A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 401[1,031 words]

Chapter 401

Maleah's p.o.V.

"Nice try, Mister. Screw up and I will make you regret it." I teasingly growl at him.

"Dominic, you have to initiate her into the Pack. I want her to be able to link us if that is necessary and right now she has no access to the Pack mind-link." Mack says but he doesn't take his eyes of me and when Dominic tells him I have to get out of his lap Commander releases a roar, not a loud one but enough to make everyone understand that he isn't pleased with his remark.

Mack allows me to stand up but that is about it, his hands are on my hips as he guides me towards Dominic and I realize all three Alphas need to be part of the initiation. The small ceremony doesn't faze me but I am glad when it is done with, Dad is the first one to link me and I look over my shoulder to smile at him.

"This is a lot easier. No more walking up the stairs to get you." Dad says teasingly, but I see his smile fall when something sinks in.

I will not be living with him for much longer, I will move into the Pack-house to live with Mack and then it will just be my Dad in our house. Suddenly Dad gets a smile on his face and I wonder what he is thinking about, but Dominic asks me to explain why I chose to become the Angel of Death.

"Dominic, I do not agree with the name the public has given me. I kill in the name of justice, they should call me the Angel of Justice if they are so hell bent on giving me a name." I state.

"Every assignment I accept has a target who has been brought to the attention of the Council of Elders, but somehow the charges never stick and I am their last hope to get justice. Dax told me that two Elders paid you a visit last night, but I happen to know that each of you has a rock solid alibi.

I wouldn't have taken action otherwise, I wouldn't want any of you to get in trouble for that murder and I made sure I wasn't anywhere near him according to the hotel's system.

Pauline pointed out to me that all our Pack-members would have an alibi if I did it last night, but I had to make sure no one would suspect me and my Mother and Alpha Bradley were kind enough to lend me a hand." I say before I tell them what happened during dinner, explain to them why I went to stay at another hotel and Mack has his nose buried in my neck.

"Okay, I need you to change the subject. I am going to make some coffee and get a few snacks." Elyse says and I take the chance to ask Dax why my Mother made the Elders look into my whereabouts, by the time he is finished talking I am confused.

"She knew I was in another hotel, everyone in the restaurant heard the manager and they watched me leave the hotel. Why did..." I am too angry to finish my question and Mack pulls me closer to his chest.

His hands move up and down my back and I focus on his heartbeat to get my mind of my Mother, I need to think about something else. I picture the office from when I walked in and I remember seeing just one desk, but there are three Alphas.

Two chairs in front of the desk for visitors, a bookshelf behind the desk with three pictures standing in the largest square in the bookshelf and a statue of three running wolves. A gift gave to Elyse after I purchased my second boutique, I told her it reminded me of her Sons?

Mack calling my name pulls me from my thoughts and when I look around me I see that everyone is looking at me, "I could tell that you and Fortune were agitated, but somehow you managed to calm yourself down. How did you do that?" Mack asks.

"Thinking about my Mother and her motives is always enough to rattle my cage and years ago I discovered detail could get my mind of that if I thought about ingin whatever was bothering med just pictured this office from when I walked in and I wonder if Elyse knows that her Sons stole her gift." I explain to Mack and I hear Dominic mutter Fuck as I see him stepping to his left, blocking everyone's view of the statue.

"I gave it to your Mother and I doubt she gave it to the three of you. It was a few months after you had gotten back from your training with the Council of Elders, the three of you were running through the forest.

The three of you were so close in speed, it was amazing to see and the statue reminded me of it. I told your Mother why I bought it for her and to this day I have never seen a triplet that is this well matched." I tell them and Dominic takes the statue from its place to hand it to Elyse, who takes it from him with a smile on her face.

Dad hands me my coffee as Elyse scolds her Sons for taking the statue from her office, all three of them apologizing but it doesn't sound to me that they are really sorry and something tells me that Elyse is very aware of that fact.

I enjoy my coffee as I listen to Max telling his Sons that they are Alphas and should set a good example, but I doubt they are really listening to their Father.

Once I have finished my coffee I look at Dad, knowing that he will ask me a question to which the answer will shock all of them.

"Sweetheart, when did you decide to become an Assassin?" Dad asks and I look at him as I try to find the best way to tell him the story about the part of my life he knows nothing about. I take a deep breath before I start talking about my secret life.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 402[1,533 words]

Chapter 402

Flashback

After my eighth birthday everything changed for me, I shifted for the first time and I was able to hide my scent and my Lycan.

Fortune needed to stay a secret, we didn't want my Mother to know about her and we didn't want to find out what she had in store for us if she ever found out about Fortune. It made it easier to sneak out of the house though and it gave me the change to train more than the two hours of training I got in school.

My Mother would always ask Dad about the assignment he had been on, but he never answered her questions and I truly believe if he had ever answered her questions she would have sold him out. I would follow Dad whenever he left the house and I overheard every conversation he had with Colter about his assignments, making me and Fortune feeling proud of what he had accomplished.

It is a week after I turned twelve, Dad just got back after being gone for almost two weeks and I can't remember if he left for that long before. Most of his assignments are done within a few days, but they never take more than a week and for a few days I worried that something might have happened to him.

Mother is yelling at him as she always does after he returns and Dad always remains calm with her, but not today. Today he releases his aura to make her back off and something deep inside me tells me his assignment didn't go as planned.

An hour later Dad leaves the house with a file in his hand and I follow him at a safe distance, he may not be able to smell my scent but I don't want him to see me if he turns around. He meets up with Colter in an old cottage on the far side of our territory and as I suspected his assignment failed, his target is to well-guarded for anyone to get close to him.

Colter and Dad walk to the back porch to talk about my Mother and I sneak into the house to read the file Dad left on the coffee table.

His target is a man named Akar and he has bought sixteen year old orphans, pretending to give them a better life. Problem is that he is the kind of Wolf he tells the orphanages he will protect them from and none of them survive their stay with him, but he never mentions that to anyone.

I head back to the house to do some research on the guy, but I am not sure how I can help Dad with this assignment and the more I find on Akar the more I fear he will get away with his crimes.

Dad wasn't kidding when he told Colter his house is guarded like a fortress, all the information that is available online about his house shows guards everywhere and even my cocky little Lycan isn't confident that we could get in to his house.

A week passes and I still have no answer to my question, how can I get close enough to Akar to take him out. Dad left this morning for a new assignment and Mother left two hours ago, leaving me alone for however long Dad's assignment lasts.

"Let's go to the attic, I want to know what is up there." Fortune says after I have finished my dinner and I make my way up to the attic with the argument between my parents on my mind.

I had just gotten back from school when I heard my Mother arguing with Dad and Fortune and I were both curious to find out what this argument was about. Mother wanted to clear out the attic, but Dad told her that that wasn't going to happen and Mother wanted to know why he wanted to keep all the old junk of his parents. Dad told her it belonged to him and that it was his choice to keep their stuff or not.

Fortune has been nagging me ever since to go to the attic and with both my parents gone I think it is safe to look at whatever it is my Grandparents left here. I open the door to the attic and I don't know where to look first, there is so much in the attic.

I see three storage cupboards standing side by side on one side and on the other side there are trunks lined up, in the middle of the attic is a table with two chairs. By the looks of it no one has been here for a very long time and I first have to clean the table.

Before I leave the attic to get supplies to clean up the attic I open the curtains and windows, making sure some fresh air runs through the attic and then I start cleaning. doesn't take me long to clean the table and once I am done Lopen the first trunk, a trunk filled with journals. Each journal is handwritten and I am amazed when I see the date in them, some are centuries old.

I spend the entire weekend up in the attic and I read journal after journal, learning about every Assassin in my family. The following week I sneak up to the attic every chance I get, the only ones that know where IO disappear to are Ariel and my other friends and they make sure no one comes looking for me.

After reading every journal I know I am a very special Assassin, I have every ability known to be given to Assassins and I am the only one in my family that ever possessed all of them.

During the weekend I don't get the chance to sneak up to the attic and I can't wait for Dad to go on his next assignment, I want to know what is in those cupboards. Monday after school I rushed home, knowing Dad had left again and I knew Mother had followed shortly after Dad left this morning.

The moment I stand in front of the first cupboard I become nervous and it takes me a few minutes before I am opening the first cupboard.

Inside are jars lined up with a label on each of them, some are small while others are larger and some contain liquid while others contain powder. Most of the names don't ring a bell and I hope I can figure out what they are for.

The second cupboard contains a variety of objects and my best guess is that they are used to mix the contents of the jars, but again I have no idea what everything is used for.

That is until I take a closer look at the contents of the third cupboard, at first I thought I saw more journals about my family and I might have felt a little disappointed.

I guess that

fact they were standing on a wooden book

standard should have told me these journals were special and it wasn't until I stepped closer that I saw writing on each cover. There are a total of ten journals, three on the bottom shelf, three on the shelf above it and three on the top shelf.

On the second shelf from the top there is a big journal and it is opened to a page with a drawing of a very pretty flower, but the skull and crossed bones tell me to stay away from it.

I open the journal with the title Poison and after reading the first few pages I grab the big journal to look up the page mentioned in the other journal, it describes how to make the poison mentioned in the journal.

For the next two weeks I read the journals from the third cupboard and I know I have found a way to help Dad.

It takes another three weeks before I am able to get the last ingredient I need, once I have made the poison I have to wait. I need an opportunity to give him this poison, but I haven't been able to figure out how to do that and then my luck changes.

Akar will be attending a meeting between Alphas and business men from the cities and this year our Pack has to host the meeting, not something Alpha Max is looking forward to.

If my research is correct he will have one of his men taste his food for him and this poison won't do anything if it is ingested in a small dosage, but if Akar finishes his plate he will be dead by morning.

Ariel asks if I want to help out in the kitchen, giving me the opportunity to spike Akar's food and I even get to serve it to him. I see one of his men take to bites of his food before Akar waves him off and I smile as I see him finishing his plate.

After dinner they all go to the main living room and with the nice weather outside Luna Elyse opens the doors to the patio. I have no idea when everyone left because Dad took me home around ten and it wasn't until noon the next day we heard the news of Akar's demise.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 403[1,408 words]

Chapter 403

Mack's p.o.v.

Hearing her say what she suspected about her Mother and the questions she would ask Diego makes Commander feel proud of them, she saw her Mother for who she was and is. Like everyone else in the room I listen quietly as Maleah is speaking and I see Dad looking at Diego when she admits she had been eavesdropping on them.

I think the biggest shocker for them to hear was that she managed to sneak into that cottage and neither one of them heard her that day, but Commander isn't pleased to hear she wanted to go after Akar himself. Both of us feeling grateful that his security was so damn tight, she was smart enough to know she couldn't get close enough to kill him.

Diego looks uncomfortable when she brings up his parents, but his eyes widen when he hears what she found in the attic and I think everyone wants to know what she read in all those journals. Everyone just stares at her when she admits to killing Akar and that she did it by using the knowledge of her ancestors, this woman might just be the best Assassin anyone has ever known.

"I hope you were able to learn a lot before your Mother got rid of everything." Elyse says and I see Maleah looking at Diego.

"Mother didn't get rid of anything, I overheard a phone call she had and unfortunately for her the company she called is owned by Pauline's Brother. Pauline is my assistant and I asked her to talk to her Brother, he moved everything into a storage unit for me.

A year later I asked you if I could use the attic as my home office and you even agreed with me to put a lock and some security on the attic. I had Pauline's Brother move everything back into the attic and whenever I was working up there I was actually working on a new assignment.

Some of the recipes can be made in bulk and be kept for a long time, but there are a few that need to be used within a few days of making them." Maleah says and I can hear Diego sigh in relief.

"Okay, so Akar was your first kill. When did you uhm strike again?" Dad asks and I hear her giggle at the words he uses.

"Reince was my next target when I was thirteen, about a month after our current leadership returned home from training. I took out Ernesh when I was fourteen and Akuji when I was sixteen." She answers Dad.

"After killing Ernesh I realized that I needed a team of my own and I chose males and females that you and Dad trained, Wolves and Lycans that lived in a city or a town. They could keep a better eye on my target and they get me all the information I need.

I know that this Pack always investigates before accepting an assignment and I have used that with my own assignments, I want to make sure my clients have taken every legal step they could. My team is responsible for making the deal, I don't meet or talk with my clients and no one has ever demanded a meeting with me. If I take an assignment my clients get told that I only have one rule, I kill when I decide to kill and they just have to be patient." Maleah says.

We all know that those four murders were eventually ruled as a natural death, only because the Council of Elders couldn't find anything that screamed foul play and if I understand my Angel they never would have.

"Sweetheart, if I have remembered correctly you have four gifts. Did they all come at the same time?" Diego asks and for a moment Maleah looks at her hands.

"I told you that after reading the journals I found out I have every gift an Assassin has ever been granted and I know that you are aware of at least one more gift I should have." She says as she looks at Diego.

"The gift of hearing." Dad whispers and I remember him telling us about that gift, but he also mentioned another gift.

"Angel, do you have the gift of sense?" I ask and Dad is looking from Diego to Maleah before he looks at me. Maleah confirms she also has that gift, making it six gifts in total and I am left in aww.

Maleah's p.o.V.

We sit in silence for a long time, my head is resting on Mack's shoulder and I can almost see the links of the Mate-bond form. One link connecting to the next link, forming a strong and unbreakable bond between the two of us and I know it will only be a matter of time before it is formed completely.

Fortune will soon feel her bond with Commander form, making it easier for them to communicate without involving me or Mack.

"Diego, how close to the Royals does your bloodline run?" Colter asks and I know Dad's answer won't make any sense to him, I know it didn't to me when I found out that the gift of sense was only ever granted to someone close to the Royals.

The Royal Assassin was known for that ability and the other person that had that ability had an ancestor that was a member of the King's Assassin team, but no one else ever possessed the gift of sense.

"I have a very detailed file on our bloodline, but we don't come close enough to the Royals to explain why Maleah has that gift." Dad answers and I can see that Colter isn't too happy with that answer. Colter and Dad are discussing how it is possible that I have the gift of sense, while Fortune and I are debating on telling them what I found out years ago.

"Tell them, it is best if they understand that this isn't a fluke." Fortune says again and I look at Dad and Colter as I say, "Mother's bloodline." I hate that I am related to that woman, but she is partially responsible for the Assassin I am and I think it is time that Dad knew a little more about his former Mate.

"After reading all the journals I knew I had to be related to a Royal somehow, but I knew it wasn't from your side of the family, Dad. My assignment in school on my bloodline made that clear, you gave me the file to use and I read the entire file.

So with that information I decided to dig into my Mother's past, but she was reluctant to tell me anything about her family's bloodline. I believe she is unaware of it or she would have used it to her advantage and with the tiny bit of information I got from her I started to forma file on her bloodline.

It took me over a year to get all the information I was looking for, but when I did I was also very surprised. The Royal Assassin possessed the gift of sense, he was the best Assassin the King had and when he went missing one day the entire Kingdom was turned upside down.

No one ever found a trace of him and no one ever heard of him again. It took the King five years to accept that his Royal Assassin was gone and there is even a tombstone for him in the Royal Graveyard.

The Royal Assassin didn't die as everyone suspected, he just decided to disappear. The King had sent him after an Alpha that refused to turn his Daughter over to her Mate and when the Royal Assassin arrived at the Pack he found the Alpha's Daughter.

His Lycan felt the connection to her and he decided to find out if she was indeed his Mate, which by the way she was. Her Uncle's Pack is located the furthest away from the Royal Pack and they moved there to live out their lives together.

He is my, I don't know how many times, Great-Grandfather. I doubt Mother is even aware of the fact that she comes from a long line of Lycans, because if she knew than how can she hate Lycans so much." I say and everyone starts talking at once, because it makes me the Royal Assassin by birthright.

Colter asks me how I figured out the Royal Assassin was related to me, because he vanished centuries ago and even the King was unable to find him.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 404[1,531 words]

Chapter 404

Maleah's p.o.V.

“I will refer to him as my Great-Grandfather to make it easier.” I say and everyone nods their head.

"My trail ended with him, his name and that of his Mate just appeared in the Pack's archives, no other family file added with it. We then looked at every Pack to see if someone disappeared around that same time and after eliminating one after the other two names remained on the list, the Royal Assassin and the female he was supposed to bring to the King after killing her Father.

At first I thought we had made a mistake and I went over every piece of information again and again, until I had to face the truth in the end. My Great- Grandfather was the Royal Assassin." I say and everyone remains silent as I snuggle closer to Mack's chest.

I remember the day I finally accepted the truth, it was during a huge fashion event in Marskha and I was also working an assignment.

Normally my assignments are works of precision, but this time I lost control of Fortune and to this day I have no idea why she was able to take control. She told me that something about the target had triggered her to push forward, neither one of us really understood why and in the end we just accepted it for what is was.

A fucked up day, a day to forget about as quickly as we could.

I never told anyone about my discovery before, I have no intention to make it public knowledge that I am a descendent of the Royal Assassin. The Royal Assassin bloodline went extinct centuries ago and if it is up to me it will remain that way, I don't want to become the Royal Assassin.

It might give me the chance to find out why certain Wolves and Lycans escape justice, but it is not worth losing my freedom over and I doubt the Royals would appreciate that Mack is my Mate.

I can hear ask yourself, how does she know the Royals won't appreciate her Mate?

Well, let me answer that while the others try to figure out what my revelation exactly means.

As a famous designer and well-known businesswoman I meet a lot of people and that includes the Royals. The Queen would always contact me through videocall to tell me the type of dress she was looking for and our conversations were always focused on the design.

When I met them for the first time they were really friendly, complimenting me on my designs and boutiques and I had a really good time talking to the Royals. The Queen was happy she finally got to meet me in person and on social media she even mentioned how much she had enjoyed our conversation, that I was a smart young female.

So, the second time I met them we were talking amicably about my childhood and they were happy to hear that I grew up in a Pack. That was of course until they heard which Pack I was born in and when our Queen finally made the connection between me and Dad the fun was over.

It didn't mean I lost the work they gave me, but they started to avoid being in my presence in public and now a days I just avoid any contact with the Royals at all.

I don't even talk to the Queen on her designs anymore, I have one of my seamstresses take care of that and at first the Queen wasn't pleased with it, that was until I sent her an email. I told her that if she wanted to ignore me for who my Father is and for my birth Pack, than I would prefer to have no contact at all and that she could go elsewhere for her dresses if this wasn't going to work for her.

The Queen accepted my conditions and she still wears my designs but she never answers a questions about me if she is asked one.

After finding out who I actually am to the Throne I saw the Queen at a gala and she walked away when someone walked me over to the hostess, not that that bothered me. It was the fact I heard her whisper to her Beta to make sure she never came anywhere near me again, that she didn't want to be associated with someone from Blood Crescent Pack.

It was because of that evening that I decided I would never become the Royal Assassin, the Queen could have known who's Daughter I was and from which Pack because anyone that tries to find me online while find a link to my professional website and one of the first things you will find on my website is the fact that I am a member of Blood Crescent Pack.

I never felt a shamed of my birth Pack or of my Father, but I am relieved no one outside this office knows the truth.

Diego's p.o.v.

The moment Maleah tells us about Tara's bloodline I know Tara knew about it, it never made sense when she said she would stay until Maleah became useful to her and now I finally understand what she meant.

If Maleah shifted into a Lycan she would have informed the Queen and that would have meant a huge change in status for Tara, but I have a feeling that Maleah didn't tell us everything about Tara's bloodline.

My bloodline is one of the purest there is, but Tara's bloodline has to come close for Maleah to shift at the age of eight.

What doesn't make sense is the fact that Tara claims to be a Sigma?

It never mattered to me and Timber that she was a Sigma, the connection was there and the bond that formed was a solid bond and I never understood why she eventually rejected me.

Every time I was home I tried to show Tara how much Timber and I loved her, from time to time I thought I was getting somewhere with our relationship and within an hour we would be back to where I started.

After Tara rejected me I made it clear she was not to leave the territory with Maleah and Alpha Max made sure every Pack-member knew, making it impossible for Tara to take my Daughter away from me.

Max and Elyse took care of Maleah whenever it was needed and even when they were busy training their Sons they still kept an eye on her for me, they said they owed it to me for everything I have done and still do for the Pack.

I never got an answer from Tara to my question why she rejected me, nor to the question why she kept living in my house. After finding out she is mated to Alpha Bradley I knew I would never get answers from Tara.

Timber was heartbroken the first few weeks after she rejected us, but Maleah was his reason for not giving up and to this day he thanks the Goddess daily for giving us our little girl, However, since finding out Maleah has a Lycan he has changed it to our little Lycan and know we both owe our lives to her existence.

If there hadn't been a Pup to live for I might have taken more risks during my assignments, resulting in either getting got or getting killed.

Maleah has always been the light in my rather dark existence, she could make me forget about my assignments and all she had to do was show me one of her drawings.

I could listen to her for hours about her dreams about what she wanted her future to be like and what her Mate should be like. I didn't get as much time with Maleah as I wanted because of Tara, but the time I did get to spend with my Daughter are moments I will always cherish.

I never felt disappointed when she didn't shift because it wasn't important for her dreams, even without her Lycan she could have gotten the Mate she was hoping for and looking at her now in the arms of Mack I know she has found him. I once asked Maleah what her Mate should look like and she asked me if I lost my fucking mind, she was nine years old by the way.

"I don't care what my Mate looks like, I care about what kind of male he is. I want a Mate that will love me no matter what, a Mate that will protect me to the best of his abilities and who will always have my back no matter what I want to do in life.

Just because something looks good doesn't mean it is good and that goes for a Mate as well." She had answered me and I knew in that moment that my Daughter would always trust her instincts.

My attention gets pulled back to Maleah when I hear a soft growl, "What is wrong, Sweetheart?" I ask her and I hear Mack growling after she has turned her phone in his direction.

"Mother wants me to pay my respects to my Stepbrother, she is expecting me to be there for the funeral in a week." She growls and I can hear a few others around us growl as well.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 405[1,217 words]

Chapter 405

Alpha Bradley's p.o.v.

This has got to be the worst way things could have turned out to be, I am mated to a female that is only interested in my title and my bank account and the sad part is that I knew this when I marked her as my Luna and Mate.

My Son, who is more like me than I ever thought possible, is dead and I know that the Angel of Death is responsible, but I had hoped the Council of Elders could pin it on Blood Crescent Pack.

Unfortunately for me they all had an airtight alibi and I still was no closer to getting revenge on Alpha Max for taking my little toy away from me.

Luna Elyse was once a member of my Pack and when she met Alpha Max I didn't think much of it, until one morning she walked out of the Pack-house with a suitcase in her hand. My Father had granted Alpha Max the request to take Elyse with him, because his Lycan had felt a connection to her and my Father, who was a true believer of the Mate-bond, allowed him to take my little toy away.

You see, I have known for a very long time I didn't want a true Mate-bond. I think I was in my early teens when I found out how the relationship between two people with a true Mate-bond worked, my Mother had been jealous of the time Dad spend with his Beat and Gamma and it wasn't because of the males but their Mates.

My Mother never wanted to sit in on meetings and there for Dad spend a lot of time with the Mates of his Beta and Gamma. I know there was nothing going on between them and my Mother probably knew that as well, but she didn't seem to care.

She told Dad she didn't want them sitting in on the meetings anymore and when he refused she locked him out of their bedroom, keeping him away from her body and her Wolf. Even though Dad didn't want to give in to my Mother's demands he eventually did and for a while things were fine between my parents.

It lasted for about three months when my Mother decided he was spending too much time with other females from our Pack, but again I can guarantee you that nothing happened between my Dad and those females. This time Dad gave my Mother an ultimatum, either she stopped being so damn paranoid or she could just get the hell out of the territory and my Mother decided to leave the territory right that minute.

It was near midnight and Dad expected her to go up to the Alpha floor for the night and that she would leave in the morning, but he hadn't counted on my Mother being a stubborn fool.

She walked out of his office and out of the Pack-house without thinking about it twice and she paid dearly for that mistake, she ran into two Rogues after stepping across the border. Even though she screamed on the top of her lungs, our Warriors got there too late.

I swore to myself and my Wolf that a female would never have that much control over us and I happen to have a Wolf that likes the things just the way I like them, the two of us in control of the female in our bed or wherever we are having sex.

Neither one of us gives a fuck if they want to or not, we take what we want and we take it whenever we want.

Elyse had been on my radar for a while, but for some reason Dad told me to stay away from her and at first I did as Dad told me. I decided to go against my Father's wishes when I caught him one day with Elyse in his arms, she had turned sixteen that day and I told my Wolf we would have her.

The next morning Dad left for business and I knew Elyse was cleaning the Alpha floor, the perfect time to get my little toy.

I watched her for a while as she was cleaning the living room and as she walked to my room I knew it was time for me to get what I wanted, I followed her into my room.

I locked the door behind me as she walked into the bathroom and when she walked out again she saw me leaning against the door, she asked me if I needed something. But I doubt she was expecting the answer I gave her, "I need you naked on my bed." I told her.

She looked at me in shock and told me it wasn't funny, but a moment later she knew I hadn't been kidding as I ripped her dress of her body.

She screamed as I stepped closer to her, "Scream all you want, no one can hear you." I said as I leaned closer to her and I grabbed a fist full of hair to force her towards my bed, she fell to her knees making it easy for me to bent her over my bed.

She pleaded with me to stop, but my Wolf and I refused to listen to her.

With my other hand I ripped her panties as used my knees to spread her legs, I grabbed my rock hard cock from my pants and slowly pushed it into her pussy. She was so fucking tight that I had trouble pushing my cock inside her and the whole time she was screaming and whimpering, begging me to stop. I felt it when I reached her hymen and I told her she was a good little girl for saving herself for me, before I slowly pushed my cock through her barrier.

Once I was balls deep inside of her I let my Wolf push forward, letting him. join in this blissful feeling of my cock in her pussy and I started pumping in and out of her core. Harder and faster with every thrust, she kept crying and whimpering the entire time and all it did was turn me on even more.

I felt my balls tighten as I sped up once again and I leaned forward to whisper in her ear, "I am going to shoot my load into that tight little pussy of yours."

I emptied my balls inside her, but my cock wouldn't come down and my Wolf demanded we fuck her ass. I chuckled as I placed my cock against her backdoor, but with me still holding on to her hair she couldn't get away from me and instead of going slow I forced my cock inside her hard.

"Fuck, this hole is even tighter than your pussy. I am going to enjoy fucking you hard and fast, before I come inside that tight little ass of yours." I said.

her

Pulling back heard her whimper, but I actually loved the sound of hearing that noise come from her and I was pounding her ass even harder and faster than I did with pussy. My Wolf let me set the pace, but he told me that if she ever disobeyed us he would hand out the punishment and I was more than willing to make that promise to him.

After I came again I told her to clean herself up before finishing with cleaning the Alpha floor.

Alpha Bradley's p.o.v.

I told her to make sure she was in my bed every night or she would regret crossing me and I thought I had instilled enough fear into her to make her obey me, but she thought she could defy me because she wasn't in my bed that night.

I linked our Head Omega to have Elyse sent up to the Alpha floor and to send an escort with her if she was reluctant to comply.

It turned out she didn't need an escort because ten minutes later she had shown up to the Alpha floor, but by that time my Wolf was pissed off. The moment the door had closed behind her he had grabbed her by the throat and slammed her into the wall, I could see terror flashing through her eyes as he growled next to her ear, "You were warned and now you are getting punished for disobeying us."

With my Wolf in control my cock is even bigger and when Elyse realized that I left him in control she knew there was hell to pay. He slammed his cock into her core as he still had her pinned against the wall and with his Wolf speed he started slamming his cock inside her over and over again, making her scream as loudly as she could.

Not that anyone could hear her with the Alpha floor being soundproof, so we allowed her to keep screaming. It didn't take long before my Wolf came inside her and then he pushed her to her knees to give her ass the same treatment, he kept fucking her for two hours straight.

He was completely spent after that time and he had leaned down towards her to ask her, "Where will you be tomorrow night?"

She had looked at him as she had whispered, "In your bed." It was where I would find her every night until the day she met Alpha Max and then it was over with the fun and games I had had with Elyse.

Elyse was the first one I had forced myself on, but she wasn't the last one and I quickly discovered I loved them young. However, I never took them before they were of consenting age and that is a rule I will never break.

I knew I needed an heir after I became the Alpha and for that to happen I had to mark a female, I gave my Wolf that choice. I wanted him to be somewhat content with his Mate, but I found out quickly he didn't give a rat's ass about who the Mother of our heir was.

He chose an Omega to mark and when she became pregnant she thought she would become this Pack's Luna, but my Wolf made it clear she would never be more than an incubator to us.

After giving birth to our Son she tried to run away with him, but we caught her before she was too far out of the territory and my Wolf was so pissed off with her that he ripped her to pieces.

We never chose another Mate after that, we had our heir and we didn't need another Mate or a Pup. We kept living our life as we always had and our Son was growing up to be a chip of the old block, not that I showed him that side of me.

You would think with both of us treating females the way we do that we have no Pack-members left, but for some reason, that I am very aware of, they all stay within my Pack and I can live this way until the day I die.

Well, that was until I met Tara. No, she is not my Mate and if I could have prevented it my Wolf wouldn't have marked her.

Tara wasn't interesting enough for us when we met, until someone mentioned she was a member of Blood Crescent Pack and I started to just talk to her. I was hoping she could tell me if someone hired her Pack to take me or my Son out, but when I heard her react to a question about their Assassins I knew there was more to her.

She kept telling everyone she was a Sigma, but my Wolf and I could tell she was of another rank and it showed every time someone made her angry or annoyed with what was being said. Because she refused to answer any of the questions I had, I started to investigate her past and what I found is what made my Wolf decide to mark her against my wishes, she is a descendant from the Royal Assassin.

After we marked her I found out she had a Wolfless Daughter and Diablo was more than willing to take her as his Mate, at least that is what we made Tara believe.

As the future Alpha he needed a Mate that had a Wolf and we can't get a female pregnant unless we have marked her, meaning that Maleah would never wear Diablo's mark. He would have to choose another female to become his Mate and carry his heir for him?

