out that Dalton and Thora both have knowledge about different kinds of bloodlines. Like every other Pup they have learned about the bloodline of an Alpha, Beta and Gamma, the most common bloodlines there are.

An Alpha, Beta or Gamma bloodline becomes stronger with each generation if they chose to accept their fated Mate, but taking a chosen Mate will not strengthen their bloodline and with multiple chosen Mates in a bloodline it will eventually weaken. Dalton and Thora, unlike most Pups, know about the special bloodline that sometimes run in a Pack.

Even though Dalton and Thora asked a million questions already they haven't run out of questions yet, especially with the discovery of my newest ability and the next few hours we discuss every one of my abilities again. I see the smile on Dalton's face grow the more I show him, especially when i start telling him what others are thinking.

Chapter 254 Dressed Jaylen

I can look back on a successful weekend, Morgan wasn't afraid to open her mouth to anyone and put a few people back in their place. After hearing Dalton tell us what they knew about special bloodlines, it sounded like my Pups had been paying more attention during classes than I did, they seemed to know exactly what Morgan meant when she told them who her Father was

Morgan answered all of their questions and I was surprised when Thora asked Morgan to tuck her in, but knowing how long it took I guess they had a long conversation about something. Morgan refused to tell me what it was about, she just told me she would deal with it and I know she will take care of whatever it was Thora told her.

In a few hours we will return to the Academy for the Full Moon party and even though I am more convinced than ever that Morgan is my Mate I am still nervous. Not for finding my Mate, but nervous for finding out Morgan isn't as comfortable with my Pups as she tells me and Midnight growls in my head.

Midnight knows I am nervous about that, but he doesn't agree with me and even though I believe him a small part of me is still scared. It will always be something I will fear until the day I have marked my Mate and even then it might stay in the back of my mind, the thought of my Mate never being willing z to take care of my Pups.

I never told anyone about this, but I overheard a conversation between Roan's Mother and my Mother. My Mother had returned to the palace about a year after Lynah's trick, she wanted to rebuilt her relationship with me and Dad had told me to give her a change. My Mother and Roan's Mother had been walking in the gardens and when they sat down on a bench they hadn't seen that I was lying in the grass not far from them, "I still can't believe what she did to Jaylen. His fated Mate will never accept him and his Pups." Roan's Mother, Madelyn, had said to my Mother and I waited for my Mother to respond.

"I know his fated Mate will never accept them, I rejected my fated Mate a few years ago because he already had Pups and he didn't hesitate to accept the rejection, he knew I had a Pup of my own with another male. She might string him along and try to get rid of them by sending them away the first chance she gets. My Mother answered.

Both of them were quiet for a while and then I heard my Mother ask Madelyn, "Would you have accepted Tom if he had had a Pup when the two of you met?" I was holding my breath as I waited for Madelyn to answer the question and her answer has been in the back of my mind ever since, clouding the meaning of the Full Moon every time.

"I would probably act like I accepted it until he had marked me and then I would start to make preparations for them to be send to a boarding school or something like that. After all they have no right to his title and might become a threat to my own Pups someday, it isn't a risk I would be willing to take.

If he would fight me on sending them away, I would make sure it looked as if they would start trouble every time he wouldn't be around and then I would make him chose after a while. By that time his Lycan wouldn't allow him to reject me anymore and that would make it easier to force him to choose me instead of his Pups." Madelyn had answered.

I am reminded of that conversation every time a Full Moon approaches and even now after spending this much time with Morgan I fear she might do what Madelyn would have done. It still amazes me that Madelyn would do that to her fated Mate, but then again it didn't surprise me as Wolves and Lycans were known not to accept another's Pup easily.

It doesn't mean every Wolf or Lycan would reject their fated Mate for having Pups with another, but it usually means they are second change Mates and not fist Mates. If it concerns a first Mate they almost always reject their fated Mate for two reasons, reason one will be for not waiting for their fated Mate and the second reason will be the Pups.

Our last hours with my Pups pass too quickly and Thor is reluctant to let go of Morgan, "I promise I will come back and that might be quicker than you think." She says to Thora as she hugs her, before she turns. her attention to Dalton and even Dalton doesn't want her to leave.

After saying goodbye to my Pups and my Dad we drive back to the Academy, Tristan hands Morgan two files while telling us this is all the additional information their Brothers found on White Rock Pack. Morgan hands me one as she starts going through the other and it is a good thing we are sitting so close together, if we hadn't approval yet to take them down the file I am reading would be enough.

Morgan's file probably contains something similar, I can feel the anger radiating from her and Midnight pushes forward to help calm them down. Ace has a smirk on his face as he looks from me to Morgan, I think it is very clear to him as well that Morgan is my Mate and I truly hope tonight it will be clear for me

100. 100.

The Elders have arranged for all units to have dinner in the main building, after dinner they want us to gather in the Ballroom and there we will stay until midnight to find out if there are any fated couples within the King's Army. Danica sent me a message yesterday with the request to return on time for them to get ready and she already has everything Morgan will need.

After spending so many nights with Morgan in my arms I don't think I can ever go back to not holding her in my arms at night, I don't think I can go back to a life without her close by my side. Morgan has closed the file she was reading and has placed her head on my shoulder, "Nervous for tonight?" She asks me and L decide to tell her the truth.

"I don't think it is nerves about finding out that you are my Mate, I think it is more nerves about what might happen in the future." I say before I tell them about the conversation between my Mother and Madelyn, making Ace slam on the breaks and I am glad I have an arm around Morgan's waist.

"Jaylen, please tell me that you were kidding." Ace says as he turns towards me, but I know he can tell by looking at my face that I wasn't kidding. Fuck, Roan was right." Ace mumbles and the look on Morgan's face tells me that she is hearing his thoughts, "You better start talking, Ace. Or I am going to ask Morgan what you were thinking" I threaten him.

His eyes widen as he looks at Morgan and Tristan is laughing his ass off, wait until I get to threaten him. "Roan had been suspicious about both your Mothers being so close after what Kate did to Kieran and the fact that Madelyn started to invite Jo-Anna over more and more. He was never able to get his Mother to explain why she stayed friends with your Mother.

Roan did say he suspected his Mother tried to get you and Jo-Anna together and the reason he thought that is that Jo-Anna once told him your fated Mate would never accept your Pups. Ace answers me and I feel sorry for my friend. Roan lost his Mother before Thora turned two and he has lived with this secret all these years.

At least now I understand his never-ending optimism about me finding my fated Mate and his persistence in telling me to never give up hope on finding her one day. I send Roan a message to let him know I am aware of the concerns he had about his Mother, my Mother and his Aunt, I also let him know that next time he should just tell me.

Danica is already waiting for us when we get back to the Academy and Morgan just looks at me for a moment before she gets out of the SUV, she doesn't look to happy with Danica waiting for her. "Something wrong, Princess" I ask her as I get out of the SUV as well. I am not a girly girl, that's all" She answers me.

"Looking forward to tonight, Danica?" Ace asks as he walks to the back of the SUV and Danica tells him she is as she pulls Morgan away from me. I grab my own bag and Morgan's back out of the SUV before I head up the stairs, I see her disappearing in the room Danica and Faith share.

Deacon pulls me into the room he shares with Emilio and he tells me to go take a shower before I get changed in to the outfit Danica got me, "Hold it. Danica got me an outfit for tonight?" I ask as I look from Deacon to Emilio and both of them nod their heads, "Not just for you but for all of us." Deacon says as he points at the five clothing bags hanging on the closet door.

Tristan and Ace just stare at him as I walk over to the bags, each of the bags has a name tag on it and I decide to take a shower before taking a look at what I will be wearing tonight. I am not sure what to expect but if it is something I don't like I have a back-up in my bag and I know it is something I will feel comfortable in.

I don't waste much time in the bathroom and I walk back in to the bedroom with a towel wrapped around my hips. The others walk into the bathroom the moment one of them is done and even though we don't say a word we all wait until we are all ready to get dressed. Opening the bag with my name tag on it I am. surprised to find an outfit I can actually live with and without hesitating I get dressed.

I am not a girly girl and I will only wear a dress if I have no other option, I just hope Danica got me something I feel comfortable in. Something that will allow me to move around easily, something I can fight in if I have to and something that looks good on me. I am not feeling by any means, but I do know what I look good in and I am not afraid to hide my good looks.

After taking a shower I walk into the bedroom with nothing but a towel wrapped around me, I don't have to spend a lot of time on fixing my hair and soon I amtting in a chair for faith to do my makeup. I opened the clothing bag after I have put on my bra and panties, I pull out the clothes that Danica chose for me and I smile as I look at my outfit for tonight.

Danica chose similar outfits for each and every one of us, each outfit is in a different color though and once we are all dressed we put on our high heeled boot. Not the boots we usually wear when we are on the job but the boots we wear when we are off duty, the heels on these boots are a little bit smaller than the ones we wear with our uniform.

Faith has her hair in a braid down her back, it is something she always does no matter what the circumstances are and along the side of her face are a few strings of light brown hair curling down, Danica's dark brown hair has been pulled up into a messy bun on the top of her head, it's the way she loves to wear her hair and I doubt she will ever find another easy and comfortable way to wear her hair anytime

Soon

Skylark's black hair has always been cut short, she loves to style it in a messed up coupe. Chaya has her dark brown hair in a Grace Kelly roll, right now it is styled into perfection but on a normal day she will just roll it up and leave it as it is; sometimes messy and sometimes neat.

Danica tells me that she had also gotten the outfits for Jaylen and his team, but she refuses to tell me what she has gotten them and Faith tells me that even they have no idea what Danica got for the guys. "I hope you keep in mind that Jaylen doesn't like every style of clothing and if you chose something he doesn't like he won't be wearing it." I say and Danica tells me that the outfit she chose was a safe choice.

"OK, I think it is time for us to head downstairs. Let's see if every team member is ready for tonight, I hope that each and every one of you will find your fated Mate tonight. I know what I am hoping for." I say as I walk to the door and the girls smile at my words because they know exactly what I am hoping for, finding out that Jaylen is able to tell that I am his fated Mate.

I'm not too sure what I am expecting to see when I get downstairs, Jaylen and I had discussed our likes and dislikes over the weekend and I know that Jaylen isn't one to really enjoy a suit. But like me he will wear one if he has no other choice, both of us understanding that sometimes you need to do something that you are not too fond of colbert and underneath it he has a light gray tight fitted shirt. Danica chose the right outfit for Ace and he is wearing his long blonde hair in a braid down his back. Tristan is wearing a navy chino with an off white colbert and a navy tight fitted shirt, his short brown hair styled as if he just got out of bed.

I am walking behind Danica when Ace comes into sight Ace is wearing a black chino and a black

Deacon and Emilio are the next ones I see, they are also wearing chinos and a colbert but there is a difference in color. Deacon is wearing a dark blue chino and matching colbert with a white tight fitted shirt under it, while Emilio is wearing a navy colored colbert with an off white chino and a navy tight fitted shirt. Both of them didn't do much with their hair, with how short cut it is there isn't much to do with their hair.

Amra is ogling Jaylen the moment he comes into view, like the others he is wearing a chino and a colbert but in a dark gray color and it is finished off with a white tight fitted shirt. I see Danica shake her head when she sees that all of them have finished off their outfit with sneakers, 1 could have told her that because according to Jaylen it's what each of them prefers to wear when they're not on duty.

Jaylen

As we are waiting downstairs I wonder if Morgan told Danica we would probably be wearing sneakers, we have to wear combat boots with our uniforms and that means in our free time we like to wear easy footwear. Every unit member has come downstairs once they were changed into their outfit for tonight and the only ones still missing are Morgan and her team.

Everyone turns towards the stairs the moment we heard them coming down, Chaya is the first one we can see and she is wearing a light gray outfit. Her shirt has bat wings as they call them and flared pants, she is wearing high heeled boots that look a little like the boots she wears with her uniform.

Skylar is wearing an apricot long sleeved shirt with side splits, she is also wearing flared pants just like Chaya and she has finished it off with the same high heeled boots. Faith is wearing a jumpsuit with the same high heeled boots as the others, the top is in a leopard print with the colors black, white and pink and the pants are black, wide legged with a high waist.

Danica is wearing a gray cami top with wide legged pants and like the other girls she is wearing high heeled boots. Midnight is front and center the moment I see Morgan, she is wearing dark gray wide legged pants with a high waist and if I am not mistaken she is wearing a black body with transparent half sleeves or maybe it is just a shirt.

I doubt there are any sneakers or other flat shoes in Morgan's closet, she knows she is a lot shorter than most and to make up for that she always wears high heeled shoes or boots. She can even run in those damn things and she is fast on them as well. She nearly beat me when I challenged her but didn't wait for her to answer and that meant I had head start..

Thora told me that if I had played by the rules I would have lost and I know that my Daughter was correct in that assumption, if it had been a fair race Morgan would have beaten me. The moment she is close enough I pull her into my arms and not giving a crap who is around I kiss her, I doubt I will ever get tired of kissing her.

As a unit we walk over to the main building and for a moment I wonder where we all will be seated, seeing the fact that Morgan and her unit haven't used the main dining hall since they moved into our building. A unit has their own table in the main dining hall, large enough to seat every member and I am not sure if the Elders gave that table to another unit.

The moment we step into the main building Elder Larson is waiting for us and he guides us towards the tables that are lined up in front of the floor to ceiling windows, one of those tables belongs to another unit but Elder Larson explains that they gave up their table and took ours. "Their commander thought it would be best if you're combined unit would be seated at tables near one another." Elder Larson says.

Tonight we do not have to go over to the buffet to get our dinner, Damon has arranged for some of the Palace Servants to assist during tonight's dinner and I smile as plate after plate gets put down on the table. The side dishes are put in front of us all over the table, mashed potatoes, fries, salads and veggies, you name it and you can find it on the table.

As we enjoy our dinner I thank Danica for picking out my outfit, "You're welcome, Jaylen. I just wanted to make sure that the outfit you and Morgan are wearing matched in some way." Danica responds and it is in that instance I realize that Morgan and 1-are both wearing dark gray colored outfits.

"Which reminds me, someone needs to take a picture of us with our teams. We promised Dalton and Thora we would send them a picture so they could see our outfits for tonight." Morgan says and Beck jumps at the opportunity, he will take a picture of us with our teams on the front steps of the main building.

During dinner we talk about everything but White Rock Pack, Morgan made it clear she didn't want them to ruin our night and luckily every unit member agreed with her. After dinner we move to the Ballroom for the party and when it comes close to midnight Elder Emmett will start the countdown, not that a fated couple will need him to tell them it is midnight.

If a Wolf or Lycan is of age they can find their fated Male, first by smelling their Mate's scent and the moment they look at one another their Wolf or Lycan will feel the bond snap into place. It is one of the reasons why Midnight never told me about Morgan, he never felt the bond snap into place because he hadn't been able to look into Morgan's eyes...

But that will all change tonight at midnight.

The closer it gets to midnight the more Amra starts to pace, she is making me dizzy with her walking around in my head. I understand that she is nervous about tonight, I am right there with her and all I can hope for is that Jaylen has come to terms with his past. At least enough to tell that we are fated Mates at midnight and I can tell a few others are getting impatient as well.

Amra hopes that my team and Jaylen's team are fated Mates, she really likes the girls and would like to keep them around for a lot longer. If they aren't mated to someone at the Palace we won't see them as much as we do now, but it will take some time before that will happen. Jaylen won't take over from his Father until the King steps down and that won't be until Casimir has found his fated Mate.

Damon and Casimir are seated on a stage with Roan on Casimir's other side, both of them hoping they will find their Mate here as well and a part of me is hoping Casimir doesn't find his fated Mate tonight. If he does I will have to leave the Academy and my unit a lot faster than I would like, I will also have to move to the Palace and take the position of the Royal Gamma female.

A lot of females keep glancing at Casimir an Roan, but both males seem to be oblivious to the amount of females that keep looking at them. I am glad that none of the females in our unit stare at them, they are to with busy having fun with their friends and I doubt anyone of them wants the responsibility that comes being Casimir's Mate or Roan's Mate for that matter.

When it gets close to midnight Damon stands up and the room goes quiet within seconds. "This is the first time the Academy is holding a party on the Full Moon and I am sorry I never realized that I was depriving all of you from your futures with your Mates, but this will become a recurring event.

How that will work in the future I am not sure, but your suggestions are more than welcome. I hope that of you will find your Mate tonight and when you do I am asking you to think very carefully about your future, whether that is within my Army or not. Those of you that don't find their Mate tonight will be send to Full Moon parties if they want to, Elder Larson and Elder Emmett will take care of that.

For tonight I send a prayer to the Goddess to pair you with the Wolf or Lycan that is your better half, whether that will be tonight or in the future." Damon says and he gets a loud applause from the crowd. Elder Emmett steps onto the stage and even though I want to show him the respect he deserves as an Elder I turn my back on him to face Jaylen.

I am staring into Jaylen's ice blue eyes as elder Emmett tells us that midnight is nearing and I giggle when I see midnight pushing forward, "I don't think he was talking about you, Midnight." I whisper while Elder Emmett starts the countdown to midnight and I know that if Jaylen can't tell I'm his fated Mare at least Midnight will feel the bond snap into place.

The moment Elder Emmett stops counting I see Jaylen's eyes widen, Amra feels the bond snap into place and I can feel myself getting pulled towards Jaylen. The smile on his face shows everyone around us that he can feel the pull between us as well and before I can say anything his hand is in my hair pulling me towards him until our lips touch.

I don't get to see if any of our friends have found their fated Mate, because Jaylen has already lifted me from my seat and he is walking out of the ballroom. He isn't even patient enough to walk back to our building, he is running as fast as he can and something tells me that Midnight is lending him a hand or should I say his speed.

My arms are wrapped around his neck while my legs are wrapped around his waist and it's a good thing I am holding on tight or he might have dropped me somewhere along the way. He runs up the stairs to the top floor after I managed to unlock the door, Jaylen's eye color keeps changing between his own eye color and that of midnight, but I guess that goes for my eyes as well.

Once we are in my bedroom he slowly puts me on my feet and I'm glad I am wearing high heeled boots, because at least now there isn't much distance between his lips and mine. My hand is tangled in his hair and I pull his head down to kiss his lips, something I have enjoyed doing ever since that first night.

His hands are roaming my body as our tongues explore the others mouth, my breath becomes labored the closer his hand travels to my breast and the moment his hand reaches its destination I moan loudly. I love the feeling of his hands on my body. I love the feeling of his lips on my skin and even though we never went all the way we made each other come more than once.

We start to peel each other's clothes off, each piece of clothing ending on the floor somewhere in the room and I hate it when he takes my high heels off. At 55 I am a foot shorter than Jaylen and I hate that I have to look up at him, but when it comes to our actions in bed it is never an issue that I am shorter.

Jaylen turns me towards the closed door and pushes my back against it as he lifts one of my legs over his shoulder after getting down on his knees, this is one of his favorite positions because it opens me wider for him. I can feel his hand moving up my inner thigh and the closer he gets to my core the heavier my breathing becomes. I know my arousal hangs heavy in the air as I hear Jaylen sniff.

He lets one of his fingers slide through my slit and as his finger reaches my entrance he sucks my clit into his mouth. "Jaylen, please." I whisper and he slowly pushes his finger into my pussy, He starts sucking my clit harder with every thrust of his finger into my core. He holds me steady as he probes his finger as deep inside my entrance as he can go, swirling his tongue around my clit. In a fast and steady rhythm he keeps pushing his finger into my core, I lose myself in the feeling of his tongue on my sensitive flesh and just as I think I'm about to come he pushes a second finger inside me.

His speed increases with every thrust inside me and the pressure he puts on my clit grows with it, He is torturing my pussy with his mouth and his fingers, I can feel the heat building up inside me and the moment I feel his other hand sliding towards my ass I know what he is planning on doing, something he has done twice before..

As his hand reaches my ass I am so focused on what will happen next that I scream his name when he pushes a third finger inside me, but instead of feeling pain as I had expected I feel pleasure as his finger pushes against my ass. It is all I can take before I come undone and I scream his name again and again, he slows down his ministrations as I come down from my high.

Jaylen

I look up at Morgan's face the second I feel her pussy cench around my fingers and I love the sight I see every time I make her come. I slowly start kissing my way up to her breasts and I suck a nipple into my mouth, making her moan as I flick it with my tongue. I give the other breast some attention with my hand and slowly I pull my fingers from her core.

By the time she has caught her breath I have kissed my way up to her lips and I gently bite her bottom lip to get access to her mouth. After giving both her breasts some attention I place my hands on her ass and lift her off the ground, she wraps her arms and legs around me as I turn towards the bed.

"You will be completely mine before the sun rises." I whisper in her ear as I crawl onto the bed with her still holding on to me and I gently place her back on the bed without placing my weight on her. I start kissing her from just below her ear to the place where will place my mark and as I suck on it Morgan pushes her hips hard against my cock.

I slowly push my cock through her soaking wet slit, putting pressure on her clit with the head of my cock and I keep sliding it back and forth. I lock eyes with her as I feel the head of my cock press against her entrance, I place a hand on one of her breasts and as I softly pinch her nipple I push my cock into her fore.

Once I have buried every thick inch of my cock into her pussy I still, giving her body time to adjust to the size of my cock and I never break eye contact with Morgan. I need to make sure that she isn't uncomfortable and I want to be able to see when she is ready for more. I don't have to wait long for that moment to arrive and I slowly pull my cock back before I push it back into her body.

For a while I keep a slow and steady rhythm of pumping in and out of her core, but the moment Morgan starts pushing her hips up I can tell she is ready for more and I start to increase my speed. Morton keeps rocking her hips up as I keep pushing my cock in and out of her body, going faster with each thrust and I can feel her pussy muscles clenching around my cock.

It will only be a matter of time before she comes again and the moment she comes I will mark her as mine, so I keep kissing and sucking her marking spot. can feel Morgan's lips finding my marking spot and the moment she licks it my cock starts to twitch, pushing me closer to my own orgasm.

My cock is tingling as my balls are aching to release my load, my rhythm becomes erratic as I get closer to coming and the moment Morgan's canines scrape over my marking spot I lose control of the last piece of restraint I had left. My canines elongate just before I feel her penetrating my skin and as I sink into her neck we both come at the same time.

canines

As the walls of her pussy milk my cock I feel my cum shooting thick cobs of cum into her body and I hold her close as we are both coming down from our high. I collapse on the bed right next to her, holding her in my arms as I place my head on hers and I know I have finally come home. I have finally found my future, my happiness.

I can't remember if I ever felt this happy in my life, I feel complete for the first time in my life and I know that the person responsible for that is lying next to me don't think there is a part of my skin that Jaylen didn't give attention to last night and I lost count of how many times he made me come or how many times he came.

It was close to dawn when we feel asleep in each other's arms, exhausted but happy and I woke up only a few minutes ago. I have been enjoying his warmth and comfort, the feel of his arms around me and listening to the sound of his heartbeat. Amra is fast asleep in the back of my head and I doubt she will wake up anytime soon.

"Princess, it is time to get up. Damon pushed the time of the meeting, but he didn't call it off and I would hate to be late. Jaylen whispers in my ear as his hand travels down my back, I look up at him to see his eyes filled with lust and I smile as I move my hand up his chest. "Than we better get moving or we might not show up at all." I say before I peck his lips.

It was meant to be a short, quick kiss but Jaylen has other ideas, he grabs my ass to pull me closer to his body and our lips connect again for a sensual kiss. By the time we break the kiss we are both out of breath and we need a few seconds to calm down, "I will run you a bath, I believe you can use one." Jaylen says before he glides out of bed.

While Jaylen walks around the bed I follow him with my eyes and I can see his cock harden as I let eyes glide over his body. "Careful, Princess. Or you might find out that Damon doesn't like it when someone doesn't show up on time." Jaylen growls as he disappears into the bathroom. "Maybe he should have thought about that before parading through the room, butt naked." Amra growls.

The moment I sit up I understand why Jaylen is running me a bath, but even though I feel sore in all the right places I am not in pain and I slowly walk into the bathroom as I enjoy the view in front of me. Jaylen growls as he turns around but he stops the moment his eyes see my naked body, "Princess, get in the tub before I forget we have a meeting with Damon." He says

Jaylen takes a shower while I soak in the tub and I feel disappointed when he wraps a towel around his waist. He turns towards me with a smirk on his face and I realize he felt my disappointment through our bond, "I don't think Damon or Casimir will appreciate it if I show up naked, Princess." He says teasingly and Amra is showing me images of Jaylen walking into the meeting, butt naked.

"Amra, stop that." I say as I feel the heat building in my body again and Jaylen's growl let's me know that he can smell my arousal. I let myself submerge under the water as my face turns a deep red color and I can feel through our bond that Jaylen is feeling proud of himself.

When I sit up straight again I see that Jaylen has left the bathroom and I decide to get out of the tub before the water gets cold, rinsing myself off under the shower I smile when I see that Jaylen placed my uniform in the bathroom and I turn a little red when I see he even thought about getting me some underwear.

After drying myself off I put on my uniform and after running a brush through my hair I apply my mascara, I place my towel on the hamper before I walk out of the bathroom. Jaylen is sitting on the bed with his back against the headboard, he is looking at his phone with a scowl on his face and I can feel something has upset him.

"What is wrong, Handsome?" I ask as I crawl onto the bed to sit next to him and he turns his phone towards me so I can see for myself. It is an article on some news site and the title reads; Future Royal Gamma has finally chosen a Mate. Jo-Anna Crics will become the future Roval Gamma female. I already hated her after talking to Thora, but now I hate her even more. Finished

The article is referring to a source close to Jaylen that confirmed the rumors and I ask Jaylen if he has an idea who this source could be, because I couldn't believe that anyone close to Jaylen would spread these lies. "Jo-Anna would be my first guess, but than they would have mentioned that in the article and the only other person that would be capable of supporting such a lie is my Mother.

She left years ago and I barely have seen or heard anything from or about her. She rejected my Father and left without a word, I never understood the relationship between my parents and when Dad got fed up. with her behavior I finally learned the truth about their relationship. If anyone would back up Jo-Anna's claim it would be my Mother." Jaylen says.

I remember what Jaylen and Ace told us on our way home from the Palace and it seems that both females still haven't given up on Jaylen taking Jo-Anna as his chosen Mate, but I doubt he will ever let her near him again if he knew what Thora told me when I tucked her in.

Thora made me promise I wouldn't tell her Father what Jo-Anna had said and done to his Pups and I had sworn to her that I would make sure that Jo-Anna would never get anywhere near them again, but if I had known what was happening at the Palace I would be planning a murder right now. Instead I walk out of the bedroom to attend a meeting with Damon and Casimir

I stop dead in my tracks when I see Ace and Danica walk out of her room, but before I can say anything two other doors open and I see Tristan and Faith in the doorway of one room while Emilio and Chaya are in the other doorway. Jaylen places a hand on my back as the last door opens and Deacon steps outside. with Skylar, a smile crosses my face as I see they are all marked. "Looks like we will still be together after King Damon steps down." I say and everyone is looking at one another, eyes widening when they realize that I am telling the truth.

Entering the living room I only see a handful of our unit with a Mate, but I don't think it will take long before more of our unit will find their fated Mate and I hope they get to experience the Mate-bond for themselves. I congratulate the couples in the living room, while the rest congratulates us on finding our Mates.

Jaylen pulled me into his lap when we sat down for breakfast and at first I wanted to fight him on it, but then I saw that every male had pulled his Mate onto their lap. I enjoy my coffee as my mind drifts towards the meeting we will have today and I hope Damon will grant me my request to get our families to the Academy.

I know I want to tell Mom and Dad about Jaylen and I know some of our unit members would like to inform their family as well. I also want to ask Mom to have a Full Moon party for members of the King's Army, I hope that maybe one of my Brothers will finally find their fated Mate and maybe some of our unit will be lucky.

"Okay, Princess. Let's get this meeting over with." Jaylen says and both our teams stand up to guides us to the main building. Casimir is waiting outside the meeting room and his eyes widen when he sees that not only Jaylen and I are Mates, but all his Deltas have found their Mates as well. "Congratulations to all of you. That only leaves me and Roan single. Great, an even bigger target." He mumbles.

Roan looks almost as disappointed as Casimir did and after every Commander has congratulated me, Amir gave me his condolences, we sit down for today's meeting. Damon hands all the assignments to the other Commanders before he explains why Jaylen and didn't get any assignments, "As you may know Beck, one of Morgan's team Captains, went to his birth Pack to handle an assignment.

I don't believe it will surprise you that he didn't succeed, but will surprise you is that his Father attacked Beck's Mate in Wolf form without warning Moura has been recovering from her injuries ever since and Friday she got the all clear from Doc, she is ready to get back to work. I have given Jaylen and Morgan permission to take down White Rock Pack." He says.

We get support from every Commander and each one of them promises to go through their notebooks for any additional information they can find. Once they have their assignments Damon dismisses them, except for Amir who will be informed that he is our back-up and to drop whatever his unit is doing if we call.

"King Damon, you can count on me. I am not sure if Beck is aware of what happened in his birth Pack, but I suggest you at least talk to him, Commander Morgan Amir says before he walks out of the meeting room, leaving me behind with Jaylen, Roan, Casimir and Damon. I tell them that we will start making plans this week but that I would like to invite the families of our unit members that found their Mate.

Another Full Moon has passed and again I am left empty handed. I am happy for the people around me that did find their Mate, but I am slowly losing hope on ever finding my fated Mate and the only reason I haven't given up just yet has to do with my Lycan. Smoke hates it when my thoughts start to wander towards a chosen Mate and he makes it very known that he will never accept a chosen Mate, to the point where he leaves me with a huge headache.

I still don't understand why it is taking so long for me and Casimir to find our fated Mate, but I guess the Goddess has her reasons. I know that in some cases it takes decades before a male or female finds their fated Mate, but it doesn't mean I have to like it and I know Casimir doesn't like it either. Neither one of us is eager to take over from our Fathers, but we would like to have what our Parents had and after two decades of waiting it is becoming harder to keep hope.

My parents were fated Mates and I Wessed every day how happy they were, but I also found out quickly that my Mother was superficial. Appearances were everything to her and she would have been surprised to find out that Jaylen's Mate accepts his Pups whole heartedly, that she will never ask Jaylen to chose between her and his Pups. I think it is safe to say that she will kick his ass if he ever puts her before his Pups and I will enjoy watching that.

That is the only good thing this Full Moon has given us closure for Jaylen, he did find his fated Mate and one that can kick his ass if he becomes too annoying. Morgan had proven herself over and over again as a Commander in the King's Army and she is my best friend's Mate, our future Royal Gamma female. She is what he needed in his life and I can't wait for the day she moves to the Palace, she will make a few people around here regret that Jaylen found his Mare.

Today I will have my meals in the Royal Wing, I am not interested in seeing newly mated couples or females that will try to get my attention, I just want some peace and quiet today. Casimir is sitting next to me as he is reading through the news on his tablet, neither one of us is in the mood of talking and even our Servants are smart enough to come and go without saying a word.

"WHAT THE FUCK" Casimir roars as he jumps out of his seat and I turn his tablet towards me to see what has him so agitated. "Future Royal Gamma has finally chosen a Mate, Jo-Anna Crics will become the future Royal Gamma female. The headline of an article reads and Smoke is growling in my head as I read through the article, this has to be Kate's doing I think to myself. Kate is the only one that would back up this story, no one else in the Palace would be stupid enough to support this.

By the time I am done reading the article I see that we are no longer alone and I quickly tell them what has Casimir so damn upset. Dad, Kieran and Damon all release a mighty roar and I hope that Jo-Anna is smart enough to recant this statement from the news sites our there, if she doesn't she will have crossed a line for the last time with the King. Which will result in Damon kicking her out of the Palace and he might decide. to send her back to her birth Pack with a ban from our territory.

"Dad, lets go find Jo-Anna. I think it is time she finds out that her connection to us will not protect her." 1 say as I get out of my seat and Dad follows me out of the dining room, leaving Damon and Kieran behind to calm down Casimir. We walk down the hall to the Quest Wing of the Palace to find Jo-Anna, my best guess is that she is in her own Quarters and I hope we can convince her to recant the statement. If she refuses she will have to answer to King Damon and he will make this a public trial to set an example.

