A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 451[ 1,458 words ]

Chapter 451

Largo's p.o.v.

Our Mate is an extraordinary female and I am glad she belongs to the three of us.

I have been watching her throughout dinner and I was surprised about what she wanted from us in the hallway, but looking back I think I know why she wanted to get caught there.

I look down at the male on the floor, most guests have been led out the door by now and the only guests still in the establishment were seated in the back, just like us.

Tamish is holding his head as he screams in agony, blood running from his ears, eyes and nose. He clutches his stomach as he screams even louder and it is clear to see that he is in a state of panic.

If this had been Levi I would have forced a shift to heal him and help him cope with the pain, but nothing indicates that Tamiah's Wolf is trying to gain control over him and that is when I remember I saw Maleah using Viri Leaf in one of the potions.

How she managed to get it in his system I don't understand, but Levi points out that the waitress we blocked earlier had Tamish's order in her hand.

As I already said our Mate is an extraordinary female, she managed to poison his food without anyone noticing and our third target lies wriggling on the floor.

Medics rush into the restaurant with Investigators right behind them and they all skid to a halt the moment they see Tamish on the floor, blood covering him and the floor around him.

One of the Medics turns around to throw up whatever he ate today and one of the Investigators turns a little green around the nose, not much of a stomach for the gruesome scene in front of them.

Tamish is screaming on the top of his lungs, while trying to hold his head and stomach. The Medics try to get close to him, but Tamish isn't allowing them anywhere near him and after a few minutes one of them jumps back.

Both Medics are gagging and I see the Investigator's face turn pale, just before I can understand why they are reacting this way. A scent drifts into my nose and from the corner of my eye I see Maleah burying her nose in Kay's chest, Mack looks surprised until he smells the same thing I do.

"What the fuck died in here?" He growls and we hear Maleah say through our mind-link, "He isn't dead yet."

I focus on Tamish to realize that it is his blood that smells horrible and I can imagine it smells even worse the closer someone gets to him, no wonder the Medics are stepping further away from him.

We hear one of the Investigators say that he has only smelled this same thing a few times before and that each of those cases was attributed to the Angel of Death.

Other Investigators are talking to the guests and they slowly make their way through the ones that are basically trapped in the restaurant, once they are done questioning the guests at a table they get led out the back to prevent them from getting anywhere near Tamish.

At the rate these Idiots are working we might see Tamish taking his last breath and I truly hope that this is the last of it.

I mean, he is screaming, bleeding and smelling horribly and I could have imagined a better way to spend an evening with my Mate.

Finally it is our turn to answer the questions the Investigators have and I see a strange look on their faces when they realize from which Pack we are.

"What time did you get here?" Is the first question that gets fired our way and Maleah tells them that Elder Morton was already at his table with his guests.

"Were you seated here the entire time?" Is the second question and Maleah asks why she would want to switch tables during dinner.

The Investigator explains that he would like to know if anyone of us left the table at some point, she turns a nice shade of red as she looks my way and she stutters a bit when she tells him that the two of us left the table for a few minutes.

"Did you go anywhere near Elder Morton and his guests?" Is the next question and Maleah looks a little panicked in my direction, but I can tell she is enjoying this game.

"Sir, we didn't go anywhere near them. A waitress can verify that we were in the hallway passed the bathrooms, we are newly marked." I answer him and he gives me a smile in understanding, but his partner wants to know why I am in control.

"My Human might be the Gamma of Blood Crescent Pack, but he doesn't really have the stomach for this. I doubt anyone in their right mind would chose to watch this willingly." I answer him while Levi is protesting in the back of my head and I see a mischievous smile on Maleah face.

After a few more questions the Investigators tell us that we are free to go, but Maleah decides to make a little show out of it.

"Is that poor male going to be okay?" She asks as the Investigators walk away and one of them turns around to tell her that experience has taught him that no one recovers from this type of seizure.

Kay guides her out of the back while Tamish is still screaming his lungs out, once I know it is safe I ask her how long it will take before he dies.

"Hours. Kuggaron is a slow working poison, he is still able to put up some sort of a fight and it will take about three hours before anyone can get close enough to him to sedate him. By that time we will have taken care of our last target and their deaths will soon follow one another into the open." She says as she gets into the SUV and I hand back control to Levi to allow him to drive us to our hotel.

Maleah's p.o.V.

I am grateful that most males think that a female doesn't have the stomach to do to another what Tamish is going through or that she has the stomach to watch him go through the consequences of having Kuggaron in his system.

I might have to ask Levi to stand guard or something if he doesn't have the stomach for this, but something tells me that Largo loves teasing his Human.

The Investigators send us out the backdoor of Lunar Lantern and Kay rushes off to get our SUV, while I talk to Levi about Largo's remark. As guessed Largo had been teasing Levi, but he does admit that if he can avoid witnessing something like that he will do so and a small part of me understands him.

Watching someone die the way Tamish did or the way Langford did is sometimes difficult, but remembering why I take them out in a certain way is enough to keep me going.

We arrive at Obsidian Dome Hotel almost an hour later, Harvey was unable to find out why Nishay was staying here while Tamish was staying at a hotel in Palperroth. This time I did book a suite, I have three Mates to take with me and a suite has much more room for us.

I walk onto the balcony to enjoy the view and to take a peek at the room Nishay is staying in.

Mack is standing behind me with his arms around my waist, Kay is leaning against the railing as I tell them where Nishay is staying and Levi asks me how I plan on getting to her room undetected. I telbthem that I will enter her room the same way I always do and that will wait until she leaves for her appointment she has in an hour.

"She will return by herself, she is expecting Tamish to join her once his dealings with Elder Morton are done and I doubt Elder Morton will contact her." I say.

Elder Morton is known to have a problem with a female in charge, he only listens to the Queen because she can take his title as Elder away from him and if there is one thing in life he truly values at it's worth it is his title as an Elder. There are a few other Elders that feel the same way as Elder Morton, but they are not as bad in most of their ideas as Elder Morton.

We watch as the lights in her room turn off and I head inside to grab everything I need before I join my Mates on the balcony again, looking at the rooms on the other side of the hotel I see that there are no lights on.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 452[ 1,526 words ]

Chapter 452

Maleah's p.o.V.

I motion for my Mates to follow me as I walk to the left side of the balcony, Levi is the first to follow me up to the balcony above us and it takes us about ten minutes to reach the roof.

After another ten minutes we have reached the other side of the hotel and we slowly make our way down to the balcony of Nishay's room, I open the balcony door as Kay lowers himself onto the balcony.

Through the mind-link I tell them to stay close to me to hide our presence to Nishay when she returns and I know it is a waiting game that is rather boring, but Levi decides to talk about our new house to pass the time.

Three hours later I warn them that Nishay is returning, like I predicted she is by herself and unlike every other time I don't wait until she is asleep. Her back is turned towards us when I inject her with Huccafort and I am glad it works instantly, Mack catches her before she can crash to the floor.

I give her time to figure out what I did to her and her eyes widen when she realizes the situation she is in.

Nishay is fully aware of her surroundings, she will understand what is going on and in the meantime she will feel as if she gets jabbed with thousands of needles at the same time over her entire body. Like most of the potions I use it disconnects her ability to mind-link or to access her Wolf, it will slowly sink in that there is no escaping me and I smile as I see how she tries to gain some sort of control.

“Don't bother. Like the others you will die tonight and there is nothing you can change about it." I say as I open my bag and I softly chuckle when I see realization in her eyes.

"Yes, we already took out Caym, Sarka and Tamish. By morning the world will know that Tamish wasn't the only one that died tonight and I can't wait to see how some of your clients will respond when they find out that Caym's laptop disappeared." I tell her.

My Mates are standing in the middle of the room as I told them to, I need her to see all of us. I need her to wonder who will be the next one to take a piece of her, only figuratively speaking of course. Nishay will suffer worse than the others, I saved her for last for a reason and when the Investigators find her they will know that the rumors about her are true.

Nishay has a team of four Lycans that help her "train" the Pups to become sex- slaves, I have heard stories from some of the Wolves and Lycans that escaped the Lowbane family and Fortune hopes we will find out who they are.

Instead of pulling daggers and knifes from the bag I pull sex toys out, placing them on a chair next to the bed and I see her eyes widen as I keep putting items down on the chair.

Tonight she is going to find out what some of her victims went through and I hope that whoever walks into this room tomorrow has the stomach for it. I use my claws to shred her clothes and I tangle my hand in her hair to force her in a position she must recognize, a position her team forced the Pups in every single time they got trained.

I don't say a word as I grab some of the custom made tools I took from my bag, all of them have a similar purpose as the one I used on Caym and I make sure that Nishay sees what some of them can do. The only sound you can hear in the room is Nishay's breathing and it indicates that she is scared shitless, just like I want her to be at the moment.

My Mates don't show anything on their face, but I can tell that they are curious about the items I have in my hand and something makes me change my mind on how I wanted to handle this.

"I know you recognize the position you're in, it is the same position you put Pups in for their training. I also know that you are aware of what happened to those Pups and I will make sure you will experience the same pain and discomfort they went through.

The only difference will be that you will most certainly die when I am done with you and that is something you didn't grant those Pups, you forced them to go through this on a daily basis until it killed them.

The ones that did manage to survive you sold to perverted males, who made them go through an even worse hell and when they became too old you would buy them back to sell them to the Lowbane family.

Yeah, I know all about what you did to the Pups you bought and who you sold them to. I will take each Alpha and Elder down you had dealings with and I will enjoy doing it." I say as I push a thick and short dildo into her mouth, making her gag as I tie it at the back of her neck and I can see panic flashing through her eyes.

Looks like she doesn't like what her team did to the Pups.

I grab the bottle with Daciocely and a dagger, I will make her pay for what she did and the only regret I will have is that I can't make her suffer for as long as she made those Pups suffer.

I make several cuts on her back with the dagger and the only reason we know she is in pain is the fact that she opens her mouth to scream, but she isn't making any sound what so ever.

The next item + grab is the same item I used on Caym and I see my Mates gulp, the moment I turn the small knob at the bottom in front of Nishay's face, "Yeah, Caym didn't like this one and I know you won't like it either." I tell her as I place it on the bed in front of her and I grab a dildo from the chair that is a normal size, not that I have any intention of using this one on her.

I have a special one for Nishay, it had to be custom made for this task and I am glad one of my team members can make just about.

anything I need. No one can tol net?

this back to me because no one can figure out who made it and that means I can leave an item behind without it being traced back to the Angel of Death, exposing my identity.

Nishay doesn't seem to be too impressed with the dildo I am holding in my hand, but I can sense that my Mates are all staring at it and through the mind-link I ask if one of them would like to use it.

Their eyes move from the dildo down my body and I have pretty good idea as to where their minds went. I slowly place the dildo back in my bag with a smile on my face and when I pull my hand out I am holding a dildo that is much thicker and larger than the one I put in the bag.

Holding it in front of Nishay I keep my eyes locked with Mack and I can see his cock grow against the fabric of his jeans, "Think you can handle this one, Bitch." I say as I pull it away from her line of sight and walk to the other side of the bed, before I start pressing it against her ass.

She can't move away from me as I keep pressing against her ass, but her mouth opens wide the moment I slam it into her pussy and I push it as deep as I can get it in.

I kick a chair towards the bed because I have a trick up my sleeve and with the Huccafort in her system she won't be able to stop gravity from doing its job.

I tangle my hand in her hair again to move her towards the chair and Levi, who is wearing gloves, grabs her by her upper arms to place her on the chair, forcing her to glide down the dildo. It takes a few seconds before her body gives up the fight and we can see that every inch of the dildo enters her core.

Nishay's eyes widen when she sees me picking up the dildo I placed in front of her face and I turn the knob back, making the small knifes to disappear inside the dildo again. Levi places his hands on her shoulders to make sure she doesn't fall of the chair and to allow me to push this dildo into her backdoor, before I turn the small knob again. I know she is bleeding internally and by the time she will be found she will be dead, another assignment finished.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 453[ 1,214 words ]

Chapter 453

Mack's p.o.v.

Okay, now I am definitely scared of my Mate.

Maleah told us to stay in the middle of the room as she handed Levi a pair of gloves, she explained she would need his help at some point during the assignment and she didn't want to leave any kind of trace behind. I had a smirk on my face when she started climbing up the balconies above us and we followed her without saying a word, following her across the roof and down the balconies again.

She explained that she normally would wait until her target was asleep, but Nishay wouldn't get a rude awakening from the Angel of Death.

I watched with curiosity as Maleah pulls sex toys from her bag and I gulped when I saw the item she used on Caym, I kept watching as Maleah put Nishay through hell and back again. When we left that room we all knew that Nishay would be dead by morning and we knew her death couldn't be kept a secret.

We are enjoying our breakfast when a high pitched scream disturbs the peace and quiet, it only takes minutes for Investigators to enter the hotel lobby and within minutes after their arrival the rumors start spreading.

This is how the Angel of Death works and it doesn't take long before we hear that name mentioned for the first time, it gets mentioned more the moment news gets out that Caym, Sarka and Tamish are dead too.

Phones start dinging and buzzing, everyone is reading whatever pops up on their phones and soon the entire restaurant is filled with one conversation topic. We also read every news item, but we read them for an entirely different reason.

We are told to remain in our seats until an Investigator has talked to us, we are not in a hurry to get out of here and I watch in amusement when others start to become impatient.

"Miss D'Angelo, I am sorry for delaying you in anyway." An Investigator says and Maleah assures him that her schedule wasn't messed up, just before she asks him if the rumors are true.

When he asks what we did last night she provides him with information he didn't ask for, she tells him that we had dinner at Lunar Lantern last night and she makes a disgusted look when the Investigator mentions Tamish's death.

She tells him that we spent the night here because we were curious about her career, "And what better way to show them than to take them to some of the boutiques I own." Maleah says and after he looks at each of us he starts to smile, he congratulates us before he tells us we are free to go.

The moment we are in our suite I ask her what that was all about, she tells me that everyone is always curious about her private life and this will take the attention away from us being at or near both crime scenes.

"I think we should get ready to go home, we have a funeral to attend." Levi says with a scowl on his face and I hear Maleah growl as she lets herself fall onto the bed.

None of us is happy to go to that funeral, but I think Maleah wants to show her Mother that she has a life of her own and that she isn't a part of it nor will she ever be a part of Maleah's life.

After all these years I still don't understand why Tara rejected Diego or why she stuck around all these years, it is clear she never cared about anyone but herself. I hear Maleah growl again as I am packing up everything from the bathroom and I look around the corner to see Kay holding his phone in front of her face.

"Someone leaked to the news that Miss D'Angelo will be attending Diablo's funeral, that they had decided to take one another as chosen Mates." Kay mumbles.

Maleah is convinced her Mother leaked this to the press, but I ask her to let Harvey investigate this.

"I can understand why you would blame this on your Mother, but I doubt she would be so cruel as to you." explain and I think that deep down Maleah knows I am right, her Mother might be a power hungry female but we both doubt she would go that far.

allow Diablo to forceful marking met

Maleah's p.o.V.

I told the Investigator a bit more than I normally would, I wanted them to have something else to focus on and I think I managed to do that just fine with making it known I have three Mates.

Everyone always wants to know everything about the private life of Miss D'Angelo and this piece of my private life I was more than willing to share, let them focus on that instead of me being at two crime scenes.

Kay is in the driver's seat with Levi beside him, Mack and I are going through the files Harvey found on Caym's laptop and both our Lycans are becoming agitated with every sentence we read.

We have enough information to take down three Elders and four Alphas, we just need to find the perfect way to expose them to the world and we need the backing of our Alphas before we can take action.

However, there is something else I have to focus on right now and that is the funeral of Diablo. My Mother expects me to be there and I will not disappoint her, whether she will like the surprise I am bringing is another story.

Alpha Bradley will not like my Mates coming along, but that has a totally different reason and I am going to enjoy the look on his face.

"What put that smile on your face?" Kay asks as he looks at me through the rearview mirror and I tell him that I was thinking about the look on Alpha Bradley's face when we show up for the funeral. Levi asks why it made me smile.

"He probably expects me to stick with my Mother and I wouldn't put it past him to forcefully mark me himself, after all Diablo isn't around anymore to do it. But the three of you will make sure he doesn't get close to me or for him to be able to isolate me.

He will find out am not a Wolfless and defenseless female and he will find out I am capable of defending myself if he tries anything." I say as I snuggle a little closer into Mack's side, not just to calm him down but also because I like being close to one of my Mates.

Kay and Levi both have a hand on my knees to calm themselves down, none of them like to hear anything about Alpha Bradley and I hear Fortune chuckling in my head.

She hopes that Alpha Bradley will try something at or after the funeral, anything to justify ripping his head off and a part of me hopes that he will make a mistake. The other part hopes he will understand that my Mates will take him down if he tries something and that he decides to settle for a peaceful life with my Mother.

Heay, a girl can dream can't she? I just hope that my Mother for once will act as

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 454[ 1,315 words ]

Chapter 454

Maleah's p.o.V.

A message on my phone pulls me from my thoughts and I tell Mack that he was right, that my Mother didn't contact the press but that it was Alpha Bradley.

“Oh, this is great.” I mumble as I read the rest of the message Harvey send me and I turn my phone towards Mack to let him read the message too. Delaney's Father will also be attending the funeral and according to one of my Scouts a huge part of his Warriors is heading towards Blood Crescent Pack.

I send a message back to Harvey, that I want my teams in position around the territory and that he needs to coordinate this with our border patrols.

"I need to talk to Delaney and our Alphas. Harvey will help protect our borders but I want to know what they want to do with Delaney, take her with us or not." I say as I send a message to Pauline about the latest developments, I know she will be there to help Harvey out and keep an eye on Delaney if that is necessary.

Harvey is waiting for us at the gate with some of my team members and Levi introduces him to our Head Warrior, both of them start talking business the moment they walk away. Our Alphas are pacing up and down the front porch when we get to the Pack-house and I giggle when I see Delaney reading the book on our Pack's history.

"She isn't too bothered with her Mates nor is she bothered by the fact that they are worried about something." I say.

Delaney lifts her head up long enough to look at us, but her eyes are back on her reading quickly and I laugh when Kay asks them what crawled up their pants.

"If I get a message that Maleah needs to talk to us I know trouble is coming." Dominic growls and I look at my Mates to see which one send a message to Dominic.

"Thanks for throwing my under the buss, Love." I say as I look at Levi.

I tell them that trouble is heading this way, but that Harvey and my team will help out at the borders and as I turn to Delaney I see we have nothing to worry about. "Your Father will be at Diablo's funeral as well, but he is also sending Warriors this way." I say before I look at Dominic and tell him there is nothing to worry about, that Harvey will have everything settled with our Head Warrior before we leave for the funeral.

"I think it is best to take Delaney with us, everyone needs to see that she is your Mate and that the four of you have completed the Mate-bond." I say as I sit down next to Delaney and ask her if she is enjoying the book she is reading, she smiles at me as she turns the book slightly towards me.

She isn't reading the book at all, she is looking at pictures of her Mates with comments from Elyse and I have to do my best not to burst into a laughing fit.

I ask her which part she enjoyed the most and she turns to a page that has me laughing my ass off, it is a picture of both our Mates. The six of them couldn't be older than four and they are in the backyard, running around in the pouring rain, butt naked.

Both of us get strange looks from our Mates and I link Elyse to ask for a copy of that picture, I want to make a drawing of it to hang in my office.

I know I can make the drawing from memory, but having a picture to peek at from time to time will make it a lot easier and the colors and details will be much better.

Delaney squeals the moment Dillon lunges at her, but I am fast enough to grab the book and leap over the side to make a run for it. I run into the main living room to see Colter sitting in his favorite chair, I grab the album from the book and slide it into the file Colter is reading.

I jump over the couch next to him as I feel Mack coming around the corner and I see that Colter hides the album behind a pillow next to him. I don't stick around to see if Mack noticed and I run out the backdoor as Delaney is running deeper into the garden followed by her Mates.

I speed up a little to use my Assassin's aura to make my Alphas falter in their step and I pull Delaney with me to the left, I keep holding on to her hand as we make a few turns to lose our tail.

Delaney and walk past the Pack-house to see that Colter is returning the album to Elyse and link her to meet us at her place. Elyse and Max built a cottage their own when they knew they would hand over the Pack to their Sons and now it will be the perfect place to hide from our Mates for a little while, it will give me the time to get a copy of that picture.

"Maleah, you do understand that they can follow your scents?" Elyse asks.

"You do know I have the ability to hide my scent?" I ask as I sit down and both look at me dumbfounded as they sit down, Delaney is the first one that seems to understand what I mean.

She asks if that was the reason I held on to her hand as we ran from our Mates and when I nod my head she starts laughing her ass off. Elyse grabs another album from a locked drawer and Delaney and I are on the edge of our seats as Elyse walks towards us.

"If your Mates find out I kept these you might have to arrange my funeral." She says with a smile as she hands over the album, Delany opens it, to burst into laughter again and it turns out this album contains a lot of pictures that were taken that day.

I find a picture of my three Mates sitting in a pool of mud, the picture has captured to momentum of the mud flying through the air and I ask Elyse if I can have copy of this one as well.

Delaney asks me what I am going to do with it and I tell them I want to draw this picture and hang it in the nursery we will have one day.

I look from a picture to Delaney and back again," can never take my Alpha serious again." I mutters as see a picture of Dominic that was taken at the right time, his eyes filled with fear as a piece of mud is about to hit him in the face and Delaney is hiccupping from laughing so hard.

Elyse tells us that this happened on a day after they had been cooped up inside for three days already, it had been raining almost nonstop and Max had told them they couldn't go outside because their clothes would get dirty.

The boys hadn't been too happy with that reasoning, but it was Dillon that had said if we take our clothes of they can't get dirty and they had stripped naked to go outside.

"I didn't tell Max when I caught them,

I just got my camera to take these pictures. It was finally brought to Max's attention by a Warrior and know he nearly choked when Dillon said that they made sure their clothes wouldn't get dirty, so he wanted to know what the fuss was about.

I am not sure which I found more hilarious, a four year old out smarting an Alpha or Dillon standing on the back porch with his hands on his hips, butt naked." Elyse says and the three of us are laughing our asses off as Max steps into the living room.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 455[ 1,417 words ]

Chapter 455

Maleah's p.o.V.

"You have this entire Pack in a total panic." Max says and I ask him what the problem is, he looks at me with a questioning look in his eyes. I tell him what happened on the front porch and how we managed to escape, but I tell him we will head back to the Pack-house.

"I find it rather childish to call in the help of the Pack, they were chasing us around and quite a few people saw that." I say to Delaney as we walk back to the Pack- house.

"How do you think they would react if we constantly told them where we were going?" Delaney asks and just one look at her is enough, the rest of the way to the Pack-house we make plans to get even with our Mates.

The moment the Pack-house comes into view we change the subject to the arrangements for this afternoon, I tell her that I asked Dad to put our outfits on the Beta floor and that Dad and Colter would be joining Elyse and Max to the funeral.

An Omega tells us that our lunch is ready for us on the Alpha floor, "Tell our Mates we will have lunch in the main dining room. If they want to join us they are more than welcome." Delaney says before she walks past the Omega and heads to the dining room with me right behind her.

Roars are heard from up the stairs and I bet it is safe to say that the Omega mind- linked them with Delaney's message, not that I can blame her.

We have just settled in our seats when we hear our Mates running down the stairs and we smile at one another as we start eating our lunch.

"Who are you?" Nightmare asks and I wonder how she got into the Pack-house, but then I remember we never had a vote to banish them from the Pack-house.

Delaney introduces herself to Nightmare and I wonder what kind of a remark she will get from Nightmare, "That is the Luna seat and that will be mine soon." Nightmare says.

Delaney asks her how she figured it would be hers soon and I almost choke on my food when she tells Delaney she is Dominic's girlfriend, that she just left him on the Alpha floor.

"Do you always spread lies on what you have done and with whom?" Delaney asks and the entire dining room is quiet as Nightmare tells her that she isn't lying, I roll my eyes at her words.

"Can you tell me what would happen if a male slept with a female while he has marked another?" Delaney asks as she slowly gets out of her seat.

"Of course I know that. The female he marked would be in excruciating pain and it will take hours before she has recovered from that, especially if it is a true Mate- bond." Nightmare answers and again Delaney asks her why she lies about who she has been with, Nightmare asks Delaney why she is accusing her of lying.

"Because if Dominic had sex with you I wouldn't be standing here, I would be in the infirmary and Maleah would be on the hunt for her Alpha. I am your Alphas' Mate and this seat belongs to me." Delaney says as she steps towards Nightmare.

"Get the fuck out of the Pack-house and don't ever come near me or my Mates ever again." Delaney growls and she releases her aura in the process, causing Nightmare to fall to her knees.

I grab Delaney by her shoulder to force her to pull her aura back and the moment Nightmare is able to get to her feet she runs from the room. I know our Mates heard and saw everything that happened, but I hadn't expected the angry look on Dominic's face and neither did Delaney.

"You had no right to talk to one of our Pack-members like that. My Brothers and I are the Alphas..." But I don't let him finish that sentence as I grab him by the throat and push him up against the wall.

"She had every right, she is this Pack's Luna suggest you go back up to the Alpha floor and think about what you just did and said, while you eat your lunch. Once we are done here we will come up to the Alpha floor to hear what you have to say for yourself, Alpha." I growl at him before I release him from the grip I have on his throat.

"Take your Alpha out of here, before I change my mind." I growl at my Mates before I turn back to Delaney.

Delaney and I eat our lunch in silence as I can feel multiple presses against the block I put on the mind-link, I don't want to hear anything from anyone.

Elyse joins us at the table without saying a word and I guess that Max went up to the Alpha floor to straighten out his Son, at least that is what I am hoping for. Because if that is not the case I need to know where my Mates stand and if they agree with Dominic I will need to rethink this Mate-bond.

When we reach the Alpha floor only Max is there and I look at him for some answers.

"They just left for the funeral, they wanted to give the two of you some time to calm down and to give you some time to realize that you crossed some boundaries." Max says and I ask him what he is talking about.

"A Luna isn't allowed to talk to Pack-members like that, she goes to her Mates to have them resolve the problem." Max explains and I just stare at Delaney to see if I heard this right.

"The first time you pinned Dominic to the wall he let it slide, because your Lycan was in control and he realized you would have never done that if Fortune hadn't taken over control. Today you were in and you crossed a line when you attacked your Alpha. The only reason you are not in the dungeons yet is because your Mates promised this would never happen again and that you would apologize to Dominic for your actions." Max continues.

I raise my hand as Max opens his mouth again, I don't want to hear another word out of his mouth and I doubt Delaney wants to hear it. I tell Delaney to get her outfit and to follow me to the Beta floor.

"I think you and I have a few things to discuss without the presence of others." I say, making it clear to Max and Elyse not to follow us. Delaney follows me to the Beta floor while I link Dad and Colter, I want to know their opinion about what I just found out.

My Mates will have a few questions to answer when we get back here tonight and for their sakes I hope their answers are answers I can live with. Delaney and I are finished getting dressed when Dad and Colter walk in.

"Who the hell pissed you off?" Colter asks the moment he sees my face and I tell him what happened today, from the moment I returned with my Mates until the moment I linked Dad.

Both of them start cussing and swearing as they start pacing the room, Colter tells us that Max was raised the way his Father ran this Pack and I am surprised to hear that Elyse was never allowed to make decision herself.

Whatever Max said was Law, from where they would have their meals to what to do with Pack-members that crossed some line.

"We had hoped that Elyse would change Max, but she is the one that changed for him." Dad mumbles and I ask Colter if his Son agrees with Max's point of view.