Even though I had my doubts about Maleah being Wolfless after we met, I believed Tara when she said that Maleah didn't shift when she turned sixteen and she had watched her Daughter closely ever since.

Just in case she shifted at a later day than her birthday, but she never felt the presence of a Wolf or Lycan if she was with Maleah and there for she was grateful that Diablo would take a Wolfless Mate.

But as I already said things went from bad to worse. I found out Maleah hid her Lycan from Tara and her Alpha didn't allow us to have a private lunch, a lunch that would have given Diablo the chance to sedate her.

We would take her back to my Pack where Diablo would forcefully mark her, a last minute chance when I realized she wasn't Wolfless and it would have meant we were getting even closer to the Royal Family.

Today is the worst day of my life, I was woken by knocking on our suite door and two enforcement agents told me that a Servant had found Diablo dead in his room.

By the time we got dressed rumors were flying across social media and when I read a piece on how Diablo was found I lost my shit, I threw whatever I could get my hands on.

I need to get rid of my Mate and forcefully mark Maleah myself. I deserve to get what I was supposed to gain by Diablo marking Maleah.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 407[1,084 words]

Chapter 407

Maleah's p.o.V.

It isn't difficult to tell that Mack is upset with Mother's message and I tangle my hand in his hair to pull him closer to me, allowing him to inhale my scent. His arms wrap around my waist and I feel him relaxing in my arms, damn what will it be like when our bond is completely formed. "At this raid our bond will be complete in a few days and we will be marked before we have to attend that funeral." Fortune says and I smile at her as she looks at me with a smug look in her eyes.

There is no reason, I can think of, for me to attend Diablo's funeral and I can't find one as to why Mother wants me to attend. If Diablo had planned on forcefully marking me he would have been in for a surprise and seeing the fact I never met him or his Father I don't understand why Mother wants me to be there. I send her a message asking that same question and her reply makes Fortune lose her shit, nearly forcing a shift.

"Calm down, Angel." Mack says as his hands start moving up and down my back and Fortune calms down enough for me to get control back. "Mother says that Alpha Bradley wants me to be present at the funeral, he wants us to show that we are a family and he wants us to say goodbye to Diablo as a family." I tell Mack as I lean my head against his chest, I need him as much as he needed me a little while ago. “I will be going with you." He says and I know there is no point in arguing with him.

Hell, I don't even want to argue with him about it. I want him to come with me and I don't care if Mother agrees with it or not, I would have asked him to come with me if we weren't Mates. Normally every Alpha gets an invitation to the funeral of a high-ranking Wolf or Lycan and if one gets send here my Alphas will be right there with me and Mack.

"What will you do with your assignment now?" Elyse asks. "I will carry it out in due time. Alpha Bradley will be looking over his shoulder for a long time and I will patiently wait until he relaxes again. When that day arrives I will start planning on taking him out, I can be very patient if I have to and for some assignments I have waited for years to take down my target. My clients are aware of the fact that I determine when the target dies and I have never failed them." I answer her.

"Maleah, do you expect a visitor?" Dillon asks and as I shake my head I see a movement behind Mack, "Oh, fuck. Harvey, what the fuck are you doing here?" I say as I get up, but it isn't easy with Mack still holding on to me and after I open the window Harvey jumps in. "Sorry, to crash your party. I thought it be best to deliver this message myself." Harvey says as he looks around the room and his eyes widen when he sees Mack's hands on my hips.

"Congratulations, Lady Boss." He says. "Someone put a price on your head." He says without any warning and Mack pulls me behind him while Harvey raises his hands in the air. "I am not after her, I will die protecting her. Word on the street is that Alpha Bradley put a price on the head of the Angel of Death, preferably dead." He says and I turn around to wrap Mack in my arms, we need each other to calm down.

When Harvey tells us the amount that is put in my head I know many Wolves and Lycans will try to find out who the Angel of Death is, “Harvey, make sure everyone understands I want them to be extra careful. Someone might set up a bogus assignment to get to the Angel of Death and I don't want any of you to pay the ultimate price for the job you do, no one goes out on his or her own until this threat is over." I say as I look at Harvey.

"Consider it done, Lady Boss. I will ask Pauline to team us up, we will inform her on where we are going and arrange a check-in time. If an assigément feels off we will triple check everything before we act.” Harvey says before he walks out of the office and in seconds he is gone. "Should I tell the Warriors to leave him alone?" Dillon asks and I tell him that Harvey will be out of the territory before he can tell the Warriors through the mind-link to leave him alone.

"Do you really think Alpha Bradley put a price on our head?" Fortune asks and start laughing out loud, "Sorry, Harvey is an idiot." I say. before calm myself down enough to explain my remark. "If Alpha Bradley asked for my head, what would be the most logical thing for me to do?" I ask no one in particular and one after the other starts shaking their head, "You would go after him." Elyse says and I tell her she is correct, I would go after him for more than one reason.

"I doubt he put that price on my head, because it would mean I would go after him and not just for the crimes he committed. He isn't a good businessman, but he isn't stupid. I think someone spread the rumor he ordered the hit and I have an idea who that might be, someone that knows I am coming for him as well. This might be an attempt to get me off his back or he really hopes someone can find out my identity and kill me, solving his problem." I explain.

I know there are multiple Wolves and Lycans out there that fear I might come for them, some of them might be smart enough to spread this rumor and will hope that someone will be able to catch me. There are also enough Wolves and Lycans out there that know with certainty that I will be coming for them, but none of them knows when I will decide their time is up. This price on my head will not stop me from carrying out my assignments, I will give my clients justice.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 408[1,244 words]

Maleah's p.o.V.

Five years ago the Council of Elders gave their Scouts instructions to find out the identity of the Angel of Death, they didn't come anywhere close to finding out who the Angel of Death is and it didn't stop me from doing my job. I always make sure I stay out of sight and with my abilities that is not very difficult to do. My public job is also a very good way to hide in plain sight and I have had a lot of fun with the Scouts the Council of Elders sent after me.

They would revisit any place I had taken out a target and talked with everyone that was written down by the Enforcement agents, hoping to add a new name to their list. Each time they would call me to make an appointment, but with my busy schedule that was nearly impossible and I believe I only spoke to them on three occasions. None of them thought it was strange I appeared on every list they had and no one ever connected the dots.

Instead of letting one team investigate these cases, the Council of Elders handed them to a few different teams and they didn't share any information with one another. They were so focused on getting their own success that they never bothered looking at the big picture, they never thought about cross reverencing the lists of witnesses and there for they never saw the pattern in the names.

No one will be able to find the connection now, because when Harvey had the chance he made a few lists disappear and in some cases only a part of the list. He burned every piece of paper he took and made sure he watched all of it burn to ashes, he didn't want a piece of paper to blow away or something else to happen to the burning papers.

"If the Council of Elders failed at finding out my true identity, what makes anyone else think they can find out?" I ask no one in particular and Mack pulls me even closer to his body, he really doesn't like it when I bring up something that can get me into trouble. Fortune is enjoying all this cuddling and to tell you the truth so am I, it makes me relax more than I usual are able to do. With my job it is difficult to find a way to relax, but I think I have found it with Mack.

The entire day is spend talking about my abilities, my job as an Assassin and about the Spring Ball. Something Mack doesn't have to attend anymore and with my busy schedule for the weekend of the Spring Ball Mack decides he wants to come with me, he wants to see what I do on a normal day as he calls it. I wonder if he will ever accompany me again after following me around for three days and seeing some of the Drama Queens I have to deal with.

"Okay, let's have dinner in the main dining room. I think it is best if everyone sees that Mack has found his Mate and maybe some of the busy bodies in our Pack can inform your Mother about your appearance in the main dining room. I mean, I doubt anyone has ever seen you in the main dining room in ages and when she hears you are chummy with the Alphas..." Dillon doesn't get to finish his sentence as Dax smacks him on the back of his head.

"That is the worst idea you have ever had, Dillon. Those busy bodies will tell Tara that she found her Mate and that might complicate things a lot more." Dax says. "Maleah will sit next to me at the dinner table with Mack on her other side and we will discuss the Spring Ball during dinner, speculate on who might find their Mate." Mack is nodding his head and I think Dax is right about someone informing my Mother about me finding my Mate.

It won't change the fact that I did find my Mate, but it will make it more memorable if I show up at Diablo's funeral with a mark on my neck. We are about to leave the Alpha floor when there is a knock on the door and I see an Omega hand Dillon an envelope, you can all guess what is inside the envelope. It is the invitation for Diablo's funeral and under normal circumstances our leadership wouldn't attend this funeral, but these are not normal circumstances.

"Dad, can you look after the Pack while we attend the funeral?" Dillon asks and I feel a lot better knowing that I will not attending this funeral alone. Elyse brings the conversation back to the Spring Ball as she opens the door to leave the Alpha floor and I hear the males around us groan as she starts talking about who will be attending. At some of the names every male softly growls and I giggle when Mack pulls me closer to his side.

His hand is on my lower back when we walk into the main dining room and I see a lot of females looking in our direction, I listen to Elyse as we walk to the table for our High-ranking Pack-members. I also hear what is being said about me as we walk through the dining room, What is Tara's Daughter doing here? Who is that with Luna Elyse? What is Mack doing next to her? And many more questions like that.

Mack pulls out my chair as Dax sits down on one side of me and once I am seated Mack sits down on my other side, placing his leg against mine. The most remarkable e question I keep hearing is, Who is she? I mean, are they really that stupid? I thought our Paék knew I was a world famous designer, but then again I am not wearing one of my haute couture outfits and my hair and make-up aren't done to perfection. Am I really that unrecognizable in plain clothes and with a bare minimum of make-up?

As I enjoyed my dinner and the conversation at our table I kept my ears open to the conversations around us and one in particular between a small group of unmated, young females. Like the females around her I was listening to every word she said, Levi will be mine before the Spring Ball is over. My Aunt told me about an herb that will cause his Lycan to warn him that there is no connection between us and Levi will assume that because of the attraction between us that we are Mates.

I know which herb she is talking about, it is an herb one of my ancestors described in one of the journals and it is as dangerous as it sounds. No, I don't have that herb in my possession and I never will because it is against the law to have it. I do know a recipe that will render the herb harmless and I know I will need a few ingredients I ran out off, Levi can get them for me as a thank you for saving his ass.

"Mack, I need to talk to our leadership about something. I just don't feel up to doing it tonight, do you think I can join your morning meeting for a few minutes?" I ask him through the mind-link.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 409[1,455 words]

Chapter 409

Mack's p.o.v.

It is a good thing that Commander and I will always do everything to keep our Mate safe or I might have pulled her onto my lap by now, I don't like the way some of the unmated males are looking at her and I certainly don't like the way females keep looking at me. I want the world to know that Maleah is mine and that Commander and I belong to her, but it will take a few more days before we have formed our Mate-bond. I guarantee you though, once that is in place I am going to make her mine.

I am not paying much attention to the conversation at our table and most will tell you it has to do with the topic, partially they will be correct. No, the reason I am not paying attention to the conversation has everything to do with the female sitting next to me and the fact she has somehow managed to entangle our legs. It is the one thing that keeps me from reacting to any male that has the guts to come over to our table, but Maleah is just polite in her responses and I see a lot of disappointed looks for the males.

She keeps refusing to join any of them after dinner for whatever it is they asked and I am surprised none of them seem to know that she is Diego's Daughter, except for the older generation in our Pack. I want to demand an answer from her when she asks if she can join our morning meeting, but Commander points out that it will be best to do as she asked and I tell her that as my Mate she has every right to sit in on that meeting.

Normally I will try to escape the dining room the moment dinner is over, because it seems to send the females in our Pack the message that they can start bothering me and the rest of our leadership. Today I stay seated until Maleah tells us she is heading home to get a good night's sleep and I hear Commander growl in my head as she gets up out of her seat, "I'll walk you home, Maleah." I say as follow her lead and the smile she gives me makes Commander calm down.

I guide her through the dining room only to be stopped by my biggest nightmare, "Hello, Mack. Who is your little friend?" she asks and I see her looking up and down Maleah's body, not that it seems to bother Maleah at all. Maleah just gives her the same treatment and I can tell my Nightmare is getting uncomfortable with the way Maleah is looking at her, I believe it would make me feel uncomfortable if she was looking at me like that.

Maleah just shrugs her shoulders as she tries to walk past my Nightmare, but she is determined to get a responds from Maleah and Commander can't wait to see what our Angel is going to do. "I asked you a question." Nightmare says as she steps in front of Maleah. Maleah looks at me before she turns back to Nightmare, "I don't believe my name is Mack, I lack a dick to be considered a male." Maleah says and I hear people around us giggle and chuckle.

I see anger flashing through Nightmare's eyes and when she takes a step forward

I want to intervene, but before I can react Maleah has her hand wrapped around her throat. "I don't owe you an explanation and if you had paid any attention to your surroundings in the past you wouldn't be asking this question, you would know who I am if you hadn't been a stuck up bitch. Now, I suggest you get out of my way before I allow my Lycan to deal with you." Maleah says calmly as she releases a bit of her Assassin aura.

The moment she let's go Nightmare stumbles backwards and I see pure fear in her eyes as she looks at Maleah, but she is smart enough to do as Maleah had suggested. My hand moves back to her lower back to guide her out of the dining room and the moment we step out of the Pack-house Maleah moves closer to my side, allowing me to slide my arm around her waist. We walk back to her house in silence and I wonder how I am going to be able to sleep tonight.

We follow the same path I took on the day I met her and I am glad no other Pack-members are around to see us, I don't want anyone knowing about us until I have been able to mark her as mine. I enjoy the fact that I get to hold her close for the time being and I ask her if she ever thought about moving to one of the cities or towns, "Mack, have you lost your mind? Have you ever stayed in a city or town longer than a few hours?" She asks and I shake my head as I look at her.

"I hate being away from the territory, I hate that I can't let Fortune out whenever she needs it and I hate the rules and regulations I have to abide by in parks. We have to shift in a cubicle and even though there are Guards it's no guarantee that my belongings will still be there when I return. I have been traveling for long enough to know where I can go to shift as I please and where I know my team can keep an eye on my surroundings for me." She says.

I stop walking to pull her into my arms and as place her head against she chest I tell her I am sorry

she has to follow some stupid rutes and regulations, "I am glad I never have to stay in a town or city for too long, Commander or I would lose our minds if we had to go a day without running through the forest. If you want to let Fortune out for a run just let me know, Commander would like to see his Mate again." I say as I let my hands roam up and down her back.

We stay like this for a few more minutes before I pull back and do what I have been wanting to do ever since Dad pointed out that our Mate-bond started to form, I press my lips against hers. My hand slides to her nape as I gently bite her lower lip to gain access to her mouth and the moments she gasps I let my tongue slip into her mouth, ready to explore every inch of her mouth.

By the time I break the kiss both of us are breathing heavily and I know she can feel my raging hard-on against her body, I place my head against her forehead as I look into her eyes. "I don't think I will be able to sleep without you by my side, Angel. Would you mind if I stayed with you? I just want to sleep with you in my arms." I say as press her closer to my body and I see her turning a few different shades of red as rock-hard cock presses against her.

"I don't think I would get any sleep if I spend the night alone and Fortune would like to go for a run in the morning with Commander." Maleah answers me and Commander is howling in my head at the prospect of having another moment with his Mate. We continue our walk to her house and as we approach it I see someone I could have done without, Maleah's Mother.

Luckily she hasn't seen us yet and reluctantly Het my arm slip away from Maleah, "Mother, what are you doing here?" She asks while I link the guard at the gate, "Why the hel wasn't I informed that Tara wanted entry to the territory?" I ask him and I find out that this guard was unaware of the fact that she had left our Pack, he was one of our Pack-members that returned the other day for the Spring Ball, "Do I need to warn anyone else?" He asks and I tell him to warn his Alphas.

Tara might be Maleah's Mother but with her transferring Packs she can no longer come and go as she pleases, she needs to announce her visit to Maleah who in return has to ask her Alphas permission for her Mother's visit, not that I would expect Maleah to accept a visit from her Mother. I think Tara is aware of that and that is why she didn't follow protocol in this case.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 410[1,291 words]

Maleah's p.o.V.

I was feeling giddy after Mack broke our kiss and I was glad Mack was holding me close, making me feel his rock-hard cock pressing against me. I was glad he admitted he didn't want to sleep alone and Fortune told me she wanted them to spend the night with us, "I want to spend some time with Commander." She said and I could see Commander pushing forward when I voiced Fortune's words out loud, that was until I felt his arm slipping from my waist.

I follow his line of sight and Fortune roars in my head as I see my Mother standing on the front porch of our house, "Mother, what are you doing here?" I ask her as she walks down the steps and I see her looking at Mack with curiosity written all over her face, but I can tell he is linking someone. Probably whoever let her into the territory without following proper protocol, because if protocol had been followed she wouldn't be standing here but at the Pack-house.

"I thought I would come pick you up for your stay at Brad's Pack and maybe we can discuss your moving there permanently on the drive over there." She says and I just shake my head, I doubt she will ever understand why I don't want to leave this territory. "Mother, why would I want to move? The parent that loves me unconditionally is living here, I was born in this Pack and I have my friends here." I say as I walk past her and I can tell she wants to object to what I have said.

"The funeral isn't until next week and I have no intention of arriving earlier than necessary or staying longer for that matter. You are mated to his Father and that is where any connection between me and Diablo ends. You will see me the day of the funeral and not a moment sooner. Goodbye, Mother." I say as I walk into the house, but I turn around when I hear paws thumbing on the ground and in seconds my Mother is surrounded by Lycans.

I know that all of them are Warriors and a moment later our entire leadership walks from behind some trees with Dad, none of them looking to happy with Mother's presence. Dominic makes her understand real fast that he doesn't like the stunt she pulled, "If you ever set foot in our territory again without following protocol, I will have no trouble throwing you in our dungeons and I don't care who your Mate is. Is that clear, Tara?" Dominic growls.

She pales as she gets hit by Dominic's Alpha aura and she nods her head as she walks over to her car, the Warriors that are still in their Lycan form follow her as she drives away from the house. The moment she is out of sight I jump into Mack's arms and I wrap my arms and legs around him, not willing to let go for a while. “You handled that very well, Angel. I probably would have buried her.....” I don't let him finish his sentence as I press my lips against his.

I hear some chuckles around us but I don't care, I need to feel this connection to Mack and I don't give a crap that they see it. Mack doesn't waste time to deepen the kiss and I moan the moment his tongue invades my mouth, forcing Dad to growl softly as I press myself closer to Mack's body. "Get a room." I hear Levi growls as we break our kiss and without thinking twice I answer, "Great idea, Levi."

I look over Mack's shoulder at Levi and I see all of them staring at me with their jaw dropped, they hadn't seen that one coming. Mack has his face buried in my neck as I hear him softly groan, sounds to me he likes the idea of getting a room too and I ask Fortune if we should spend the night at home or in Mack's room. "I would like to talk to the two of you." Dad says as he walks past me into the house and I shrug my shoulders when Mack looks at me questioningly.

When I look up again I see that the others have left and I tell Mack we should head inside to hear what Dad has to say, he lowers me to my feet slowly before kissing me again. Yeah, definitely something I could get used to. Mack follows me into the living room where Dad is waiting for us and we both sit down on the couch facing Dad, waiting for him to say whatever is on his mind.

"I realized this morning that you will move in with Mack and for a moment I hated the thought of living here by myself, but Timber pointed out that we didn't have to keep living here. We discussed what to do with the house if we moved out and Timber came up with the right solution, we want the two of you to move in here." Dad says and I look at him to see if he is kidding, but I can tell that he is very serious about this.

"You get to keep your workspace in the attic and my Grandpups..." "Dad!" I exclaim, interrupting whatever he was about to say and I hear both him and Mack chuckle. Great, Row he has put ideas into that Mate of mine. Don't get me wrong, want Pups of my own somewhere down the line and I know Mack will be a great Father but not right now. "Fine, Sweetheart. I won't mention that for the time being, but I believe it is the best solution for all of us." Dad responds.

Fortune tells me that she agrees with Dad, we need to make this our home and it means I don't have to move all of my belongings into the Packhouse. It will also give Fortune and Commander the freedom we wouldn't have at the Pack-house, here we don't have to worry about anyone watching us coming and going and Fortune tells me that she always hoped we could raise our Pups here.

"Not you too." say as she brings up Pups, I am not sure if I am ready for that just yet and I hope it will take a while before I get pregnant. Maybe I need to talk to Mack about this, don't think I can keep doing my job while I am pregnant and it might become a bit difficult to feave a Pup behind if I have to go on an assignment. "Mack and Commander will look after our Pup and there are also two Grandfathers around." Fortune chips in.

I try to figure out if I would still want to work the days and hours I work right now and I know I would never be able to retire as long as there are still Assholes getting away with their crimes, I just might need to learn to depend on others a little more. She is right about one thing though, there will always be someone willing to look after our Pups and something tells me I can even count on Max and Elyse for that task.

My boutiques run themselves basically and I could have my meetings through videocall if I have to, meaning I will only have to leave the territory if a crisis occurs at one of my boutiques or if I have to go after a target. I decide that the first thing I need to do is to talk to Mack about this and I am not just talking about Pups. What if he doesn't want to move into the house?

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 411[1,774 words]

Mack's p.o.v.

I dread walking into the house but I doubt Diego is going to kill me, he knows he isn't a match for me and I know he just wants to see his Daughter happy. What I didn't expect to hear was that Diego offered us to move into the house, but Commander agrees with him and not only on the fact that she will still have access to her workspace in the attic. I think I just lost my Lycan to dreamworld, trying to picture our future with Pups in it.

Maleah seems to be lost in thought as I look at Diego and nod my head, I believe us moving into this house would be the best solution. "Your Dad already offered me a room in your Quarters, he agrees with me this is the best place for the two of you to live and with what Maleah has up in the attic and Tara's old room this will stay her home." Diego says as he gets up. Maleah doesn't even notice that he walks out the room and I can see that she is talking to Fortune.

She doesn't even notice it when he kisses her on her forehead and he shakes his head as he says goodnight, walking out of the house with a bag in his hand. Looks like Dad is getting another roommate and I am moving into this house with my Mate. I get to wake up with her in my arms every morning and I get to go to sleep with her in my arms every night, "Unless she has a job to do." Commander points out and I wonder how that is going to work in the future.

I will never ask her to stop doing what she does, not when it comes to her fashion or her assignments and I will gladly stay at home with any Pups we might have in the future. "Where did Dad go?" Maleah asks and I tell her he left about fifteen minutes ago, "He is moving in with my Dad, both of them are on the same page when it comes to us moving into this house." I tell her and I can tell that something is on her mind.

"Why don't we turn in for the night? You can tell me about whatever is running through your mind in the morning." I say as I pull her of the couch and into my arms. I kiss her before I lift her up bridal style and walk out of the living room, I don't bother locking the front door because Diego did that when he left. It isn't difficult to find her room and I can tell that it is the biggest room in the house, her bed on the other hand is a different story.

I look from the bed to Maleah and back again, until it seems to sink in why I am doing it and she starts laughing uncontrollably. I can barely hold her in my arms with her laughing, so I drop her on the bed and that results in her laughing even louder. I just look at Maleah as she is rolling around on her bed, tears rolling down her face from laughing and I just enjoy watching my Mate being happy.

By the time she quiets down I can tell she is exhausted and before I get a change to say something I hear her breathing even out. I am battling with myself on whether or not to undress her, but I doubt she will be comfortable sleeping in her clothes and I decide to take her clothes of before crawling into bed myself. Like Maleah I have no trouble falling asleep and I believe they could have shot a cannon and I would sleep through it.

I wake in the morning from fingers tracing the tattoo on my chest, it is an image of Commander howling at the Full Moon with a forest behind him. The tattoo is on the right side of my chest, but it is an unfinished work and now that I have found my Mate I can finally finish it. I drew the complete tattoo when I was sixteen, even though I can't draw at all and the Lycan that placed the tattoo drew the final picture.

He made sure it was possible to split it in two without anyone asking questions, I told him to hold on to the drawing and that I would be back with a picture of my Mate's Wolf or Lycan. "He really captured Commander, it is amazing." Maleah says and I tell her it isn't done yet. She sits up straight as she keeps looking at the tattoo and she traces the forest on the left side of the tattoo, "It looks complete to me." Maleah replies.

So I tell her what I did when I was sixteen and I can see that Fortune is listening as well, “I chose to have Commander on the right side and my Mate's Wolf or Lycan will be where she belongs, on top of my heart." I say as I pull her against my chest and I can hear Fortune purring, an indication she is happy. I can feel Maleah relaxing in my arms, but I know we have to get back to the Pack-house and not just for breakfast and the meeting.

"Okay, Angel. Go take a shower and get dressed, after that we need to go to the Pack-house so I can shower and change before breakfast. After which we will be heading to our morning meeting." I say and she jumps out of bed as she says, "You have to go up to the attic, I need the journal in the middle from the bottom shelf." As she walks into the bathroom she tells me the code to access the attic and I put on the clothes I wore yesterday before doing as I was told.

She told me what I could expect on the attic but I still look at it in aww, I can tell which furniture belonged to her Grandparents and I let my eyes glide over the trunks lined up next to one another. I open the last cupboard to get the journal she asked for and I am glad she told us about this in detail, I even take a look inside the other two cupboards.

"Damn, she wasn't kidding when she described the contents." Commander says as he looks through my eyes.

I see bottles lined up on some shelfs next to the door and I read a few of the labels but none of them mean anything to me, I am glad she knows what they are for. I make sure I close the door and lock it with the code she gave me, before I walk back to her bedroom. I watch her as she is drying her hair and when she turns to face me I am stunned, I am not sure if I like her hair in a braid showing of her undercut or when she has it hanging down.

"I love it either way, she looks gorgeous no matter what." Commander says. "She sure does Buddy." answer him as I look at her. "Commander and I agree that you logous no matter what." I tell

I walk towards her and I wrap my arms around her waist as I lean down to kiss her, sliding my hands to her ass to press her closer to my body. The moment she touches my arm we both jump apart, "Did you feel that?" Maleah asks as she looks at her hand and slowly she moves it towards my arm again.

I watch her hand reaching for my arm and the moment she touches me I feel the same sparks I felt a moment earlier, Maleah starts moving her hand up my arm and everywhere she touches me I feel sparks. "This feels amazing." She mumbles as I place my hand on her cheek and her eyes widen as we feel the sparks ignite, it seems as our bond is already in place but I will wait until Commander and Fortune confirm it to us.

"Tonight we will let Commander and Fortune spend some time together, they will be able to tell us if the bond is completed. If it is I calle you that you will be mine by morning, my Angel." I whisper in her ear as I enjoy the sparks that run across my body where her hands are touching me and after a few more minutes I step away from her to let her finish with her morning routine. I hand her the journal before we walk out the door and I am surprised to see Diego waiting for us.

"We need to act as if you came to get us this morning, some of Tara's old friends are asking questions." He says before we walk towards the Pack-house and I can see a few females on the front porch, each of them staring at Maleah. "Are you sure you can't tell me just a tiny bit about the outfits for the Spring Ball?" I ask and Maleah looks at me, "Which Alpha send you, Mack?" She asks and I can tell she isn't really mad at me.

I raise my hands as I tell her they are just curious, "Well, you can tell them that Luna Elyse asked for a very feminine outfit." is her response. "If you have a brain up there, Head Assassin, you might remember what the favorite color is of most females is." My jaw drops not only from what she is implicating but also because she sounds so damn condescending and I watch the smirk on Diego's face grow as she places a hand on her hip.

"You have got to be kidding me,

Miss D'Angelo." I say and every head around us snaps in Maleah's direction. "Did no one know that net

Maleah and Miss D'Angelo are the same person?" I ask Diego trough the mind-link and I know he is wondering about the same thing as I am, why did Tara never mention this to anyone? "Do you think I would be kidding about my designs or the wishes of my clientele, Head Assassin?" Maleah asks and Commander is rolling around in my head.

"Fuck, you better make sure you never piss off our Mate." He says before laughing his ass off again, I decide to end this conversation before she bites my head off. "Point taken, Miss D'Angelo. I will tell them you are bound by designer- client confidentiality." I say before I guide her up the steps to the front door.

Maleah's p.o.V.

I recognized the females on the front porch as friends of my Mother, I am surprised about the question Mack shoots my way but Fortune knows exactly how we should respond and I love the fact that he is willing to play along. It leaves me with a question though, the moment I realize that my Mother never told her friends that her Daughter and Miss D'Angelo are one and the same person.

Mack guides me into the Pack-house as Dad steps beside me and the moment we step into the main dining room I see Mack's biggest nightmare, not that she is just his biggest nightmare. He told me over the mind-link that she is after every member of our leadership, she doesn't care which one she ends up with as long as he is a High-ranking Lycan and I see her giving me a death glare.

"As if we are impressed by that, I have seen more impressive looks in the past. If someone thinks that is going to scare us away from our Mate they should get their head examined." Fortune growls in my head and I smile as I walk towards Elyse, "Goodmorning, Luna Elyse." I greet her as she pulls me in for a hug and through the mind-link I tell her what happened outside. "Don't tell me that my Sons send Mack to find out the color of my outfit for the Spring Ball." She says as she looks at Mack.

"Sorry, Mom. We just want to match your outfit, you always complain that we never match." Dax says as he pulls out my chair and like last night I am seated between Dax and Mack, his leg pressed against mine. Nightmare, as Mack calls her, walks to our table and she stops next to Luna Elyse, "Luna, why would a nobody know the color of your outfit for the Spring Ball?" Nightmare asks and I hear our entire leadership growl as I slowly get up.

"Let me ask you a question and if you don't know the answer, maybe one of your friends can help you out because combined you might have enough brain cells to figure this out. Who is the most famous designer in the world?' I ask and I see the anger flashing in her eyes. "Miss D'Angelo is the most famous designer in the world." Nightmare answers. "Very good. Do you know what my last name is?" I reply.