On our way to Jo-Anna's Quarters we pass one of Casimir's Warriors and without asking anything he starts following me and Dad, a small smile appearing on his face when he sees that we are heading to the Quest Wing. Normally this wing only gets used when we have guests, but King Damon offered Jo-Anna one of the Quarters when she started to visit us on a regular basis and I know he regrets ever offering.

Chapter 258 Strained Finished

I wouldn't surprise me if Mom had something to do with the offer Damon made, but I don't understand how she could have persuaded Damon to make that offer. Damon isn't known for his generosity towards strangers and Jo-Anna was just that to Damon, so someone must have put the idea into his head somehow. My Mother was a conniving female, more conniving than most realized and I believe I am the only one that ever figured out all the things she did.

"Jo-Anna." Dad calls out as we enter her Quarters, but there is no response to his calling her name and we start to check every room in her Quarters to come up empty. Dad asks me where she might be as the door to her Quarters open and the rest of Casimir's Warriors walk in, "Search every room in the Palace, search the gardens and call in all the help you need. I want my Sister found." Dad growls and the Warriors run out the door without asking questions.

I walk into her bedroom to check her closet, she might have gone on a little trip. I open the door to see her suitcases in a comer and I know she will show up soon, probably trying to order some of the Servants around. As I turn around to walk out of the closet my eyes land on a clothing bag that is hanging behind the door and when I see the name of a high end designer on the right I know what I will find in there, a dress for her Ceremony.

A Pack only has a Ceremony when the future Alpha takes over from his Father, but for the Royal Pack there are other rules. Our Mates get presented to the world after we have marked them and that happens during a Ceremony with the Alpha and Luna of every Pack in our Kingdom in attendance, something I think Morgan will truly hate.

I pull the zipper of the clothing bag down and I am not sure if I should scream on the top of my lungs or to laugh my ass off. I doubt there is enough fabric in there to classify it as a dress and I know that Jo-Anna believes the dress is considered classy and sophisticated, in my opinion it screams rather vulgar names for a female. It is a dress very inappropriate for the Ceremony for the Royal Beta or Gamma female or for the future ones.

I hear someone gagging next to me and I see that Dads staring at the dress, he looks really disgusted at the piece of fabric hanging in the clothing bag, "Found anything useful?" I ask him as we walk out of her bedroom, but as I suspected he didn't find anything either and I hope one of the Warriors will find her in the gardens or something. If she isn't on Palace grounds and we can't stop this item from being in the news for to long, there will be hell to pay for someone.

Dad and I decided to check our floor in the Royal Wing but as we suspected she isn't there either and after we have searched the entire Royal Wing I have a very agitated Lycan in my head. We have been unable to find a trace of Jo-Anna and so far none of the Warriors has found a lead on where she might be. The Palace was searched from top to bottom without any luck and now they are searching Palace grounds with the help of as many Wolves and Lycans that live here.

We tried linking her, we tried calling her and the longer it takes before we get a hold of her the worse it will be for Jo-Anna. Casimir has finally settled down a bit, but if just a small thing goes sideways he will explode and there is no doubt in my mind that Vlad, his Lycan, will go ona rampage. Vlad hates Jo-Anna for trying to poison him and to get Casimir to mark her as his Mate, but luckily the dosage had been to low for Vlad to be knocked out.

The only problem is that we could never proof it was Jo-Anna that gave Casimir the poison and she has. my Mother to thank for that, because my Mother gave her an alibi for the time this-took place. It didn't stop Damon from cranking up security and my job became a bit bigger because Jaylen was already at Commander in the King's Army. He offered to resign his commission but I stopped him, he is a damn good Commander and I can handle the extra workload

The Servants have a buffet set up in the kitchen for anyone that needs a bite to eat and most just grab something to cat on the go, I watch as one after the other Pack-member rushes back outside to continue their search for Jo-Anna. Everyone keeps searching during lunch and every time a section of the territory gets cleared my heart stops beating for a second, I hate hat we can't find a trace of her anywhere.

We have just walked into Damon's office when there is a determined knocking on the door, a Warrior opens the door without waiting for a response and he looks rather distraught. A She-wolf I recognize as one of Thora's teachers is right behind him and I hold my breath as the Warrior says that Dad's SUV is missing from the car-park, but it is the news the teacher brings that has the windows in the Palace shaking.

Dalton and Thora never showed up to school and with the news article she figured they stayed home to celebrate, it wasn't until one of the other students said there was a search going on for Jo-Anna that she felt something was wrong. "I am sorry for not questioning their absence sooner, Your Majesty." She mumbles. with her head bowed and her eyes strained to the floor

I still can't believe it has been over ten years since Dad moved us to another Pack, he told us he had found a new Mate and for her sake he was moving us to another Pack. I was only eight at the time and didn't care much whether we moved or not, my Brothers were a different story and they put up quite a fight. In the end they had a private discussion with Dad and when they walked out of his office they were both smiling like Idiots

Mom and Dad had given up on have a third Pup when Shane was three years old, Mom apparently said the Goddess thought their family was complete and they enjoyed the two Pups they had. Shortly after Shane's eighth birthday they found out that Mom was expecting another Pup, but Doc had bad news for them. Mom wouldn't survive giving birth to another Pup and she was to far along to terminate the pregnancy, but Doc had been wrong.

Dad was devastated when he did lose Mom, but he always told me that Mom made him promise before she died that he would always protect me from all the evil in the world. I really want to believe he tried his hardest to keep his promise to Mom, but eventually his broken and angry Lycan won and Dad became the kind of evil he was supposed to protect me from.

I never really saw the signs but Dad changed over the years and when he announced he found a new Mate I was happy for him, hoping she could make Dad smile again. To the outside world it might have looked as if he was happy again, but it took me a few years to find out the truth about my Father and my Brothers. It had blown my mind because I had never seen any of it coming and it changed my life in a very significant way.

The move to White Rock Pack was uneventful; Dad had walked into the Alpha office with us behind him and I thought I had seen relief in the Alpha's eyes as he signed our transfer papers, but while I was waving goodbye to my Grandparents I saw a worried look on his face. The cottage we moved into was big enough for the five of us and Calum, Shane and I each had our own room, I really liked Yara, my Father's new Marc.

The Pack had its own school and I quickly made a few friends, making life in a new Pack a lot easier. It took me three days to find out that the house and every room was soundproof, I had gotten home from school and Shane was yelling at Calum for some reason I couldn't hear what they were saying and I had to open the door to hear what the commotion was all about, as always the same reason; a female.

Calum was eighteen while Shane was sixteen and for the past year they had been fighting over just about every female one of them was interested in. Yara tried to break them up a few times, but a growl or a snarl from one of them always made her back up and after that she would just walk out of the roomthey were in. I helped Yara around the house in any way I could and I know she really appreciated my help, I would eventually find out how much.

Almost four years passed without much trouble and I had a small group of close friends, but none of them wanted to come to my house for anything. It was on Dad's birthday that I saw for the first time what my family was really like, Yara had been cleaning the house all day and when she is like this dinner usually is simple. However, with it being Dad's birthday I knew she had gotten everything for his favorite dish and I am glad I knew how to prepare it.

By the time Dad came home everything was prepared and I was on the back porch keeping an eye on the time. I heard Yara running down the stairs as Dad walked in the front door, "What the fuck were you doing upstairs? Where is my beer and my dinner?" He yelled at her and I quietly made my way into the house to see Dad holding Yara against the wall by her throat. "Ya, you asked me to warn you when the twenty minutes were up. You better get to the oven before the chicken burns to a crisp." I said to her.

I looked at my Dad as I wished him a happy birthday, before I followed Yara into the kitchen and asked if I should set the table. Looking back I know it was the first time I saved her from my Father, but I also know it wouldn't be the last time and in the end she saved me instead of me saving her. I just wish I could have done more for Yara and the other females in White Rock Pack, but the last time I had tried to stop one of them I almost lost my life.

My mind wanders back to a day over five years ago when I had gotten out of school early and as I already mentioned the house is soundproof, the reason why I walked in on something I didn't see for the first time. Calum was in the living room with a female I recognized as an Omega, she was in my class as she was my age and he was forcing his cock down her throat.

I knew what would happen but I couldn't just walk away and let one of my Brothers or my Father ruin another innocent life, "Calum, let her go." I said as I stepped into the living room and he growled at me as he pushed the female to the side, he stalked towards me as I saw his Wolf pushing forward. From the corner of my eye I saw the female grabbing her stuff and she made a run for the backdoor, at least she got away.

Calum had beaten me to a pulp with the help of his Wolf and Yara walking in the backdoor with Doc was what saved my life. I was in the infirmary for a week and the only people I saw during that week were Yara and the female I saved, my Father and my Brothers didn't bother with me at all. On the day I was released from the infirmary Yara was there to pick me up, but instead of walking home she started walking in the opposite direction.

"Gillean, you are no longer safe here. Calum is out for your blood and I doubt your Father will stop him." Yara said as she guided me towards the border and when I asked her where Lyssa was her face paled, she told me she hadn't seen Lyssa since she dropped off something for me the other day. Yara held out an envelop to me and when I pulled the paper out I saw transfer papers, Lyssa had somehow gotten the Alpha to sign my transfer papers to my former Pack.

My maternal Grandparents were waiting for me on the other side of our border and after I hugged Yara goodbye I walked into my Grandmother's arms, crying like a little baby. When we returned to our Pack the Alpha was waiting for us and I wanted and needed to tell them what was happening at White Rock Pack. Alpha Mick asked his Beta and Gamma to be present and I told them everything I had witnessed in the past two years, right to the last time I tried to stop Calum from hurting an innocent female.

Alpha Mick made sure everything was recorded, he told me that if the Council or the King ever asked for information on White Rock Pack he would hand it over to them. He pointed out I never saw other Pack- members behave like that and that he couldn't risk to condemn a Pack if it was only my family that was rotten. I moved in with my Grandparents and I never heard a word from my Father or my Brothers.

That was over five years ago, Mace and I have given up hope on ever hearing from our family again and I am not sure how I would react if they did contact me. finished school at the age of sixteen and started a more intense training regime to become the best Warrior I could be, I wanted to try out for the King's Army. So far I have been to busy helping our Alpha and his Son with border security, we have had quite a few attacks on our borders in the past three years.

If I didn't know any better I would start to think that someone doesn't want me to leave the Pack and make a life for my own. Every time I think everything is under control and I start to make preparations to leave for the Academy, another attack takes place. I need to talk to Grandfather about this, he always tells me to trust my instincts and so far they haven't steered me wrong

Grandma is in the kitchen cooking dinner when I get home and I smile as she tells me to cut the vegetables, "Are you going to tell me what is bothering you or do we wait for your Grandfather?" She asks as I hand her some of the cut vegetables, but I don't get to answer her because Grandpa just walked through the door and he apparently heard what Grandma asked.

Once we are seated at the table I tell my Grandparents what had gone through my mind earlier that day and Grandfather asks me to think back on every attack to see if something pops out, "Fuck, each attack was at a spot we hadn't changed. It were spots I marked as weak, but I hadn't gotten a chance to talk to Alpha Mick." I mutter under my breath, I stare at Grandina when she asks if I can think of anyone that would want to stop me from leaving.

With a huge smile on my face I say, "The two of you." She knows I am kidding as I know they would never stop me from pursuing my dream and as a part of the King's Army I might be able to put a stop to my family or that entire Pack if they are all rotten. I go over everyone in my head that is an important part of life and I keep coming back to one person over and over again, but it doesn't make sense to me as he is always the one to push me to my limits.

I tell my Grandparents who I suspect, but I have so many reasons to not believe my own thoughts and again I go over everything that has put me on his trail. Grandma agrees with me that he would be the obvious choice, but like me she points out the reasons why he wouldn't and Grandpa has been quiet the entire time. He has a strange look on his face as he looks at me, "You are one of the few Lycans we have and Alpha Mick will do what he has to do to make sure you stay." Grandpa says.

Grandma asks Grandpa what he is talking about, apparently she doesn't understand it any more than I do and we both look at Grandpa to start explaining himself. Grandpa tells us that when our Pack was founded more than half of the Pack-members were Lycans and for many years our Pack was living a good and healthy life, until one day the future Alpha rejected his fated Mate for being a Lycan.

He didn't want a Mare that was stronger and faster than him, he didn't want a Mate that had no trouble talking back at him and especially one that had more respect from the Pack-members than their future Alpha. In the decades after he rejected his Mate, he saw many Lycans leave his territory and it was all because he set the wrong example. His Beta and his Gamma rejected their Mates for the same reasons and it became clear fast that the Pack's strength was weakening.

Every Alpha since than has accepted his fated Mate, but the amount of Lycans still became less and less. with the years and eventually they took a drastic decision. Every Alpha had to do whatever it took to keep another Lycan from leaving the Pack and for years they succeeded in keeping every Lycan in their Pack. but my Great Grandfather had overheard a conversation between Alpha Mick and his Father.

Grandfather was told to keep our linage a secret, but with my surprise shift the secret was out and Alpha Mick would do whatever he could to keep me from leaving. He can't lock me in the dungeons because he needs our fighting skills at the borders and he would need a damn good reason to lock me in a cell. With the information Grandpa gave me I went to work, I needed to make sure our borders were as secure as they could be.

I grab the files I need and spread them out on the table in front of me, I place the map of our territory in the middle of the table. I grab the first file and mark the piece of border that is vulnerable, I look at the route the patrols run out there to find a solution. I look at the list of Warriors that run patrols in that section of our territory and I switch a few things around within the team, making sure that each team is as strong as the other team.

My first security task is complete and I grab the next file to look at the next part of the border that needs to get better security. This time it is not just a case of switching members from one team to another, but I also have to find a better route to run the patrols and it takes me a few tries before I am able to figure out the chances that need to be implemented. File after file moves from one side of the table to the other side, I only take a break for meals and a few hours of sleep or if Alpha Mick needs me for some reason.

I haven't brought up the King's Army yet and neither has Alpha Mick, but I can tell it won't take long before he will try to steer our conversation in that direction. Grandpa is moving everything they want to keep out of the territory, because we decided that I am going to leave the Pack even if it means that I have to fight my way out of here and Grandpa and Grandma have no intention of staying here after I leave.

Grandma was the one to point out that they needed to leave before I would confront Alpha Mick and for that reason Grandpa is moving stuff our little by little. I already reached out to Elder Emmett to see if he could help my Grandparents and to my surprise he informed me that there was a place for them in the Royal Pack, you should have seen Grandma's face when I told them. I have been working hard to solve every issue I found with our borders and tomorrow Elder Emmett will arrive to pick me up.

Grandpa and Grandma are packing up a few things in their car and will be heading out shortly for a short visit with old friends, Grandma's childhood friend moved to another Pack after she found her Mate. It isn't unusual for Grandpa and Grandma to visit them, so this is the excuse we are using for them to leave Pack territory and by the time anyone figures out they will not return it will be too late to stop them.

I am at the Pack-house with Alpha Mick when Elder Ermett arrives and I can see the surprise in his eyest as Elder Emmett greets me. "Why don't we go inside?" Elder Emmett asks Alpha Mick, but he tells Elder Emmett that he has no secrets for his Pack-members and that the conversation can be held here. "Fine if that is the way you want it, Alpha Mick. I am here to escort Gillean to the Academy, the Elders believe that We have waited long enough for his arrival." Elder Emmett says.

Alpha Mick and the Pack-members that are at the Pack house look rather strange at Elder Emmett, "You think we are not aware of the fact that you send your own men out there to attack your borders?" Elder Emmett asks and 1 am about to tell him that he has to be mistaken when I see the look in Alpha Mick's eyes. he did exactly what Elder Emmett just accused him of. For a moment I am battling with myself on whether or not to give him the solutions to the weaker parts of the border, but Mace points out that it could harm innocents if I keep quiet.

I grab the files and map from my backpack and shove them into Alpha Mick's arms, "This is the last thing I have ever done for you and the only reason I am handing this over are the Pack-members, they could become victims if I kept this to myself. Now you have everything you need to secure your borders, if you follow my suggestions you should be safe from most attacks." I tell him as I sling my backpack over my shoulder and walk to the SUV Elder Emmett got out of Alpha Mick is to stunned to say anything and I can hear the murmurs from the Pack-members that heard everything, before we drive out of the gate the entire Pack will know what Alpha Mick did. As we arrive at the gate one of the guards stops us and he asks me if I had thought about my Grandparents before pissing off Alpha Mick, "I wouldn't worry about my Grandparents if I were you, they are more than capable to take care of themselves." I say before the driver slowly pulls up again.

Elder Emmett explains that I will have a different try-out for the King's Army than usual, he explains that the Elders and the King admire my dedication to my Pack and there for I deserve to become an exception to the rule. I will go through the same training others do, but I will have to do it on my own and with this being the first year in ages without any applicants there are a few more adjustments the Council had to make.

At first they wanted to give me the choice to pick a unit to join, but after recent events with two of the units the Elders decided my talents would be best suited for them and that I will have to report to Commander Jaylen and Commander Morgan if I make it through the try- outs. I will have to do my studies while being a member of a unit, but instead of a year I will get two years to complete my studies and if I am good enough I might get a unit of myself one day.

"Your Grandparents will stay at the Palace, they will help the Royal Gamma look after his Grandpups and with everything else the Royals might need help with. They will get their own Quarters on the Beta floor. it will make looking after Dalton and Thora a lot easier

Elder Emmett says and I smile at the thought of my Grandparents looking after Pups again. They always looked after Pups if parents had to leave at a last minute notice and I know they would have missed it if not for this opportunity.

We arrive at the Academy just in time for lunch and as we walk in to the dining hall Elder Emmett explains how the seating arrangements work. I am allowed to sit anywhere at the tables in the middle of the dining hall and everyone at the Academy is already aware of my situation. I am in the middle of lunch when everyone gets up as one and I stare at Elder Emmett in the hope that he can tell me what is going on, but someone else beats him to the punch.

"Gillean, I am Commander Amir. You're coming with me, the Pups of our future Royal Gamma are ruissing." He says as he pulls une with him and I follow him without asking any other questions. Unit after unit drives away from the Academy and the caravan of vehicles moves at high speed, while Commander Amir tells me that not only the Pups are missing but also a female that wanted the future Royal Gamma as her Mate, "He found his fated Mate, but I doubt Jo-Anna is aware of that fact." Amir says.

I ask him for a map of the Palace and it's territory, I also ask him if anyone knows how long they have been missing but all Amir knows is that the Pups never arrived at school. The guy in the front passenger seat hands me a tablet and on it I see the map of the Royal Pack, I don't say a word as I go over the map with a fine tooth comb. How do you get two Pups out of the territory that everyone knows? Why didn't anyone question her when she took the Pups with her?

"Commander, I would like to speak to every guard that was at one of the gates. This isn't adding up." I tell him and after a few minutes he tells me that they will be waiting for me at the front door of the Palace. I think that under different circumstances I would be nervous, but now I am too focused on the trouble. ahead and I doubt there is anything that could distract me at the moment.

"You

I have heard Damon roar in anger before, but this is even too much for me and Smoke and everyone in the office is on their knees. I have no doubt that everyone close to us is on their knees as well, no one can withstand the aura that Damon is releasing at the moment and Dad has to jam a knife in to his leg to make him see what he is doing.

"Close the fucking gates." Damon yells through the min-link, before we all hear him summon every unit that is at the Academy. "Amir, bring Gillean with you, be just arrived at the Academy." Damon continues and I remember that Dad told me last night that he is a relative of the King, his Grandmother is Damon's Aunt if I remember correctly. I will meet her in a few days when she arrives here after visiting old friends along the way, they will be looking after Dalton and Thora when necessary.

I don't hear a distraught Jaylen over the mind-link and Dad tells me that one of the Elders will inform Jaylen and Morgan about our discovery. We both know that is not going to be an easy conversation, it is never easy to tell a parent that their Pup is missing and it doesn't matter how old the Pup in question is. I see Warriors walking up to the Palace and it doesn't take me long to find out that each of them was on gate duty today.

Gillean gets out of the SUV with Commander Amir and Smoke is pushing forward, curious about Damon's Cousin, he is a handsome young male. His light brown hair is cut short and his hazel eyes sparkle as he smiles at Damon and there is no doubt in my mind that he is a Lycan. Gillean asks where the guards are and Dad points at the group of males standing a few feet away from us.

"Gentlemen, I need you to think carefully about what happened before you answer my question. Beta Tom's SUV is r missing from the carpark, which of you let it pass the gates?" He asks and I can't believe no one thought of asking that question. One of the guards raises his hand and Gillean asks him to recall everything he saw when the SUV approached the gate.

I see confused looks on everyone's faces, but the guard does as Gillean asked him. He tells us that the SUV approached the gate at normal speed and that he recognized it as the SUV of Beta Tom, but that Beta Tom hadn't been inside the vehicle. "Who was driving the SUV?" Gillean asks and the guard tells us that jo- Anna was behind the wheel, "Did you see anyone else in the vehicle with her?" Gillean asks and the guard tells us that she was alone, that he checked the vehicle according to protocol.

"Beta Tom, I would like to see the footage from the car park, and from the gate." Gillean says and Dad has to tell him there are no cameras inside the car-park. "That is fine, just get me the footage from outside the car-park." He replies and I wonder what he is going to do with the footage he asked for. I don't get the chance to ask Gillean anything because I hear Jaylen roaring over the mind-link and I have to hold my head at the sound of it.

"Gillean, I hope you can find some answers fast, we have a very pissed off Lycan heading this way." Damon says before he heads back inside, we follow him to the Royal Wing as Dad explains a few things about Jo-Anna, Dalton and Thora. I nearly walk into a wall when Gillean asks if Jo-Anna ever did anything to harm Dalton and Thora in anyway and Dad stares at him while Damon asks him to clarify his question.

"If Jo-Anna is as interested in Jaylen as you say, she will not like the fact that he has Pups and she would have tried to make Dalton and Thora understand that they mean nothing to her. Maybe she threatened to send them of to some sort of boarding school or some sort of institute for difficult Pups, anything to make sure that they would fear her." Gillean explains and Smoke roars menacingly at the indication

Dad points out that Dalton and Thora are well mannered and polite Pups, that many adults could learn something from them and that he never saw lo-Anna at cruel towards them. Gillean responds by telling

Dad that she would never do it in front of any witnesses, but that it doesn't mean she didn't mistreat them if it was just the three of them. "Your Majesty, I would like access to the security cameras inside and outside the Palace." Gillean says and I know he will get everything he asks for.

Not because he is related to Damon, but because he is a genius when it comes to security measures and I hope he will have some answers for us soon. I tell him to follow me to my office, that I will give him my access codes to the systems and I tell Dad to be prepared for the arrival of Jaylen and Morgan. "Just make sure that everyone knows to keep Morgan away from Jo-Anna, she is going to kill her if she gets her hands. on Jo-Anna" I say as 1 guide Gillean towards my office.

As we walk into my office I tell him that she is also mated to Jaylen, but that no one is aware of that yet and that it will be best if no one finds out in the meantime. After giving Gillean access codes I sit down in the sitting area of my office and I try to find out if I ever saw Jo-Anna mistreat Dalton and Tora or that they acted scared around her, but I can't remember ever witnessing something like that.

Damon, Casimir and Roan went back to the Palace after our meeting and Jaylen and I went back to our unit to start making plans for White Rock Pack. We are going over every piece of information we could find and the picture it paints of White Rock Pack is one that makes a chill running down my spine, this Pack needs to be stopped. They are pure evil in my book, they believe they can treat females as property and do to females whatever they want.

Unfortunately none of the males from White Rock Pack was ever convicted, because there was never anyone willing to testify against them and if someone stepped forward they ended up dead or they withdrew their testimony. The worst of the worst is White Rock's leadership, they have broken every there is and they encourage their Pack-members to do the same.

We are about to discuss Beck's Father when Elder Larson walks in and I see both our teams move in behind us. No one has to tell me that something bad happened, but if Elder Larson doesn't start talking fast I might lose my shit and that is probably why our teams are standing behind us. "Dalton and Thora." Is all I say and Elder Larson nods his head as he sits down before he tells us that Roan and Tom went looking. for Jo-Anna after reading the news article.

"When they couldn't find her they started searching the Palace and after that the Palace grounds, but they didn't find her. When a Warrior came in to tell King Damon that Tom's SUV was missing they also found out that Dalton and Thora never showed up to school, the teacher believed the article to be true and thought they stayed home to celebrate." Elder Larson says and I know every member of the Royal Pack and every unit member can hear the roar Jaylen releases.

"Grab every file on White Rock Pack and head to the Palace once you are done, Iwill make sure you get into the Palace." I say as I look at Beck and Moura. The rest of you get into the SUVs, we are heading out immediately. Elder Larson, we will be working from the Palace for the time being." I say before I grab Jaylen's hand and start walking towards the door. I link Amir in the meantime and I find out that he is already at the Palace, Damon kept us out of it on purpose.

Deacon gets behind the wheel of our SUV and Skylar gets into the passenger seat next to him, while Tristan and Faith get in the back seats with me and Jaylen. The other members in our team get into the SUV behind us and our unit members divide themselves over the other SUVS in front of us and behind us. I hope Damon has a few more answers when we get to the Palace and I think Kieran can use some distraction from this situation, Amra is pacing in my head as she softly growls.

"We should have dealt with her after Thora-confided in us." Amra growls and I tell her it is easier to talk in hindsight, there was no way we could have known she would take it this far, this fast. I was still trying to figure out how I could catch her in the act, I wanted to Have all the evidence I needed to get her banished. from Palace grounds and I ask Amra if something could have happened that made her decide to speed things up.

I have been sitting on Jaylen's lap ever since Elder Larsen walked in to our living room and I think it is the only thing that keeps Commander from taking over control, "We will find them and if Jo-Anna has anything to do with it she will pay." I tell my Mates and can feel them relax just a tiny bit. I know I would be on edge if they were my Pups, but Amra growls at my thoughts, They are our Pups as well, we just need to be the ones with a level head at the moment." She grumbles.

I lean my head against his shoulder as I think about Amira's words, she is right about Dalton and Thora and I am glad that Amra is helping me to be the reasonable one for a change. I would love to track down the Bitch and make her pay for what she did to Dalton and Thora, I will make her regret coming after my Mate and our Pups.

A Gamma's Revenge Chapter 262 Missing Jo-Anna's p.o.v. Finished

Jaylen finally hired a nanny for his little brats and even though everyone keeps telling me that she is a Commander in Damon's Army I know they are lying. No female is good enough to be a Commander, most aren't suited to be a team Captain and the fact there are only a handful of female Captains in Damon's Army supports that.

Thora seems to stick to her new nantly and that is fine by me, it will make it easier for me to get closer to Jaylen. I need to get rid of those two Pups, I am not going to raise any Pups and sure as hell not the Pups of a conniving Bitch like Lynah. Damon banned me from the Royal Wing because of the nanny, does she think she can take Jaylen away from me?

I thought I was playing my cards right, but for some reason Damon didn't believe me and I can feel his eyes staring into my back as the Guards take me away from the Royal Wing. Looks like I will have to come up with another way to gain access to the Royal Wing again, being Tom's baby Sister is not getting me anywhere anymore and I wish I could talk to my Sister in law about this situation.

Madelyn and her Wolf were as power hungry as Rina and I are, the only difference between us is that she got what she wanted and I got a Warrior as my fated Me, Madelyn knew what I wanted and at first I tried to get Kieran's attention after Kate rejected him, I waited patiently when he took Lynah as his chosen Mate. Meeting Jaylen when he was twenty one made me change my mind and I decided that Lynah could have Kieran.

Madelyn told me about what Lynah did to Jaylen and she told me that, if it wasn't for the fact that they needed an heir, she would have never gotten pregnant. She never wanted to be a Mother, but with Tom's position she knew she had to have at least one Pup and she thanked the Goddess for giving them a Son. Tom always believed that it was meant to be for them to have one Pup, but I know that Madelyn made sure she couldn't get pregnant ever again.

Madelyn and I were so much alike and I miss our conversations on how things would be with the two of us living in the Royal Wing, we even had a good relationship with Kate. My relationship with Kate became. tighter after Madelyn died and she told me that we needed to scare females off, she suggested the article that will appear in the news just before midnight on the next Full Moon.

I watch Jaylen's Pups from a distance and their nanny is following them around, Jaylen not far behind. them. I can see that he is happy with the nanny he hired and I can't wait until tomorrow night for him to mark me, we will finally be together. Everyone knows that a Wolf or Lycan will never raise another's Pups, well there are exceptions of course. Think of adoption or a second chance Mate or a second chosen Mate. but not when you are fated Mates.

I know that Jaylen and I aren't fated Mates, but I never wanted to be a Mother and I have no intention of making an exception for Jaylen's Pups. Like every other weekend Jaylen spends at the Palace, I see him walking around the gardens on Sunday morning and I watch as he is pointing out things I know his Pups. love, looks like he is instructing his nanny. Just before lunch they walk back into the Royal Wing and I know no one will see Jaylen until after dinner tonight.

My afternoon is spend with taking a bath, before the hairdresser and make-up artist show up. An Omega walks in with my dinner shortly after my hair and make-up is done, she looks at me strangely when she sees me in a robe and I ask her if she has never seen anyone get ready for a Full Moon party. "I am sorry, Ma'am. There won't be a party at the Palace tonight, the Royals went to the Academy a few hours ago and they will attend a Full Moon party there." She says as she walks towards the door.

Rina is roaring in my head, this wasn't the way it was supposed to go and Rina asks what we will do if it turns out that Jaylen found his fated Mate. My mind starts spinning. I need to find away for Jaylen to stay away from his fated Mate if he finds her tonight and I think I need to contact Kate to find a way to make sure that Jaylen's mind is occupied with something other than his fated Mate.

for a As I call Kate I put the phone on speaker and the moment she answers I tell her what is going on, moment it is quiet on the other end of the line. Kate starts cussing and swearing at me for being an Idiot, for not paying enough attention to my surroundings and I can't stop myself from laughing. Once I have calmed down again I ask her why she didn't pay any attention to her surroundings, "You live close to the Academy, so you should have seen the preparations." I retort.

of TWO

Looks like we both didn't see what was happening around us and I ask Kate what to do to make sure things, "I need Jaylen to come back to the Palace and feed to keep his mind of his fated Mate if he finds her tonight." I say to Kate and as Kate is mumbling to herself I eat my dinner. I put my phone on mute the moment I hear someone knocking on my door, I tell an Omega she can take everything with her.

I ask the other Omega when it was decided that the Royals would attend the Academy during the Full Moon and I our that Damon announced it this morning to his staff. He even invited his unmated Servants to join him and almost all of them left for the Palace with Damon, leaving behind a minimum of Wolves and Lycans. After the Omegas have left my Quarters I take my phone of mute and I ask Kate what her thoughts are on this development.

When I wake up in the morning I feel a whole lot better, Kate and I talked for hours about what needed to be done and by the time we disconnected the call we had a plan. I pull a small container from its hiding place in my nightstand and I carefully pull two syringes out of the container, placing both of them on my pillow. After placing the container back in its hiding place I take a look at the time and I smile when I see it is time to get this plan on the road.

As Kate and I suspected most Wolves and Lycans are still asleep and that gives me the chance to sneak in to the Royal Wing, hiding a few feet away from the stairs to the floors that belong to the Gamma, Beta and King. Tom and Kieran say goodbye to Dalton and Thors as they walk out of the door of the Gamma floor and I know from experience that both of them will head to their offices, giving me the perfect opportunity to get Dalton and Thora.

I wait for a few minutes before I make my way up to the Gamma floor and I find Thora by herself in the kitchen, before she notices that I am there I push the syringe into her arm. I catch her as she loses. consciousness and I slowly lower her to the ground before I go looking for Dalton, who mak things very easy for me. He walks out of the bathroom with a towel covering his head as he is drying his hair and I have trouble holding onto him as he loses consciousness.