"None of them ever agreed with Max and I thought our future leadership would break with the traditions Max put into place, but from what you just said I am afraid Max ran this Pack a few years too long." Colter says and I grab my phone to call Pauline.

"Which of the safehouses is still secure?" I ask the moment she answers and I explain what happened today.

"I am going to give them twenty four hours to make a choice. Either they chose their Mate or their Pack and don't want to see them during that time."tell Pauline and Delaney says to count her in. Pauline tells me that she will arrange everything and that she will be waiting for us after the funeral.

Chapter 456

Maleah's p.o.V.

Delaney and I ignore Max and Elyse as we reach the bottom of the stairs and I smile when I see Pauline waiting for me with my business SUV. She opens the door for us as she looks towards the Pack-house and once the three of us are inside the SUV she asks if I still want my team to keep an eye on the borders with Harvey.

"Yes, I don't want innocents to get hurt." I mumble as I lean my head back to close my eyes for a moment.

Delaney and Pauline talk about the pictures Elyse showed us and I chuckle from time to time as I see the picture Delaney is describing for Pauline, I wonder if Max lost his shit when he found out his Mate was busier with taking pictures than informing him.

Delaney and I agreed that we would ignore our Mates during the funeral, Dad will sit on my right side and Colter will sit on Delaney's left side and I really hope our Mates will get the message.

Everyone will assume I will be sitting with my Mother and I informed her to reserve four seats for me, just enough for Delaney, Colter, Dad and myself. I see my Mother on the front porch with two males beside her, she is smiling at them as one of them is talking to her and I wonder if she is already looking for her next Mate.

The moment I get out of the SUV Fortune starts to act strangely, but then I get remember of something I learned years ago.

I had rescued a young Lycan and when I talked to his Mother I learned a few things I didn't know about Lycans, like the bond there is between family members. This feels similar to what I felt when I walked closer to Dad and Timber and I have to assume that they are related to me and my Mother.

"Maleah, I am so glad to see you." Alpha Bradley calls out as he walks towards me and I step back in time to evade his open arms.

Delaney steps next to me as our Mates walk up to us from the side of the Pack- house, "Alpha Bradley, my condolences on the loss of your Son." Delaney says before she asks me to introduce her to my Mother and I take the chance to get away from Alpha Bradley and our approaching Mates.

I walk up the steps to the front porch and I feel the same pull I felt with Dad, now I know for sure they are related to me.

"Maleah, thank you for coming." My Mother says and for once I don't hear a disapproving tone in her voice.

"This is your Grandfather, Lawson." She says as she turns to the male on my right and I stay put as he wraps his arms around me, allowing the family bond to form to its fullest.

"This is your Great Grandfather, Rhys." I don't get the change to look at him before I am wrapped in his arms and Fortune is waggling her tail as another family bond gets formed.

"Tara." I hear Dad say from behind me and he gets introduced to my Grandfather and Great Grandfather.

"Maleah, can we talk for a moment?" I hear Levi ask and as I turn around I see my Alphas looking at Delaney.

"We will talk after the funeral, for now I suggest you stay away from us." I say through the mind-link and Dominic looks at me in surprise, but he is smart enough to keep his mouth shut.

My attention gets drawn back to my Mother when she calls out my name and she introduces me to Alpha Kenyon of Snow Mountain Pack.

I see a knowing smile on Dad's face when Grandfather tells me that he is an Assassin and I think Dad just got a few answer we both have had over the years. He asks me about my career as a designer and a business woman, he is genuinely interested in me and my career and I let him guide me and Delaney to the venue where the service will be held.

Dad and Colter following us with my Mother and Great Grandfather, chitchatting as we get to the venue.

"Stay away from Alpha Bradley." My Mother whispers in my ear as she kisses me on the cheek, I nod my head to acknowledge that I heard and understood her and through the mind-link I inform every one of the warning my Mother gave me.

Delaney takes my hand the moment she sits and through the mind-link I ask her if she is okay, "My Father just walked in." She answers and I inform the others through the mind-link again.

Dominic moves his seat a little bit forward as he places his head on Delaney's shoulder, through the mind-link he tells her that he understands that she is angry but that he will protect her and that a disagreement between them will never change that.

Grandfather seems to understand that something has Delaney rattled and he moves closer to us as he is still talking to my Mother, "What the fuck are you doing here?" I hear a male growl from behind me, but Alpha Kenyon is quick to shut him up.

I can't see where Delaney's Father is because Alpha Kenyon and Grandfather are blocking my view but I can tell it means a great deal to Delaney that others are here to keep her safe. The service starts with a speech from Alpha Bradley about Diablo, with the way he is talking about Diablo one would almost assume he was a saint.

His eyes drift towards me as he says that Diablo had found a female he wanted to settle down with, that he was proud of his Son for finding an interesting female and that he wished Diablo had lived long enough to give him Grandpups.

"I know that I hope she will not feel as if she can no longer come here, she will always be welcome her and I know her Mother feels the same." He says and I see my Mother pale the moment he mentions her.

"Miss D'Angelo, I know you want to keep your private life out of the news and I am sorry for revealing your relationship with my Son like this." He says as he looks around the room and I see a client getting up.

"I am sorry to interrupt you, Alpha Bradley. I think Diablo might not have been honest with you about his chosen Mate, because Miss D'Angelo has three Mates and I have it on good authority that their mark is that of a true Mate-bond." She says.

I hear a lot of giggles and chuckles around me, but also a few growls from the males surrounding me and out of instinct I reach for my Mates.

My Mother has a small smile on her face while Alpha Bradley is turning red with anger, my Grandfather and Great Grandfather step closer to my Mother and when Alpha Bradley tries to grab her she is just out of his reach.

Dad gets on his feet when Alpha Bradley growls in the direction of my family and I decide to put a stop to this.

"Alpha Bradley, I wasn't Diablo's chosen Mate. We are here out of respect to you and your Pack, to say goodbye to your Son and to hopefully give you some closel. no

never knew Diablo and I don't know what kind of male he was, but I doubt he had envisioned this on his funeral. Why don't we all sit down and continue this service for Diablo."

I say as I stay beside Dad and Grandfather.

It takes a few minute before the service gets resumed and it turns out to be a rather short service, besides Alpha Bradley no one else wanted to say something about Diablo. Something my Mother once said to a friend pops to mind, "Keep your mouth shut if you have nothing nice to say."

Looks like the Pack-members somehow know this phrase and decided not to waste anyone's time with shallow words.

Once the service is over they open the doors to a patio and as we walk out of the Pack-house I see Alpha Bradley approaching me.

"Maleah, can have a moment of your time?" He asks while my family surrounds me and I tell him he can ask me anything he wants in front of my family, "We need some privacy for this, I don't want your Mother to overhear us." He says as he keeps looking at Dad and for a moment I contemplate to go with him.

If he tries something I have a reason to kill him and I will have completed another assignment, but I don't want to take any risks.

“Sorry, Alpha Bradley. I am not going anywhere with you." I respond before I turn on my heel to walk away, but he grabs my upper arm as I take a step away from him and on instinct I turn around to punch his lights out.

Unfortunately someone else got the pleasure of knocking him out, Dominic took a swing at him just before I turned around.

"Sorry, I know you are very capable of doing it yourself. I just think it is best if most don't know your full potential." He whispers as he leans towards me and I really hope that the time-out we are forcing on them will open their eyes.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 457[ 1,106 words ]

Chapter 457

Mack's p.o.v.

I am not sure how to react, a part of me wants to defend my Mate and the other part is conflicted by the loyalty I have towards my Alphas. I am glad I am in an SUV with Kay and Levi, because I need to know where they stand, but I don't have to ask the question out loud.

"If they make me chose I will always pick my Mate over them." Levi grumbles the moment we are across our borders.

We never agreed with Max on his opinion that a female should always listen to her Mate, that she should let her Mate deal with her problems and our Alphas didn't like it either.

Yet they decided where we would have our lunch and when Delaney put a Pack- member in her place that crossed a line Dominic lost it. He did exactly what he said he would never do and I hope he realizes his mistake before it is too late, I would hate to see Delaney change into Elyse or for her to reject her Mates.

Kay tells us that he agrees with Levi and I confirm that I agree as well, but it will leave us with a huge challenge. Where will we live if they force us to take sides in this matter? Kay tells me that he will follow Maleah wherever he has to, as long as he gets to be with her and I believe the three of us will do just that.

We get a text from Max that our Mates weren't too pleased with us and I wonder what else might have happened. Kay pulls over once I have read him the contents of the message and the six of us try to figure out what could have happened, Levi is a bit smarter than the rest of us it seems.

"I just got an answer from your Father, Mack. Turns out Max told them his view on the situation, you remember his bullshit on a Luna or other females." He says and we all growl because this can turn out bad for all of us, especially if our Mates believe whatever it was Max told them.

I want to rush towards my Mate, but Commander stops me as Alpha Bradley approaches her and I hear Commander chuckle when he is hugging air.

Looks like Delaney understands that Maleah doesn't want to be anywhere near Alpha Bradley, because she asks to get introduced to Tara and I want to growl at the male that is hugging my Mate.

"Don't worry, he is her Grandfather." I hear a voice say behind me and I look from Alpha Kenyon to the male on the front porch.

"She is Lawson's Granddaughter?" I hear Dominic ask and I finally connect the dots, my Mate is the Granddaughter of the best Assassin known in our world. Not only is Maleah the next Royal Assassin, she is also the Granddaughter of a famous Assassin. Fuck, Lawson is the Royal Assassin.

When I hear her voice through the mind-link I know we are in trouble, Dominic tells us through the mind-link to stay close to our Mates and to listen to what they have to say when they are ready to talk.

"I will not allow my Father to destroy the bond with our Mates and I will do whatever I have to do to keep Delaney by my side." Dominic says through the mind-link and I know that that goes for all of us.

We follow behind our Mates as they walk towards the venue and we sit down in the row behind them, Dominic sits behind Delaney sit behind Maleah. Besides

Delaney's Father causing a pel

of trouble at the beginning of the service and Alpha Bradley causing a ruckus during the service, it is a short and boring service.

Dominic knows that Maleah can handle herself, but the moment Alpha Bradley grabs her he punches his lights out and Kay suggests it is time for us to leave.

Maleah's family follows us out to our SUVs and I am surprised to see Pauline standing next to Maleah's SUV, "Ready to go?" Pauline asks as she looks from Maleah to us and as Maleah turns towards us my heart sinks, Max really ruined this for us.

"We will be staying at one of my safehouses and I strongly suggest that you use the next twenty four hours to figure out what you want. I refuse to bow down to an Alpha that treats his Luna as a second class citizen.

Delaney can make her own decisions without the help of her Mates and I want you to make it clear to the Pack that her word is Law, just as much as your word as their alpha is Law. If you want to run the Pack like Max did than we will pack our stuff and move out of the territory.

If you decide to try and deceit us I will make you regret it, because you know what I am capable of and no one will ever find out the truth." Maleah says before they get into their SUV and I watch as they drive away towards the gate, I am too stunned to say something.

Commander is whining in my head as the SUV drives out of sight and I hear someone ask what happened for our Mates to leave like that.

Diego tells whoever asked the question what happened and the next thing know I get grabbed by the throat, "If I find out that you are mistreating my Granddaughter in any way, if I find out you are mistreating your Luna in any way there will be no place in the world you can hide from me." Lawson growls as he looks at the six of us, one by one.

Dominic tells him we have no intention of treating our Mates the way their Father wants us to treat them, but he also tells him it was just a remark that slipped out.

"Our Luna will be able to discipline a

Pack-member when they cross the

will back her in every decision she makes. Our only challenge will be our Father, he will never accept it if Delaney or Maleah talks back and I am not sure how to make that happen." Dominic says.

Alpha Kenyon asks him if he has lost his mind and we all just stare at him, "WHO THE FUCK IS THE ALPHA?" He yells in Dominic's face and I stare at Dillon when he starts laughing his ass off, until it sinks in.

They are the Alphas of our Pack and their word is Law, if you don't like it you can move out of the territory.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 458[ 1,218 words ]

Mack's p.o.v.

"I suggest that you make a stop along the way and discuss how you plan on making this right with your Mates. When you get home you make your Father understand he is no longer the Alpha, because if my Daughter leaves I am going as well." Diego says before he walks back to the Pack-house and the look on Dad's face tells me he won't before behind Diego to walk out.

We quickly go in search of Alpha Bradley to say our goodbyes, but it turns out a little bit differently than we had planned.

I see Lawson standing in front of Tara, while Alpha Kenyon is growling at Alpha Bradley and I look at my Dad for some answers. "Tara rejected him, but he refuses to accept it." Dad says through the mind-link and the six of us move as one towards them as Max steps in front of us.

"She can deal with this herself, stay out of it." He growls softly. "She took him as a Mate because she hoped to gain status and now that he is interested in someone else she wants a way out."

Max doesn't have to tell me who Alpha Bradley is interested in, but I wonder how he knows and if his comments to Maleah and Delaney were deliberate.

Dax pushes his Father to the side to walk towards Tara, "Anything we can help with, Tara?" He asks and the look in her eyes tells us that she is in pain from a half broken bond, but she refuses to make a sound. Lawson tells us what is going on and what I already suspected is confirmed, Alpha Bradley was and is after Maleah.

"Alpha Bradley, why don't you accept her rejection? After all you do not share a true Mate-bond and this gives you the opportunity to find a female that is more suited for you." I say as I step next to Lawson and I see Alpha Bradley looking around the venue.

"Sorry, but Maleah already left with our Luna. I believe they had a fitting session in Yarlford." I say as I link the others to tell them it is the one place she will not go to, because that safehouse was no longer usable.

He acts as if he is reluctant to accept her rejection, but after Alpha Kenyon tells him he has no problem to go to war with him he finally accepts her rejection. Lawson lifts Tara in his arms, while Rhys and Alpha Kenyon grab her bags and we follow them to their vehicles to give them a safe passage.

Max is calling out to us but Dominic tells us to ignore him through the mind-link and we get in our own vehicles to head towards home with a little stop along the way.

By the time we get home Commander has settled down a little and we all decide to spend the night in our new home. Every room has been decorated while we were gone and after showing our Alphas around we settle in the living room, talking about our assignment with Maleah.

As we recount every target Dax tells us that he will never upset Maleah, "I don't want to know what she could do to me, so I am going to be on my best behavior." He says and Dillon starts laughing his ass off.

We all know that Dax will misbehave, but in a good way. We talk about her remaining assignments, but we have no idea who she will go after next and I doubt it is a good idea to guess about it.

"If Alpha Bradley comes after her she has a legitimate reason to kill him, but if I had to guess I would say she wants to make him suffer and she will let him survive if he tries to forcefully mark her." Kay says and we all have to agree with him on that.

We know what he did to Elyse in big lines, but Maleah told us that Elyse told her a hell of a lot more and we could feet how pissed off the two of them @ere. She will hang him out to dry if she gets the chance and we discuss how she will take him out, how she will make him pay in the same fashion he hurt his victims.

Elyse wasn't the reason for Maleah to accept the assignment and she only accepts an assignment when justice has failed.

Levi tells us she has two rules when it comes to assignments, she only accepts them when justice has failed and she kills the targets when she wants to.

"She does it to make sure their deaths can't be swept under the rug and she wants to make sure she has an ironclad alibi." He explains when Dillon asks him why she has those rules and we all have to admit she has a valid point in her way of taking on an assignment.

Dominic asks if we can implement those rules into our Pack rules for accepting an assignment and for the next few hours we go through our Pack rules to see how we can incorporate them into our already existing Pack rules.

I link Dad to see if they are back in our territory yet and when he confirms that he is home I ask him to come to our house with Diego, that we found a few things we want to discuss with them.

The moment Dad sits down I hand him my tablet and ask him and Diego to read what we have found, both of them growling as they are reading through the document. We doubt anyone is aware of this document, because Dax found it by accident when he was searching for the Pack rules.

Kay and Dillon had started reading through the document we are all familiar with and they found out that this additional document is mentioned, but as you can guess in rather fine print.

Levi has been trying to find out when this document was drafted and how many Pack-members are aware of this document. Every Pack-member that tuns sixteen has to be initiated into the Pack and before their initiation they have to read all the Pack rules, which I can guarantee you didn't include that document when I was initiated into the Pack.

None of the others had read this document for today and I was hoping Dad or Diego didn't read it either, the way they are growling tells us all that this is new for them as well.

"Where did you find this?" Diego asks as he looks at me, Dax tells him how he found this document and that we found a small notation on it in the Pack rules document we all know.

"Does anyone mind if I reach out to Harvey? I can't find anything on when this document was made or who actually read it." Levi asks and Dillon tells him to go ahead, to even tell Harvey why we want to know that information.

We listen to the conversation Levi has with Harvey and at first he is reluctant to help us, that is until Levì tells him why we want to have those answers. By the time Levi disconnects the call Harvey bas promised to get us those answers and I hope he finds them before our Mates return.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 459[ 1,356 words ]

Maleah's p.o.V.

Pauline drives me and Delaney to my safehouse in Wolfpine and Fortune feels a bit better knowing that her Mates aren't too far away. She understands why Delaney and I are mad at our Mates and she is more than willing to help us kick their asses if it comes to it, but it doesn't mean that we all of a sudden don't love our Mates anymore.

We just want them to realize that things have to change, that we will not become Elyse because they are overprotective asses and I have taken care of myself my whole life. It doesn't mean I won't accept help when it is offered or when I need it from my Mates and I know Delaney feels the same.

We arrive at the enclosed community I bought a house in for victims that need some extra protection, Pauline places her hand on the scanner and a moment later the gate slowly opens.

Pauline slowly pulls up until the Guard motions her to stop, two Guards walk around the SUV to check if no one is hiding under it and Pauline gets asked to open the trunk. I chose this community because of the security measures and again I smile as I watch the Guards do their jobs, this is one of the security measures I liked.

There are also Guards that run patrols around the perimeter, just as Warriors do in a Pack and that is what made me buy the house in the end.

The house is at the back of the community, the backyard is surrounded by a small forest and I was more than willing to pay a few extra bucks to possess it. I never had to use this safehouse for anyone I rescued during my assignments and now I will enjoy it myself for almost a day, time I will use to get to know my future Luna even better.

"Maleah, Mack told Alpha Bradley that you and Delaney had a fitting session in Yarlford." Pauline says chuckling and Delaney asks if Mack is an Idiot. I explain to her that Mack knows that the safehouse in Yarlford was compromised and that he knows I would never take her there, she finally understands that Mack played Alpha Bradley.

Pauline tells me that Harvey already send a team out there to see if Alpha Bradley would come after me, something tells me that he will come after me and that Mack told him we were in Yarlford with a reason.

It takes me a minute to understand why Mack mentioned Yarlford, it wasn't just because he knew I would never take Delaney there, it also had to do with the fact that it is a long drive from Alpha Bradley's Pack.

He wanted to give Harvey enough time to send a team that way and he wanted to give us time to settle into whatever safehouse I chose to stay in. Despite us asking for some space they will always try to protect us, no matter how mad we might get with one another our Mates will always keep our best interest at heart and even though I want to stay mad at them I know I can't.

My Alphas aren't Idiots, they will understand that their Mate and our Pack's Luna will never allow another Wolf or Lycan to make decisions for her ever again and they will do what they have to do to keep their Mate happy.

I show Delaney around the house we will be staying in and I tell her she can do whatever she wants to do, as long as she stays within the marked trees in the forest. Pauline joins Delaney in the backyard and I watch as both of them shift to run for a while.

I grab my bag from the floor and pull out the file Harvey prepared for me, everything I need to know on the remaining members of the Lowbane family. They will be next on my list, but not until after the Spring Ball and I want to take down the Elders and Alphas that did business with my last targets first.

I go through the file as I sit on the back porch, enjoying some peace and quiet, The Lowbane family are creatures of habit and each of them has a pretty steady routine, I need to make sure someone checks those routines every now and then to see if they made any changes, not that I am expecting them to change their daily routine.

My years as an Assassin have proved it over and over again, once someone has a steady routine it is hard to break that routine and if they manage to make some changes they will always fall back into their old routines at some point.

I never went after a target without planning it from start to end, my team always dug up every piece of information there was on my target and we would go over every possible scenario to limit the problems I could run into.

After I have written down a few remarks in the file I put it in Pauline's bag, she knows what to do with it and by the time I really need it again it will be updated.

I grab my sketchbook to do a bit of drawing for a while, just to get my mind of my targets and I start working on a dress for Delaney. Unlike me Delaney is a girly girl in every sense of the word and I contact Ariel to ask if she already started on the suits for our Alphas.

I hear Ariel giggle when I tell her there is a change in the colors, after all they will have to match their Mate and not their Mother. I start to draw the dress with Delaney in mind and I make a few changes along the way, not everything seems right once I have drawn it.

Once I am done I place my sketchbook on the chair right in front of me, I lean back in my seat to look at it for a few moments and when I am satisfied with my drawing I grab another sketchbook.

I have drawn the dress in detail for Ariel and her team to make it and now I will start on my own dress. I hadn't drawn one for myself, because I hadn't planned on going to the Spring Ball and now I don't want to miss it for the world.

Not only are the most sought after males of the market, the deaths of the Dayborne Brothers and Bornshade Sisters will be the talk of the evening.

Ever since I found my Mates I have had an image in my mind, an image without color or detail and after I have drawn the outlines of the image just stare at it for a net

am not sure which color to choose, so will leave that for the moment and for now I will just concentrate on the details of the dress.

I make a few changes to the back of the dress, before I turn back to the front of the dress and I realize that it is perfect the way it is. I call Ariel again to ask her opinion about the color, she asks me to give her a general description of the dress and once I am done talking Ariel tells me the color that popped into her head.

I grab the right color pencil and start to color in my drawing, when I am done I have a huge smile on my face. Ariel got the color just right, it is perfect for this dress and I know that not many females will be wearing this color.

My attention gets drawn to my phone and I turn it to see a message from Harvey, Alpha Bradley finally showed up in Yarlford and he is asking questions about my whereabouts. He ends the message with something I don't really understand, but if he thinks he needs to tell me this I will keep it in mind.

According to Harvey I should hear my Mates out next time I see them, they might surprise me.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 460[ 1,179 words ]

Chapter 460

Maleah's p.o.V.

Harvey knows me well enough to know that I will always listen to what another has to say, I will not always agree with it and I don't have to but everyone is entitled to have an opinion of their own.

"What put that smile on your face?" Pauline asks and I let them read the message Harvey send. We discuss what he might mean with that remark for the next few hours and we have come up with a few ridiculous ones, making this day end much better than it started.

The next morning we take our time to get ready and I show Delaney the dress I designed for her, her mouth opening and closing as she stares at it.

"Fuck." Delaney mutters before she starts laughing her ass off, "Dax told me something about you trying to convince them that their Mother was a girly girl." She says as she is trying to keep a straight face, but one look at me has her laughing her ass off once again.

I tell her about the outfits Stan designed for her Mates and that Ariel is adjusting the colors to have them match with her outfit. She stops laughing as she looks up at me and I see her eyes move back to the drawing of her dress, she looks at Pauline as she turns the drawing around.

Pauline stares at me for a moment before she starts laughing her ass off, she knows me well enough to know that I am not kidding.

We are still laughing as we place our bags in the SUV and I check if the house is locked down completely, just to be on the save side. Delaney and I still try to figure out what our Mates might have in store for us and Pauline deals with the Guards at the gate before we leave the enclosed community.

Fortune is curled up in the back of my head and she can't wait to be in the presence of her Mates again, we both missed them last night.

I never thought it would be this difficult to sleep without my Mates, but Fortune told me it was worse because we parted with them while we were still mad at them and if we manage to make it right again this will not happen in the future.

So if I want to have decent night sleep without my Mates by my side, I need to make sure that they never piss me off or I never piss them off. Yeah, good luck with that.

None of us will back down when we believe that we are right, so this will not be the last time that one of us might get mad at the other. I also know that I will always listen to my Mates opinions and take them into consideration, I hope my Mates will return the favor.

Fortune is convinced that they will always listen to what I have to say, according to her I could recite the Pack rules and they would hang on every word that leaves my mouth.

Yeah, my Lycan is a comedian.

Levi's p.o.v.

I dial Harvey's number while I try one last thing to find out when this document was made, but it is a dead end as I had already suspected and when Harvey finally answers I know he is our only hope for answers.

After I tell Harvey what we found I tell him that I have been looking for the date it was created, I explain to him why we want to know that information and it takes answering a few of his questions to get him on our side.

When I ask him what he needs he tells me that he is already in our system, "will call you when I have an answer for you and I won't telf Maleah what you found. She might start plotting a murder and we all know it won't be yours." He says just before he hangs up and know it is best if Maleah doesn't get a chance to find out about this beforehand.

After a rather restless night I take a shower before I decide to check my phone for message from Harvey and as I stand under the cascading water I wonder if Maleah slept any better than we did.

Yeah, the three of us slept in the same bed, it felt like the right thing to do and truly believe it is the only reason why we have gotten any sleep last night. I am glad we already moved a few things into our room and I grab a black pair of jeans with a white shirt from the closet, before I head down for some breakfast.

et.ne

I read through the Pack rules again as Dominic and Mack are talking about one of Maleah's rules, I don't remember reading these rules before I was initiated into the Pack and I try to remember if Dad ever mentioned an addition to the Pack rules.

I draw a blank on the subject and I link my Father to ask him if there ever had been an addition made to our Pack rules, but like the rest of us he can't recall Max ever mentioning any additions to our Pack rules.

It only takes about five minutes before Dad walks in with Mom, Zane and Myrah, Dad doesn't waste time as he ask me why I asked him that question and Dax hands him the tablet with the file.

Like everyone else our former Beta and former Gamma have no idea where these additions came from and while Kay shows our Mothers around we discuss the reasons why Max might have kept them a secret from all of us, but the answers we come up with only cause us to get angry.

Mom asks us what we plan to do about these Pack rules and our Alphas answer in unison, "Hold a vote with all the Pack-members."

I chuckle as my Mom looks at them with a huge smile on her face and she tells them it is the best decision they could have made. She points out that some of these rules make it impossible for someone to be a good Luna to her Pack and I send Harvey a message to check when the last addition was added to the file.

As I am listening to our former leadership talk an unsettling feeling comes over me and Largo growls in my head when I tell him what I expect Harvey to find, not something anyone will appreciate. I will wait for Harvey to confirm my suspicions before I bring this up with the others and I hope I will get those answers before the girls return, they need those answers as much as we do.

Mom complements Kay on the house and soon we are discussing the interior of Maleah's office, Mom asking if we thought about both her careers.

Kay just nods his head while Mack explains that we will move everything Maleah needs into this house, that she can still pursue both careers and have every room she needs to do both her jobs.

Chapter 461

Levi's p.o.v.

"How are your suits for the Spring Ball coming along?" Myrah asks and we have to tell them that we have no idea, that Maleah hasn't said much about it.

I remind her that we still have more than a week to worry about that and Kay says that if he doesn't have a suit to wear he will just wear a pair of jeans. Myrah starts arguing with him, until she sees the twinkle in his eyes and smacks him on the back of his head.

Kay tells his Mom that he still has his suit from the last time we went to the Spring Ball and that puts her at ease.

My phone starts to buzz and as I pick it up I see I have a message from Harvey, he is on his way with the girls and the information. I relay the message to the others and I see everyone relaxing just a little bit, we won't relax completely until we have our Mates in our arms.

No, that isn't completely true, we won't relax until we have taken care of Max and his stupid hidden Pack rules.

I walk back up to our room, I just need some time to myself to let everything we heard settle in my mind and with everyone still talking I can't seem to find the peace and quiet to process it all. I lay down on the bed to close my eyes for a moment and the first thing that pops into my mind is seeing my Mate for the first time, not that I knew at the time there was a connection between us.