She looks over her shoulder at her friends but all of them shrug their shoulders, she turns back to me and I ask her if she knows his last name as I point at my Father. "That is Diego D'Angelo, one of our Assassins." Nightmare answers and I keep looking at her to see if it finally sinks in, but I am afraid I will be waiting till doomsday before it registers. "Yeah and he also happens to be my Father. So here comes the question again, what is my last name?" I ask.

Most Pack-members seem to understand where I am going and some are even laughing their asses off, but in Nightmare's case the lights@re on but no one's home.

2 let me spell this out for you in that you can understand this.

My last name is D'Angelo and that means that I am Miss D'Angelo, the most famous designer in the world." I say and it takes a few moments before she turns towards Luna Elyse, who is more than willing to confirm what I just said.

The entire dining room has gone quiet and Nightmare keeps staring at me as sit back down, she seems to be unable to register that I am telling the truth. Elyse tells her to sit down in her seat and to stop bothering us. Yeah, maybe when hell freezes over she will get the message but I am not counting on it. The Omegas start serving our food and everyone waits for Elyse to start eating, but she waits until the Omegas are seated with their plates in front of them.

I can tell not everyone agrees with this but none of them will object against protocol, we are half way through dinner when I notice that my cup of coffee is empty and the same goes for Dax's cup. I had noticed that the moment Elyse started eating some of our Pack-members were constantly calling the Omegas away from their breakfast, I ask Dax if he wants another cup of coffee and as he nods his head I get up and grab both our cups.

An Omega wants to get up from her seat and I tell her to finish eating, after all I can get a cup of coffee myself. I see quite a few Pack-members looking at me strangely but I don't really care, the Omegas deserve to finish their breakfast just as much as I do and if that means getting up myself to get another cup of coffee then that's what I'll do.

Dax thanks me as I place his coffee in front of him, Elyse just smiles at me as I sit down and through the mind-link she thanks me for allowing all our Pack-members to enjoy their breakfast. The fact that I am Miss D'Angelo is the main topic of every conversation in the dining room, but me getting up to get myself another cup of coffee is intertwined with that conversation quickly. Apparently if you're more than a Low-ranking Pack-member or if you are a world famous designer you are incapable of doing anything yourself.

I will be glad when breakfast is over, I need to tell Levi what I heard yesterday because he needs to be prepared and I have to make sure that I have all the ingredients I need for my recipe. It's the best defense I have against the herb they are planning on giving him, but I need to get working on it as quickly as I can and I need to make sure it has time to settle in Levi's system. I might suggest that all other members of our leadership take it as well.

I would hate it if they targeted someone other than Levi and I did nothing to stop them from getting what they want, a High-ranking member of our Pack as their Mate. I thought most females had learned by now to accept the ways our bond work and not to go against their Wolf or Lycan, but some have a Wolf or Lycan that agree with their Human. They are the ones that will never give up to get a High-ranking Mate and they are willing to do just about anything.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 413[1,331 words]

Maleah's p.o.V.

Dax is the first one to get up and we all follow his example quickly as I see some of the Omegas obstructing a few females from coming for us, looks like it is something they do more often by the looks of it. Mack guides me out of the main dining room while Elyse and I are talking about our appointment we have later today, we will be taking a look at the ideas I have for the dresses. I will take note of every comment I get and I don't mind if they are good or bad, they have to wear them after all.

Stepping into the Alpha office I see only our current leadership are present and that is when I realize this is their usual morning meeting, not really a meeting that calls for our former leadership to be present for. “Sorry for disrupting your normal meeting, but last night during dinner I overheard a conversation that I needed to bring to your attention. A friend of Nightmare..." I don't get to say anything else as everyone is laughing their asses off and I shake my head as I sit down next to Mack.

"If you're done laughing your asses off you might want to hear she is planning on tricking Levi to mark her." I say and the office turns deadly silent as they look at me. “She is planning on using a banned herb to make it impossible for Levi's Lycan to tell him there is no connection, while the herb will give Levi every other sign that there is a bond and she is hoping to trick him into marking her as his Mate." I explain and I see Mack reaching for my back to pull the journal out.

"That is why you told me to get this from the attic, you know what to give him to reverse the herb's effects." He says as I shake my head. "No, I have a recipe for a herbal juice that will prevent the herb from working. I just don't have all the ingredients to make it and as a thank you for saving his ass Levi can go and get them for me." I say as I place the list on the coffee table.

Levi grabs the list from the table and tells me that I will have everything the next morning, “Make sure you get the quantities I wrote down, I need to make enough for all of you." I say as I get up from the couch, Mack grabs hold of my hand to pull me onto his lap. "Where do you think you're going, Angel?" He asks as his mouth moves from my ear to my neck, making it impossible for me to answer him and I bite my bottom lip to keep from moaning.

"Mack, cut it out. I would like to know why we all need to take that herbal juice of hers." Dominic says and Mack growls softly against my skin before he turns me to face Dominic. "She told others about what she was planning on doing and it wouldn't surprise me if at least one of them asked for the herb. To make sure none of you get tricked by it I want to make sure you all take the juice, better safe than sorry." I answer Dominic while I am leaning against Mack's chest.

"When did you hear them talking about it?" Dominic asks and every head in the room snaps towards him, I am sure I told them when I overheard the conversation but maybe Dominic has a selective hearing. "As I already mentioned, I overheard their conversation last night during dinner." I tell him and he looks at me with confusion in his eyes, “The gift of hearing, Alpha.” I say as I roll my eyes and Dominic smiles as he realizes he had forgotten a few things.

"Sorry, but having a Pack-member with that kind of abilities is still a bit unreal. I will probably make a few more remarks like this one before am used to it and I apologize in advance for it." Dominic says I try again o get out of Mack's lap, but he keeps holding on to me tightly and I quickly come to terms with the fact that I will be sitting in on this meeting. It only takes me a few minutes to realize that this meeting isn't about anything important, because no one is on an assignment at the moment.

"Maleah, how many assignments do you have at the moment?" Dominic asks and

I start counting on my fingers, "Alpha Bradley, the Lowbane family, Longford, the Bornshade Sisters and the Dayborne Brothers. Those are my current assignments, Alpha Bradley and the Lowbane family will be looking over their shoulder for a while and that means my focus will be on my other targets for the moment." I say as I count to ten on my fingers.

"You do know, the Lowbane family

has a Daughter." Dominic says and I tell them they had a Sister, Kay is nodding his head as he turns hisneť tablet towards Dominic. Showing him the news item on her death and the way she was found in her hotel room, "What's with the...? Kay asks with a red face and I tell them about what she allowed her family to do to the sex slaves she had at her club, "None of them wanted to be there and even though they escaped that club they still live in fear.

Fear of them being found by a member of the Lowbane family, fear of being in that same situation again and this time with no way out. They escaped because none of the Lowbane family thought they would be able to go anywhere after what they had put them through, but they hadn't counted on their determination to get out of there." I have watched all their faces as I tell them the testimonies my clients had given and I have seen just about every emotion run across their faces.

A knock on the door prevents Dominic from asking another question and after he opens the door an Omega walks in with some much needed coffee. We all wait until she has placed everything on the coffee table and Dominic closes the door behind her after she has left. We talk about every assignment I have and I fill them in on the reasons why I am going after my targets.

I tell them about Longford who raped and killed his Mate, before he raped and killed her younger Sister. I tell them about Caym and Tamish Dayborne and Sarka and Nishay Bornshade, they sell underaged Pups to males that train them to be sex slaves and most of them don't survive the training they have to go through. “Fuck, what happened to the Rogue?" I ask as something clicks in my mind.

"He is still in the dungeons, we didn't have time to question him yet." Mack answers me. "Did anyone talk to the Pups?" I ask and Dominic tells me that their Mother talked to them, they were left near the border by a Sigma that works at the orphanage. However, none of them could tell Elyse why they were left there and so far the Sigma that left them there hasn't been willing to answer any questions. "Mom threw her in the dungeons when she refused to answer the questions Mom had and she is still there."

I hate where my mind is going but I need to find out if my train of thought is correct, this can't be a coincidence. "Dominic, can you have someone bring the Sigma to your office? I might know why she took those Pups out there and if she did it for the reason that is running through my mind, we might need to alert other Alphas or even the Council of Elders." I say before I bury my nose in Mack's neck to calm myself down.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 414[1,093 words]

Mack's p.o.v.

Commander is right here with me as we listen to our Angel talking about the assignments she still has ahead of her and I am disgusted by the behavior of some Wolves and Lycans in the world, I am glad our Angel is taking a stand against them. I know she has mentioned it before but it seems that someone is protecting some of these Wolves and Lycans from facing justice and maybe we should be investigating the Council of Elders for corruption.

I doubt we would get anywhere with any evidence we find, they will always point a finger to anyone outside the Council or the Royal Family and I don't think the Royal Family would appreciate it if we tried to take down an Elder. "If an Elder..." Commander doesn't finish the sentence as we both feel anger radiating from Maleah, but her questions don't seem to bother anyone else and she receives answers as they normally would during a meeting.

"The Sigma left them there because she sold them to the Dayborne Brothers and the Bornshade Sisters, the Rogues were here to collect them and if it hadn't been for Fortune and Maleah they would have succeeded." Commander growls and I wonder how she was planning on justifying their absence, Elyse visits the orphanage at least once every two weeks. If she can make it once a week she does and she always asks for updates on the Pups, sometimes Elyse even contacts families that took them in.

It doesn't seem that any of the others have figured out what Maleah was referring to and I am going to allow her to handle this anyway she sees fit, I will only interfere if I believe she isn't getting anywhere but something tells me she knows exactly how to handle this. We always read about every murder that makes the news and in most cases we know if it was an assignment or not, especially when it comes to targets the Angel of Death took care off.

We were always surprised about the way he, because we all assumed it was a he, left his targets behind and we finally learned that they were left to be found was what they did to their victims. We always admired the Angel of Death for taking his victims out in public places, but we never found out who the Angel of Death was and the only reason we know her identity know is because she told us. She trusted us enough to tell us her secret and this might have something to do with our bond.

I get pulled from my thoughts when the door opens and Levi walks in with the Sigma Elyse put in the dungeons, she doesn't seem to worried. "Alphas, what can

I do for you?" She asks as she sits down in the chair Levi guided her to and Dominic asks her the same question Elyse asked her, "Why did you leave four young Pups alone near the edge of our territory?" Dominic gets surrounded by his Brothers, but it doesn't seem to bother her at all.

She looks around the office and when her eyes land on me and Maleah she has the nerve to smile, "Congratulations, Head Assassin Mack. I hope your Mate can live with having an Assassin for her Mate, we all know her Mother couldn't deal with it." The Sigma says with a smug look on her face and Commander pushes forward to show her that he isn't amused, but she ignores his presence. "How long do you think it will take her to finally reject you? A Wolfless female isn't a match for a male like you."

"Alpha Dominic asked you a question and I suggest you answer him." Maleah says as she gets of my lap and the Sigma looks at her with a bored look on her face, “And what are you going to do about it?" She asks Maleah with a smirk on her face. Maleah walks over to the chair she is sitting in and I can tell from the look on her face that Maleah is releasing her aura, but I can also see that Maleah isn't using it to its full potential.

"Have you ever witnessed my Father or Colter using their aura?" Maleah asks and the Sigma says she has seen them use it on Wolves and Lycans Maleah asks her if she has ever seen me use my aura. The Sigma confirms that she has seen it. "Which aura was the strongest?" Maleah ask and I already know that the Sigma will be pointing at me, which she does the moment I have thought it. "Guess what. Their auras are child's play compared to mine and you are going to find out how much stronger my aura is." Maleah says.

"You all better back off or you might find yourselves peeing your pants." Maleah warns the rest of us through the mind-link and the moment they take a few steps back she releases her aura slowly, "The moment you are ready to talk, just raise your hand." Maleah says to the Sigma and the smug look slowly disappears from the Sigma's face as Maleah let's her aura seep out more and more, suffocating the room with it. "Fuck, she better raise her hand quickly before I end up on my knees." I hear Levi growl.

I see that Kay is in the same situation and our Alphas aren't far behind them, I am the only one that doesn't seem to be affected by her aura. "We are her Mate, our auras don't affect the other. You can be standing next to her without feeling any discomfort." Commander says and I decide to just watch from a distance, let the Sigma understand that she was at Maleah mercy. Not that she was showing the Sigma any mercy, if anything she was pushing her self-control.

I don't think I have ever seen an Assassin this much in control of their aura and I have seen a lot of Assassins at work in my life, I think I can look at this every day and never get tired of it. I see that Levi and Kay are struggling to keep standing, while the Sigma is nearly pressed to the floor and I fear both my friends will be on their knees before the Sigma will raise her hand. Luckily for my friends she couldn't take anymore of Maleah's aura and she tried to raise her hand, which in this case was lifting her hand about an inch of the floor.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 415[1,253 words]

Chapter 415

Mack's p.o.v.

Kay stumbles back the moment Maleah pulls her aura back in and I see shock on the faces of our Alphas, even I didn't know an Assassin could pull back their aura that fast. Dad taught me to pull it back slowly to avoid getting dizzy or disoriented, but it doesn't seem to affect Maleah at all and I think I understand why no one ever heard any of her victims cry for help.

"I believe you owe Alpha Dominic an answer." Maleah says as she steps back and Dominic steps forward to repeat his question. She glances at Maleah before she tells him she got offered a lot of money for the Pups, all she had to do was make sure they were dropped at a certain spot in the forest and the rest would be taken care of. None of them had counted on Fortune being out there or for Maleah to have the gifts she has.

"How often have you done this?" Maleah asks and I am glad I was keeping an eye on the Sigma or I might have missed the slight paling of her face. "You want another taste of my aura?" Maleah asks when the Sigma keeps quiet and that seems to be enough for her to start talking again. We find out it was the first time for her but not the first time someone working at the orphanage was approached and we find out that on at least two other occasions the drop had been successful.

Levi is writing down everything she is telling us and I know he will look into this until he has uncovered which Pups were sold, he will even try to find out if they are still alive. If they are still alive we will do everything to rescue them and bring them back to the Pack, giving them all the help they need from us. Maleah has been quiet as the Sigma was talking and just as Levi gets ready to take the Sigma back to the dungeons Maleah turns back to the Sigma, "How did they contact you?" She ask.

"I got a phone call from an unknown number and at first I didn't answer but after they called for the third time I answered the call, they told me I could make easy money. If I wanted to hear about the offer I had to go to Wolfpine, I would meet a female at a diner there and she would explain what I had to do to get paid. Her name was Nishay and at first I was reluctant, until she told me that they would have a good life." The Sigma says.

Levi gets the unknown number from her phone, before he brings her back to the dungeons. This is going to be a tough decision for our Alphas, she failed in her attempt to sell four Pups and technically she hadn't committed a crime. She did leave four young Pups to fend for themselves, but other than that she failed in what she wanted to do and I am not sure what my decision would be if I had to make it.

"You will return to the dungeons and you will remain there until we know what happened to the other Pups that were sold. If you want us to show you some leniency I suggest you think hard about who sold the other Pups and I don't care if you are doubtful about their identity, you better tell us who you suspect of selling those Pups." Dominic growls before two Warriors walk in and haul her off to the dungeons again, he will make her wait to find out her punishment.

Once the door closes behind them Maleah walks back to me and I wrap my arms around her as she buries her face in my neck, "Take your time, Angel They can ask their questions later I say to her as I give a small shake with my head and I know they understand that Maleah needs time to calm down, "I will put some Scouts on this, I want to know what happened to those Pups and if Maleah is right about the business the Dayborne Brothers and the Bornshade Sisters are involved in I fear the worst for those Pups." Levi says.

"And don't get me started on how we are going to explain this to your Mother." He continues as he looks at our Alphas and all three of them pale when he mentions Elyse, she will be devastated to find out what might have happened to some of the Pups. Pups she thought had found a new home, a family to love and care for them and we had to tell her that those Pups might be dead by now. "I am not volunteering for that task." Commander says.

I can feel that Maleah has calmed down and I smile when I realize she calmed down so much that she fell asleep in my arms, I move a little on the couch to get more comfortable before I make it clear that Maleah is sleeping. Dillon chuckles as he moves a strand of hair out of her face, "Can you imagine, looking at that face, that she nearly brought all of us to our knees?" Dillon asks and I remember the cold and calculated look on her face when she released her aura.

"I had trouble standing up straight, I truly believe that if I wasn't a Beta I would have been on my knees." Kay replies as the others nod their heads. "It is a good thing that Maleah is my Mate or I would have joined you." I say as I look at the angelic face against my chest, "Did anyone of you succeed in finding memories of Maleah?" I ask before I place a kiss on her forehead, looking up I see Kay and Levi shaking their heads.

"We have been able to find a few memories of her, but she is usually in the kitchen and I guess we all thought she was one of the Omegas." Dillon answers me and I remember that as young teens they would always go to the kitchen to get snacks for us, as the future Alphas they always got whatever they asked for. If she spent most her time in the kitchen or with our Alpha and Luna I understand why Commander can't find a memory of her.

I never felt at ease in the kitchen for some reason, just the smell of vegetables had my skin crawling and it took me until I had Commander to find out why. Apparently as a Pup I wasn't the smartest one and during a game of hide and seek I hid in the basement under the kitchen, a basement the Omegas use to store the vegetables. I spent hours down there before I was discovered by an Omega, but by that time I was in a total panic because the door had been locked and I couldn't get out.

Screaming and banging on the door hadn't helped and it took ages before I was able to sleep with the lights turned off, it took even longer before I was willing to eat any type of vegetables again. "Maleah will laugh her ass off if you ever tell her this story, our Head Assassin locking himself in the basement." Commander chuckles after I have relived the second worst day of my life and I am glad I have Maleah in my arms.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 416[1,857 words]

Chapter 416

Tara's p.o.v.

I always knew I would end up with a Mate that held no status, but I had at least hoped I would find a Wolf as my Mate. I should have known thought that with my luck I would end up with a Lycan and worst of all he was an Assassin, not the high-ranking male I had hoped for.

Unfortunately for me I had become pregnant immediately and all I could do was bid my time, hoping and praying for a miscarriage every single day of my pregnancy.

My Father was a Lycan and an Assassin but my Mother was a Wolf and a Sigma, not that it bothered my Father that he was mated to a Wolf or a Sigma. My Father loved me unconditionally, he would get me whatever I asked for and he even started my training as an Assassin when I turned fourteen.

Looking at the other Assassins in our Pack I was of an average level and my Father was proud of me, even though I only had my Assassin aura.

My Mother was a different story though, she told me I was useless to her and that I would never be able to give her what she wanted. It took me years to find out why my Wolf was a thorn in my Mother's eye, I knew from watching my Mother she was superficial and status was everything to her.

I must have been about twelve or thirteen when I finally found out what my Mother had been hoping for, I overheard a conversation between her and my Aunts.

One of my Aunts asked if I had my Lycan yet. Mom told them she hardly ever lost sight of me and if I had shifted she would know about it, "The earlier she shifts the more abilities she will have and then we can claim her position as the Royal Assassin." Mom had said and I nearly screamed out loud, I kept listening as my Mother and my Aunts kept talking.

It was my oldest Aunt that found out my Father was related to the Royal Assassin and because of that my Aunt hoped she was his Mate, but when it turned out that she wasn't she told her Sisters about her discovery.

I was the only Pup my parents had and when I shifted into a Wolf at the age of sixteen my Mother got so pissed that in her anger she made it known that she knew about my Father's ancestors.

When my Father found out that they had targeted him for a reason he rejected my Mother on the spot, not caring about the fact that their bond had been a true Mate-bond.

My Mother and my Aunts were banished from the Pack and Warriors escorted them to our eastern border, leading to an area known for the huge Rogue population. The Wolves and Lycans that didn't fit in with a Pack and couldn't settle in a town or city for whatever reason, they lived out there and were known to be outlaws.

Three weeks later I overheard a conversation between a Warrior and my Father, they had found my Mother's body not far from the border and all my Father said was that they should burn her body.

He never told me that her body was found, I never told him that I knew that she was dead and I never told him that I knew how she had died. It wasn't difficult to tell from looking at her mutilated body, she had been beaten and raped before they had ripped her to pieces.

Knowing my Father didn't care about hurting her when he rejected her, knowing he didn't stop our Alpha from banishing her into Rogue territory, knowing he didn't care enough for me to have a grave to visit is why I hate Lycans and Assassins. My hatred didn't lessen with the Mate-bond between me and Diego, the only thing I could hope for was that my Daughter would give me the status my Mother had been after and I wasn't even granted that much.

She never shifted into a Wolf or Lycan and I became even more determined to find myself a high-ranking Mate, a Mate that could give me the status my family deserved.

I thought I had found it with Alpha Bradley, but the guy isn't playing with a full deck.

I mean, if you don't want your Mate to find out that you know about her bloodline than hide the evidence and if you don't want her to find out your Son wants to keep your Mate's Daughter as a toy than make sure the Idiot knows not to brag about it.

However, I was surprised to hear the conversation between Bradley and Diablo. Bradley is convinced my Daughter has a Lycan and has the ability to hide the presence of her Lycan, explaining why no one ever felt Maleah's Lycan.

Bradley and Diablo made their plans for our lunch date with Maleah and my Wolf growled when Diablo said that he would forcefully mark her.

The moment we were informed about Diablo's death I knew Bradley would try to find another way to gain the status Maleah would have given us as Diablo's Mate and something tells me that it will end with me being dead.

The only way he will get anywhere near that status now is by taken her as his Mate and I know he will try to take it by force if he has to, luckily I have about a week to find a way out of the mess I am in.

With my name on the invitations it would be suspicious if I disappeared, so he needs to find another way to make sure that Maleah stays with us or will return to our Pack. I have tried to think of ways he could accomplish that, but so far I am drawing a blank and by looking at Bradley's behavior I think he hasn't come up with anything yet.

Bradley answered Maleah's message when she asked why she had to attend the funeral and I think that her talking back to him pissed him off even more.

I watch him as he walks out of the room to leave the Alpha floor and I decide that there is only one option I have left, I need to call my Father to tell him about Bradley and Maleah. Hopefully he is willing to help me out or at least to help out his Granddaughter, not exactly a phone call I am looking forward to.

I grab the little notebook I hid behind some books in our bedroom and I quickly find the page with only two phone numbers on it, one belongs to my Father while the other belongs to my Grandfather. It only rings twice when I hear my Father's voice for the first time since meeting Diego.

"Hello, Dad." I say and I keep quiet to let him make a decision, either to hang up on me or to ask me what it want.

"Tara, is that you?" He asks.

"Yes, Dad. It's me and I have gotten myself in some trouble. I could really use your help, but I can understand if you don't want to lend me a hand. I just hope you are willing to help your Granddaughter." I say as I am pacing the floor.

"Sweetheart, it's Grandpa. I think you might have broken your Father, he looks like a goldfish at the moment." I hear Grandfather say and I giggle as I try to picture my Father trying to speak, but unable to find the words.

I repeat to Grandfather what I told

Dad and he tells me that they will help me get away from Bradley, "Will my Granddaughter be there?" He asks and I tell him that she wille attend the funeral, before I tell them my life story. Grandfather isn't too pleased with me and I can't really blame him, I am as superficial as my Mother and her Sisters were.

“Make sure you have everything packed that you want to take with you, we will take you home and after that we will see what we can do about the relationship with your Daughter." Grandfather says before Dad grabs the phone away from him, because the next words I hear are.

"I love you, Sweetheart. I will see you soon." Looks like I didn't completely destroy the relationship between me and my Dad.

I didn't tell them everything about my life, I might have left out that I would leave Maleah to fend for herself with the exception of the net three meals an Omega would drop off know it didn't earn me any points with Maleah or Diego and I doubt it will earn me any points with my Father and Grandfather, but in my defense I wasn't cut out to be a Mother.

Growing up with a Father that was an Assassin should have prepared me for the future I was going to have, but I never suspected that I would end up with an Assassin as my Mate and I hated it every time he left the house for an assignment.

I thought I made my feelings clear to him, but somehow our conversations always ended in a full blown argument and the more we argued the more convinced I was that he chose not to understand me.

I know the problem wasn't Diego or Maleah, the problem was that I found myself in a situation I didn't want to be in and I blamed others for the mess I made myself.

Diego and I argued almost non-stop when he was home and the day I told him I felt trapped in our home he told me that I wasn't a prisoner, but that wasn't exactly what I had meant. For some reason I was unable to explain what I felt exactly, but I was also unable to understand what Diego tried to tell me.

He told me I could leave anytime I wanted to and looking back he probably didn't intend for me to reject him, but I did the moment he told me I was free to leave. I didn't think twice as I rejected him and even though I could tell it hurt him he accepted the rejection, which pissed me off. He should have fought for us, he should have chosen his Mate and his Daughter.

After I rejected him I wanted to hurt him by sticking around, I needed to stay in Maleah's life to see if she had more abilities and could be the next Royal Assassin.

Every time I left Maleah to fend for herself I went looking for people that could get me closer to the Royal Family, but maybe if I had acted more like a Mother to Maleah I would have had my way in with the Royal Family and she might not have hidden her Lycan from me.

Looks like I did a lot of things wrong in my life with only one person to blame, but I will protect my Daughter from getting forcefully marked. It is too late to repair my bond with my Daughter, but at least I will get the chance to show her that in the end I chose her.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 417[1,163 words]

Chapter 417 Maleah's p.o.V.

I wake up in Mack's arms who is still sitting on the couch in the Alpha office, I look up at Dillon who smiles when he sees that I am awake, "Downside of your aura?" He asks and I tell him I have always been tired after using my aura but never like this.

"It feels as if I used all of my abilities at the same time, which I haven't but it still feels like it." I answer Dillon honestly, I know every downside of my abilities but I have never been left this exhausted.

My hearing gift doesn't have a downside as it is just a part of me, but using my aura always leaves me feeling a bit tired and the same goes for my gift of sense. Hiding my scent or hiding Fortune's presence has become such a natural part of me that I am not sure what it does for me, maybe I should try to stop using those abilities while I am in Pack territory.

I hardly ever use my personal link, so I am not sure what the consequences are of using that gift.

I try to remember if I have ever felt this tired after an assignment, but none comes to mind and I ask Fortune if she can think of anything that might explain my tiredness. Elyse opens the door to tell us that lunch is almost ready and Mack allows me to get up from his lap, but his hand is on my lower back before I have taken one step.

"Get used to it, Angel. Even after we have marked one another I will still take advantage of every opportunity to touch you." I hear him say in my head.

Mack and I get a lot of stares as we walk into the dining room and it has everything to do with his hand on my lower back, only power hungry females or a female that feels a connection would allow a male to touch her like that.

Our Wolves and Lycans won't like it if another male than our Mate touches us, but as a designer and a business woman I have learned to deal with it and Fortune no longer growls and snarls out loud when it happens.

"I am surprised you haven't bitten my Son's head off yet, Maleah." Colter asks and I smile at him when I hear Mack growl softly.

"It seems that every male thinks a female can't find her way to her seat if they don't guide her and I have come accustomed to it by now." I answer him as I sit down in my seat and I see Elyse smile as some Pack-members are murmuring.

"Or the lack of having a Wolf." Nightmare comments and her friends start laughing.

"Stop hiding me, let's see if they will keep laughing." Fortune growls in my head and without wasting a second I allow everyone to feel Fortune's presence. I get up to walk towards the source of my annoyance but Dad blocks my way and I can see Timber pushing forward to see his Pup in my eyes for the first time. He only saw us in our Lycan form, but never were they able to see their Pup as a part of me and I can feel the bond between Timber and Fortune form.

Normally this bond would have formed after the first time I shifted, but with me keeping it a secret Dad and Timber had to wait until today and even though Fortune and I want to teach Nightmare a lesson we will focus on Dad and Timber first.

I walk into Dad's open arms as I feel Timber reaching out to Fortune and I forget about everything and everyone around me, feeling how the bond between the four of us becomes stronger.

"Thank you, my Daughters, for giving me this change. I have felt incomplete ever since we found out you were there, Fortune." Timber says to us in my head and he slowly withdraws for our bond, leaving me in the arms of Dad.

"Thank you, Sweetheart. Now, go do what you set out to do." He whispers in my ear before he lets me go and steps to the side for me to continue to walk towards Nightmare.

"Fortune still doesn't like it when males touch us, we believe that right is reserved for our Mate. She still snarls and growls in my head when a male touches us, but she gave up on doing it out loud and I can guarantee you that if I hadn't made her see it meant nothing half our population would be dead.

I am giving you a small warning, STAY THE FUCK AWAY FROM MY MATE." Everyone can tell that the last part was a combination of my voice and Fortune's voice and the females at the table look rather pale from feeling Fortune's presence.

"Angel, calm down. I think even the Warriors on border patrol heard you." I hear next to my ear as Mack slides his arms around my waist. Fortune growls softly at him but he can tell she isn't mad at him.

"Want to sleep alone tonight, Big Boy." Fortune says teasingly and next thing I know he lifts me up bridal style to sit down in his seat.

"I'll just hold onto you until morning." Mack growls back at her and I giggle when she tells him to enjoy an afternoon of dress talk.

"Luna Elyse, I will be sitting in on your meeting. I am not letting go of my Mate until tomorrow morning." Mack says loud enough for everyone to hear and most of the Pack-members in the dining room start cheering, but I see a worried look on Dillon's face.

"Fuck, we screwed up. We were supposed to keep this hidden a little while longer, Mack" I say through the mind-link and he looks from me to everyone around us, before he shrugs his shoulders.

"I don't care who knows or who tells your Mother, there isn't anything she or anyone else can do about it and the first one that makes a wrong remark is going to regret it." He says and can tell that he really doesn't care about who might tell my Mom, because whoever tells her is going to pay.

During the rest of lunch Nightmare and her friends keep glaring in our direction and from time to time I feel Fortune pushing forward.

Mack and Commander are to focused on us to either notice their glares or they just act as if they don't see it, but the female that is after Levi keeps smiling and winking at him and Fortune has had just about enough of it.

"Angel, what is wrong? It feels as if you are about to explode." Mack asks and tell him about the female 1 warned Levi about. He slowly moves me in his lap to be able to watch the table next to ours and it only takes minutes before I can feel that he and Commander are getting agitated.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 418[1,077 words]

Chapter 418

Maleah's p.o.V.