The next part of the plan is a bit more difficult but the lack of Servants and Guards in the Royal Wing makes it manageable and I have a smile on my face when I get into Tom's SUV to head out. It isn't strange for me to take Tom's SUV if I want to go anywhere and after the Guard has checked the vehicle he waves me through. It will take hours before they realize that Dalton and Thora are missing and I will be back by than to comfort Jaylen, like I did with Kieran after Kate rejected him.

In the meantime I need to make arrangements for Dalton and Thora and Kate gave me the perfect solution, I just hope that this will work out. The drive will take me about two hours and then I have to make sure I can convince them to take Dalton and Thora off my hands, not that Kate was doubting they wouldn't. I just don't share her enthusiasm and I wonder if they won't sell me out if anyone ever finds out.

The trip to my destination isn't an eventful one and I smile when the Guard at the gate waves me through, looks like Kate kept her end of the deal.

like living in a smal place. I get out of the SUV and lean against the small cottage, a gorgeous one if you I know exactly where to go and soon I pull to a stop in front of a front as I wait for the occupants of the cottage to come out.

The front door slowly opens as I am about to get back into the SUV and the male tells me he needed Kate to confirm my identity, he is a very cautious male. He aks me what I want from them and as I explain what I need a female steps into view, she links him every now and then as I tell them my plan. It takes me a while to convince them that I am telling the truth and a small smile finally appears on the female's face.

Once they understand what I want from them I explain how this is going to play out and both of them agree to take Dalton and Thora off my hands. I get back into the SUV to see that I spend more time here than I had planned and I just pray that no one has discovered that Dalton, Thora and I are missing.

I am watching Gillean as I see his fingers moving over the keyboard and I let my mind wonder back to this morning. We had all slept in because we returned after he Full Moon and I kriew that Dad had joined Kieran, Dalton and Thora for breakfast, they would be at the office until Damon would arrive. I had joined Casimir on their floor for breakfast and that meant that no one knew if Dalton and Thora had left for school, there also had been lees Guards or duty because of the Full Moon.

The door to my office slams open, but Gillean doesn't react at all as a furious Jaylen walks in and it is plain to see that Morgan can barely calm him down. "WHAT THE FUCK HAPPENED?" Midnight roars and still Gillean keeps working on my laptop, but it seems to infuriate him even more. He stalks over to my desk, while Morgan tries to stop him from whatever lie wants to do. "Answer my fucking question." Midnight demands.

Gillean looks up at him as his fingers are still moving across the keyboard, "I have no idea, I just got here. Now, if you can leave me in peace for a while I will try to figure out what happened." Gillean says and Morgan has to release her Alpha aura to put Midnight back in his place, but I never thought I would hear him say that. "They are my Pups, Morgan. This has nothing to do with you." Midnight growls and even though I know it is the panic for his Pups that makes him lash out, it makes me shiver.

T

Morgan stays quiet as she walks out the door and Midnight turns towards Gillean again, but he is focused on his work once more. Midnight is pacing the floor and I ask Smoke if he can tell how much control Midnight has at the moment. It takes him a few minutes before he can tell me that Midnight is in full control and I ask him why Midnight reacted that way towards Morgan, "He knew they were Mates before Jaylen did and he knew that she would accept Dalton and Thora, than why did he tell her it had nothing to do with her?" I ask. "Roan, can you ask everyone to me to your office?" Gillean asks. "I think I have a few answers and a few questions." His eyes are still on the screen and his fingers are still flying over the keyboard. One after the other walks into my office and I keep my eyes on the door to see if Morgan is joining us, but Kieran tells me that she is in Damon's office. He will leave the mind-link open for her to hear what Gillean found, Midnight hurt her with his words but she also understands him.

Gillean turns my laptop around for us to see Jo-Anna sneaking into the Royal Wing and he keeps switching from camera to camera so we can see her entering the Gamma floor. Time keeps passing by on the footage, but Jo-Anna doesn't come back out and I look at Dad in confusion. Kieran tells me that Morgan went to the Gamma floor to see if she can find anything and I see Gillean switch to cameras in a different part of the Palace.

It is the door to the car park and Jo-Anna walks towards the door as if she belongs there and in a way she does belong there. Every Guard knows that she uses Dad's SUV and that is how she could. get into the car park without anyone asking questions, but what stands out is that she is by herself. "I am still looking for any footage from the moment she entered the Gamma floor and arriving at the car park. She didn't leave through the front door and unlike a Pack-house there is no Omega stairwell." Gillean says as he turns the laptop around again.

I can see Midnight and Jaylen arguing and I wonder who will be in control hen their discussion is over. It doesn't surprise me that Midnight is still in control, but he is looking around the room as he asks where Morgan is. "I don't know, Son. She closed our mind-link after Gillean said he was still looking, last thing I know is that she went to our floor to look for clues." Kieran says and Midnight asks him why she didn't stay with him.

"Midnight, I know you and Jaylen are in a panic and no one is blaming either one of you. When Morgan tried to stop you from grabbing the one person that knows everything about security measures, you made a very hurtful remark towards her. Morgan knows you didn't mean to hurt her, but she doesn't want to see you right now." Kieran says and I can see confusion on Midnight's face.

"They are my Pups, Morgan. This has nothing to do with you. That is what you said to your fated Mate." Gillean says with his eyes still glued to the screen and Midnight turns towards me for confirmation, I just nod my head because there is nothing else I can do. Midnight walks to the corner on the left side of the sitting area and he lowers himself to the floor, curling into a ball. The only other time I saw him do this was when his Grandmother died and I know that Morgan will be the only one to pull him out of it.

Morgan

Amra and I know that Midnight didn't mean to hurt us, that he was just lashing out because of the situation and that he will hate himself the moment he realizes what he said. "Camma floor." I order when I hear Gillean say that she never left the Gamma floor the normal way and the moment Gillean says that he is still looking for other footage I close the mind-link with Kieran. I walk towards the stairs and my team follows me up the stairs, Tristan right beside me. The Guards outside the door step aside the moment we approach the door and I slowly open the door as I look at the floor.

Emilio and Chaya slowly walk into the living room with Deacon and Skylar, Tristan and Ace stick with me as they promised Damon and I look around the kitchen to see that Thora's mug and plate are still on the kitchen island. No signs of a fight or a struggle, meaning that Jo-Anna must have given Thora a sedative. and I wonder how Jo-Anna managed to get close enough to Thora. I don't find anything in the kitchen and I slowly walk from room to room.

Every room gets checked thoroughly before we move on to the next one and we make slow progress as we look everywhere for any clues Jo-Anna might have left behind, but so far we haven't found anything that can help us. I open the door to Dalton's room and I find the same thing I found in the kitchen, no signs of a fight or struggle. I see a towel on the floor and Tristan tells me that his shirt is still in the bathroom.

I kneel down to grab the towel when I see something half hidden under his nightstand and I lower myself further to the floor to see a syringe, "Tristan, I need you to bag this." I say as I get back up and I point at the syringe on the floor. Faith is holding open a bag as Tristan puts some gloves on to grab the syringe, I want to make sure we have every piece of evidence against Jo-Anna and I hope she will claim she had nothing to do with their disappearance.

We just checked the last rooms on the Gamma floor but we didn't find anything else, I lean against the wall as I look down the hallway and for a moment I just listen to the silence. My eyes fly open when I realize I hear more heartbeats than I should and I raise my hand to make everyone stop dead in their tracks, again. I listen to the sounds around me. I strain my hearing to find out where the sound is coming from and I realize it is coming from somewhere below me.

"We need to check both rooms, there has to be a hidden passageway." I say as I start knocking on the wall, Tristan and Ace walk into the room on my left and Deaton and Emilio walk into the room on my right.. "Found something." Emilio says as he pops his head out of the door and I follow him into the walk-in closet, Deacon knocks on the side wall of the closet. "Feth, knock on the wall next to the bathroom." I say and she confirms that the space behind the wall is hollow.

I let my hand slide over the wall in the closet to find something to open a secret door with, suddenly I hear soft click and the wall slowly moves towards me. Deacon and I step back to allow the wall to open up completely and we both stare down a winding stairs, leading to the Goddess knows where. Tristan asks if we should warn Jaylen, but I tell him it will be best if Jo Anna doesn't get tipped off. "If she comes back before we find Dalton and Thora I want to know what she does, I already alerted Amir to keep an eye out for Jo-Anna and to warn me the moment she gets back. If she heads to the Royal Wing I will ask Kieran to leave the mind-link open again." I say as I turn the flashlight on my phone on, I slowly walk down the stairs as I light the way down and I try to remember the lay-out of the ground floor of the Royal Wing.

I stop walking for a moment and ask Emilio to turn his ight up, we can see that the stairs also leads up to the Beta floor. A moment later Skylar tells me through the mind-link that it looks like it leads all the way up to

the King's floor and I ask myself if she could have left the Royal Wing by exiting on the Beta floor or the King's floor, where could these stairs lead us?

1 picture the ground floor in my head as I remember the tour I got from Dalton and Thora, the living room and dining room were situated to the left and the kitchen to the right. The stairs were placed in the middle of the hall and behind the stairs are the offices that belong to King Damon and his Mate when she was still alive. There is a meeting room behind the kitchen, but it isn't as big as the outer wall might suggest.

I asked Jaylen about it but he didn't have an answer for me, there hadn't been any adjustments made to the Royal Wing in ages and according to Damon that meeting room had been there from the start. I think I figured out where we will end up with this hidden stairwell, but where did she hide Dalton and Thora and why didn't anyone hear them.

I am not easily scared and when Jaylen's Lycan was roaring in my face I didn't blink, I was surprised about the way he treated Commander Morgan though. She didn't seem to upset as she walked out of the office, she probably understands a lot more than I do and I wonder if she will join us when I am going to show them what I found so far.

Everyone looks at the screen as I show them what I have found so far, but I still haven't found footage of Jo-Anna leaving the Gamma floor. I hear Midnight ask why Morgan isn't with him and Mace tells me to inform the Idiot that he hurt his Mate, but I never expected to see Midnight curling up to a ball in the comer of the office. I keep going over the footage until see her walking out of the door on the Beta floor, but she is all by herself.

I turn the laptop around to show the others what I found and I hear Roan growl as Jo-Anna comes into view. "How did she get from the Gamma floor to the Beta floor without a camera picking her up?" Roan asks as he sits down in a chair in front of the desk, I tell him I have watched every piece of footage there is and I don't have an answer to his question.

"Jaylen, have you ever played hide and seek as a Pup on the Gamma floor?" I ask as I walk towards him and I sit down in an armchair not far from him, giving him time to think about my question. We all hear a soft No coming from his mouth and I ask Casimir and Roar the same question, both of them giving me the same answer as Jaylen. "We would use the public Wing of the Palace, there are much more places to hide than in this Wing." Casimir explains.

Something tells me that we are overlooking something but I can't figure out what it is and as I walk back to the desk I ask Damon if there is a blueprint of the Palace I can access. He turns the laptop towards him and I realize that he is the only one with access to the blueprint, so not many people will know about any hidden places if they are there. I look at the blueprint of the Gamma floor, but I can't find anything wrong with it

I check the blueprint of every floor in the Royal Wing and again I come up empty. I ask Roan to talk me through their search pattern as I take another look at the blueprints, there has to be something I am missing and Roan tells me they started their search in Jo-Anna's Quarters. "Why would you start your search there?" I ask Roan and I find out that Jo-Anna leaked an article to the news about her and Jaylen. They wanted to take her to see Damon, because they knew she had finally crossed the line.

He walks me through the rest of their day and how they found out that Dalton and Thora were missing. I ask him if there was a part of the Palace they didn't search, but as I already suspected Roan is good at his job and he looks a little angry when he tells me that they checked every part of the Palace. "Sorry, but I had to ask. Most Alphas wouldn't allow any one to search their floor, not even if bloody footprints lead to the door." I say and with a smile Roan accepts my apology.

"Jo-Anna just got back." I hear someone say over the mind-link and I see Midnight jump up, "Midnight, can I ask you something?" I ask before he can walk out of the office and as he turns towards him I ask him what he would advise someone in his situation. He tilts his head to the left as he thinks about it and I can tell when he finally understands why I asked him that questión.

He starts pacing the floor again as Tom and Roan go over their morning routine with Kieran and at moment later the door opens to reveal a female that is ressed rather inappropriate fora visit to the Palace. "What happened?" She asks as she grabs Jaylen's arm and I keep watching her as Roan tells her that Dalton and Thora are missing. If I had blinked or looked away I wouldn't have seen the small, short smug grin on her face and now I am really convinced that she had something to with it.

"Where is their nanny?" Jo-Anna asks and Commander Amir asks her who their nanny is. Jaylen shakes his head as he tells Amir that Jo-Anna thought that Morgan was hired as a nanny for Dalton and Thora. Amir has trouble keeping a straight face as he ask Jo-Anna why she thought a Commander in the King's Army was hired as a nanny and even though she says she made an honest mistake none of us believe her.

Jaylen is pacing up and down the office again, while Jo-Anna tries to grab his arm again and again. Roan steps in front of his Aunt and tells her to sit down, but she pushes him aside as she tells him that someone needs to calm down Jaylen. "Jo-Anna, sit down." Damon says as he steps in front of her and for a moment I believe she will try to go against him as well, but she is smart enough to understand that she is better off doing what Damon said.

Morgan

We finally reach the bottom of the stairs when I hear over the mind-link that Jo-Anna has returned to the Palace, "Deacon, I need you to head back up. I want to know if those stairs actually end up on the King's floor, if it does and we find Dalton and Thora I want to take them up there." I tell him and Skylar is already heading back up those stairs to investigate.

I ask Emilio if he has any idea where this space might be, he looks around as he is pointing in different directions and he comes to the same conclusion I did. tell them that they need to be quiet and again I concentrate on my surroundings, not only do I hear two heartbeats I also sense them behind the wall I am looking at "Check that wall, they are behind that wall say as I point at the wall in front of me and I let my hands slide over the wall like I did before.

are on the King's floor, we are in the same room as on the Gamma floor." I hear Deacon say through the mind-link and I hear Faith mumble Yes just before the wall starts moving. I am the first one that can take a look inside the room and there in the middle of the room I see Dalton and Thora on the floor, "Ace and Emilio. I want the two of you to carry them up to the King's floor, you are not to leave them alone. Tristan, go to the infirmary and grab a Doctor. Make sure he or she understands they are not to say a word." I say.

Faith, Chaya and Danica will stay with me as their Mates do as I say and we make our way back to the Gamma floor. I listen through the mind-link with Kieran to Jo-Anna keeps asking Jaylen to sit down, that everything will be fine and that she will be there for him. Amra is dramatically gagging in my head and I know it is time to put Jo-Anna back in her place, "Let's go to Roan's office and save Jaylen out of Jo-Anna's clutches." I say as I walk to the door.

I tell the Guards at the door that the others are still searching the rooms for cues and the four of us start walking down the stairs to see unit members walking around the Royal Wing, each of them greeting us as we pass them. Beck and Moura are outside Roan's office and I decide to take a look at the meeting room again, taking Faith with me as Chaya informs the others about what we found.

As I suspected there is no way anyone could have heard Dalton or Thora if they had been awake, that room must be soundproof. There is no way anyone can enter that room from here and I wonder why the room even exists, I can't seem to find a reason for it to be there. Beck and Moura look murderous when I return from the meeting room and I tell them to stand guard outside the door, I don't want Jo-Anna to try to escape.

Jaylen's head snaps towards me the moment I step into the office and a moment later I am wrapped in his warmth, "I am so sorry for what I said, Princess. There is no excuse for it, even though I think you already thought of a few." He says as he holds me in his arms and I let my arms glide up his chest to wrap them around his neck, pulling him towards me until our lips ouch.

I hear someone clearing their throat behind me and as turn my head towards the sound I see Jo-Anna standing there with her hands on her hips, "Can I help you with something?" I ask her and I can see anger flashing through her eyes, but it doesn't impress me or Amra. I let myself slide down Jaylen's body and everyone can hear him groan, I kinda did that on purpose.

After I turn around in his arms I lean against his chest as he pulls me closer and we can hear Jo-Anna's Wolf growl as she sees me in Jaylen's arms, "Where did you hide the Pups?" Jo-Anna growls at me and 1 can't help myself as I start to laugh. Jo-Anna keeps asking me where I hid the Pups and after she has asked me for the umpteenth time I am fed up with it.

"Jo-Anna, why would I hide Dalton and Thora? They are Jaylen's Pups and as Jaylen's fated Mate I accept them as my own, that also goes for my Lycan, Amra." I respond and now she is really pissed off. She starts cussing and swearing, yelling at me that I am lying and that I took the Pups. "Jaylen is mine, he is all mine and no one else will ever have him." She growls, just before she lunges for me and Jaylen turns us both around as an unknown male grabs her by the throat.

My Grandparents walk into the office just as Jo-Anna lunges for Morgan and Grandpa grabs Jo-Anna by the throat, before he slams her to the floor on her back, Roan helps Grandpa to pick her up of the floor and two Warriors are waiting with silver chains in their hands, Jo-Anna is to confused to fight them as they put the chains around her wrists.

Without anyone telling me I know that Jo-Anna will be put in the dungeons and if she is lucky she might escape with her life, but with everything she has done doubt she will get to live a long life. I will inform King Damon later that he has to question her thoroughly, because I doubt she could have pulled this off without any help and I wonder who would be stupid enough to lend her a hand. I see Roan staring after his Aunt and I place my hand on his shoulder as I tell him to relax.

Damon steps in front of Jo-Anna to ask her where Dalton and Thora are and she just chuckles before she says, "Good luck with finding the two little brats." Jaylen is about to move towards her when Morgan tells him that both of them are doing fine, that Jo-Anna is unaware of what she is capable of and that she would never give up looking for them. Jo-Anna growls at her that she can't find them and that by the time anyone does find them they will be dead.

"Jo-Anna, you clearly have no idea who you are dealing with. Morgan says as she walks towards her and even though I don't know her I can tell that I better keep myself on her good side. "Dalton and Thora are fine. Doc just checked them and they have gotten a clean bill of health. King Damon, might I suggest that you bring Jo-Anna to Blue River Pack." Morgan says and I see a very evil smile appear on King Damon's face at her suggestion."

He instructs the Warriors to bring her to the dungeons and to start preparing for a prisoner transfer. I must have looked a little confused, because Morgan starts telling me that they have a very sufficient dungeon to get prisoners talking and she happens to know the Alpha of Blue River Pack. I know there is something more to this than she is telling me, but I will leave it up to her if she thinks I need to know or deserve to know.

For now I decide to introduce myself properly to her, "Commander Morgan, my name is Gillean and I will be joining your unit, if I get through my try-outs." I say as I shake her hand and Jaylen tells me that he will. talk to the Elders about skipping my try-out, after all I was tossed into this situation without any training or information. "Seems to me you passed your try-out, just let me know when and if you run into trouble with your education." Jaylen says.

He asks me how my online tests went as we follow the others out of the office, I tell him about my test results and how my Alpha tried to stop me from going to the Academy. When Jaylen asks me why he did that, Grandpa tells him the story I was recently told and I hear quite a few Lycans around me roar. I tell him how we managed to get my Grandparents out of the territory and what happened when Elder Emmett came to pick me up.

"Alpha Mick doesn't sound like the smartest Alpha, he didn't think too far ahead of the situation. He might have been able to figure out your plan if he had given enough thought." Jaylen says and I think he is right when it comes to that, Alpha Mick was to busy with finding ways to keep me within the borders. Morgan tells me that she is glad I was at the Academy, that it made the search a lot easier for her and her unit.

I am surprised to see that Morgan dismisses the Guard on the landing of the first floor, but when she tells them that Dalton and Thora are found they leave without any argument. I keep following the others up the next flight of stairs and after a few more I realize that we are on the King's floor of the Royal Wing, not sure if they want me here I stop on the landing. "Come on, Gillean. You are a Royal and have every right to be here." King Damon says.

The moment the door closes behind me he tells me to call him Damon in private, before he wraps his arms around Grandma for a hug. It doesn't take long before Damon and my Grandparents are in a deep conversation about their future and Morgan grabs Jaylen's hand before she starts pulling him down the hall, "Let's go see our Pups." She says when he asks her where they are going and at that same moment I see four males coming down that hallway.

Roan introduces me to the future Royal Deltas and the Mates, I also find out that they are the tearns that belong to Morgan and Jaylen. A lot of new names aud ces I need to remember, but Mace tells me that I have that covered and I know that when it comes to it will be able to call them by their name. I ask them. if they know how Morgan was able to find Dalton and Thora, every conversation in the room halts when Deacon starts explaining.

"Can you show me the entrance? I would like to see if an find it on the blue prints or in the Archive, maybe I will even be able to find out why it was build in the first place." I ask and Deacon tells me to follow him. Roan and Casimir follow us as we walk down the hall and when he shows us how they found it on the Gamma floor.I have to smile, but when Llook down the winding stairs I wonder how Jo-Anna got them down those stairs.

"Roan, I think we have to consider that she had help. I doubt she could have gotten Dalton down those stairs by herself and I even have a hard time believing she would be able to get Thora down there." Before I have finished speaking Deacon has ran out of the room and I hear him calling for his Mate to llow him, it takes me a moment to figure out why he would suddenly run out. Whoever helped Jo-Anna might try to silence her and Deacon wants to prevent that from happening.

As we exit the room with the hidden door I see a happily reunited family in front of me, but all the future Deltas are no longer in the living room and I ask Roan to link Deacon for an update. "Deacon didn't have to worry, Beck had sent his team down to the dungeons with the Warriors that took Jo-Anna there. He hadn't thought about her having help, but he just wanted to make sure she stayed down there." Roan says after he has linked Deacon.

When Roan explains to the rest why Deacon took off so fast I hear Damon cuss and swear, "Let's just keep an eye on things for now, Jo-Anna will leave shortly and whoever helped her will try to take care of lose ends before she reaches Blue River Pack." Grandma says and I know that she is right about that, whoever it was will most likely try something during her transfer. I tells Morgan about my plan and moments later a female steps into the living room.

"Flora, I need you and your team to follow Beck and Moura's teams to Blue River Pack. I want to find out if someone might try to silence Jo-Anna on the way there and if possible I need you to capture that person. alive." Morgan says and before Flora has walked out of the room Morgan places a phone to her ear, "Hello, Dad." I hear her say before she tells him what she needs from him and now I understand why she knows the Alpha of Blue River Pack.

I sit down next to Grandma as we wait for Morgan to end her phone call and we know that Jo-Anna will be well taken care off before she disconnects the call. Grandpa looks at me to see if I have connected the dots, but I don't need Grandpa to tell me what Morgan is if her Father is the Alpha of Blue River Pack and I nod my head at his unspoken question.

Damon notices the interaction between me and my Grandfather and asks me what that was about, so I explain it to him. Grandmother always thought the education I got in school was lacking and after school in the weekends she would educate me on Lycan history, she taught me everything I needed to know about Lycans. From their temper to their gentle side, about the way a shift is different between a Wolf and a Lycan and about every special bloodline.

or

I explain that no one needs to explain Morgan's bloodline to me, but that I would like to find out what her abilities are one day. Morgan tells me that she has quite a few abilities and each of them allow her to do her job even better, my jaw drops when she tells me that she has four abilities. She will be working with Ace to see if her abilities can be summoned or that they work at random, she believes it will be better if she can use some of her abilities on command.

Everyone, that crosses her path, better be careful if she is able to control her abilities, because she will use her abilities against them if she has to. My assignments with Commander Jaylen and Commander Morgan will be very interesting, they are the best unit the King's Army has and if they ever go after White Rock Pack I hope I get to witness it.

After everything settled down in the Palace, everyone returned to their stations and every unit returned to the Academy, Morgan and Jaylen decided to stay at the Palace to calm down Thora, Dalton was more pissed than anything else and after a round of sparring with his Dad he had calmed down. Thora was scared every time she found herself without her Dad and Morgan, she would even start to scream if it took to long for one of them to come back.

Gillean's Grandparents were amazing thou, they kept reassuring Thora that Jaylen and Morgan would return soon and by the time she went to bed she was willing to sleep in her own bed. Gillean's Grandparents moved into the room across from Thor and they told her she could come to them whenever she needed them, something I think Thora is going to need for the time being.

Once Dalton and Thora were in their beds Morgan told me to follow her and I walk with her down the stairs to the dungeons, some of her unit members still guarding Jo-Anna's cell. Jo-Anna growls the moment she sees us and she lunges for Morgan the moment the door opens, but a member of her unit is fast enough to grab Jo-Anna by the throat. He shoves her to the back of the cell, before he steps out of the way to let Morgan do her job.

At 575 Morgan is nearly a foot shorter than I am, but even I wouldn't think about crossing her. Being a Commander in the King's Army doesn't just mean that you know how to use your brain, it also means that you can go up against the strongest Warriors the Army has and I hope that one day I get to see her in action. "What the fuck do you want?" Jo-Anna asks as she looks at me, but I just lean against the wall with my arms folded in front of my chest.

"I am going to ask you the questions." Morgan says as she looks at Jo-Anna. Morgan doesn't say anything at first and I wonder what is going on, until Smoke reminds me of the fact that Morgan can hear thoughts. Jo-Anna might refuse to answer any questions, but she can't stop herself from thinking and that might just give us what we need,

"WHAT?" Jo-Anna yells when Morgan hasn't said a word and I think it annoys the hell out of Jo-Anna, she isn't used to people ignoring her. I always thought Jo-Anna was a nice and kind person, but the older I got the more I started to understand and now I know she has two sides to her character. The one she shows the outside world and the one she is showing us now, Jo-Anna keeps yelling at Morgan to release her, but Morgan doesn't respond to any of it and I can see that Jo-Anna's Wolf is trying to push forward. It is no use with the silver and Wolfsbane imbedded into the cell, it only results in her getting weaker and it seems that is what Morgan was hoping for. "Did you drug Dalton and Thora?" She growls as she releases her Alpha aura, forcing Jo-Anna on her knees and if it hadn't been for my Lycan hearing I wouldn't have heard her confirm Morgan's suspicions.

The next moment Jo-Anna collapses to the floor and that is when Morgan reels in her Alpha aura. "Chain her with silver chains and await further orders from Beck." Morgan says as she walks out of the cell and I quietly follow her back to the King's floor. Neither one of us says a word as we walk up the stairs and I wonder if she was able to hear some of Jo-Anna's thoughts.

The moment we walk into the living room she tells Damon that Jo-Anna confessed to drugging Dalton and Thora, causing Jaylen to roar loud enough to wake up his Pups and both of them come running into the living room. Jaylen is 6"5 but a big softy when it comes to his Pups, I think they can even calm down Midnight if he is in a full blown rage.

"I am fine, just heard something I didn't want to believer He says as he looks at Thora and he tells her what Morgan just said. Dalton leans towards Morgan as he asks, "Did you find out anything else?" Morgan looks around the room and seems to be comfortable with the people around her, "Yes, she was thinking about who was supposed to pick the two of you up. She had figured they would be a reliability, she never thought anyone would find the two of you." Morgan answers.

The next moment the door opens after a short knock on the door and a male I saw this morning walks in, "Orson, take Enzo with you. I want your teams to head to Silver Moon Pack and bring in Lynah and her Mate, from there you will head to Blue River Pack." Morgan orders and without asking a question he walks out of the room, closing the door to the King's floor behind him.

After telling us what she found out by listening to Jo-Ama's thoughts, Morgan leaves with Jaylen and their Pups to their own floor. Gillean asks Damon if he can have a look at the Archive in the morning, "Gillean, you are a Royal. You don't need to ask permission. Casimir says before he wishes us all goodnight and I can hear Gillean mumble. "Need to get used to that." Or something along those lines.

Dad offered Gillean a room on our floor and at first he didn't want to intrude, but my Dad can be very persistent when it comes down to it. Gillean follows me as he asks me if I have a Mate, "You think my Mate would stay on our floor when I am on the King's floor?" I ask him and I hear him chuckle before he tells me I have a good point.

After getting to my room I go through my evening routine and for a few minutes I stare at the ceiling. trying to wrap my head around everything that happened today. It doesn't take long before my eyes become to heavy and even though I try to fight it, I lose the battle against sleep. Slowly drifting of to my usual dream, a dream of my future with my Mate and like every other night I am unable to see my Mate. The only thing I do see is my Dad with a small Pup on his lap, a Pup that calls him Grandpa.

As I grab a cup of coffee my mind wanders back to my dream, I try to remember as much as I can and I can make a new note on my dream because this time it was clear I am the Royal Beta. So if this dream is an indication of my future, I will have a Mate with at least two Pups and Casimir has taken over from Damon. Not that Smoke and I are putting much faith in it, because that kind of future isn't possible for us

"Goodmorning, Uncle Roan." Thora says as she wraps her arms around my neck from behind and I smile as I see Damon pout from the head of the table. "Don't worry. I didn't forget about you, old man." Thora says as she jumps onto his lap and every other person that would have said that to Damon would be on their way to the dungeons, but he has a soft spot for Thora. Cesar shakes his head as he gets himself some coffee and within minutes everyone is sitting down for breakfast.

"When will Jo-Anna be transported to Blue River Pack? Damon asks and Morgan looks at her phone to tell him they left an hour ago. She has barely put down her phone or it starts ringing and the look on her face at seeing the caller-ID doesn't predict much good. What is it, Flora?" She asks when she answers and thanks to our Lycan hearing she doesn't have to repeat what is being said.

"Six Lycans attacked the SUVs that are transporting Jo-Anna, they are well trained and we have trouble keeping them away from Jo-Anna." We hear Flora say and Morgan asks if she recognizes anyone. For a few moments all we can hear are growls and roars, the sound of something colliding with an SUV and then we hear something we never would have thought. "Get the fuck away from that SUV, Bruce." Is yelled in the background.

Dad and Kieran run from the room while we are still listening to the phone call, it is clear to hear that whoever Bruce brought with him had the same kind of training he did and as I listen to the fight progressing I look up to see-Morgan relaxing in her seat. She has a smirk on her face as we hear someone say, "Three down, three to go.

Moments later the line goes quiet, only to hear Flora say, "We got them, Commander."

"Good, continue your way to Blue River Pack. I will inform them that you are on the way." Morgan says before she disconnects the call. She immediately presses a few buttons on her phone, a second later we hear her greet someone named Landon and Jaylen gets a murderous look in his eyes. Dalton starts laughing when we hear him ask how his baby Sister is doing, I forgot she mentioned she has six of them and Landon happens to be one of them.

"The welcoming committee will be waiting for them, tell King Damon we got quite a few answers from Nigel's Father. Full report should be in your inbox by tomorrow morning" Landon says before they say their goodbyes and she giggles just before she kisses Jaylen on his forehead. Damon is staring at Morgan,

I think I might have missed a piece of the conversation because I don't understand why.

"1 send another team to Blue River Pack with Jo-Anna, just after midnight. Everyone knew she would be transported this morning and I didn't want to risk her escaping." Morgan answers his unspoken question and I get reminded of the reason why she is a Commander, yet again.

I wake up from a very peaceful sleep and I have to blink my eyes twice to remember where I am. Thinking back on the last twenty four hours of my life, I come to the conclusion that there is a lot I need to process. and the best way to do that is to keep myself busy. I get out of bed to take a quick shower, before I am. going to find the Archive and maybe get something to eat while I'm at it.

My outfit for the day will be something comfortable, I live no idea how long I will be in the Archive and I don't like working in jeans or slacks. I step into the bathroom to find a huge shower and I smile as I realize that everything here is build for Lycans, males tend to be bigger if they are Lycans and it had shown in my former Pack that almost everything was built for Wolves.

After turning on the shower I quickly find everything need and I step under the water to quickly shower. I go through the rest of my morning routine and after putting on some sweats and a t-shirt I walk out of the bedroom, finding the kitchen easily. "Goodmorning." I say to the Servant that is working in the kitchen and I see her eyes roaming up and down my body as I walk towards the kitchen island.

I hate it when females look at me like that and normally I would shoot it down quickly, but I don't feel like it at the moment. Seeing the fact she is still ogling me I walk to the fridge to get myself some breakfast. "Sir, breakfast will be served on the King's floor in an hour or two. I hear her say, but with my intention of finding the papers on that secret stairwell and hidden room I doubt I will be finished before breakfast.