I only knew her by name and I had tried over the years to match a face to the name, but I was never able to.

Mack told me I could have found her online, but I wanted to find that image for myself and after seeing her that first time I managed to find one single memory of Maleah. An image of her sitting in the garden behind the Pack-house with a sketchbook on her lap, her eyes staring of in the distance and I remember thinking she would turn into a very beautiful female.

I remember that I wasn't too surprised about her hair color, but it wasn't a common color and I was right about my prediction.

Maleah turned into a stunning female and I am glad that I get to call her my Mate. Her career never held my interest, but I kept track of her other career without knowing it and I think I need to ask her if all the cases the Elders contributed to her were actually carried out by her.

Our assignments are kept under lock and key by our tech-team and I have a feeling that her assignments are even better secured than ours. Maybe something I need to discuss with Dominic for the future, if we manage to salvage the mess we made and we can get Max to back off.

I don't know how long I have been lying on the bed when I smell the scent of my Mate and I slowly open my eyes to look into her jade green eyes, a smile dancing on her face.

She asks me if she woke me and I tell her that I sometimes need to be on my own to process information, she nods her head as she tells me that I need to come downstairs.

"Don't worry too much, Levi. Harvey told me to hear you out before I say or do anything and if Harvey gives me that warning I know there is more to a story than what I have seen or heard so far." She says before she leans down to kiss me and I pull her on the bed with me to deepen our kiss.

I reluctantly break the kiss because I want Maleah to understand that we never meant to hurt her or Delaney, we need to explain how Max's idea on a Luna might have affected our reaction to the situation the other day.

I hold her tight for a few more minutes before I whisper in her ear that I love her and then I lift her off the bed to walk down the stairs with her safely in my arms, allowing Largo to be close to his Mates just a little longer.

I see Mack and Kay sitting on a couch with enough room for me next to them and place Maleah on Mack's lap before I sit down, I can see Commander pushing forward when she snuggle into his chest.

Dominic is pacing the floor as he apologizes to both Delaney and Maleah for the way he reacted and when Maleah asks him about what Max said to them all hell breaks loose, it doesn't take a genius to understand that those were Max's words and not ours.

Harvey tells us that he was able to find out that Max made the file with additional Pack rules after he took over from his Father and that he kept a journal to write down the rule he wanted to put on his Pack rules, why he wanted to put that rule into the Pack rules.

Max was raised to keep a firm hand on his Pack-members, that the Alpha's word was Law and that the Alpha held all the power. Max never liked the fact that his Mother had anything to say about punishments and other forms of Pack business.

Max wasn't planning on letting his Mate have any power with in Blood Crescent Rack and the rules he placed in his file with additional Pack rules made sure of that. His last entry was about a year before he met Elyse and the last time he opened it was after Elyse's Luna Ceremony, making it clear why Elyse changed instead of Max as some had hoped.

Elyse was to take every problem she encountered to Max and he would deal with it. She was to follow his direct orders and wasn't allowed to do anything without his approval, not when it concerned the Pack or their Pups. He never informed anyone else of these additions because they all concerned his Mate and he knew that none of his High-ranking Pack-members would agree to them.

"Your Father knew what he was doing, but I don't understand how he planned on making Delaney follow those rules. None of you knew about these rules and only an Alpha can make a Pack-member follow Pack rules." Harvey says and I am glad Maleah is sitting right next to me.

Maleah asks if there is anything in those rules that would explain why he told her she had been out of line, but Harvey tells us there is nothing in the file to support that.

"Dad probably hoped that you would back down, but I think he forgot for a moment that you are even more powerful than any of us." Dillon mumbles before he buries his face in Delaney's neck.

"I doubt he remembered that Delaney is an Alpha blooded female and would never let anyone tell her what to do." Colter says as he keeps walking back and forth through the living room.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 462[ 1,766 words ]

Chapter 462

Maleah's p.o.V.

After hearing Harvey explain what he found I try to remember if I ever noticed something different between Max and Elyse and every other Alpha and Luna I met. I never thought anything of it because most things I remember are from my childhood and I hardly ever interacted with Max after I started my career, only seeing Elyse when I designed an outfit for her.

Looking back I remember that Elyse asked Max's approval for just about everything she planned on doing, I never thought much of it as I figured this was normal behavior between a mated couple. I didn't even question it after meeting my first client, an Alpha and Luna that wanted me to design an outfit for their Daughter's Luna Ceremony and knowing what I know now I realize that Max kept Elyse on a short leash.

She went from being abused physically to mental abuse and I don't like either one of them. Dominic informs all of us that he has summoned the Pack to assemble at the Pack-house for a Pack-meeting, the only ones not attending will be the ones on border patrol. "Alpha, if you don't mind I can have Maleah's teams take over border patrol. All her teams are here and most of your Warriors have encountered one or more of them already." Harvey suggests and Dominic tells him he would like to take him up on that offer.

Harvey and Pauline leave our house to go see our Head Warrior and to make sure that all the patrols head to the Pack-house as ordered by Dominic, this will be so much easier with all the Pack-members present. Once Harvey informs me that my teams have taken over the border patrols we leave for the Pack-house, Max and Elyse are waiting for us on the front porch and every other Pack-member is standing in front of the Pack-house.

Dominic tells his parents to take a seat, we decided it would be best if Max couldn't get away to fast and the sitting area on the front porch was our best option. The rest of our former leadership join them and soon Max is surrounded but I doubt he is aware of that. He looks to much at ease and he has a smug look on his face as he leans back in his seat, I don't think he would do that if he knew what was coming his way.

Nightmare and her friends get called to the front of the crowd and all of them look at me and Delaney with a smirk on their faces. "My Brothers and I have told each and everyone of you over and over again that we wouldn't settle for a chosen Mate, Mack, Kay and Levi have told you all the same. For some reason a few of you have decided to ignore that message and you went as far as lying to your future Luna." Dillon says as he looks around the crowd.

Most of the Pack-members start mumbling at his words and he allows them a few minutes to let it sink in, before he demands their attention again. "Delaney, I want to apologize for the way we reacted when you tried to discipline one of our Pack- members. They are as much your Pack-members as they are ours and if you think it is necessary to discipline someone you have every right to do that." Dillon says as he looks at his Mate and from the corner of my eye I see a very angry looking Max.

As we discussed earlier Delaney steps forward to address the Pack, "Hello, my name is Delaney and I am mated to your Alphas." She says and most of the crowd start cheering, relieved that their Alphas have finally found their Mate. Delaney explains to the Pack what had happened in the dining room the other day and I am not sure what has them growling, is it the disrespect Nightmare showed her or the behavior of their Alphas.

"Because I don't want a repeat of that situation we will be holding a vote, a vote on whether or not they are banned from the Pack-house. If they get banned from the Pack-house they will only be allowed to enter the Pack-house under guard when their Alphas demand their presence for some reason, other than that they are not allowed to set foot in the Pack-house. Breaking this banishment will result in a week in the dungeons and if they break it for the third time they will be banished from the Pack." Delaney says.

Max tries to get up to object but Dad and Colter hold him back, Dominic turns to his Fater and tells him that we will discuss his objections in a few minutes. Delaney tells the Pack-members to step to her left if they agree with the banishment and to step to her right if they are against the banishment, it only takes a few minutes for everyone to chose a side. Looks like Nightmare and her friends are no longer welcome in the Pack-house, not one member took their side. Dominic tells the girls that the Pack has spoken and that they are banned from the Pack-house affective immediately, Nightmare tries to object but one look from Dominic is enough to shut her up. Dominic starts explaining what happened between the Pack's leadership and their Mates, not many Pack-members keep quiet as he speaks and it seems that Max is going to be in a lot of trouble when the Pack finds out what he did to their former Luna.

After Dominic is finished speaking Dax steps next to him to deal with the hidden Pack rules, he starts by telling the Pack about the rules he found by accident and the more rules he tells them the more@angry the Pack becomes. "None of these rules are actual Pack rules because as a Pack you were never informed, there has never been a vote on these added Pack rules. I want you to vote on them right now, step to the left if you disagree with the rules and step to the right if you agree with them." Dax says.

Just like the last vote every Pack-member steps to the left and I can feel my Alphas relaxing as the Pack shows them they are against these rules as much as we are. I kept an eye on Max the entire time, but I don't think we should worry about him. Elyse seems to be fuming and I am glad Myrah is sitting next to her, doing her best to keep Elyse calm.

"Max, I suggest you find another place to stay for the time being. I need you to prove to me that you are worthy to be my Mate or I might ask the Elders to approve my rejection." Elyse says as she gets up and Myrah follows her of the front porch, Lynn right behind them. Max is too stunned to respond to her reaction, but I doubt he would have gotten a chance to get close to her as he is still surrounded by his former leadership.

Dominic orders his Father to head to the Alpha office and when he tries to object the four males that surround him make it clear he better listen to his Son. After Max has disappeared into the Pack-house Dillon informs the Pack that Mack, Kay and Levi also share a Mate and I get a formal introduction as their Mate, leaving out the tiny piece of information that I am the Angel of Death.

The Pack gets a chance to congratulate us in person before Dominic tells us we need to go inside, he doesn't have to tell anyone why he wants to head to his office and most Pack-members take that as their cue to leave. Only a few of the older Pack-members stick around, one of them informing Dominic that if he needs them they will be right here and I actually have to smile at their offer. It is good to know that we have a Pack that supports their leadership, that respects their leadership.

Kay has an arm around my waist as he guides me into the Pack-house, like my other Mates he has been as close to me as he can and I have a feeling that they will stay close for the time being. "Maybe you and Delaney really have to tell your Mates every time you leave their side where you are going." Fortune says and I am reminded of the other day, I link Delaney to remind her of it. She looks over her shoulder at me with a small smile on her face.

Instead of us telling them where we are going every time to tease them, we have to tell them to keep their Lycans from freaking out. I think if either one of us would leave now without telling them where we are going all hell will break lose and every Pack-member would be able to feel their worry and anxiety through the Pack-bond, which in turn will send our whole Pack into a panic. Yeah, it is safe to say that we need to make sure they know where we are, at least for the time being.

Dominic opens the door to their office and we can hear Max growl the moment Dax walks in with Delaney by his side, not that he impressing any of us with it. Dominic sits down in his chair behind his desk and pulls Delaney on his lap while his Brothers sit down in their own chairs, after they moved them closer to Dominic's chair. Kay guides me to three chairs on the other side of the desk and I think Dad placed them there, because they weren't there the last time I was in this office.

"What are they doing here? I want them out of here, because I am not going to discuss anything with them present." Max growls and I see anger flashing through the eyes of our Alphas. Max doesn't seem to understand that his Sons will run this Pack in a very different way, they will allow Delaney to make decisions for herself and they will back her up if anyone questions her decisions.

"Dad, you don't have to discuss anything in front of Delaney and Maleah. All you have to do is listen to what we have to say and if you don't like what we have to say I suggest you start looking for another place to live outside this territory." Dominic growls in his direction.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 463[ 1,590 words ]

Chapter 463

Dominic's p.o.V.

I am still trying to wrap my head around everything we discovered when I smell the scent of my Mate, I don't think about it twice before I wrap my arms around her and bury my nose in her neck. I feel relief wash over me as she wraps her arms around my neck and I know I owe her a huge apology, something we will do in front of the Pack. They need to see and know that Delaney is our Mate, that she is their Luna and they need to know we will always have her back.

We all listen to Harvey as he informs us of what he found and I am surprised that everyone was able to control their Lycan. I watch Harvey and Pauline walk out of the living room to relieve our Warriors from border patrol and I link them to make sure they understand that they have to be at the Pack-house as soon as they can. After one of our older Pack-members has linked me that everyone is present, we all head out to the Pack-house.

My Brothers and I apologize to Delaney one by one and every time one of us apologizes I see our Pack-members nod with approval. Dad isn't too pleased with what we are doing, but I hadn't expected Mom to blow a gasket and I am glad she has her friends with her as I watch her walk away from the front porch. Dad is furious when his former leadership guides him to our office, but I don't care and neither does anyone else.

I introduce Maleah to the Pack as the Mate of their Beta, Gamma and Head Assassin, it is only fair that everyone knows she will have a lot to say within this Pack. I am glad I have Delaney in my arms the moment Dad starts speaking and both her hands move to my Brothers, calming all three of us down. I know I don't want him to say a word, I just need him to listen to what we have to say and just follow orders like every other Pack-member.

"Dad, we are the Alphas of Blood Crescent Pack. You handed over that title to us and that means you no longer have a say in how this Pack gets run. Delaney is this Pack's Luna and we will have her Ceremony after the Spring Ball, she will become a Luna in every sense of the word. Delaney will have the power to punish a Pack-member, she will have the power to make decisions and all you have to do is follow orders." I say as I look at Dad.

The look in his eyes tells me that he isn't agreeing with me and I make it clear that if he goes against his Luna he will get punished, just like every other Pack- member. His former title as Alpha of Blood Crescent Pack holds no power and he will never out rank Delaney or Maleah. He head snaps towards Maleah at the mention of her name, “Use that aura on me ever again and I will make you pay. Last time you caught me off guard, but I am warning you I will never allow it again." He growls at her.

Maleah just smiles at him before she tells him to try her and I know he will be on his knees before any of us can blink our eyes. "Max, if I need to release my aura you won't stand a chance. Last time I didn't let you feel my full aura and if that ever does happen not even my Alphas will be left standing." She growls at him and I gulp loudly at the indication of her words, not that I am doubting Maleah's words.

"Dad, we are serious. Delaney and Maleah outrank you and I suggest you keep that in mind. I also suggest that you make amends with Mom or I will support her request for a rejection with the Elders." Dax says and I know we will all support Mom in whatever she decides to do. Dad is looking furious from one to the other and before any of us can move he lunges over the desk at Delaney, Dillon and Dax throw themselves in front of her while Mack and Levi jump on his back.

My arms are wrapped tightly around our Mate and I almost lose control to my Lycan when I hear her scream in pain. Dillon and Dax roar as Dad gets pulled of us, but it isn't Mack or Levi that pulled him off of us. "Get her to the infirmary, I will deal with this." Maleah growls as her eyes are glued on Dad's body, lying in a heap near the backwall of our office.

I don't care what Maleah does to my

.n

Father, all I can think of is my unconscious Mate in my arms and my Brothers follow us with the others right behind them. Doc is already waiting for us when we finally get to the infirmary, not that it is that far from the Pack house but it sure as hell felt like it and I actually growl when he wants to take Delaney away from me. Colter and Diego release their aura to make me take a step back, so Doc can look after his Luna.

There are a few nurses walking around but they quickly walk away, my Brothers and I have trouble reigning in our Alpha aura and even Diego and Colter stay out of our way. I still can't believe that Dad attacked our Mate, that he was willing to face serious punishment for harming his Luna and I start to wonder if Dad was always this hell bend against females with a backbone.

As a young Pup I never questioned the relationship my parents had, it was normal for me and my Brothers that Mom asked for Dad's approval on almost everything.

We were probably about eleven that we noticed for the first time that their relationship was different from other Alphas and Lunas and we started questioning if their relationship was what our Pack needed.

We tried to talk to Mom about it first, but she said it was the way of Blood Crescent Rack and there was nothing she could do against it. That it wasn't as bad as it looked to us, that we were too young to truly understand and after trying a few more times to talk to Mom we just gave up. Every time we noticed a difference between our Pack and other Packs we wrote it down, determined to make the right changes when it was our time to run Blood Crescent Pack.

Talking to Dad about it was an entirely different story, at first he would tells us it didn't concern us and he would use his Alpha command to send us out of his office. Dillon and Dax wanted to give up after a few tries, but I wouldn't listen to them and I am glad I didn't listen to them. Just before we left for our training I brought it up again and this time Dad sat us down for a grown up talk as he called it.

"A female is weaker than a male and it is our job to protect them and to keep them safe. They make decisions with their heart and not their mind, they don't see the long term consequences of their actions and it is always a spur of the moment decision." He had said to us and I think he had hoped we would leave it at that, but that didn't happen.

Dax had asked him why he thought females were weak and his answer had surprised us, "I already gave you the first weakness a female has. Next to that they are smaller, they lack strength and speed if you compare them to a male. I wouldn't say that an Omega male is stronger than a Luna, but they are stronger than a Beta or Gamma female." And that had been the end of the discussion for

Dad.

We found out that Dad was wrong

during our training, but he never wanted to hear about it. "This is how a relationship between an Alpha and his Luna should be, you will understand as you get older and find your Mates." Would always be his answer if we tried to bring up the subject. We would treat every Pack-member the same and we allowed females that wanted to, to train with us and other males. We never asked Dad for permission, because we knew he wouldn't allow it.

I knew I had made a mistake when I told Delaney that she had no right to talk to one of our Pack-members like that, I think I might have even sounded like Dad when I said those words. Looking back I also realize that it wasn't smart to let Dad handle things with Delaney and Maleah. It hadn't felt right as we drove away from the Pack-house and I wish I had listened to my gut feeling, it would have prevented us from spending a night without our Mate.

Just a tiny part of me is happy with the outcome, because it cleared up a lot of things we never understood and Mom finally figured out that Dad's behavior was just that. It was just his behavior and not the way Blood Crescent Pack was run. I just wish we could have discovered this without hurting our Mate, but was has been done can't be undone.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 464[ 1,693 words ]

Chapter 464

Maleah's p.o.V.

Fortune pushes forward the moment Max lunges forward, Mack and Levi have trouble pulling him away from our Alphas and Luna and when I hear her scream in pain I step in. I grab him by the neck and pull him away with such a force that he smacks against the wall, leaving him unconscious on the floor. This Idiot will be mine to deal with and I tell Dominic to take Delaney to the infirmary.

I don't look at her injuries because I have this feeling Max will end up dead if I do and I think the Pack should decide what happens to him for attacking their Luna. I also want to give Doc the time to sedate Elyse if the Pack decides to give him the heaviest punishment, she is an innocent bystander in all of this and I have seen what happens when you kill a Mate without sedating the other half.

My Mates are the only ones left in the office with me and each of them stays back as I take a few steps towards Max, waiting for him to regain consciousness. It takes him a few minutes to wake up and as he slowly sits up straight I take another step forward, releasing some of my Assassin aura when he looks up at me. "You will answer to the Pack for hurting your Luna, for the time being I am going to put you in the dungeons." I say, but Max just shakes his head.

"I am an Alpha, you can't stop me from walking out of this room." He growls as he gets to his feet, but the next second he is on his knees. I am still not releasing my full aura, because if I do he won't get up for the next few hours and I am not sure how fast my Alphas want to deal with this. When four Warriors walk into the room Max is unconscious again and they pick him up without asking questions, leaving me alone with my Mates.

They wrap their arms around me to calm me and Fortune down and I sigh as I let myself get wrapped in the comfort they provide me, just allowing me to have a few moments with them. "Angel, we better get to the infirmary. Doc just linked me, our Alphas need someone to put them in their place." Levi says teasingly and I hear the others chuckle as Fortune softly growls.

I take another minute to enjoy the arms of my Mates around me, before I tell them that I need to know the injury Max inflicted on Delaney and Mack walks ahead of us to open the door of the office. It only takes a minute or two to get to the infirmary, but I know that for my Alphas it probably have felt like hours. A nurse tells us to follow her the moment we walk into the infirmary and she leaves us the moment she sees our Alphas pacing the floor a few feet away.

I can sense Doc behind the door, but I can tell that he is reluctant to face his Alphas and through the mind-link I tell him that I will deal with them if necessary. He slowly opens the door to report to his Alphas about Delaney's situation and I can feel their Alpha aura slipping from them, I take a step forward as I let my aura seep out. "Alphas, back down." I growl softly before I reign my aura in again, just a little warning towards them that I can handle them.

"Our Luna will be fine. If you hadn't gotten her attacker away on time, I am not sure what the outcome would have been. Her attacker knew what to aim for, whoever did it also wanted to weaken two of you. Her marks on the left side were just missed by the claws of her attacker." Doc states and I quickly push him behind me when our Alphas release their aura again, not that anyone can blame them.

There are a few ways known to weaken an Alpha, the first one is to kill his Mate and the second is to cut into her mark. Max knows this as a former Alpha and he knew that if he was able to weaken two of his Sons, he would have a better chance at killing Delaney. We all know what Doc's words indicated and I know that Max will not live to see another day, "Doc, get back to your Luna. I will be guarding her the moment I have calmed down our Alphas. No one gets into that room without my approval." I growl.

Doc is gone before anyone can blink their eyes and I actually have to release my aura again to point out to my Alphas that they need to reign in their aura. "Thank you, Maleah." Dillon says as he finally sits down on a chair and I leave the males in the hallway as I go in search of my Luna. It doesn't take me long to find the room reserved for our Luna and as I watch her lying in the bed I am reminded of the day Harvey and I found her.

She looks so small and fragile as she lies in bed, my blood starts boiling as Lam reminded of the fact that Max's intent was to kill her and a moment later I feel Mack wrapping his arms around me. "It's okay, Angel. I am right here." He whispers next to my ear and I lean my head back against his shoulder. "Doc says she can't have to many visitors at the same time and Doc says it will benefit her healing process if her Mates are with her." Mack says before he guides me to the door.

I know I need to distract myself from what Max did, so I link Harvey to send my personal team to the infirmary, "I want you and Pauline at our house, I want to go over everything you found on that damn laptop." I close the link before he can respond and I ask Doc to get three of his most trusted nurses, I don't want anyone else to enter that room. I am not taking any risks with a few lose canons still inside our territory, I wouldn't put it past Nightmare to benefit from this in any way she can.

"These three nurses and Doc are the only ones to enter that room. If anyone else wants to get access to that room, you link me and I don't care what time it is." I growl the last part, but I don't have to fear that they won't wake me. Kay wraps an arm around my shoulder as we head home, they each understand that I need to take my mind of things and work is the fastest way to do that.

Harvey and Pauline are patiently waiting on the front porch and the files in Pauline's hands tell me that they printed out everything Harvey found on Caym's laptop. Levi opens the front door as Mack asks me what is in those files, "Everything from Caym's laptop and every piece of information we could find on the people they worked with." Pauline answers him as she follows Harvey into our house and I know this will take my mind of things for a while.

"Where do you want to start?" Harvey asks while Pauline places the files on the coffee table and for a moment I just stare at the files, trying to find the best way to handle this situation. Levi is bend forward as he reads the titles on the files out loud and for a moment we all stare at Harvey, "I thought it would be best to send Scouts out there to verify the information we found, if it is valid we can send teams out to keep an eye on everyone involved.

We can start by taking out the Rogues they enlisted, I already have confirmation that they are definitely Rogues and are still near the locations in the files. Once we start taking out the next layer of Wolves and Lycans involved, we need to move fast before our main targets go into hiding." Harvey explains and I actually like his plan, up to a certain point that is.

Our main targets will be dealt with in the same way I deal with all my assignments, "Harvey, I want full files on our main targets. Let the teams now that they can start with taking out the Rogues, make sure they are found in public places. Just in case anyone remembers that they had dealings with the Dayborne Brothers or Bornshade Sisters." I says as I grab the first file on one of the Packs of which I suspect the Alpha was involved.

Luckily there are only two files and I am going to send out my best Scout to investigate one of them. The other file will hand to Mattew, the Scout that was present when finally told everyone I shifted at the age of eight. Dad told me he was the best Scout the Pack has and think it is only fair that I include Pack-members on this assignment, “Mack, can you help Harvey with dividing the first part of this assignment? I believe our

Pack-members would like to be part of this." I say before I get up to open

I chuckle when I see Matthew and Caspara standing on the front porch, Matthew is about 6"4 while Caspara barely reaches 5"3. She could play hide and seek behind him. Heck, I think she would be able to hide behind his back if she had the right equipment and Fortune is rolling around in my head. I introduce her to the others before I hand Matthew and Caspara their new assignment, "I want the two of you to find evidence that either exonerates the Alphas or proves their quilt."

Both of them quickly glance inside the file, before they nod their heads and walk out again. Harvey stares after them with his mouth wide open and I know exactly why.

Chapter 465 Mack's p.o.v.

I am not sure if I should say something, but I have this feeling it is best if I keep my mouth shut. I feel amusement running through me and I know it isn't just mine, Kay and Levi seem to think it is amusing as well. The moment the door closes behind them Levi is doubling over and Kay just shakes his head as he sits down again.

"Lets team them up and take out multiple targets. Your teams know the right places to dump the bodies, our teams are known best for their stealth operations." I say to Harvey as I start writing down names of our Assassins, Harvey gives me the names of their Assassins and soon we are dividing the information to the teams we created.

Each team has at least three Rogues they have to go after, each Rogue will be dumped at a different location and we expect to see news reports about it throughout the day tomorrow. "Lets get them all out here and give them their assignments." Harvey says once we are done and I follow him out the backdoor to see all the males and females we asked to come.

"Okay, tonight you will start with the first part of taking out everyone that was involved with the Dayborne Brothers and Bornshade Sisters. Some of you belong to Maleah's teams and some of you belong to Blood Crescent Pack, we wanted to give both sides a chance to help rid the world of some scum. Harvey and I teamed you up and assigned at least three targets to you.

Dump their bodies in public places, we don't want this to go unnoticed. We want to make it known that anyone that was involved with this nasty business will eventually meet their demise." I say before we go down the list of teams and hand them their files.

"Happy hunting." Harvey says as they turn around to head out and I see a Cousin of mine turn around, "You want me to bring you home a trophy?" He asks as he looks at Harvey and I chuckle when he looks at me to see if he is serious. Yeah, my Cousin is serious and I nod my head in confirmation. Our Pack-members know what we mean with a trophy and soon Harvey will understand it too.

Maleah is straddling Kay on the couch, her nose buried in the crook of his neck and Levi's hand is moving up and down her back. "What is going on, Angel?" I ask when I sit down on her other side and place my hand on her ass. No one says a word as we all just sit there and I smirk when I hear a soft moan coming from the other side of the room, sounds like Harvey doesn't care who is around.

"Pauline asked why Maleah needed a distraction and when I told her what Max did, well you can see for yourself." Levi says and I decide to see what our Mate is and isn't comfortable with, I slowly let my hand slide into the back of her jeans. I hear her moan as she moves to give me better access, grinding herself on Kay's cock in the process.

My finger is pressing against her backdoor, while Kay is rubbing her core against his cock. Levi has managed to pull her shirt up and is giving her breasts his undivided attention. Her moans grow louder as my finger slowly finds its way into her body, I manage to unbutton her jeans and the moment I pull the zipper down my hand gets the room it needs.

I pull my finger back to add a second finger, before I start pushing into her ass again and it only takes a few times moving in and out before I have gotten a steady rhythm. "Fuck, Angel. I love the sounds you make." Kay growls next to her ear and he starts moving her back and forth a bit faster.

I know that Harvey and Pauline are still in the room with us, but I doubt they are anymore aware of us as we are of them. I am not sure if I will ever be comfortable for another male to see my Mate naked, so I guess this is as far as we will take it in front of others. But it does make me wonder if we will ever do this in the presence of our Alphas and Luna or if they would do something like this with us in the room.

My hand moving back and forth has pulled her jeans down at the back and I watch as I push my fingers as deep as I can go. I add a third finger as I push back into her ass again, eliciting a breathy moan from her lips. When it happened I don't know, but her hand is rubbing my cock within its confinement and the moment I pick up the pace so does she.

All four of us are lost in our ministrations, and I can feel myself getting closer to the edge. I start pounding her ass as hard and fast as I can, resulting in Maleah to put more and more pressure on my cock and I groan every time she squeezes my shaft a little harder. "Fuck, Angel. Keep going, just a little harder." I hear Levi growl from her other side.