Suddenly Dillon gets up from his seat and the look on his face doesn't predict much good, "It seems that it very difficult for some Pack-members to accept that there are males that want to wait for a true Mate-bond, our leadership will be having their meals up on the Alpha floor as of today and I warn each and every one of you to stay away from us.

Our Lycans don't feel a connection to any of the females in this Pack and we have made that very clear every time one of them turned eighteen. I hate that we have to keep repeating ourselves and I had hoped it wouldn't come to this, but apparently it is very difficult for some to accept that we will never take a chosen mate.

We all want a true Mate-bond like Mack and Maleah and I hope that one day soon we will be able to have our meals with the rest of our Pack again, but that won't happen until the day our entire leadership has found their true Mate-bond." Dillon says.

I see a lot of mated Pack-members given the females a glare, because everyone knows which females he was talking about and I am glad I won't get faced with them on a daily basis anymore, Fortune might have killed a few of them before they would have grown a brain.

We all get up as an Omega walks over to the table and starts pilling the empty dishes on a tray, we thank her for clearing the table before we start walking out of the dining room.

Fortune pushes forward to step next to Levi and in the process she bumps into his Stalker, "Oh, sorry. I didn't realize I hit you that hard." Fortune says as she looks down at the female, but I know she knew exactly what she was doing and she had every intention on knocking the female down.

"Levi, can you help me up?" She asks as she holds out her hand and I smell the distinct scent of Dussive in the air.

"Stay away from her, she has the herb with her." I yell through the mind-link.

"You can get up yourself or you can stay right where you belong. No one is to touch her, is that clear?" I hear Dillon growl from the doorway and Mack lifts me back up as everyone starts to leave the dining room.

"Mom, I hate to do this but your meeting will take place on the Alpha floor. I want to be able to keep an eye on all of you." Dillon says as he stomps up the stairs and it is clear that he has had enough of the behavior of certain Pack-members. Mack carries me up to the Alpha floor to have my meeting with Elyse there, two guards are placed on the landing outside the door and Mack disappears into the private office of our Alphas.

I place my tablet on the coffee table as Myrah walks into the kitchen to make some coffee for the four of us, Myrah is Kay's Mother and our Beta female. Well, at least until Kay finds his Mate and who knows how long that will take. It took Mack eighteen years and Kay is the same age as Mack.

Our entire leadership has been looking for eighteen years to find their Mate and Mack is the first one to find his Mate.

I wonder if our Alphas will share a Mate or if they will each get their own Mate, "Elyse, if you had to guess would you say that your Sons would share a Mate or not." I ask as Lynn sits down on the couch and she starts laughing her ass off, apparently there is a story here and I can't wait to hear it.

I look at Elyse to see a very serious look on her face and I believe the story will be an interesting one.

"I always thought they would share a Mate when they were growing up, but after they turned fourteen I started to see major differences them. If it had been minor differences I would still think that they would share a Mate, but they are so far apart when it comes to their characters and I doubt there is a female in this world that can put up with the three of them." She answers and I see Lynn nodding her head, while Myrah yells from the kitchen that Elyse is right.

"Okay, I hadn't expected that. From observing them I thought they were pretty similar, even though each of them has a better control of different emotions. Dax can control his anger at lot better than Dillon, he seems calm on the outside but on the inside he is plotting your murder." I say, causing Elyse to burst out in laughter and Myrah agrees with me as she places our mugs on the coffee table.

“Dillon isn't afraid to show anyone that he disapproves of their behavior and he makes the consequences known." I say and I grab my mug as Elyse tells me that Dillon has always been more vocal than his Brothers.

"Dominic holds everything close to his chest, he feels that as the oldest sibling he has to carry the weight of the world on his shoulders and that he haŝto set the right example. I think the three of them are very much alike, but each of them deals with it differently and I wouldn't be surprised if their Mate will balance them out." I tell Elyse before I take a sip of my coffee.

We go over each of her Sons and every time she points out a trade or characteristic I tell her that each of them has it, but one is better at hiding it than the others.

"Dillon is their voice, he vocalizes their thoughts and they don't correct him because they agree with him, but it doesn't mean Dax and Dominic can't do it. Dax is their brain, he thinks everything through before they act and they almost always agree with him, but again it doesn't mean Dillon and Dominic don't know how to use their brain.

Dominic is their strength, he is the one that keeps pushing them to be the best they can be and that helps them grow but it doesn't mean that Dominic never has to rely on their strength." I say and I see all three females think seriously about what I said.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 419[1,148 words]

Chapter 419

Mack's p.o.v.

We didn't close the office door completely, we want to be able to here it when there is trouble. We hadn't expected Maleah to ask Elyse that question and I know they have asked themselves that question a lot over the years, they were hoping that they would share a Mate.

They have slept with a female here and there, but never with a Pack-member and it had showed them they wanted to have a Mate together.

It wasn't until Dillon got injured while we were away for training that I found out what they had meant with sharing a Mate, if Dillon had had a Mate of his own she would have gone through hell and she would have been left behind alone if he had died that day.

Dominic had explained that it would make sure there was always a Mate around to help our Luna and I guess there is something to say about their way of thinking.

It made me see that there were down sides to not sharing a Mate with someone, but I doubt I would be able to share my Mate with anyone.

Commander had been quiet for the next few days, not that he completely ignored me but I could tell he was preoccupied and it took him almost four days before he started talking to me. He hated the idea of leaving our Mate on her own, but he also wasn't sure if he could share his Mate with anyone.

Commander and I talked about it for a very long time, not hours on end but just every once in a while and it took a few years before Commander admitted to me what he had been thinking about.

He thought long and hard if he was willing to share his Mate if it meant she would always have someone to look after her and for some reason it had settled his mind to know that if he shared a Mate with someone she would be a lot saver.

I can guarantee you that I nearly fell out of my seat when he told me that, because Wolves and Lycans, that aren't twins or so, don't like to share what is theirs and to hear my Lycan tell me that for the sake of our Mate he would consider it was mind-blowing.

I hadn't given much thought to those conversations in a long time, but hearing her talk about our Alphas brought it back to the front of my mind and I am afraid Commander won't allow me to forget about it again.

"We need to talk about this and I don't just mean the two of us, we also need to talk to Maleah about it." Commander says and I get this feeling he will keep nagging about it until I have brought it up with Maleah at some point.

"Sounds like she is very observant." Kay says and I have to admit that most don't see how similar our Alphas are, after all not even their own Mother hadn't noticed it.

"Well, I hope she is right about us sharing a Mate." Dominic mumbles.

Dillon pulls the conversation to the situation downstairs and in moments we are full on arguing about what to do about those females. We can't banish them from the Pack for their behavior and Levi points out we can't throw them in the dungeons either, which earns him a pout from Dillon.

"Are they living in the Pack-house?" I hear Maleah ask and we all look at her, "If you didn't want anyone to bud in you should have closed the door."

Kay smiles at her as he gets out of the seat next to me, "You can always bud in, I think we all like breathing." Kay says as she sits down.

Dax is typing on his laptop as I place my hand on her leg and it takes a moment before he tells her they live in one of the cottages with their parents.

"Then you can banish them from the Pack-house. The Pack-house is a meeting place for all Pack-members, a place where they can come together to enjoy a good time and if you ask me those females are ruining it for everyone.

If you don't want to make that decision on your own you could ask the Pack- members to vote on it, that way you make this a Pack decision." Maleah explains and I see Dillon grabbing a book from the shelf behind him.

"Don't worry, Dillon. You are allowed to banish Pack-members for different reasons, but they have to be warned at least once before you can do that and if you really want to play it safe you ask the Pack-members to vote." She says.

Commander is staring at her as she is talking to Dillon and we both have to admit that we are lucky to have her as our Mate, but I can feel that Commander is elsewhere with his mind.

He probably worries about us visiting Alpha Brad's Pack, but our entire leadership will be by her side and if anyone thinks they can take her away from me they are sorely mistaken.

Her hand is resting on mine as Dillon and Dominic are discussing whether or not to ask our Pack to vote, she is absentmindedly rubbing her thumb over the back of my hand and watch as her eyes change between her own eye color and that of Fortune.

I wish I could look inside her head to see where her mind is going, I would love to find out what she is thinking about and if I am part of her train of thought.

"I will leave you guys to this, I need to find out what your Mothers think of my designs." She says.

Kay walks her to the door and closes

point. You have warned them more than once to leave all of us alone, that none of us wants a chose Mate and every single day they try again. If Maleah is correct about that vote I say we hold one." Kay says as he sits down next to me and I tell them I agree with Kay.

"We have been over this for years now, every time one of them turns eighteen we have to go through the same thing again and I am done. am glad Commander felt the connection to Maleah and I will sigh in relief the day our Mate-bond is completed, the day I will be able to mark her as my Mate." I say.

! I

Levi just nods his head, but Dillon is agreeing with us out loud and even Dax says that it is time to set an example.

"Okay, than we agree on this vote. Will we leave this for tomorrow morning or will we do this right away?" Dominic asks and we all agree that we will have a Pack meeting in the morning to deal with this.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 421[1,189 words]

Chapter 421

Maleah's p.o.V.

Dinner is spend in a relaxing atmosphere, Levi is teasing Mack from time to time by putting his arm around my shoulder and after a few times Kay forces him to swap seats. Not because Kay wants to prevent Mack from getting mad with his best friend, no because he wants to annoy the hell out of Mack and I just watch as the three males are joking around.

Everyone in the dining room is having fun, but both Levi and Kay get a warning from their Father.

Neither one of should expect help from their Father if Mack came after them and that was Mack's cue to chase his friends around the table, but I might have helped them a little to stay ahead of him. Every time Levi and Kay passed me I would release some of my aura, causing Mack to slow down a little and after three times he figured out what I was doing.

"Angel, why are you helping those two?" He asks me as he turns towards me.

"Otherwise you will catch them to fast and where is the fun in that." I reply with a huge smile on my face, but his question made Levi and Kay stop too late and now they are too close to him for them to get away.

There is only one slight problem, Mack can't catch them both of them at the same time and that means that Kay manages to escape him. Mack has Levi pinned to the floor and suddenly I hear Levi squeal as Mack starts tickling him.

"Mack... stop.. Mack..." Levi can barely get the words out of his mouth and we are all laughing at his expense, even Kay is laughing but his eyes never leave Mack. He probably knows that he is next if he loses focus and something tells me that Kay would really hate it if Mack caught him.

"Mack.. please... please.. Mack.." Levi is begging now and apparently Mack knows when it is time to release his friend, because he stops tickling Levi while his eyes find Kay immediately.

Kay patiently waits for Mack to make his move, but I doubt Mack had expected Kay to pull another stunt as he grabs me out of my seat and starts running around the dining room table. I wrap my arms around his neck to prevent myself from falling and I am surprised he can run this fast with me in his arms, but Mack isn't giving up just yet.

"Kay, I hope you know what you're doing." I say as we pass our Alphas and Dillon sees pretty red in the face from laughing.

Mack stops running when he reaches our seats and he tells Kay he can sit down again, apparently when Mack gives up he really gives up. Kay places me back in my seat and I snuggle into Mack's side as I look around the table at all the laughing faces, I can get used to having evenings like this.

I love the way Mack is with his friends and that our Alphas don't care about protocol behind closed doors, I hope they will all find their Mate soon.

"Are you okay, Big Boy?" I ask Mack.

"I'm fine, Angel. If it had been any other males we would have had a corpse or two on our hands." He answers and I know it is the truth, there isn't a Wolf or Lycan alive that would allow a male to touch his Mate.

It is even worse during the forming of the Mate-bond and I know it is a good thing Levi and Kay are his best friends or he would have killed them for touching me.

"I know I said we would let Commander and Fortune out for a run tonight, but under the circumstances I doubt that is a good idea." Mack says.

And even though I feel disappointed I know that it is for the best, I want to know if they can tell if our bond is complete and I want to finish whole process if it is finishes be a lot saver if I am wearing Mack's mark on my neck and he will find out a lot faster if something is up without me having to use the mind-link. We move from the dining room to the living room and a few hours later Mack tells me it is time to go home.

Kay and Levi walk us back to the house and Mack tells them to look around to get familiar with the interior.

"Just in case you ever need to come in here, I would feel a lot better if you know your way around a little." Mack explains and I give them a tour of the house.

Kay gives me a strange look when he sees the keypad on the attic door, but suddenly he seems to remember why it is there and we continue our tour of the house.

Mack has been beside me every step of the way, he hadn't seen everything yet either and I point to were my room is when Levi asks. "This is a guestroom, this will become one now that Dad is moving into the Pack-house and here are to more guestrooms." I say as I point at each door.

"This is a storage room and this is my work space." I say as I open the last door on the right, I step aside to allow them to walk in and I lean against the doorframe as the guys look around.

"What is this?" Kay asks as he holds up a binder, I recognize it as an essay I once made for school and something tells me the contents is important. I can't seem to remember what might be in there that could be important to me, but I tell myself to take a look at it tomorrow after the fitting session.

“An essay I had to make in school, I believe it was on the Mate-bond or something like that." I answer and he places it back on the shelf where he found it.

After we say goodnight to Kay and Levi we walk back up to my room, Mack has checked every door and window and he made sure they are all locked. He doesn't want to risk anyone getting in here, not that anyone in their right mind would think about entering the house of one of their Assassins and I smile as

I watch him walking in and out of every room upstairs.

Once we have finished our evening ritual we crawl into bed, both of us fast asleep in seconds.

I wake in the morning as Mack is getting out of bed, "Go back to sleep, Angel. It is still early, Levi will be here in a few minutes to keep an eye on things and accompany you to the fitting session." Mack whispers before he kisses me on my forehead and I enjoy the feeling of the sparks the moment his lips touch my skin.

I try to get back to sleep after he has left the room, but something tells me to get the essay from my office and after tossing and turning for a while I get out of bed.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 422[991 words]

Chapter 422

Maleah's p.o.V.

Levi and Mack are talking downstairs and I quietly walk to my office to get the essay, I need to find out what I forgot about it. Fortune is still somewhere deep in the back of my mind and she is not responding to any of my questions, looks like I have to figure this out on my own.

Before I can close the door to my bedroom I hear the front door close and I feel a little sad that Mack has left for the day, but it isn't as bad as I had thought.

I sit down on my bed with the essay on my lap and I try to remember the contents after I have read the title, Do only multiples share a Mate? I let my mind wander back to the classes I had on the Mate-bond, but at first I can't remember much of those classes and I start to wonder if those classes had been too boring for me to pay attention.

I remember the teacher explaining the difference between a Mate-bond from the old days and now a days, but there is not much there that interested me.

My heart starts beating a little faster when I remember the teacher talking about the War that happened once everyone realized the Mate-bond was gone, she mentioned something about females getting kidnapped and the female population decreasing over the years.

If I remember correctly it resulted in our population to dwindle down, but that is about as much as I can recall and I open the essay to see what I have forgotten about those classes.

I am staring at the binder on my lap as I try to wrap my brain around what I just read, how could I have forgotten about this after it took me over a week to make Fortune shut up.

She was ecstatic to find out we would have more than one Mate, not something I wanted to hear at the age of twelve and it seems I erased it from my mind completely.

"I never forgot about it and I made sure you read it because you needed to remember. You needed to have that information, because you have more than one Mate." Fortune says.

My heart stops beating for a moment as I hear her tell me that I have more than one Mate and then my mind start running a hundred miles an hour.

How will Mack react this? Will he accept the males he has to share me with? Will those males be able to accept sharing a Mate? Will they be able to accept me for me and allow me to keep doing my job?

"Stop it, dumb Human." Fortune growls in my head and I stare at her with widened eyes, did she just called me a dumb Human?

"Yes, I did. Your other Mates will not stop you from doing your job, they know how much both of them mean to you and they will help you in any way they can." Fortune says and I am stunned into silence, because her words mean that whoever they are they know I am the Angel of Death.

"Fuck, don't tell me that you are talking about our Alphas." I yell at her.

Fortune has the fucking audacity to laugh her ass off and I pull a block up on her, I don't need a laughing Lycan in my head when I try to process all of this.

I make my way into the bathroom to take a shower before I am ready to listen to my Lycan again, I clear my mind as step into the shower and I take my time to wash my hair and body. By the time I am done in the bathroom I have calmed myself down enough to face whatever it is Fortune needs to tell me.

"About fucking time you dropped that block." Fortune growls the moment I lower the block I had on her and I just shake my head at her as I walk into my walk-in closet.

"Our Alphas are not our Mates, they will find her when the time is right. There is a reason Mack didn't get pissed off last night." Fortune says and as the memories from last night run through my mind I realize what she is talking about.

"Fuck, you have got to be kidding me. Levi and Kay are my other Mates." I whisper as she is nodding her head.

Then I remember that Levi is waiting for me downstairs and he will be with me all day, how am I going to get through this day?

Fortune is not making it better by pointing out that Levi is as handsome as Mack, even though

Mack is the tallest out of the three of them at 6"5 and the three of them look totally different. Mack has ash blond hair with bright blue eyes, while Levi is 6"4 with caramel hair and marble gray eyes.

Kay is also 6”4 but he has black hair with sea-green eyes, all of them are built as a house because of all the training they do and I know that each of them is a force to be reckoned with.

I have seen them train during the years and none of them backs down easily, I think they might have ended up in the infirmary more than once if our Alphas didn't force them to` stand down. Seeing one of our Alphas force them to their knees is an amazing sight to see, because it isn't an easy task.

"Why did Kay and Levi have trouble withstanding my aura?" I ask Fortune and she tells me that the bond between me and Mack has been developed further, but that after today Levi won't have trouble withstanding my aura.

"Only Kay will have trouble, but only until the two of you can start forming a bond." Fortune says with a smile on her face, looks like she really enjoys this connection we have with Kay and Levi.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 423[1,166 words]

Chapter 423 Levi's p.o.v.

Largo has been acting strange for a few days now and I am getting a massive headache from him, he refuses to talk to me. He keeps telling me that he needs time to figure something out, something that doesn't make sense to him and it is making him very cranky.

The only time he seems to be a bit at peace is when Maleah is talking and I know he enjoyed dinner last night with her sitting next to us, but she shouldn't be able to calm him down the way she does.

Maleah is Mack's Mate and Mack our best friend, I am not going to get in their way just because my Lycan seems to like her. We both did enjoy annoying the hell out of Mack, but he didn't react the way I thought he would to me constantly touching his Mate and that left me pretty confused.

Largo woke me up at the break of dawn and if it had been up to him we would have been at Maleah's house hours ago, but I managed to put a block up for a while.

When Mack linked me that he was awake I finally dropped the block and Largo forced me to head to Maleah's house, which I did before he would force a shift. Mack had coffee for me when I got to the house and we talked about our schedules for the day, if he is lucky he will be able to join us for lunch.

Unless the fitting session or his meeting runs late, but he didn't want to think about that and I couldn't blame him for it.

Largo has been focused on sounds upstairs, but I told him he wouldn't be able to hear her. She is an Assassin and a damn good one at it, he will never be able to hear her if she doesn't want him to and I think that that is the only way he will ever be able to hear her.

Knowing I would be with Maleah all day, I took some files with me, files I need to go through before the end of the day and it will keep me busy while I keep an eye on Maleah for Mack.

However, my mind keeps wandering back to the question Mack asked me before he left. He asked if I remembered the day Dillon got injured during our training with the Council of Elders, I still hate to think about that day and I wondered why he was bringing it up.

He asked me if I remembered what Dominic had said about them sharing a Mate, I had just nodded my head and I nearly tumbled out of my seat when he asked me if I had ever thought about sharing a Mate.

"Commander says that the idea of sharing a Mate makes him feel better, it means that our Mate will always have someone with her. It blew my mind to say the least when he told me." Mack had said and it has been running through my mind ever since he left.

I didn't want to admit to my best friend that Largo and I had come to the same conclusion. I think the difference between me and Mack is that Largo and I know who we would be willing to share a Mate with.

The only thing we didn't find an answer to was how this would work, after all I had never shared a female with anyone before and I wasn't sure if I wanted to sleep in one bed with my Mate and the males I shared her with.

Largo had suggested a big house with enough rooms for all of us to sleep in and one huge room with a huge bed if we all wanted to sleep in the same bed at night, but that we would always let our Mate decide on where or with whom she wanted to sleep.

The only one who knows I thought about it is Dominic and he swore he would never tell anyone about this, I needed to talk to someone that had at least some experience with sharing a female.

Footsteps on the stairs pull me from my thoughts and I turn around to see Maleah walking down the stairs in a pair of black skinny jeans with a bright pink shirt, “Goodmorning, Levi. Are we late for breakfast?" She asks and I shake my head as I grab my backpack.

"No, breakfast will be served in half an hour. Mack is in a meeting, so he grabbed an early breakfast and if his meeting and your fitting session go as planned you will see him at lunch." I answer her as I place my hand on her lower back.

Largo finally settles down in the back of my mind and I ask her how she slept as we walk towards the Pack-house, "Like a baby. I think my lights were out the moment I placed my head on Mack's chest." She answers without hesitation.

Largo softly growls the moment she mentions how she slept and I tell him to calm the fuck down.

"She isn't our Mate, Buddy." I say and I stop dead in my tracks when I hear him say, "She is."

Maleah steps in front of me as she asks if something is wrong, but I can't tell her what my idiotic Lycan just said and I start to shake my head. "Don't you dare, Levi." She says as she places a hand on my arm and I jump back the moment I feel soft sparks.

"It will only get stronger, unless you want to move and decline your position." Maleah says as she keeps looking at me and I slowly reach out my hand to confirm I felt sparks the moment she touched me.

"Fuck, Mack is going to kill me." I mumble the moment I feel the soft sparks again, but Largo reminds me of the question Mack asked me this morning and I look up at Maleah.

"I think we need to talk to Mack and Kay about this." She says.

"What!" I exclaim while Largo is laughing his ass off. “What does this have to do with Kay?" I ask her, even though I already know the answer to that question.

"Fortune feels a connection to all three of you, the connection with you was the weakest until now. We need to discuss this together and think need to explain to all of you why this is happening." Maleah says and I am glad that no one is around, I wouldn't know how to explain this to anyone.

Maleah pulls me from my thoughts as she says, "Let's get some breakfast, you are going to need it to survive a fitting session." I look at her to see that she is very serious and I groan softly as I wonder why I volunteered to keep her company.

"Because you wanted to spend time with your best friend's Mate.” Largo answers me as we walk to the Pack-house.

Chapter 424

Kay's p.o.v.

Titan loves being close to Maleah and that he gets to annoy are best friend is a plus in his book. I tell Levi through the mind-link that we will accompany Mack and Maleah back to the house, that I want to make sure they get there without anyone bothering them.

I like the way the house is decorated, but it is on the small side for the future I have in mind and I take a look at the lay-out of each floor. It has all the elements I want in a home, but it all needs to be a bit bigger.

She opens the door to her work space and I understand why she works in here with the floor to ceiling windows, she has natural light all day long. I walk around the room to take it all in and my eyes fall on a binder on one of the bookshelves, it is an essay titled Do only multiples share a Mate?

I remember my Aunt telling Mom about it, but I never found out who wrote the essay and the only reason it stuck with me has to do with the answer to that question.

When Dillon got injured it had popped back into my mind and I knew I wanted to share a Mate if I was granted it, I didn't want my Mate to worry about her future if something happened to me.

I even took it a step further and started to think about how this might work, after all I am not a part of a multiple and have had to share anything. Titan wanted a huge bed to accommodate all of us and that meant a huge bedroom to place it in.

The more time passed after Titan and I agreed that we would share a Mate, if that ever happened, the more pieces of the puzzle fell into place and I even tried to bring it up with Mack or Levi a few times, but I doubt either one of them understood where I was going with my questions.

I knew my Aunt had a copy of the essay and after she died a few years ago I took it home with me and last night Titan demanded I read it from beginning to end.

I found out the reason why some females still get more than one Mate and I think

I begin to understand why Titan is so content around Maleah.

"Are you planning on letting me deal with this on my own." Mack yells through the mind-link and I realize that my mind had wandered off, I ask Mack to tell me what the question was. We are meeting with an Alpha that wants us to take care of a former Pack-member, someone that has been making trouble for him.

"Alpha, as Head Assassin Mack already explained we need that file. If you want us to take this assignment we will have to discuss this with our Alphas and without a file they will not even consider listening to us." I say as I look him in the eye.

I want him to see that I am telling the truth and that I am serious. He doesn't need to know that we are just covering all bases, we will conduct our own investigation into his allegations against his former Pack-member.

If we find out he has lied to us we will warn whoever we were supposed to go after and help them hide if it is necessary, that is why our Pack keeps growing in numbers. Mack takes the file from the Alpha, but the guy seems reluctant to let it go.

"Mack, let's go. It seems he doesn't want our help after all." I say as I get out of my seat and Mack releases the file on his end. Mack doesn't get the time to get out of his seat before the guy says.

"Fine, here you go." As he places it on the table in front of Mack.

Mack grabs the file as he gets out of his seat and follows me out of the door.

"Why didn't he want to hand us that file, Kay?" Mack asks as he walks out of the Alpha office.

"We both know he is trying to hide something, the question is what.” I answer him as we walk through the front door and I smile when I see one of our Scout holding the door of the SUV, the smile on his face tells me he found something interesting.

He won't tell us anything until we are out of this Alpha's territory, because we don't know anything about their security measures.

"Glad to be heading home, Mack?" I ask to pass the time and he tells me that we will make it back in time for lunch, "Missing Maleah that much?" I ask teasingly, but I know Titan is happy to see her again as well and I almost allow my mind to wander off again.

"Beta, according to the Omegas the Alpha is lying. No one is making trouble for the Pack and according to them the last Pack-member that left had found her Mate. Other than that no one has left the Pack in almost five years." Our Scout says.

"I was unable to talk to any of the Warriors, but did manage to eaves drop on a few conversations. It seems that the Alpha's Daughter fell ill almost two months ago, but o one has seen her during that time and that goes for the Omegas as well.

No one is allowed on the Alpha floor anymore, they have to bring her food to the kitchen on the Alpha floor and he makes sure she eats it all. Rumor has it that even the Pack doctor hasn't seen her." He continues.

It seems that this mystery is getting bigger by the minute and I ask Mack to open the file to find out who our possible target is, "Fuck, this a young female. I doubt she is much older than eighteen." Mack growls.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 425[1,193 words]

Chapter 425

Mack's p.o.v.

After getting out of bed I walked into the bathroom and Commander told me to ask Levi and Kay if they ever thought about sharing a Mate.

I saw a strange look in Levi's eyes when I asked him that question, I think I surprised him when I told him that Commander and I did talk about it and don't get me started on the look on Kay's face when I asked him. It almost looked as if he finally found the last piece of a puzzle he was working on.

Neither one of them answered my question, but knowing my friends I have given them something to think about and eventually I will get an answer from them.

First things first though, I need to focus on today's meeting and something tells me that someone has blown a gasket before the day is over. Dax had a bad feeling about this assignment after he talked to the Alpha and whenever Dax has a bad feeling about something he usually is right.

I can tell that my question has thrown Kay of his A-game, but it doesn't matter much for this meeting. I only brought him along to have a High-ranking Lycan with me, something to show some respect towards the Alpha and it seems to please him.

I ask him the questions I always ask and it doesn't take me long to figure out that Dax's gut feeling had been right, something isn't right with this assignment. He has an answer to each of my questions, but they seem a bit to rehearsed to me.

After asking for the file a second time I have had enough of this meeting and this Alpha, Kay needs to put this Idiot back in his place and I need to pull him from his thoughts to get that done.

The story our Scout tells us has Commander pacing in my head, he doesn't like anything about this assignment and what we have found out so far. "Mack, who is our possible target?" Kay asks and I open the file to stare at the face of a young female.

"Fuck, this a young female. I doubt she is much older than eighteen." I growl as I turn the file towards Kay.

"She looks familiar." Commander says and I have to agree with him, she looks really familiar.

"Fuck, this is the Alpha's Daughter. That's why he wants us to bring her in alive, because dead she will be useless to him." I says as I finally realize why she looks so familiar.

"I'll dive into her whereabouts the moment we get back." Our Scout says.

My phone dings to indicate I received a message and I smile when I see it is from Maleah, We need to talk at the house, bring Kay with you. I turn my phone towards Kay so he can see the message and I send a message back to ask about lunch, Taken care off.

It is a rather short answer and for a moment I want to call her, but then I see that we are almost back to our territory.

Kay and I walk back to the house after we handed the file to Dominic, he apparently knew we weren't going to have lunch with them and I was curious about what Maleah might have told him.

I didn't ask anything because Dominic never answers questions someone else should answer and I wonder what might have happened for Maleah to ask a meeting with me and my best friends, it can't be too serious because she isn't involving our Alphas.

Kay is deep in thought as we walk and Commander tells me to him alone, not something that happens a lot. Usually he is as curious as I am and he will bug me until I start asking questions, but it seems as if Commander is aware of something I am not.

Anyone can tell that something is up the moment I step into the living room and looking at my best friend I can tell that he is nervous about something.

Maleah smiles at me as she steps into my arms and Commander is purring in my head as he curls up, "Why are we having lunch here?" I ask her after I have kissed her and she grabs the binder from the table that Kay found last night.

“Levi already read it and I want the two of you to read it as well." She says before she walks to the kitchen and I sit down on the other couch to read whatever is inside that binder, because I think it is the reason why Levi is so damn nervous.

Maleah places our lunch on the coffee table as I read an essay she made as a twelve year old, I smiled sa internally when I read the title and 1 was really curious about the answer. I hear Kay talking to Maleah in the background, but most of my attention is on the essay pam reading and I am surprised about the amount of research she put into this.

Her essay start with explaining why multiples usually share a Mate, their Mate is to balance each of them out and her character is able to bring out the best in each of them.

Commander doesn't like the next part of her essay, because it shows what happened in the first five decades or so after we lost the ability to find our Mate during a Full Moon and I know that he wouldn't have liked living in that time of our history.