Opening the fridge door I feel her stepping closer to me and Mace softly growls as I take a look at the food in front of me. I am glad I took Yara up on her offer, when she told me she was willing to teach me to cook and after pulling a few ingredients from the fridge I turn around to almost collide with the Servant. "King Damon informed us that there was a relative of his staying on the Beta floor, but he didn't mention your name." She says as she smiles up at me.

Mace is rolling his eyes at me and I walk around her to get to the stove, I want to get to work and right now she is in my way. Oh, I think I forgot to mention I have lousy morning mood. It is best not to talk to me in the morning, unless it is important of course and if not than you better wait until after I had some coffee and food.

"Not much of a talker, huh. That's okay, I just wanted to let you know if there is anything you need...." A growl from the doorway interrupts her and we both turn around at the same time, "Mary, this is the only warning you get. Stay away from the boys." Tom growls and she bows her head in submission. I quickly turn to the stove to get my breakfast ready, because I want to dive into that Archive and find some

"Tom, I won't be having breakfast with the rest of you. I want to find some answers," say as I make breakfast and I smile when I see that Tom made the both of us some coffee. We both sit down at the kitchen island and I just enjoy the quiet as I take a sip of my coffee, "I want to apologize for Mary's behavior, I know it took a few days for her to realize that Roan would never be her Mate and I think she hopes for another chance with you around." Tom says.

I think about how-to make it clear that I will never take a chosen Mate or that I know it will be difficult for me to find my Mate and even if I find my Mate the chances of my Mate rejecting me are bigger than accepting me. "I know she won't be my Mate and that goes for every female in the world." I say before I start eating, but Tom isn't responding to my words.

+hear someone leaving the kitchen, but I know that Tom is still sitting at the kitchen island with me, "Get used to females coming on to you, because they will keep coming until you find your Mate. same order. Don't talk about what you hear within these walls." Tom says and I groan as I realize that Mary won't even be able to repeat this to her friends.

After I have finished my breakfast I rinse of everything used and place it in the dishwasher, before I walk out of the kitchen. "If anyone needs me, I'll be in the Archive." I call out to Tom over my shoulder and if he responded I didn't hear it because I already closed the door behind me.

I walk around the hallways in search of the Archive when a female steps in front of me, "Can I help you with something?" She asks and for once I am surprised to find a female that isn't looking up and down my body, but that changes the moment 1,see a mark on her neck. "Looking for the Archive, but I think I should have asked the King for a map." I mumble the last part.

"Come on, I'll show you where it is." She says before she turns on her heel and I follow her further down the hallway I just turned into. At the end she turns left and stops almost immediately, "Here we are." She says as she points at a door and before I get to thank her for her help, she walks off.

I open the door to find a small desk not far from the door and behind it is a female Lycan, but she doesn't look up as I close the door. "Do you know where I can find anything that has to do with the build of the Palace?" L'ask and that seems to draw her attention away from whatever she was doing.

I can see that she is linking someone and a moment later she gets up to walk down the hallway in front of me, I decide to follow her even though she didn't say anything. The hallway ends in a huge space filled with all kinds of furniture and I am glad she seems to know where we are going, if I had to find it on my own I would be her for a few days.

"Everything you need is here." She says as she points towards a bookshelf and a filing cabinet. "Thank you, I appreciate the help." I say before she walks off again, assume to sit behind that little desk again. I start with the filing cabinet, but I find out it only contains files on every member of the Royal Family and I even find a file on me.

I grab the file to look at its contents, but I find out that the years I spend in White Rock Pack aren't there. The files on my Brothers are updated until we left for White Rock Pack and I wonder why there is nothing else in the files about us, "I doubt Dad knew we were Royals, he probably would have used it to his advantage." Mace says to me and I just nod my head.

Looking at the bookshelf I wonder where I should start after staring at it for a few minutes I decide to start at the top and I grab a ladder that is standing against the wall. I climb to the top of the ladder to look at the titles, but all I find is a row full of journals and at the beginning is a large Book. I grab that one first to see what the journals might be about and I carefully climb down the ladder to sit down at a desk.

I open the book in front of me and I find the family tree of the Royal Family. On the first page is an explanation of how to read this book and I quickly star turning pages to find the part that mentions my Grandmother, I find it when I am three quarters through the book. It is at the bottom of the page without the mention of Grandpa and I turn the page to find the start of our last generations, starting with Grandma again.

I see Grandpa's name mentioned next to her name and the name of the Pack they moved to, Grandpa's birth Pack. I see my Mother's name and next to it only the mentioning of her finding her Mate, I don't see my Father's name and I don't see the names of my Brothers, just that she had three Pups. I am mentioned in this family tree and I turn-back a few pages before it sinks in, only the ones with a Lycan are mentioned. in the family tree.

It is all the information I find, no mention of my moving to White Rock Pack or the death of my Mother and now I have even more questions. I haven't had the chance to ask Grandma why I never knew that I was a Royal, now I want to know why there is no mention of my Mother's death or the rest of my family or my

But this wasn't why I came to the Archive and I really need to find those answers, because they might also explain why Jo-Anna knew of that room but no one else. I think for a brief moment how to formulate my question, "When you lived here, did you ever hear about the hidden room?" I ask her and for a moment she is quiet, but a moment later I hear her voice again. "No, I can't remember anyone ever talking about it." She say and I know I have to take a look at the journals that were written by the Kings that ruled before her Brother did.

The next journal was written by Grandma's Brother and I quickly place it back to grab the next one. I read through it to find nothing of interest and after two more journals from other Kings that hold no clue, I am ready to give up for the day. It is close to lunch time and I think I am in need of some food and a large coffee, but Mace wants me to check one more journal.

Reluctantly I walk back up the ladder to place this one back in it's rightful place and grab the next journal to read through. The first entry is the day after he took over after his Father and Uncle died and I find out that his Father died at the hands of his Uncle, he had to take over before he found his Mate. Something that hardly ever happens within the Royal Family, most Kings give their heir about ten years before they -step down.

It gives the new couple time to make a family of their own and for the future Queen to learn what she needs to learn. It gives them time to prepare for a very different life and I am glad I will never have to worry about such a public life, I can stay out of the spotlight to do what I do best. Finding answers to questions someone has or to put security measures in places to keep others safe and so many other things like that.

When Grandpa pointed out that I could become part of the King's Army to help keep more people safe than just our Pack, I was surprised he even thought that far about my future. Now I think it also might have had something to do with me being a Royal or with Grandma wanting to go home and neither one would be willing to leave me again.

I might be nineteen but to them I am still a little Pup, Mace is chuckling in my head as I turn the next page. It is about the King finding his fated Mate and how he almost lost her due to a very conniving Elder, not that much has changed in the department of Elders wanting more control and power. Some Elders still try to get their Daughter or other female relatives in Casimir's bed, I don't have a doubt about that.

It is because of this King that a lot changed for the Elders and I smile when I realize that he almost dismantled the Council of Elders. His Royal Gamma was the next one to find his fated Mate, but this time- it was the Gamma that had a problem with his Mate and it took an order from the King for him to even spent time with her. His Mate decided she didn't need this kind of trouble and moved to the edge of the Palace grounds without telling anyone.

After three weeks of dealing with a Gamma that was slowly losing control of his Lycan the King told him where he could find his Mate, but gave him the warning that if she rejected him for his behavior he would have to accept it. Luckily for the Gamma and the Kingdom she didn't reject him, but it took a few months before she finally accepted him as her Mate.

The Royal Beta was a different story, it took him quite a long time to find his Mate and when that finally happened it brought an entire different scala of problems with it. "Yes." I say out loud as-I find a mention of remodeling the Palace, but I keep reading the story of the Beta and his Mate from.. "Oh, Fuck." I mumble because I finally understand why the room was built and who it was meant for the female when she asks me where I am going with those books. Everyone that works in the Royal wings looks at me as I rush passed them and even though a few of them call after me I ignore them, quickly making my way up to the King's floor. "Okay, where is the fire?" Casimir asks when I burst through the door and I drop the books on the coffee table before I turn to my Grandmother, "You have some questions to answer, Grandma. I think I can manage to answer a few on my own, but there is a question only you and Grandpa can answer and I want the damn truth." I growl at her.

I grab the large book and open it to the last written page. "What is missing from this page, Grandma?" I ask, my voice laced with Mace's voice. I have never talked to anyone like this before and I never thought Grandma would be the first one to hear it, but I need answers from her. Grandpa grabs the book and reads through the page from the top. I can tell when he realizes what I am talking about.

"Gillean..." Grandpa starts but one growl in his direction makes him shut up and I keep my eyes on Grandma for an answer, but all she does is shake her head. "Commander Morgan, I have found the answers we were looking for. When you have time come find me on the Beta floor, I am done here." I say before I walk out the door with the journal that holds the answer and I slam the door shut behind me.

I know Mom is a sore topic with Grandma, but as her son I have a right to know why her death isn't recorded in the family tree. I walk into my room to sit down in an armchair that is facing the window, I don't see anything as I stare out side and I don't need to as I try to figure out why Grandma couldn't answer my question. Neither one of us has ever lied to the other or with held information for the other. but she couldn't answer a simple question.

Mace is growling and pacing in the back of my head and he is getting more agitated by the second. I feel a hand on my shoulder and as I look up I see that Roan followed me, "Care to tell me what that was about?" He asks.

"That book holds every family tree of the Royal family. I know that my Father and Brothers aren't mentioned because they are Wolves. There are two things missing from the tree though, my moving to White Rock Pack and my Mother's death." I say as I lean my head on the back of the couch and I just stare at the ceiling.

Roan doesn't say anything as we sit there and I appreciate that he is allowing me to process this without pushing me. A knock on the door makes him get up and a moment later I hear Morgan's voice, "Is Gillean okay?" is her question and I think Grandpa told them I usually don't talk that way to them. Well, it seems that there is a first time for everything.

I slowly sit up straight as Morgan and Jaylen walk further into my bedroom, Jaylen pulls Morgan onto his lap as he sits down in another armchair and I grab the journal from the small table in front of me.-"This journal belongs to a King that ruled centuries ago, he is Damon's third Great Grandfather and in this I found the answer. He was forced to take over before he found his Mate and his Royal Beta was the last one to find his Mate.

That is also where it gets interesting, because Morgan is related to Roan. Your ancestor was mated to the Royal Beta and for her protection the room was built.say before I hand the journal over to Morgan and I see a smile appear on her face.

"Mom told me her story at bedtime and I would ask her over and over to tell it to me again, but back then I didn't know the truth. She was the one female that didn't find a horrible Mate, until me of course." She says as she leans closer to Jaylen and I see her smiling a Roan as he just stares at her. "I never knew we had a special bloodline in our family." He mumbles before he takes the journal from Morgan to read it himself, teasing Roan and I hear Morgan giggle when Roan's Lycan growls at Jaylen. The plans for the secret staircase and the room are described in the journal, but wasn't able to find any drawings of it and I think I need to head back to the Archive to find out if anyone can take these journals out of there. I was to exited with my find to consider the fact that I would have to sign somewhere or that maybe I wouldn't be allowed to take them with me.

Chapter 269 Eyes Roan's pov.

"Why don't we give your Grandparents some time to figure out how to answer your question, while you answer a question I have." I say after a Servant has brought us some coffee. I wait until everyone has their coffee before I decide to ask Gillean my question, I wanted to ask the second I heard it but it was clear that he needed some time to process a few things.

"When did you live in White Rock Pack?" I ask and both Jaylen and Morgan look from me to Gillean.

I give Gillean the time he needs to start talking, because I have an idea that this isn't an easy story for him to tell anyone. "I remember it was close to my fifth birthday, Mom and Dad were on, what Grandma called, their date night. Not that I had any idea what that meant at that time, all I knew was that Mom and Dad were gone for the evening and Grandpa and Grandma stayed with us. Gillean says.

It isn't difficult to see that this is bringing back bad memories, "I woke up in the middle of the night to the sound of sirens, Grandma took me and my Brothers to the living room and Grandpa went outside to find out what was going on. He returned very quickly and I will never forget the horrified look on Grandma's face. Gillean has walked to the window while he talked.

"I don't remember much of the days that followed, but was able to piece things together as I got older. I remember visiting Dad in the infirmary, he was badly injured and the thing that stood out was that Mom wasn't with him. Before anyone could say something Dad looked at the three of us and told us that Mom was dead." The last words barely louder than a whisper

"After we left the infirmary I heard people talking about a service for Mom, because there was nothing left to bury. That is what I remember clearly, the rest is a bit blurry from that time. I always thought I imagined things, but I am starting to think that my Grandparents kept a huge secret from everyone. I think my Mother is still alive." Gillean says as he turns around.

I let his words sink in, but I can't remember anything he said that would explain his last comment and I decide to take a chance. "Gillean, why do you think she is still alive?" I ask him.

"Grandma reported everything that concerned our family and it was all placed in our family tree, but there is no mention of my Mother's death. Grandpa told me a little while ago that our family kept it hidden from Alpha Mick that Lycans had been born into our family and those things combined are the reason I think that Mom is still alive." Is the answer I get

It is possible for a Lycan to survive an attack, if they get enough time to heal. I don't know what happened to Gillean's parents and there for I have no reason to assume that his Father or anyone else lied to him. However, something tells me that I shouldn't just dismiss this and take a closer look at this with Gillean.

"I was eight when Dad met Yara and we moved to White Rock Pack to live with her. Alpha Mick seemed relieved on one hand that Dad left, but I think he suspected something about my Dad. He looked rather sad at me when we drove away from the Pack-house and for a few years I shoved it to the back of my mind, until I saw my Father's anger towards Yara for the first time when I was about twelve.

After that it was as if Dad no longer cared about what I witnessed and the same thing goes for my Brothers. Callum is my senior by ten years and Shane my senior by eight years, they are just like my Father and I know there is nothing anyone can do to help them. They have been under the influence of my Father for too long." Gillean says.

A knock on the door gives Gillean some time to figure out what he is going to tell us next and when I open the door there is a Servant standing there with a cart full of food. "Come in and place it on the coffee table please." I say and I watch as she puts everything on the table, leaving us alone the moment she is done.

We all eat in silence and in the meantime I let his words about his Father and his Brothers run through my mind. Titan is agitated and pacing back and forth in the back of my head, he is starting to give me a headache. I am not sure if he can handle much more, I don't think he has ever acted this way before and I have been thinking about everything I have ever gone through in my life.

Morgan places everything back on the cart and places outside of Gillean's room, none of us wants someone to interrupt us again.

"I have seen my Father and Brothers do despicable things in the two years I was aware of their behavior, but I think there is one thing I will never be able to erase from my memory. For this to make any sense, you have to understand that Yara's house was soundproof and no matter how many times I have thought about it I still don't understand why it was soundproof.

It was a few weeks after I turned thirteen, I got home from school when I walked in through the backdoor. The door to the kitchen was closed and the only time that ever happened was when Yara had mopped the floor, so I decided to open the door slowly. Callum had Yara bent over the kitchen table Gillean stops talking and Morgan tells him to tells us at his own spec.

"His hand was around her throat, she tried to scream but there was hardly any sound coming from her. Dad was sitting on the other side of the table and he told Callum to do with her what ever he liked He ripped the clothes of her back and that is when I saw that his pants were hanging around his ankles. Callum took his cock into his hand and forced it into her backdoor, that is when I snapped out of it." Gillean could barely get the words out of his mouth.

"I think we all get the picture, did this happen often?" Jaylen asks before he buries his nose in Morgan's neck to calm himself and Midnight down.

"Yes, but I think that was the worst I have ever witnessed. I tried to stop it every time, but they would always beat the shit out of me for interrupting them and the last time I tried to stop Callum it almost costed me my life. I don't know what happened to the female that got away from him that time, but she was able to help me get out of White Rock Pack.

That was over five years ago, Lyssa went missing a day or two before I walked out of the infirmary with Yara. I don't know what happened to her, but knowing what Callum did to me I can imagine what he might have done to her. During my stay in the infirmary I learned a lot about how they punish females that disobey orders. If the male gets permission from the Alpha, the female gets brought to a spot outside. the territory and then she gets chased by the male in his Wolf form. No female ever survives that treatment." Gillean says. Morgan looks at him curiously, while Jaylen and I both look horrified at him. A ding on Morgan's phone pulls her attention away from him and a moment later see a huge smile form on her face. "Gillean, can look at this for a moment?" Morgan asks as she turns her phone towards him.

His eyes

widen as he looks at a picture on her phone and I hear him whisper softly. "Lyssa."

I listen to Morgan as she tells him about a girl her Pack's Gamma found over five years ago, "Mom and I kept her company as she slowly healed from her injuries, but she did survive and has an overprotective Father and Brother these days, Morgan says. Gillean is slowly shaking his head as tears run down his cheeks and I place my hand on his shoulder, because there are no words I can say to him. He probably feared that she was dead for all these years and now he finds out that she is healthy and doing well. Chapter 269 Eyes

"Gillean, you are already assigned to our unit. We recently got a new assignment from Damon and I have a personal agenda in this matter. The same goes for one of my unit members, his Father attacked his Mate without warning in Wolf form and both of us are out for blood." Morgan says as she leans back against Jaylen's chest.

"We are going after White Rock Pack." She says as she looks him in the eyes.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - A Ga 270[1,444 words]

Chapter 270 Pictures. Gillean's p.o.v.

I am not sure how to feel, a part of me is angry with my Grandparents and the other part is happy to find out that Lyssa survived and that White Rock Pack will finally pay.

"If you can contact Alpha Mick, he will be able to provide you with the record of my testimony. They recorded it after I returned from White Rock Pack and needed to tell someone about what I witnessed there, I will even repeat it in a trial if I have to." I say as look at Morgan.

She seems to be in thought for a while. "No need for that. I will send a unit to get that recording and use it as another nail on their coffin. We will start with taking the leadership out, but we won't be announcing our arrival at the front gate. Any idea on how to get in?" Morgan asks and everyone looks at me to see if I have an answer.

"My best bet would be the border where Yara took me, I didn't notice any Warriors at all. I do have to say that it has been five years, so they might have gotten a little wiser." I say and Jaylen looks at me with a brow lifted. "I said a little." I mumble. Morgan gets up to open the door when we hear a knock and Deacon hands her a tablet, before he turns to walk away. "Everything we have is o this tablet, go through it and see if you can find anything else." Morgan says before she hands me the table and she leaves with Jaylen and Roan right behind her.

Mace and I start arguing on what to do next, confront my Grandparents or dive into this assignment. I smell them before they open the door and it seems that the choice was made for me. My Grandparents walk in with a worried look in their eyes and I just wait for one of them to start talking. They know what I want to hear and they are the only ones with answers.

"After the alarm sounded I ran for the border as fast as I could, but the only one there was your Father. He looked terrible and he smelled like Rogues, he confirmed later that he had been fighting with Rogues. Something about his story didn't sit right with me and went looking for your Mom, the first thing I found was their car." Grandpa says as his hand runs up and down Grandma's back.

Anyone can see that both my Grandparents have trouble reliving that night and they probably thought it was best not to inform anyone about the doubts they had about Dad's story.

"It took me a little while to find your Mom and what I found was something I never wanted to see again, there were claw marks all over her body. I collapsed on the ground next to her and cried my heart out, if it hadn't been for her scent I wouldn't have known it was your Mom. What I am going to tell you has been kept a secret for all these years with a reason and I need you to hear me out." Grandpa is almost pleading with me.

"Your Mom was still alive, but not by much. She insisted on telling me what had happened, because she needed someone to know what kind of an Asshole your Father was." Grandpa says as he looks at me and I know this is worse than anything I have ever witnessed "He rejected her, just before he attacked her in Wolf form. The reason those Rogues were able to injure him so badly, is because she accepted the rejection before she lost consciousness. I know he told everyone he felt the bond break, but that is only because she accepted his rejection, not because she died. Telling me her story took to much and she has been in a come ever since." Grandpa says.

The windows shake as Mace releases a mighty roar and second later Damon walks into the room, he has to release some of his aura to calm us down. "I won't be far, just in case you need me again, Gillean." Damon savs 1 before he walks out of my room and Tam Snally able to as what Grandna said.

"Dad attacked her in Wolf form?" I ask Grandpa, because if that is true I have even more questions.

"It is the only way he could defeat her. He knew she was a Lycan and she could kick his ass with both hands tied behind her back." Grandma says with a small smile.

"Why didn't you tell me after I got back? Or when I was little older?" I ask Grandpa, but I don't think he has a real answer for me and I am not sure if I would have wanted to know. If Grandpa had this much trouble just telling me what happened, what would it have done to me if I had seen her after all those years.

Suddenly all the monthly visits to Grandma's childhood friend, they probably visited Mom on those occasions too.

"I think you already figured out where your Mom is, it was the safest place I could think of." Grandpa says as he sits down next to me. "I am sorry for not telling you, but I still fear every day that your Mom and her Lycan will give up. It has been nearly fourteen years, Gillean. There is still no change in her situation." Grandpa says.

I just let him hold me as the tears stream down my cheeks and I know I need time to let this sink in, I need to come to terms with this somehow. "Thank you for telling me, I have some work to do and hopefully in the meantime I will be able to let this sink in. I tell Grandpa as Grandma hugs me, both of them seem to be a bit more relaxed than when they walked in here.

As the tablet is starting up I allow myself to think about Mom, something I don't do often because it hurts 100 much. Today it seems to be a bit easier to think about her, to remember her singing while she was cooking or her voice while reading me a bedtime story I don't have many memories of my Mom, but the ones I have are filled with love and laughter.

I have to shut the memories out to concentrate on the work in front of me, I leave Lyssa's file for what it is and open the next file I see. The testimony of an Alpha that once visited White Rock Pack, he didn't say a word during his visit and just kept his eyes and ears open. According to his testimony more than half of the females walked around with visible injuries and every now and then he had heard someone threaten female.

There were only two explanations for what he saw, but he was used that there were no Rogues around and that the Pack hadn't been attacked in almost two years. So it left the other more horrible reason, he saw evidence of abuse and the Pack's leadership condoned it.

Reports on young males that were found ripped to pieces by a Wolf, but not a Rogue. Reports on females found in the same state, but none of those reports have a name to it. All written down as Jane Doe and John Doe, no missing person's report to match with it and that leaves just one conclusion. They were all members of White Rock Pack.

Mace is growling in my head as he keeps walking in circles and if I look at him to long I will become dizzy.

I find testimonies of the Alphas that live near them, but nothing has concrete evidence against any member of White Rock Pack. Once they get the recordings from Alpha Mick, they will at least have one eye-witness and then I remember that Morgan told me there wouldn't be a trial. White Rock Pack will be taken out without any questions asked and I hope I will get the chance to confront at least one of my family members.

Mace wants me to revisit the files on the Jane Does, because he needs to know if Yara might still be alive. Reluctantly I open de file with reports and I read through the description of the females, but I the end I am not sure if I should be relieved or not

Chapter 271 Mug

Roan

Smoke still hasn't settled down, Gillean's story was very unsettling and it will take both of us a little while to calm down. I decide to let Smoke out for a run, it will make it a bit easier for him to calm down and it will give me time to think about everything that has happened. I doubt I will be able to find answers to any question I might encounter, but at least I will have questions to ask someone. Smoke softly growls in my head when we see a female by the backdoor of our private wing, she must be new to the Palace or she would have know that I am not interested in her or any other female for that matter.

"Hello, can I keep you company?" She asks as she smiles at me and I let Smoke growl at her, "Just in case you didn't understand that, we are not interested. Stay the fuck away from us or we will have you transferred out of here faster that you walked in." I clarity, before I head to the tree line to strip down and hand over control to Smoke.

I'm still not sure if I should tell Jaylen and Morgan what I found out about Kaia, maybe it is better to leave that alone. After all she is no longer among the living and what good would it do for Jaylen to know that she was related to Lynah, not much good that is for sure. I will submit my report on the matter to Darnon, so he can take it with him when he has to decide what he is going to do with Lynah and her Mate.

I think about my Aunt, about what she almost caused and I know that whatever punishment Damon gives her is well deserved. I know that she is family and that I probably should feel something about it, but I couldn't care less. Jo-Anna chose to walk down a path that wasn't meant for her and to get what she wanted she planned a kidnapping, she dug her own grave. I am just glad that everything turned out fine and that Dalton and Thora are going to be fine.

I feel Smoke slowing down and I take a look through his eyes to see where we are, "Back home, Damon tried to link you and as you know he failed. Dad linked me to get us back here." Smoke says, just before he hands control back to me and I quickly put on my clothes. I take a look at my phone and see that I have been. gone for almost three hours. I rush up the stairs to take a shower before I try to find out where we are having dinner.

Dad tells me to meet him in Damon's dining room as we pass one another in the hall way, after taking a shower I get dressed and nearly run into Gillean when I walk out of my room. His eyes are glued to the tablet in his hand and I guide him to the door, making sure he doesn't bump into anything along the way. "An interesting read, I assume." I say as we walk up the stairs.

Gillean finally takes his eyes of the screen, but the sad smile he gives me is enough for me. Whatever he is reading in those files, isn't doing much good to his mood and I think it will become worse before this assignment is over and done with.

I am glad Smoke is paying attention to our surroundings or I would have been flat on my ass. "Hello, Uncle Roan. Thora says as she jumps onto my back and I deliberately stumble a step or two, causing her to giggle as we enter the dining room. Gillean is smiling as he shakes his head, but Thora probably sensed that something was off.

She leans to my left to place her arms around Gillean's neck and he grabs her to moment she lets go of me, "Are you okay, Uncle Gillean?" She asks and instead of answering her, he buries his nose in her hair. He walks to the table to sit down, still holding on to Thora. "I will be fine, just not sure how long that will take." He says as he turns her around a little. "I have gotten a lot of information in the past two days and my mind is spinning as I urocess it all." Thora just wrans her arms around his neck, just trying to comfort him.

No one questions her about calling Gillean Uncle, it is her choice and the only one that can make her i. Gillean himself.

Thora stays seated on his lap during dinner and they talk about her classes as they eat their food. I find out that Thora doesn't like one of her teachers, the male seems to have a problem with females and isn't afraid to hide it in front of his students. "He says that we shouldn't have High-ranking positions, he even thinks. that Uncle Damon is nuts for accepting a female Commander." Thora says and I know someone is going to have to find a new job.

"I will accompany you to Chool tomorrow, Thora. That teacher has spent his last day teaching you and every other Pup in my Kingdom." Damon growls and she just nods her head before she finishes her dinner. Gillean carries her to the living room and sits down in an armchair with her on his lap, holding her until she falls asleep a

Morgan gently takes Thora from Gillean and we all leave the King's floor to head to our own floors. Gillean seems to be deep in thought and I follow him to his room, hoping he will confide in me. I nearly walk into a wall when I hear Gillean say, "My Mother is still alive I think I didn't hear him correctly, but just one look at him tells me it is the truth.

Smoke's anger grows when Gillean tells me what his Grandfather found all those years ago and I know I want to rip his Father to pieces, he wanted to kill the female that the Goddess paired him with.

I know that something else is bothering him and I will wait until he is ready to tell me, no matter how long it takes. "Let's get some sleep, we will be leaving after breakfast. I believe Morgan confiscated a meeting room at the Academy to meet in, with two units combined we need the space and I believe everyone will return between now and tomorrow morning." I say.

I fall asleep quickly and as usual I have my recurring dream, this time it starts with me in the bathroom. I smile as I look in the mirror at the mark on my neck and this is the first time I have actually seen it in my dream, but a part of the mark is blurry. It is as if my dream doesn't want me to find out who my Mate is or maybe it is blurred because I have no idea when I am going to meet my Mate.

This dream is so damn frustrating, because it shows me things that can't be in my future and yet it keeps repeating itself. I even wake up feeling frustrated and all because I have a recurring dream that doesn't make any sense to me.

I take a shower and finish my morning routine, before I start packing my bag. I was given orders to join Morgan and Jaylen, to help them in any way I can with their assignment. I just hope it will all turn out for the best for everyone involved.

Gillean and my Dad are already in the kitchen and before I walk into the kitchen, I place my bag next to Gillean's bag by the door. "Your dream bothering you again?" Dad asks, just before he turns back to the coffee machine and grabs a large mug to make me my horning coffee.

"Well, if the dream is close to the truth, I at least know How that I will have a Mate somewhere down the line. It is jus that a few things are still bugging me about it." I-say as I take a seat across from Gillean. "I mean, we both know there won't be any Pups in my future and still the dream keeps showing them to me." Dad just smiles as he places the mug in front of me.

Chapter 272 Capable Morgan

I have been listening to the recording that was made of Gillean five years ago and the more I heard the closer to Jaylen I tried to get. No one should have gone through what I heard or seen it at such a young age, if Gillean decides to take down his Father I am not going to stop him, that's for sure.

Beck's Father was an abusive male, always putting Beck clown as the second born Pup and hitting him from an early age if he didn't succeed at something. There wasn't any proof that his Father was anything like Gillean's Father, but Beck had always felt as if his Father did more than just abuse him.

"We will put a stop to this Pack, I just don't believe we can hand it over to the future leadership." Jaylen says as his arms tighten around me a little more. I love being in his arms, but I would prefer to be in arms for other reasons than the one I am in his arms for right now. I need him and Midnight to calm us down or I might forgo planning our attack.

Roan and Gillean are already waiting for us out front and the four of us get into the SUV without saying a word. It doesn't take long before Gillean tells us what happened after we left his room yesterday and I am not sure if I should be happy or sad. His Father tried to kill his Mother, but thank the Goddess he failed.

"Do you know if the way they punish females started after you moved there?" Jaylen asks him and for a moment I am scolding myself for not thinking of that, but Gillean doesn't have an answer for him.

My phone starts buzzing and I smile when I see Dad is calling, "Hi, Daddy." I say as I answer the videocall, but I keep my phone in such a way that he can't see my mark or Jaylen sitting next to me.

"Are you planning on keeping us busy?" He asks teasingly. "Jo-Anna broke quickly, you already know why she wanted Dalton and Thora out of the way. She also implicated another female, but I am not sure if the rest she told Ashton is true." He looks at me and I know Jo-Anna told Ashton about me and Jaylen.

"I wanted to tell you in person, but then Jo-Anna took Dalton and Thora and you can understand that I fel that was more important than to tell my parents I had found my Mate." I say, before I turn the phone slightly. "This is Jaylen, Dad. Jaylen, this is my Father. Alpha of Blue River Pack."

Dad's phone starts to move erratic and a second later Mom's face appears, "You better treat my Daughter right or I am sending her six Brothers after you." Mom says and I hear Gillean mumble from the front passenger seat.

"I uhm. I uhm." Jaylen is fumbling with his words and it is such a fucking cute thing to see, but don't you dare tell him I said it looked cute.

"Don't worry, Son. My Mate is just very protective of our Daughter and I know that you are aware of the reasons for that. I do have to say though, that her Brothers are planning on grilling you for answers the moment you set foot in our territory." Dad says from somewhere out of sight and Mom is looking in his direction with a glare.

"He is my Son in law, I am the one that gets to threaten him, is that clear?" She growls at Dad, as if we are not able to hear them. Amra is rolling around in my head and I have this feeling all our Lycans are having a ball. "Sweetheart, just come home with your Mate the first chance you have. We all want to meet him and if you can, bring Dalton and Thora with you. I would lie to meet them." Mom says as she looks at me.

"Ashton." I call out to my Brother, knowing they are all there. "If Jo-Anna mentioned Lynah, I want you to tell Mom and Dad. If not, get the story from Lynah herself." I tell him and I know that my family will be

After a few more minutes of talking about whatever is new at Blue River Pack, I disconnect the call to concentrate on the assignment ahead, White Rock Pack

We are allowed to do whatever we need to do to get rid of this Pack and their foul ways of thinking, Damon doesn't want anyone to be able to continue with their ways after we have taken down the leadership. There isn't anyone that could lead that Pack almost every male has a twisted view on how to treat females,

We are back at the Academy before I know it and I get out of the SUV fast to head to the room I asked Elder Emmett to prepare for us. I know I want to get this over with as fast as I can, but I also want to have all the information I need. No one will get away unpunished, no matter how small the crime is that they committed.