"Fuck, Angel. That feels good." I growl as she does what Levi asked for, squeezing our cocks just a bit harder and suddenly she screams as her ass clenches my fingers. Her iron grip on my cock sends me over the edge and I shoot my load in my jeans, slowing my hand from moving back and forth as she comes down from her high.

Levi pulls down her shirt before he helps her lay down on Kay's chest and I smile as I see her fighting her sleep, her eyes closing slowly as she loses the battle. Levi and I both get up after making sure that our Mate is comfortable and I look at Harvey who has a shit-eating grin on his face.

"I don't think I will ever get tired of hearing my Mate come." He says as he wraps his arms around Pauline a little tighter and I know that goes for all of us.

After I have cleaned up myself I walk into the kitchen to find Levi pouring some coffee for all of us, "I think we are going to need this, this assignment is no where near over and I hope Harvey can answer a few questions I have." Levi says and I know all his questions will be focused on the security of her assignments and her personal security.

I place a mug of coffee on the side table for Harvey and sit down next to Kay, looking at our Mate that is sleeping peacefully on his chest. "How long have you been working with Maleah?" Kay asks before Levi or I can ask a question and to tell you the truth I am as curious about the answer as Kay is.

"She recruited me after she took out Akar. She realized that needed someone to get the intel for her, if she wanted to have a normal career as well It would be too much work if she had to do the intel herself and have a career that would provide her with an alibi." Harvey says before he takes a sip of his coffee, he has been working with her for about twelve years and I know he has seen a side of our Mate that we haven't.

"Maleah heard about me when she accidentally overheard a conversation between Diego and Colter and after we took out Rience she finally confided in me, telling me about Fortune and everything else. I helped her recruit her first team and when her career started taking off I helped her to recruit her personal protection detail. It is how I finally found my Mate, Pauline." Harvey states.

We just sit there in silence for a while, drinking our coffee and enjoying the quiet. "Can you tell me how well her assignments are protected or do I need to ask my Mate?" Levi asks as he places his mug on the table and the three of us patiently wait for Harvey's answer.

I am not going to bore you with the details of how Harvey has protected every file from every assignment Maleah has ever had or you might just fall asleep while reading it. Just know that Levi was very impressed with the measures Harvey took to keep anyone from finding any of those files.

"I don't know what Maleah will do now that you all know her secret and now that she has found her Mates, but I hope she won't give up either one of her careers." Harvey says and Commander growls at the insinuation he is making.

"We will never stop our Mate from doing what she does best, she is our Mate not our property." Commander growls in Harvey's direction and he is smart enough to raise his hands in surrender. The three of us have talked about this and witnessing how she does her job, none of us is going to stand in her way or she just might bury us.

"I wasn't talking about the three of you, but I have seen it happen. Most females give up their career for their Mate and the world has lost some excellent Assassins because of it. I just hope that Maleah won't be one of them." Harvey explains himself.

Chapter 466

Maleah's p.o.V.

I wake up on Kay's chest, feeling well rested and content. I can't believe that I allowed my Mates to make me come with other People in the room, but then again no one seemed to care and even though I don't remember it I believe that Pauline didn't stop Harvey either.

Another first for me and something tells me it was also a first for my Mates. I slowly lift my head when I feel a change in Kay's breathing, "Hello, Angel. How was your power nap?" He asks and I frown when I remember why we are here.

I slowly get up as I let my mind wander back to what happened in the Alpha office, I still can't believe that Max was willing to kill his Daughter in law. "How are things at the infirmary?" I ask one of my team-members and it takes a few moments before I get a response.

"Doc says that Delaney is healing nicely, if it keeps going like this she will be released in the morning. No permanent damage was done." Is the answer I get and I sigh in relief after relaying the message to the others.

It won't change anything for Max, but I am happy to know that our Luna will make a full recovery. She has been through a lot in her short life and when things finally were going her way, she ran into her Father in law.

Damn it, why do some people always run into the Assholes of the world?

Levi looks at me with a questioning look in his eyes, "Let's get back to work, I really need a distraction from the situation with Max and Delaney. Or I might forget that the Pack needs to have a say in this." I tell him before I get up to straighten out my clothes, Kay walks out of the room to appear again in other clothes a few minutes later.

It takes us a few minutes to get our attention back to the files, we go through the files that hold the names of everyone that handed over orphaned Pups. There are quite a lot of names on that list and it will take some time to take them all down, but that has never stopped me in the past and it sure as hell won't stop me now.

"How do you want to handle this?" Pauline asks, but Harvey just shakes his head. He knows me well enough to know that I want to plan this into detail and send out a warning to the world. I already know when I want it to happen, the only question is; Can we pull it off that quickly?

"Let's get to work. I want this taken care of during the Spring Ball." I say as I grab some of the files. Harvey opens his laptop, while Mack sits down next to him and soon they are making teams again. I know our Pack-members want to be a part of this, but the same goes for all my teams and I think this is the best way to have everyone involved.

Levi is pin pointing every Wolf or Lycan on a map that Pauline gives him and I hand Kay the list that holds every piece of information on the Pups involved. Most of their deaths occurred during their so-called training, but it is the ones that survived their training that I am interested in the most.

"I want to know which Pups died after their training and who was responsible for them at that time. I want to know who traded in a Pup that was eventually sold to the Lowbane family and I want to know if our main targets still have one or more of those Pups. I will find a suiting punishment for all of them and it will be as painful as I can make it." I say to Kay, before I get up to walk out the door.

"Angel, if you are looking for your stuff from the attic I suggest you head up the stairs.” I hear Levi say, but he doesn't take his eyes of the screen. I walk up the stairs to the second floor to find a door with the same security measures I had in the old house and knowing how it works I press a button to open the main menu.

I need to make a code to open the door and after thinking about it I press in a five digit code, repeating it to confirm it. The keypad asks for the code again and after punching the numbers the door slowly opens, I slowly open the door to see all the furniture from the attic. Whoever did this kept in mind that I could find my way around the attic blindfolded and the same goes for this room.

Fortune pushes me to walk to the balcony, I can see a greenhouse through the windows and when I open the French doors I can smell different kind of herbs. Herbs I normally have trouble getting my hands on and I think I have a pretty good idea who is responsible for this.

I walk back inside to open the storage cupboard that holds the journal I need and I take it with me down to the living room. With the amount of Wolves and Lycans we need to take down, I probably get to try almost every potion I haven't tried before and I look for the ones that will inflict the most pain or will make the biggest mess of the crime scene.

Levi hands me a a pen and a notebook with a knowing smile on his face, I open the journal to read through every recipe and make notes on all the ingredients I am going to need. The six of us work in silence until Levi gets up to walk to the kitchen. Pauline is staring at the screen of Levi's laptop and I can see what they have been doing, they placed pinpricks across the map to show us where our next targets are.

"Time for some food, I need to take my eyes of the screen or they will turn into little squares." Levi says as he walks back into the living room with a plate filled with food. After he hands me the plate he walks back to the kitchen with the others right behind him, soon we are all sitting in the living room with a plate of food and for a few moments we just enjoy the silence.

I go over the list of ingredients I wrote down and in my mind I let my eyes glid through the greenhouse, seeing if I have everything I need. I know I will have to go to the back of the Pack-house to get a few very common herbs to finish the potions, but that will be the easiest task I have in comparison to a minor problem I already found with my plan.

In my head I have gone over all the tools I need for this plan to work and if I have enough in store to complete it before the Spring Ball, but I think I need to send Dad and Colter out to get me a few more items I need. Syringes, small bottles, gloves and some other items I don't keep in bulk.

The bottles need to be special bottles, because the people that are going to use them need to fill a syringe with the liquid that is inside. They also need colored caps to make sure they know which liquid to use on their target, I am going to make sure the world knows that they really pissed off the Angel of Death and that whoever that is knows a lot of different ways to eliminate a target.

"Dad, can you and Colter come to the house? need you to run an errand for me." I ask him through the mind-link and after he acknowledges my request I close the mind-link. I make a list of everything they have to get for me and it isn't not just for this assignment, but also for future assignments. I triple check if everything is on the list and in the right amounts, I would hate to send them out there again.

“Hello, Sweetheart. What do you need from the most important males in your life?" Colter asks teasingly as he hugs me and I giggle as Levi pulls me out of the hug, growling "Mine" at him. Colter just chuckles as he raises his hands and Dad doesn't even try to hug me after that, not that he had a chance with Levi's arms wrapped around me.

"This is what I need you to get me and I would prefer more than less than I have written down." I say to Colter as I hand him the list with items I need. Dad looks at it over Colter's shoulder and both nod their head before they walk out of the door.

"Did you just send two of the best Assassins this Pack has on an errand run?" Mack asks as he stares after our Dads.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 467[ 1,577 words ]

Chapter 467

Kay's p.o.v.

I know that this needs to be done, but Fuck I really hate the task Maleah gave me.

I hate the fact that it concerns Pups, I hate the fact that most of them are dead and I hate the fact that I know what happened or happens to the ones that survived.

Did I already tell you that I really hate this task?

I take a deep breath before I start looking at the papers in front of me, the list is in alphabetical order for the Pack, town or city they came from and I realize quickly that I will see more names of Pups that died during their so-called training than names of the ones that survived.

Most of the Pups came from cities and towns and that actually makes sense. In a Pack someone would start to notice if orphaned Pups would keep disappearing, but there are two Packs that supplied quite a lot of Pups. Packs that are being investigated by Matthew and Caspara and if Caspara is anything like Matthew than we will have enough evidence soon to take those Alphas down.

To every name I write down as Maleah requested, there are a dozen I don't write down. I grab an extra piece of paper when I find the name of a Pup that is in a different color and after writing a fourth name on that list I am starting to see a pattern. There is exactly a one year gap between each name and each Pup is exactly the same age.

Titan starts growling in my head when I start coming up with reasons for this specific pattern, this is one sick, twisted Asshole. Maleah places her hand on my arm from time to time, but she doesn't ask anything as she calms me and Titan down.

I sigh in relief when Levi announces that it is lunch time and I think I need to tell the others about my suspicions before we are going to continue with this assignment. I sit as close to Maleah as I can, I need her to keep me calm and it seems as if she understands that without any explanation from me.

Harvey and I are laughing our ass off at Mack's question, "Mack, our Mate is the only one that can actually do that and you know what?" Levie replies. "They would do it again and again, I think they would even volunteer." Levi says with a straight face, while the girls join Harvey and myself. Levi is right though, I think those two would volunteer to be her errand boys.

Before I get the chance to bring up my findings Dominic calls us to the infirmary and after locking the door I follow the others to the infirmary. A part of Maleah's team is waiting for us at the front door and the look on their faces doesn't predict anything good, "Some Bimbo tried to get into the Luna's room and she is still trying to get into the room." One of them growls.

Maleah walks into the infirmary with a face that doesn't predict much good and I wonder which Pack-member would try to get into Delaney's room or why. "She tried to gain access by claiming she was a nurse, but when we told her that you had introduced us to the only staff that is allowed entry she started yelling at us." The same female from before says as we follow Maleah.

"Yeah, she claimed to be the future Luna and wanted to visit her Mate." I hear a male voice behind me say and I chuckle as I hear Mack ask, "Why did she need to visit her Mate?" I can't wait to hear the answer to that question.

"She said her Mate got injured during training, that the Head Assassin's Mate didn't like it when her Alpha told her she would never have a say in Pack business." Is the answer we get and I am glad I kept an eye on Maleah, or I would have walked into her.

Maleah slowly turns around and each and every one of us gulps as we see the look in her eyes, "Get some Warriors down here, the Bimbo is going to the dungeons." Fortune growls and Titan is looking at our Mate in aww.

There are still two males and two females standing guard at the door when we get there and Titan growls the moment he sees Nightmare. Yeah, after Maleah started calling her that it kind of stuck with us.

"I am not going to ask you again, step aside or face the consequences." Nightmare growls and one of the females takes a step forward, really getting in her face as she asks, "And those are?" I just lean against a wall to enjoy the show, I really hope that someone will hand Nightmare her ass on a silver platter.

Mack is holding back Maleah, because we all want to hear Nightmare dig her own grave. "My Mate will throw you in the dungeons, before he banishes you from the Pack. He doesn't like it when Pack-members disobey the orders of their Luna and no Pack will accept you once my Mate spreads the word." She says with her arms crossed in front of her chest.

"Let me make something very clear to you. The Alpha can't banish me from the Pack and I don't need a Pack to accept me." The female growls as she takes another step forward, it forces Nightmare to also take a step back and that is when she spots me.

"Beta Kay, when did you get here?" She asks quietly and I just smile as Maleah steps behind her, "At the same time I did." Fortune growls as she releases her Assassin aura, but in such a way that Nightmare coffapses to the floor, unconscious. I don't think I have ever seen someone collapse that fast after getting hit with an Assassin's aura and I have seen quite a few Assassins use it over the years.

"Take her down to the dungeons and put her as far away from Max as possible. Make sure everyone sees you on your way over there and if anyone asks you can tell them the truth." Maleah growls as she gets sandwiched between Mack and Levi.

I open the door to find a very adorable, but yet very uncomfortable sight and I can't resist to pull out my phone to take a picture. Our Luna in the middle of that huge bed, surrounded by our Alphas and I think it is safe to say that if I ever show this picture to an outsider than I am dead. I quietly close the door again, before I show Maleah the picture I took.

"They most have been exhausted from worrying about their Mate, there was probably about ten minutes between Dominic linking us and you opening that door." Maleah says.

Maleah doesn't instruct her team before she walks away and I wonder why but then again my Mate knows her team, I doubt they would need new orders. I couldn't even come up with new orders if I had to, they know who can enter the room and even then I think one of them would follow them in. Just to make sure that one of our Alphas is awake or to keep an eye on things if they are all still asleep.

I drag my feet as we enter the house again, I know I need to tell them but I don't want to. "Spil it, Beta." Pauline says as she sits down on the couch, curling herself around Harvey. I slowly walk to the papers I left only fifteen minutes ago and I am hoping that it miraculously disappeared, but no such luck.

"There is a different pattern I found in the list, not one that is mentioned in the other folders on Caym's laptop. I was going over the lists you gave me and I found the name of a Pup written in a different color. A year later the same thing happened and after writing down the fourth name I knew this wasn't a coincidence." I say as I pick op the list I made.

"This person bought a Pup on the same date every single year, there is no record of a Pup being returned to them and something tells me there wasn't a Pup alive to be returned to them. Whether that was because they died or for another reason, I am not sure. The difference with this list is that none of those Pups received their so-called training and that has me believing that he trained them himself." I say as I hand the list to Maleah.

Levi and Mack have her sandwiched between them again and I think it is the best decision they could have. made. "Do you know who bought those Pups?" Maleah asks softly and I grab the list of buyers Caymkept on his laptop. Titan nearly forces a shift when we read the name of the male that bought these Pups and I know I am going to ask Maleah to help me find a very suitable punishment for this Asshole.

"Just promise me that we will come up with the right way and time to make him pay. I want to know what happened to those Pups and if any of them are still alive." I say and I wait for her to make me that promise. "Elder Carlyle." Is the answer I give her.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 468[ 1,451 words ]

Chapter 468

Maleah's p.o.V.

"What did you just say?" I ask Kay, I must have heard him incorrectly. "He is over a hundred and thirty years old, tell me you are kidding." But the look on his face tells me more than enough, he wasn't kidding when he said Elder Carlyle's name out loud.

"I know how old he is, but it doesn't change the fact that Caym had it all written down. For fuck sake, he even has a Mate. He found her on the day he turned eighteen and she was.... Fuck." Kay says and I can tell that Titan is pissed off.

Kay has trouble gaining control over Titan, so I open the French doors to the yard around our house and as I walk outside I start to take my clothes off. I am going to let Fortune handle this one and the moment I allow her to shift, she will take full control.

"Okay, get out of here and don't come back until you have completed the mating process." Pauline says as she starts to pick up my clothes and after dropping the last piece of my clothes to the ground, I hand over control to Fortune.

She turns to the house to wait for Titan to join us, but it seems that Commander and Largo want to join us as well. I move to the back of her mind and pull up a block, not really interested to watch how the four of them will complete the bond. I use the time to go over the dresses I designed for Delaney and myself, just to make sure I didn't forget any detail.

Every now and then I lower the block, but I pull it back up fast every single time and now I decide to take another chance. I slowly lower the block and I am met with darkness, Fortune is fast asleep. I can feel our Mates surrounding us on each side, I can hear them snoring softly and I think their playtime wore them out.

"Lady Boss, it is almost dinner time. Colter and Diego dropped by with your order and right now they are going through the files." I hear Harvey through the mind- link and I feel that it woke up Fortune. I look through her eyes as she is nudging our Mates and one by one they slowly open their eyes, "We have to get back, our Dads are going through the files." I say and that is enough incentive to get them moving.

I like the fact that their Lycan's fur is just like their hair color, it makes it easy to keep them apart. Not that I would have trouble keeping my Mates apart, but it will be easier for my teams to keep them apart. Our clothes are on the back porch, neatly folded on a chair and Fortune hands over control back to me.

After we are all dressed we head to the living room to find all our Dads going through the files from Caym's laptop and from the scowls on their faces they hate reading them as much as we did. "After dinner we are all going to the Pack- house, Delaney was released from the infirmary about an hour ago and Dominic wants some answers." My Dad says.

We head up to the Alpha floor after we have finished our dinner and find Delaney curled up on Dominic's lap, Dax and Dillon on either side of her. "Where is Max?" I hear Dominic growl with his face buried in the crook of Delaney's neck.

"He is in the dungeons, I think the Pack needs to decide what happens to him and I want Doc to explain to them what Max tried to do." I say as I look at my Alphas and I know they will understand it is best if everyone knows the truth about what happened.

"We will deal with that in the morning." Dax responds and for the next few hours we talk about the assignments we send our Pack-members and my team- members on. Kay tells them about Caspara and none of them believe him when he says that Caspara is over a foot shorter than Matthew.

"Yep, Caspara is only 5"3 and I wouldn't piss her off, if I were you." Harvey answers and I can tell the moment they try to picture in their heads what that looked like, after all they know that Matthew is 6"4.

Delaney drifted off to sleep about half an hour ago, but I doubt anyone has noticed it. She looks to be comfortable in Dominic's arms and as long as no one raises their voice, she will keep sleeping. I need to tell my Alphas how we want to handle the next stage of this assignment, but I am not going to risk waking up Delaney.

"Alphas, we will meet in the morning to discuss the rest. Right now, I think it is wise to put your Mate to bed." I say as I get up and Dax is leaning forward to finally see that their Mate is of the dreamland. Harvey and Pauline follow us to our house, they will be staying with us until we have made a decision about our future.

I must have been asleep before I hit my pillow, because the last thing I remember was climbing into bed and now I wake up to find I was sleeping on Mack's chest. "Leve are already down stairs, see you in a bit. I hear Kay's voice in my head, but if he had wanted to say anything else I don't hear it. Mack's hands roaming my body are distracting me and I can feel the heat spread through me.

1.n

I lower my head and capture his lips in a kiss, the smell of my arousal becomes stronger and stronger. The next second Mack flips us over, placing himself between my legs. "Sorry, I want to take it slow, but...." I cut him of by slamming my lips to his. When we break the kiss I say "I don't want slow. I just want you, right now."

I hold his naked body to mine and my lips kiss down his neck. His hand tangles in my hair to keep my lips on my mark and he lets his other hand glide down my body. The lower his hand goes, the more I starts to wiggle. Finally he lets his other hand move to my breast as the other slides down between my legs. I part my legs to grant him access to my pussy.

His finger finds my clit and his head lowers towards my breast to suck a nipple into his mouth. As he pushes down on my clit, I let out a moan and he puts even more pressure on my clit. I start to grind against his hand and I know I need more, I want more.

He abandons my breast and starts kissing further down my body until he is nestled in between her legs. He slowly licks my slit and I scream out in pleasure. His finger slides in my pussy and he starts moving it in and out, over, and over. Until I fall over the edge and scream his name as I come undone.

I flip us back over, I push myself higher on my knees and I take a hold of his cock.

I put it at the entrance of my pussy and I lower myself down on his cock. He puts his hands on my hips and starts guiding me up and down his shaft. I throw my head back and start to move faster up and down.

Being on top feels amazing, the angle of his cock sliding in and out of me, makes my pussy become wetter and wetter. I start to move wilder on his cock and by the sound of his groans he is enjoying this as much as I am. Then his hands move up to my breasts, he pinches my nipples and a moan escapes my mouth. One of his hands makes his way back down and then I feel his thumb on my clit. He presses down on it, just a bit harder every time and soon I am panting. He keeps the pressure on my clit, then he tells me to move faster and I happily comply. It does not take long before I orgasm again and as I clench on his cock, he comes hard.

Mack grabs a hold of me, before he moves of the bed and in to the bathroom. "We have a meeting with our Alphas and after that meeting is over, we are going to fun some fun with you, Angel." I hear Commander growl next to my ear.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 469[ 1,339 words ]

Chapter 469

Mack's p.o.v.

I watch her eyes as Commander tells her that we have a meeting to get to and I see lust fill her eyes when he promises her that they will have some fun later on. I know that it won't just be Commander, I know Titan and Largo are going to join him.

It doesn't take us long to go through our morning routine and I am surprised to smell breakfast, but when I walk into the kitchen I see my Dad behind the stove. "Goodmorning, Dad. What brings you here this early?" I ask, even though I have a very good hunch about the reason for his visit.

Kay pulls Maleah onto his lap and I sit down on the empty high chair to his left, "Alpha Dominic is going to announce a Pack meeting, he wants to get this over with and with that I mean the attack on Delaney." Dad answers my question and I hear everyone growl softly.

We have just finished our breakfast, when there is a soft knock on the door and as the door opens I see a female that is even shorter than Caspara. "Lily, I have a special assignment for you." Maleah says, just before she hands Lily a file. "I want to know everything there is to know about him, don't leave a stone unturned."

Maleah says.

"On it, Lady Boss." Lily says as she hands the file back to Maleah and the next second she is gone, I even step outside to make sure she isn't standing next to the door.

"Who did you send her after?" Levi asks from the living room and Commander nearly loses his shit when she answers, "I send her after Elder Carlyle."

Harvey and Pauline are the only ones that are not staring at my Mate, with a look that says, has she lost her mind? She is sending a 5"1 tall female after an Elder that holds a lot of power, not to mention that the guy is 6"3 in height. "Lily is the best out of all Maleah's team-members and she even puts Harvey to shame." Pauline says, before she jumps behind Maleah.

Harvey softly growls at his Mate, but it is easy to see that he is only teasing her. "You know that she is right, Harvey." Maleah says as she grabs the files we will discuss with our Alphas today and I slide an arm around her waist, once we are out the door.

We don't bother checking the downstairs office, our Alphas wouldn't want anyone to interrupt this meeting and there for it will be held in their private office on the Alpha floor. Besides our Alphas and our Luna, there is no one else on the Alpha floor and Mack walks into he kitchen to make us all some coffee.

After Dominic has send out a Pack wide mind-link, we sit down to enjoy our coffee. Delaney is in Dillon's arms, while Dax and Dominic try to stay as close to her as they can. From time to time one of them buries their face in her neck, a sign that they are agitated and restless.

A knock on the door makes us all turn around, Dad walks in with Diego right behind him. “Everything is set, Elyse is in the infirmary and they just gave her the sedative." Dad says and we all get up as one.

Our Alphas stop walking at the top of the steps on the front porch, to their left is Nightmare with four Guards around her and on their right is Max but he gets restrained by our Fathers.

The crowd falls silent, the moment they realize that their Alphas and Luna are present and most of them give Nightmare a death glare. Delaney is standing in front of Dominic and Dax is standing on her right side, while Dillon is on her left side.

Maleah has positioned herself between Max and our Alphas, she isn't going to give him a chance to get close to Delaney and try to finish what he started. "We will start this Pack meeting with the accusations against Lola. Despite knowing we have a Mate, she kept telling others that she is the future Luna and she even threatened people with telling her Mate.

I am sick and tired of repeating myself. I would never take a chosen Mate, no matter how long it would have taken to find my fated Mate and the same goes for Dax and Dillon. We made it clear that Delaney is our Mate, she already has our marks and she will become this Pack's Luna." Dominic says.

Kay steps forward to take care of the rest, "Step to the right if you think her night in the dungeons was enough punishment. Step to the left if you think she should spend more time in the dungeons and remain in the middle if you think Lola should be banished." He says, before he gives our Pack-members enough time to make a decision.

There are people walking from one side to the other and back again, I know it isn't easy to make a choice. Max never allowed anyone, outside his leadership, to decide on a punishment for another Pack-member and neither did our current Alphas, but that chanced with the arrival of their Luna.

It takes the Pack-members that are present nearly twenty minutes to make up their minds, almost all of them are standing in the middle. Her friends are the ones that are standing to the left and her parents have walked up to their Daughter.

"We know she deserves to be punished and we will accept whatever the Pack decides, but we can't make a decision on the punishment." Her Father says, when Dax asks them about their choice.

"Lola, the Pack has spoken. You are banished from Blood Crescent Pack, you have an hour to pack a bag and leave this territory." Dominic says, before two Warriors guide her away from the Pack-house.

"You will regret this, Dominic. I am going to make you all pay." Lola growls as she gets dragged away.

Max is all smiles at Lola's words and the look she gives him has a shiver running down my spine, "Don't let Lola leave the territory, before we have rendered Max's punishment. Something tells me there is something going on between the two of them and I am not sure what it is." I tell the others through the mind-link.

"Some of you might have heard about your Luna being admitted to the infirmary, we are here to tell you what happened to her and we will start with Doc explaining what her injuries imply." Dillon says, before Doc steps onto the front porch.

Doc goes over each one of her injuries and the more he explains, the angrier our Pack-members become. Everyone understands that this was an attempt on her life, that whoever did this meant to weaken their Alphas and to kill their Luna. The unmated males and females have all shifted and it is a good thing none of them have connected the dots yet.

"SHIFT." Dominic order with a booming voice and other Pack-members quickly hand them some clothes. "I understand that you are furious, but I need you to make a decision. Move to my left if you agree with banishment and move to my right if you agree with death." He doesn't mention who is getting accused of this crime.

"The Pack has spoken and I will honor the wishes of my Pack-members, even if it is with a heavy heart. I hereby sentence you to death, Max Bushlight." Our Alphas in unison and Max releases a say mighty roar, before he tries to lunge in their direction. Apparently he forgot for a moment that Maleah is standing in his way and before anyone can blink their eyes, his lifeless body drops to the ground.

A loud and high pitched No can be heard from the back of the crowd and as the Pack-members move to the side, we see Lola on her knees as she is holding her chest and stomach.

Chapter 470

Maleah's p.o.V.

Okay, this was not what I had expected when we assembled the Pack. Doc is rushing over to Lola, who has lost consciousness and he orders one of the Warriors to carry her to the infirmary. The other Warrior follows behind him, he will make sure she doesn't get a chance to escape and maybe try to get revenge.

"Alphas, I don't know what is going on. I will get those answers as fast as I can, but I would like to keep your Mother a day or two for observation. I have too many questions that I need an answer to." Doc says, before he walks away to follow the Warriors with Lola to the infirmary.

"Okay, why don't we go to Elyse's house and grab her a few things. Just to make it a bit easier for her to stay at the infirmary a little longer." I say to Delaney, I know the rest will head to the infirmary and with a little luck Doc will have answers when Delaney and I get there.

We walk to Elyse's house in silence, both trying to make sense of what we witnessed at the Pack-house. If I didn't know any better I would say that she felt the Mate-bond break and maybe fear of losing a Pup, but Max had a true Mate- bond with Elyse. Throwing that disturbing theory right out the window.