We are both stunned about the consequences of those fifty to sixty years, but Commander perks up when we read that it was resolved by given females more than one Mate and those weren't always related to one another.

She even took her research a step further by looking into that phenomenon to when she was writing her essay, she found out that it still happens that females get more than one Mate and she found out that it always concerns females with one or more abilities.

Her end conclusion was that those females needed more than one Mate to keep them from harm, because everyone knows not to mess with a female that has a Mate and that males will do anything for their Mate.

"How did Fortune react to your end conclusion?" I ask her as I hold out the file to Kay, but he shakes his head.

"I have my Aunt's copy, I know what Maleah uncovered all those years ago." He says.

Maleah sits down in an armchair and I am not sure if I like this, "I wanted you all to read it, because Fortune feels a connection to each of you." She says and I just stare at her because I wasn't expecting this.

On the other hand, it eases Commander that she will always have a Mate with her.

took me over a week to get her to shut up about it, she actually liked the idea of having more than one Mate. Not something you want to think about as a twelve yearold, I can guarantee you that." She says with a smile on her face.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 426[1,052 words]

Chapter 426

Mack's p.o.v.

"I have to get back to Ariel's studio and I asked Dad to accompany me, I want the three of you to talk about this." She says as she gets up and without another word she walks out of the house.

"Is this why you asked me that question this morning?" Levi asks.

I tell him that I told him the truth this morning, that our Alphas had forced Commander to think about sharing a Mate and that we both hate the idea of leaving our Mate on her own.

"I hadn't counted on a Mate with multiple abilities and the more I thought about leaving Maleah on her own the more I hated that idea, she will become a target as long as she isn't marked.” I state and I hear Commander growl in my head.

Kay tells us he had had a similar conversation with Titan after Dillon's accident, that they wanted to share a Mate to keep her safe and that he even thought about how he could make it work.

"We aren't raised with the idea of sharing a Mate, for us this is a bit more complicated than for a multiple and I had to keep my Mate in mind. How would she react? What would she expect? How would this work out?." Kay explains to us.

"We need to figure out how this will work for all of us as we move forward, but I think we also need to give one another space and privacy. This house has the perfect lay-out, but it is too small for what I have in mind." Kay says as he pulls his tablet from his backpack and moments later we are staring at the design of a house.

The lay-out of the ground floor is similar to this house, but as he said it is a lot bigger and when he shows us the first floor my jaw drops.

There is one huge bedroom at the back of the house and a lot of smaller bedrooms on the rest of the first floor, not that any of them are considered small. Kay explains that the biggest room will be Maleah's room and the first three rooms on either side of her room will be for us, giving us privacy if we need or want it.

"If the door to a room is closed it means whoever the room belongs to wants some privacy, whether it is with or without Maleah. If the door to Maleah's room is open it means we all can join her for the night and the last one to enter the room is allowed to close it." Kay explains.

"Sounds like you thought about this a lot more than the rest of us." Levi responds as he looks at the blueprint.

"The attic needs to have the same security measures as the attic here, I wouldn't want one of our Pups to get their hands on some of those herbs." Levi mumbles and Kay and I both stare at him, I hadn't even thought about Pups yet.

"I am not saying that we will have Pups right away, we have to talk to Maleah about that and we need to keep in mind that she has two careers." He replies as he looks at us.

Kay goes back to the blueprint of the ground floor and starts to change the lay-out at the back of the house "She will need an office to make her designs and conduct her business, I would feel better if it is on the ground floor." He says when Levi asks him what he is doing and soon we are going over the details of the house.

We are in this Mate-bond one hundred percent and we are going to make sure that Maleah knows what she means to us.

"Where were you planning on building this house?" Levi asks and Kay pulls up a map of our territory to point at a stretch of land on the other side of the Pack- house.

"I had a talk with Dillon when he was recovering and it was my turn to spent the day with him. He has known all along that I wanted to share a Mate and when I told him about the house I designed he asked me the same question, together we found the best spot to build the house.

We didn't know if I would be lucky enough to share a Mate and who the other mates would be, but we decided that it needed to be close to the Pack-house. It would be easier if I had to get to the Pack-house fast and we decided it would be best if my Mate didn't have to walk a while to come see me, so we came to the conclusion this would be the best spot." Kay explains, I know the spot he is talking about and it is perfect for us.

The house will be surrounded by trees on all sides, but they aren't that close together that they will take away natural light to enter the house We decide to continuel building the house without telling Maleah, we want to surprise her when it is done and we take a look at her work space she has upstairs before I take them up to the attic.

It gives Kay the information he needs to make the blueprint for the attic and when we look at the finished picture we agree this is perfect for Maleah.

We are talking about how this might work in this house when Maleah returns and we find out that it is almost dinner time.

"I see that you are all still breathing, that is a good sign." Maleah says as she walks into the living room and Kay pulls her into his arms only to jump back a second later.

"What the fuck was that?" He yells and Levi is laughing his ass off while Maleah slowly lifts her hand to his face. His eyes widen the moment she touches is face and I can tell he feels the sparks.

She tells him that the sparks she feels with me are stronger, but that has to do with the fact that we have spent more time together and she is confident that with time they will become stronger.

"What? They will become stronger than this." He asks as he lets his hand move over her arm.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 427[1,194 words]

Chapter 427

Maleah's p.o.V.

Kay is running his hand up and down my arm and it seems as if the sparks become stronger the more he does it, the smile on his face also becomes bigger. We have dinner at home because I want to know how they feel about this and Mack tells me that they still have to get used to the idea of sharing a Mate.

"I never shared a female and now I have to share a Mate for the rest of my life with those two." Levi says teasingly, earning him a smack on the head from Kay.

I slept in between Kay and Levi last night and this morning I found a message on my phone from Mack, a picture of the three of us in my small bed. I chuckle as I look at them wrapped around me and Fortune is laughing her ass off when she sees that they are both lying on the edge of the bed.

We had breakfast before we all went our separate ways and if I am being honest with myself they seemed a bit nerves around one another.

I have been feeling nerves ever since I left the house, I am not sure what was going through their minds this morning and if for some reason they can't live with the fact that I am their Mate than I will have to figure something out.

I am not going to deny Fortune her Mates and I am not sure if I want to deny myself. I still have to wrap my head around the idea of having three Mates or how this is supposed to work and not to mention how people are going to react.

Not that I care, because I never gave a crap about what others thought of me and I have no intention of starting now. The fitting session went well this morning and there aren't many alterations to be made, I just used it as an excuse to leave them to discuss sharing a Mate.

I don't think it will be easy for them to come to terms with sharing a Mate, after all they aren't a multiple like our Alphas and I hope this will work out for the best.

Ariel shows me who is working on which dress and how the alterations will be done, before they will schedule a new fitting session. I sit down behind my desk, a desk Ariel placed there for me if I ever needed one and now I am grateful for it.

I open my laptop to find a few messages from Pauline, one is about Longford and his whereabouts for the following week. I send her a reply to let her know I will take care of him before he heads home again.

The other message is about the price on my head and Pauline confirms it wasn't done by Alpha Bradley, but by a male who knows that I am coming for him and his Sons.

"Good luck on trying to get away from us." Fortune snickers before she curls up in my head, she is going to enjoy hunting this Idiot down and we already know how we are going to do it. It is just a matter of time before he will return to his favorite spot and when he does it is game over for him.

It is close to dinner time when I am finally done with replying to every message and email I received, the most annoying one was from the Queen and it took me some time to calm myself down enough to answer her.

She demanded a private meeting at the Palace with me, but she didn't like the reply I sent her and it took a few more emails before she realized I wasn't going to change my schedule for anyone.

She settled for a videocall and she explained that there was something wrong with the design, she showed me a copy I had sent her a few weeks ago. It had all the alterations she had demanded and now it seems she wanted to change everything again.

"If we make those changes the dress won't be ready before next week and that means extra costs if we have to make any alteration to the dress before the Spring Ball, Your Majesty." I had pointed out politely.

I knew she had her fitting session yesterday and the dress had fitted her perfectly, nor had she made any comments to details she didn't like.

I am not really sure what her problem was, but I think I have a feeling I found the answer when she asked if had designed any other dresses for the Spring Ball. She probably heard rumors that was spending two weeks at home and knowing how she feels about our Pack, I think she fears Luna Elyse will look better than her.

Walking home I think about how to discuss my assignment with Mack, Kay and Levi, because I need to leave the territory to take out Longford and I know that at least one of them wants to come with me.

I open the door to find the house empty, looks like I will have to discuss this later and make sure I get to the Pack-house quickly. As I walk into my bedroom I take a look at the time to see I have an hour left and as I get ready for dinner I wonder where the guys went.

Once I am dressed I blow dry my hair before walking out of my bedroom, but when I get downstairs they still haven't returned.

"So much for your security." Fortune chuckles and I stick out my tongue to her.

There are no Warriors outside and I walk to the Pack-house on high alert, I haven't forgotten that some idiotic Alpha is after me as I use my gift to make sure no one is around. When I get to the Pack-house I see one of the Warriors that was on guard duty this morning and I ask him who relieved him.

"No one did, Mack dismissed us when they returned home. He said that they would stay with you, Miss D'Angelo." He answers me and I wonder what is going on, why weren't they home or why didn't they put other Warriors at the house.

Elyse is surprised to see me when I walk into the dining room, "I thought you would have dinner at the house with Mack." She says as I sit down.

"I probably would have if he had been home, but he left and he even forgot to place Warriors at the house." I answer.

Our Alphas look surprised to see me without Mack at the table and when Dillon asks about it I tell him the truth.

"They are probably still working on our new assignment, something isn't adding up and after talking to the Alpha Kay and Mack agreed with me." Dax says, but it still doesn't make any sense to me or Fortune. Mack should be feeling uneasy with leaving me alone or not knowing where I am or what I am doing.

I try linking each of them but it seems that they have a block up and it pisses

Fortune off to no end.

Maleah's p.o.V.

"Let's lock them out for the night and sleep elsewhere." Fortune suggests and I tell her I will do her one better. I enjoy my dinner while talking to Elyse and in the meantime I explain my plan to Fortune.

"That should teach them." She says when I am done with my explanation. After dinner I tell Elyse that Ariel will make an appointment with her when the alterations are done and then I walk back home.

Pauline has responded to my message and she will be waiting for me at the location I send her, I run up the stairs to change into another outfit. I grab a small bag with everything I might need tonight, before I lock every window and close every door as I walk back down and once I am outside I lock the front door.

I make my way to our western border to meet up with Pauline and Harvey, they will take me as close to my destination as they can.

I don't have much trouble avoiding our Warriors and I hope no one with my abilities will ever be send after my Alphas, it would be too easy to get to the Pack- house. After I have crossed the border I walk towards the main road and without saying a word I get into the SUV. No one says a word as we drive to Coalfell, a city on the other side of Wolfpine and it is an easy city to get in and out of without someone seeing you.

"You better get down, Maleah." Harvey says as we reach city limits.

I slide to the floor of the SUV behind Pauline's seat, a few of the area's we have to go through have a lot of cameras and at the moment I can't use my public life as an alibi.

Pauline and Harvey are each other's alibi, they are going to have dinner in a small restaurant on the other side of the city and the good part is that it is close to where I have to go. I have a deadline though, I have ride out of Coalfell I have to get and if I miss it I am screwed.

Pauline hands me the spare key to the SUV before she and Harvey get out and I clear my mind as I close my eyes, I need to concentrate on the assignment ahead of me.

Levi's p.o.v.

I had some trouble falling asleep last night and I think the biggest problem was the size of Maleah's bed, it wasn't designed for three Lycans.

Largo and I are still getting adjusted to the fact that we are sharing a Mate with our best friends, but it doesn't scare me as much as I thought it would. I think the thing that scares me the most is finishing the house Kay started building, we don't know what Maleah ikes or dislikes and making a home for the four of us will be a challenge.

We used our new assignment as an excuse for being unavailable until dinner, Maleah didn't mind because she needed to check in with Ariel and would use the rest of the day to get some other work done.

"This is it." Kay says as we stop in front of the three story house he build, only the outside is done because he didn't know if he would be living here with only his Mate or maybe with other males that he shares a Mate with and for that reason he never finished the interior completely.

The ground floor has an almost open lay-out, walking into the hall he points to a door to our left.

"That will be Maleah's office, it will make it easier for everyone to keep an eye on her when we are out of the territory." He says before he leads@s past the stairs into the next room, the kitchen is placed against wall of Maleah's office and the dining area is to the right of the space. The living room covers the entire back of the house and has floor to ceiling walls.

A patio goes along the back of the house and has two huge sliding doors to open up the living room even more, the Master bedroom is positioned above the living room and patio. There is a walk-in closet and an ensuite bathroom, but no further details like a sink or a shower and that goes for every room on the first floor.

The second floor isn't really an attic, but I can already see the furniture from Maleah's ancestors placed here and I might be able to make a space on the balcony for her to grow her own herbs.

I tell Mack and Kay my idea on the balcony and both of them start asking questions as to what I have in mind, how and where I want to place her greenhouse.

We head home to have some lunch before we start discussing every detail for every space in the house and Kay keeps track of everything we have to buy or make to finish this house in the next few days, because we made the decision to have it done before Diablo's funeral.

We want to make sure we can mark her before she has to leave the territory.

We walk through the house with everything Kay wrote down to see where we want to place it and what we need to ask Maleah about. Her office and the second floor are the easiest to take off, we will use everything that is in her house and place it in the same way she has decorated her office to make it easier for her to find everything.

We all have a huge smile on our faces by the time we have walked through the entire house, have made every decision we had to make.

I can't wait to show Maleah what we came up with and what our future home will look like completely decorated, but I doubt any of us had expected to find an empty and locked house.

Chapter 429

Maleah's p.o.V.

If my target is anything like my previous targets he will return to his room after dinner to get ready for his evening out and if I am lucky he won't be alone, which means I can find out where he is going to be tonight.

I want to make sure he dies a rather public and unpleasant death, I knew exactly which recipe I would use when I got this assignment and it took me a while to get all the ingredients. One of the herbs I have to use is very difficult to grow and I never thought I would use this recipe.

Longford is a very good looking male and he is well aware of the affect he has on females, well I should say most females. His Mate wasn't to impressed with him and for a long time she refused to let him get anywhere near her, but he convinced her that he was going to change.

The day she decided to give him a change is the day her family regrets whole heartedly, because it was the day he raped and killed her. Longford had thought he was alone with his Mate and took his anger out on her, but her younger Sister had been at home.

She tried to stop him from hurting her Sister, but in the end he took his anger out on both of them and raped and killed both of them. The reason we know what happened is an audio file her family found on the phone belonging to her younger Sister, but the Council hadn't accepted it as evidence because according to them it is unclear if it was Longford.

When my Tech-team received the audio file it didn't take them long to proof that the voice belonged to Longford.

Harvey had met with their parents and when her Mother had asked for a public death he knew I would grant her that. I am grateful those two females were not the only Pups they had or I doubt their parents would still be alive.

"Someone is approaching the room." Fortune warns me and I calm down my breathing even further. The door opens and I can tell that Longford is by himself, at least for the moment.

I wait as he takes a shower and gets changed into another outfit for his night out, I am not really sure why most females find him attractive. His hair is dark brown and a little too short for my taste, he must be about 6"1 and again a little too short for my taste.

His eyes are chocolate brown and seem a bit dull to me, but then again I am comparing him to my three Mates and then every male loses in comparison. After all, in most cases when a female finds her Mate other males no longer hold an interest.

A knock on the door pulls my attention away from my target and two other males step into his hotel room. "Ready to find you a female for the evening, Longford." One of the males says as he looks him up and down.

All three males chuckle, as Longford puts on his jacket and one of the others opens the door of his suite.

"Ready, let's just hope we don't run into any members of Blood Crescent Pack." Longford mumbles and the other male tells him that all Pack-members will stay in the territory until after the Spring Ball,

"Good, I really hate that fucking Beta." Longford growls and I wonder what Kay ever did to him.

Just before the door closes behind them I hear Longford ask if they made reservations at La Himta and I smile when I hear one of them confirm the reservations, this is going to be a walk in the park.

La Himta has no cameras inside their club, they say it is for the privacy of their clients but I know better. Iwait until Longford is far enough away from his room, before I exit the room the way I always do and an hour later I am in my office watching the floor through the see-through mirror.

Longford is flirting with every female that comes close to him, but luckily every female, so far, was with another male and I chuckle every time another male destroys his hopes. Anyone with a keen eye can see that he is getting agitated and that will only serve my plan for him.

I see a waitress taking their order and I walk down the stairs to the back of the bar. I know what Longford usually orders and tonight is no exception, no clients are near this side of the bar which means I can do what I want.

By the time I get back to my office Longford's order gets served and I watch as he empties his glass in one go. Just as I suspected he would and he has asked for a refill, before the waitress can walk away from his table.

Everyone is having a good time but I know that won't last long and after waiting another ten minutes I see the first symptoms of Addejora appear.

The first one to notice it is a female he starts flirting with and she gives him a disgusted look before she walks away, his friends see why she gave him that look the moment he turns towards them. Blister like bubbles appear on his body, but instead of being filled with liquid they are filled with blood.

From the moment they open till the moment he takes his last breath will take about ten minutes and in those ten minutes he will go through excruciating pain, serves the Asshole right. The area around Longford gets cleared by the staff and I have a clear view of what is happening, the moment a waitress places a cloth over his face I get out of my chair.

Longford is gone and I have completed my assignment, time to go home.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 430[1,231 words]

Chapter 430

Kay's p.o.v.

We were at the house until after dinner time and I know there will be hell to pay for missing it, but Mack looks surprised when he sees that there are no lights on nor are there any Warriors outside.

"Fuck, I forgot to ask the Warriors to guard Maleah and the house after lunch." Mack mutters and we all mutter "Fuck" when the door turns out to be locked. I take a chance as I link Dax to ask about Maleah, but he tells us he covered for us and that she went home after dinner.

When I tell him that she isn't here and that Mack forgot to place Warriors with her he starts cussing and swearing. Within minutes a handful of Warriors and our Alphas show up and a very pissed off looking Diego.

"Why the fuck were there no Warriors protecting my Daughter?" He yells as he stalks towards Mack.

"Diego, the three of us are to blame. We walked her to Ariel's studio and we knew there was a change she wouldn't make it back for lunch, because she had a lot of work to do. Mack thought it was unnecessary for the Warriors to guard the house while she wasn't there and after lunch we went back to work.

We were too busy going over everything we needed to do, that we forgot to inform the Warriors." I tell Diego and the look in his eyes tells me that he doesn't really believe me. Dax sends the Warriors to check the territory, before he tells us to head inside.

"I think you have some explaining to do." He growls.

Diego grabs the binder from the coffee table and looks at the three of us one by one, "Tell me that this is here for the reason I think it is." He says with a huge smile on his face.

"Do you know that she was so preoccupied for days after she came to the conclusion that not only multiples can share a Mate?" He asks.

"That wasn't Maleah, that was Fortune." Levi mumbles and Diego looks at us while Dax grabs the binder from his hands.

"You need to tell her about the house, that way she knows where to look for you when you are not here. She didn't return to the Pack-house and according to a Warrior that walked by here hours ago, she was inside checking the windows and closing doors throughout the house.

Gather some men at the Pack-house and start searching for her." Dillon says before he walks out of Maleah's house. Our Alphas remain in the Pack-house while the Warriors are split into four groups, we will start searching from our borders.

Maybe one of us can pick up her scent or that of a stranger and hopefully that will lead us to wherever they are holding Maleah, I just hope it is someone that is after the bounty on her head.

I don't want to think about what might happen if Alpha Bradley managed to get her out of the territory and Titan is whimpering in the back of my head, he hates this even more than I do. He feels as if he failed his Mates and in a way we did fail our Mate.

I take the western border and we question everyone we meet along the way, but no one has seen anything strange. We search the net territory meticulously until we get to the western border, there is still a stretch of forest before you get to the main road and we continue our meticulous search until we reach the road. If they managed to get her here than our search grid needs to widen, because from here they could have gone anywhere.

Our southern border is mainly surrounded by forest, but our gate is positioned there and both other borders are completely surrounded by forest. This is going to be a long and tiring night for all of us. Dax asks through the mind-link if anyone found something and we all have to tell him that there is no trace of Maleah, making him cuss and swear down the mind-link again.

"Okay, let's search across the road for anything you can find. If they managed to get her here I hope we find traces of a vehicle." I order.

We spread out to cover as much ground as we can, but we stick close enough together that we don't miss a thing and every few minutes I get called to a spot. Unfortunately every scent we smell is older than twelve hours and at that time she was still at the Pack-house, having dinner with our Alphas and former leadership.

I get more and more worried about her safety the more time passes and Titan is not making things easier for me.

Mack's responds through the mind-link get shorter every time someone asks how things are going and I am afraid that he might blow a gasket if we don't find something soon.

"Levi, how are you and Largo doing?" I ask him because he hasn't answered a question in nearly an hour.

"Kay, what if he marked her?" I hear him whisper back and Titan releases a mighty roar, not liking the question.

"She will kill him the first change she gets and that will be the minute she wakes up answer both Levi and Titan. There is no doubt in my mind that she will kill Alpha Bradley if he was able to forcefully mark her, but something tells me that if she was taken it would be for the bounty on her head and that frightens me more than Maleah being in the hands of Alpha Bradley.

Dax asks me through the mind-link what we found and before I can answer him Mack, Levi and Diego show up.

"Sorry, Titan didn't like the question Levi asked. If it is Alpha Bradley or someone working for him that took her she will kill him before he can blink his eyes and that is actually the scenario I am hoping for, because if someone figured out who she is..." I let my sentence trail off, because I know they can finish it for themselves and a shiver runs down my spine.

Diego is shaking his head while Levi and Mack are clenching their fists, none of us wants to think about any of those scenarios but at some point we might have to. I am not sure if it is easy to find out that Maleah is the Angel of Death, we never tried because we agreed with the Wolves and Lycans she took out and I think our Alphas were happy those assignments never ended up on their desks.

"Beta, something is approaching." One of the Warriors on my team says as he looks down the road, but no matter how hard I stare in the direction he is looking I can't see anything. Then I see something moving from one side of the road to the other side and he asks me if I saw it too as I narrow my eyes to see if it gets better that way, but of course it doesn't.

"I saw it too, but I can't tell you what is approaching us." I answer him and in seconds the Warriors from the other three teams are standing behind us.

We can all see that whatever it is, is coming closer and suddenly most of us mutter, "Thank the Goddess."

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 431[993 words]

Chapter 431

Fortune's p.o.V.

Having to concentrate on our assignment keeps me from dealing with the thoughts of our Mates, mostly thoughts about why they weren't at the house or why they had a block on the mind-link and of course the Warriors that were supposed to be guarding us.

I can't think of anything about their new assignment that could be so important that they forgot about us and our safety, but then again I have no idea what their new assignment is about.

I am grateful that La Himta is located near a forest and with no cameras at the back of the building it is easy for us to get away, Maleah informed Pauline we didn't need the ride after all. Maleah takes off her clothes to hand control to me and I pick up the bag she took with her, taking off immediately towards Blood Crescent territory.

I need to see my Mates and find out why they did what they did and if their excuse is a lame one I might use them as punching bags for training or I will ban them from the bedroom.

"Yeah, as if you want to spend a night without one of them next to you." Maleah mumbles and I have to admit that I would hate to sleep alone tonight or any other night for that matter, I have adapted to having someone in my bed pretty quickly.

I run through the forest at a leisurely speed and it lulls my Human to sleep, something that happens whenever I take a run to calm myself down. I know she will wake up the moment I tell her to, but right now there is no reason for her to be awake.

I speed up a little as I leave Coalfell behind me and I enjoy the peace and quiet as I make my way towards Wolfpine, it doesn't take long before I see the town come into view. I love the picturesque cottages that are built along the outskirts of the small town, but I know they are too small for us to live in and suddenly I wonder how the four of us are going to live in our house.

There are barely enough rooms for us to sleep in, so what will happen when we have Pups.

Something I need to discuss with my Human and our Mates, maybe we can build onto the house and create more space that way or maybe we should think about building a new house to accommodate all of us.

I slow down my pace as I let that last option run through my mind, what would it look like from the outside or how would the interior look like. I would like an open floor plan for the ground floor, enough windows to enjoy our surroundings and enough rooms upstairs for all of us.

By the time I start to think about the interior of the house I have come to a full stop and somehow that wakes up my Human.

"What is wrong, Fortune?" She asks and I tell her where my mind had taken me.

"Sounds like you already forgave them." She says teasingly and I know I will listen to their explanation, but I am not sure if I will let them off the hook that easily.

My Human is right though, I can't stay mad at our Mates and I know that has everything to do with the Mate-bond that is growing between us.

I take of at high speed because I want to go home, get my Mates to the forest for a run and to find out how far our bond has formed. The closer I get to our territory the more uneasy I feel and even my Human is starting to feel uneasy.

"Fortune, something is wrong. They have doubled the Warriors on border patrol, there are about twenty Lycans straight ahead of us." Maleah informs me and when ask her where they are exactly I hear her mutter, "Fuck, at the location Pauline picked us up."

Maleah tells me that they are in Human form and that they all feel stressed out. I swerve from one side of the road to the other side and know it is difficult for anyone to see what is approaching them, at least until it is too late for anyone to run off.

"It's our leadership with a lot of Warriors." Maleah says and I wonder when her abilities will stop to expand or amaze me. I am glad I can come to a halt in a split second, but I am going to scare the shit out of them.

I see Kay standing in the middle of the road and he is looking in my direction, but I doubt he is able to see that it is me at this distance and the moment he is able to recognize me thear several voices mutter, "Thank the Goddess."

I skid to a halt in front of Kay, but I startle him so much that he ends on his ass in front of me and I hear Maleah giggle in my head. I step further towards Kay and it forces him to lie down on his back.

"Angel, who took you?" I hear Levi ask and for a moment I wonder what they are talking about, but then Maleah starts laughing her ass off.

"They thought someone kidnapped us, that is the reason for doubling the Warriors on patrol." She explains and as I look at Kay I can see the worry in his eyes, I just shake my head before I walk towards some trees.

I think it is best if my Human explains this to them, face to face and I hand over control to Maleah once we are behind the trees.

Our Mates still look uneasy when Maleah steps from behind the tree and I think we all need to learn to warn the others when we have to leave. Let's just hope that next time it isn't out of anger that we leave.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 432[1,291 words]

Chapter 432

Maleah's p.o.V.

I needed the nap I took in the back of Fortune's mind, I needed to let my mind run free and Fortune needed to run in her Lycan form. It didn't take me long to doze off, but the moment she stopped running I was wide awake and in a bit of a panic I might add.

Listening to her as she is talking about building another house I just smile, she has forgiven them for what they did and I hope they will learn from today. Fortune and I have never felt better than since we found out there was a connection between us and Mack and that feeling became stronger when we realized we had three Mates.

Something I still have to get used to, just like Mack, Kay and Levi have to get used to as well and I am not sure if that will be easy for males that never had to think about sharing a Mate. I hope they took the time today to think about if they are willing to share a Mate and I hope they will be honest with me if they doubt that they can share a Mate.

I feel that the amount of Warriors along our borders have increased and I wonder what is going on.

I start to use my gift of sense to find out that there are Lycans on the road ahead of us and when Fortune asks me where they are I realize they are near the spot where Pauline and Harvey picked me up.

I giggle when I see Kay landing on his ass and I enjoy the look on his face when Fortune stands right above him, but I sober up quickly when I realize that they thought I had been taken.

I put my clothes back on after Fortune has released control back to me and I am in Levi's arms before I can say a word.

"Let's discuss this in our office." Dominic says before he walks back into our territory and the Warriors rush off in different directions, while Levi still has his face buried in my neck. I try to get out of his arms to hold my other Mates but Levi isn't letting go and I smile when I feel Kay and Mack stepping closer to my sides, sandwiching me between the three of them.

"I would like to keep breathing, I think Dominic really wants some answers." I mumble softly.

All three of them growl softly but they release the hold they have on me, Mack and Kay each wrap an arm around my waist as we walk to the Pack-house and Levi is right behind me to keep an eye on me.

I think they fear I might disappear if they don't hold on to me or keep an eye on me, "Not a chance in hell, they are stuck with us." Fortune mumbles as she curls up in the back of my head and slowly but steadily her breathing evens out, fast asleep by the time we reach the Pack-house.

Mack and Kay step aside the moment Elyse rushes towards us and a moment later I am wrapped in her arms, "I was so worried about you, Maleah. I am so glad you are okay." She says as she softly cries and I realize I need to warn my Alphas next time I go off on an assignment if I don't have the chance to warn one of my Mates.

I tell her we should go to the Alpha office before I can tell her anything and I am glad she allows me to guide her into the office.

"I am sorry for worrying any of you." I say the moment the door closes. "Just before I went home to get ready for dinner I received a message from one of my team members and I had planned on talking to the three of you about it." I say as I look at my Mates.

"It was a chance I couldn't let pass by and when I returned to an empty house Fortune and I were pissed off. The fact that you had a block on the mind-link didn't help either nor the fact that Dax said you were busy with an assignment.

Pauline and Harvey picked me up near the spot where you were all standing and they drove me to Coalfell to take care of one of my targets. After I was done Fortune decided she needed to go for a run, so I informed Pauline she didn't have to pick me up." I say as I look at my mates.

Elyse has a smile on her face but my Alphas don't look to happy with my decision and neither do my Mates. "Maleah, you cannot leave the territory without letting someone know, there is a price on your head in case you forgot." Dominic growls.

Before I can stop Fortune she has him pinned against the wall by his throat, "That price is on our head, of course we didn't forget. If we need to leave the territory to do our job we will feave the territory and I can guarantee that no one will be able to stop us." She roars before she drops him to the floor and she hands control back to me.

"Dominic, if my Mates hadn't put up a block someone would have known where I had gone and none of this would have happened. However, it did happen and there is nothing I can say or do to chance that.

All I can do is promise you that in the future I will warn you or one of your Brothers if I can't get a hold of my Mates." I say as I walk over to the window and I can tells that everyone is very confused, so I explain that there is a connection between me, Mack, Kay and Levi.