The others run after me to keep up with me and Ace starts walking in front of me, while Tristan walks on my left. Both of them take the assignment they got from Damon seriously and the only reason I put up with it, is that-I want to keep doing my job.

"Faith, start talking." I say the moment we walk into the meeting room and she turns to grab her tablet from the table next to her. It takes about a minute or so before the screens around the room start coming to life and on each screen a picture appears from different males.

"Alpha Francis, he has been running White Rock Pack for almost twenty years now. He and his leadership are the worst, but Gillean's family are coming close. Alpha Francis had a Mate at one point, but no one the living." Faith seen or heard from her after his heir was born. Rumor has it that she is no longer among says before she goes through the list of crimes against him, mostly rape and murder.

"Beta David, also known as Beck's Father. Seeing the fact that he has two Sons, I would say he also had a Mate at one point. Problem is that no one knows who she was or what happened to her and I doubt the story he told Beck is the truth." Faith continues, listing all his crimes and that includes the unprovoked attack on a member of the King's Army.

"Gamma Job, no Pups as far as we can tell and we have to assume he never had a Mate. Same crimes apply to him, rape and murder are the most listed ones. If we have to believe the few rumors we were able to find on him, he likes teenage males and steers clear of females." Jaylen and I are holding on to one another as she goes through his list of crimes.

I am not going to lie, I want to crawl into a corner and cry for all the lives those three males have ruined and ended. However, I am going to use my anger and disgust to bring them down and anyone that stands in my way.

"Future Alpha Morgan." She says giggling and I roll my eyes at her. "Same story as his Father and that also goes for future Beta Finn. Both of them have the same list of crimes as their Fathers and doubt they would chance for the better if we took down their Fathers." Faith says before she hands her tablet to Danica.

A clear indication she has had enough of reading their grimes out loud. It is safe to say that they read every single file and know what these males are capable of.

Chapter 273 Sleep

Chapter 273 Sleep Gillean

My eyes are glued to the screen that shows a picture of any Father and I am waiting for Danica to continue with addressing each males crimes. I know there is one crime that isn't on their list and I am not sure if I should add it, I don't want my Father or my Brothers to know that Mom is still alive. "Delta Oscar" Danica says and I look at her in confusion, he wasn't of a Delta bloodline. "He got the position after he moved into White Rock territory, rumors say that his predecessor died during a Rogue attack. Last we heard he is still mated to the female he moved Packs for." I sigh when I hear that Yara is still alive.

Danica goes through his list of crimes and when she is finished Roan steps next to me, "I can tell them, if that makes it easier." He says and I just nod my head, reliving it is bad enough. I keep looking at the picture of the male I once called Dad, while Roan informs them about my Mother.

"Let's get some coffee, before we continue with this, I really need a break from all this." Jaylen says, before he wraps an arm around Morgan and guides her out of the room.

"Calum and Shane, Sons of Delta Oscar. If you thought listening to Delta Oscar's crimes was bad. I suggest you hold on to your seats for these two." Danica growls and I wonder how much worse than their Father they could be.

Fuck, my Father is a saint compared to those two. One or both of them were involved with just about every crime the leadership of White Rock Pack committed, since we moved into the territory and it became worse after I managed to get out of there.

"There are a few others that have committed crimes, but none of them as bad as the males you see on the screens and none of those crimes are punishable with a death sentence." Danica says before she hands the tablet back to Faith..

Faith starts pushing a few buttons on the tablet and in seconds the huge screen comes to life, showing pictures of about eleven males. "Their crimes are all minor compared to the others, but those crimes did have an impact on quite a few Pack-members. From knowingly cheating on their fated Mate to beating someone up for no good reason and most of the crimes were committed in front of the leadership or with the help of someone in the leadership."

No one has to tell me how they helped them commit their crimes and Mace is growling in my head as he is pacing back and forth.

Gillean, can you point out where you crossed the border?" Morgan asks me as she points at yet another screen. I walk to the screen, letting my eyes glide around the borders of White Rock territory and in the seconds it takes me to stop in front of the screen, I have found at least two other points where we can cross without running into trouble.

This is where Yara took me, it is the furthest away from the Pack-house." I say as I point at the spot. "There are two other points, closer to the Pack-house, were we can cross. Here and here." I say pointing at both locations and a second later all three locations are marked green.

Jaylen and Morgan are starting to discuss how to divide their unit, they want to cross the borders at each point. Their unit is the largest the King has, but I don't think it is smart to split the unit into three groups, The groups will be to small if they run into trouble, White Rock Pack has some of the best trained. Warriors and they don't fight fair.

"Commander, I know that Commander Amir is our back-up. However, I think it is wise to have him join us. You can split your unit into two, crossing the border here and here and Commander Amir can cross the border here." I say as I point at each location. "As the future Royal Beta, Roan can lead half of and you and Jaylen can lead the other half."

your

unit

Morgan and Jaylen look at one another with a huge smile on their faces, "Thank you, Gillean. You just made this a little easier for all of us, lets divide the unit into two groups while we wait for Amir to join us." Morgan says and as she is splitting the unit into two groups, Jaylen makes me second in command of the group Roan will be leading.

Roan and I are looking at the location where we will cross the border and we are joined by two future Deltas and their Mates. I give them all the information have from five years ago, but I also know it isn't much.

"Commander Morgan, I understand I am no longer back-up." Commander Amir says as he walk into the room. He is a very handsome male with his black hair in a man bun and an undercut, he is all muscle and about 6"3 in height..

"Gillean, can you tell Amir where he will be crossing the border?" Morgan asks and I walk over to the other table to tell him everything I remember from the day crossed the border. He asks a few questions as he points at the map and I answer them to the best of my abilities, which isn't much to tell you the truth.

Roán calls me back to our map, he has an idea he wants to run by me and I listen as he explains how he wants to cross the border. We will wait for patrol to pass by a few times, just to see if it is the same every single time or if they might change their patrols at certain times.

"Roan, that is a very good idea. We have no idea how they run their patrols and even Beck's information can be out dated. We will watch them for an hour and relay any pattern to the other teams, just to see if they patrol the same on every border." Jaylen says. We will leave in the middle of the night, we want to move in when most Pack-members are in their bed. and still fast asleep. It will give us the element of surprise and Morgan hopes that with the leadership in custody the rest will be easier to handle.

Beck and I had chuckled, we both don't think our Fathers will take anything laying down. Both of them will not give up without a good fight and our Brothers will try to help their Fathers. So, yeah. Beck and I think it will be a shit show before we can take them into custody, I just hope that no innocent gets hurt in the process.

Roan and I will be staying on the floor that used to house Jaylen and his team, we have orders to relax and maybe even get some sleep in, even if it is for just a few hours,

"We will wake you through the mind-link an hour before we leave, see you all outside and ready to leave." Jaylen says before he grabs Morgan and makes a run for their side of the building.

Roan and I crash on a bed in one of the bedrooms and slowly drift off to sleep.

Chapter 274 Yara Roan

Gillean and I woke up to Jaylen's wake-up call through the mind-link and I was glad to see that I am not the only one that hates being woken up that way.

After a shower, a cup of coffee and putting on some clean clothes, Gillean and I headed down the stairs to meet up with Morgan and Jaylen. Ninety live Lycans a Wolves are gather out front and I just take a moment to take in the marvelous sight in front of me. "Fuck." Gillean mutters as he steps next to ine and I grin at the dumbfounded look on his face.

The moment Morgan gives the signal, they all moves as one to the SUVs that are waiting for us and for a few seconds all you can hear are their footsteps. "How do they think they can cross the borders with that noise trailing behind them?" Gillean asks, but I doubt he is expecting an answer from me.

The noise of every engine starting is even louder and I chuckle as Gillen shakes his head. About two hours into the drive, six SUVS take a left turn and we keep going on straight ahead. Half an hour later seven SUVs take a right turn, while we take a left turn. We pull the SUVS over, about a half hour's walk from the border of White Rock Pack. Gillean stares at the males and females that exit the SUVs, none of them making a sound as they walk to the front of the vehicles. "If need be, they can be quiet." I hear Skylar whisper, as she leans closer to Gillean.

The moment we are close enough to the border our group spreads out, keeping an eye on any movement from within the territory. Every five minutes a patrol runs by, four males each time. Two in Wolf form and two in Human form, but I haven't seen a female yet. "Of course not. They probably have the females locked up after dark, I doubt they value the true strength of a female." Smoke growls in my head and I have to admit that he is probably right. The intel from our other groups are the same and after an hour of watching them, we get the go-ahead from Morgan to move into the territory.

It only takes us fifteen minutes to get every member of our group across the border and the only communication we do is through the mind-link. "Slowly make your way to the back of the Pack-house, report to me the moment you are in place." I inform my group and we all slowly make our way deeper into the territory.

Every cottage we pass is dark, not a light is on and my curiosity gets the better of me, I sneak to the front- door of a cottage to my right. I quietly grab the door handle and as I suspected it is locked, no surprise there. Gillean looks at me as if I have gone mad and perhaps he is right, what if someone had been awake or the door hadn't been locked.

"Sorry, just needed to know for sure." I tell him, before we start making our way to the Pack-house again. Stopping a few times along the way, they have Warriors walking around the territory and we need to avoid them at all cost.

It is a slow process, but finally I can see the rooftop of the Pack-house. A soft whimper catches my attention and Smoke pushes forward to see what is going on, nearly taking control as I look at the scene in front of me.

There is a pole near the backdoor of the Pack-house, cemented into what looks like a small stage. Chained to it is a young female and even though I can hear her whimper, I know that she is not conscious. Two members of my moun slowly move towards the nole and the look one of them gives me isn't and "Theu whipped her with silver." He says through the mind-link and he places her over his shoulder, while the other removes the silver chains from her wrists.

"Get her to the medical team, they should be there by ow." I order him. I will fight with one less member, if it means that she gets seen by a Doctor immediately

Our objective today is to grab the Alpha, Beta and Gamina, before they can raise an alarm. Commander Amir will be back up for anyone that needs it and Jaylen will go after Gillean's Father with Morgan. Beck is with them, something Gillean came up with.

He thought it would be saver for Beck to go after Oscar and for himself to go after David. That way there is a bigger chance for them to be caught alive, not that anyone will mind if they get killed in the process. It is just that everyone wants the females in that Pack to see their tormentors be put to death for their crimes.

Gillean quietly opens the backdoor and like Beck predicted there is no one in or around the Pack-house.

after

We split up into three groups, each group will take out one member of the leadership. Gillean will Beta David, Deacon will go after Gamma Job and I will deal with Alpha Francis. We each have a back-up with us and the rest of our group will round up future Alpha Morgan and future Beta Finn.

The moment we are all in place, Gillean counts down to three and we quietly rush onto the Alpha floor. Thanks to Beck I know where I have to go and before the Jackass has opened his eyes, I have the silver cuffs on his wrists.

His eyes are frantically looking around, but they stop the moment he sees the insignia for the King's Army on my companion's chest. I check in with the rest of my group through the mind-link and I sigh in relief when I hear that everyone was captured without a fight "Let's bring Jackass downstairs and let's wake up the rest of the Pack." I say, before I start shoving Alpha Francis out of his bedroom in his boxers. Gillean steps in behind me, when we pass the Beta floor and soon Deacon follows us with Gamma Job. There is a commotion outside and as someone opens the door I can see two Wolves fighting their restraints, yelling for Morgan to release them. I watch the three males that are sitting on their knees in front of the Pack-house and no one has to tell me who they are, they all look like Gillean.

It takes half an hour to have every Wolf out front of the Pack-house and it shouldn't surprise me that there are no females among them. "Amir, start knocking on doors. I want every Pack-member out here." Morgan says as she turns to both our groups. one of them have to be given the order, they all head back into the Pack-house to wake up anyone that is inside. After that they will join Commander Amir to get everyone out of the cottages and to the Pack- house to witness the end of their leadership. Beck steps next to Gillean, both of them facing Delta car. "He has no idea, does he?" Beck asks and I am not sure what he is referring to, but it seems that Gillean knows exactly what Beck is talking about.

"No, none what so ever. I doubt he would if it bit him in the ass, not one of the smartest." Gillean responds and I chuckle as Oscar keeps looking at both males. Yep, he doesn't even recognize his own Son and even his Brothers don't seem to recognize him. I think it starts to sink in the moment a female jumps into Gillean's open arms, "I thought I would never see you again." She whispers, as she buries her face into Gillean's neck.

"Hello, Yara," Gillean says, wrapping his arms tightly around her.

Chapter 275 Ending Gillean

I slowly walk through the Beta floor, my target will be in his bed and hopefully fast asleep. My companion follows me, while two other members of our group turn towards the room that belongs to Finn.

In my gloved hand I hold the silver cuffs I will use to detain Beck's Father and I am glad that I was able to convince Beck to let me take his Father down. I mean, we both would have killed our Fathers on the spot and I figured that the Pack-members needed to know that their reign of terror is over.

"Wake up. Sleeping Beauty." I say as I lock the cuffs around his wrists, which is enough to startle him.

He tries to get his Wolf to surface, but with the silver cuffs in place that isn't going to happen. "What the fuck are you doing?" He asks as he tries to get free from the cuffs, but he can struggle all he wants, it won't do him any good.

"We are putting an end to your reign of terror on White Rock Pack and you will pay dearly for attacking your Daughter in law." I tell him. The words Daughter in law draw a growl from him and I chuckle as he tries to lunge for me. My companion doesn't waste a second and clocks him in the face, knocked down by a female.

"You do know that you just dented his ego?" I ask her and she gives me an evil grin as she janks him to his feet. I think he walk into the doorframe, the wall and the banister on our way to the landing and I know none of them were an accident.

Mace is rolling around in my head, he loves the fact that she isn't afraid to show Shitface that she isn't afraid of him. Mace starts growling in my head, the moment we lay eyes on my Father and Brothers. But ip doesn't take long before he is laughing his ass off, none of them seem to recognize me and he thinks that it is funny as hell.

My Father looks a little confused, the moment Yara jumps into my arms and when I mention her name it, seems to sink in. I keep her wrapped in my arms, as more and more females approach the Pack-house and in some of them I see relief when they see their leadership in silver cuffs.

"Lizzy, Lizzy." A female yells as she approaches from the back of the Pack-house and Skylar walks towards her, telling her that one of our Warriors took a female to our medical team. She joins the rest of the females to my left and it doesn't surprise me that they keep their distance from every male around them.

"Yara, do you know why she was chained to that pole?" Roan asks and I hear Shane growl in her direction, probably a warning to keep her mouth shut.

"Lizzy injured Shane, when he tried to rape her. It didn't do her any good, because Calum caught up with her and Alpha Francis ordered them to tie her to the pole out back. They whipped her five times, before Shane and Calum raped her and then Alpha Francis kept whipping her until she passed out." Yara says between sobs.

Before anyone can say a word Roan steps in front of Shane and slashes his throat, before he does the same. to Calum. "Is there anyone here that should be in silver chains?" Roan asks loudly and it takes a moment before an older female steps forward.

"My Mate, he has joined our Alpha in his crimes on multiple occasions." She says, as she points at a male in front of Faith. Soon others follow and only a handful of adult males are still standing. I hever knew a Pack could be this disgusting, but then again I was only here for a few years and I didn't see much of the "King Damon has given me carte blanche when it comes to White Rock Pack, in short that means that this Pack will cease to exist." Morgan says and Alpha Francis jumps to his feet, followed by my Father and Beta. David.

"You can't do that, this is my Pack. I will run it the way want and no King will tell me otherwise." Alpha Francis growls in her direction, while my Father's eyes are locked on mine. Beck is having a stare off with his Father and I hope his Brother will stay out of this. -What kind of nonsense have you been feeding them, Son?" My Father asks as he keeps looking at me and I join Mace in laughter.

"You are not my Father and I didn't have to tell them anything. They had enough evidence against you. without my help." I respond, before I move Yara towards Deacon. He steps half in front of her, making sure she can see what is going on and at the same time shielding her.

"You will die by my hands today, but I wish I could have left that to the one person that deserves to kill you. more than anyone else in the world." I say as I step of the front porch. "If only you had had a brain, than you would have known that the breaking of the bond you felt wasn't from Mom dying. It was from her accepting your rejection."

He shakes his head, not believing a word I said. I am not done with this Shithat by a long shot and he will die knowing what the fuck he tossed to the side.

"Grandfather didn't believe your story and he found Mom, barely alive I might add. She told him the truth, she is still alive and I can't wait to tell her that you are no longer breathing." I can see it slowly sinks. into that puny brain of his. "ON YOUR KNEES." I order and not only my Father, but Alpha Francis and Beta David drop to their knees as well.

"Gillean. I think you need to practice on your Royal Aura a bit." Rona says chuckling and my Father's head snaps up

"Oops, did I say that out loud?" Roan asks, but everyone knows that he did it on purpose. He wanted my Father to know what he gave up, what my Mother never trusted him with. My Father keeps growling and just smile at him, just before I decide to give him the last piece of the puzzle.

"Well, at least you didn't tell him my Mom is still alive. I say in a whispered yell.

A loud roar escapes my Father, sounds like he hadn't heard me the first time, "That Bitch didn't survive, I made sure of that." He growls, just before Jaylen knocks him out.

Everyone around us is murmuring and I turn to Yara, who looks rather shocked. "He.." She doesn't get any other word out of her mouth and all I can do is nod my head, I know what she wanted to know. I hold her as she softly sobs, probably blaming herself for what happened. "It wasn't your fault, he didn't know you back then." I say.

We wait until my Father has regained consciousness, before Morgan starts dishing out the death penalties. Beck gets the privilege to take out his Father and I do the same to my Father, before Morgan takes out Alpha Francis

An hour later the lawn in front of the Pack-house is covered with dead bodies, but no one is sorry for ending those lives.

Chapter 276 Live His Life. Roan

I close my eyes as I lean back in my chair, I am exhausted but there is no end in sight for the paperwork on my desk. We still have a lot of females to place in other Packs, but Morgan isn't willing to take a risk with placing them just anywhere.

Everyone volunteered to help Damon to place everyone in a new Pack, hoping this could be done in a matter of days. Unfortunately, it has been over a week since we started the process and it will take a few more days to complete this task..

I know we would all do it again, even if we had known up front the amount of work it brought with it.

"Are you okay, Son?" Dad asks as he closes the file he is working on.

"Just exhausted, but I will sleep when this is all taken care of." I answer him, slowly opening my eyes.

Every day has been the same since we got back from White Rock Pack, talking to the Pack-members to find out if they have family left and if they want to go live with them. Those that have family are the easiest to relocate, but there are enough that don't have family left and they are a bit trickier to place in a Pack that can handle their backgrounds.

We are getting there though, slowly but steadily. I think it is best if we don't rush it and I actually enjoy the time I get to spend with Gillean

We have been working on his Royal Aura, but it is difficult for him to comprehend what he is capable of.

The first time he used his command was an accident, but he needs to figure out how to use it correctly and how much force he needs to put behind it. I asked Yara to work with us and the only reason I asked her is because I know he will never hurt her.

We were in Damon's private living room, when I asked him to order Yara to her knees and instead of just bringing Yara to her knees, he brought almost all of us to our knees. Yes, that also included me and it wasn't a nice feeling.

Damon and Casimir thought it was hilarious, both of them laughing their asses off. It took Gillean some time to get the hang of it, but now he is able to enforce his order on just one person.

He Has been trying to bring Casimir to his knees, but so far he has failed every time. Not that Casimirea bring Gillean to his knees and that had me laughing my ass off.

Gillean had just looked at him, when Casimir tried to order Gillean to his knees and I enjoyed the dumbfounded look on his face, when Gillean kept standing. Now both of them are determined to bring the other to his knees and Thora has been cheering both of them on. Dalton just sits there, watching them with a smirk on his face.

Right now, we are trying to find out what other abilities he might have and Gillean has researched the Archive to find out which abilities are known to their boodline.

Damon can tell if someone is lying to him and Casimir can sense a Wolf or Lycan approaching. Both of them can use their aura to command a Wolf or Lycan, just like Gillean. So far we have been unable to find out what Gillean's second ability is, but he isn't giving up on finding out.

his Mother. Dad says and for a moment I am stunned to silence. I think I missed a conversation or two, because I wasn't aware of Gillean's trip to Amber Forest Pack.

Smoke doesn't like the idea of Gillean being away from us and I have to remind him of the fact that Gillean isn't our Matc. "He could be."Smoke states. "I hope he is back in time for the Full Moon to tell us if Gillean is our Mate or not." He growls softly, before curling up in the back of my head.

Damn, why did he have to put that idea in my head? I have been waiting for my fated Mate longer than Gillean has been alive and I have always known that my Mate wouldn't be a female. I mean, I can appreciate a beautiful female, but it doesn't turn me on Give me a good looking male in nothing but a pair of shorts and I might be in need of an ice cold shower.

I never explored any sexual tension between me and a male, that will be for my Mate and no one else. I never felt the need for it and Smoke made it clear we would wait for our fated Mate, something we have done for twenty years now.

I don't regret any of the decisions I made in the past, I want to figure it out with my Mate and I want all my firsts to be with my fated Mate.

"When will you be back, Uncle Gillean?" I hear Dalton ask and I sit down next to Gillean, curious to hear. his answer.

"Well, that depends on my Mom's medical condition. Damon has arranged everything here and if my Mom can be moved, we will come back here as soon as we can. I hope to be back before the Full Moon, I have heard that there will be a party and Mace loves a good party." He whispers the last sentence in Dalton's direction.

I look at Damon to see if Gillean is kidding, but a nod from his head tells me that Damon will be holding a Full Moon party at the Palace.

The last party we were supposed to hold was the night Jaylen found Morgan and I still remember how disappointed I was in not finding my fated Mate that night. I had hoped I wouldn't have to attend that kind of parties for a few months, but it seems I will be attending one in a few days.

"Yara will be here to look after the two of you. I mean, we don't want to two of you to get into trouble." Gillean says to Thora and she looks ready to smack him on the head.

During and after dinner, Gillean and Thora keep teasing one another and half an hour before she ha to turn in for the night, she crawls on to his lap. Like every other time this has happened, Gillean walks behind his Grandmother and gently places Thora on her bed. Kissing her fore head, before he whispers goodnight to her.

"Is there anything I can do for you, Gillean?" I ask as we walk down to the Beta floor and for a moment he just smiles at me.

"No, I think everything will work out just fine. I just hope that Mom will wake up soon, once we have her here and we can visit her more often." He answers.

I know he will be heading back to the Academy soon, he needs to start on becoming a member of Jaylen and Morgan's unit. It has been his dream for years and is Alpha stopped him from following his dream, he deserves to finally live the life he wanted for himself

Chapter 277 Drive Home

Gillean

We are on our way to Amber Forest Pack, I will finally see my Mom again and hopefully we can move her to the Palace soon.

Damon has hired an around the clock nurse to look after Mom and Doc will come to see her every day, hoping to find the answer to the question why she hasn't woken up yet.

Grandma and I go over everything Doc told us he needed from the staff that has looked after her all these years, from the big changes in her condition to the small ones. He is adamant to find an answer for us and if it means I have to use my Royal aura to get answers, I will.

After the Guards have let us pass, we head straight for the infirmary. My Grandparents will spend the night with their friends and I will stay with Mom. I am not sure if she will notice that I am there, but Mace and I need to be close to Mom and if that means spending a night on in uncomfortable position, then so be it.

Doc is waiting for us in her room and I can feel the tears form in my eyes when I look at the female lying I that bed. She looks so small and frail, she doesn't resemble the image I have of my Mother in my head and I finally understand why I was never informed.

If I had seen this at the age of fourteen, I would have headed straight back to White Rock Pack to kill my Father and I wouldn't have survived that. "Thank you, Grandpa. I finally understand." I whisper as I lean into him and I know I don't have to explain what I finally understand.

"Doc, King Damon has arranged an around the clock nurse for our Daughter. We will be transporting her back to the Palace, preferably in the morning. We also feed every file on her condition, every note that anyone has ever made and I really mean everything. Grandma says to him.

"I will make sure it is all gathered by morning. I will check her in the morning and write down all my findings. If she can be transported in the morning, we can arrange everything within an hour." Doc replies "Her night nurse will be on duty in two hours, she has been taking the night shift for the past two months.

She was hoping that a constant in her days would trigger something, but so far nothing has changed. I really hoped that she would have woken up after her Lycan had managed to heal her, but for some reason your Daughter wasn't ready and I don't know how much longer it might take or if she will ever wake up." At least Doc is honest, but Mace and I are holding on to the hope that she will wake up someday.

I settle on the couch in Mom's room, I can get some rest this way and I can keep an eye on Mo while L sleep. Grandma returns with some dinner for me and once I am finished she takes the plate and leaves me with my Mother.

Somehow, I managed to doze off. The door opening is what wakes me and a female walks into the room, l' assume that this is her night nurse.

"I have a little surprise for you, but I doubt you will like it as much as I do. This morning I finally received word from my Brother, he will be here soon and end what he started fourteen years ago. The nurse says, Nooking into my Mother's eyes.

"She is awake. Why didn't anyone tell us?" Mace says in my head and I quickly link Grandpat to get to the infirmary with this Pack's Alpha.

"No one will ever know that you finally woke up, I made sure no one takes the night shift but me and I can misrantee unu that I didn't write down that pen winke us that night two monthe son When my Reiher arrives, he will take you from this room and end your pathetic life." The nurse says and I see Mom's eyes widen.

If I am understanding this correctly that nurse is my Aut, but I never heard my Father mention any other family-members. Too bad she is unaware of the fact that I killed my Father weeks ago, but that leaves the question why did this letter take so long to reach her

"I will let you in on a little secret. My Brother and I are wanted, King Damon has had a warrant out for our arrest or death for decades. It means that we can't just call one another or use the normal ways of sending a letter. No, we have to make sure no one can track a letter back to us and that is why it took this long for the letter to reach me.

Oscar has been running from the law for as long as I can remember and our parents tried to stop me from keeping in contact with him, but they never realized I was the some as Chcar. We take what we want and we don't care who we hurt in the process and right now, you are a lose end." She says and at that moment the door opens.

The nurse tries to grab Mom, but she hadn't realized that I was in the room and now she will pay for that mistake. Mace slams her with her head against the wall and as she slides to the floor, a Warrior puts silver cuffs around her wrists. "Gillean!" 1 hear my Mother's soft voice ask and I finally allow the tears to roll down the bed and wrap my arms around her, I just need some time holding my Mom.

"You're safe, we are taking you home. No one will ever hurt you again." I whisper into her hair, her head resting on my chest.

I hear Grandma give the Alpha a few orders and when he refuses, she pulls out her phone. She pushes a few buttons and a second later we all hear, "Aunt Marina, what can I do for you."

"Just for your information, Alpha. That is King Damon and if you do not as I told you, I can guarantee you that King Damon will make sure that you comply. Is that clear?" Grandma asks and I can hear Damon growl

"Alpha, you heard my Aunt. Do as you were told or I will drive down there immediately, is that clear?" Damon growls and the Alpha turns a bit pale.

"Damon, she is awake." Grandma whispers and Grandpa takes the phone from her hand, before he places her in a chair next to Mom's bed. He explains to Damon what happened and we can hear multiple growl through the phone. Mom has drifted off to sleep and it seems as if she is regaining strength. Doc looks at us and with a smile he says, "That is the power of a Pup. Like a Mate, a Pup can do a lot for a parent and in this case you and your Lycan are helping her heal."

I have one of the best night's sleep in forever and when open my eyes I see Mom staring at me "Let's go home, Mom. I know there are a lot of people at the Palace that want to see you." I say, as I move us up into sitting position.

"You live at the Palace?" Mom asks and I know we have a lot to talk about on the drive home.

No, we have to make sure no one can track a leer back to us and that is why it took this long for the letter to reach me.

Oscar has been running from the law for as long as I can remember and our parents tried to stop me from keeping in contact with him, but they never realized as the same as Oscar. We take what we want and we don't care who we hurt in the process and right now, you are a lose end." She says and at that moment the door opens.

The nurse tries to grab Mom, but she hadn't realized that I was in the room and now she will pay for that mistake. Mace slams her with her head against the wall and as she slides to the floor, a Warrior puts silver cuffs around her wrists.

"Gillean?" I hear my Mother's soft voice ask and I finally allow the tears to roll down my face. I crawl onto the bed and wrap my arms around her, I just need some time holding my Mom.

"You're safe, we are taking you home. No one will ever hurt you again." I whisper into her hair, her head resting on my chest.

I hear Grandma give the Alpha a few orders and when He refuses, she pulls out her phone. She pushes a few buttons and a second later we all hear, "Aunt Marina, what can I do for you."

"Just for your information, Alpha. That is King Damon and if you do not as I told you, I can guarantee you that King Damon will make sure that you comply. Is that clear?" Grandma asks and I can hear Damon growl.

"Alpha, you heard my Aunt. Do as you were told or I will drive down there immediately, is that clear?" Damon growls and the Alpha turns a bit pale.

"Damon, she is awake." Grandma whispers and Grandpa takes the phone from her hand, before he places her in a chair next to Mom's bed. He explains to Damon what happened and we can hear multiple growls through the phone.

Mom has drifted off to sleep and it seems as if she is regaining strength. Doc looks at us and with a smile he says, "That is the power of a Pup. Like a Mate, a Pup can do a lot for a parent and in this case you and your Lycan are helping her heal."

I have one of the best night's sleep in forever and when I open my eyes I see Mom staring at me. "Let's go home, Mom. I know there are a lot of people at the Palace that want to see you." I say, as I move us up into a sitting position.

"You live at the Palace?" Mom-asks and I know we have a lot to talk about on the drive home,

On the way home, I tell Mom about my life after she "ded" and she gives me a small smile every now and then. "Mom, I understand why Grandpa never said anything. I would have gone after my Father and I wouldn't have survived it." I say, before I tell her about Yara and what I witnessed in the few years I lived there.

Mom is softly sobbing, she blames herself for not stopping my Father and Grandpa suddenly pulls over when mom whispers "I thought he would only do it to me."

It takes half an hour for Grandpa and me to calm down enough to continue with our trip home and I tell Mom what happened with White Rock Pack. "Did Yara survive?" Mom asks and I inform her that Yara lives at the Palace too.

"I will come visit you ever chance I get, but I will have to leave soon for the Academy. I still don't know if the Elders will allow me to become a part of the King's Army without following their program." I tell Mom and she cuddles closer into my side.

She sobs in my arms for the loss of her Sons, but she understands why Damon ordered their deaths.

I smile when I see Roan on Mom's side of the SUV and the gently lifts her into his arms, before he steps back from the SUV. We follow Grandpa and Grandma to the Gamma floor and I smile when I see that everyone is waiting for us.

After putting Mom to bed in her room, I follow Roan out to the living room. "Are you okay?" He asks, as he places his hand on my shoulder to stop me and I smile at him.

Roan is the only male that doesn't make me want to hide, to hide who I really am and I am grateful that he my friend. "Not sure yet: Mom went through hell and I am glad my Father was taken care of weeks aga If I hadn't been in that room, we might have never found out about the warrants against him and his Sister.

She might have taken it upon herself to kill Mom, if she had gotten the news that her Brother was executed. Or maybe she would have just fled, I am not sure what to think about that." I tell him.

"I can't imagine what your Mother went through or how this is making you feel Just now that I am here, if you need someone that is willing to listen." He says, before he places his hand on my back and pushes met towards the living room.

We walk into the living room, while Grandma is explaining everything to the others and I smile when Thora jumps into my arms. Her arms are wrapped tightly around me, almost as if she wants to take away some of the emotions that run through me at the moment.

I want to spend the night on the couch in Mom's room, but Grandma isn't allowing it. "Your Grandfather and I can do this ourselves. You already at a lousy night of sleeping on a couch, go to bed, Gillean" Grandma says, her hands on her hips as she gives me a stern look.

"Uh Oh." I hear Dalton mumble. "You better do as she says or she might drag you out of here by your ear." He says and I see him rubbing his own ear.

I remember what it felt like whenever she did that to me and I know that Dalton really put her to the test "What did you do, Dalton? Grandma saves that punishment for special occasions." I say and I hear Roan chuckles Dalton leaks at me with a terrified Innk

"I just told her that I didn't need a babysitter and especially not one as old as her." He whispers and I join Roan in laughter. Yeah, not the best idea to point out Grandma's age to her.