Delaney goes up to the maser bedroom to get some clothes for Elsye and I will get her a few personal items to brighten up the room. The first thing I grab is the statue of the three Wolves and I place it in a bag, I also grab the two magazines that are on the coffee table. I look around the room to see a book on a side table and after placing a bookmark in it, I close it to place it in the bag.

"Maleah, you might want to come up here." I hear Delaney call from upstairs and I place the bag on the couch to go see what that is about.

I walk into the master bedroom, but I don't see Delaney anywhere. Fortune guides me to a door on my right and I see Delaney staring at a journal she is holding. She turns to me as she holds out the journal and I recognize the handwriting, it is Max's handwriting.

The first word I recognize is Elyse's name, but the rest of the sentence isn't making sense to me at all and I know I need to hand this over to our Alphas. Delaney and I quickly grab a few things from Elyse's closet and make our way over to the infirmary.

"Mom is still out of it, Doc says it might be a few hours." Dax says as he wraps his arms around Delaney and I hand the bag to a nurse.

"Why don't we head back to the Pack-house? Doc can link you when she is awake." I say and slowly we walk away from Elyse's room. I am not sure how to bring this new development up, I am not even sure what this journal will tell them. All I know is the sentence I read and it has my mind running in all different directions.

"Have you ever been on the first floor of your parents house?" Delaney asks and I am surprised to hear Dillon say that they never set foot inside it. Max didn't feel they should visit them there and knowing what we found, I understand why Max didn't want them to visit.

No one says a word, while we make our way up to the Alpha floor. I am lost in my thoughts as we walk, I am trying to find a way to bring up Max's journal and I am glad that Levi is holding on to me. Mack walks into the kitchen to make us some coffee and Levi pulls me onto his lap, as we sit down on the couch.

"Okay, Maleah. What is on your mind?" Kay asks and I know I couldn't hide my feelings from my Mates.

I can feel all eyes on me, as I slowly pull the journal out of my bag. "I found that in what I assume was your Father's bedroom, it was on the nightstand next to the bed. I'm sorry, but I thought it was their walk-in closet." Delaney says.

"It turned out to be a connecting door to another bedroom, the journal told me that the room was used by someone and I called out for Maleah as I picked up the journal." Delaney explains and everyone looks at the journal I am still holding.

No one moves as I place it on the coffee table, we all just grab our cup of coffee as we look at the journal and I hope that what I read was out of context because I didn't read the rest. I know that everyone, except for Delaney, has recognized the handwriting and I know we all want to know what is written down inside.

"It belongs to Dad, I have seen him with it quite often. He never wanted to tell me what he wrote down in it, he told me that those were his private thoughts." Dominic says, finally breaking the silence in the room. "I am not sure I want to know what he wrote, I fear we might have let him of easy if I read it."

I can no longer control my curiosity and grab the journal of the table. Max started writing the journal after he met Elyse, but the story I am reading is different from the one we all know.

I have finally found a female that is willing to help me, but with a few conditions of her own.

We will tell everyone there is a connection between us, I need a Mate to take over from my Father and she needs a way out of her birth Pack. We will both gain what we want with this little white lie, I get my Alpha title and she gets her freedom from a sadistic Asshole.

It has been a week since I took Elyse home with me and last night we marked and mated. My Lycan is furious, because he finally found out why Elyse needed our help to escape and it makes me sick to my stomach. There might not be a true Mate-bond between us, but she is my Luna and I will keep her safe.

I look at our Alphas to see them wrapped around Delaney, "I know this isn't what we were taught, but can you blame your Mother?" I ask and I think I gave them something else to think about. "Your Father's motives are a different story, but I know what Bradley did to her and your Father's offer was her way out. There was no other way for her to escape, not with an Omega rank."

It seems to calm them down a little and Mack gets us all another round of coffee, am not really looking at the pages as I turn page after page, I am just waiting until I see a word that spikes my interest. "Thank you, Maleah. I think we needed to hear that Mom had no other choice, but I wonder what would have happened if she had met her connection." Dax says.

They probably made an arrangement of some sort and both would have denied and broken a connection that can lead to a true Mate-bond. It only seems the most logical thing from my point of view, neither one could afford it if the other found a connection.

I just wonder how they were able to fool everyone and why their Lycans agreed to the charade. I will have to ask Dad and Colter, No not allowed to call him that anymore, maybe I should talk to my Mothers indaw. My head starts spinning again, I have to much on my mind right now and I can't seem to answer even one question.

I close my eyes for a second to stop my mind from exploding with all those questions and when I slowly open my eyes I see a word written down that makes me growl, Lola.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 471[ 1,400 words ]

Chapter 471

Levi's p.o.v.

The moment we hear Maleah growl, we know she found something and I am not sure if we are going to like it. I get why Elyse went along with the charade, but Max should have known this wasn't in the best interest of the Pack.

Like everyone else I just listen to Maleah as she starts reading Max's journal.

I can't believe it, not once in all the years since I turned eighteen did my Lycan feel a connection to a female and now I have found her. Lola, I watched her the past two years as she tried to convince one of my Sons to take her as a chosen Mate.

I am glad they never took her up on her offer, I am glad that she is still available to me. Lola is also surprised to find out there is a connection between us and I am going to take advantage of the fact that Elyse and I don't have a true Mate-bond.

Lola is willing to move into a cottage, not to far from the place I share with Elyse. Yes, share. We haven't been a real couple since she got pregnant with my Sons, she did what I asked of her and that is when I decided I was no longer interested in her. My Lycan wasn't to sad about not sleeping in the same bed anymore, like me, he believed she had served her purpose.

The only thing we both hate, is that we are no longer the Alpha. It could have been fun to see this unfold in front of the Pack, to see how they would respond to their Alpha rejecting their Luna and replacing her with another female.

I spend almost every night with Lola and I was surprised to find that she hadn't slept with another male. I got the privilege of being her first and her last, because I couldn't stop my Lycan from marking her.

I expected Elyse to come to me the next day to ask why her mark was gone, but she didn't bring it up at all. We didn't discuss it until she caught me with Lola and I was surprised when she told me that her mark had vanished years ago, she just decided to keep it from me.

Elyse only gave me one warning; if I had the guts to show to the rest of the Pack that I had another Mate, she would come clean about everything.

Maleah looks up at all of us, the shock and confusion written all over her face. I think we need to process this, before we will allow Maleah to continue reading. I mean, Max would have thrown Elyse to the Wolves, so the speak, if he still had been the Alpha and he wouldn't have shown her any mercy.

I can't imagine what it has been like for Elyse to know that her Mate was sharing the bed of his fated Mate, I am just glad that she didn't feel the pains of betrayal. Yes, even with being chosen Mates she could feel the pains of betrayal, but not as excruciating if there had been a true Mate-bond.

My hand is resting on Maleah's knee, as she is rubbing her thumb up and down over the back of my hand. Largo is softly purring in the back of my head, feeling content with his Mate this close by and I just enjoy her presence to calm down. I know this isn't the end of Max's journal and I wonder if the rest will be any good for my mood.

"Okay, there is one more entry into this journal. Want me to read it to you?" Maleah asks and the moment Dominic nods his head, she start reading.

My Sons have lost their minds, letting their Luna control any part of Pack business. I need to get control back and the only way to accomplish that is by killing them.

It is a good thing that Lola is carrying the next heir to Blood Crescent Pack, it will make taking my Sons down a lot easier. If the Pup turns out to be a female, I will find her a suitable Mate and train him myself to take over. If it is a male, I will make sure he is raised to be just like me and his Luna will never have a say in Pack business.

I will have to find another Beta and Gamma, just like I will need a new Head Assassin. None of them chose my side, when my Sons found my added Pack rules and they even allowed the Pack to vote on them. How the fuck do they think you should run a Pack?

My only problem will be that stupid Bitch, Maleah. How did no one see that she was the Angel of Death? I know, I didn't see it either and I am still wondering how that is possible. My Father was always quick to figure out who a new Assassin was and so was my Grandfather, so why didn't I see it?

"Because none of us saw it, Jackass." Mack growls and I hear Maleah giggle. Max is right though both his Father and Grandfather? were great at determining the identity of a new Assassin. 10 remember Grandpa telling us about how he tried to trick his Alpha, he would always leave a name of the list of newly trained Assassin and every time his Alpha was able to tell him it was one of our own.

"Maybe we can invite our Grandfathers over and make same sort of game out of it. See if anyone can figure out who the Angel of Death is." Kay says and I see smiles on everyone's face. We know they always like a good challenge when they come over and this one might be a slight challenge for them.

"Fine, but first we need to clean up some shit." Maleah says as she places the files on the coffee table. A knock on the door keeps her from talking and a moment later Harvey and Pauline walk in, both with a huge grin on their face.

Pauline hands Maleah a tablet and Harvey hands one to Delaney, we look over her shoulder to see news reports on Rogues being found in very public places. Each of them are dead, which is good to see it the pictures and I have to look really close to see what they did to them exactly.

I remember this from the one-sided conversation Maleah had with Nishay and i see that I am not the only one that is looking very

wonder how long you have been hiding those Rogues before dumping them." Delaney says with a smile and that is when I see that the Angel of Death is mentioned in every news report.

"Fortune, when did you grow wings?" I say teasingly into Maleah's ear and I hear her laugh through our mind-link.

Anyone with a little bit of common sense would be able to see this couldn't be done by one person, no matter how you turn and twist it. Largo chuckles in my head, before he asks "How will they try to pin this on her when the next stage of this assignment gets completed?"

I repeat Largo's question out loud and Maleah has to explain what Largo was talking about. "I want to take out all the Wolves and Lycans that handed over the Pups in the same night. During the Spring Ball." Maleah responds and for a little while it is quiet, before Dillon looks at her with a questioning look.

We show our Alphas what we have been working on and for the next hour we discuss how to execute this plan, how to prepare everything. Mack and Harvey explain the teams, before Maleah tells them how she plans on taking them out.

"Okay and what about the other more important players in this?" Dominic asks and all eyes are on our Mate, curious about how she plans to handle that part of the assignment.

"We will take our time with those individuals. After the Spring Ball they will go into hiding, cranking up their security and I want them to think they dodged a bullet. The moment one of them relaxes, we will strike." Maleah says and we are once again reminded of her number one rule: She decides when a target dies and not a second sooner.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 472[ 1,204 words ]

Chapter 472

Maleah's p.o.V.

I need a distraction and fast. Fortune reminds me of the promise Commander made me this morning and I grab my Mates to head home.

Kay, or in this case probably Titan, seems to understand why I want to go home and he tosses me over his shoulder, before rushing of the Alpha floor. I wave goodbye to a laughing Delaney and our Alphas tell us to enjoy some alone time.

Kay doesn't put me on my feet until we are inside our house and he smiles at me as he lets Titan come forward. I love the idea of getting to spend some time with their Lycans at the surface, "Hello, Titan. How are you today?" I ask, before I pull his head down to press my lips to his.

He grabs me by the waist, lifting me up and I wrap my legs around his waist. He makes his way to the couch, holding me close to him and I nuzzle his neck. I don't really register it, but it only takes minutes before Titan and I are butt naked.

Commander and Largo make their way over to me, kicking their shoes off and their shirts with every step they take. Commander pulls me towards him to slam his lips to mine, making sure I can feel Titan's hard-on pressing against my pussy. I moan into Commander mouth, as Titan presses harder against me and a groan escapes his lips, but he isn't the only one that groans.

We break our kiss, our foreheads touching and I can see the lust in Commander's eyes. My eyes drifting to my other Mate over his shoulder as Titan pulls his body back, just enough to slip a hand between our bodies, touching my pussy to feel that I am soaking wet and he doesn't hesitate to slip his finger into my core.

Largo has moved to my other side and slowly turns my head, until I look into his eyes. My breathing becomes labored, as Titan slides his finger in and out of me slowly. "Damn, you look so fucking sexy." Largo whispers before our lips touch and it feels so fucking good,

Commander lowers his head, licking one of my nipples and my head would have fallen back if Largo hadn't been holding me. My eyes closing at the sensation coursing through my body and I start moving my hips towards Titan. I don't last long, climaxing the moment he presses the mouse of his hand on my clit. Largo holds me close as I catch my breath and I put my head in his neck, enjoying his embrace.

I feel Commander tracing the tattoo on my back, while Largo's hand travels towards my pussy. Titan decides he wants some attention from me and he pulls my head towards him, placing his forehead against mine. "I love you, Angel. I can't wait for the day we have Pups." He whispers and I smile at him, because I can't wait for that day either.

Largo has been pushing his fingers in and out, while Commander seems obsessed with my tattoo. I gasp when Largo starts pushing his finger in my backdoor and Titan uses that opportunity to kiss me passionately.

I squeal when I feel a tongue on my back, Commander starts tracing my tattoo with his tongue and I feel heat traveling through my entire body.

He distracted me so much, that I didn't realized that Largo had placed his cock against my backdoor. I push myself towards him and I moan the moment my body opens up for him. Largo might be a Lycan, but when it comes to me, he is soft and gentle.

Titan and Commander are placing kisses on every inch of my skin they can reach, my eyes close as I enjoy the feeling of their lips on my skin and the heat starts building in my body. Their kisses and caresses pushing me closer to the edge of my orgasm, as Largo thrusts slowly and deep into my body.

Suddenly I feel two sets on lips around my nipples, enlisting a moan from my lips as they suck on my nipples. My breathing becomes labored the more attention they pay to my body and I want this feeling to last forever.

t Cargo starts to thrust

faster, I know we are both going to fall into the abyss soon. It also seems to be a sign for my other Mates to increase their attention to my breasts and when they gently bite down on my nipples, Lshatter into a million pieces.

Two more thrusts and Largo follows me into the land of bliss. Titan pulls me close to his chest, letting me come down from my climax and as I slowly start breathing normal again I enjoy the feeling of the arms that are wrapped around me.

It took us hours to find our way into our bed, but when we finally managed to get there I was exhausted. I don't remember getting into bed or putting on a shirt, I was truly exhausted but it was the good kind and I slept through the night in one go.

After we have gotten ready, we head back to the Pack-house for breakfast. I am not looking forward to our visit to the infirmary, but Doc needs to know what he is facing. If he hasn't figured it out himself yet.

We find Doc pacing the pavement in front of the Pack-house, a worried look on his face. The moment he spots us, I see fear flashing through his eyes and I wonder what is going on.

"Alphas, I have to warn you. Lola is awake and demanding to be treated as this Pack's Luna. She claims to be carrying the next heir to Blood Crescent Pack." He blurts out, as he avoids looking at Delaney.

"Doc, can you bring Elyse to Lola's room? I want everyone present when the truth gets revealed." Delaney says, before she turns to us and informs us that it also means all our parents have to be there.

Fortune is lying in the back of my head with a stupid grin on her face, she seems to understand what Delaney is planning and she is very pleased with it.

We wait outside Lola's room for the others to show up and once Elyse has been brought to us, Delaney opens the door to reveal Lola sitting on the bed. "About damn time you showed up, Dominic. Tell that so-called Doctor to place me in the Luna room and get that Bitch out of my sight." Lola says, but I am not sure if she meant Delaney or Elyse with Bitch.

"Lola, you are not this Pack's Luna. You never have been and you never will be. Until my Luna Ceremony, Elyse will hold that title." Delaney says calmly.

Lola is staring daggers at Delaney, but she isn't intimidated by it at all. "You were Max's fated Mate and it is his Pup you are carrying." Delaney drops the bomb with out blinking her eyes and for just a second the room is eerily quiet.

"What the Fuck?" "What is she talking about?" "That is impossible." Everyone has something to say or ask and for a few moments we let everyone process what Delaney just said.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 473[ 1,246 words ]

Chapter 473

Mack's p.o.v.

Elyse is staring at the floor, when she asks; "How did you find out?"

I hand her Max's journal, but she doesn't open it. "I know what is inside, he always made sure to tell me what he wrote in it. I couldn't tell any of you, because he gave me an Alpha order every single time. I am just sorry that I never tried to find a way around his command, than maybe it wouldn't have come to this.

Max's Pup deserves to be raised as an Alpha and I know he or she will never be able to take over this Pack, but that Pup isn't at fault here. Lola and Max were, but I can't allow you to punish an innocent Pup for the crimes of their parents." Elyse says and before any of us can respond, Lola is in her face.

"I am going to raise this Pup, I will be this Pack's Luna and my Pup will take over this Pack. My first task as Luna will be to banish you and those pathetic excuses, you call your Sons." Lola growls at her and Delaney starts to laugh her ass off.

Everyone just stares at Delaney and Maleah is shaking her head slowly, "I don't think Lola understands how this is supposed to work. I don't think that her brain can comprehend something this big or she would have known that she can not take the Alpha title away from your Mates." Maleah says and I can't help but chuckle, when I see the dumbfounded look on Lola's face.

"Max told me that our Pup would become the next heir to Blood Crescent Pack, he already made arrangements to have those Nitwits taken care of. It is just a matter of time." Lola says and I hear Pauline hiccupping with laughter.

"Yeah, not happening. Max was an Idiot and if he hadn't attacked his Luna, than I would have handed over the evidence your Alphas needed to take their own Father down. Not a smart idea to try and hire the Angel of Death." Harvey says and we all look at him in shock.

"Max thought that Maleah had been kidding when she told you who she really is and when one of her male team-members showed up he was even more convinced. We just played him like the fool he was, he even made sure that we knew how he wanted the Angel of Death to take out his Sons." He holds out a file to Dillon, but he is too stunned to take it from him.

I quickly read through the file and I am glad that Max is already dead or he would be killed this instant.

"You knew that Max wanted to kill his own Sons?" Maleah asks and we all look at Lola with a smug look on her face.

"Of course I knew, I suggested to make up some bull story about why his Sons needed to be dealt with. I was also the one to suggest the way the Angel of Death should deal with them." Lola answers her and I think she can thank the Goddess for granting her a Pup or Maleah would have taken her head off.

Maleah opens the door to look at her team, "You will take turns guarding her cell, Doc is the only one allowed to see her and only once a day. One of you will be in the cell with her, make sure she doesn't harm herself or the Pup." Moments later six of them walk away from the room, while the other three step into the room.

"Let's go, your cell awaits you. Lunatic." One of them says with the emphasizes on Luna.

Lola tries to struggle, but one of the males is done with her behavior and tosses her over his shoulder. "I'll be there in an hour." Doc yells after them and then he closes the door. “When did your mark disappear, Elyse?" He asks.

"I am not going to call you Luna, I understand why you took his offer but you don't deserve the title." Doc says, as he leans down to look at the spot where her mark should be.

"It vanished slowly a few years after the boys were born, but I never said anything to Max. I knew it was the only thing that kept me safe and I had no intention of leaving my boys behind." Elyse answers and Doc asks her to describe the mark to him.

As Elyse is describing the mark, I see a knowing look appear on Doc's face. Looks like he might have the answer to why her mark disappeared, but I doubt any of us could have guessed the reason.

"Did Max allow you to mark him?" Doc asks and Elyse shakes her head, still looking at the floor.

Ton

"Well, there you have your answer. Without both marks in place, Elyse's mark slowly disappeared. Their Wolf and Lycan never had a chance to form @bond, even if it was just a bond between chosen Mates." Doc explains and I wonder if Max had deliberately kept their other halves from bonding.

After finding out the conspiracy against our Alphas and everything else that involved Max, we headed back to our house. Maleah had us helping her with her potions and once in a while she and Delaney would head over to Ariel for their dress fittings.

We spent the past two and a half days making the potions we need, cutting herbs, boiling herbs and whatever else we needed to do to make everything ready. Last night we combined ingredients and vial after vial was filled, each of them serving a different purpose.

Everyone involved with this case will get their potion on the first night of the Spring Ball, some will die within hours and others will die within forty eight hours.

Maleah chose every potion carefully, she went for the maximum amount of pain we could inflict and there was no telling who would die when. Another reason she chose these potions for our targets, because without knowing when they would die during the days of the Spring Ball, we all would have an alibi.

Lola has been in her cell, screaming and yelling at her guards. Somehow she still seems to think she is getting out of there to live a full life, but Dominic isn't going to take a risk with her. Lola will be put to death, after she has given birth to her Daughter.

Yes, our Alphas are going to get a baby Sister and I already pity the fool that gets mated to her.

Right now, we are on the Alpha floor getting ready for the Spring Ball. Tonight we will have dinner at the Palace, followed by an opportunity to mingling afterwards in the Palace garden.

Tomorrow will be a day it would rather forget about, more mingling with other Wolves and Lycans and many will try to either get a chosen Mate Out of it or an alliance. In the evening there will be a ball and I look forward to see our Mate in a dress of her own design.

"Everything is ready, Alphas. The teams will start to leave within half an hour, the first deaths will occur around dinner time." Pauline says and after wishing us all luck at the Spring Ball, she walks out of the Alpha floor.

Let's just hope that no one gives Maleah or Delaney a reason to explode. If anyone does, I will just sit back and enjoy the shitshow.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 474[ 1,321 words ]

Chapter 474

Elder Carlyle is busy preparing for the Spring Ball, he intends to start the rumor mill on the Queen stepping down. He believes it is time for a replacement and the replacement is as good as ready to become his next puppet.

The Spring Ball isn't the only thing that Elder Carlyle has on his mind, he also needs to find a way to replace his living doll.

If he hadn't been so preoccupied with worrying about replacing two females in his life, he might have noticed that someone was watching him. Someone that was send after him to gather evidence against him and by the time she is done with her assignment, she will have everything she needs to bring down the most powerful male this Kingdom has ever known.

Elder Carlyle walks into the study to find his first task, a female that resembles the Queen. "Elder Carlyle, to what do I owe this pleasure?" She asks, as she looks up at him.

"During the Spring Ball, I will make sure that the rumors start spreading that the Queen is ready to pass her crown to her Daughter. Soon you will be taking her place, ruling this Kingdom with my guidance." He answers her.

A smile spreads across the female's face and she slowly get out of her seat. She has been preparing so long for this day and she can't wait to finally be in the spotlight. “I won't disappoint you, Dad." She whispers and for a moment Elder Carlyle allows himself to embrace his youngest Daughter.

His little shadow has recorded the conversation and smiles when she puts a few pieces of the puzzle together. Her boss will have a field day with this information, another nail to Elder Carlyle's coffin.

Elder Carlyle leaves the study and his little shadow isn't far behind, his path takes him to the far side of the mansion he lives in. He opens the door to what appears to be a suite, a female lying on the bed with her eyes closed.

"Sweetheart, wake up." Elder Carlyle says gently, as he places a hand on her arm. It takes a few minutes for her to wake up, but when she sees Elder Carlyle next to her, she smiles at him.

"How are you feeling, Sweetheart?" He asks and as he had expected she was feeling tired but fine. He places his hand on her belly and smiles at the female that will give him his next replacement. In another twenty years, he will replace his youngest Daughter with his unborn Daughter and remain in control of the Kingdom.

He has done this twice before and he will keep doing it until the day he dies. If this had been a boy, he would have taken care of it and his Mate wouldn't be the wiser.

After making sure his Mate has taken the medication to put her to sleep, he waits until she is fast asleep. He can't take any risks, not with his unborn Pup or his Mate finding out what he has been doing for ages. "Soon I will have my next Queen puppet and I will continue this for as long as I can." He whispers towards his Mate, before walking out of her room.

Again his little shadow follows him, as Elder Carlyle walks through the mansion with purpose. But if she had known what she would witness next, I have no doubt she wouldn't have followed him.

His shadow follows him into what appears the be the basement of the mansion, but the cell at the end of the hallway makes it more functional as a dungeon. "On your feet." Elder Carlyle says to a young female that is lying on a matrass.

When she doesn't move fast enough to his liking, he grabs her wrist to pull her up and she screams out in pain. Which earns her a slap across the face from Elder Carlyle, he doesn't like it when they scream and he always punishes them when they do scream.

His little shadow is hiding a few feet away from them and even though she can't see the young female clearly, it is obvious that Elder Carlyle has put her through hell. If she had to guess, she would say that the young female barely got anything to eat and that he beat her on a regular bases.

The camera that is mounted on her chest records everything that happens in that cell and she covers her ears and closes her eyes to drown out what Elder Carlyle is doing in that cell.

"Get on your knees." He orders his living doll, but like every other time, she defies him and he has to force her on her knees himself. His hand that is tangled in her hair, yanke??

her head back to make sure she@pens her mouth for him and he isn't gentle as he forces his cock into her mouth.

He knows he doesn't have to worry about her biting down on his shaft, she knows what will happen if she does and he knows that every one of his living dolls feared that punishment.

He uses her young body in anyway he pleases, alternating between using her mouth and her pussy and he saves the worst for last.

Knowing what he likes, Elder Carlyle cleans his cock from her saliva and his own sperm to make this as painful as he can. He pushes her onto her knees on the matrass and grabs her hips with his hands, keeping her perfectly still for his favorite way of abusing is living doll.

He places his cock against her backdoor and slowly start pushing, knowing that her body will put up a fight. He doesn't release the pressure of his cock against her backdoor, her body slowly gives up the fight and his shaft slowly stretches her ass around him.

His living doll's whimpering and crying, but she barely makes any other sound. He always asks for an untrained Pup, because he doesn't want their bodies to get used to this and by the time their bodies do get used to it, he just disposes of them. Getting a replacement within a day, but that will proof difficult for his next living doll.

When he is finally balls deep, he starts to pull back slowly and for the next fifteen minutes he keeps moving in and out as slow as he can. His Lycan is starting to push forward and he softly smiles, knowing that his Lycan will finished today's session.

"Enjoy some time with my Lycan." Elder Carlyle whispers and he releases control to his Lycan. The Lycan doesn't think about the young female in front of him, all he is interested in is getting off.

His cock growing thicker and longer as he pushes forward and instead of slowly picking up the pace, he starts to pound her full force. It is the only time their living doll screams and it is the only time she is allowed to scream, because the Lycan enjoys their screams of pain.

It takes the Lycan almost an hour to empty all of his cum into their living doll, he shoves her to the side once he is done and hands back control to his Human. Elder Carlyle doesn't waste any time with, he cleans himself up a little and then he heads back up to his own room.

His little shadow waits until Elder Carlyle has left for the Palace and as soon as she knows that his Mate and his Daughter are fast asleep, she makes her way back to the cell in the basement.

The young female is unconscious and it doesn't take much effort to place her over her shoulder. She slips out of the mansion with then et young female and places her in the back of the waiting SUV. “Head to Blood Crescent Pack, get her the help she needs. I am going in search of Lady Boss, I have a few surprises for her." Lily says to Pauline.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 475[ 1,195 words ]

Chapter 475

Maleah's p.o.V.

Lily has never asked to meet me, when she knows I have something planned. So, for her to text me to meet her is enough reason for me to oblige.

Our convoy pulls over at the location Lily provided and she is already waiting for us. She is pacing the ground next to her vehicle and the murderous look in her eyes doesn't predict much good.

As we approach her, she points at the laptop on the hood of her vehicle and once we are all positioned around it, Levi presses a button to start the recording. I doubt I have to tell you how we all responded to the footage, it was a shitshow and I am glad we still have some time to put on clothes that are still in one piece.

"Where is she?" Dominic asks and we all sigh in relief, when she informs us that the young female is on her way to Blood Crescent Pack. "Maleah, I want him taken care of this weekend. He doesn't get to breath a second longer than is necessary."

I know that Dominic is right, but I want the world to know what he has been doing. "Lily, get Harvey to meet you close to the Palace. I want the footage of his Daughter and his Mate to be shown to the entire world, not just to the ones present at the Spring Ball." I instruct her and I know they will do what I have asked of them.

After making a quick call, we continue our trip to the Palace and about ten minutes before we arrive at our destination, we make a quick stop. I take the small bag from one of my team members and as I prepare everything, we drive the last stretch of road to the Palace.