Almost all of them react the same way, "Your research was correct." Only my Alphas have an amused smile on their faces, but they don't say a word.

"Mack, care to explain why your Mate was unable to get a hold of you." Dominic asks and I know he wants the truth from Mack. I see him looking at Kay and Levi, the moment they nod their heads he turns to me.

"You asked us to think about the connection you feel to the three of us, but truth be told we didn't need to think about it. About a year after we left for our training with the Elders some idiot was responsible for Dillon getting injured and it didn't look good for a few days.

Dax made the remark that is was a good thing he didn't have a Mate and it made the three of us and our Lycans think, if something happens to one of our Alphas our Luna Still has two Mates left to care for her. If something would happen to one of us our Mate would be on her own and each of us talked to one of our Alphas about how that made us feel.

We never knew from the others that they felt the same way, that we didn't want to risk leaving our Mate behind. Kay thought about it a lot better than me or Levi and he went as far as designing a house that he wanted to build for his Mate, with the hope that he would share his Mate with at least one other male.

We got a bit too preoccupied with the interior of the house and trying to figure out what you might like or dislike." Mack says and suddenly Fortune perks up in my head, she really likes the idea of a house that can accommodate all four of us and our future Pups.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 433[1,234 words]

Chapter 433

Levi's p.o.v.

I saw something moving from left to right but like Kay I couldn't make out what it was and I just stared at the Lycan that stopped in front of Kay, "That is our Mate." Largo says and I ask him if he really thinks I am that stupid, I know the color of Fortune's fur because Maleah told us.

It is just that she looks amazing that has me staring at her and Largo can't wait to go for a run with his Mate, something I hope will happen real soon.

My heart finally stopped racing the moment I laid eyes on our Mate, but I would like to know what happened because she shook her head when I asked who took her.

I guess she tried to tell us that no one took her, but I need to hear Maleah tell us and I wrap my arms around her the moment she stands in front of me. I keep a close eye on my Mate as we walk back to the Pack-house and I want to growl when Elyse takes her attention away from us.

I watch in aww as she pins Dominic to the wall, but the moment she start talking we all know that Fortune is in control and I realize that if they ever want to leave the territory without anyone knowing about it they can.

We keep forgetting that they have more abilities than any Lycan in our Pack and that is why no one had seen her when she left today, she knew how to avoid everyone to get out of the territory. They did it to give the three of us a warning, they wanted us to know they could do a much better job of scaring the shit out of us.

Listening to Maleah explain why she left and why none of us knew about it made it clear to me that she had been worried, that she hadn't liked it when she couldn't reach us. It is obvious the moment Fortune pushes forward, there is no denying that Maleah has a Lycan and both of them listen as Kay takes over the conversation from Mack.

"We wanted to surprise you with the house, but I don't think we thought about the consequences when we put up a block on the mind-link. I am sorry that we worried you or that you felt annoyed when Dax tried to cover for our absence.

Why don't we go take a look at the house? Maybe you have..." Kay gets interrupted by Maleah as she starts shaking her head.

"I will wait until you are done, Fortune and I really appreciate that you thought this through and that the three of you wanted to surprise me. Next time just tell me what you are going to do, so I can warn one of our Alphas and not scare the shit out of everyone." She says.

My phone buzzes to let me know I have received a message and after getting my phone from my pocket I take a look at the screen, Longford died unexpectedly in La Himta. It is a message from one of our Scouts and I quickly read through the rest of the message, gagging as he describes how Longford died.

"Uhm, guys.." I say to get everyone's attention. "I think it is best not to piss off our Mate." I say before I hand my phone to Mack and Kay looks over his shoulder to read the message.

Both of them look at Maleah in shock before Mack hands my phone to one of our Alphas and it takes a few minutes before everyone has read the message, "How did you manage to get into La Himta undetected?" Kay asks.

"Not that difficult when you own the place." She says as she sits down on a couch. "The former owner was a client of mine and he left it to me in his will, none of his Pups had been interested in taking over and a few years before his death he had told me about La Himta.

I went there to see what it was like when he invited me and I told him what I would change if I owned the place, it wasn't until after his death that I found out that he had leffit to me His Pups still visit La Himta but only twice a year, on his birthday and on the day of his death." She explains as Mack pulls her on to his lap.

Kay and I sit down on either side of her, just to be close to her and I feel the same calm come over me I felt last night when I held her in my arms.

Yeah, we definitely have to finish the house and get ourselves a huge bed to sleep in. I don't think any of us will be able to sleep through a night without Maleah and I hope that the same goes for her.

"Maleah, We want you to come to this morning's meeting. For now I suggest we all go to bed and get some sleep." Dominic says as he gets out of his seat. "I would like to hear what happened with Longford and maybe you can help us out with our new assignment."

As we walk home I wonder how we will manage to get some sleep tonight, her bed can't hold the four of us, it barely was able to hold the three of us last night. Mack and Kay check all the windows and doors on the ground floor and I follow Maleah up to her room, only to bump into her when she suddenly stops walking.

I look past her into her room and I chuckle when I see that someone removed her bed and replaced it with two mattresses on the floor.

"Looks like someone didn't want a repeat from last night." She mumbles as she walks into her bathroom, I follow her without thinking about it and my jaw drops when I see her taking off her top.

Her entire back is covered with an amazing tattoo, a Wolf, lying on the ground, is staring at me and in the background I see a forest with a Full Moon above it. Between the Wolf and the forest I see three Wolf silhouettes, all of them are facing the Wolf on the ground.

"Who picked that one?" I ask her as I step closer to trace the lines of the Wolf.

"Fortune did, she told me it was pulling at her when we saw it the first time, Looks like she knew deep down what our future was going to be." Maleah says as she leans into my touch and I slowly let my hand glide to the front of her body, her eyes closing the momentl cup her breast.

I hear groans behind me as I gently pinch her nipple and a soft moan escapes her lips as I pull her closer to my chest.

My cock hardens as her eyes flutter open, she looks so fucking hot and I know she is ours before the sun comes up. After I turn her around in my arms I lower my head to capture her lips with mine, she doesn't hesitate to open up for me and I deepen the kiss quickly.

I groan at the feeling of her tongue against mine, I can grow old doing this every day and she moans as she feels my rock-hard cock pressing against her stomach.

Chapter 434

Levi's p.o.v.

Mack steps behind her with Kay right next to him and I know they are happy with her hair pulled up, because it leaves her neck exposed. She moans loudly as both of them start kissing her neck on the spots where she will wear a mark of one of us.

I feel her lifting herself on her tiptoes as Mack slides his hand between her legs from behind. I feel it when she pushes back on Mack's hand and he growls as she moans.

"You like that, Angel." He states.

I break the kiss when I feel her nod her head and watch her face as Mack keeps sliding his hand back and forward between her legs. I pull her nipple between my lips the moment Kay pinches her other nipple and her eyes pop open at our actions.

Kay whispers in to her ear "Tell us to stop or you will be ours by morning." All she does is moan as Mack and I put more pressure in to our ministrations. Kay lowers his head and starts gently biting her neck as he pinches her breast again.

I am glad her top and bra are already out of the way and Kay and Mack take care of the rest of her clothing as I kiss her again. Mack slides his hand up her thigh and her eyes widen as he touches her bare pussy, I drop to my knees to lift one of her legs over my shoulder.

I see Mack's finger slowly slip into her pussy and I spread her pussy lips to attack her clit with my tongue. Maleah squeals as I suck her clit into my mouth, while Mack's finger pushes inside her even further.

Kay holds her up with one arm around her waist as he is biting and sucking her neck and his other hand is massaging her breast, pinching her nipple before he moves to her other breast. She is breathing heavily and her moans become louder the harder I suck her clit.

Mack is sliding his finger in and out of her faster and she is starting to pant as he adds a second finger. "Please." Is all she whispers before I feel her tense and she screams as she comes on my tongue and Mack's finger.

Kay holds on to her as she slowly catches her breath, if he hadn't been holding on to her she would have collapsed to the floor. I doubt there is any strength left in her legs to support herself, Kay has turned her head towards him and is placing kisses on her lips.

"That was an amazing sight." He whispers as one of his hands cups her breast again and with his thumb he starts running circles around her areola. She looks at him as he says, "I love the look on your face when you come and we will make you come, again and again, Angel."

He lifts her up bridal-style and walks out of the bathroom as Mack and I follow them, he puts her down on the mattress and looks down at her as the three of us take our clothes off. She gasps as our cock jump free of their confinement, her eyes widen as they shift from one cock to the other and we can see her eyes fill with lust.

Kay crawls onto the mattress next to her, I lie down on her other side and Mack stands at the bottom of the mattress.

Mack crawls on to the mattress to position himself in between her legs, he pushes her legs further apart and Kay and I both grab hold of her legs. We spread her even wider for Mack and I can see her pussy glistening from her juices, the three of us groaning at the sight in front of us.

Mack places the head of his cock at her entrance and he slams it in to the hilt, holding still after that to let her adjust to his cock. The moment she moves her hips Mack starts to pull back slowly.

He pulls back until only the head of his cock is still inside her pussy and then he stams back in to her. Maleah stam

moans as Mack starts sliding his cock in and out of her, faster and harder with every thrust intocher body and Kay and I are enjoying taking turns in kissing her and taking care of her breasts.

As I am sucking her breast I let my hand glide down her body, her breathing becomes more and more labored and a loud moan escapes her lips the moment I touch her clit.

Kay is on his knees next to her head, she looks at him and then at his

her appen up, Angel." He says to her and as she opens her mouth he slowly guides his cock in to he mouth. He groans the moment she closes her lips around his cock and she pushes her hips up towards Mack as I keep putting pressure on her clit.

"Fuck, Angel. This looks so fucking hot, I can't wait until it is my turn." I whisper in her ear as Mack starts pounding harder into her pussy.

Kay roars as he comes inside her mouth, but Maleah keeps sucking his cock until he pulls away from her and collapses on the mattress next to her. "Please." Is all she mumbles before she screams Mack's name and after a few more thrusts he stills deep inside her, shooting his load into her pussy.

Kay has moved out of the way and Mack takes his place next to Maleah, while we all are catching our breath.

My hand moves up and down the arm that Maleah has placed on my chest, her breathing evening out and I smile the moment she drifts off to sleep. I doze off from time to time, but I refuse to fully surrender to sleep.

My hands are roaming across her body, when I feel her stir in the early hours of the day.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 435[1,593 words]

Chapter 435

Maleah's p.o.V.

Feeling Levi's hand moving slowly from my back to my breast, knowing Kay and Mack were watching made me moan and I couldn't wait to feel all their hands on my body. I wanted to push them away when I felt Mack and Levi between my legs, but I am glad I didn't get a chance to do that and I hope I will get a repeat from it in the near future.

I am exhausted from all the sensations that ran through my body and as I place my head on Levi's chest I slowly drift off to sleep.

I wake up to hands roaming my body and as I slowly open my eyes I find myself in Levi's arms, my other Mates are not in the room but I know they are still in the house.

"It is still early, Angel. We still have a few hours before we have to be at the Pack- house." Levi whispers in my ear as he positions himself between my legs, he slides the head of his cock through my folds and I moan the moment he slides over my clit.

He pushes his cock into my core as he lowers his head and I smile at him just before our lips collide. Levi puts his arms under my knees to open me even further and he is able to slam his cock in even deeper, thrusting into my body hard.

My moans are getting louder and I hear him groan as his movements become more erratic, I see Largo close to the surface as I look into his eyes and the look I get tells me he is up to something. He pulls his cock out, to replace them with two of his fingers and his head drops to my breast.

As he nibbles on my nipple, his fingers start moving in and out of my pussy and just as I am nearing my climax, he pulls out his fingers. Slowly he slides his fingers around my body to my ass and I shiver in anticipation, hoping that he will do what I have fantasized about since finding out I have multiple Mates.

He slowly starts pushing against my backdoor until my body opens up for him, pushing one finger in my ass and at the same time he shoves his cock back into my pussy.

He adds a second finger, as he starts to thrust in and out of me and I tell him to go harder. He does as I ask of him, his cock and fingers slamming into my body over and over and I feel myself getting closer to an orgasm.

He lowers his head to find my marking spot and I feel my canines elongate as Fortune pushes forward, I bite down on his marking spot the moment I come because Levi has punctured my skin. We hold each other tight as we come down from our climax and I can feel his emotions running through him.

Just as I am about to tell him we should get out of bed the door opens and I smile when I see Mack and Kay walking into the bedroom, both of them are sniffing the air.

Levi gets of the mattress after he has kissed his mark and with a smirk on his face he disappears into the bathroom, leaving me to the mercy of my other two Mates. Mack and Kay crawl on to the mattress together, their eyes filled with lust and the presence of their Lycans.

Mack lowers his head to lock his lips with mine, while Kay starts a delicious assault on my breast while one of his hands is roaming my body and Mack deepens the kiss even further. My breathing becomes labored from Mack kissing me and Kay letting his hand glide closer to my core.

I moan the moment Kay's hand disappears between my legs and Mack starts to pinch my nipple as he slowly breaks the kiss, kissing his way down to my breast.

Both of them move closer to my body and I hear them groan the moment their rock-hard cocks press against my body, I can't concentrate on their caresses anymore. My body receives so much attention that my thoughts are no longer making sense, my eyes fly open the moment I hear Kay growl.

"We can smell your arousal, Angel. Do you like what we are doing to you, Angel?" Mack says, I look at the males hovering above me, both of them have lust filled eyes.

My core starts throbbing harder as Kay continues his assault on my clit and Mack pushes to fingers into my core, I start breathing heavier as both of them pick up speed on their movements.

Both of them pick up the pace even more just before Mack growls into my ear, "Come, Angel." I shatter into a million pieces as they keep assaulting my body, as I come down from my climax they start to slow their ministrations.

Kay doesn't give me much time to think as he lifts me up and I moan the moment Mack's cock presses against my entrance, Kay holds onto me as he slowly lowers me onto Mack's cock.

Mack tells me to place my hands on his chest as I feel him filling me to the brim and Kay releases me the moment I have taken every inch of his cock into my pussy, Mack places his hands on my hips to help me keep a steady pace as I move up and down his cock.

I feel Kay moving behind me and as he pushes a finger into my pussy I moan while Mack groans, "Fuck, that feels good." I hear Mack whisper as Kay moves his finger in and out until he seems to be pleased and without hesitation he pushes two fingers in my ass, catching me off guard.

Kay isn't gentle as he pumps his fingers in and out of my ass and I mumble "Please" as both of them pick up the pace on their thrusts into my body.

Kay places his hand on my shoulder to push me towards Mack's chest and every coherent thought leaves my mind as he keeps pumping his fingers into my ass in this new position, I can feel Kay moving behind me as Mack pulls my head towards him for a kiss.

My eyes widen when I feel his cock pressing against my backdoor, my body gives into his demands as he pushes hard against my backdoor and I feel him glide in deeper as he leans forward.

Mack has pulled his cock out as Kay pushed deeper into my ass, Kay starts pulling out while Mack starts pushing his cock in and for a while they keep their movements slow.

"Fuck, this is a gorgeous sight." I hear Levi say, I let my eyes drift towards him and I see him sitting in a chair with his cock in his hand. feel the heat in my body rise as watch Levi's hand stroking his cock, while Mack and Kay are still tormenting me with their slow thrusts into my body.

"Stop teasing me, just fuck me." I growl as this pace starts driving me insane.

A loud moan escapes my lips when they stop alternating their assault on my body, my breathing is heavy and I get pushed closer to my orgasm when I feel them losing control of their rhythm.

I lean closer to Mack's neck when I feel my canines elongate, Kay sandwiches me between them as he leans forward to find the spot where he is going to mark me and Mack does the same on the other side. We bite down in unison, causing the three of us to come at the same time.

I hear a soft roar coming from Levi as he shoots his load into the air and Kay collapses beside me after he has pulled his cock out, I push myself up towards his neck. I still have a Mate to mark and nothing is going to stop me and Fortune from getting what we wants.

Mack growls as his cock slides out of my pussy, but it isn't empty long as Kay places me on his cock that hasn't gone down yet and I know I will enjoy marking my Mate this way.

Neither one of us wastes time the moment every inch of his cock is buried in my pussy and I thought I would have trouble reaching another orgasm, but Kay proves me wrong with the help of Levi and Mack.

Both of them are on their knees behind me and I feel each of them pushing a finger into my ass, "Fuck, Angel. This looks so fucking hot." Mack mumbles and I look over my shoulder to see both of them staring at their finger as they pump in and out of my ass.

Kay pulls my attention back to him by turning my face towards him with his hand and as my body gets an overload of attention I lower met head towards his neck, ready to claim my third Mate. I release a soft growl the moment they start pushing a second finger into my ass, but soon it turns to pleasure as my body gets used to the intrusion.

Just before they push me over the edge I sink my canines into Kay's neck, completing our Mate-bond and completely exhausted I collapse onto his chest.

We lay there for a while as we get used to feeling the other's emotions and I know

I will never have to wonder if they love me, it is evident in the emotions I feel from each of them.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 436[1,064 words]

Chapter 436

Maleah's p.o.V.

"Can you tell me about your new assignment?" I ask as I make myself comfortable on Kay's chest, it is quiet for a while and I believe one of them is asking one of our Alphas for permission to tell me about this new assignment.

"Dax has given his permission, he is hoping you might be able to help out. Our Scout wasn't able to find anything on the Pack-member that is causing trouble. He said it is almost as if she vanished into thin air, the places the Alpha mentioned where she could be were a bust and he wonders if he had been telling the truth."

Mack says.

Before he tells me that they figured out that the female in the picture, provided by the Alpha, has to be his Daughter and that she probably escaped the territory about two months ago, I shoot up straight as I look at Mack. "Can I see the picture?" I ask him because I have a feeling I have an answer for them.

Mack gets up to grab his phone and just as he puts his hand around it he gets a notification, he pushes a few buttons before he turns it to me and I hear Fortune growling in my head.

"Let's go, I have answers but I think our Alphas want to hear them too." I say as I get of Kay's chest and make my way into my bathroom, starting my morning routine with my thoughts running a hundred miles an hour through my head.

"Calm down, Angel. You are making us dizzy." Levi says teasingly.

I stare at him in confusion until it sinks in, they felt my turmoil as I was processing what I just found out and I tell Levi that he should get used to it.

"I have had a puzzle in my mind for a few weeks now and you just provided me with the last piece to solve the puzzle. When that happens my mind starts running in every direction and it last as long as it takes me to solve the puzzle." I tell Levi as I look at him through the mirror and I smile when he pulls the braid from my hair, before he starts brushing my hair.

I close my eyes for a moment to enjoy this special moment with Levi and I slowly open them when he whispers in my ear to leave it down, "I like running my hands through your hair." He says before he places a kiss under my ear and I giggle as it tickles.

I look in the mirror at my three Mates and I smile when I realize that it is a good idea that we will move to another house, let's just hope that the bathroom is much larger in the other house.

"What is that smile about?" Kay asks.

"I hope that at least one bathroom in that house you're building is big enough, it is a bit crowded in here." I tell him with a smile on my face.

"Don't worry, Angel. I got that covered, you will more than enough space in your bathroom and I think I am going to enjoy the bathtub that is in there." Kay says and I don't need him to explain what he means with that.

Mack's p.o.v.

I wanted to run-up the stairs the moment I smelled her arousal, but Kay pointed out that we had all the time in the world and that we could take our time with our Mate. We didn't get a change to mark her last night as she fell asleep from exhaustion and I hope she will be marked before we walk out of the door today, but I had nothing to worry about.

Levi is already marked by Maleah when we walk into the bedroom and we don't waste time as we crawl onto the mattress.

My cock is buried in her pussy when I feel Kay pushing a finger in, I never thought

I would enjoy sharing a Mate with anyone and I am surprised how it makes me feel when he is pumping his finger in and out.

But it didn't prepare me for feeling his cock sliding into her ass, our cocks separated by just a thin piece of her body and I don't think I have ever felt this good while fucking a female. We take it slow but our Mate seems to have other ideas and the moment I feel her caninés puncture my skin I shoot my load deep inside her.

I watch as she crawls on top of Kay and as I see her lower herself on his cock Levi moves behind them, I got of the mattress to see what he is up to. I don't hesitate in joining Levi to pleasure our Mate and I heacher growl as we push a second finger inside her, her body greedily accepting the intrusion that send her over the edge once more.

Levi and I lay down next to Kay while Maleah is sprawled across his chest and we just lay there as we all go through the same thing, getting used to feeling the other's emotions.

The moment Maleah asked about our latest assignment I linked Dax to ask for permission, even though I knew he would tell me to tell her everything and I ask him to send me the picture of the young female involved.

I can't read her face but the moment I show her the picture I feel her anger spike and instead of asking questions I just get ready for the day, in the meantime linking our Alphas that we might get some answers to this case.

Commander chuckles when we hear her complain about the size of her bathroom and I am glad that Kay kept in mind that Lycans have pretty huge Humans when he designed the bathrooms, it will make this less annoying in the future.

We keep bumping into one another as we try to maneuver through the bathroom, it doesn't take as long to get ready and as we follow Maleah out of the house I see her typing on her phone.

None of us says a word as we make our way to the Pack-house because if there's one thing we have figured out about our Mate already is that when she says she has something that will answer some of our questions than she has those answers for us.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 437[1,625 words]

Mack's p.o.v.

Our Alphas are already waiting for us and I smile when I see they even made sure that there is coffee for all of us, the moment they see the marks on our neck they congratulate us on completing the Mate-bond.

"You might not like that I am asking this question, but what the fuck are you doing here if you just marked your mate?" Dominic asks as he looks at the three of us.

"That would be my doing." Maleah says. “I have a few questions and quite a few answers. I will start out with my questions before I will provide you with answers, I would like to know what the Alpha told you about your target." Maleah says and Dominic grabs the file from his desk as I tell her that the Alpha is accusing her of causing trouble, that according to him she is sending Rogues to his pack.

"Is that all he is accusing her of?" Maleah asks and we all stare at her hoping she will provide us with answers. "I ran into her, maybe six or seven weeks ago, during one of my assignments, she wasn't doing too well and when I heard her story I realized this wasn't over by a long shot.

Little over two months ago her Father informed her that on her eighteenth birthday she would take the second Son of his best friend as her chosen Mate and that he will run the pack instead of her. Luckily she knows a little bit about herbs and she had picked a bouquet of flowers for in her bedroom, but no one realized that one of the flowers she picked can cause a very upset stomach if eaten unprepared.

She made sure she ate it the day before she turned eighteen, her Father didn't want to risk her running off so he locked her in her room on the Alpha floor but she had been preparing for this day ever since her Father told her what he was planning.

She managed to escape that night but he had been chasing her ever since she had left Pack territory and she didn't get much rest with her Father's men constantly chasing her and when I found her she was near death.

I doubt her Father is aware of the fact that his men beat her almost within an inch of her life, but she managed to escape every single time and I think that pissed them off.

Resulting in the beatings she got over and over again, but I think the last time they caught on to her they had decided they were going to have some fun with her and it wouldn't have ended with just a beating an rape, I truly believe it would have ended with her death.

The reason no one can find her is because I put her in one of my safe houses, I sometimes meet people along the way that need to escape a difficult situation and even though I am well connected as a businesswoman I can't go around asking the people that I know to grant strangers asylum. Currently I have five males and three females in hiding and I still haven't found a Pack that I feel comfortable enough with to ask for help." Maleah tells us.

Maleah's p.o.V.

As I look around the room I can see that each male is having trouble controlling their Lycan, "Maleah, you can get those males and females out of hiding, we will take them in and if you ever run into anyone again that needs a Pack to live in don't hesitate to bring them here. They are more than welcome." Dax says through gritted teeth.

I had already sent a message to my team to alert them to the assignment our Pack received and as I take a look at my phone I see that Pauline has sent me a message back, telling me that everyone is well protected at the safe houses.

I send her a message to relay the invitation from my Alphas and it only takes her ten minutes to reply We will be leaving soon and I inform my Alphas of the fact that soon they will have eight more Pack-members.

A moment later Elyse walks in and Dax explains to his Mother that new Pack- members are on their way, Dax rolls his eyes at his Mother when she says, "Maybe one of those females is your Mate, maybe she can knock some sense into you guys." Not that she's angry or upset with her Sons but I know and understand that as their Mother she is hoping they will finally find their Mate.

Elyse walks out of the office to make sure that there will be rooms prepared for our new Pack-members, there is a chance some of them won't need it if they happen to feel a connection with one of our other Pack-members but it's better to be safe than sorry

"Do you have any more surprises for us, Maleah?" Dax asks.

"If I told you it wouldn't be a surprise any more, now would it." I reply and everyone but Dax is laughing their asses off, "You asked, Alpha, I just answered."

I say with a huge smirk on my face and for a little while we just sit there talking about whatever pops into our minds.

It gives us a chance to get to know one another and I find it easy talking to our Alphas, because unlike some other Alphas I know they treat me normal.

We are still half an hour out, Delaney is in the first vehicle to arrive. Her Father showed up in the neighborhood shortly after we left, not sure if he will come for her. Is the message I receive from Pauline and after I show it to Levi he links someone.

"Tell her that eight Lycans are coming their way, if he followed them they will stall him. Guards at the gate are warned as well." Levi says once he is done with the mind-link and I quickly relay the message to Pauline as I send a little prayer to the Goddess.

I remember what Delaney looked like the day I found her and it still pissed

Fortune off, that he send our Pack after her isn't making it better.

"What will you do with this assignment, Dax?" I ask, because I am curious to find out what they do with assignments like this.

"We will call him tomorrow to let him know that we will not go after the target, that there are too many risks involved for us and that if he is smart he will forget about it. I will tell him that if he leaves his former Pack-member alone, she might return the favor and give up on harassing him and his Pack." Dax answers me.

I smile before task him how often he has held that speech, Mack hides behind my back as I feel his body shake. "It sounds as if you dealt with this kind of thing before, I was just wondering if you of those lines." I say with a serious look on my face, while Fortune is rolling in the aisles.

My Mates can tell I am pulling his chains, but Mack is the only one that can't hold back his laughter and for a moment I fear that Dax won't answer me.

"Well, let me think." Dax says and as Dominic looks at me realization sinks in, like me Dominic is damn good at keeping a straight face. believel might have said once or twice that we couldn't take an assignment due to a family emergency, but you can't use that one too often." He says and then I lose the grip I have on my restrain.

I burst out in laughter and the rest are close behind me, Dax looks at me dumbfounded as Levi glides of the couch. I sense it the moment Elyse opens the door and when I look at her I see a huge smile on her face.

"Thank the Goddess, I thought they had forgotten how to laugh." She says teasingly as she looks at her Sons, but we all sober up the moment Dax announces that our new Pack-members just crossed the border.

"Unfortunately her Father is close behind them." He says and I pull out my phone to call Pauline.

"Go to my house, you know the access code for the attic." I say the moment she answers and I follow our Alphas out of the office to wait for the caravan of SUVs to arrive at the Pack-house.

“Dad, I need you to head home. Act as if you have been there all day if anyone shows up, Pauline will hide Delaney on the attic and keep you company." I tell him as we meet near the front door.

Dad doesn't ask who Delaney is, he just turns on his heel and leaves the Pack- house through the living room. Colter walks into the Pack-house and tells me that he will keep them company as well, "Let someone try something with three Assassins in the house." He mumbles as he walks away from us.

Kay places his arm around my waist as we see the SUVS pull up to the front porch. I see Harvey looking rather pissed off and I know it has everything to do with Delaney's Father.

I am the first one to step of the front porch when Harvey gets out and heads to the back of the SUVs, he keeps staring towards the gate and I know he is waiting for Delaney's Father to show up. Mack asks me what is problem is and I move a little closer to Kay.

"He was with me the day I found Delaney, he saw what they did to her." I say softly, but I know they all heard me.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 438[979 words]

Chapter 438

Kay's p.o.v.

Titan is on high alert, he has been ever since Maleah told us about Delaney and what her former Pack-members did to her. I have my arm around her waist to keep Titan calm, I smile when Levi steps next to her and Mack wraps his arms around her waist from the back.

Elyse guides our new Pack-members into the Pack-house, while the members of Maleah's team move into position around the SUVs and I can tell that each of them is well trained.

It takes about another five minutes before another SUV pulls to a stop in front of the Pack-house and I see Alpha Craig exit the vehicle, "Alpha Dax, I demand to see my Daughter." He says as he closes the door of the SUV and he tries to get through the Assassins that block his way.

"I am sorry, Alpha Craig, but who is your Daughter?" Dax asks him as he keeps standing behind us and everyone can see that Alpha Craig is getting angry.

"She just arrived here in those SUVS." He says as he points at the SUVS in front of us.

Dominic turns around and asks his Father to get the females that just arrived at the Pack-house,

"They will be out shortly, I didn't know that one of them was your Daughter." Dominic says. "I don't believe I ever met her during one of our visits to your Pack, did you?" He asks and I know he is addressing his Brothers, but both tell him that they can't remember meeting her either.

Which in itself is an insult to a visiting Alpha, every Alpha gets to meet the Alpha, the Luna and their Pups during a Pack visit.

It has two benefits: first of all an Alpha gets to find out if there might be a connection to an Alpha blooded female and secondly it means that an Alpha will know who he is dealing with in the future.

I don't believe it was an accident that our Alphas never met her and I believe no other Alpha met her either, she is the only Pup Alpha Craig has. If she was introduced to an Alpha that felt a connection to her, there would be no one left to take over his Pack.

Max tells Dominic that the females are on their way down and we all know that neither one of them is Alpha Craig's Daughter, in the meantime I link one of our Warriors to get the footage from the camera that is mounted to the front of the Pack-house.

It will show him that his Daughter never got out of those vehicles, if he makes a big scene and asks for proof that she isn't in our Pack-house. I can sense that our Alphas are stepping aside and Alpha Craig has the audacity to growl in their direction.

"No, you are hiding her in your Pack-house." He growls and the Warrior I linked walks up to him to show him that his Daughter never got out of the SUVs.