Just two more days before the Full Moon and I hope that I will find my Mate.

The next morning Doc shows up given to us. Grandma walks in th the nurse Damon hired and they read through the files that were given to us. Grandma walks in with Mom and after introducing themselves, Doc starts to ask Mom a few questions.

"I don't think you really need a live-in nurse, but I would feel better if she is with you during the day. She can keep an eye on your recovery and if there is an issue, help is right there." Doc says and I am grateful that Mom agrees with him. The door to the Gamma floor slowly opens and I can see Thora pecking around the corner. Last night Thora and Dalton spent the night on Damon's floor, he wanted to give Mom a chance to decide if she could live on the Gamma floor or not

"Uncle Gillean, is she awake?" Thora asks quictly and the moment she sees Mom sitting on the couch, tears start streaming down her face. "I am so glad you woke up, Uncle Gillean missed you so much." She whispers as she crawls onto Mom's lap, wrapping her arms around Mom's neck.

Dalton sits down next to Mom, a small smile on his face as he looks at her. Mom turns her head towards me with a questioning look and I introduce her to Thora and Dalton, making sure she understands that there is no blood between us.

"Why don't we walk the two of you to school? If you think you are up for it, Luana." Grandma asks and after Doc has confirmed that it might be good for her, Mom gets up to get dressed.

Roan and I watch the four of them walk towards the school and I hope this will do Mom as much good as, Doc said it would.

She will be fine. I asked a few Warriors to walk parallel to their path to school, they will keep her safe." Roan says and I am shocked that he thought of it.

"Any news from Blue River Pack?" I ask, I need to get my mind on something else or I might run after Mom to keep an eye on her.

"Yeah, there is. Damon wants to visit them after the Full Moon and get the information first hand. He also wants to make sure justice is served and preferably as quickly as possible." Rona answers and I know it will take them a few days to go through everything. "Damon wants Jaylen, Morgan and you to accompany us. He hopes that they have been able to get a few answers from your Aunt by then, he wants to make sure that your Mom gets closure." He continues as he guides me to his office.

This means it will take even longer, before I can start with my studies and 1 softly growl. "Let's just hope it doesn't take too long. It is time to start my studies, I want to get through those classes and become a full member of the King's Army." I growl.

"You already are. You have proven yourself during the disappearance of Thora and Dalton, you have proven yourself when you helped to take down White Rock Pack. The Elders agreed with Jaylen, making you study would be useless." Roan says, as he slides my ile towards me.

There it is, in black and white, the proof that I am a full member of the King's Army.

Damon has ordered us to stay in our private wing, he doesn't want any drama with Yara and Luana here.

Tomorrow is the party for the Full Moon and every Squad that isn't on assignment will be here at the Palace. Everyone hopes that it will result in a few more fated couples and Dad is constantly hinting at me finding my fated Mate.

I wouldn't mind finding my fated Mate, but I can't allow myself to get my hopes up. I have been disappointed too many times since I turned eighteen and I am not sure if I can handle another disappointment in that department. Gillean is sitting behind my desk, he is going over every Wolf we have in the dungeons at Bleu River Pack and from time to time I see him writing.

We have four Wolves and a Lycan in those dungeons and each of them needs to answer questions, before judgement will be passed. My best bet is that Gillean is writing down questions he wants an answer to and hopefully they are questions we all want an answer to. When it comes to Alpha Cooper, we already have the most important answer. Why did he come after Morgan? I managed to find out that Bruce is related to Alpha Cooper, but then again he never hid it from his application form and we can only assume as to the reason why he decided to help Jo-Anna.

Jo-Anna is a different story, we all trusted her to a certain point and I never could have imagined her going this far in her quest to get Jaylen as her chosen Mate. Biggest question here is, what did she promise the others in return for their help?

Lynah and Collin are a mystery at the moment, Lynah never wanted the Pups after we found out the truth and I know Damon would have never allowed her to be a part of their lives. Collin was glad to hear that he didn't have to raise Pups that weren't his and there you have our mystery.

Kieran had asked the question out loud, that was probably on everyone's mind. Did Kate have something to do with all of this? To get that answer, Damon had her arrested and transported to Blue River Pack.

"What the fuck is wrong with some people?" I hear Gillan growl softly and I get up from the couch to see which file is in front of him. It shouldn't surprise me that it is Lynah's file, but it does and I wonder who filled it out.

Gillean and I spent most of our time in my office, after reading the files Gillean went in search of every digital trace he could find and he found quiet a lot of i

Phone calls between Jo-Anna and Kate, phone calls between Lyah and Kate, phone calls between Jo-Anna and Bruce. There were messages sent between them and he even found a few emails, not that he had much trouble finding them.

Either they thought they would never be caught or they simply didn't think about hiding their tracks. Whatever it was, it made the search easier for Gillean and he almost seemed disappointed.

"Okay, let's get changed. The party will start shortly and we don't want to keep the King waiting." Luana says from the doorway and Gillean and I both groan at the prospect of dodging females all night.

I walk in to my bathroom and take a shower to relax for just a few minutes. A towel is wrapped around my teslet se I walk our of my bathroom in met drecced in me vedo and once I am certain I am done I walk

I don't wait for anyone, because we are to meet on Damon's floor. Kieran, Damon and Dad are standing in front of the window, their eyes on Luana and Yarn. We will all be keeping an eye on them to make sure they have a pleasant evening and maybe they will find another Mate tonight.

Oscar was Luana's fated Mate and that would make whoever she might get paired with her second chance Mate. Oscar had taken Yara as a chosen Mate, she had accepted because she thought as an Omega she would never find her fated Mate.

Gillean is the last one to walk into the room and I stare at him as I hear him growl under his breath. He keeps trying to get the bowtie in place, but I can tell he's getting frustrated with the piece of fabric.

"Hand it over, before you rip it to shreds," Luana says, taking the bowtie from her Son and tying it without any problems. She looks beautiful in her indigo dress, is a floral lace with a small train and spaghetti

After he compliments his Mother on her dress, he turns towards Yara, "You look just as beautiful, Yara. I pray to the Goddess to pair you both with a male that will spoil you rotten and treat you the way a Mate should be treated. Gillean says.

"From your mouth to the Goddess' ears." Marina, Gillean's Grandmother, says.

We all stick close together, not willing to run into power hungry females or males and we actually manage to relax for a while. Dalton gets Yara and Luana to dance with him, but other than that they stick with the rest of us.

Smoke starts pacing my head the closer it gets to midnight. I know he is hoping that tonight will be our night and even though I didn't want to, even I get a little excited. I can see more nervous faces around me and I see Gillean glance at the nearest exit from time to time.

I have my eyes on Damon and Kieran, my hopes are on them finding a Mate and I can't contain the smile that escapes me at midnight. Both of them find their Mate and I know they will treat Yara and Luana a hell of a lot better than their former Mate.

"I

"Pay attention or our Mate will walk away." I hear Smoke growl in my head and I slowly turn my head to my right. "Do you think you can escape your Mate, Gillean? I ask and he stops dead in his tracks, as the entire room goes quiet.

He slowly turns around to face me and I know the smile that lingers on his face, is also on mine. I can't believe that after nearly twenty years I have finally found my Mate and Ldon't give a crap what anyone else says or thinks, as I slowly raise my hands to cup his face "You are mine." I growl softly, before I place my lips in his.

figured that I wouldn't find my Mate tonight and I wanted to be out of the room before anyone could speak those dreaded words, "Your time will come."

Even seeing my Mom being paired with Keiran doesn't stop me from eyeing the door, it is the pull I feel and Roan's words that stop me dead in my track. A smile spreads across my face and I see that same smile on his face.

My heart skips a beat the moment our lips touch and move my body a little closer to his. Fuck, I found my Mate and I don't think I could have found myself a better Mate.

"Don't you dare." I growl softly at Roan, a twinkle in his eyes as he sees my Mom being carried out of the room by Kieran and Damon right behind him with Yar in his arms. "Think you can stop me?" He asks teasingly and instead of making a run for the stairs, I dash through the nearest exit. I hear Roan growl, while others are laughing out loud.

I make my way around the back of the Palace and open a door that is mostly used by the Servants. I doubt I will run into Roan here, if he is smart he will head for my room first, not that he will find me there. I run up the stairs on the other side of the Royal Wing and slowly open the door that leads to the Royal Beta floor.

Mace sniffs the air, but Roan hasn't made it up here yet and I quickly walk into his bedroom.

I sit down on the foot of his bed and chuckle softly when I hear his rushed footsteps down the hall. He goes for my own bedroom first, but I hear the door slam when he finds it empty and I start laughing the moment he opens the door.

I don't waste time as I get of the bed and I walk straight into his open arms. Our lips touch and I feel tingles run through my body, straight to my cock. I groan as our tongues touch in a sensual duel.

Mace is roaring in my head; he wants his Mate and nothing is going to stop us. As we move through the bedroom we remove each other's clothing and we are both breathing heavily when we reach the bed.

Roan wraps a hand around my throbbing cock at the same moment I wrap my hands around his cock, our hand stroking up and down the other's shaft. Both of us doing what feels natural, all our firsts will be Together. "Fuck, Gillean. Keep this up and I am going to shoot my load in a second." Roan says."

I smirk as I grab his wrist and pull his hand away from my cock. I drop to my knees as I keep stroking his throbbing cock, I keep my eyes locked with his and lick the pre-cum of his cock.

I take his cock in my mouth as his hand grabs the back of my head, I take his cock between my lips and I playfully bite his cockhead. His cock fills my mouth as it slides over my tongue, until he touches the back. of my throat.

keep repeating this a few more time, before he comes on a roar and shoots thick gobs of curn down my throat.

I keep sucking until I have gotten every last drop out of him, I love the look on his face when he comes and I want to see it again before the night is over.

The moment I reach his face after I have trailed kisses up his body, I see that he is deep in thought and I press my finger against his ass to pull him out of it. I press harder and harder as I hear his breathing become labored.

Roan moves to lie down on the bed and reaches his hand to the bedside table to pull a tube of lube out of the drawer. My eyes light up when I see what he is holding in his hand and I take the tube from his hand.

As I kiss him passionately I apply the lube on my cock and his backdoor. "Babe, please" Roan mumbles and I know exactly what he wants, something we both want. My cock buried deep inside of him.

I push my finger in and out in short little movements and soon I add a second finger, his hole starts clenching around my fingers as I keep a steady pace on my fingers pushing in and out.

He feels so tight around my fingers and I can't wait to slide my cock into his asshole, making him come as I mark him. I slowly pull my fingers out of him, I push my rock-hard cock against his entrance, once, twice.

I nudge it harder against his backdoor, one more hard push and his ass opens up for me. Roan screams out in pleasure as I lean forward, pushing down on him and I ease further inside.

He is moving his ass around and with that he opens himself up for me, I go even deeper, all the way into the hilt. He pushes his ass up to meet my downward thrusts and I start to move in fast little jerky movements.

I pump and push into his asshole, embedding myself as deep as I can go and I crash into him. He squeezes my shaft with his butt muscles, milking me as I go deeper.

I push his knees towards his chest to angle his ass upto get better access to his hole. My hands grip his hips hard, pushing my cock as deep as I can go.

I lean forward to kiss him hard and desperate; I look into his eyes as I slam back into him and he groans loudly. I trail kisses down his neck until I reach the marking spot, I lick and suck on it and I feel his cock twitch against my stomach.

"Please, Babe. I need oh please.." Roan mutters as I keep my cock slamming into him without relenting on sucking his marking spot. I feel my balls tighten as my canines elongate and we both groan loudly as we bite down on the other's marking spot.

I feel his cum shooting against my stomach in short little bursts and I shoot my load into his backdoor. spurt after spurt; lasting for ages. My cock keeps twitching until he has squeezed every last drop out of it.

I lick his mark clean as he licks mine and smiling I look into the eyes of a man I have waited for my whole life. We hold each other, as our breathing goes back to normal and as his hand moves up and down my back, I drift off to sleep.

Gillean and I woke up a few times during the night and each time ended with us making love, over and over again. Early this morning we took a shower, but it took a lot longer than normal and it has everything to do with not being able to keep our hands of one another. We have explored the other's body, inch by inch. We both know what the other likes and it only takes one touch for us to get aroused, not that l'am complaining,

Gillean tracing his finger over my chest and I just enjoy the calm I feel from Gillean through our Mate-bond, something we both find amazing to experience.

"I think that it is time to get up and get some food into our system. It is almost time for lunch and you have been growling a few times already." Gillean says teasingly and I quickly flip him on his back, determined to show him that I am hungry for something else. Unfortunately my stomach disagrees with me and I am holding a laughing Mate.

Gillean tells me to take a shower, while he will take shower in his own room. I know it will be faster, but before this day is over all his belongings will be in my room.

We step out of our rooms at the same time and as we turn towards the living room, we see my Dad walking down the hall with clothes in his hands. It must have been written all over our faces, because he stops to say, "The master bedroom is yours, I can do with a smaller room."

Instead of doing something about my growling stomach, we help Dad with moving his stuff out of the bedroom and while Gillean and I move our stuff into the master bedroom, Dad prepares us some lunch.

I am not surprised to find everyone on our floor and I take the time to congratulate everyone on finding their fated Mate. Casimir is a bit grumpy and I smile when Gillean sits down next to him.

"Casimir, I know everyone will tell you this or they already have. But I mean it, when I say that your time. will come and then you will forget about every Full Moon that passed without you finding your Mate." He says and I have to admit that Gillean is right. "Gillean is right, you will forget about those Full Moons and the only Full Moon that will ever matter to you. is the one when you found your Mate. Look on the bright side, you get to wait a little longer before you have to take over from your Father" I say with a wink. Despite their past, I see that Yara and Luana are both marked and I know it will make traveling a little bit easier for Damon. I see Gillean look at me with a twinkle in his eyes, but I have no idea what he is up to and I sit back a little to look around the room. Luana will be our Royal Gamma female and Yara will be our Queen, at least until Casmir has found his fated Mate. As I look at the rest of the people that are here, the door opens and I hear Dalton talking to Jaylen as they walk into the room. "Congratulations, Dad. If he gives you trouble just let my Mate know and she will deal with him, Luana." Jaylen says with a grin on his face as he hugs her and I suddenly understand the twinkle in Gillean's eyes.

After they have congratulated Damon and Yara too, they get ready to sit down and Thora looks from Gillean to me and back again. "I knew it, I knew it." She says as she starts jumping up and down, slowly making her way over to us. 1/3

"Congratulations, Uncle Roan and Uncle Gillean." Thors says before she jumps onto my lap and she hugs us both at the same time.

We sit around the dining room table and I can feel that Gillean is having a lot of fun on his own. "Care to share what has you so giddy?" I ask him through the mind link and he places his hand on my knee.

"Just wondering how to address Jaylen and Morgan. Mace all came up with quite a few, like Commander Brother, Commander Sis and a few variations to that." Is his answer and I hide my face in his neck, that Mate of mine is mits.

"Hold on a second. I have a serious question." Gillean says. Does a Commander outrank everyone but the King?"

His question surprises me a little and I have to shake my head to remember the answer. "No, a Commander outranks everyone but the King, the Royal Beta and Royal Gama and their heirs."I answer him and know I can feel pure excitement rush through our bond. I try to figure out why my answer could have that effect on him, but I don't think I have thought of whatever it is that Gillean figured out.

"What is wrong, Roan?" Damon asks and I explain what Gillean asked over the mind-link, but apparently I am not the only one that doesn't understand it.

"Uncle Gillean, I think they lost a few braincells along the way." Thora says giggling and I hear Gillean chuckle as he shields her from my grabbing hands.

Morgan is looking at everyone in the room and I can almost see the wheels turning in that head of hers. she is trying to find out what Gillean might have figurce out.

"Oh My Goddess. Gillean, we have a problem." Morgan says, a shocked look on her face.

"Yes, Commander. I believe we have a huge problem and it can cause chaos in your unit, if you don't deal with it the right way." Gillean responds seriously.

Thora is laughing her ass off in the meantime and I have no idea who is making fun of us.

"The question is, how do we deal with this? If we handle this the wrong way, we can be charged with disrespecting a High-ranking Wolf or Lycan." Morgan responds and Gillean nods his head, but I can sense that he has trouble holding down his laughter. Luana and Yara have joined Thora in the meantime and I even see a smirk on Casimir's face, but I still haven't figured out what kind of problem they are talking about.

"Damn, Gillean. I hadn't thought about that. You outrank every Commander, Damon says and Gillean finally lets go of his laughter.

"I thought... dealing with.. a Stepbrother... or Sister in law as my Commander..." He doesn't have to finish, we all understand what he means and he already found the answer.

It could have given a problem, if it had been someone else in this position. Gillean on the other hand will always listen to Jaylen and Morgan, unless he feels he has a better idea. He will never disobey them in front of outsiders or their unit meinbers.

I loved it when Morgan helped me to pull some chains but the look on Jaylen's face at the word Stepbrother was priceless.

Morgan seems to like the idea of having a Brother in law and I see her wink at me, before she turns to Roan. "Jaylen is really going to hate birthdays." She whipers in his direction with a huge smile on her face. "Yep. He is stuck with me through all of them. Roan reponds with a smile and we all start laughing when Jaylen starts pouting-

After breakfast we retreat to the living room to enjoy a peaceful day with the family and I am sitting on the floor, my back against Roan's chest. We listen to the conversations around us and from time to time we comment on them. Thora and Dalton left for the Gamma floor with Grandma, but neither of them wanted to tell us what they were going to do. I have no doubt that we will find out soon and in the meantime we are talking about whatever comes up.

The topic eventually comes to Blue River Pack and Damon explains to Yara why we have to go there. "We need to have all thewers, before we can dish out punishment. Jaylen deserves answers, Morgan deserves answers and so do Luana and Gillean." He says I know that Jaylen isn't looking forward to meeting his parents in law, he fears they will hold Thora and Dalton against him. I don't think he has much to fear from them, not if Morgan is anything like her parents.

Alpha Tate has been at most of the interrogations, he probably knows more about Thora and Dalton than Jaylen thinks and that probably means that he has a good understanding of the situation.

Luna Giselle has probably heard everything from her Mate and her Sons, after all she did ask Morgan to bring them along. I truly believe that Jaylen is stressing out over nothing and if they do hold it against him, Morgan will put them back in their place. Her search for them after Jo-Anna kidnapped them, has shown everyone that she cares about them deeply and she even told Jo-Anna that Amra considers them her own.

What I am more concerned about is why each of them thought they could get away with kidnapping the Pups of the future Royal Gamma. The punishment for kidnapping is imprisonment and the higher the rank the longer you end up behind bars, but kidnap a Royal and you end up dead.

The only one in the dungeons of Blue River Pack that isn't connected to this case is Alpha Cooper, not that his punishment will be anything short of death. After all, he attacked the Pack while Damon was there and that will justify a death sentence.

Then of course there is my Aunt, but I never knew she existed and I doubt I ever met any family from my Father's side. I did meet a few people that seemed to know my Father, but they were never introduced as fainily members.

If the warrants against him are an indication, I think his family showed him the door years ago. Maybe I Zan take a look at their track record, only to see if I ever want to get to know them.

"And why would you want to take Piglet with you to school?" Jaylen asks and Thora rolls her eyes at him. "I want to take Piglet with me to Blue River Pack, we are going to see Grandpa and Grandma." Thora and I have to bite my tongue to keep from laughing at ylen's dumbfounded look.

"You have school, Sweetheart. You will meet Morgan's parents another time." Jaylen says and she starts to shake her head.

"Jaylen, I made sure they don't have to attend school this week. I think it is time that they meet the rest of their family." Damon says and Morgan hides her face behind Thora, the moment she looks at her Father with a look that says, "I told you so." "Didn't Jaylen listen to Thora?" I ask Roan and for a moment he seems to think about what was said.

"Damn, Jaylen. You are an Idiot." Roan says. "You only got the fact that she wanted to take Piglet with her from what she said."

Everyone looks at Roan, but my eyes are on Morgan. I want to see it the moment she realizes what Thora said and I think it is her reaction that pushes the others to think about what Thora said.

"She called you Mom." Jaylen whispers, but I doubt that Morgan is able to speak a word. She is too emotional to respond and Thora has a megawatt smile on her face,

"You didn't hear her refer to Morgan's parents as Grandpa and Grandma either, did you?" Mom asks and I have to stifle a smile, because Mace has a very interesting thought.

"Do you think that Kieran will kick my ass, if I call him Dad? I ask Roan through our mind-link and I feel him shaking with laughter.

Jaylen and Morgan are staring at Thora, but she isn't bothered by it. "What? They are your parents, so that makes them my Grandparents. Dalton and I come with Dad, take it or leave it." She says with a smile on her face.

"I will take that package deal any day of the week, Sweetheart." Morgan says as she hugs Thora. Dalton is deep in thought and Morgan's hand on his shoulder makes him jump out of his seat.

"Sorry, I was just thinking. You are only three years older than me. Won't people think it is strange if I call you Mom?" Dalton says and for a moment no one says word.

"Dalton, that is up to you. If you feel more comfortable calling me by my name, than you call me by my name. No one is going to force you to call me Mom, only you can make that decision." Morgan says, her hand cupping his cheek as she looks into his eyes. I think she managed to make him feel a bit better, showing him that she will understand no matter what he calls her.

Chapter 283 Out Of My Way

Casimir's hidden Queen. Book 3

Giselle Finished

My name is Giselle and I am sixteen years old. Well, not yet. At midnight I will turn sixteen and that is only a few hours away. I am the youngest of three, my Sister is three months shy of twenty and my Brother turned eighteen about two months ago.

Our parents are Elite Warriors, just like my Brother, Grayson, and I am right behind him. My Sister. Gloria, is a different story, no matter what our parents have tried she turned into a superficial female and currently she is dating our future Beta. "I can't wait for midnight. Everyone will find out that 1m the future Beta female. Gloria announces as she walks into the kitchen.

"Gloria, if he was your fated Mate, you would have found out when you turned eighteen. You will leave that boy alone and hope that his fated Mate isn't a Pack member or you might be in trouble for breaking a bond before it started." Mom says and Gloria just rolls her eyes at her.

Dad gets up from his seat in the living room and Gloria is smart enough to know that she crossed a line, but she still tries to act as if she is better than the rest of us.

"Gloria, we have warned you about this and I am not going down that road again. If you interfere with Ivan's Mate-bond. I will no longer be there to pick up the pieces. You will be on your own and I hope you can live with the consequences. Dad growls in her direction. I doubt it impresses her much, but Gloria is smart enough not to talk back and five minutes later she walks out the front door.

Our Pack is gathered behind the Pack-house to witness the first shift of our future Beta. At midnight his eighteenth birthday will start and he will not only shift for the first time, but also be able to find his Mate. After all it is a Full Moon tonight and that makes his birthday even more special.

Mom, Dad, Grayson and I are standing to the left of the Pack-house, if things go sideways we can leave for our home quickly. Gloria is standing next to Ivan, not responding to Dad's mind-link at all.

Elias, our future Alpha, has been glaring at Ivan since they walked out of the Pack-house and from time to time his eyes wander in my direction. I know that I am not his Mate, his Wolf didn't recognize me as his Mate, when he turned eighteen about six months ago. If I had to go by his behavior from before his birthday and after, I would almost say that he has an interest in me. I don't really like him, because he is the same as van, both of them sleeping with Pack-members and that will complicate things for their Mates. If either one of their Mates happens to be a Pack-member, I know there will be hell to pay. Not just from the female, but also her parents and many other Pack-members.

Our attention gets drawn to the back porch as Alpha Alexander walks out of the Pack-house and we all listen as he starts his speech. Telling us what we already know, we are here to witness a shift and possibly witness Ivan finding his Mate. Gloria is leaning against Ivan, waiting for Alpha Alexander to tell him to get undressed and out to the circle nair Park has formed. mind-link, a link I will receive in a few days.

"Ivan, please get ready for your first shift." Alpha Alexander says and I lower my eyes to the ground, I have no intention of seeing Ivan butt naked. I even looked at the ground when Grayson had to strip down for his first shift and he is my Brother. "He has put on a robe." Dad says through the mind-link and I slowly look back towards the circle of Pack-members.

I hear Pack-members around us mumbling, it seems that our future Gamma is missing and I look around to find Avery near the tree line.

I hadn't even noticed that he hadn't been standing on or near the back porch, Grayson is mind-linking someone and as I let my eyes wander around the garden I see that Avery is also in a mind-link. I feel Grayson getting agitated and his eyes are glued to a window o the second floor.

My hand is moving up and down his back, just hoping that it will be enough to calm him down. I don't see anyone behind the window that Grayson is staring at and I hope that whatever it is that Avery is telling him can be resolved easily.

"Once Ivan has shifted, we are going home. We need to talk." Grayson says through our family mind-link, but I know that he left Gloria out of it.

I have stepped closer to Grayson and I see anger flash through Elias' eyes. I move my eyes towards Ivan, the moment I hear his first bone snap and slowly but steadily he transforms into his Wolf. A gray Wolf is standing inside the circle and slowly he turns towards us, just before he shifts back to his Human form.

"Mate." Ivan growls, his eyes locked with mine and I just look at him. He quickly turns on his heel to Gloria, "I chose Gloria as my Mate." He states as he walks towards her and she looks at me with a triumphant smile on her face.

Dad growls at his words, but Alpha Alexander holds up his hand. "Ivan has claimed Gloria as his mate. I grant him the claim he made on Gloria as his Mate." Alpha Alexander says and without another glance at them I turn around. Grayson wraps an arm around my shoulder and we head back to our house near the western border, both of us ignoring Elias who is calling out my name.

I am just grateful that I haven't gotten my Lycan yet, it makes this a lot less painful. I wouldn't want a Mate that has slept with my Sister or with other females from our Pack, I don't think I could live with someone like that. "Giselle, stop. Alpha Alexander wants you back at the Pack-house immediately, he wants to talk about what happened." An Elite Warrior says.

"Don't go back to the Pack-house, he won't let you go." Grayson says through our mind-link and Dad steps to my other side, while Mom steps in front of us.

"Day after tomorrow we will visit with Alpha Alexander tomorrow we are celebrating Giselle's sixteen birthday. Now get out of my way or I will make you." Mom says.

Mom and Dad lock every door and window, the moment we get home and Grayson leads me into the living room. No one has to tell me that this is serious and somehow I know this has to do with Elias.

"Grayson, start talking. I know that you have answers and I want them right now." I say and I know he can't help himself, but answer my question.

Mom and Dad nod their heads, they know he can't fight my order. "Avery linked me with a warning. He said that I shouldn't say a word or respond in any way. That if Ivan was Giselle's fated Mate than Elias would kill him, that Elias wants you for liimself.

That if Ivan wasn't your fated Mate than Elias would claim you during the next Full Moon and that Alpha Alexander would grant him that claim. Those were Avery's words," Grayson says and I know that Alphat Alexander would allow Elias to claim me, because he knows a little bit more about me than most of our Pack-members.

I didn't get much sleep last night, because Alpha Alexandler placed Elite Warriors around our house and I know it is an attempt to keep me from running.

Too bad he never took the time to get to know me, because than he would know that this wouldn't stop from leaving and I know my parents and my Brother will come with me. Problem is that I have no idea where we should go, but a notification on my phone sends me the

Happy Sweet Sixteen, hope you have a great day. It is a message from my best friend, Lucy, she moved to another Pack after finding her fated Mate three months ago and I send her a message back with everything that happened last night.

Can you ask your Alpha if he will take us in? You can let him read my message. I send it to her, after I received a few cussing words from her in the direction of Gloria, Ivan and Elias.

It takes an hour before I get a response to my message and I make sure that everyone starts packing the things they want to take with them, but I don't tell them where we are going. Besides some clothes I pack a few things I can't leave behind and once I am done, I place my bag in Dad's office.

Grayson has already placed his bag in Dad's office and is waiting for me in the living room, a sad look on his face.

"Gloria...." I place my hand over his mouth, I don't want to talk about her and even though she is my Sister. I hope I never see her again.

"Just sing Happy Birthday." I say with a smile on my face and I hear Dad groan the moment Grayson starts singing. Like dad, he is a lousy singer and I hope the Warriors around our house are enjoying this little concert.

Suddenly Dad starts to sing along with Grayson and Mom links me to crawl out of the living room and to head up to my room. I don't question her strange instructions and as I walk up the stairs I wonder what is waiting for me in my room.

The door to my room is open and Avery is sitting on the floor with his back against the foot of my bed, he gestures for me to get on the floor. I crawl into my room and sit down next to him.

"I couldn't allow him to do this to you. I don't know the entire story, but there is something special about you and Alpha Alexander wants you to become Elias' Luna. Even if it means a forceful marking." Avery whispers and I know that he is right.

We just sit there for a few moments, listening to Dad and Grayson singing as loud as they can and despite the situation I start to giggle. They are now singing a tube Grandma taught us, a song from centuries ago and if she could hear them she would regret ever teaching it to them. "What are you going to do, Avery?" I ask him, because I doubt there are many people that would know what Alpha Alexander and Elias had planned. Which means that it won't take long before they will understand that Avery warned us.

"Join the King's Army, maybe. I don't know, but I know I can't stay here." He answers me and I quickly send Lucy another message. He saved me and I can't leave him behind.

Ten minutes later I say goodbye to Avery and Mom shows him out the backdoor again. We eat cake and play a board game to pass the time and after dinner we turn on the TV, making ourselves comfortable.

I chose to put on a marathon of Harry Potter, it will last long enough for us to make our escape and the Warriors will be able to hear what we are watching. With eight movies it will keep us up all night or so they will think, but by the time anyone decides to check up on us it will be too late. Halfway through the first movie, we all crawl to our positions on the ground floor. Dad is in his office to keep an eye on the Warriors on that side of the house, Mom is in the kitchen and Grayson is by the backdoor, while I am still in the living room.

It is almost midnight when Grayson mentions two Warriors leaving, "Yeah, they just walked past my office. Dad states and if my gut is right, I will see them out front soon.

It is after two in the morning, when Grayson informs us that the coast is clear and we quietly sneak out the backdoor. We don't waste time in walking to the tree line, it will make walking a bit easier and I sigh in relief the moment I can walk up straight again. We follow Dad to the border, we won't be crossing at any of the most used crossing into our territory. Avery will be waiting for us with his baby Brother, who happens to be running patrol there and they will join us to our new Pack.

Grayson pulls me behind a tree, Braxton is talking to a Warrior that is best friends with Elias and we can't risk him seeing us. It takes almost half an hour for him to leave and the moment the coast is clear we make a short sprint to pass the border.

Once Dad is satisfied that we are far enough from Onyx Star territory, he gestures for us to stop and I hear words I never thought I would hear anyone say. "I, Grayson, sever my ties to Onyx Star Pack and renounce Alpha Alexander as my Alpha." Once everyone has broken their ties with Onyx Star Pack, we start moving again.

Chapter 285 Will Die Onyx Star Pack

Alpha Alexander always watched his Pack-members carefully during training, he wanted everyone to be trained to the best of their abilities. He had fought and worked hard to get where he was today and he wouldn't allow anyone to take that away from him. When he had been watching the group of twelve to fourteen year olds one day, he was convinced that the young female he was watching, was a lot stronger than anyone thought. It looked as if she was holding back on her punches and kicks, almost as if she didn't want anyone to know how strong and skilled she really was.

"Maybe she trains with her parents and Brother." His Wolf had butted in and for a moment he had lost sight of the young female..

"We need to keep an eye on her, she might be perfect for Elias Alpha Alexander had said to his Wolf.

After training had ended, he had asked the trainer to submit a report on everyone in that class. "I want to know who their parents are, when they joined this class and where they need to improve." He had said.

Every three months he had asked for a new report on the class, but there was only one report he ever read and that was the report on Giselle. Even her trainer believed that she was better than she was showing during training and by the time she gone to the next group because she had turned fifteen, there was no doubt in his mind.

Giselle was a special Wolf and she would become Onyx Star Pack's next Luna, but when Elias had turned eighteen he hadn't found his Mate. Alpha Alexander was beyond pissed, not that Elias was doing much better than his Father.