A Guard points us to the entrance of the Palace and when we arrive there a Warrior takes the keys to our SUV, to park it with the vehicles of the rest of the guests.

Delaney and I are surrounded by our Mates as we walk up the steps to the double doors of the Palace and after a Warrior has checked the list an Omega escorts us to our suites.

She points out that there is a connecting door, that can be locked from both sides. I doubt we will lock that door, it will make it easier to jump into action if anyone tries something with our Alphas and Luna.

I places the clothing bags that hold our outfits for tomorrow night in the walk-in closet and pull out the dresses that we will be wearing tonight. A soft pink, tight fitting dress for Delaney and a burgundy, tight fitting dress for myself.

Delaney and I both wear our hair up, showcasing the marks on our necks. We want everyone to know that we are taken and our marks make it very clear who our Mates are. Even though Fortune is holding on the a tiny bit of hope that someone screws up anyway and gives her a reason to finally put some of those females in their place.

I am not really surprised to see that only a handful of females are present during dinner or after dinner, when we all have a change to walk around and mingle.

"Most females stay in their room until tomorrow, tonight they will discuss the attending High-ranks with their Mother, their Sister or another female. Trying to find a male that might be persuaded to take a chosen Mate, if given the right incentive.

Tomorrow they will observe each other, to see where everyone's interest lays and tomorrow night they will go in for the kill." I tell Delaney and she gives me a rather disgusted look.

The Queen is sitting in her usual spot and Elder Carlyle is sitting right beside her, whispering to her from time to time. I guess they are planning on how to get the rumors started that the Queen's Daughter will soon take over the Throne.

Rumors about her Daughter have been flying around for over a decade now, everyone has tried to find out who the Queen's Mate is and what her Daughter looks like. Tomorrow they will find out that we don't have a Queen and that Elder Carlyle has been in control all this time.

"Alpha Kenyon, it is nice to see you again." I hear Dillon say, but my eyes are on my Grandfather.

I haven't had the chance or taken the time to contact him and I guess now is as good of a time to get this over with. I am not sure what my Mother told him and I don't want to cause a scene at the Palace, not during a weekend as important as this one.

"Grandfather, I didn't expect to see you here. I thought you would be looking after your Daughter." I see him flinch as I refer to my Mother as just his Daughter. "I don't mind to get to know you better, but I am not sure if this is the right environment for that.

I doubt she told you the whole truth and I am not sure I want to hear what she did tell you or that you want to hear my side of the story." I say, looking into his eyes.

"Cara told us the truth, she even told us to confirm it with you and your Father. Diego has already confirmed that Cara told us the truth and even though I am angry at her for what she put you through, I hope that one day you will allow her to tell you why." Grandfather says.

"I can't make any promises on that, but I would like to get to know you and my Great Grandfather." I say and he nods his head in understanding.

We all meet up after dinner and Grandfather tells me a little about his career, this isn't the best place to talk about that kind of thing. A lot of the other High-ranking guests Keep looking at us, as they walk passed us and I know they are checking to see if there are any males available for their Daughters.

Their eyes widen, every time they see that I have three different marks and I know the rumors will start spreading soon. They might even overshadow the rumors about the Queen's Daughter, something Elder Carlyle will not appreciate.

"I think you will be the center of rumors this weekend, Dear." Grandfather states and I can hear my Mates growl through our mind-link.

"Most Pups don't get taught that there are males and females in our world that need more than one

Mate, but sometimes a twin or triplet aren't suited as Mates. Sometimes siblings or friends are a better choice. I doubt anyone would understand why in some cases this is necessary, but I am not going to explain it to anyone." I reply.

I know that my response was loud enough for almost everyone to hear and I hope it is enough to keep the attention away from me for the time being.

I see huge grins on the faces of my friends, my family and my Mates, "You have put a few in their place without attacking them directly. Very diplomatic." Alpha Kenyon says, just before he starts laughing.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 476[ 1,254 words ]

Chapter 476

Levi's p.o.v.

I am proud of our Mate, she handled those Idiots down there like a pro. Come to think of it, she is a pro. As a famous designer she deals with some demanding clients and I don't think it would do her business any good if she were to kill someone.

If she hadn't been standing so close to me, I might have given a few males a piece of my mind and probably a few broken bones. I didn't like the look some of them gave Maleah and the females that were actually present were even worse.

"I think it is time to turn in for the night. Tomorrow we will have a busy day, there are quiet a few Alphas that want to discuss an alliance with us. Maleah, I want you to make sure that no one is eaves dropping." Dax says and she nods her head.

Today must have been exhausting for her, because she is asleep before we are all in bed and Kay pulls her onto his chest. The three of us follow our Mate to dreamland in minutes and as every night since finding my Mate, I have the best sleep ever.

"Goodmorning, Angel." I whisper into Maleah's ear and I hear her softly growl. She does that every time she knows that we will have a day filled with unpleasant events.

It takes a few more minutes before she is willing to open her eyes and double that time to get her to leave the warmth of the bed. Mack, Kay and I are already dressed when Maleah walks out of the bedroom, we follow her with our eyes as she walks into the walk-in closet.

She walks out in a three piece suit, straight legged pants with a long sleeved blazer and a vest in a deep red color. A small sliver of red lace shows above the v- line of the vest and she is wearing high heeled pumps, the perfect outfit for a business meeting.

Her hair hangs down her back in a braid and the only trace of make-up I see is some mascara. "You do realize that none of us will be able to concentrate with you looking like that." Mack says, pulling our Mate into his arms.

"Guess who else might have trouble concentrating." She counters and the three of us softly growl at the thought of other males staring at our Mate.

A knock on the connecting door of our suite, pulls my attention away from Maleah and I open the door to see a slightly angry looking Dillon on front of me. "She is going to be the death of us." He grumbles under his breath as he walks past me and I see Delaney in a similar outfit to Maleah's outfit.

"Join the club, we aren't doing much better." Mack says, just before he buries his face in Maleah's neck.

Delaney walks over to Maleah to grab her hand and pulls her away from a softly growling Mack, but neither one of them is very impressed by it. "Let's get these meetings over with and I really hope I won't kill anyone." Delaney says, just before she opens the door.

We follow the girls down the hall to the elevator and the moment we step out I want to press the button to return to our suite. Maleah slides an arm around my waist and I start to relax as we exit the elevator. Kay steps to Maleah's other side and I follow his line of sight to find Alpha Bradley staring at our Mate.

Dominic gets handed an envelop and we all know it is a list of everyone that wants a meeting with us. The Elders assign us an office and everyone that wants to have a talk with us will come to that room.

I hate being cooped up in an office all day and especially during the Spring Bath Almost every Alpha will use it to take their Daughters with them and try to include them into an alliance agreement. Some have succeeded in finding a High-ranking Mate for their Daughters, but we have always declined an alliance that includes a chosen Mate.

“Is he fucking kidding me?" Dominic asks under his breath and he hands the list for today to Maleah. All she does is laugh, while she holds up the list for us to see a name that makes us all growl.

"Let's just wait until it is his turn and find out what he wants. I might decide to take him out sooner than I had planned." Maleah says through the mind-link and we all give her a smile in support of her idea.

A Servant guides us to the room that will serve as our office for the day and just as she is about to leave, Delaney turns towards her. "Can you bring our breakfast in here and some coffee? I think we are going to need it." She says to the Servant and she gives Delaney a strange look.

"If my understanding of the Spring Ball is correct, than you are our Servant for the weekend. It means that if I ask you to bring something, you will do it as fast as you can and you will wait outside the door until one of us calls for you. Am I mistaken?" She asks.

The Servant seems surprised to hear that Delaney knows more about the Spring Ball than we do, "You are correct, but you forgot about one small detail. I only answer to a High-ranking member and not some wanna be Luna." The Servant responds.

Maleah opens the door and looks at a Warrior standing in the hallway, "Get whoever is in charge of the Servants and I would make it fast, before my Alphas decide to kill someone." She says and a moment later we hear footsteps rushing towards our office.

Mack and Kay are keeping an eye on our Alphas, while Delaney is calming them down and I keep my eyes on the Servant that insulted my Luna. Another Servant walks into the room and we can tell that she is the Head of the Palace Servants.

"Do you know what happens when someone insults the fated Mate of an Alpha?" Maleah asks, as she makes sure that no one can leave the room.

"They usually get killed." Both Servants say in unison.

"This is the only warning you are getting. Delaney is the fated Mate of those Alphas behind you and that makes her the Luna of Blood Crescent Pack. If anyone insults her again, I will be the one that will take that person's head and both of your heads." Maleah says in an ice cold voice.

"May I ask who you are?" The Head Servant asks.

"I am mated to the Beta, Gamma and Head Assassin of Blood Crescent Pack." Maleah answers. "My name is Maleah D'Angelo." Both females stare at one another, before they turn around to face Delaney.

"Luna, please forgive me. Some of the other Alphas made it clear that you are not their true Mate and I let myself believe that they were telling the truth. It might have slipped your minds, but you need to inform the Queen when a connection is felt and the true Mate-bond has formed." The first Servant says and I look at Maleah to see if she has ever heard of it.

"I appreciate your apology and if you can give me the law book in which that is stated, I will make sure the Queen will get that letter before the day is over." Delaney answers.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 477[ 1,176 words ]

Chapter 477

Maleah's p.o.V.

I know that an Alpha has to report any couple that has marked one another, but I also know that there is no obligation to report a connection.

Our Alphas did report to the Elders that they had marked Delaney as their Mate and that a date would be set for her Luna Ceremony. I was there when they handed it to one of my team members to hand deliver it to the Elders and there is footage from the delivery, so why weren't other Alphas, cities and towns informed?

I watch as the first Alpha walks in to negotiate an alliance, but the moment a young female follows behind him I hear Fortune growl.

"If she is a part of your alliance, I suggest you leave." Dominic says and I see the Alpha looking at Dominic as if he lost his mind. "We have a Mate and so do the other males in our leadership."

This ritual happens three more times, before we get another problem to deal with.

"Alphas, it is good to see you again." Alpha Bradley says, as he walks into the meeting room. "Maleah, I didn't expect to see you here. Are you here to find a chosen Mate?" His words cause my Mates to growl and I am glad I am sitting on Mack's lap.

"No, I am here to help my Alphas. That is my job as the Beta and Gamma female." I respond and I see something flash through his eyes, but I can't tell what it is.

He sits down on the chair on the other side of the table and his Beta and Gamma join us. "There are quite a few Wolves outside this meeting room, three in the hallway and four outside the window." I say through the mind-link and my Mates move a little closer to me.

At that same moment, a Servant walks in with coffee but it isn't the Servant that was assigned to us. "I figured you could all use some coffee by now and I promise I won't keep you long." Alpha Bradley says, but I warn the others not to drink it.

"Thank you, Alpha Bradley. That is very thoughtful of you, but completely unnecessary. We have had enough coffee for the day and as you can see we all have a bottle of water." Delaney says and she pushes the cup in front of her back towards the Servant.

"Maleah, I found her. She is unconscious and so is the Head Servant." One of my team members reports through the mind-link. I knew we couldn't trust Alpha Bradley and I believe it is safe to say that he put something in the coffee.

Alpha Bradley looks at the coffee in front of us and I can hear his heart beat become erratic, there is something wrong with the coffee. "You can take it with you." He says to the Servant, but I want to know what is in there and I pull the cup in front of me closer.

I lower my head to the cup, making sure I don't touch any of the liquid and I am so damn glad I can recognize almost every poison by it's smell. There is Olmepenem in the coffee, the scent of the Viscid Portia hits my nostrils and I understand why he used coffee. Too bad, I am better in poisons and potions than Alpha Bradley is.

"Alphas, I think you might want to warn our Warriors. Alpha Bradley has poisoned the coffee with Olmepenem, his Warriors in the hallway and outside were probably meant to kill us." I say, my eyes locked with those of Alpha Bradley.

We all know why he tried to poison us, but I doubt he told anyone the truth. At least his Beta and Gamma were aware of what his so-called plan was, but I am not so sure about his Warriors.

"Alphas, why are you listening to this female? My Alpha was just kind enough to bring refreshments and now she is accusing him of a crime." His Beta says and I have a smirk on my face, as I move the cup in front of me towards him.

"Then I suggest you take a sip." I state and I know he will never touch that cup, if he knows what is in that coffee.

The Servant looks a bit uncomfortable, but I doubt she has any idea about what is going on here. Alpha Bradley keeps ordering her to get the coffee out of here, but she seems to be too stunned to respond and before he can grab every cup away himself the door opens.

"What is going on in here?" Elder Carlyle asks and despite the fact that I hate his guts, I know he can smell almost every scent.

"Would you mind taking a sniff of the coffee, Elder Carlyle?" I ask him and the moment he is close enough, he inhales the fumes and damp that comes from the coffee.

"Olmepenem." He says and he looks at the Servant. She quickly explains that Alpha Bradley had asked her to make some coffee and to follow him to this meeting room.

We find out that the Gamma held the tray with coffee, while the Servant carried the tray with some snacks and Elder Carlyle starts to sniff that as well but can't find anything wrong with it.

After everyone has left our room and the coffee has been taken away, I turn to my Alphas. "We all know that he didn't come here to kill any of us, but I am convinced that it is the story he gave his men. I am glad there were more Elder present than just Elder Carlyle or he might have been released before this day is over.

We continue with the other meetings on our list and by the time we need to get ready for dinner, I am on the verge of killing someone. Except for our meeting with Alpha Bradley, every other meeting was intended to be a mating and not just for our Alphas.

I spot Elder Carlyle near the stairs, when we walk out of the meeting room and I walk straight up to him. "Elder Carlyle, why wasn't anyone informed of the fact that the entire leadership of Blood Crescent Pack is marked and mated?" I ask him.

He looks at me, before he says, "We didn't receive a notice of any new marked couples." He responds and I grab my phone to push a few buttons, let's see how he will talk himself out of this one.

Every phone around us starts buzzing and in a few seconds an Elder walks up to us, he doesn't look too pleased with what he saw.

"Carlyle, where is the notice vol.ne received from Blood Crescent Pack? And don't tell me you didn't get it, because this proves that you did." He says as he holds up his phone.

Elder Carlyle is looking at the footage of him receiving the notice and anyone can hear the messenger say that it is the notice from Blood Crescent Pack on the entire leadership being marked and mated.

Chapter 478

Kay's p.o.v.

Knowing that our Alphas want Elder Carlyle taken care off tonight, I keep a close eye on our Mate. I want to see if I can find out how she does it and if I can learn a few tricks from her.

I have seen her in action, but never witnessed a stealth operation with a lot of people around and I really want to see how she is going to pull this off.

We don't bother getting changed, we will do that after dinner for the official Ball. I have my hand on Maleah's lower back and I see that one of the Elders is still standing behind his seat, looks like everyone will be informed about our status is a minute.

"Good evening, normally we would inform you by email of certain changes within a Pack's leadership. Tonight we will deliver this message vocally, because one of our Elders forgot to inform all of us. The entire leadership of Blood Crescent Pack has found their Mate and they are marked and mated, meaning that they are of the market, so to speak." He says, before he sits down again.

The Queen is looking uncomfortable, the moment her eyes meet Maleah's and I wonder how this evening will progress.

Alpha Kenyon has pulled a few strings and we are seated at the same table. I want to get to know Maleah's Grandfather and this is a perfect opportunity, one I intend to use to the fullest extent of the word.

I can feel Maleah becoming a bit restless and I think it is safe to say it has to do with the Wolves at the table next to us. They have been whispering loudly about us, none of them can understand why there are only two females with us.

Apparently none of them have figured out that a triplet usually shares a Mate and it seems that we need to make sure our Pups get a better education than the Wolves and Lycans around us. "Maleah, do you know what Olmepenem is?" I ask to distracted her.

"It is a liquid poison. You take the juice of some Xeisir berries, you mix it with some cut Tudeforn and some crushed Viscid Portia. If I remember correctly, it has to be boiled for a period of time and then it has to cool down in temperature. It can be mixed with any kind of liquid or substance, but Viscid Portia has a very strange smell.

If you know what it smells like, you can smell it, even if it is mixed with whatever someone would want to use to poison you with." She explains, in between taken bites of her steak.

"Do you know many poisons?" Alpha Kenyon asks and I keep quiet, because I want to know how Maleah is going to answer it.

"Not really, I did try to get a better understanding of some poisons. I just didn't have the patience to read any books on poisons, they don't have pictures and most of the text is boring. I don't need to know the best circumstances to grow Tudeforn or when it is the best time to plant a Xeisir bush." She answers.

We all listen to her, as she continues with her complaints on reading books. "Give me a paper and some pencils and you won't get bothered by me the entire day." She says and I am once again reminded of the career the outside world knows.

"How is business going, Dear?" Grandfather asks her and I see her smile at him.

"Very good. I have more money than I can spend in a lifetime, I get to travel around and I get to meet a lot of interesting people. There is only one downside to traveling, Fortune can't shift where or whenever we want." She says with a little growl at the end.

I pull her closer to my chest and I softly press my lips to one of her marks. I listen to the other conversations at our table, while I keep placing soft kisses in her neck and give a response from time to time to any question I get asked.

Dinner passes quickly and after dessert we all head up the stairs to our suites, changing in to our outfits for the Spring Ball. Maleah sends us with our Alphas and locks the connecting door between us, they don't want us to see them until they are done.

Mack pulls down the zipper of one of the clothing bags and the next second he is lying on the floor, laughing his ass off. Levi is able to look inside the clothing bag and he joins Mack on the floor, both of them have tears rolling down their faces from laughter.

Now I am really curious what is going on and take a few steps to the clothing bag to see what has them rolling down the aisles. Oh my Goddess, she didn't. I pull the bag open a little more to see that she did and I know I won't be able to keep a straight face all night.

"Uhm, do you remember what Mack said about the dress for your Mother?" I ask, while I look at each of my Alphas. All three of them are thinking real hard about the answer and Dillon has a small smile on his face, he isn't bothered by what he figured out.

"Are you fucking kidding me?"

Dominic growls as he walks over to the clothing bag and he growls even harder the moment he reveals the suit that is inside. A dark anthracite suit with a hot pink cumber band and a bowtie and pocket square in the same hot pink color.

Dominic already had trouble with the prospect of having light pink accents in his outfit, but I think that the hot pink is going to be a big No No.

We can take things a little slower than our Mates, but there are six of us that need to take a shower and only two of them. We discuss the Luna Ceremony, while we all get changed into the outfits that Stan designed for us and I smile at the emerald green color in out outfits.

Five of us are fully dressed, but Dominic refuses to wear the hot pink items of his outfit. It doesn't matter what we tell him, he flat out refuses to put them on and I am hoping that this will not backfire on him in any way.

A soft knock is heard on the connecting door and through the mind-link I tell them that we are ready.

I did leave out the part of Dominic, Delaney can deal with that the moment she walks into the room and I am going to sit back and enjoy the show.

Chapter 479

Maleah's p.o.V.

While Delaney and I are getting ready for the Ball, we discuss her Mates reactions to the color of her dress and we know that Dillon doesn't care about it one iota.

Dax might be a bit shocked, he isn't a huge fan of bright colors. In the end he will just shrug his shoulders and go with the flow.

Dominic is quite a different story, he hates the color pink and that goes for every shade it comes in. Probably one of the reasons why I chose hot pink as the color for Delaney's dress, I truly believe he will refuse to use the cumber band, bowtie and pocket square.

"No, Maleh. Dominic will be fully dressed when we walk into that suite, he might act as if he doesn't want to wear that color, but he will do it. He promised me he would wear any color to match my outfit." Delaney says.

I look at her in the reflection of the mirror and just shake my head, "I am going to bet you that not only will he not be fully dressed, he will also refuse to put it on when you as him." I say and for a moment we just stare at one another.

“Fine, I'll take that bet. What are we going to put in as a wager?" Delaney asks.

"If I am right, you will hang the drawing of the Triplets where everyone can see it. If you are right, the drawing of my Mates will go up for everyone to see." I say with a smile on my face.

I see her face pale and I think I have at least gotten half of our bet right. "Dominic isn't happy and if I can trust these feelings, than Dillon is having a lot of fun at the expense of his Brother." Delaney says.

We both continue with getting ready for the Ball and every now and then I see Delaney shaking her head. She doesn't look happy by the time we are done and I link Mack to ask if we can come in, after that I knock on the door to warn the others.

I feel Delaney stiffen as she steps into their suite and the moment I see Dominic, I know shit is going to hit the fan.

"Why aren't you ready, Babe?" Delaney asks as she walks towards Dominic.

"I am not going to wear anything that is pink and there is nothing you can say or do to make me change my mind." He growls and I notice a change in Delaney's demeanor.

"Fine. I hope you will enjoy your stay here and maybe you can find someone that will put up with your nonsense. Maleah, can you get someone to bring me to Blood Crescent Pack, seems I need to pack." Delaney says, just before she passes me and goes back into my suite.

"I am not going anywhere, I have a job to do tonight and I will see it through until the end." I say as I look at my Mates and I see relief wash over their faces.

Dax and Dillon are looking at Dominic, but the fucking Idiot just sits there. If he thinks his Mate is kidding, he doesn't know her as well as I had hoped and I see a surprised look on his face when Delaney walks back into their suite.

She is wearing the outfit she wore this afternoon and without saying a word she starts packing a bag. She makes sure she only grabs her own clothing and she doesn't say a word during it all.

"Where are you going, Sweetheart?" Dominic asks and I take a step back when I see the anger in her eyes, this isn't good.

"I am going home. My Father might be an Asshole, but at least he isn't dishonest.

If he tells me that he will wear any color to match my outfit, he will honor that promise." Delaney says, just before she shoves him out of her way to walk into the bathroom.

Moments later she walks out with her toiletries and places them inside her bag, before she zips it up.

"Sweetheart, you know that I hate the color pink. I know what I promised, but you can't honestly..." I don't let Dominic finish, I step in front of him and in a few seconds, he is out cold.

et back

"Delaney, get into that dress. You have two other Mates and you can't jus abandon them because of what Dominic did." I say, as I push her back towards my suite. "You can always chose to ignore Dominic, have him move to the other side of the Alpha floor or even out of the Pack-house."

"How long will he be out?" Dax asks and I inform him that he will be out long enough.

No one wants to address the wants to elephant in the room, because they know that am right. If Delaney isn't willing to give Dominic a chance, she can chose to ignore that part of her Mate bond and in the worst case, she can even reject him. Lam just hoping it won't come to that and this is the first step in assuring the worst won't happen.

Walking into the Ballroom Grandfather comes our way, Alpha Kenyon right by his side and I see him looking for Dominic.

"He fell asleep after dinner and no matter what we tried we couldn't wake him, even offered to empty a glass of water on him. But someone had to point out that Alpha Dominic can still kick my ass, so..." Mack let's the sentence trail off, but I didn't miss the fact that he was pointing at me when he mentioned the word someone.

Everyone around us is chuckling and giggling at Mack's words and I hope it will be enough to keep others from asking questions.

"You better behave the rest of the evening or you can join Dominic on the couch."

I say teasingly through our mind-link and his grip on my arm loosens for a second, which is enough for Levi to push him to the side.

"Let's mingle and see what this evening brings for some of the guests." Levi says. We are all having fun and Delaney isn't letting Dominic's behavior ruin her evening. She dances with Dillon and Dax, she even dances with my Mates and when Alpha Kenyon asks Dax if he can dance with his Luna, Dax says, "I think you should ask her that yourself."

"When will the truth be revealed?" Dax asks, while he keeps an eye on his Mate.

I didn't want to ruin everyone's night, but there is the only time that everyone will be in the Ballroom and facing the big screen behind the Queen. Most of the guests will leave in the morning, so during the Queen's speech is the best time. "The moment the Queen's speech starts." I answer.

Chapter 480

Mack's p.o.v.

I see more and more Wolves and Lycans walk into the Ballroom, a decent indication that the Queen will start her speech soon.

The main rumor of tonight is that the Queen will announce that she will step down soon and everyone wants to be there when she announces that, hoping that the future Queen will be here tonight.

Kay, Levi and I have been keeping an eye on our Mate, we are really curious about how she is going to get that poison into Elder Carlyle. I mean, Levi was with her when she poisoned Tamish's food, but he couldn't tell us how she did it and that means keeping a close eye on her.

Commander thinks it will be impossible for us to figure it out, she is a Royal Assassin after all. Not that it will stop me from trying to figure it out and it won't stop Kay or Levi either.

After Elder Carlyle has introduced the Queen, she walks onto the stage and places a few papers on the stand in front of her.

"Good evening, I am glad all of you could..." She doesn't get any further, because the video of Elder Carlyle starts and mumbles are heard all around us.

Everyone is looking at the screen and little by little the true nature of Elder Carlyle is shown, but I doubt anyone could have predicted the last part of the video. Even his Daughter seems disgusted by his behavior, because there seems to be a difference between deceiving an entire Kingdom and rape.

Don't get me wrong, anyone that is capable of raping another is despicable and deserves a death sentence. But she deceived an entire Kingdom, acting as if she had the right to sit on that Throne and demand whatever she wanted from others. She knew about the deceit and did nothing to stop it.

The Elders have ordered Warriors to surround the Queen and Elder Carlyle, just to make sure that no one kills them.

Both of them are looking for a way out, but there isn't and I see pure panic in both their eyes. Then that panic is replaced by something I have never seen and a moment later both of them crash to the floor.

Neither one of them responds to the Elders that try to wake them. A Doctor rushes in with a nurse right behind him and he starts shouting orders at her, but it doesn't take long before he gets up to step away from them.

"There is nothing I can do for them at the moment, they have been poisoned and I need to find out which poison was used. Get them to the infirmary, I will inform you the second I have found something." The Doctor says to the Elder closest to him, but everyone in the room has heard him.

I silently look at Kay and Levi, but both shake their heads. Looks like they didn't see our Mate administer the poison to the Queen and Elder Carlyle and I am really trying to find out if I remember seeing Maleah near either one of them, but I come up blank.

We all get ordered to return to our suites and most of us have no problem with that, but there are a few that don't want to leave the Ballroom. They still want to party or whatever might be the reason the object, but the Elders aren't having any of it and eventually Warriors are ordered to escort the reluctant guests back to their suites.

Dominic is still out cold when we return and Delaney tells us to move him to the couch. I am not going to go against my Luna and the five of us lift him of the bed and onto the couch.

We all change into something more comfortable and gather in our suite to avoid looking at Dominic. Maleah opens the doors to the balcony and we follow her outside to the sitting area, I let my eyes glide along the horizon with a smile on my face.

It might be after midnight, but with our eyesight that isn't a problem and I sit down next to Kay. Maleah is leaning back against Levi's side and she places her feet on my lap.

"We will discuss this at home, this isn't the right place. I would like to know what the Elders are going to do with Elder Carlyle, there were to many witnesses to sweep this under the rug." Maleah says and just as she leans forward to get her drink, a blood curdling scream is heard.

We all turn our heads to the suite, but we don't see Dominic running out of their suite and I let my hand run up and down her calf. I keep an eye on my watch and after about ten minutes another blood curdling scream is heard, the next scream follows almost fifteen minutes later.

More and more doors open to the balconies around us and it is probably the screams of Elder Carlyle that is keeping everyone awake. Except for Dominic of course, he gets to thank Maleah for not having to hear those screams every ten to fifteen minutes.

"Is there anything they can do against his screams?" I ask Maleah through the mind-link and we all look at her for an answer, when we hear another scream.

"No, not unless one of the Elders had some extensive training in poisons. The recipes I have were collected over a course of four centuries and without them I wouldn't have been able to do any of this." Is her answer.