"These are the only females that came out of those SUVs, Alpha." He says as he starts playing the footage, another male gets out of the SUV and steps next to Alpha Craig.

"Where is my Mate?" He yells as he looks up from the screen.

"Who is your Mate?" Dax asks as he steps of the front porch.

"My Daughter is his Mate." Alpha Craig responds and I can feel Maleah's anger through our Mate-bond.

"He is lying, he isn't marked and she wasn't at the Pack when she turned eighteen." Maleah growls trough the mind-link.

"Alpha Craig, hope you don't mind me asking this question and I want you to understand I mean no disrespect." Dax says. "If your Daughter is his Mate, then why isn't he marked?" He asks and I hear the others chuckle through the mind link.

"That is none of your business, Alpha Dax." Is the responds he gets from Alpha Craig and again he tries to get through the block of Assassins in his way, "Get out of my way." Alpha Craig says but none of them budges.

Harvey even releases some of his Assassin aura, "I don't take orders from you, Alpha." Harvey replies as he crosses his arms in front of his chest and takes a wider stance while still looking at Alpha Craig.

"Alpha Dax, tell your men to stand down or I will take this up with the Council of Elders." He threatens and I wonder how Dax is going to respond to this demand.

"Can you all stand down?" Alpha Dax asks, but we all know it won't do him any good and none of the men respond to his question.

"Sorry, looks like they don't want to stand down. I can try again, maybe a pretty please will work." Dax says and I can feel that our Lycans are laughing their asses off through the Mate-bond.

"Alpha Dax, what do you take me for, a Fool." Alpha Craig growls.

"Uhm, yeah.” Maleah responds through the mind-link and I see one of her men turn his head towards her, a huge grin on his face.

"Alpha Craig, these men don't belong to Blood Crescent Pack. They are

my personal protection detail and only answer to me." Maleah says as she gets out of our arms, we reluctantly let her go and Levi follows right behind her as she walks towards Alpha Craig.

Alpha Craig looks her up and down with lust in his eyes and a roar escapes my lips because Titan doesn't like the way he looks at her.

"Titan, calm down. I am not interested in this Moron and you know that, just calm down. I will be right back.” Maleah says the moment she has turned around and for some strange reason it calms Titan down, I can even sense that Commander and Largo are calming down.

"My men are trained to protect me and you approaching the Pack-house was threat enough for them." She says.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 439[1,155 words]

Chapter 439

Maleah's p.o.V.

The moment Alpha Craig steps out of the SUV I understand why Delaney looked so familiar, he had contacted me to make a dress for his Daughter and had sent her measurements with the email.

I didn't like the tone of the email and I had asked when she would be available for her first fitting session, but the answer I got made me refuse the order. He had replied that I should just make the dress and that their seamstress could make any alterations that were necessary.

It was for her eighteenth birthday party and the dress he describe was to revealing for a birthday party, no matter how old the female would become. He had given me a lot of details including her date of birth and that will be his downfall.

"Alpha Dax, do you have a picture that goes with our newest assignment?" I ask and even though he knows I already saw it he still pulls it out of the file, "When did this trouble start according to Alpha Craig?" I ask without taking my eyes of the Alpha.

"Two months ago, it says so in the file and he told me and Kay in person." Mack responds.

"Alpha Craig, how can you claim that this male is your Daughter's Mate if according to your own intel she started sending Rogues your way two months ago? If my calculations are correct your Daughter started sending Rogues your way on her eighteenth birthday, making it impossible for him to be her Mate." I say and Alpha Craig asks me how I know when his Daughter turned eighteen.

"Oh my, where are my manners?" I say in a fake shocked tone. “Let me introduce myself to you, Alpha Craig. My name is Maleah D'Angelo and you sent me an email a few months ago with the request to design your Daughter's dress."

He looks at me in surprise and asks if I recently joined Blood Crescent Pack, "I was born and raised here and if you had taken the time to look me up online you would have known that." I tell him before I turn my back on him.

"Alpha Craig, I think it is safe to say we will not be handling your assignment. I also suggest you leave our territory and next time you want to pay us a visit do it through the proper channels." Dominic says and it seems he wants to object, but he quickly gets into SUV when all three of my Alphas step next to one another.

"Harvey, can you go to my house and get the others? Maybe Pauline can calm you down a bit.” I say before I walk into the arms of my Mates, needing them to calm me down.

No one has to tell him where my house is, he can find it blind folded with Pauline being there and he takes off without saying another word.

"Let's go to our office, I would like to hear Delaney's story from herself." Dominic says before he walks back up the steps to disappear into the Pack-house, I know everyone would like to hear her story and none of them is going to like listening to it.

"I will wait here for Delaney, I want to make sure she is comfortable with telling all of you her story." I tell my Mates and all three silently nod their heads don't tell anyone I have a question for Delaney, I didn't expect to find a tiny little secret about her and I doubt her Father is aware of it.

Dad shows up with Colter and Delaney a few minutes later and I know I won't be seeing Pauline and Harvey anytime soon, Delaney looks around her with some fear in her eyes. "Don't worry, your Father went home and I doubt he will be back soon." I tell Delaney and she sighs in relief.

I ask her if she is willing to tell my Alphas and my Mates her story, I can see her eyes go from worry to joy and know the first is because of my Alphas and the latter because of my Mates. Dad asks if she minds if he and Colter hear her story as well, he wants to get every piece of information on Alpha Craig that he can, just in case we need it in the future.

"You can send everyone from the office, but you do need to explain things to my Alphas." I tell Delaney.

She tells me that they are allowed to hear her story and I ask Dad and Colter to head inside. The moment they walk inside I link Delaney, "When did you shift for the first time?" I ask her and it takes a few seconds before she answers me.

"A week before I turned sixteen and you already figured out the surprise I found.” I nod my head before I ask my next question out loud.

"Did you find out how this is possible?" Delaney tells me that her Mother was a Lycan, but her Father thought she was too weak to have Lycan offspring.

"My Mother disappeared when I was four, rumor around the Pack is that Father rejected her and banished her from the Pack. I was never able to get a straight answer from him and eventually I gave up on finding out if she was still alive." Delaney says and I tell her we will help her find the answers to all of her questions, before I guide her into the Pack-house to meet my Alphas.

The first person we see as we step into the Pack-house is Elyse and she asks Delaney if she would like some breakfast and coffee.

Elyse walks into the kitchen to get some more breakfast and I walk with Delaney towards the Alpha office, but she slows down her stride the closer we get to the door.

"Delaney, it will be fine. They know in big lines what happened, but they don't know why or to many details. I will be there if you need me, they all know I can make all of them back down if that might be necessary.” I tell her and it seems to calm her down enough to start walking again.

I can sense Elyse behind us when we step into the office and I feel Delaney stiffen next to me when she looks at my Alphas, "What is wrong?" I ask her and with my attention directed at Delaney I don't see the looks my Alphas exchange.

"My Lycan feels a connection to your Alphas." She whispers and I quickly look at my Alphas to see that their Lycans have told them.

"Alphas, take it easy or you deal with me. Is that clear?" I ask as I guide Delaney to an armchair close to my Alphas. All three of them nod and I can sense Elyse walking closer to Delaney, she will put her Sons in their place if they manage to screw up.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 440[1,049 words]

Chapter 440

Delaney's p.o.V.

I was woken by a loud knocking on my door and before opening the door I asked who it was, luckily it was one of the men from Maleah's team.

"Maleah found a Pack that is willing to take you and the others in, pack your stuff." He says the moment I have opened the door. "All eight of you will be going to Blood Crescent Pack, it means better protection for all of you." He continues before he walks back down the hall and I sigh in relief.

No more worrying if Father will find me or if Maleah's men will be able to protect me when he does find me. Now all I have to worry about is whether or not her Alphas will accept me as a Pack-member when they find out who my Father is, but I know one thing for sure I am not going back to him and I think I would rather go Rogue.

My Lycan growls at the thought of being forced to go home and I have to remind her of the promise we made each other just before Maleah found us.

Pauline puts me in an SUV and it is just the two of us, "Just in case we run into your Father, I would hate to put anyone else in jeopardy." She answers my unspoken question as we pull away from the safehouse and about ten minutes later Harvey calls to tell us that my Father was spotted in the area of the safehouse, he tells Pauline to step on it.

As we are nearing the border of Blood Crescent Pack I see the Lycans approaching they sent to keep us from harm and I sigh in relief when we reach Maleah's house.

Her Father introduces himself and the male that is standing next to him, I can feel that both of them are Assassins and with Pauline there I feel relieved. Maleah will not allow my Father to come anywhere near me, but she doesn't know the full story and I think that before the day is over that she will know the whole truth.

We have been talking for a while when Harvey shows up and we can tell that he is very agitated about something.

"Maleah would like to see all of you at the Pack-house and I could use some time alone with my Mate." He says before he buries his nose in Pauline's neck.

Maleah's Father tells them which room they can use before we leave them and both males flank me as we walk towards the Pack-house. I don't pay much attention to my surroundings as my mind keeps flying in every direction, I know the Alphas want to know my life story before they will even consider letting me stay.

I become more anxious the closer we get to the Pack-house and I really appreciate that Maleah leaves every choice to me, something my Father never allowed me to do. I accept the offer of breakfast from Elyse and I feel more hesitant the closer I get to the Alpha office, but I know Maleah will do what she promise me.

I look around the room when the thin I least expected happens, my Lycan tells me that she feels a connection to the Alphas and I can see that their Lycans informed them about the connection.

Maleah maneuvers me to an armchair near the Alphas and I can feel that Elyse is standing behind me, which reassures me in some strange way.

"Maleah will be the least of your worries if you screw this up. Am I making myself clear?" She asks and I see pure horror in the Alphas' eyes.

"Yes, Mom." They answer in unison and I let a giggle escape my throat, one of the Alphas leans a bit towards me before he whispers, "Our Mom can be really scary." But I can tell he is just teasing her.

"And you better remember that, Dillon." She softly growls at her Son and I can see him gulp before he leans back in his seat.

"Delaney, why don't you tell us your story? I would like to know why we never met you before." Dillon says and I stare at my hands as I gather all the courage I can find.

"I always thought that my Mother had died when I was a young Pup and Dad left me in the care of the Omegas, if I was lucky I would see him in the weekends but other than that I never saw him. I knew I was the Alpha's Daughter and everyone treated me with respect or so I thought.

It wasn't until

that I found out that people feared my Father so much that they didn't dare to say a wrong word in my presence, it took a few years before they realized I would never go to my Father with what I heard. After that they spoke a bit more freely around me and I found out that my Mother didn't die when I was a young Pup.

My Father rejected her for only given him one heir and a weak female at that. No matter how often I asked him about her my Father refused to answer any of my questions, al would hear from him was that she had been useless and that was only good for one thing. To take a Mate of his choosing and put Pups into the world." I have to stop my life story when I hear three loud roars and no one has to point out to me that they came from my Mates.

"Maybe you can sit on Dominic's lap, he's the one in the middle. With you near them their Lycans will probably stay calm enough, so you can finish your story." Maleah says trough the mind-link and even though I am nervous as hell I get out of my seat, my Mates look worried when I get up but that changes when I walk towards them.

Dominic pulls me closer to his chest while Dillon and their Brother lean closer to me and I look towards Maleah because I would like to know the name of my other Mate.

"His name is Dax." She answers my unspoken question and I can feel myself calming down by their presence alone.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 441[1,124 words]

Chapter 441

Delaney's p.o.V.

"A week before I turned sixteen and I shifted for the first time, luckily I was all by myself when it happened. Because to my surprise I shifted into a Lycan and she didn't have to tell me to keep it a secret from my Father.

It took me a while before I confided into my two best friends, one of them is a Warrior and he decided to train me. You can understand he couldn't train me as much as he wanted or as I needed, but because of his raining I did survive.

After I turned sixteen my Father's best friend and his second Son showed up for a visit and after that day I really had to watch what I was doing, because they would show up every now and then. It became pretty clear that Father had chosen a Mate for me, but I couldn't stand the prick and I was glad that my Father never really knew me.

It made ignoring him a lot easier as Father brushed it off as me being shy and one day my best friend came to me and told me that on the morning of my eighteenth birthday I would get forcefully marked if I didn't accept Father's choice willingly.

I started making plans to escape and with the help of my friends I was able to pull it off, but not only Father send men after me and I know it were the men of his best friend that beat me up every chance they got.

I am not sure if my chosen Mate is aware of what those men did to me, but I am glad I got away from them every single time. The last time they caught me I thought my life was over and when they ripped the clothes of my body I knew what they were planning to do, but something interrupted them.

A door opened not far from where we were and the men ran away the moment someone stepped outside, but they could have saved themselves the trouble because more than one step was all this person took.

However, I am glad that this spooked them enough and ten minutes later Maleah and Harvey found me, I owe my life to the person that opened the door. I am grateful that Maleah and Harvey found me and took me to safety, it gave me time to heal my wounds." I say as I feel tears streaming down my face and three pairs of arms wrap tighter around me.

For the first time in my life I feel safe and I want to see if this connection will bring me the happiness I have longed for.

"Okay, Boys. Let's give Delaney a change to eat something and maybe we can try to find out what happened to her Mother." Elyse says and I giggle as she calls them Boys, they are grown men for Goddess sake. Dominic turns me just a little on his lap and Dax is holding a plate of food in front of me, but before I can take it from him he is holding the fork in front of me.

"Open up, Sweetheart." I hear Dillon say behind me and instead of thinking of food my mind wonders in a different direction.

"Fuck, Dillon. Was it necessary to say it like that." I hear Dominic groan behind me and I know my face has a nice shade of red to it. The others around us chuckle as I want to hide my face in Dominic's chest.

"Than do so." My lycan says and she gives me the last nudge I needed. Now my Mates chuckle as well and I want to smack each them on their head and before I can change my mind I sit up straight to smack each of them.

This makes a male I haven't seen before laugh his ass off and Elyse has a smug look on her face, "Looks like your Mate can handle the three of you just fine." She says as she smiles at me and I see that my Mates are pouting at me, making me giggle again.

"Okay, Sweetheart. You need to eat this, we know that there was no time this morning to eat." Dax says and I accept the fork he holds in front of me, he doesn't hand it to me but instead he keeps feeding me.

While Dax is feeding me Kay is asking me questions about my Mother and I tell him everything I know about her.

"There is an envelope in my bag, I wasn't to open it until I was safe from my Father. My other best friend is an Omega, I have known. her for most of my life and she it to me. I have no idea what is in the

to open it after I left the territory." I tell Kay, but Diego points out it is still at Maleah's house and so are Harvey and Pauline.

tel

"Alphas, I hope you won't mind, but I think I am going to put the four of you on house arrest." Maleah says with a smile. "Get to know one another and let Delaney decide when she is ready to take the next step. However, I do suggest to give her a room on the Alpha floor, just to make sure no one can get to her.

Dad, I want you and Colter to take a look at that envelop in the morning and see if you can find any information on Delaney's Mothemet

The four of us will pay a visit to the dungeons in the morning, we still have a Rogue to question and a mystery to solve." Maleah says and I am surprised when my Mates don't object to what she says.

"We know we can leave this up to Maleah, in a few days you will know everything there is to know about her and then all of this will make sense." Dillon says next to my ear and I lean my head back until it rests on his shoulder.

The rest of the day is spend with a tour of the Pack-house, a walk around the territory and the occasional death glare from females. Most of the time I am sandwiched between two of my Mates and they take turns in walking behind me, I smile when I see the same happening with Maleah.

Lunch and Dinner are spend on the Alpha floor and my jaw drops when I hear why they are eating up here instead of in the main dining room.

"Okay, we are turning in for the night. I have this funny feeling we won't get much rest after tomorrow morning." Maleah says as she gets out of her seat and her Mates follow her quickly.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 442[1,045 words]

Chapter 442

Maleah's p.o.V.

I wake up to one of my Mates pulling me closer to him, I had set my alarm to make sure we would wake up on time and it seems that he doesn't agree with getting up at this hour.

"Angel, is this necessary?" I hear Mack ask and the other two groan as I try to get up.

"I would like to question that Rogue as soon as possible, I want to send my team out there as fast as we can and it also means that we don't need to pull anyone away from the assignments our Pack is working on." I say as I finally manage to get away from three pairs of arms.

I quickly make my way into the bathroom, hoping I will be done before my mates decide to join me and we start acting like bumper carts again. Fortune can't wait to see our new home, even though we both thought we would be raising our Pups in my birth home someday.

As I go through my morning routine I let my mind wander to the subject of Pups, I wonder how that will work in our case and if it might cause trouble in raising our Pups.

"What would be the difference between our Pup or that of our Alphas?" Fortune asks and I smile when I realize that multiples always raise their Pups together, none of them caring who the Father is.

"I hope the same goes for our unique situation." I respond to Fortune's question and as I turn towards the door Kay steps in front of me with a grin on his face.

"What did the two of you discuss?" He asks and without hesitation I tell him where my mind had wandered off to.

"Don't worry, we will raise our Pups together and it doesn't matter who the biological Father is. You are their Mother and you are our Mate, that is the only thing that matters to all of us." He says as he pulls me into his arms and I let my arms slide around his waist as I look up at him.

He lowers his head until our lips touch and I slowly part my lips to grant him access to my mouth, moaning into his mouth when our tongues finally meet.

Kay has his hands on my hips and he turns me towards the wall. It barely registers in my mind when he lifts me to pin me against the wall, my body much too eager to feel his rock-hard cock against my core and my hips start moving on their own accord.

I feel his fingers dig into my flesh as he tries to stop me from moving, but I need this and I am going to get it. I push my hips forward against his cock and a groan escapes him.

I feel one of his hands gliding from my hips along the seam of my panties and before I have the chance to register what he might do my panties get ripped, his cock sliding into my core. My arms wrap around his neck pulling him closer to me, our lips lock for another breath taking kiss and I moan into his

hips.

I push myself towards him with every thrust, he slowly breaks the kiss to trail kisses down to my mark.

Kay has an iron grip on my hips and no matter what I try I can't make him move faster, he just keeps thrusting into my core at a steady pace. As he sucks on my mark my hips move forward again and just like before I can barely move my hips, this slow, steady pace is driving me nuts.

"Please, Kay. Harder... Faster..." I manage to say and he starts to thrust harder and faster into my core, finally giving me what I want. He hits the right spot over and over again and I feel myself get closer to the abyss.

The moment he bites down on my mark I scream his name as he pushes me over the edge and a moment later he stills deep inside me, roaring my name as he comes undone.

After we have caught our breath he turns on the shower in an attempt to clean ourselves up, but the moment he kneels in front of me I know this shower will last a little longer than we had planned and once we are done in the shower we both finally get dressed.

Mack and Levi are waiting for us with some breakfast and we all enjoy our food in silence, enjoying one another's company. I know that Mack made our breakfast. because Levi told me he couldn't cook even if his life depended on it.

Not for a lack of not being taught but a lack of having any feeling with. it and after losing his temper twice while trying to make a simple dish, his Mother banned him from the kitchen. She had told him that he should pray to the Goddess for a Mate that can cook and had laughed my ass off.

I am glad that Mack knows how to cook, not that can't but all I can cook are simple dishes and I am glad that at least one of my Mates is able toput a decent meal on the table Kay and I clear the table after we are done and after rinsing all the plates and mugs we place them in the dishwasher, ready to leave the house to pay our prisoner a visit.

I grab a small bag from the trunk of my car before I follow my Mates to the dungeons, they are built under a cottage not far from the Pack-house.

The guards on duty tell us that he hasn't spoken a word since he came to and they doubt any of them can make him talk.

"By the time I am done with him he will be singing like a little birdie." I say as I walk past the guards to the door that leads to the stairs, my Mates are close behind me as I walk down the stairs and I allow Fortune to push forward a little.

She will be my asset during this investigation, she will be able to tell me if he is telling the truth or not.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 443[1,177 words]

Chapter 443

Maleah's p.o.V.

The Rogue is tied to the wall with silver chains and anyone can see that it isn't doing his injuries any good.

"Goodmorning, just so you know I will get every answer I want from you. I have a few questions for you and if you do not answer me immediately or truthfully I will skip the pleasantries." I say as I open my bag and start to pull out all sorts of tools, examining each of them before I place them on the table.

The Rogue is watching every move I make and I have smirk on my face when I finally look at him.

"Have you ever heard of the Angel of Death?" I ask him as I let my finger glide over the blade of a dagger, I let my eyes glide from the dagger to the Rogue and I can hear him gulp as he nods his head. He looks at my Mates as if he tries to figure out which of them might be the Angel of Death.

"You're looking at the wrong Lycans, Asshole. I am the Angel of Death and I will get the answers I am looking for from you, you will tell me everything I want to know." I say as I turn the wheel connected to his chains.

He is standing on the ball of his feet when I lock the chains in place, the silver chains burning the flesh of his wrists and he is hissing in pain. I grab two small push daggers from the table and slam them in the back of his knees until they hit the patella, he is grinding his teeth in an attempt not to scream.

Through the mind-link I tell my Mates to step back as I open a small bottle with a nasty smelling liquid, it is just some water mixed with dried Daciocely.

Daciocely is an herb that causes a mighty stinging sensation to the body, if you know how to process it and I just happen to know how to do that.

I grab a medium sized dagger to dip it into the bottle and I slowly drag the dagger up his right thigh, with the sharpness of the dagger I don't need to apply much pressure to cut through his skin. He still tries to keep as quiet as possible, but I know it will become more and more difficult the more injuries I give him.

I clean the dagger on a piece of cloth before I dip it into the Daciocely again and this time I cut through the skin of his left thigh, this time I hear him growl as the blade cuts up his thigh. Every cut I make, every stab I make isn't enough to kill him, but it will make this very painful for him and after that I will give him a slow and painful death.

"Why were you trying to get into our territory?" I ask him as I look at my weapons on the table, trying to figure out which weapon to use next.

He looks at me with determination in his eyes and I know he will try to withhold that information from me for as long as he can, but I have a few more tricks up my sleeve. I grab another small push dagger to slam it into his right clavicle and this time he can't stop himself from screaming, I smile at him before I ask my question again.

"To take the Pups." He answers through gritted teeth, but more than that he doesn't say and I dip the dagger in some Daciocely again.

This time I run the dagger down his spine and again he screams out in pain, but he doesn't say another word.

"How did you know the Pups would be there?" I ask him with Fortune's voice mixed with my own and I can see the fear flashing through his eyes as a small amount of my aura seeps out, but he doesn't answer my question.

"What did you plan on doing with those Pups?" I ask him but again he keeps quiet and I let the dagger cut through the skin on the back of his legs.

"The longer you wait with telling me what I want to know the more painful it will become, I have all day to show you what I can do to you and there are a few things I still want to try Things I know are very painful, but none of those things will kill you and when you finally are willing to give me the answers you will understand it could have been a lot less painful." I say as I grab a bottle from my bag, a liquid I have been dying to try on someone.

It is a mix of Swamp Spice, Oyerry and Olive oil, according to the journal it will make him feel as if he is on fire. I put a brush into the bottle to cover it with the liquid and I let it slide down his arm, from his wrist to his armpit.

"Aargghh." He screams the moment the first drop touches his skin and the more liquid touches his arm the harder he screams.

"Still not willing to talk." I ask him as I walk back to the table, dipping the brush into the liquid again.

"Stop.” He whispers before I get a chance to apply the liquid to his other arm. "Make it stop." He begs and I tell him if he doesn't start talking I will cover him in the liquid. “Tamish approached me years ago with a deal, I would go to Packs to get some Pups and he would pay me for the trouble.

I never asked many questions but kept my ears open for any information I could find out and it didn't take me long to realize why he wanted those Pups. No Pack was willing to take the Pups from me that first time and I had to give them to Tamish in the end, but I managed to hide two of the five Pups.

I tried to save as many as I could, I even kept a journal on how many Pups I took from a Pack and I wrote down every name I heard Tamish mention. I never asked to become a Rogue, I never asked to be treated like an outcast or a monster and if I had known a place to turn to when Tamish came to me I would have gone there." He tells us.

I ask him what happened to cause him to become a Rogue and he tells us he wasn't willing to give up a true Mate-bond to please the future Alpha of his birth Pack.

"After they banished me he tried to forcefully mark her, but I had warned her about their plans and she ran away after she knocked him unconscious. She chose to bol neto

a Rogue because she wanted to be with me and we have been trying to keep most of the Pups safe." He says as I clean the liquid of his arm.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 444[1,092 words]

Chapter 444

Mack's p.o.v.

Commander hates the thought of his Mate going anywhere near a Rogue, but Largo points out that she has taken care of herself for years and it calms Commander down enough to not alert Maleah.

Neither one of us wants her to get distracted from the task ahead of her and we place ourselves against the wall outside the interrogation room the Rogue is in, he looks like shit from all the beatings he has already received so far.

I watch as she pulls daggers in different sizes from her bag, some small push daggers follow quickly and I even see her pulling a few bottles of liquid out of the bag. Watching her inflict injury upon injury to the Rogue makes me glad that she is on our side, I hate to think about what could happen if she were against us and

I see Commander hiding his head under his paws in the back of my head.

I don't have to step back when she asks us to, but even from my spot I can smell the stench coming from the bottle.

Whatever that liquid is supposed to do isn't bad enough for him to spill his guts, but she is able to get a few words out of him and when she applies another liquid to his body I hear him scream for the first time.

The screams get worse the more liquid she smears on his arm, but he refuses to say another word until she moves towards his other arm and we finally get some answers from him. Not the kind I had expected, but useful information none the less.

Maleah releases the lock on the chains and lowers them enough for the Rogue to stand on his feet again.

"She must be worried sick about me." He mumbles as he tries to stretch a little.

"I will have a talk with our Alphas, I am not going to give you any guarantees but I will make them understand you did the best you could." Maleah says and I know she will do her best to keep him and his Mate safe, something I actually agree with.

"Tell your Alphas I am willing to give them every piece of information I have, but you also might want to mention to them that I have a small Pack of my own. I am not their Alpha, but that I will protect them at all costs and that they are the ones looking after the Pups I saved." The Rogue says Commander tells me to ask him for his name, "It is starting to annoy me to keep calling him Rogue, he didn't ask for any of this and he has done the best he could." He says.

"What is your name?" I ask him as I walk towards Maleah and I wonder why his name sounds so familiar, but I push it aside the moment I see that Maleah has packed up all of her tools. The two Warriors on duty step into the room before we can exit.

"Put him in a cell, give him some water and soap to clean himself up and make sure he gets a decent meal." Maleah says and both of them look at her as if she has lost her mind, Kay stops me from interfering.

"If I find out you disobeyed my orders, I will take it up with our Alphas and i will make sure that I am the one to dish out the punishment. Am I making myself clear?" She asks as she lets some of her aura seep out of her and both are quick to inform her that her warning is very clear.

"Damn, next time we need to question someone I am taking you along. It will safe me from a lot of annoyance, Angel." Levi says through our mind-link as we walk up the stairs.

Maleah makes a beeline for the Pack-house and I know she wants to inform our Alphas as soon as possible, we need to find a way to help all those Pups that Jason saved.

She doesn't waste time by checking the main living room or their office on the ground floor, she goes straight up the stairs to the Alpha floor and she knocks loudly on the door before she opens it.

Dominic is already in the doorway of the kitchen and Dax and Dillon are standing in front of their Mate.

"Good to see that the three of you are so protective of your Mate, I would have kicked your asses if you weren't." Maleah says as she walks into the living room, before she can sit down Levi pushes past me and pulls her onto his lap in the middle of the couch.

Kay and I sit down on either side of her and we hear Delaney giggle as Maleah tries to get out of Levi's lap, not that she is trying real hard to get away from him. "I assume this isn't a social call." Dominic says as he places coffee on the table.

"No, Dominic. I just questioned Jason..." Dominic interrupts Maleah by holding up his hand and she knows exactly why he stopped her. "By the time I am done you will understand why I call him by his name, Dominic.

I am not finished questioning him just yet, but you needed to hear this before I can continue to question him and you might want to be present for that." Maleah says and Delaney tries to get off of Dax's lap, but he holds her tight.

"You are our Mate and that makes this also your business." He says as Dominic sits down next to them, Dax Sits gestures for Maleah to continue with her report. She tells them who approached Jason, she tells them what Jason has done over the years and finally she tells them how he became a Rogue.

"He warned his Mate about their future Alpha and she knocked him unconscious before he could forcefully mark her. She chose stay with Jason and become onet

Rogue in the process. They saved as many Pups as possible and I want

Jason to tell me where they are living, where he was to drop off these Pups.

I hope he is willing to give us all the information he gathered on Tamish and the others and I hope I can help him find a home for those Pups." Maleah tells them as we all enjoy some coffee.

"His name is Jason Kraft." She concludes and I see recognition in Dominic's eyes at the name, so I ask him if he knows why that name sounds so familiar.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 445[1,041 words]

Chapter 445

Mack's p.o.v.

"His Father and Dad are best friends, we know why he was turned Rogue and we all had hoped he would come here after he was chased out of the territory. We will accompany you after lunch to the dungeons, he can settle here with his Mate and anyone that lives with them.

I just hope we can save a few more Pups from that horrible faith, because I doubt Jason was the only one they approached." Dominic says while his hand runs circles on Delaney's lower back.

Just as we are sitting down for lunch Max walks in with a male I haven't seen in a very long time, "That is Jason's Father." I tell Maleah through our mind-link and Dominic asks him if he ever heard from Jason since he was chased from the territory.

“No, all I know is that Tasha went after him once she escaped our future Alpha. I just hope that both of them are safe." He says before we start eating and during lunch Maleah gets Elyse to tell some embarrassing stories about all of us.

Delaney is laughing her ass off and it doesn't matter if the stories are about her own Mates or not, she enjoys listening to each of them. After lunch is over we move back to the living room and Maleah gets permission to tell Jason's Father about what she uncovered, but that he still needs to answer a lot of questions.

"Thank you for telling me and I understand my Son needs to clarify a few things, but what I am mostly grateful for is that you are willing to take them all in." He says as he looks at our Alphas.