Elias and his Father had gone over every male in the Pack that could become her fated Mate and each of them was Alpha ordered to reject her if she was their fated Mate, but the one that they didn't give an Alpha order to turned out to be her fated Mate.

Ivan had always felt protective of Giselle, but couldn't explain why. Elias had confided in Ivan that his Father had Alpha ordered every male, that turned eighteen, to reject Giselle if she turned out to be their fate Mate and if they didn't Elias would kill them. Knowing that Elias had an unhealthy interest in Giselle, he had started dating Gloria, she reminded him of Giselle in some way.

Gloria was two years his senior and as long as she kept her mouth shut, Ivan could pretend he was with Giselle. He knew that Gloria wanted to be better than Giselle, but the truth was that no one could to Giselle and his eighteenth birthday showed that to him in the cruelest way possible.

When his Wolf sensed that Giselle was their fated Mate he had growled "Mate" the moment they had shifted back. He knew he couldn't claim her and so he claimed Gloria as his Mate, hoping he would find a way to protect Giselle.

"My office, Ivan. Alpha Alexander growled and Ivan put on some sweat pants before walking into the Pack-house. "Tell Giselle to get back to the Pack-house want to talk to her about what happened." Alpha Alexander orders a Warrior, before following Ivan to his office. Gloria tried to follow them into the Alpha office, but Elias shut the door in her face and she wasn't brave enough to open the door. She sat down in a chair, waiting for the Alpha or her parents to come talk to her.

Elias informs him that Ivan knows about his interest in Giselle. "Good to know. You will mark and mate with Gloría on the next Full Moon, it will strengthen your bond." Alpha Alexander says.

A knock on the door interrupts their conversation and Elias opens the door to reveal the Warrior that was sent after Giselle.

"I am sorry, Alpha. Gracelyn said that they would visit you the day after tomorrow, they want to celebrate Giselle's sixteenth birthday." The Warrior says, his eyes fixed on the painting behind Alpha Alexander.

"Excuse me, what do you mean, celebrate Giselle's sixteenth birthday?" Elias asks and he grabs her file from his Father's desk. "It is her birthday and none of us acknowledged that in any way."

Alpha Alexander was ready to rip this Idiot's head off, but he had forgotten that Ivan and Giselle share a birthday. He knows Gracelyn good enough to know that they will show up, he will allow them to celebrate Giselle's birthday.

"Post three Warriors on each side of their house, they are not to leave the house unless I have given my enter their permission. Only someone from my leadership or from the future leadership is allowed to house, is that understood?" Alpha Alexander asks.

The Warrior is relieved that he still is breathing and quickly nods his head, before he leaves to carry out the orders given to him. The night passes without incident and the only time the Warriors are wishing they were elsewhere is when Grayson starts singing "How long will they be watching Harry Potter?" One of the Warriors asks and after they find out that the family is watching a marathon, they decide to gather at the front of the house.

Slowly one by one the Warriors move to the front of the house and once every thirty minutes one of them walks around the house.

A mighty roar is heard at five in the morning, but no one seems to know why the Alpha is so angry. The Warriors are on their posts and the Harry Potter marathon is still going. If the family is still awake is the question, but no one is willing to enter the house to check. After all, they aren't allowed to enter the house,

The sound of stomping paws echoes through the nightand the Warriors are on high alert, but they could have saved themselves the trouble for it isn't an enemy that is approaching. It is the Alpha and his Beta that are approaching and the Warriors relax just a tiny bit. "Where is Giselle?" Alpha Alexander growls, just as Elias stops next to his Father and after one of the Warriors has reported about their night, the Alpha triesto open the backdoor.

It only takes one kick from the Beta to have the door break down and after checking the house they turn their attention to the Warriors, but none of them are aware of any wrong doing on their end. Elias threatens to kill them all, but Alpha Alexander knows he will weaken his Pack if he allows Elias to carry out his threat.

"I want Giselle found at all costs. You will not return home, until you have found her. Anyone that returns without Giselle or news on her whereabouts will die." Alpha Alexander growls

Chapter 286 Baby Sister Giselle

We find a small dinner around seven in the morning adil after freshening up as best we can in the ladies room. Mom and 1 sit down to order breakfast for all of us.

I keep going over the events of the other night and for the life of me I can't understand why Ivan would chose Gloria instead of me, his fated Mate. Maybe my ideas about Elias and his interest in me are correct, maybe he threatened Ivan or maybe he just isn't willing to wait until I turn eighteen.

Answers to those questions, I will never get and I doubt would want to hear them. Ivan made his decision. in front of the entire Pack and Gloria can have him, I wish them all the happiness in the world.

"Let's get going, we still have a long way to go. Dad says, while Mom walks to the counter to pay our bill and within minutes we are back in the forest.

We don't say much as we walk and I don't think there is much to talk about. We all have questions and we all know what Ivan did, I am just glad it happened before I turned eighteen. This way my Wolf or Lycan isn't affected by Ivan's actions and we will not have to go through the pains of betrayal.

It will take two more years before I know if I have a Wolf or a Lycan, not that I give a crap about it. I will love my other half, whether she is a Wolf or a Lycan. I am not like Gloria, she made it clear that she didn't want a Lycan and I think I laughed my ass off when she had said that.

With a parent of each kind it is always a'mystery what you will shift into, but Gloria got what she wanted at the age of eighteen and shifted into her Wolf. Grayson shifted into a Lycan and his Lycan immediately came over to me, I liked that he came to me first. Valentine, Grayson's Lycan, wanted to walk over to Gloga, but the look on her face made him stop and I believe that is the moment something changed between Gloria and Grayson.

Dad had an argument with Gloria about her behavior the following morning, but one sentence has stuck with me ever since that day. "Dad, I don't want a Lycan anywhere near me. Lycans are nothing but animals. Did Gloria realize that she hurt Dad? Or is she still unaware of the damage she did to the relationship with her parents?

We have a head start of two and a half hours and we are not even sure if Alpha Alexander send men after. us, not that we are taking any chances.

I am the only one that can't shift and when Dad tells us it is time to shift, Valentine walks over to me. For the time being I will be on his back and after getting comfortable Valentine takes off in the direction of our new home.

We stop for a short break around two in the afternoon and after eating something, we head out again. This time I am on Kear's back, my Father's Lycan and I enjoy the closeness as I-lean down on his back.

It will be around dinner time when we arrive at our new home and I can't wait to see Lucy again. She was the one I got in trouble with growing up, both of us more of a tomboy than a girly girl and I smile when I remember how often we got home covered in dirt and what not.

Lucy is a Warrior's Daughter and we went through training together, sparring together whenever we got the chance. Both our Moms always complaining about he stains in our clothes, but we also knew they were proud of the fighters we became, 22:57 Fri, Jan 31

"Son, my office. Now." Dad says through our mind-link and I am glad I can get away from my current task

I get out of my seat and walk down the hall to Dad's office, I walk in without knocking. I am a bit surprised to see Lucy in his office, she joined our Pack about six months ago and she has joined her Mate on border patrols.

"What is wrong, Lucy?" I ask, because you don't have to be a genius to understand that I was called into the Alpha office because of what Lucy has to say.

She holds out her phone and I read the message that is open on her screen. "I already approved their move here, I want you to explain to them what we are planning for Morgan and to enlist their help." Dad

I read the message again, because I don't understand why her fated Mate would choose another and that while the entire Pack knows that she is his fated Mate.

We will be gaining six Pack-members, a family of Elite Warriors and two Gamma Sons. It is a great loss for Onyx Star Pack, but a huge benefit for our Pack. We can always use new Pack-members, no matter what their rank is and I look forward to seeing if the Gamma has what it takes. Our Gamma couple has no heirs to the position and I was starting to think I needed to look outside our Pack for my Gamma, but I might just have gotten handed a Gamma.

"Lucy, can you make sure they have a place to stay? Make sure it is big enough for six people, I think it is best if they stay together for the time being." Dad says.

"I will take care of it, Alpha Tate." Lucy says, before she walks out of his office.

Dad and I talk about our new Pack-members for a few minutes, before I head back to my own office. An office 1 share with my Brothers and at the moment we are making all the arrangements for Morgan's seventeenth birthday.

Just three more months and then we can finally tell herabout our bloodline. I can't wait to find out what kind of abilities she might have and I will finally meet her Lycan, something Titan, my Lycan, has been looking forward to for the past year.

Just three more months of keeping this a secret and I hope that with the witnesses present, no one will come after my baby Sister.

We have been at Blue River Pack for almost three months now and we all have gotten into our own. routines. Dad, Grayson and Braxton run border patrols and train with the Elite Warriors, not that the group is very large.

Avery has been put through the test and has been asked to become Ashton's Gamma. He trains with the current Gamma couple and even decided to move to the Gamma floor a week ago.

Mom and I train with the Elite Warriors as well, but Mom and I are helping Luna Giselle with her plans for Morgan's birthday. The strange part of it, is that none of us have been introduced to her.

Today is Morgan's seventeenth birthday and everyone is very excited to find out how she will react to her party and her bloodline. I doubt anyone had seen it coming, but today turned into a black day for Blue River Pack. All Pack-members are to assemble in front of the Pack-house Alpha Tate's voice rings through my head and we

m all run out of the house to get to the Pack-house, something must be terribly wrong for Alpha Tate to call - all Pack-members to the Pack-house.

"Morgan is missing and with how faint her scent is in her room she has been gone for a while. I want the entire territory searched and if anyone can think of anything strange I want to hear about it, no one will get into trouble.

We just want to know what happened, we need to figure out why she is missing and if she left on her own accord." Alpha Tate says and for a moment I just stare at Mom.

"Avery, we will run border patrol. Let those that know her search for her, we will keep the borders safe." Dad says through the mind-link and I pull Lucy with me to take the eastern order.

Lucy and I stay in contact with Dad and we are on our way back towards the southern border, when we run into Fletcher. "Have you seen Morgan?" He asks and I know my answer will shock the hell out of him.

"Sorry, Fletcher. She could be standing right in front of us and we wouldn't know we were dealing with Morgan. Neither one of us has ever met her and the same goes for the rest of my family." I answer him and I see a defeated look in his eyes. "You might want to try the northern border, there is a cottage up there and I have seen a young female walk into it, that was about a week ago." I tell him and in the blink of an eye he is gone.

Lucy and I get back to running the border and I hope that Fletcher will find some answers, but I fear it might not be what he wants to find.

Fletcher

As I run to the northern border, I am discussing Giselle's revelation with Duke. We didn't realize that Morgan hadn't met our new Pack-members, not Lucy when she moved her to be with her Mate and not Giselle and her family.

If we had made the proper introduction, we might have been able to prevent this and then Morgan would Be home to celebrate her seventeenth birthday with us.

searched and no sign of Morgan. Avery stayed at the Pack-house to keep track of every search and to make sure that the entire territory got searched. Avery, you volunteered for this task because you don't know who you are looking for, right?" I ask him without pulling others into our conversation.. "That is correct, Fletcher, I never met Morgan, I wouldn't know I met her if she kicked my ass." Avery responds and despite the situation, I chuckle.

I slow down the moment I reach the northern border and I keep an eye out for a cottage, hoping that I will find Morgan there.

Our territory makes a small bend to the left and as I clear some trees I spot a small, rundown cottage. It is a one story building with the paint chipping of the outer walls, at the front there is only a door and a small window.

I walk around it to find two small windows on the left and right side of the cottage, the back has no door but there is a large window. I walk up to the door and I can already smell the scent of my baby Sister, a smile appears on my face. "Dad, Ifound a cottage near our northern border and it smells like Morgan." I say through our mind-link and I know my Brothers will be here shortly.

The door isn't locked and after slowly opening it, I am met with silence. A small cot is near the window at the back of the Cottage, a small kitchen with the bare minimum is to my right and to my left is an armchair that faces the back window.

I slowly walk through the cottage and even though I can smell her scent clearly, it isn't as strong as it should be. I find a few groceries in the kitchen and her phone on a desk near the foot of the bed.

"Did you find her, Fletcher?" Ashton asks, but I know I don't have to answer him. He can tell by the look on my face that I didn't and something deep in my gut tells me that we won't find her.

We each walk around the area for a while and we all end up at the same spot near the border, if she left the territory she did it here.

"Let's get back to the Pack-house, look at the footage and see when she left exactly. It might tell us how much of a head start she has and we need to call of the Elder, I doubt Dad wants to answer any questions at the moment." Ashton says. It takes a little while, but we eventually find out that we messed up on a lot of things and as we try to move forward we find that we are actually stuck.

Without Morgan our family is incomplete and once in a while we head out to search for her outside our territory, but so far we have been unsuccessful.

Chapter 288 Weeks Later Giselle

Our Alpha and Luna are no longer the ones I met the first day we arrived here, both of them deal with Morgan's disappearance in a different way.

Dad has assigned me and Lucy to keep an eye on Luna Giselle, we need to make sure that she doesn't harm herself or anyone else.

I doubt that Alpha Tate knows that we are watching his Mate, he has locked himself in his office and hardly ever comes out. Anyone that tries to talk to Alpha Tate gets snapped at and it doesn't matter if the topic is Morgan or Pack business. "Alpha Tate just went into his office."I hear Avery say in my head and I move from the living room up the stairs to the Alpha floor, Lucy meets me half way up the stairs.

I quietly open the door to Luna Giselle's office and check her calendar for today. Mom has been helping out with the Luna duties, it is the only way for any of us to help at this moment and I think it is a good thing that Mom is an Alpha's Daughter herself. Mom knows how to deal with certain issues that Ashton can't handle and he has accepted her help without -informing his Father. Together with the Beta and Gamma they keep this Pack running and we all hope that time will help them heal a little.

"Mom, there is nothing on her calendar for today. Tomorrow he has a meeting with the Pack-doctor, than she has a clear schedule for two days. I think she was planning on using it to plan Hudson's birthday, which is this weekend."I inform her, as I look through Luna Giselle's day-planner.

Lucy is already waiting for me outside the master bedroom and I see that she has opened the door slightly.

The rooms are soundproof, so we decided to leave the door ajar to warn us. It isn't easy to listen to her crying and talking, she blames herself a great deal and I am not sure if anything can ever pull her out of this. Well, maybe Morgan's return can.

"I am so sorry, Little Miracle. I wish I had paid more attention, but I was so consumed by planning your birthday." I hear Luna Giselle say and I know that she is staring at a picture of Morgan.

The picture was taken at her Sweet Sixteen party, she looked amazing in the dress her Mother picked out for her. I think it reminds Luna Giselle of the little girl she lost and that it reminds her of the mistakes they all made.

This is our daily routine, we go to the Alpha floor the moment Alpha Tate leaves and then we stand guard. outside their master bedroom. We listen to Luna Giselle cry, we listen when she talks to Morgan and we leave the moment Alpha Tate returns to the Alpha floor Something is wrong, Alpha Tate hasn't left the Alpha floor yet" I hear Avery say in my head and I run up stairs to be met with Lucy and Avery. Grayson is right behind me and we make our way up to the Alpha floor.

I slowly open the door to hear Fletcher yelling, "Have you lost your fucking mind, Dad? Everyone is affected by Morgan's decision, but it doesn't give you or Mom the fucking right to forget about your Pack or your other Pups.

We are all in blame for what bannened and we deal with it the heet we can. We don't need an unctable Alpha or Lama, so either the two of you snap out of it or step the fuck down." I leave the door ajar, but we do not enter the Alpha floor. This is something they need to solve on their own.

"I know we are all to blame, but she is my Daughter and I should have known something was wrong" Alpha Tate says,

I know each of them blames himself for what happened with Morgan, but there is nothing any of them. can do to change it. All they can hope for is that Morgan returns one day and that they get a chance to apologize to her. Knowing that they won't kill one another, I quietly close the door and gesture for everyone to leave.

With each passing day Luna Giselle resumes her duties, but Mom stays by her side to help wherever it is necessary, Lucy and I can slowly get back to our own tasks within Blue River Pack, we take up running border patrol again and I love spending the nights with Lucy running along the borders. Alpha Tate is slowly becoming the Alpha again that I met when we arrived at Blue River Pack and even though it is plain to see that everyone still has trouble dealing with Morgan's disappearance, they slowly go back to living again.

All the decorations for Morgan's seventeenth birthday have been taken down and everyone stays from the clearing, it probably reminds them of the events leading up to her disappearance.

Grayson and I go there with Dad to train in our Lycan forms, a training Blue River Pack doesn't have and Dad doesn't feel comfortable enough yet to discuss it with Alpha Tate.

Three weeks have passed since our Alpha and Luna were snapped out of their self-pity party and I am starting to feel anxious for some reason. Grayson and Valentine are feeling the same way I am and Dad keeps telling us to trust our instincts.

I might not have my Wolf or Lycan yet, but according to Dad it is her way of telling me that trouble is coming. Valentine refuses to let me run border patrol with just Lucy and he tags along whenever I am on night patrol.

He probably would have slept in my room, if I had let him, but I don't feel uneasy when I am at home and it is the only reason I can convince him to sleep in his own bed.

Looking back I am glad that Fletcher lost his shit that day, if he hadn't Alpha Tate might not have been ready for what happened a few weeks later.

Mom and Dad have finally accepted the fact that Morgan is gone, but we are all hoping she will return some day. Not that it is easy for them to move on, but they are slowly getting there.

My Brothers and I each take turns in searching for Morgan on the weekends, but so far we have been unable to find a trace of her and it becomes harder to stay optimistic. "Ashton, do you have a moment?" Avery asks as he walks into my office and I gesture to the seat in front of

1. me.

"Grayson has always had great instincts and that trouble is heading our way. Grayson and Giselle are both feeling anxious and in the past whenever Grayson felt anxious something bad happened shortly after that." Avery says..

My Brothers and I ask him some questions and it quickly becomes clear to us that Avery has every right to worry about Grayson gut feeling

"Put the Warriors on high alert, let the Elite Warriors run border patrol parallel to the others and keep that Giselle away from the border." I say, before I walk out of my office to talk to Dad. Something tells me this might have something to do with her former Alpha Before I have reached Dad's office I hear one of our Warriors through the mind-link, "Unknown Wolves approaching the gate.

I don't wait for anyone as I run out of the Pack-house, I don't have to wait because they are all right behind me and I can hear Dad on the phone with Elder Emmett. I sigh in relief when I hear Elder Emmett say that a unit is on its way, the closest unit is only an hour away and I know we can stall whoever is approaching our borders.

Colton and I are flanking Dad, the rest of my Brothers are standing behind us and we patiently wait for the Wolves to approach the gate.

I can tell that the ones that stay in Wolf form are Warriors and that means that the ones that have shifted back to their Human form are High-ranking Wolves. "The one in front of you, Alpha Tate, is Alpha Alexander." I hear Avery say through the mind-link. "Alpha Alexander, what can I do for you?" Dad asks and we patiently wait for him to answer.

"I am here to get my Son's Mate back." Alpha Alexander finally answers and I wonder how he is going to explain this one. "I am here to bring Giselle home."

Dad looks from Alpha Alexander to me and then he looks at Colton, "I don't believe your Mother ever met either one of them, did she?" Dad asks and I hear quite a few Pack-members laugh.

"I am not talking about your Luna, I am talking about Ciselle from Onyx Star Pack." Alpha Alexander replies and Dad looks at me once again.

"Don't play me for a fool, I have proof that she is here and she is coming home with us. One way or the other." Alpha Alexander growls as he tosses a picture in our direction.

One of our Elite Warriors picks it up and hands it to Dad, while he glances at it quickly. It is a picture of Pinelle an hoeder narral that piense could nlu have been taken if egmenna had hapa vam

"Alpha Alexander, whoever took this picture broke quite a few Laws. We both know that getting this close. to another Alpha's border is an act of war and I have no problem with waging that war, but I hope you will be a little smarter than this. Leave and don't ever come back. If you or anyone from Onyx Star Pack ever get near our borders again, I will give the order to kill." Dad says, before he turns his back on Alpha Alexander and starts to walk away.

"Dad?" I hear a female ask, as if she can't understand what he is doing here. Gianni takes a step forward, his eyes are glued to her neck and I know she won't like what her Father has to say.

"Gloria, you made your choice and so did I. You are no longer a Daughter of mine and I suggest you forget where we live." Gianni says before he turns his back on her.

None of us move, we are waiting on Alpha Alexander's move and I really hope he isn't stupid enough to cross our borders. Through the mind-link I get informed that every Warrior and Elite Warrior is in place, that no one can set foot in our territory without detection. A few of Alpha Alexander's Warriors move closer to our border, when the most unexpected thing happens.

"STOP" Booms a voice through the air and the Wolves lower themselves to the ground in submission. No one else feels the urge to submit and that means that whoever said that word, can control their aura to perfection.

The only ones that I know off, that are capable of using their aura in that way are King Damon and Crown Prince Casimir. And I know that neither one of them is within our borders, so who commanded those Wolves to submit.

Everyone is trying to find out where the voice came from, but it seems as if that person isn't within our midst.

"You betrayed me." I hear someone growl and Avery has the guts to start laughing.

"Elias, you wanted something that isn't yours. You even made sure that the one that was meant for her, chose another to save his own life. Giselle will never be yours and I have no problem taking you down to keep her safe." Avery says. Alpha Alexander stops Elias from reacting and Titan feels a bit disappointed that he doesn't get to see any action.

The sound of stomping paws draws their attention away from us and a moment later about thirty Wolves and Lycans surround Alpha Alexander and his Pack-members.

"Alpha Alexander, I am Commander Amir and I was sent here to tell you to go home. If you ever attempt to attack Blue River Pack again, the King's Army will be knocking on your door." The butt naked male says. but l'am not going to point that out to him. A Gamma's Revenge

I can see the shock and disappointment in Jaylen's eyes when Dad tells his Commanders that Morgan will accompany us on our trip.

Jaylen has been accompanying us for the past ten years and no one knows that he is their future Royal Gamma. Every visit gives us insight to a Pack, but we also know that people act differently with me and Dad present and that is where the Commander and his team come in.

for Our first stop is Crescent Moon Pack, their Alpha and 1ama are down to earth and have great respect the Mate-bond. None of the females in their Pack try to get me into their bed and for once I actually enjoy a visit.

Our second stop is at Silver Heart Pack and I am once again reminded of the fact that not everyone believes the Goddess makes the right decision. The Beta answers most of Dad's questions and the Alpha just sits there looking smug.

Morgan walks out of the room that is appointed to Dad but the look on her face tells me that something is -up. The Luna keeps talking in her annoying voice and wonder how the Alpha can stand listening to her twenty four seven.

"Your Majesty, you and Prince Casimir will trade rooms with me and Faith. I can't explain why I feel this is necessary, but I need you to trust me." Morgan says through our mind-link and we both give her a small nod.

Faith and Danica stay with me and Dad, while Morgan steps away to have a private conversation with Roan. He glances in our direction from time to time and he gets a grime look on his face, but doesn't say a word.

Whatever it was that set of Morgan's Spidey senses I am grateful for it and Dad probably escaped a forced Mate-bond. I sigh in relief when the SUV starts moving and we finally leave Silver Heart territory. Dad hands Morgan the envelope we received from Blue River Pack, I keep a close eye on her and see her eye color shift between her own and that of Amra, her lycan. I never thought we would get answers this soon, but then again we didn't know that Morgan was Alpha Tate's Daughter.

Listening to Morgan talk about the time between her Sweet Sixteen and the day she left isn't easy, how can anyone ignore their own Daughter?

Dad explains why Amra was unable to reach her parents Lycan or her Brother's Lycan and I think that it is what they needed to hear. I let Morgan's story run through my mind and finally I understand that her family was too busy with preparations to see what it was causing.

"Morgan, they have been worried for a year and a half. Of course, they look like crap." I say to Morgan, when she points out that one of her Brothers looks like crap.

I watch as Morgan greets her family, getting hugged by one after the other and I know that none of them took a real close look at her. They are too busy apologizing for the pain they caused her, too busy with showing her how much they love her.

I listen to Luna Giselle as she tells me the description Morgan had for her Mate and Vlad is flashing a picture of Jaylen in my head. She described him to a Tas a young Pup and she had never met him. something is slowly starting to make sense.

Avery, the future Gamma, is showing me around Blue River Pack and we are followed by at least a dozen Pups. They ask me questions and I answer them as best as I can, this must be the best Pack visit I have ever had. No power hungry females trying to cling to me or Dad and it seems as if they understand when to leave me alone.

"Our training grounds, Your Highness." Avery says and see a group of about thirty Wolves and Lycans. "Those are our Elite Warriors, they train with the rest of the Pack during our normal schedule and they train separately after that."

I look at the males and females that are sparring. "She seems to be underaged." Vlad says as my eyes catch a young female sparring with an older male.

"That is Giselle, she is sparring with her Father. If you are lucky, you might witness her defeating him. Again." Avery says chuckling and for a moment I just look at him, but then I turn my attention back to the training grounds.

Giselle is fast and is able to avoid most of her Father's attacks, but when he does manage to connect it seems as if it is more of a graze past her body. I am glad I kept my eyes on them sparring, because if I had blinked I probably would have missed it. 1a5

Gianni lunges for Giselle, but she makes a head-roll towards him and both her feet connect with him as she passes beneath him. She jumps up to see him lying on the ground, his eyes closed and his breath ragged.

She doesn't step any closer to him, she just watches him and I realize that he had hoped she would make a mistake.

"Nicely done, Giselle." I say as I walk onto the training grounds, but she doesn't take her eyes of her Father.

"He tricked you before, didn't he?" I ask and I hear her hum affirmativel..

This must be one of the best Pack visits I have ever been on, I get to talk to many Pack-members without having to doubt their motives and every time someone asks me about my Mate it is out of sincere curiosity.

I hate that this visit is almost over and I hope I get to visit this Pack again. It feels more like home than home does, I can be myself around here and no one looks strange when I walk into the kitchen.

I don't pay much attention to what is being said in the Alpha office, I am too busy feeling sorry for myself.

An alarm sounding pulls me from my thoughts and Dad and I get guided to the saferoom with Luna Giselle.

Our Alpha received a letter from Shadow Rock Pack and Dad increased our training schedule, he isn't taking any changes.

Alpha Tate doesn't understand why Shadow Rock Pack ent the letter here, Morgan has been missing for eighteen months and no one has found a trace of her. None of us has an answer for him, but Grayson might be right. Morgan could be on her way home, running from Shadow Rock Pack.

I am hoping that if she does return home, it will be during the King's visit. His presence alone is enough to keep someone from attacking and if that someone is stupid to try anyway, it will end in death.

Fletcher is pacing up and down in front of the Pack-house, anyone can tell that the Alpha family is nervous. The King will demand answers and Alpha Tate will answer them, but it won't be easy for them.

My eyes are on the SUVs that are arriving, this will be the first time in my life that I will see members of the King's Army. A 55 tall female steps out of the SUV, her black hair resting on her shoulders and a somewhat worried look in her ocean blue eyes. Her un form tells me that she is a Commander and a small smile appears on her face as she looks at Luna Giselle. Okay. I hadn't seen that one coming. That Commander is Morgan, but it seems that no one recognizes her.

Alpha Tate is the first one that recognizes her and it takes some time for everyone to welcome her home. I wait until they are all inside the Pack-house, before I return to the border to run my patrol. It isn't as relaxing as it once was, but at least I am still allowed to run border patrol.

"He is very handsome, isn't he?" Lucy asks and I hear her Mate growl softly. Most of our Pack-members are looking at Prince Casimir, but not with the intent of getting into his bed.

Prince Casimir is talking to Ashton and it is clear to see that he doesn't like what he is hearing. I try to see what Lucy meant, he is 676 in height with black hair and emerald, green eyes. I guess that he is a handsome male, but I am not interested in finding another Mate. "I guess you are right, he is handsome." I finally answer Lucy and I turn my attention to Grayson. He still doesn't let me out of his sight and I think he has to report to Ashton after every border patrol.

Despite the presence of the King and Crown Prince, we manage to keep to our daily routine and I can hear murmurs around me as I am sparring with Dad. I don't pay them much attention and I have to smile when Prince Casimir complements me. "How is your visit so far, Your Highness?" I ask, while I grab a bottle of water.

"Much better than usual. Normally I have to worry about avoiding Pack-members, because they might have an ulterior motive. Here, I get to be myself and I am enjoying the visit so far." He answers as we walk back to the Pack-house. THE

It is great to watch our King and Crown Prince interact with our Pack-members and we get to see a side that is usually hidden from the world:

It is sunday and today our Alpha family has to say goodbye to their Daughter, but this time they know. where she is going. Lucy and I are in the main living room, while the King and Crown Prince are in the Alinha office No doubt metting informed shout the latter from Shadow Park Dark Suddenly our border alarm starts blaring and I jump up to run to the Alpha office, I need to get Luna Giselle to the saferoom.

King Damon and Prince Casimir are right behind her and I call out to Lucy to lead them to the saferoom, I follow right behind King Damon. Lucy leads them down the hall to the back of the Pack-house, an Omega is already there to guide the other Omegas inside and after everyone has gone inside, Lucy closes the door.

Alpha Tate, the saferoom is secure." I tell him, before I close the link. He doesn't need me to distract him any longer, his attention needs to be on whoever is near out borders.

Dad keeps us informed on what is happening at the gate and Grayson keeps us informed on the situation at the northern border.

I wish I could be with either one of them, but Dad made it clear that during an attack on the Pack, I am to stay out of sight.

Let's just hope that Alpha Alexander doesn't return, that Elias will give up on me and starts looking for his fated Mate. I was never interested in anyone but my fared Mate and now I have to wait for a new Mate, but only the Goddess knows how long that might take. "Giselle, escort King Damon and Prince Casimir to the dungeons."I hear Alpha Tate say in my head and turn around to open the door to the saferoom.

"Lucy, stay with Luna Giselle. I am to escort the King and Crown Prince to the dungeons, I think Alpha Tate wants to show them where our attackers will stay for a while. I say with a smirk on my face.

Our dungeons are a work of art, if you ask me. I spend quite a few hours down there to get familiar with the basics of the design and I have to admit that it is an ingenious design.

Alpha Tate is already waiting for us and after they have gone inside, I head back to the Pack-house. On my way back I see Morgan approach with Casimir's Beta and the male I assume is responsible for the attack.

That stupid smirk on his face will disappear soon enough.

This trip went south pretty quickly.

First I get informed that Alpha Alexander of Onyx Star Pack paid them a visit, claiming that Giselle is his Son's Mate and now this fucking Idiot.

1 growl the moment Morgan tells me through the mind-link that Captain Kaia is with Nigel and his Father, she must be the one that betrayed Morgan and I hope get to question her.

Roan keeps me updated on the situation at the northern border and a part of me hates that I won't be able to question Kaia or Nigel, but it also means that there are less Wolves left alive that know the truth about Morgan. Luna Giselle is talking with a few of the Omegas and if didn't know what was going on outside these walls, I would be tempted to say that this was a normal way of spending time,

"Prince Casimir, are you okay?" I hear someone ask and I realize that I am smiling.

"Sorry, I was just thinking that this looked like a normal situation, None of you are in a panic, it looks as if you are all just waiting to start your next task." I answer

"What will panicking accomplish, Prince Casimir?" I hear Luna Giselle ask and for a moment I have to think about her question.

"Probably nothing." I finally answer, because it is the only answer I can come up with.

"Exactly, so instead of wasting time on something that has no purpose, we catch up or discuss other matters we need to deal with." Luna Giselle answers.

I never thought of it that way, it is so natural for someone to panic in a situation like this.

Dad and I join their conversation and I get startled the moment the door opens. Giselle tells Lucy to take care of Luna Giselle, while she will show us the way to the dungeons.

Vlad likes the way she takes control of a situation and he is more than happy to follow her, not that I object. to her company.

Alpha Tate leads us down the stairs, while Asthon and etcher guide Alpha Cooper down the stairs and I am amazed at the design of this prison.

I listen as Roan screams on the top of his lungs and I hear the sound return again and again. I imagine it to be a blood curdling sound and I quickly understand that it is enough to scare the shit out of most Wolves and-Lycans.

It takes two days, before we are finally willing to accept that, for the moment, Alpha Cooper will not say a word.