Normally we would be leaving in the morning, but the Palace is in lock-down and we will have to stay here until the investigation here is done.

"Maybe one of should call home and tell our Fathers what is going on." Kay says and I want to grab my phone, but Maleah stops me.

"Both our Fathers knew what was going to happen and they will look after the Pack with Zane and Xander. Harvey and Pauline will help them out in anyway they can and none of the assignments will get delayed." Maleah says through the mind-link.

"I already send Dad a message when we were sent back to our suite." Maleah says out loud, just in case anyone is eaves dropping on our conversation and it is followed with another blood curdling scream.

"CAN SOMEONE SHUT HIM UP?" A voice from somewhere to our left yells into the night and all Maleah does is shake her head.

We discuss Delaney's Luna Ceremony to pass the time, but we keep away from the subject named Dominic. None of us is willing to piss off our Luna and she seems fine with our attempts to keep the conversation on the venue and colors or theme.

After another scream from Elder Carlyle, Dominic comes running onto their balcony and jumps to our balcony when he sees Delaney. She just raises her hand, the moment he tries to reach out to her.

Chapter 481

Maleah's p.o.V.

While everyone is changing into something more comfortable, I link Delaney. "What are you going to do about Dominic?" I ask her and for a moment it is quiet.

I have just started brushing my hair, when I hear her responds. "I am going to make them sweat a little. Dominic has to realize that if he makes me a promise, he better keep it and in the process it will be a warning for my other two Mates." She growls softly in my head.

Fortune likes the fact that she wants to make her Mates pay just a little and I can't wait to see what happens when Dominic finally wakes up.

After the third or fourth scream, others start to open their doors to their balcony and we keep the conversation on a somewhat safe subject.

A Luna Ceremony is as big or small as the future Luna wants it to be and if I know Delaney just a little, she will prefer a small Ceremony. There are a few conditions to a Luna Ceremony and one of them is that at least two Elders have to be present, not my favorite kind of people.

"Any idea on your color scheme, Luna?" Levi asks and a devilish smile appears on her face.

"How about black with hot pink?" She asks with a grin on her face and I hear Dillon and Dax chuckle. Levi looks at Delaney with a dumbfounded look, before he realizes that she was pulling his chains.

"I know that most Lunas will take this Ceremony as an opportunity to spend a lot of money. On a new dress, jewelry and everything else that comes with it, but I don't want that. Is there a way for us to find out what our Pack-members want?" She asks and I think we are all at a loss.

"What do you mean, Sweetheart?" Dax asks.

"Instead of spending a ton of money on things we might never use again, I want our Pack-members to remember my Ceremony every time they look at whatever it is we get them. For example, one of the Pups wants a firetruck and every time he plays with it, he will remember when he got it." She answer, as she looks at him.

"Maybe, we can enlist our Fathers for that task. We will have them ask Pack- members if there is something they want and they can relay it to your Mothers." I say as I look at Kay and Levi.

We talk about the best way to get that information and how long it will take, because we also need to prepare for the Luna Ceremony.

It is almost four in the morning, when another scream from Elder Carlyle finally wakes Dominic and I see pure panic in his eyes, the moment she stops him.

"You can sit over there, Dominic." She says, as she points at a chair next to the couch that I am sitting on with my Mates. "You made me a promise and you broke that promise. How am I to trust that you will keep your word next time? How can I believe you will never go back on your word again?"

We have heard quiet a few stories from Delaney about her Father, he is an Asshole and he did a lot of despicable things. However, he never went back on his word and that was the only good thing about her Father.

"I know you hate the color pink in any shade, but you also know that I am a girly girl. You never said anything about any of my outfits and you could have known Maleah would use pink for my dress So, why did you promise to wear any color, if you already knew that you would go back on your word if it involved a shade of pink?" Delaney asks.

Dillon and Dax are getting uncomfortable, the more Delaney says and I really hope the two of them will keep their mouths shut.

"What will you do when your Daughter asks you to wear a pink bowtie on her sweet sixteen? Or when she wants you to wear pink accents for her Alpha or Luna Ceremony?" She keeps asking very valid questions and his breathing tells me that Dominic has trouble controlling his Lycan.

A battle he apparently lost, "My Human is an idiot. There is no real reason why he hates the color, it just reminds him of every power hungry femal@that ever tried to get into his bed guess you can say that pink represents a hunger for power to him, but he knows that you are nothing like those females." His Lycan says.

"Fuck." I hear Kay mumble and I turn in his lap to look at him. "I never put those two things together, but it is true. Every female that ever came on to our Alphas were always wearing pink, no wonder he doesn't like the color."

I can tell that each male is going through their memories and one after the other confirms what Dominic's Lycan said. Not that it makes any sense to me, Dax and Dillon don't seem to be too affected by it.

"I am not really fond of the color, but I would never say that I hate the color." Dillon says and Dominic just gives him a glare.

"I never said I hate the color, but..." He stops himself from speaking. "Sweetheart,

I had every intention of keeping my promise. But when I saw the hot pink, I just couldn't put it on. My Lycan is right, pink stands for a hunger for power to me and hot pink is unfortunately the worst shade of pink to me.

We told you that we have had females do just about anything to get into our beds, but the worst one would have to be Carla and Dax and DillonCan confirm this. Her favorite coloris hot pink, she couldn't keep us apart and she really made a mess of things a few years back." Dominic says and I hear every male on our balcony groan.

Mack tells us what he remembers about Carla and every now and then Kay or Levi adds some information. The more I hear the more I hate Carla and the look on Delaney's face doesn't predict much good.

"Well, you better get over it or you might have a problem in the near future." Delaney says. "My Luna Ceremony will be black with hot pink and no one is going to get me to change my mind." She crosses her arms in front of her chest.

Chapter 482

Levi's p.o.v.

We are all looking at Dominic, curious to find out what his reaction is going to be. Largo is quietly praying to the Goddess for a full blown argument, but I am hoping that Dominic will use that damn brain of his.

"Sweetheart, I am not going to tell you that I am happy with your color scheme. I will never lie to you and telling you that I am happy with that color scheme would be a lie. However, I understand that there are certain things we might not agree about and I believe we are all entitled to our own opinion.

That being said, I will accept any color scheme you want. It is your Luna Ceremony and if those are the colors you want to go with, I will accept that." Dominic says and Maleah rolls her eyes at him.

Dax and Dillon are smiling at their Brother and it finally hits me, he gave her a diplomatic answer.

"Nice way of telling me that you will sulk in silence." Delaney says and I don't know who is looking more dumbfounded at her. "I do agree with you though that we will not always see eye to eye and I am glad we got this argument out of the way this early in our relationship."

Delaney is explaining her plans for her Luna Ceremony, while I am getting more and more annoyed with the screams of Elder Carlyle. "What the hell did you give him?" I ask Maleah through our mind-link and I know Kay and Mack also want to know which potion she used.

"I used Enigurey, it runs through your bloodstream and every once in a while it will encounter one of your organs. That is what is causing Elder Carlyle to scream, it apparently hurts like hell." She answers and I know I will read through her journals, once we are back home.

By seven in the morning we all have had enough and after we have packed all our stuff we head down for some breakfast.

"Alpha Dominic, the Law-enforcers want to speak to each of you." Elder Jorge says the moment he sees us walking into the dining room.

"After breakfast." Dominic says and walks past Elder Jorge without another word.

We don't waste much time with breakfast, we want to get out of here as fast as we can. Our first hurdle will be the Law-enforcers, than we have to wait for the Elders to give us the green light and then we will head home.

Elder Jorge guides us to the meeting room the Law-enforcers use and he informs us that they want to talk to us one by one, as we walk down the hall.

"I think it will be a waste of everyone's time to interview us separately. We have spent the entire night together, except for Alpha Dominic because he was fast asleep." Maleah says to the Law-enforcer in front of her. "Unless you want to listen to the same story and answers seven times."

Dominic waits outside with Elder Jorge and the rest of us take a seat in the meeting room. We answer every question they ask and when they ask us why Dominic wasn't with us, Delaney answers them.

"My Mate was out cold by the time we were ready to head downstairs matter what we tried, he wouldn't wake up. We left him in our suite on the bed and he didn't wake up until about four this morning." She doesn't break eye contact with the Law-enforcer and he just nods his head.

Dominic is called into the meeting room and we wait until he walks out with a smile on his face. He turns to Elder Jorge, but he just shakes his head and I know we will have to wait a little longer before we can head home.

"Elder Jorge, can we use one of the other meeting rooms? There are a few things we need to get moving for Delaney's Luna Ceremony." Maleah says and he points to the same room we used the other day.

The moment the door closes behind us, I see Maleah pulling out her phone and she places it on speaker after dialing a number. It takes only two rings, before it gets answered. "What is going on, Little One?" I hear Diego ask.

It doesn't take long before Maleah has explained things and we find out that the Elders warned every Pack and city that no one is allowed to leave the Palace, until further notice.

"Dad, we need you to do something for us." Maleah says, before she tells him what Delaney wants to do with her Luna Ceremony. My Mom is asking questions in the background and I know this Ceremony will be completely different from other Luna Ceremonies.

After we finish our phone call with home, we head back to the main living room, and it is a complete chaos in there. Not because they have to stay at the Palace longer than expected, but the news that is coming in through social media and phone calls from home or towns and cities.

"How did the Angel of Death manage to do this?" A voice to my left asks and we all sit down to get our phones out.

Each of us looks at a different source of news and there are multiple articles on the Angel of Death and his reign of terror. The article I am reading is asking a valid question, how did the Angel of Death pull this off?

The comments to the article are mostly ridiculous, but some have a pretty good answer to that question. Most believe that the Angel of Death has been moving from one Pack to the next, hitting towns and cities in between. One has even made a map of which route the Angel of Death could have taken, but that map will be in need of some updates real soon.

"How the hell am I supposed to travel that fast?" Maleah asks through the mind- link and Largo snickers when Dax suggests a broom.

Delaney is reading an article out loud and the entire living room goes quite as we all listen to her. This article is from a reporter that believes that the Angel of Death is a myth, that the Elders made up this character to pin any murder on that they can't solve.

"Could he be right? Did the Elders fabricate a person to put the blame on?" Delaney asks after she has finished reading the article and in seconds there are full blown discussions on the topic.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 483[ 1,166 words ]

Chapter 483

Maleah's p.o.V.

It takes most of the day for the Law-enforcers to interview everyone and to search every room in the Palace, but in the end they come up with nothing.

Instead of anyone staying behind in the hope of finding a chosen Mate, everyone leaves the Palace the moment they are free to leave and we are actually the first ones to leave. Our drive home is done in silence, but I know the questions will come once we are home.

Dad is waiting for us on the front porch and after I hug him, he leads me to the stairs. "We better have this talk up on the Alpha floor." He says and I don't ask any questions as I follow him up the stairs.

The moment the door closes behind us on the Alpha floor, Dad turns towards me. "What did you give them?" He asks and I walk over to the window, just staring out over our territory without actually seeing something.

"I gave him Enigurey. It is a potion that consists of Abilbicin with crushed Prugther berries, cut Acicory and cut Grelia. It travels through a person's blood and every time it reaches an organ they go through excruciating pain, it takes up to twenty four hours to dissolve." I say.

It is completely quiet behind me, no one says a word and I know I haven't told them everything yet. "Is that all the potion does?" Dad asks and I turn back towards him.

"No, once the poison has been dissolved by the blood it will take about two hours before the next stage starts. It will start to attack the body from the inside out, but no one will see that until it is too late. The victim will not be able to move or speak and his or her other half can't help them heal. Until the victim dies, he or she will be in pain." I say.

"And our so-called Queen?" Dominic asks.

"She is fighting an internal battle with her own demons. I used Asparaprox on her, a potion that consists of Silverleaf Leptonia, Doquli and Igrimille. It gets boiled in Kichoresco, until the ingredients have dissolve in the liquid." I answer him and I know that they all are aware of the effects of Silverleaf Leptonia.

I already know how I want to take down all the other major culprits in this case and it will take some time to get the potions ready I want to use on these individuals. I need a good night's rest before I can start making the potions and I think my Mates want to give me a hand in carry out the assignment.

"Lets get some dinner and turn in for the night. Tomorrow morning I would like to hear what you have planned for the rest of them." Dax says and he lifts Delaney from Dominic's lap.

Levi lifts me bridal style, before he leaves the Alpha floor to head home. I just want to enjoy the proximity of my Mate, but apparently I am more tired than I had thought. I place my head on his shoulder and close my eyes, slowly drifting off to sleep in his arms.

When I wake in the early morning hours, I slowly detangle myself from the arms and legs that hold me captive and I walk down the stairs to the kitchen to make some coffee. While the coffee is, running I walk up to the attic to get the journal with potions and I grab a pen and notepad as well.

I place my coffee on the small table next to an armchair and after getting comfortable I open the journal, I read through every recipe meticulously. I need potions that will inflict a lot of pain and do a lot of damage to the person involved.

Every time I find a potion that will accomplish that goal, I write down all the ingredients I need and what have to do with them. Some potions can be made within a short ons of time, while others will take a lot longer because of the process an ingredient has to go through.

"In need of some more coffee?" I hear Mack whisper and I just nod my head, as I write down the name of the next potion. I lift my eyes to see Kay and Levi lying on the bed, fast asleep and in each other's arms.

"I already took a picture and send it to Dax." I hear Mack whisper, who has returned with another cup of coffee for me.

"That is mean, Mack. He will tease them with it every change he gets." I whisper back with a huge smile on my face.

For the next half hour I keep writing on my notepad and Mack just sits there, looking at me as he enjoys his coffee.

I go over the list of ingredients, as I turn back the pages to the recipe. I need to be sure I have everything I am going to need and I would hate to miss an ingredient or to have to take another potion instead, it is just the way I work.

Suddenly screams from the bed pull my attention away from the journal and I see Kay and Levi trying to away from one another, but somehow they managed to themselves tangled in the sheet. The more they try to get away from another, the tighter the sheet wraps around them and Mack is trying to capture it all on video.

I am not sure what that video will show us, but I think we will be seeing more of the ceiling ang the floor, than of my Mates trying to detangle themselves. Mack can't hold the phone steady, he is too busy laughing his ass off and Fortune and I aren't doing much better.

Kay is the first one to give up the fight, but Levi seems determined to get as far away from Kay as he can and Mack falls of the couch the moment Levi manages to frene himself. He put so much strength behind his last attempt to get free, that he falls out of bed and slams into the wall.

I look at Kay to see his lips twitching and the second we both turn towards Levi, he bursts out in laughter.

It is a good thing Levi is a Lycan, otherwise we would still be seeing the bruise on his forehead and that would have caused us to crack up every time we would look at him.

Mack was looking at his phone with disappointment in his eyes, there was hardly any evidence of their struggle as I suspected and Levi smiles when he sees what Mack did capture in the video.

"I wouldn't change careers if I were you, you would make a lousy cameraman." Levi says and Mack tries to grab him, the moment he walks out of the room.

"Okay, I have everything I need on paper. Let's see what I have in the attic and what we need to get for these potions." I say as I follow Levi out of our bedroom.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 484[ 1,094 words ]

Chapter 484

Mack's p.o.v.

It took us a few days to get all the ingredients that Maleah needed for her potions and when Dominic asked her how she would proceed, she stunned us all.

"I will go after each Alpha and Elder involved as soon as the potions are done, I will take one person with me to get justice for their victims. Mack will be the first one to accompany me and he will help me with the potion we are going to use." Maleah had said.

At first I thought she had been kidding, but it turned out that our Mate was dead serious and here I am with our Mate in the attic.

"Mack, I need you to cut the Grelia. I will crush the Aaspokran and once we are done we can add it to the Jinjichunge, to boil it for ten minutes." I watch as she grabs a bottle of the Jinjichunge and measures the amount we need.

Looking at the Grelia in front of me, it looks like a rather innocent plant and yet I know it can be used for some evil shit. Maleah only uses dried leaves of the Aaspokran and we both start to do our job, me cutting and Maleah crushing the ingredients.

She pours the Jinjichunge into a small pan, than she adds the Grelia and Aaspokran and as she stirs the mixture, she places it on the stove.

After ten minutes she takes the pan of the stove and pours the contents through a sieve, making sure there is only a liquid left. "Let's get something to eat, this needs to cool down and then we need to put it in a small bottle." Maleah says.

It is just me and Maleah at the house, the others are still trying to gather as much information as possible on a few of our other targets. Our target was the easiest, he didn't hide his perverted ways too well and Dad had said it looked as if the Alpha wanted to get caught.

The team that is keeping an eye on him, reported back to Maleah this morning and we will carry out his death sentence tomorrow night. His Mate will be away on a family visit and the Gamma is accompanying her, the Beta will be out on a dinner date with his Mate and they won't return until the next morning.

Dillon wasn't too happy with the news that we would have to go into another Alpha's territory, but Maleah had told him that no one would know that we had been there. It is the reason for her taking only one of us with her, it will make it easier for her and Fortune to hide our presence.

The rest of the day is spend with going over the reports that are slowly coming in on our other targets and we make plans on how to take each of them down.

Maleah and I leave our territory after dinner and make the hour and a half journey to our target's Pack, we meet up with the team that has been keeping an eye on him. "Get those Pups out of here, we will take care of Alpha Asshat." Maleah says.

We slowly make our way to the Pack-house and I am surprised at the lack of security around here. Their border patrols are pretty well organized, but there is hardly anyone patrolling around the Pack-house.

"Let's go up to the Alpha floor, we will wait in a guestroom until he turns in for the night." Maleah says and I follow her up the Omega stairwell and she opens the third on her left. "He is alone but we wait until he goes to bed. At least than we can be sure there will be no witnesses."

I slowly open the door to the master bedroom and Asshat's snoring is almost deafening, at least now we know for real that the room is soundproof.

Maleah hands me the syringe with Xurmella and I wait until she nods her head to stab the syringe into his leg, emptying it before he opens is eyes.

"I suggest you take a step back, this is going to be messy." Maleah says and I do it without hesitation. He is able to slowly turn himself on his back, but I can tell it is a heavy task for him and I wonder what lies ahead of him.

I listen as Maleah tells him who she is and why we are paying him a visit, "I am your Judge, Jury and Executioner." She says and I like the sound of it.

He tries to speak, but he quickly realizes that there is no sound coming from his mouth and it is clear to see that he is trying to reach his Wolf. Sweat start to pour from every pore in his body and I raise a brow as I look at Maleah.

"His body temperature is rising, but his Wolf can't help him to get rid of it." She answers.

Asshat is only in his boxers and I see that the skin on his legs is starting to come off, I take another step back as I remember her words.

"His skin will slowly dissolve as time passes and then the poison will attack his organs, liquifying them. For some reason the poison will never reach his heart and it will take quite a few hours for is body to give up the fight to live.” Maleah says and I thank the Goddess again for having her on my side.

By the time that Maleah and I walk out of his bedroom, most of his skin has dissolved. She wasn't kidding when she said it would be messy and the only indication I have that he is in excruciating pain, is the look in his eyes and on his face.

It doesn't take long to get out of the territory, but Maleah's team has some bad news for us. They had finally found the two Pups he was supposed to have, but both of them had been killed hours before they had found them.

"Let's go home, I need some peace and quiet." Maleah says through the mind-link and none of us will argue with her on this. Commander has been front and center the entire night and the further away we get, the more he is able to relax. Soon he is fast asleep in the back of my head and I can't wait to crawl into my own bed.

One down, a few more to go and then Harvey will make sure that the entire world finds out why there have been so many deaths.

Chapter 485

Kay's p.o.v.

I sit in the dark, Maleah right next to me and we are waiting for our target. Elder Morton.

I think back to this morning when I helped Maleah to make some Formobital, it is made of plants called Nassiscus and Ocospilbe. The Nassiscus is used completely, it gets dried and then you have to crush it. From the Ocospilbe you only use the leaves, that also gets dried and then crushed.

It is boiled in a small amount of Abelbicin, until the liquid is completely soaked up by the other ingredients. It is added to some Huccafort and then put through a sieve to get a clear liquid, which she put in a small bottle.

Maleah seems to be in a trance as she stares straight ahead and I wonder how often she has been sitting like this, waiting for her target to arrive.

I can still sense Titan, but it feels like he is far away and it finally makes sense to me why no one ever felt that Maleah had a Wolf or a Lycan. If I can feel that Titan is far away, than I doubt anyone else can sense him. I will have to ask him how that felt, once we are home.

“No one is coming for you, no one knows of the dealings we had with Tamish and no one will ever find out. That Idiot got himself killed for cheating on his Mate or maybe his Beta finally got fed up with his idiocy." I hear Elder Morton say, but I don't hear a response.

"Just be careful. I will contact you when I have found someone else to get us a few trained Pups." Elder Morton says and I am assuming that he is on the phone with someone.

"Fucking Moron. Why did he have to call me on my private number? His information in unknown to anyone and yet he fears the Angel of Death will pay him a visit." He growls as he walks into his bedroom.

He tosses the phone on his bed and walks straight into the bathroom. "Let's make sure we get that number, maybe we can find out who he was talking to." Maleah says through our mind-link and I slightly nod my head.

Elder Morton doesn't bother with turning a light on in his room and without any hesitation he gets into his bed. I let my eyes drift to the alarm clock and I watch as time slowly passes, it takes two hours before Maleah gets up.

I grab the syringe we prepared before Elder Morton came home and I jab it into his leg to empty the contents within a second. His eyes fly open and he looks from me to Maleah.

"Hello, Elder Morton. Still a bit slow in the head, I hear." Maleah says and the look in his eyes shows me that he is confused about her words, well that makes two of us.

"Elder Morton is just a bit dumb." Maleah says with her thumb and index finger apart by a fraction of a millimeter. The look in his eyes reflect my own feelings and I decide to help the man a bit.

"I think Elder Morton would like to know the same thing I do, so I will ask you the question. Why is Elder Morton a bit dumb?" Holding up my fingers the same way Maleah did.

"Oh, thank you for asking, my Love." Maleah says and I know I have a megawatt smile on my face.

"Years ago the Elders decided they wanted to know the identity of the Angel of Death and Elder Morton was leading that investigation. He gathered a group of Scouts and he divided them into smaller groups to investigate, hoping they would be able to find out who the Angel of Death is.

Problem was that he handed each team different files to investigate. A group to look into the deaths of Alphas, a group for Betas, a group for Gammas and two groups for other ranking Wolves and Lycans. What no one had counted on was the rivalry between those groups, each wanting the glory and acknowledgement for themselves.

They never compared notes or discussed their findings with one another, making it impossible to find out my identity." Maleah says as she looks at Elder Morton.

His hands are moving to the side of his body and he slowly tries to get out of bed, but without his eyesight that proves to be a challenge. Like Addejora, Formobital gives him blood blisters and some of them are already open.

The more he tries to move, the more blisters open and I take a step back when he is able to place himself on the edge of the bed. He slowly gets to his feet, but after one step he crashes to the floor and we watch as the pool of blood under his body becomes bigger.

"Could they have found out your identity?" I ask her, as I slide an arm around her waist.

"Maybe, if they had compared notes on each investigation. I think I was on most of the witness lists and if I wasn't on those, I probably would be on the guestlist of the hotels." She answers and I know that she dodged a bullet.

"Not that anyone will be able to find all those records again, someone close to me made sure that a lot of random pages disappeared." She continues and I know I have to thank Harvey for having her back all these years.

“Okay, let's go home. I think Elder Morton can do his dying without our company." I say and we both leave his home the same way we entered it.

Once we reach our SUV I feel Titan again, "Welcome home, Buddy. That felt really strange." I say to him.

"I could hear and see everything, but it was as if it was miles away from me." Titan answers and I can hear the relief in his voice, he is glad to be home too.

Maleah is typing away on her phone and I can read that she is sending a message to Harvey, "If anyone can find out who that number belongs to, it will be Harvey." Maleah says as she presses send.

We only have one more Elder and three Alphas to deal with, than we will deal with the Alphas that handed over Pups from their Pack and after that we will deal with the Moron that Elder Morton had spoken to earlier.

I can't wait to find out who he is and I will ask Maleah to find the perfect potion for this Moron.

Chapter 486

Levi's p.o.v.

The first thing I ask Maleah when we start making this potion, is if it would be as bloody as the other two potions.

Mack and Kay had been oh so friendly to describe in detail what had happened to their targets and if this potion is anything like theirs I might pass on the assignment.

"No, my Love. We will be preparing a potion that won't make a bloodbath, it won't be any less painful though. I think it might be even more painful and I hope it will take a long time before he figures it out." Maleah answers me.

She hands me the journal, opened on the page that describes what the potion will cause and how to prepare it.

Phaxakyde: a potion that will render it's victim speechless and blind. The victim will feel as if every bone in his or her body breaks, one by one. Their Wolf or Lycan will try to heal the broken bone and cause his Human even more pain. Eventually the stress and pain will goes the victim to die, this will take several hours. No known antidote.

Phaxakyde: Take Prugther berries and crush them in a bowl. Add some dried, crushed Acicory and mix this with the Prugther berries. Add the Xicalax, stir until the berries and herbs are mixed thoroughly. Pour it in a small pan and boil slowly for thirty minutes. Empty the contents of the pan in a sieve, collect the liquid in a bottle.

"Okay, let's get started." I say as I place the journal on a small counter. We work next to one another without saying a word, the sparks igniting every time we accidentally brush arms.

I pour the liquid in a small bottle, while Maleah grabs the syringe we need to administer the Phaxakyde into our target's body.

We leave shortly after dinner, our trip will take a few hours and most likely we will arrive there around midnight. Our target is without a Mate and he will not be in his own territory tonight, making this a little easier for us.

I look at the building in front of us, it is an apartment complex and there is a doorman out front. Inside is a lobby and there are three guards there, one of them keeps track of every visitor.

Maleah gets out of the SUV and walks to an alley on the left side of the building, the fire-escape is down when we get there. We slowly climb up to the fifth floor and enter the hallway through the window.

I follow Maleah to the end of the hallway and to my surprise the last door on our left is ajar. Maleah steps inside without hesitation and I follow her into the apartment. She steps on to the balcony and like last time she pulls herself up to the next balcony.

We get up to the ninth floor and she gestures for me to stop, a noise from the floor above reaches my ear at the same moment.

"Where the fuck are you?" I hear a male ask, but I can't hear a response and by best guess would be that he is on the phone with someone.

"What do you mean with you're not coming? I paid you good money to show up tonight, you have ten minutes

He growls and whatever happens after those words, I have no idea. Your guess is probably as good as mine, but it does piss the Idiot off.

It takes another hour, before Maleah starts moving again and I watch as she slowly pulls herself up again.

"I think he is about to pass out from the booze." hear her say as she lowers herself again and after two and a half hours, she pulls herself up again This time she doesn't stop and quickly follow her lead, pulling myself up to the balcony on the tenth floor.

Passed out on the floor is our target, "Will this still work with him being this drunk?" I ask her, looking down on the Idiot on the floor.

"See for yourself." She says as she hands me the syringe and without a second thought I jam the needle into his side, pushing the plunger down to empty the contents of the syringe.

It doesn't take long before he sits up straight, but his movements show me that he is unable to see where he is. He collapses to the floor, his hand grabbing his upper arm in support and then his mouth opens as if he wants to scream.

His face contorts, his mouth opens and closes, pain flashes through his eyes. Each time it seems as if he is in more pain, but without sound coming from him I have no idea on the actual amount of pain he is in.

For nearly three hours we watch as he goes through excruciating pain, than we decide it is time to go home. No one will miss him for a few days and by the time they do find him, the stress and pain will have killed him.

We leave the same way we entered this apartment and once we are near the SUV I pull Maleah into my arms, burying my nose in her neck to inhale her scent.