Dominic tells him to wait here with his Father, "I think Mom is already trying to find an escape route out of here." He says and Elyse looks a bit dumbfounded at her Son, but we all remember what these two males are like when they are in the same room.

"Do you want to come with us or do you want to go with Mom?" Dominic asks Delaney and for a moment I see her debating with her Lycan, before she gets up to tell him she wants to talk to Jason herself.

"I want the six of you to stay out of sight, I am not sure if he knows where he is at the moment and I want him to be truthful with us." Delaney says as she looks at each of her Mates and I step behind Maleah as I can feel their Alpha aura seeping out of them.

"Is that to intimidate me?" Delaney growls before she releases her own Alpha aura, but she releases it so fast that all three of them stumble back a bit and I hear Elyse laughing her ass off.

All three of them raise their hands in surrender and she slowly pulls back her Alpha aura.

"I think we all need to be on our best behavior, because if those two ever team up against us we will lose." Levi whispers loudly towards Elyse and she slides out of her seat from laughing so damn hard, but I am afraid Levi is right about what might happen if those two ever team up.

I doubt it would matter who they go up against and I hope Delaney is willing to accompany us to a funeral tomorrow.

As we walk out of the living room Delaney tells Maleah she never knew she had an Alpha aura, "Well, you are the heir to your Father's Pack, you are the only Pup he has. There for it is normal that you have the Alpha gen and with those three as your Mates I think you might need it from time to time." Maleah says as the two of them walk down the stairs side by side and I doubt either one of them realizes they left their Mates standing on the landing of the top floor.

"How long do you think it will take the boys to get out of that daze?" I hear Delaney ask.

"About an hour after we have all the answers and are already on our way to bring Jason's Mate and friends back here." Maleah answers when I realize can no longer see my Mate and start running down the stairs but unfortunately I am not the only one, making us collide with one another before we tumble down the stairs.

The moment we come to a stop at the bottom of the stairs I see Delaney and Maleah laughing their asses off, but I think the look on Dad's face is priceless.

"I can understand this got you down one flight of stairs real fast, but I can think of a few less painful ways to go down a flight of stairs." Dad. mumbles as he shakes his head and then notice the phone in his hands and I groan loudly when I hear

Maleah ask if he can send that footage to her.

"I will enjoy showing this to our Pups one day." She says.

"Only if you invite me and make sure there is some popcorn." Dad says with a huge grin on his face.

Before we can get to our feet our Mates are already walking down the next flight of stairs and this time we are a bit more careful when we follow them, not in the mood for a repeat of our last tumble down the stairs.

Kay and Dillon are the first ones to catch up with our Mates, but with them walking next to one another and having a serious conversation the rest of us have to follow behind the four of them. I already see it coming, but one look from Dominic has me clamming my mouth shut.

The Warriors on duty see the same thing I saw and both of them quickly step to the side, Kay and Dillon are to focused on our Mates to see the obvious coming.

Delaney and Maleah push the doors to the cottage open and Kay and Dillon both walk into the walls next to the door, leaving the four of us in stitches. Either they didn't notice what happened or they chose to ignore it on purpose, but our Mates don't stop to check on their Mates.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 446[1,478 words]

Chapter 446

Maleah's p.o.V.

Delaney and I walk towards Jason's cell and he looks a lot better than when I left him, his wounds are almost completely healed. He looks up with a small smile on his face.

"Twice in one day a visit from the Angel of Death, do I need to fear for my life?" He asks as I open his cell and I tell him I have a few more questions for him, he tells me to ask away. The first question I ask is about his hide-out, I want to know that they are safe where they are staying.

He tells us that he found a cave a few weeks after he and Tasha managed to escape their former Pack-members.

"They wanted to bring Tasha back to the future Alpha, but one day I confronted them and when they found out what really happened some of them returned to the Pack while a few others chose to stay with me and Tasha." Jason explains before he describes the cave.

He tells us that at first he thought it was just a medium sized cave, but one of his friends had found a small passage. The passage led to a large cave with a handful of passages along the sides of the cave and those passages each had two or three smaller caves connected to them, caves they use as rooms to sleep in.

The Pups are well taken car off and they even get an education, they do whatever they can to make the Pups feel at home. I ask him if he ever thought about seeking help from friends, "I assume you had friends in other Packs." I explain.

He tells us that in the beginning he didn't want to burden his friends with his problems, that he thought his Father would be able to change the Alpha's mind and that after the first time they came after Tasha he gave up.

"Tasha and I might be able to find a Pack to stay in, but I am not sure I want to ask my friends to take in the others as well." Jason mumbles and I shake my head when I hear our Alphas roar. Jason looks from Delaney to me and Delaney shrugs her shoulders when she says that her Mates are annoying.

I look at Jason as he looks over my shoulder to see if anyone is coming, “Delaney told her Mates to stay away and so did I. You and your small Pack can move into this territory, we will make sure you are all protected and we are grateful for the Pups you managed to safe." I tell him as I grab my tablet.

I ask him to point out the location of the caves and how many vans he thinks we might need. I think I was stunned for a second when he said that two school busses would be better and that that would only be for the Pups.

Then I ask him to point out the drop off location and who he suspects will be there when we hit it, "My best bet would be Caym, he is usually the one that is present and you might want to take someone with you that knows his way around a laptop. Caym always has it with him and I bet you that there is a lot of information on there you want to have." Jason says as I send a message to my team, I want them to scout the area before I arrive there.

Delaney and I get up at the same time and as I walk out of the cell I leave the door wide open, Fortune chuckles when she sees him staring at the open door.

"I believe you would like to see your Father." I say as I gesture for him to follow me and after he has shaken his head twice he finally gets up to follow me, only to run into my Alphas. Dominic tells Jason that we will do everything to keep him and everyone else safe and that there will be plenty of room for them to live.

As I watch Jason walk towards the Pack-house with his friends I stop walking and I tell my Mates that we need to arrange everything immediately, "I don't want Jason to come along, I want to get everyone out of those caves right now and then I want to pay Caym a visit." I tell them before I tell them my plan, Kay and Mack will arrange the busses we need and Levi follows me home to get everything I need.

Before this night is over I will have completed another assignment and the world will be rid of a few more sadistic Morons. They have overstayed their welcome in this world and I am going to enjoy sending them on their way out of here.

Levi follows me up the stairs to the attic and when I open the door of the cupboard I hand him a few things, "Put them on the table, I have a few potions to make." I say as I grab the right book for these potions.

Levi helps me with cutting and grinding all of the ingredients and I follow the recipes to the letter, I have to make sure I do it correctly or they might not work the way they are supposed to. I check my bag with all my tools and I see a smirk appear on Levi's face.

"Going to give someone a hard time?" He asks as he takes everything out of the bag and starts cleaning every item as he asks me if everything I need is on the table, placing them back in the bag once they are clean.

I grab the grinded Ofalantro and cut Pygmy Bark to mix it with the boiled Gleamy Nightfall, once I am satisfied I mixed it thoroughly I put it in a small pan to bring it to a boil.

Next I take the cut Viri Leaf and the cut Assassin Weed and mix it with some Honest Temper I keep on room temperature, once that is mixed to my satisfaction

I place it in another small pan to bring it to a boil as well.

I grab two small glass containers to pour both liquids in and place them in a small cooling bag I have for occasions like this.

Levi is reading one of the journals as I place the last items in my bag and I straddle him the moment I am done, I need some attention from one of my Mates and he happens to be here. He places the journal on the table before he grabs my hips.

"Once our new house is done you will never wear jeans inside again, I think I might even ban panties inside the house." He whispers next to my ear and Fortune and I both like the sound of that.

As he stands

ds up I wrap my arms around his neck while my legs wrap around his waist and after he grabs my bag we walk down the stairs. T lock the door to the attic before Levi drops my bag outside our bedroom and before we have reached the bed we are both butt naked. He sits down on the bed and pulls me onto his lap, sliding his cock deep inside me.

I push myself up before I let myself go down again, taking his rock-hard cock deep into my pussy and I move my hips once every inch of him is inside me. His groaning tells me that he is enjoying this as much as I do and I keep repeating the same motion over and over again, pushing both of us closer to our climax.

I feel him sinking his teeth into my mark and I roar his name as I come undone with Levi right behind me.

He pulls me with him when he collapses on the bed, wrapping me in his arms.as as he kisses my forehead and I know I can get used to this We lay there for a few more minutes before we both get up to clean up, once we are dressed again we walk out of the house and as we approach the vehicles I see Mack looking between me and Levi with a smug look on his face.

He takes my bag from Levi's hand and tells Levi that he will be driving.

"Kay and I would like some time with our Mate and you get to watch, just like we had to feel everything the two of you were doing." Mack says with a grin on his face and I look at Kay to see that he keeps adjusting himself, my eyes slowly gliding down his body.

"Angel, that is very dangerous." Kay growls in my head and I lick my lips the moment my eyes reach his groin, Mack places his hand over my eyes the moment Kay groans.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 447[1,272 words]

Chapter 447

Maleah's p.o.V.

I see Pauline arguing with some Warriors of my Pack and I shake my head when one of them makes the mistake of telling my best asset she can't come along because she doesn't belong to Blood Crescent Pack.

All four males are on their asses in seconds and Harvey is laughing his ass off while I calmly walk over to them, "My team is coming along, anyone that has a problem with that can stay home. I am in charge for this mission and again if you have a problem with that I suggest you stay home." I say as I look around me.

Our trip to the caves last for almost two hours, two hours I spend in a blissful state and I wonder why the hell I can't get enough of my Mates. I am leaning against Kay as I doze off from time to time, but the moment Levi says we are almost at our destination I am wide awake and Fortune pushes forward as I sit up straight.

She wants to see our surroundings as much as I do and she allows me to scan the area to find out if there might be a threat, but the only Wolves and Lycans I can sense are the ones with us and in the caves.

We pull to a stop in front of the caves and as we discussed everyone gets out of the vehicles but I am the only one that walks towards the entrance.

"Tasha, Jason send us." I call out and wait to see if anyone is willing to see what is going on. It takes a few minutes before a male and very pregnant female walk out of the caves.

"Fuck, he could have told us that she is with Pup." I growl through the mind-link. "Tasha, the Pups Jason was supposed to get are safe. I doubt any of you knew to which Pack he was sent, but I can guarantee you that he is safe." I tell them before I explain why we are there, but I can tell that Tasha doesn't trust me.

I grab my phone to dial Dax's number, but Tasha stops me when she asks who I am calling and I tell her that I will put Jason on the phone for her to confirm my story.

Dax is quick to answer his phone and without hesitating he hands it over to Jason, I slowly walk towards Tasha as I scold him for not telling me the whole truth.

The moment she sees Jason her knees buckle and I am glad the male is quick enough to catch her, it takes Jason a few minutes to convince her that the situation in front of her is real.

It takes us an hour to get everyone and everything out of the caves, but when we have everyone on the busses I hear Tasha sigh in relief.

Mack's p.o.v.

Jason and Tasha made the best of a bad situation, but I have to hand it to them; the Pups seem happy and healthy. Maleah has taken charge of the entire operation and we, as her Mates, are just leaning back, doing what she tells us to do.

It gets us a few strange looks until one of our Warriors decides to talk back to her, within a second she has him on his knees without touching him and he quickly apologizes for questioning her authority.

The Pups are hot as impressed with us as some of the grown-ups that live here, I smile when I see Kay ē walking out of a cave with a Pup on his back and a Pup in his at Rupe

"Mommy is outside and Daddy is waiting for you at your w home." I hear him say to the Pup on his back and I think I have a solution for their housing problem.

The moment every Pup is in the busses Maleah calls out to all grown-ups to gather and she informs them that we will not be following them home.

"We will be going after the people that wanted these Pups for a very sick business venture. By the time we return to the territory these. individuals will no longer form a threat to anyone and after that we will investigate anyone that did business with them." She answers a Warrior that asks her why we aren't going back.

We watch as the busses and SUVS drive away and I see Maleah picking all sorts of flowers and greens, it takes her about ten minutes to gather a big heap of them at the

strangely when I see her placing Yogos to the heap of flowers, it is a disgusting smelling flower and I can't understand why she would add it to the pile.

However the moment she sets the heap of flowers on fire I understand why she used the Yogos, the fire smells even worse than just the Yogos and I see it slowly drift into the caves. A very effective way of making sure no scent is left behind, not that I am expecting someone to come looking for them but better safe than sorry.

We get back into the SUV and I am a bit disappointed that Maleah decided to sit in the passenger seat, but when she explains it will be easier for her to sense what lies ahead Commander calms down.

I look surprised when Maleah tells Levi to turn left onto a dirt road, but I don't ask any questions because I know she will have her reasons for heading this way and it only takes a few minutes before I see multiple SUVS and quite a few Wolves and Lycans.

Pauline gives us all the intel the males and females gathered and Maleah starts giving out orders, which results in one after the other to take off in various directions.

"We will go through the front door once everyone is in position. Let's see if Caym is at the location and what kind of information we can get out of him." She says as she walks back to our SUV, Pauline and Harvey follow us as we head to the location Jason gave us.

A rundown building comes into view as Levi turns right and I look confused when I see no guards around the premises, it doesn't make sense to me.

Levi slams on the breaks the moment Maleah tells him to stop and she points up to a tree close to the road, looks like he is relying on cameras as a security measure. We quietly get out of the SUV and I slowly let the door close without it falling into its lock.

We keep an eye out for other cameras as we move closer to the building, Levi keeps an eye out for any other traps they might have placed and slowly but steadily we make our way to our target.

Maleah raises her hand to indicate that we should stop and we all follow her line of sight, one of her team is on the roof. He makes his way over to the left side of the building and I watch as he opens a skylight and lowers himself through it.

Maleah starts walking again towards the building and we just follow close behind her, keeping an eye out for cameras and other traps. Suddenly the front door swings open and Maleah's team member steps out.

"Coast is clear, Caym is out for the count." He says and from every side Wolves and Lycans approach the building, each of them holding a bundle of clothes in their mouth. After they have all shifted back and gotten dressed we walk into the building.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 448[1,262 words]

Chapter 448

Mack's p.o.v.

Harvey makes a beeline for a laptop on a table in the left corner of the room and the others spread out through the building in search of any Pups he might have here.

Maleah instructs us on what to do with Caym and when I see her grabbing her bag I know she will get the answers she wants from him, she just smiles as she places everything on another table.

Pauline finally shows up with an angry look in her eyes and Maleah disappears in the direction she came from. Before we can ask Pauline what she found a mighty roar shakes the windows in their sills and Kay is the first to jump into action, following the scent of our Mate.

What I saw next made my heart stop beating for a moment, dead bodies spread across a room, each of them with a collar around their neck with a chain attached to it and on the other end the chain was attached to an iron ring in the floor.

None of these bodies belonged to a grown up, each of them in different stages of decay and realizing that some of these Pups might still have been alive while the others started to decay has me throwing up whatever it was I had in my stomach.

Maleah turns around with a stone cold face and walks past us with determination in her step, someone is going to get the raw end of this deal.

"Wake him up." Maleah growls and two of her team members rush over to Caym. It only takes them seconds to get him conscious again and I nearly start laughing when I see him looking at us with fear in his eyes.

"You don't have to fear them." Maleah says to draw his attention towards her and I see him looking at her strangely.

"Miss D'Angelo, what are you doing here? This isn't a place for a female like you." He says before he lets his eyes move back to Levi, Kay and myself.

"As I already said you have nothing to fear from them, it is me you should be afraid of. I came here to get a few answers from you, but after seeing what is in the basement I don't want answers from you anymore. I am going to make you pay." She growls and hearing her voice interlaced with Fortune's sends a chill down my spine.

His head snaps towards Maleah in time to see the small punch dagger she is holding in her hand, but before he can say a word she has slammed it between his ribs and he screams out in pain. She slams three more of them in to various places across his body, I get a smirk on my face the moment I see her grabbing the water with dried Daciocely and I hope she will use it a bit more on Caym than she did on Jason.

She doesn't ask him anything as she makes cut after cut into his body and the second he passes out she steps aside to give some room to the two females that woke him the first time, he shoots up straight as he screams loudly.

Maleah grabs a brush and bottle from her bag and I remember what it did to Jason, not that I am completely sure what is does.

All I know is that it hurt Jason like hell and that he didn't want her to repeat it on his other arm. The liquid has barely touched his arm or Caym starts screaming and begging for Maleah to stop.

"Why? Just because you ask. Did you stop when those Pups begged you to stop?" She asks as she lets the brush run up his right arm and that is when realization sinks in for all of us.

She isn't doing this to get answers, she is doing this to get justice and there is nothing any of us can do stop her. Caym will suffer a thousand deaths before she will finally end him, she will take ber anger out on him. If one of the others had been here instead of him they would have gotten this treatment, because Maleah understands that she needs to take the rest of them out quickly.

Caym even pleads with us to make her stop, but we just stand there with our arms crossed in front of our chest and again I thank the Goddess that Maleah is on our side. I doubt there would be a Blood Crescent Pack left if she would have turned against us over the years and none of us would have been able to put a stop to her reign of terror if she had come after us.

"Boss, are you done anytime soon?" Harvey asks and Maleah looks up at him. "Okay, got it. You're still busy." He mumbles as he turns back to the laptop and I can't help myself as I burst out in laughter, where the hell did he get the guts from to interrupt Maleah.

But when I look again at the two of them I notice that Caym seems to relax a little and I believe that Harvey did it on purpose.

Maleah walks over to Harvey and looks over his shoulder at the screen, "Not really the smartest, is he?" He asks as he points at the screen and Maleah walks back to the table with her tools.

"Caym, I know that you are aware of the fact that the Angel of Death is after you and I assume you know that the Angel of Death has a few very excruciating plans for you and your friends." Maleah says as she grabs something of the table that makes me step back.

All Caym can do is nod his head and we can hear him gulp when she turns towards him, “Well, due to a bit of time pressure I can't really do to each of you that I had planned and I feel a bit disappointed about that." She says as she walks towards him and he looks at her in confusion.

"Ohh, you hadn't figured out yet that I am the Angel of Death." She mumbles as she turns one side of the item she is holding and I see true fear in Caym's eyes when small knifes appear.

The two females that woke him up earlier place a table behind him and I look at them as they bend him over the table, tying his arms and legs to the table legs. Kay looks from Caym to the device in Maleah's hand and suddenly I see his eyes widen as if he understands what is going to happen, Levi gasps when the females rip Caym's clothes of his body.

Caym seems to understand exactly what Maleah is going to do and the moment she slams the device in his ass I understand what is going to happen, she leans closer to him as she tells him that he will be found in a very public place. "Anyone that ever had any dealings with you will understand who did this and that they are no longer safe." She says just before she turns the tiny knob at the bottom of the device and I am surprised that he isn't making a sound.

As he gets dragged to a van in front of the building we can see that he is in pain, but it takes an explanation from Maleah to understand exactly what is going on. The females get into the van without saying a word and drive off to do whatever it is Maleah told them to do.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 449[1,667 words]

A Gamma's Revenge Chapter 449

Maleah's p.o.V.

Pauline informed me that two Pups were still alive but in bad shape and I told her to take them to Blood Crescent Pack to get medical help. I made sure I didn't start torturing Caym until I knew Pauline was far enough away with those Pups and after seeing the basement I knew I wouldn't ask him any questions, I would give him a piece of his own medicine.

The only thing I hate is that I will not be able to do this to all four of them, but Fortune and I will take what we can get and when I hear through the mind-link where the other three are I know I will at least have one more that I can torture to my heart's content.

Levi is packing up my tools and he cleans them before placing them in my bag, he is extra careful with the potions because he understands what they can do to someone.

Kay wraps his arms around me to give some time to gather my thoughts and I bury my face in his chest as I wrap my arms around his waist, I feel Mack stepping behind me to sandwich me between the two of them.

It takes a few minutes before I feel comfortable enough to ask Harvey what he found, but the more he tells us about what he found the more agitated Fortune and I become.

There are several folders on the laptop with each their own contents, we now know which Packs they took Pups from and some of the names tell me that the Alpha himself might be involved. They even took Pups from cities and towns with the names of the people that handed the Pups over, there are even amounts behind every Pups name and I can feel my Mates getting as agitated as I am.

There is a folder with names of Rogues that they use to go to a Pack, town or city to pick up the Pups and each of them has a location as to where they are staying, except for Jason. Jason has a file of his own and from the notes in that file it is clear that they didn't trust him, but with another male with him every single time they couldn't take him out.

I chuckle when I realize that Jason out smarted them, he knew what he was doing when he took someone else with him.

They also mention that he had a Mate, but that they couldn't get him to open up about him or her and Harvey has a fun time telling us how frustrated the Dayborne Brothers and Bornshade Sisters had gotten over the years with Jason.

But Harvey's mood changes when he opens another folder, "I am not going to bore you with the details." He mumbles before he tells us it contains the names of Pups that survived their training and each of growls when we see it is a rather short list.

This folder also contains the names of whoever bought the trained Pups from them and I growl when I hear a few familiar names, but it turns out there is another list in this folder. That folder disgusts us even more, it is a list of Pups that were sold back to them because they had reached a certain age.

Some of those Pups were sold to other males, but those that had become too old for their clientele were sold to the Lowbane family.

"After the Spring Ball." Is all I say when Harvey looks at me. "Right now I want to take these perverts out, than I have a funeral to attend to and then Spring Ball. My schedule is full enough, you can deal with the preparations, Harvey." I say and he gets a huge grin on his face, he loves the preparations of my assignments almost as much as the assignment itself.

Harvey places everything we want to take with us in an SUV, I check the rooms one more time before I tell Mack to blow it to hell.

"How am I supposed to do that?" He asks and I hand him the detonator as I walk to our own SUV, we all walk to the SUVS before we turn back around to the building. Mack looks from the detonator in his hand to the building just before he presses the button, blowing it to kingdom come.

A few minutes after we drive away from the burning building my phone starts ringing, one of my Scouts informs us that Sarka has been spotted on her way out of Palperroth and I open my tablet to track my Scout's whereabouts.

The map shows me that she is on her way towards us and we quickly look at the perfect spot to force her to a stop, I will make sure that none of them is breathing anymore by morning.

Levi steps on the gas to make sure we meet her as far away from the drop off location as we can, I don't want her to be able to connect a few dots and make a run for it or to alert the other two targets. We decided to grab Sarka near Mirefield because it will be more likely that we can pull it of there without being seen, it is a town near a large and dense forest.

We pull over to the side of the road, just before the road makes a bend to the left and Sarka won't be able to see us until it is too late. Mack and I will hand over control to Commander and Fortune, they get to take care of this target and I know that Fortune will toy with Sarka for a bit.

I remember I had to let Fortune out for a run after we received the file on Sarka, to say that the female pissed Fortune off is putting it mildly.

I had asked my Scouts to get every piece of information they could find on Caym and Tamish Dayborne and on Nishay and Sarka Bornshade, I needed to know as much as I could on these targets and Sarka's file was of an entire unique level compared to the other three files.

Sarka is known to be somewhat aggressive towards her victims and with that I mean that she is more cruel than any target I have ever been after.

If Sarka feels that you have wronged her in any way she will literally destroy you, she always starts out with removing someone's eyes before she lets her Wolf toy with the blinded victim and her Wolf seems to enjoy pulling them apart slowly. Let's see how she will like to be the victim, let's see if her Wolf enjoys this as much as the other way around.

Five minutes before she will arrive I strip down and hand over control to Fortune, she walks to the middle of the road with Commander right beside her. Both of them waiting patiently for Sarka to come into view and as I suspected she slams on the breaks, coming to a full stop just inches away from us.

"Have you lost your fucking mind?" Sarka yells as she steps out of her car and Kay informs her that we have not lost our fucking minds.

"You on the other hand will lose everything." Levi says before he empties a syringe of Sadoraway into her arm, it will prohibit her from mind-linking anyone and it will keep her quiet. Sarka quickly finds out she can't produce a sound and shortly after that she looks at us in shock, looks like she found out she can't mind-link her Mate.

Kay uses that moment of shock to blind her and Levi gets in her car to drive it to the side of the road.

Commander takes the first strike as he slashes his claw over her back, causing her to move forward but she tries to look behind her and lands on her back in front of Fortune. Fortune places a paw on her chest and slowly puts more weight on her chest, Sarka tries to push her Paw away from her chest but Fortune isn't budging.

The moment we hear a rib crack Fortune releases her and Sarka's wolf forces the shift, just like Commander and Fortune had hoped. Commander grabs her tail between his teeth and clams down tightly, biting her tail of in the process.

Her Wolf is turning in every direction as she is snapping at the air around her, she turns towards Levi the moment she hears him chuckle and she takes a few slow steps towards him but Fortune bites down on her hindleg before she can get to close to him.

Commander and Fortune take turns in sinking their teeth into Sarka's Wolf, they know exactly how to draw a lot of blood without injuring her too badly and they seem to enjoy themselves but I can tell that Sarka hates being on the receiving end of this attack.

"Can the two of you stop playing?" Harvey asks while he looks at his watch. "At this rate we will mis our next target and I would like to be done in time to sleep in a bed with my Mate."

Kel

Pure panic shoots through Sarka's eyes, she knows we will go after her Mate and she probably thinks her Sister and Mate are still on our list. I link Kay to make sure she dies knowing what we are going to do to her Mate and her Sister, I want her to know what we already did to her Mate's Brother and the moment Fortune sees defeat in her eyes she goes in for the kill.

We leave Sarka's body near her car and I know that someone will eventually find her, someone that will probably be unable to keep this to themselves.

By tomorrow morning the entire world will know that the Dayborne Brothers and Bornshade Sisters have been taken care of and everyone will know that the Angel of Death is responsible for their deaths.

Chapter 450

Maleah's p.o.V.

We are driving to Palperroth to find our last two targets and the first one on my list is Tamish, he is the most difficult one to get close to but I happen to know where he will be tonight. I also happen to know that two of their buyers will be with him and I hope it will send a message to both of them, hopefully causing them to make a few bad decisions.

Just outside Palperroth we meet up with one of my team members, she has another outfit with her for me and when I reappear I see lust fill the eyes of my Mates. I am wearing a tight fitting dress with a split that starts halfway up my right thigh and a pair of stiletto heels, I know what I look good in and how to draw attention to me when I need it.

I need everyone to remember where I was and with whom, I need to make sure that no one can think that the Angel of Death comes from Blood Crescent Pack and when everyone will tell investigators that Mack and I were having dinner with all my Mates they will start looking elsewhere for the Angel of Death or at least that is what I am hoping for.

"Reservations under the name Greymoor." Kay says to the Maître D at the Lunar Lantern and he tells us to follow him to our table. I can hear many Wolves and Lycans whisper as we pass them and I see Tamish pale when his eyes land on the males with me.

Levi's p.o.v.

Largo is still pacing in my head, he has been doing it ever since we were in that basement and I doubt he will stop anytime soon. He calmed down a little when I jammed that syringe into Sarka and we both watched in aww as Commander and Fortune were toying with Sarka's Wolf.

Maleah didn't want to tell us what would happen to Tamish, all she said was that it was going to be brutal and that he deserved it.

From the corner of my eye I see Tamish looking at us, but I am more interested in the female that walks in front of me and I know the same goes for Kay and Mack. We are seated at a table in the back of the restaurant and with the way they set it up we have quite a lot of privacy, but not enough to keep us hidden from the other guests completely.

Maleah accepts the menu from the waiter before she orders a glass of Tarragon and Mack is quick to tell the waiter to make it four. Kay is in the position to keep an eye on Tamish and after a few minutes he tells us that Tamish and his friends are back to their conversation.

"Their order has just been taken." Kay says after a minute or five and we watch as the waiter walks back to the bar to put the menus away, we will wait until their main course before we will take action.

Tamish and his friends are halfway through their appetizers when ours arrive and we enjoy ourselves as we eat and talk, but Kay keeps an eye on Tamish every now and then. I see Maleah glancing at her watch for a moment and a few minutes later she looks me in the eyes as she says she is going to the ladies room, I follow her without saying a word.

To other guests it will look as if we decided to find a private corner to have some alone time.

We walk past the bathrooms to a corner near the kitchen and the moment she turns towards me I lift her up, she wraps her legs around my waist as I back her into the wall.

"Is this what you had in mind?" I ask her through the mind-link as I move my rock- hard cock between her legs, she doesn't answer me but her soft moan gives me the answer I was hoping for and I keep grinding my hips towards her.

After a minute or three we get interrupted by a waitress that wants to pass us, I take a step back to give Maleah some room to stand on her own two feet and for her to pull her dress down.

I apologize to the waitress while Maleah makes herself presentable again and after Maleah has apologized as well the waitress walks ahead of us with an order in her hands, as we sit down I see Kay looking at Tamish but he doesn't say anything.

Our main course arrives and I see Kay and Mack looking at Maleah but I don't understand why.

"Were you planning on letting him get away, Angel?" Mack asks softly and I see her smiling as she shakes her head, but she doesn't say a word. Maleah asks Kay to tell her a bit about the house he built and what he imagined the interior would look like before he found out she was his Mate.

Kay tells her he hadn't expected to need an office in the house because he has one in the Pack-house, "But with your profession and everything you have to handle with your team I think it would be wise if you could work at home, not that I would mind if you used my office." Kay says before we discuss whether or not she might need a designing studio as well.

Mack asks her what kind of studio she would like if she decides to have one and soon we are discussing the pros and cons of having a studio in the house. It takes us a moment to realize there is a commotion behind us and when I get up to see what is going on I quickly turn back again, the scene in the middle of the restaurant is making my stomach turn.

I see a small smile on Maleah's face as she keeps staring at Tamish. Mack and Kay aren't doing much better than me, but it doesn't surprise me that Maleah isn't bothered by it at all.

"What is going on with Tamish?" Kay asks as he turns towards Maleah. "Looks like he can't handle some Kuggaron." She mumbles as she leans closer to Kay and anyone that doesn't know her personally will think she is appalled by the scene at Tamish's table, but I know she is enjoying this very much.

Largo wants to see what is happening to Tamish and I let him push forward after he promises to put up a block, I don't want to see what is happening to the Asshole.