Now all we need to do is inform the other Commanders of Morgan's bloodline and hope that she will find. her fated Mate soon.

Every Commander listens to Morgan as she explains her bloodline and I chuckle when I see the

However, I don't want to take a chance either and it took me some convincing to get her to agree with my conditions." Dad says, before he explains how he plans on keeping her safe. After making sure that everything got discussed, Dad and I head back to the Palace. I can't wait to sleep in my own bed again, to have all of my personal stuff around me again.

Not that it is stopping him from following me into my room and we both crash in an armchair, just needing some time to ourselves.

We don't have to say anything, while in each other's company. Roan and I have known one another our whole lives and the same goes for Jaylen, the three of us will have to rule this Kingdom one day. Each of us being an only child, well that isn't completely true as I am technically not an only child. My baby Sister, Jaya, died when she was six and Dad and I never had the chance to get to know her. Something good did come out if it though, we were able to meet Jaya's baby Brother and Dad took him in because there was no other family left.

"Casimir, you are back." I hear, before Forrest jumps into my lap. I wrap my arm around him and for a while the three of us just sit there in silence.

For a few days I get to have some peace and quiet, but then White Rock Pack has to ruin my mood.

I know I can't go with one of our units, but damn, right now I wish I could. I want to take down the Asshole that attacked a member of our Army and I know I wouldn't be to kind.

Jaylen keeps me informed about the situation and like him, I hope they can still have the weekend off.

"Dad says that we are going to the Academy for the Full Moon party. He is going to cancel the party here at the Palace." Forrest says and Roan and I both smile at that idea.

No obnoxious females that act as if they are better than the rest, no females that will try to corner us for some attention or Alphas that try to hook us up with their Daughters.

I think this might actually be a Full Moon I might enjoy even if I don't find my fated Mate. Most of the Wolves and Lycans at the Academy treat us with respect and leave us alone during our stay there.

"Well, first you will have to survive a weekend with Commander Morgan." I say teasingly.

Forrest has wanted to meet her, ever since Dad told him that we have a female Commander in our Army.

He might not have shown his face, but we have encountered more than enough Wolves that were spying for him. As long as they stay out of our territory I will be fine, but Avery said that he fears that Elias might do something drastic one of these days.

We are in the main living room with about a dozen Pups, there has been an increase in Wolves that pass our borders and I don't just mean to get from one place to the next.

No, they are walking back and forth a few times along the same stretch of border and then they just disappear. Sometimes one of them shows up again in the company of a new face and the ritual repeats itself.

It is annoying the hell out of me and I am on the brink of snapping. I know that everyone means well, but I can take care of myself and some seem to forget that from time to time. "Giselle, get inside." I hear Alpha Tate order through the mind-link and I let out a soft growl.

Already in the Pack-house, been here all morning." I growl through the mind-link and I don't care f he thinks I am disrespecting him. He saw me five minutes ago and he knows that I am not going anywhere.

The reason I am in the main living room is because of the young Pup in front of me, they have an assignment for school and I was selected as one of the Pack-members one of them has to interview, I tried my best to get out of it, but it didn't matter what said I was to cooperate.

"Is something wrong?" The teacher asks and I know she is getting the raw end of the deal.

"Yeah, there is something wrong. I don't want to be here, I have made this very clear and yet here I am. I doubt you want me to answer any of his questions, I will traumatize the Pup for life." I softly growl. Everyone in the room has heard me and I can see disapproving looks on their faces, not that I give a damn.

"I am sure you can't traumatize him for life, after all you know nothing about the Mate-bond." The teacher retofts and I lose my shit.

"MY FATED MATE CHOSE MY SISTER OVER ME, BECAUSE HE DIDN'T WANT TO UPSET HIS FUTURE ALPHA. EVERYONE AT ONYX STAR PACK HEARD HIM CALLIMG ME HIS MATE AND THEN HE JUST TURNED AROUND TO CLAIM MY SISTER AS HIS MATE. WANT TO TELL ME AGAIN THAT I KNOW NOTHING ABOUT THE MATE-BOND?" I roar in her face.

"THE INGREASED BORDER PATROLS FOR THE PAST YEAR ARE BECAUSE OF ME, BECAUSE SOME ASSHOLE THINKS HE CAN CLAIM ME AS HIS MATE, WHILE EVERYONE KNOWS THAT I AM NOT HIS FATED MATE.

Landon and Hudson follow me out of the tree line and I am surprised to see that they were the ones trailing me.

I would prefer to take a shower, but Alpha Tate did say he wanted to see me when I was done. He can talk to me the way I am at the moment, maybe next time he will chose his words a little bit better.

I get a few strange looks the moment I walk into the Pack-house, but I contribute it to my outburst and I walk down the hall to Alpha Tate's office. The door is ajar and after knocking on the door once, I walk into the office. "Giselle, what happened to you?" Mom asks as she looks me up and down.

Oops, maybe I should have taken the time to get a shower and some clean clothes. I look down my body to find a lot of scratches, small cuts and blood on my arms and legs, not smart to run through the forest at high speed in shorts and a tank top. "Nothing, Mom. I ran through the forest and unfortunately none of the trees and bushes stepped aside." I answer her.

I move my hands up to my hair and the first thing I feel is a leaf, while my other hand feels a small twig stuck in my hair. I hear a chuckle behind me, just before another leaf shows itself in front of me and that is followed by another leaf.

Grayson keeps pulling leaves and twigs from my hair and all I can do is hold up my hand.

In the meantime I listen to Alpha Tate, turns out that none of them had taken my situation into consideration and he regretted I felt as if I was trapped.

"I don't feel trapped, I feel as if you all think that I am an Idiot. I know what is going on near the borders. and even though I was pissed off, I still stayed clear of the borders. I can take care of myself and the next one that starts breathing down my neck, gets his ass kicked." I say.

Chapter 294 Move Forward

p.o.V.

The weekend passes qui ly and on sunday we drive to the Academy to see if Jaylen has finally let go of the past.

Roan and I are keeping our eyes on Jaylen and Morgan while Dad is holding his speech. I only hear bits and pieces of it, not really interested in listening to yet another speech about finding your fated Mate.

Morgan is staring into Jaylen's eyes and I get to witness he moment they both feel the Mate-bond. Roan my best and 1 chuckle as Jaylen basically runs out of the ballroom with Morgan in his arms, I am happy for friend.

I'd rather forget about the cluster fuck day we just had, but I know we will have to deal with everyone involved eventually.

Vlad and I make sure that we leave our private wing as little as possible, I am so done with every female that wants to become Queen. I doubt most of them will understand what the title entails or the work that comes with it, they all think it is a party every fucking day of the year.

Roan keeps me informed on their progress with White Rock Pack, Gillean went through all the files and Jaylen is thinking up a strategy with Morgan. Right now I hate being the Crown Prince.

"Son, we have work to do. Almost every male from White Rock Pack is dead and we need to place the remaining Pack-members in other Packs, Preferably a Pack with relatives and some good counselors." Dad says as he walks into our living room...

Roan and Tom have taken about forty percent of the files, the remaining sixty percent is for me, Dad and Kieran. The first step was to find out who had family left and if they were willing to move to that Pack, than a call would be made to the Alpha. That first step was the easiest step, but also a small part of the files we had to go through.

By the time a week has passed Dad has made arrangements for Gillean's Mother and he will soon leave to bring her to the Palace.

Kieran has cleared a room for her, right next to her parents and the nurse has the room on the other side of hers. Gillean can visit her as often as he wants and I Will try to keep her company at least a few hour a day, maybe work will I am sitting there. "Aunt Marina, what can I do for you?" Dad asks, after he has answered his phone and I caves drop on the conversation. Vlad is howling in my head, when we hear that Luana is awake and I will make sure she has everything she might possible need. Yara is slowly getting used to being treated normal, but can sometimes see her flinch when a male comes to close and I have already growled at a few of our Warriors.

I also notice that if she can she will sit down between two females, making sure a male can't get to close to her and I have even made sure to tell a female to move. I want Yara to finally be at peace, she deserves it after the hell she had to live through. I walk into the living room to find Yara sitting in an armchair, staring into the distance and I sit down in a Seat at a safe distance. "How are you doing, Yara?" I ask her.

"I know you make sure males stay away from me, you even make sure that sometimes someone moves a seat to make sure I can sit in between two females. I really appreciate it." She answers.

"Yara, you saved Gillean's life. We owe you a huge thank you for saving a Royal." I say. "Gillean didn't like leaving you at White Rock Pack, he considers you family and that means we consider you family too." her

We talk about the upcoming Full Moon and I understand her when she says that she hopes it will take her a while to find her Mate.

Yara stays with us during dinner and she even manages to get Thora and Dalton to go to bed without much fuss. Both of them want to meet Luana, but we agree that we need to give her some time.

The next morning it is difficult to get Thora and Dalton to eat their breakfast, they want to head to the Gamma floor and see for themselves that Luana is awake.

"Uncle Gillean, is she awake?" I hear Thora ask, as she peeks around the corner. "I am so glad you woke up, Uncle Gillean missed you so much." She whispers and watch her crawl onto Luana's lap.

"Dalton and Thora are the Pups of our future Royal Gamma, Grandpa and Grandma look after them during the day. Both have been curious about you." Gillean says.

I head back to my office, once everyone leaves the Gamma floor. I still have a few files to go through and I hope I get to close these today, because it also means that we get to close the book on White Rock Pack

None of us is allowed to leave our private wing, Dad wants to keep Yara and Luana away from the drama for a little while longer. Yara has already seen a few of the females that would love to become Queen and I fear tomorrow might turn into a shitshow. The phone in my office starts ringing and I keep my fingers crossed when I see the caller-ID..

"Prince Casimir, we are willing to take in the three females. Our Doctor is confident she can give them what they need and my Mate is already instructing our Pack-members on the big do's and don'ts." Alpha Ralph says.

After thanking him for his cooperation and the reassurance they will get picked up today, I close the files in front of me. This book is closed and now we can move forward.

I am the first one in our living room and I sit down in the most strategic chair there is, I can see anyone. coming and going withou getting caught off guard.

Dad guides Yara into the room and she looks in her black laced dress. Dad walks to the window and for a moment he just stares straight ahead, that is until Tom walks in with Kieran and Luana.

The last one to enter the room is Gillean and I chuckles he is struggling with his bowtie, but thank the Goddess his Mother is here. Luana is wearing an indigo laced dress with a floral pattern and as Gillean points out, she looks stunning. Yara and Luana both blush, when Gillean tells them that he hopes they will find their Mate tonight.

With all of us sticking together, I actually enjoy myself for once and I take a step back when the clock approaches midnight. My eyes are glued to my future Beta, I really hope that he will find his fated Mate tonight.

I am one of the few people that know his search for a Mate has been more difficult. Not only because we are not always surrounded by new people during a Full Moon, he also has no interest in females.

Okay, I hadn't seen that one coming. Dad has finally found his second chance Mate and so did Kieran. Both of them smile at Yara and Luana, allowing them to set the pace and I almost miss the most important thing of the evening. "Do you think you can escape your Mate, Gillean?" I hear Roan ask and Vlad is howling in my head again. "You are mine." Roan growls, just before he kisses Gillean.

The moment I see the twinkle in Roan's eyes, I know that Gillean is in trouble and he seems to have figured it out as well. Gillean runs out of the Palace and leaves Roan behind in a state of shock.

I watch him run out of the main living room or at least he tries to, but with a party going on it is a bit more difficult. Aunt Marina and Uncle Cesar leave with Thora and Dalton, but I decide to stay just a little longer. "Congratulations, Prince Casimir. Well, for your Father that is, on finding his second chance Mate. I hear a female say and my first instinct is to run, but I relax a little the moment I see a mark on her neck. "Thank you, I will convey your congratulations." I say and as I look at her Vlad starts pacing.

"I will do that myself in the morning. My Mate and I have an appointment with the King in the morning. My name is Gloria by the way." She says and a male approaches her from behind. "Prince Casimir, Tam Ivan and Gloria's Mate." He says as his arm slides around her waist.

"It is nice to meet the both of you, but I have to warn you. Your appointment might get pushed back to the afternoon or maybe the day after tontorrow." I say as I see Tom listening in on our conversation.

"That is fine. The King's first priority should be with his Mate, Prince Casimir, Gloria says and I can't remember ever having a nice conversation during a Full Moon party at the Palace.

I took it slow with Yara, exploring every inch of her body and in the end I had her begging me to take her. I would never refuse her and I didn't, repeating the process over and over again each time we woke up

"Damn, I had an appointment this morning I mumble when I see the time on my alarm clock.

"Tom. I had an appointment..."

"I know. I moved it to tomorrow morning at Casimir's request He will explain it to us later." Tom interrupts me and now I am definitely wide awake.

If my son felt he had to move one of my appointments, there might be a big issue with it and I want to know what it is.

I watch Yara as she walks into the bathroom and I decide that we have a little more time before we need to face the world again. Best shower I have had in a very long time.

We have some lunch before we go in search of the others and we find them on the Beta floor. Our family is getting bigger with each Full Moon and I hope that Casimir will find his fated Mate real soon. We have a few hours of fun, before I remember that I wanted to talk to Casimir.

"Want to tell me here why you moved my appointment?" I ask and the entire room quiet.

"Your appointment is with the future Beta and his Mate, they're from Onyx Star Pack." Casimir replies, but for the life of me I can't remember why this should mean something to me.

"Do you remember Giselle and I don't mean the Luna." He says and I chuckle as I remember Morgan's face when she had gotten an introduction, so I nod my head.

"What do you know about their move to Blue River Pack?" Casimir asks and I can't remember if I heard anything about it.

Morgan's growling and the fury in Casimir's eyes tell me that it isn't good. Jaylen has trouble calming Morgan down and I hope that Vlad doesn't decide to put his two cents in.

Casimir quickly recounts what Asthon had told him and now I am the one that is growling, Armadyl is pacing in the back of my head and growls every now anil then.

"Damon, I would like to place some cameras in your office. I will remove them after the meeting, but I want a recording of what is being said and it will make your office less crowded." Gillean says and Lactually like the idea.

Casimir follows me and Tom to my office and I look surprised at the female that is related to Giselle. They are total opposites, Giselle might be seventeen but she knows how to dress to impress. Gloria on the other hand is dressed a bit inappropriate for a meeting with the King. I open the door to my office and after I have walked in Tom gestures to Ivan and Gloria to follow me, Casimir walks to the other side of my desk to take a seat

"Your Majesty, I am Ivan the future Beta of Onyx Star Pack and this is my Mate, Gloria." Ivan introduces them and it is clear to see he had a good upbringing, Gloria is a different story.

"Your Majesty, congratulations on finding your second chance Mate. I hope she can live up to the expectations." Gloria says, before she takes a seat and just stare at her.

"I mean that not every female is good enough to have a Beta, Alpha or Royal for a Mate." She continues and I think I have never heard someone this insulting in my life.

"Aren't you forgetting a Gamma in your list?" Casimir asks and for a moment I fear she will start laughing.

"They are just muscles for a Pack." She replies with a disgusted look in her eyes.

Thear Kieran and Jaylen growl in my head and Tom has a smirk on his face. This girl can't be serious, Pack is defenseless without a good Gamma. They are as fundamental for a Pack as every other Pack- member.

"We are here on behalf of our Alpha, he would like you to mediate on his behalf with Alpha Tate of Blue River Pack. The Mate of his Son Elias is being held against her will, her parents have brainwashed her and made her believe that our former future Gamma is her Mate." Gloria states.

I don't get to say a word, because the door suddenly opens and a very pissed off Amra walks in followed by Jaylen. She stalks towards Gloria, who at least has the common sense to be scared shitless.

"My Mate doesn't appreciate the way you talk about her Pack, she also knows that you are lying." Jaylen says, leaning with his back against the closed door.

"We know how you treated your fated Mate, Ivan. We know that you wanted Ivan as your Mate, but that you didn't sense him as your fated Mate when you turned eighteen, Gloria. Do I need to go on?" I ask as I rise out of my chair.

"We will not mediate for your Alpha and if Alpha Alexander knows what's good for him, he stays away from Giselle." I growl in their direction. "Get the fuck out and don't ever come back p.o.v.

I keep staring at the screen, not sure how to react to the message and the footage I just received.

I read through the message again and I watch the footage a few more times, I want to see if I missed anything during the other times I watched it.

Right now, I wish I had my Wolf or Lycan. I really need someone to talk to, but not my family or my best friend and I know exactly who I need to talk to.

I power down my laptop and after closing it I place it in my bag. I put on a jacket before I walk down the stairs and out of the house.

Walking into the Pack-house I know exactly where to go, I am a girl on a mission and only a fool would try To stop me.

I knock on the open door of Ashton's office and I wait for him to gesture me to come in. I close the door behind me and every head in the office turns my way, looks like they are not used to someone closing the door behind them.

"I want you to look at something and tell me what you see." I say as I pull my laptop out of my bag.

Hudson takes it from my hand and hooks it up to a large screen, before I open the footage I received only a few hours ago.

We watch as Gloria walks into view and I hear Avery growl at the sight of her. It's that I know my Sister or D would tell you that I am watching a well-mannered female, but I can't without lying.

The footage jumps from the party to the King's office and listening to her as she disrespects our Queen has me seeing red.

"Are you sure the two of you are related?" I hear Ashton ask and that actually simmers down my anger.

When they hear what Alpha Alexander accuses their Father of, I have six very pissed off Lycans in the office and I quickly open the door to let them out.

"Why did my Sons felt it necessary to shift in their office?" Luna Giselle asks.

"According to my Sister, my parents brainwashed me and you and Alpha Tate are holding me against my will." I say to her with a wink.

"Care to tell me what your parents made you believe?" Luna Giselle asks and I can see a twinkle in her eyes.

Avery is growling behind me and Grayson is chuckling That Avery is my fated Mate." I answer her question. Everyone knows that I am not his fated Mate and it has nothing to do with me being underaged. He found his fated Mate during our first Full Moon here, but we have chosen to keep it quiet and that has everything to do with Alpha Alexander and Elias.

Avery suspected that they would try to pull a stunt like this and we wanted to make sure that if they did, they would use the wrong person.

Chapter 297 Best Brother

The one thing I fear at the moment, is letting Mom and Dad know what Gloria and Ivan did. They are the King already refusing to take her calls, because she stole my Mate and now they have tried to get involved.

I also know that they have a right to know and that is the only reason why I am going to show the footage. to my parents.

I just wish I could figure out what I ever did to Gloria, for her to hate me this much or maybe it is jealousy. Being the youngest I always had to do everything last, Cloria had already done it and Grayson after her. T

I think she hated the fact that I bested them both, she was always whining and complaining if I came home with a better grade than either one of them or if had broken a record Grayson had set during training.

I never thought much of it, but the past year and a half have tried so hard to figure out where things went. wrong with me and Gloria, that I have gone over everything.

There wasn't anything I could come up with and I can't remember if we ever had an argument about anything major. I just know that things started to change when I was about twelve years old, but there is nothing from back then that would explain her behavior. Grayson and Avery believe she is jealous of my beauty and I nearly choked on my coffee when they had voiced their thoughts.

I know I turn heads, I am 5'9 with blond hair and according to some people, I have legs that go on forever. My amber eyes are usually the first thing anyone notices, but I also know I have a great body.

Gloria is 5"6 with blond hair, but she has blue eyes. She has a slender figure and is always showing it off in her short, tight dresses.

Grayson says that I am every male's wet dream, but growing up I always thought that was reserved for Gloria. Especially after my fated Mate chose her over me, but Grayson made sure that I knew a lot of males in Onyx Star Pack preferred me over Gloria. mental

"You have class and you don't even realize it." Grayson had said, during one of my many breakdowns. It had been in the first few weeks we moved to Blue River Pack and I kept asking him what was wrong with me, because my Mate had turned his back on me. I had spent most of my days and nights crying and not once did Grayson tell me to get over it. He would just hold me and listen to me as I was cussing and swearing in between sobs.

Grayson was my rock through all of that and I will be forever grateful for the best Brother a girl could ask for.

Chapter 298 My Decision

Gloria's p.o.V.

I was raised to honor the Mate-bond, to wait for my fated Mate.

I was more of a girly girl than my baby Sister and I always thought it would eventually bite her in the ass, that no male would be interested in a female that could potentially kick their ass.

How wrong was I in that assumption?

Giselle would always watch as Mom and Dad trained with Grayson and when she was six, she had walked into the house with a bruise on her face. She had been parring with Grayson and he had forgotten for a second that she had never trained before. I had asked Mom for some concealer and even though I was only ten years old, I had read a lot about the applying make-up. Giselle had hugged me tightly, when she saw that I had been able to cover up bruise and I had felt proud of myself for making my baby Sister feel better.

In the following years, Giselle would come to my room from time to time and ask me for help with covering up the bruises in visible places.

She would even let me dress her up for special occasions and I really enjoyed those moments with her. Our bond was never as close as the bond she had with Crayson, but Giselle never made me feel less than her.

It all changed after Giselle turned twelve and every male in our Pack started to notice her. Not just on the training grounds with Mom and Dad, but also during dinners and parties.

She suddenly got the attention I would usually get and when our Alpha told Elias to spend more time with Giselle, I got upset with my baby Sister.

It turned to hate on the day I overheard a conversation between Alpha Alexander and Elias, according to Alpha Alexander there was something special about Giselle and Elias had to make sure that Giselle fell in love with him.

I had listened to their conversation in horror, Elias was to make sure that Giselle would promise to become his chosen Mate, no matter what.

I hated Giselle for taking what I believed was rightfully mine, after all I was older and yet our future Alpha wanted her as his Luna.

I never thought Elias would settle for anything less than his fated Mate, but had been dead wrong. He started to pursue Giselle, but she was oblivious to what was going on and I thought for a long time that no one had noticed. Watching our Pack-members for so many years, I finally found something I doubt anyone had ever. noticed and I took advantage of it.

I didn't find my fated Mate on my eighteenth birthday and in hindsight I am grateful I never found him that day, because when I did find him I didn't hesitate to reject him. He was one of our Warriors and I knew I deserved so much better, When Elias turned eighteen, his attention was solely on Giselle and I saw the anger in his eyes when he vanlised that cha umen's his fagadi Mara Picallo hadn't marinad is and ng far me I could tall hael than na na

I kept an eye on every male that was close to the age of eighteen and it didn't take long to figure out who Giselle's fated Mate would be. I wormed my way into his bed and I made sure that everyone knew that we were in an intimate relationship. Then everything went to hell, my family had left the territory and Avery and Braxton vanished around the same time.

I don't think I have seen Alpha Alexander or Elias that pissed off in my life and after using an Alpha command on me, Alpha Alexander was satisfied that I knew nothing of their departure.

Elias has locked himself on the Alpha floor and only comes down to the main dining room, when Alpha Alexander orders him or if they need to leave the territory.

"How are we going to explain this to Alpha Alexander?" van asks and I know exactly what he is talking about.

King Damon knew who my baby Sister was and somehow he knew what had happened back then, but I doubt they ever met. I just shrug my shoulders, I will deal with it when we get home.

"Don't forget to pack Piglet, Sweety. I doubt anyone is willing to travel back here from Blue River Pack." 1 hear an older female say to a youngster and I have a feeling I already know how King Damon knew.

As we walk out of the Palace, we come across Elite Warriors that are talking about their trip to Blue River Pack and I find out that Giselle has actually met the King before.

"Okay, we can at least explain to Alpha Alexander how King Damon found out. The only problem we have Now is, how do we keep Elias from losing his shit." I whisper to Ivan the moment the car door closes behind us.

Neither one of us says a word as we head back to Onyx Star Pack, Ivan is probably trying to figure out how to explain this to Alpha Alexander.

I will never admit this to anyone, but I am glad that we can't get near Giselle. I would hate to see her in a position I wanted for myself, I would hate the fact that she would outrank me and that she would be able to command me. Giselle will never find a Mate and no High-ranking Wolf or Lycan would want a female that is stronger than him.

I know-Ivan will never love me the way a fated Mate would, but I don't really care. I have a Mate with a High-ranking position and that is all I ever wanted in life.

You have to make your own destiny and no Goddess is going to make my decisions for me.

It doesn't matter though, she needed to know what had happened and we didn't want her to be caught off guard. At least now they know that Alpha Alexander is aware of her whereabouts and that he might be coming for her again.

Forrest and I help one another pack for our stay at Blue River Pack and in the meantime we talk about his progress in school. He is in the same class as Thora and they do a lot of their homework together.

Dad and Yara are waiting for us in the living room and forrest sits down next to her, cuddling into her side. Neither one of us has a problem with Dad's second chance Mate and I truly believe Dad was relieved to find out that we accepted her without any hesitation "Ready to leave, Forrest?" Yara asks, an arm wrapped around his shoulder. He grabs her hand to pull her off the couch and out the door. Yeah, I think he is ready to leave.

Unlike last time, we all leave for Blue River Pack today and the unit Jaylen and Morgan share will be with ts. The only ones staying behind, are Dad's Deltas. They all agreed it would be best if at least some members of our leadership stayed at home.

I listen to the conversation in the SUV, but I don't participate in it. I have my eyes closed and slowly the sounds around me lull me to sleep.

"Casimir, we are almost there." I hear Roan say, as he shakes my shoulder and I slowly open my eyes.

"What is wrong?" I ask, after I see Morgan and Jaylen concentrating on the forest on either side of the road.

"Our unit members that run parallel to us in the forest have encountered Wolves and they aren't Rogues." Morgan answers without looking at me and I sit up straight to look at the forest on my side of the SUV.

Vlad doesn't like what this is implying and I wish I knew or understood what is going on here. It is very odd for Wolves or Lycans from another Pack to run through a forest that is close to another Pack's territory, unless they plan to attack that Pack. "Do they know that this is the King's convoy?" I ask no one in particular.

"Yeah, Deacon shifted back to Human form to warn them. Not that it has been helpful, but according to Deacon there are only six Wolves out there and they are actually moving closer to our unit members. Almost as if they seek protection from someone." Jaylen answers. Het that information settle into my mind, as I keep an eye on the forest and I hope we will get some answers soon.

The moment the gate to Blue River territory comes into view, Wolves and Lycans emerge from the forest and start running alongside the convoy of SUVs. The moment we are within the territory, our SUV pulls over on the right side of the gate and we all get out to see six Wolves slowly approaching the gate.

Four of them keep their eyes on the forest and the other two keep their eyes on the guards. Something has them on high alert and I, for one, would like to find out why.

The Warriors at the gate step aside and the six Wolves slowly make their way into the territory. The light brown Wolf slowly makes his way over to Lucy and her Mate, it is clear to see that he wants to show us that they mean us no harm.

Lucas' Wolf purrs as he rubs his head against Lucy's belly, "Yes, you are going to be an Uncle. Will you please give control back to Lucas? I would like to know what is going on." Lucy says, as she scratches the Wolf behind his ear. Gillean is holding out a pair of shorts for Lucas, the others have already shifted back to their Human and each of them has put on the shorts that were handed to them.

"Is Giselle safe?" Is the first thing Lucas asks and it is clear to see that all six males are desperate for an answer.

"She is in the Pack-house with Grayson. Avery answers and the relief is clear to see on their faces.

We all head to the Pack-house and Vlad is pacing in my head, he doesn't like the question Lucas asked. We both wonder what Lucas might know or why they decided to come to Blue River Pack.

Dad is waiting for us on the front porch with Alpha Tate, but I don't see Giselle anywhere. Our unit disperses around the Pack-house and I know that they will patrol the borders to keep an eye out for trouble. Because trouble is coming our way, there is no doubt in my mind about that.

Giselle's p.o.v.

I am about to leave the Pack-house, when Ashton and Avery walk up to me.

"Sorry, Giselle. We need you to stay inside. Morgan's unit has encountered unfamiliar Wolves and we are not taking any changes." Avery says and for a moment want to object.

"Come on, Sis. Let them make sure that those Wolves don't pose a threat, than we will go for a run. Valentine needs to stretch his legs." Grayson says as he leads me into the living room.

I feel a lot better at the prospect of being on Valentine's back for a while, my Brother knows just how to make me feel better.

I know I can't fight off a Wolf or Lycan, no matter how well trained I am. Unless they stay in Human form, than I can kick their ass easily. Mom and Dad are convinced that I will be a Lycan, because of the strength I already possess and I know that Valentine would like to have a Lycan sibling.

I hear the front door open and my jaw drops when I see Lucas walking in behind Avery, but if he is here than something is really wrong.

I see five more familiar faces and an unsettling feeling settles in my stomach, now I definitely know that something is wrong. It takes a few minutes before everyone is in the living room and I wait until someone is going to ask Lucas to explain himself.

"Start talking. Lucas." I say, when I have waited long enough.

"We were sent after you, when Alpha Alexander realized that you were gone. He told us not to come back/ until we had you or knew where you were and you know that we notified him of your whereabouts. We stayed behind to keep an eye on you for Alpha Alexander, he wanted to know if you would move Packs again.

I was on the phone with Elias, when Ivan returned from the Palace and he forgot to disconnect the call. Alpha Alexander ordered all our Elite Warriors and Warriors to prepare for battle, he is coming to take you home, one way or the other." Lucas says.

All eyes are on me and I am cursing myself for letting my secret out. I thought I had more control over it, than I apparently have and I am not sure if I should try to explain myself.

"Thank the Goddess, I am not the only one with abilities. Even though I wish I had yours, Giselle." Morgan says and despite the situation I giggle.

Dad hugs me from behind, he knows I have always hated my ability and we all feared that someone would try to use me for their own gain.

Now a lot more people know about my ability and I am scared that one of them might reveal it. Maybe not on purpose, but it is a possibility and this might mean that I have to stay in hiding.

"No one will speak a word of Giselle's ability to anyone King Damon commands and I nearly burst into tears at his thoughtfulness. No one can break his command and that means that my secret is safe for the time being.

I

I stare out the window as I sit in an armchair, I want to go on a run with Valentine but I doubt it will here and that means lockdown for me.

"Are you okay, Giselle?" Prince Casimir asks, sitting down in the armchair across from me.

Finished

"I'm fine. I just wish I could hold Grayson to the promise he made me, I was looking forward to a run with Valentine." I answer, still staring out of the window.

I don't notice that the room has gone quiet, I am too deep in my own mind. I wonder what kind of a life I will have, if I have to stay hidden because of my ability

A hand on my shoulder pulls me from my thoughts and I look up to see Dad standing next to me, "Let's go outside. I, for one, would like to see Vlad." He says and I wonder who he is talking about.

I stare at the huge Lycan standing next to Valentine, hes so much bigger than Valentine and that is when it hits me. I am looking at Prince Casimir's Lycan and I slowly walk towards him, his fur is even darker than the night.

My hand stretches out to touch his fur and I step under his head to feel the fur against my cheek, it feels so amazing to be this close to such a huge Lycan.

Remembering Dad's words I know his name is Vlad and I giggle when he lowers himself to the ground, allowing me to climb on his back. I grab his fur tightly in my hands and Vlad slowly rises up from the ground.

I lower myself on his back and whisper in his ear, "Thank you, Vlad. Thank you, Prince Casimir." The moment he starts walking, I see more Lycans and Wolves surround us and I know I will be safe.

The wind blows through my hair and when Vlad starts running, I lay down on his back. I hold on tight and just enjoy the freedom I feel, making me wish my birthday would hurry up.

Just two more months, before I turn eighteen and I will shift for the first time.

I have no idea how long we are running along the borders, but I feel a lot better by the time the Pack- house comes back into view and I feel a bit disappointed that it is over.

"Thank you, Vlad. I needed this, I just needed to forget for a while." I whisper, as I hug the Lycan in front

I watch as he slowly disappears behind some trees and few moments later Prince Casimir walks towards me..

"Vlad and I enjoyed that a lot. Thank you for trusting us." Prince Casimir says, just before he pulls me in for a hug and I can't stop the tears from falling. I am just so glad I could forget about Alpha Alexander and everything surrounding that Moron. He holds me in his arms until I feel I can face the world again and after whipping the tears away, I smile. up at him.

"Thank you, Prince Casimir." I say, before I walk home with Grayson by my side.