During the drive home the SUV is filled with silence, but it is a nice and comfortable silence. I know that Maleah is used to working alone and she probably uses this time to go over her assignment to see if there is something she can or needs to improve.

Like every other time she came back from an assignment, she is asleep the moment her head hits the pillow and Mack pulls her closer to his side.

Kay follows me down the stairs to the kitchen and he asks me about my experience with our Mate.

"She is a very capable Assassin and everyone that crosses her is in deep shit. This potion wasn't messy at all, but I think the pain might have been worse. I am just glad that I get to call her my Mate and not my Enemy." I answer him.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 487[ 1,061 words ]

Chapter 487

Maleah's p.o.V.

I can look back on three successful assignments, but for our next target I have to wait a few days.

Elder Luke is next on our list and at the moment he is traveling on behave of the Elders, he will be gone for at least two more days. When he returns he will have three days off and that will be the perfect time to carry out this part of the assignment.

I am going to take Colter with me and I giggle as I remember the look on Dad's face. He had been so disappointed that I wasn't taking him along, that was until Kay pointed out there were a few more targets to take down.

Elder Luke will have the pleasure of testing a new potion and I see Colter's face go from shock to disgust and back again. Yeah, I found a really nasty one this time and I can't wait to see what it does to our target.

"Maleah, I am going to ask you a question and I want you to understand that this is not an attack or criticism. I just want to understand something." Colter says and I nod me head as I sit down with some coffee.

"Why did you chose Delaney's side, instead of that of your Alphas?" He asks, not the question I was expecting and I guess my face shows it.

"Colter, this might have slipped anyone's mind, but I will explain it with asking you a question. Who can withstand an Alpha order?" I ask.

He is quiet for a moment and I can see that he is really thinking about his answer.

"Another Alpha, his Luna and the Gamma female, maybe an Assassin or two." He answers me.

I still don't think he understands that he just answered his own question and I give it some more time to see if he can figure it out on his own.

Suddenly he starts laughing and I think he has finally connected the dots.

I am mated to Levi and that means that I am the Gamma female. My main job is to protect our Luna, even from her own Mate if that is necessary. If a Gamma female can't withstand an Alpha order, she won't be able to protect her Luna and for that reason a Gamma female will never succumb to an Alpha order.

"My Alphas were hurting my Luna and my job is to protect her, even from them. It might not have been their intention to hurt her, but they did by treating her the way they did. If Delaney had been in the wrong, I would have pointed it out to her." I say.

"When Dominic tried to explain to her why he wasn't going to wear his complete outfit, I knew he was about to say something that would have caused more harm and that is why I made sure he passed out. I know that Dominic loves his Mate and I needed to protect both of them from doing something stupid." I continue and I see Colter smile at me.

It takes three days for Elder Luke to return home and I walk into the Pack-house to get Colter. I want to leave as soon as possible, this potion will make a mess of things and want to know how long it will bucket.

I walk into the main living room and Fortune is rolling down the aisles as I look at Dominic, "Don't say a word." He growls in my direction, but I can see he is trying to stifle a smile.

Delaney is on his lap with a pink blanket wrapped around the both of them and one look at Dax tells me where it came from.

"Colter, it is time." I say and after on more look at my Luna and one of my Alphas, I walk out of the main living room.

"I hope someone took a picture." I say to Dominic through the mind-link and I hear him softly chuckle. Not sure if it is because someone did or that they forgot to take a picture.

Getting into Elder Luke's home is a cinch and I already know that no one else is around. Colter and I lock every door and window on the ground floor, before we head up to Elder Luke's bedroom.

He has his back turned to us and Colter quickly administers the potion, it takes a second or two for Elder Luke to register what happened.

He wipes with a hand over his neck to see blood and then he feels the blood running into his mouth from his nose. He tries to wipe it away, but the blood keeps slowly running down his face and neck and soon it will come from every pore in his body.

A hand is stretched out in front of Elder Luke, the blood in his eyes make it impossible for him to see anything and Colter steps aside to let him pass.

We quietly follow him down the hall and we both smile when we see that he is heading for the stairs, blood smeared on the wall where he holds on to it in support.

Both his hands grab the rail as he slowly descended the stairs, leaving a trail of blood in his wake. Colter and I walk on the other side of the steps, making sure not to leave any prints behind.

We watch him for nearly four hours, stumbling around the ground floor of his house. Failing to find an exitz tripping over many obstacles and finally he crashes to the floor in the kitchen. No more strength in his body to keep going.

It takes another hour for him to finally stop breathing, it took him a total of five hours to die from Kigrozanly. Something I need to add to the journal, because this means I need to plan it carefully if I ever want to use it again.

"Let's go home, I have seen enough." I say to Colter, he knows it was a new potion and that this was the first time anyone in my family had ever used it.

"Which ingredient do you need for Kigrozanly?" Colter asks on our drive home.

“Hurgocide in liquid form, cut Akkarier and cut Penicilatta. The recipe is the journal, so if you ever want to know how to prepare it...." I let the sentence trail off, because Colter knows what I mean.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 488[ 1,118 words ]

Chapter 488

Maleah's p.o.V.

I'm not as tired as after our first three targets, but that might have to do with the rest I had in between them.

I find my Mates passed out on the couch in the main living room of the Pack- house and I get this feeling my Mates have upset their Alpha. I grab my phone to capture how Dominic is carefully placing little, bright pink hair clips in their hair.

"What did they do?" I ask through the mind-link and Dominic looks up with a smirk on his face and it becomes more wicked when he sees me holding my phone.

"They made a picture of me with Delaney and that stupid pink blanket and they send it to the entire Pack." He answers and suddenly I see Colter holding out his phone to me.

Dominic has a murderous look in his eyes, but it didn't impress my Mates and I plan on using just his face for my drawing of our Alphas. I managed to snap a picture of Dillon, when he was looking at Delaney in her dress and that will be used for my drawing as well.

Dax might be a little more challenging, because I would like a picture of him with a mischievous look in his eyes. I might need to ask for help to get that part of my drawing and I already know I won't ask my Mates, it is probably best to leave them out of this.

"We were successful, whoever finds Elder Luke will be in for a nasty, bloody surprise." I inform Dominic, who is still placing hair clips in my Mates hair. "Where the hell did you get all those clips from?" I ask.

"From the Pups, I asked them before lunch and one by one they came to me with ever pink hair clip they could get their hands on." Dominic answers and I know he will take a picture to send to all our Pack-members.

It takes him twenty more minutes to places all the clips and then he steps back to take a look at his masterpiece. A minute later I have a picture of my Mates and Dominic quickly leaves the living room.

Knowing I will be laughing my ass off at some point, I place my phone on a small stand on the table next to my seat and I sit back to wait for the moment they wake up.

Levi is the first to stir and I watch his nose wrinkle as he sniffs the air, he knows his Mate is home. His eyes slowly open, but I am not the on in his line of sight and he is splitting his sides with laughter the moment he sees Mack.

Kay and Mack get startled by his laughter, but as they open their eyes, they start laughing too. Suddenly Kay raises his hand to touch the top of his head, "DOMINIC." He roars and this time it is me that is rolling down the aisles.

I am just glad there are no Pups in the Pack-house, but the adults might be a bit worse to deal with. I hear the first footsteps coming down the stairs and Mack starts pulling at the clips in his hair trying to remove them before anyone can see what Dominic did.

"Should we tell them it is already too late?" I ask Fortune, but I doubt she would be ale to speak a word if her life depended on it.

Each Pack-member that walks into the living room starts to laugh their asses off and when someone points out there is a picture, all hell breaks loose.

I am glad I stopped filming or I wouldn't have been able to take a

his eyes, just the piece I was missing for my drawing. I can already see the end result in my mind and I know just the right opportunity to give it to them.

Delaney and I decide to help my Mates to remove all the clips from their hair, but I don't miss the fact that a handful of clips disappear into her pocket.

We leave all the clips on the coffee table and slowly everyone returns to their room, leaving me with my Mates.

"Why didn't you stop him?" Mack asks and I look at him to see if he is kidding.

"Why would I stop him? You took a picture of him and send it to our Pack- members, you started this." I answer him and I see my Mates looking at one another.

"How did you know it was Mack?" Levi asks and now I start to wonder if he has lost a marble or two.

I grab my phone to pull up the picture of Dominic and point at the left side of the picture. All three look a little dumbfounded and all I can do is chuckle as I walk out of the living room.

"Let's go home, I am in need of some sleep." I say and next thing I know is Mack lifting me in his arms.

It doesn't take long to get home, the positive thing of living close to the Pack- house, and just like every other night, one of my Mates carries me straight into the bathroom.

The assignment and waiting for my Mates to wake up have taken their toll and again I am asleep the moment Kay wraps his arms around me.

"Angel, you need to wake up. We have visitors at the Pack-house, Elder Jorge and a male I have never seen before." Kay says next to my ear and I quickly jump out of bed, rushing into the bathroom.

I go through my morning routine and in the meantime I try to decide what to wear.

I smile when Fortune flashes me an image and I think this is very appropriate for this meeting, lets dress to impress.

I I grab my three piece suit, a single button peak lapel suit, consisting of a blazer, a vest and pants. I grab a black, tight fitting tee to complement the silver color of my suit and grab a pair of black, lace up strap ankle boots with a 4 inch heel.

Levi is pacing the floor at the bottom of the stairs and I know my other Mates are not here. "Mack wanted me to remind you to keep your Assassin aura in check. I told him that you are very capable of taking care of yourself." Levi mumbles as he pulls me into his arms?

“I know, but Mack just wants to keep me safe." I say, before I turn Levi around towards the door. "Let's see what Elder Jorge wants. Maybe he wants us to take someone out or may be he wants to hand the Throne to Dominic." I say teasingly.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 489[ 1,020 words ]

Chapter 489 Levi's p.o.v.

I am a nervous wreck, no one knows why Elder Jorge is here and he refuses to discuss it until we were all present.

I doubt anyone would want our Alphas on the Throne, even though it would mean justice for a lot more Wolves and Lycans. It would be funny to see how that would develop, probably with a lot of blood.

On our way to the Pack-house we pass a few Pack-members, that wonder why the Elders are visiting us. I hear quite a few theories, but I don't know if any of them are anywhere near the truth.

Without hesitation Maleah walks into the Alpha office, "Elder Jorge, to what do we owe this pleasure." She says as she sits down on Kay's lap and I quickly sit down next to her.

"Uhm. I just asked for your entire leadership to be present. I don't think a designer has any business here." The unknown male says as he looks at Dominic. The guy is an arrogant fool and he is going to regret talking about Maleah like that.

"I don't know who you are, but you are within the borders of my Pack. I don't owe you an explanation and if you don't like it you can leave." Dax responds and for a moment I think he is going to talk back, but it seems that he has a brain.

"My name is Rudolph and I am Elder Jorge's assistant. I hope to become an Elder soon." He answers, but it doesn't answer the question why he thought he could talk to Dominic like that.

"Before we go any further with this conversation, I am going to make something clear. You will address me as Alpha and the same goes for my Brothers. As for Maleah, she has every right to be here. She is our Beta female, Gamma female and Head Assassin female.

As my Brother already said, if you have a problem with that you can leave." Dominic says, just before he buries his nose in Delaney's hair. No doubt to inhale her scent and calm himself and his Lycan down.

Rudolph and Elder Jorge are squirming a bit in their seat and we are just waiting for them to tell us why they are here.

Elder Jorge hands Dillon a file and for a moment he doesn't say anything. "As you might know Elder Carlyle died from whatever poisoned him and with his taped confession we ran a DNA test, she was indeed his Daughter."

I am not too sure where he is going with this, but the look on Dillon's face tells me that the file doesn't hold the DNA results.

"Our Doctors believe that both of them were poisoned, but they can't find a trace of it in their blood stream. They believe it is the work of the Angel of Death and the Elders want you to find him." Elder Jorge says as he leans back in his seat.

It is deadly quiet in the office, all you can hear is our breathing and I am glad we are holding on to Maleah. Not a word is said, not even through the mind-link and I am letting their request run through my mind.

"Elder Jorge, why do the Elders want us to find the Angel of Death?" Delaney asks and I can facepalm myself for not thinking of that question. The Elders have always done anything to pin a murder on us, they wanted Blood Crescent Pack to stop existing.

"Delaney, I think that even you can answer your own question." Maleah says teasingly. "If we go after the Angel of Death, the Elders hope that he will take us out and if we manage to expose him in the meantime, the Elders will get rid of him.

It's no secret that the Elders want to get the Angel of Death out of the way, after all he has been serving justice a hell of a lot better than the Elders and I doubt I have to explain why they want to get rid of us." Maleah says and I know that she is right.

"The Angel of Death doesn't serve justice, he is a cold blooded killer." Rudolph growls in her direction.

"Oh, I'm sorry thought that every victim of the Angel of Death, had faced the Elders at least once and even though there was a huge amount of evidence, each time they got away with their crimes. Sounds to me that the Angel of Death did serve justice." Maleah replies.

Rudolph is about to say something, but one look from Elder Jorge makes him bite his tongue.

"Did I get to close to the truth, Elder Jorge?" Maleah asks him and everyone can see the smug look on her face, she is really enjoying this.

"I am curious by nature and I took a look at each victim, you claimed was a victim of the Angel of Death. Each of them had been brought in front of you for crimes they had committed, but each time the charges were dropped by the Elders. Sounds to me that it should be the Angel of Justice." Maleah says, not waiting for him to answer her question.

"I don't know what my Alphas want to do with your request, but I would advise them to toss the file in a fire It isn't worth the risk, they have just found their true Mate-bond and they have a Pack to take in to consideration. Going after the Angel of Death, doesn't seem worth losing everything over." Maleah continues.

Delaney gets up with the file from Elder Jorge in her hand and walks to the fireplace on the other side of the room. She doesn't look at anyone as she lets the file slip from her hand, straight into the fire.

"Is that answer enough, Elder Jorge?" She asks as she turns her back on the burning file and I feel like getting up to applaud her.

Elder Jorge and Rudolph leave without another word and I would like to know why the Elders are suddenly this interested in taking out the Angel of Death.

"The assignment was dead or alive, but preferably dead." Delaney says.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 490[ 967 words ]

Chapter 490

Maleah's p.o.V.

We waited for two weeks before we went after our next target, we needed to find out if they took the assignment elsewhere.

Last night we found out that they didn't hand it to anyone else, the Elders had discovered what they were doing and it was made know that there would not be an investigation into the identity of the Angel of Death.

Not that we are believing a word of it, but for the time being there is nothing else we can do. Our next target is another Alpha, but this one is a bit different from most Alphas I have ever met.

He lives a five hour drive from here, up in the mountains and even the members of his Pack barely see him. He never found a Mate and some say that it is the reason why he keeps away from the rest of the Pack, that his Wolf is a bit uncontrollable.

Still doesn't excuse him for buying young Pups and do with them whatever the fuck he wants.

He comes down to the Pack-house once a week, on friday night and then he spends the night there. He leaves for his own home the following day, but no one seems to know exactly where that is and that makes this a huge challenge.

I am glad I am bringing Dad along, together we might be able to find his house and deal with him.

We leave in the late afternoon, because we don't want to arrive there during the day. Dad is looking at a map of the territory and makes notes as he compares the map to the information from one of my teams.

"They did an excellent job, this explains quite a few questions I have had about the Angel of Death. I always thought that we were meticulous, but you put us to shame, Sweetheart." Dad says, his eyes still on the map.

"I read every journal from our ancestors and I learned from their mistakes. Every time I went after a target, I came up with a strategy and then I would read through the journals to see where others might have gone wrong." I say.

Every now and then one of us speaks, but most of the journey is spend in complete silence.

"We are almost there, Sweetheart." Dad says and I pull over to the side of the road to take a look at the map.

Dad has mapped out the route we need to take and then we have to start searching for the Alpha's house.

I keep my senses on our surrounding area, but so far there are no patrols anywhere near us and we slowly but steadily make our way through the mountain.

"Dad, can you point out the Pack-house on the map?" I ask him through the mind- link, I am sensing something to my right and if I remember correctly the Pack- house is to my left.

His finger points at a tiny house he drew on the map and I nod my head once before I start walking again, keeping my senses wide open. I can sense more and more Wolves and Lycans, but with the Pack-house in the other direction this doesn't make sense.

The path we are following bends to the right and gesture for Dad to stop, while I slowly peek around the corner. "There are numerous Pups down there, in different ages. This is not what I was expecting, they all look so happy." I say to Dad as he looks past me at the playing Pups.

"Could this Alpha be another Jason? What do you want to do?" Dad asks, but I doubt he is really expecting an answer. I want to know why these Pups are living here and why he thought he needed to keep it a secret from his Pack?

"It is best to give him a heads up." I whisper to Dad and I start to walk towards the house in the distance, no longer hiding my presence from anyone.

It takes us nearly thirty minutes to get down from the mountain and by that time the Alpha is already waiting for us, the Pups have all gone back into the house.

"Who are you and what are you doing here?" He growls the question in Dad's direction, but I am in charge of this assignment.

"My name is Maleah and this is my Father, Diego." I say. "Can the Pups hear us?”

I ask, because I don't want the entire world to know the truth.

"No, they can't hear us. Now answer my question." He says and I gesture for him to sit down.

"I came here to kill you, because we found your name on a list of buyers. We found that list on Caym's laptop, after he died that is and we assumed you bought the Pups for the same reason others did." I tell him, never taking my eyes of him.

"My Beta did, but I found out before he could hurt the first one. I tortured the answers out of him and I have been buying the Pups ever since, but I request untrained Pups as my Beta did. He explains and I tell him about Jaso and Tasha, how they managed to save some of the Pups.

"Not quite what I had expected." The Alpha says and for a moment I just stare at him.

"What do you mean?" Dad asks and I am not sure what I expected him to say, but it wasn't this.

"Like everyone else, I always thought the Angel of Death was a male. Guess I was wrong. You must have quite the stomach with what you put most of your targets through." The Alpha says as he looks into my eyes. "I won't tell a living soul."

I know he won't and if he ever does, he knows I will come after him.

A Gamma's Revenge

Chapter

Diego's p.o.v.

I never thought I would go on an assignment with my Daughter, but two nights ago I accompanied her to one of our targets.

It didn't go as we had planned, but it all turned out for the best and we may even get an alliance out of it. We reported what we had found in those mountains and I for one was breathing a little easier, knowing there are still those that will fight for the weak.

I have to admit that I was a little disappointed though, I didn't get to see my little girl at work and it was something I had been looking forward to.

I think Maleah noticed that I was a bit disappointed, because she asked me on the drive home to pick out the next target. There was one more Elder and one more Alpha on the list, after taking a look at both their files, I chose the last Elder on our list.

Elder Samuel will be our next target and Maleah just linked me that we will be taking him down tonight.

One of her scouts reported that he was going to a little cottage he owns in the middle of nowhere and that he would be gone for at least four days, so it will take some time for someone to start missing him.

Like last time, our drive is mostly spend in silence. Timber's bond with Fortune has become strong and it makes it easier to feel where my Daughter is during the day or how she is feeling.

I never took the time to find out what I inherited from my parents, but after working side by side with Maleah I wish I had. There are so many different ways to take out a target and every potion is almost undetectable, unless you know what you are looking for.

I followed Maleah's example and started reading the journals from our ancestors, reading about their mistakes and victories.

We made the Dravyrith together, a potion that will take a few hours to kill the victim and we will wait until Elder Samuel has taken his last breath. Maleah wants to know how long it will take for her target to die and how easy it will be to use it more often.

I agree with her, this potion will be a good punishment for those that have committed horrible crimes. Dravyrith is made of Dussala and Ecender, both items are very common and are harmless on their own.

Dussala is a spice that you can find in almost every kitchen and Ecender grows all around us, but mixed in the right amounts it can be deadly. I had looked at Maleah in surprise, when she placed the Ecender in front of me to cut it.

She had poured Iquna in a pan and as she started warming the liquid, she added the Dussala. Stirring it slowly and then she started adding the Ecender I was cutting, lowering the heat beneath the pan because it needs to be heated, not boiled.

Once all the ingredients were mixed, she took it off the heat and stirred it for a few more seconds. Than it was a waiting game for the mixture to cool down, I am glad I got a chance to experience this with my Daughter and I am damn proud of her. "Where did you go, Dad?" Maleah asks and I notice that we are no longer moving. "We are at our destination, he arrived an hour ago and hasn't left."

We slowly get out of the SUV and start our walk through the forest, it will take us about fifteen minutes to get to the cottage.

If I wasn't on assignment, I might have enjoyed our surroundings, but right now this forest gives me the creeps. It is eerily quiet, the nearest Pack is at least a half hour away and that gives Elder Samual all the privacy he needs.

We make our way to the back door of the cottage and like I was instructed I stay close to my Daughter, slowly making our way into the cottage. Elder Samuel is in the living room, typing away on his laptop, no eye for his surroundings.

I take the syringe from Maleah's hand and push the needle into his neck, quickly emptying the contents into his bloodstream. His laptop falls to the floor, as he jumps up to face us and I see him looking between me and Maleah.

Before he can say a word he grabs his head and screams in agony, sounds like the potion is doing what it is supposed to do.

Elder Samuel falls to his knees, his hands still on his head and he keeps screaming on the top of his lungs. How his body is able to make him feel what his victims went through, is a mystery for me but it serves him right.

"I am your Judge, Jury and Executioner. You will never hurt an innocent again." Maleah says and I see the confusion in Elder Samuel's eyes, but the pain is to severe for him to ask any questions.

It takes almost two hours for his Wolf to lose it and then his screams become even more horrifying. Maleah and I had both been curious what itwould look like if a Wolf' wanted out of his Human without shifting and it wasn't anything like I had expected.

I was expecting his bones to break without his Wolf being able to get out, but this is so much worse. Not only are his bones breaking, there is also blood pouring from everywhere along his body and it takes over an hour before he takes his last breath.

Neither one of us speaks when we leave the cottage and I am glad that Maleah is my Daughter. If she had been my enemy, I would be looking for the best place to hide and pray that she would never find me.

I have seen a lot in all my years as an Assassin, but tonight must have been the most brutal thing ever. Most Assassins take their target out in a more public setting, making sure that no one can see them and clearing out before anyone has recovered from the shock.

Maleah is a different story; she takes her targets out in secrecy, she wants them to suffer and then she makes sure that they get discovered by someone that won't try to hide the truth.

Yeah, her targets will always be looking over their shoulders and still they won't see her coming.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 492[ 1,023 words ]

Chapter 492

Maleah's p.o.V.

After taking down the last Elder on our list, I was ready to go after our last target. I didn't get the chance to take down the last Alpha on our list of buyers, because the Coward took his own life.

Now I get to concentrate on the Alphas that handed over Pups to Caym and the rest, Matthew and Caspara returned with a lot of information on both Alphas and we believe that we have found the reason for their behavior.

Not that it will save them from my wrath, I will take them down and hopefully by the time we have taken care of these two Alphas, we will know who the person was that contacted Elder Morton.

We want to make a statement with taken down these two Alphas, so we decided to use Xurmella on one of the Alphas and the other will get Formobital. It will leave a bloody mess and hopefully it will scare the living daylights out of their Pack- members.

Our Alphas will keep a close eye on their Packs after we have dealt with the Alphas, just to make sure that the right person takes over the Pack.

If the Packs are getting into trouble, we will deal with it accordingly and if it means we have to kill someone, then that is what we will do.

I got in a bit of an argument with my Mates, they wanted to join me on these two targets but I didn't want them with me. I wanted Matthew and Caspara to get a chance to deal with the males they had been observing, they know more about these Alphas than my Mates and they deserve to give me a hand.

The first target was Matthew's assignment and like the others I make him help me with the potion. It also gives me a chance to get to know him and hear some stories about Dad and Mack.

"I guess you are going to get this question a lot, but how do I address you, Maleah?" Matthew asks and I know I am going to have a field day with this subject.

"I guess it depends on who addresses me and why." I answer him and I hear him chuckle as he processes my words.

"That might become a bit messy, especially if two Pack-members approach you for different reasons." Matthew replies and I can already imagine how that is going to be.

"Yeah, we might get Pack-members to argue about my title. Damn, I hadn't really thought about that." I mumble, this might get a bit more complicated than I had thought.

After making the potion, we get on our way to take care of our target and it is as if Matthew understands I prefer the silence. Getting into the territory isn't a big problem, there are barely any patrols along the border and we are at the Pack- house in no time without running into anyone.

Matthew locks the door to the Alpha floor behind us and we quietly make our way over to the master bedroom. The bottles on the floor tell us that he is passed out and i hand Matthew the syringe, who stabs it into his leg without any form of hesitation.

The Xurmella does it's work and I see Matthew's eyes widen from time to time. We know that he can't warn anyone, so we leave him to die on his own and again we get through and out of the territory without running into anyone.

Matthew drives us home and I am already in contact with Caspara on our last target, I want to get this over with as soon as I can.

I want to concentrate on my other career and on my Mates, I might be an Assassin but I love the fact that I can sometimes put this career behind me for a moment.

Levi pulls me on his chest the moment I crawl into bed and Kay and Mack wrap an arm around me, the moment I lay my head on Levi's chest I am out.

I wake in the morning to a naughty Mate that has no intention of letting me sleep in, my other Mates are still asleep and I wonder how long it will take before they wake up.

Levi lets his hands slide down my back and at the same time he pushes his cock against my core, be pulls my panties out of the way to allow his rock hard cock to slide into my soaking wet pussy. We actually le actually manage to climax at the same time and the only evidence there is, that shows my other Mates noticed anything, is their cocks tenting the sheets.

"I wish I could stay in bed with you for the rest of the day, but I have to go to the training grounds." Levi whispers in my ear, as I drift off to sleep again.

I don't notice that my other Mates eventually leave the bed or that they check in on me from time to time, I am in desperate need of some sleep and it is past lunch time when I finally wake up.

Mack is in the living room, reading a file and I smile as he pats the couch for me to sit down. He pulls me closer to his side, but he doesn't take his eyes from the file and my curiosity gets the better of me.

"Why are you reading a file on Alpha Bradley?" I ask him, but I fear I already know the answer to that question.

Turns out Bradley is the person

Elder Morton had been talking to on the phone and Harvey made sure every little piece of dirt on Bradley was uncovered. His calls to Elder Morton, his meetings with Elder Morton at a remote location and much more.

"Harvey already send a scout to that location, we are hoping he will find evidence and hopefully the ones they used for their sick games are still alive." Mack mumbles.

I know I will take out Alpha Bradley as soon as I can, I warn the team that keeps a close eye on him and I hope he is going to make a mistake.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 493[ 1,045 words ]

Chapter 493

Mack's p.o.v.

After Maleah read a part of Alpha Bradley's file with me, she made a few calls and she decided that tonight she would take out the other Alpha. Caspara will be joining her and even though I know that my Mate is capable of looking out for herself, I don't like the idea of her going after that Alpha with Caspara.

Yeah, I know I am an Asshole. Levi and Kay pointed that out when I made my concerns known, I didn't understand why it bothered me and Dad had to spell it out for me.

I don't know what kind of Assassin Caspara is and that has me worried. "Do you think it would be fair if Maleah told Matthew he couldn't come along, just because she never worked with him before?" Diego had asked.

My first reaction was to object, because Matthew is a very skilled Assassin. It wasn't until Commander asked me how Maleah was supposed to know that, that I started to understand.

Caspara has been a member of Maleah's team for years and they have worked together on many assignments. Maleah wouldn't take Caspara along if she doubted her abilities, just like I wouldn't take along an Assassin that wasn't fully trained.

Maleah knew from her Father that Matthew is one of our best Assassins and for that reason she didn't hesitate to bring him along. I need to trust my Mate, she has worked with Caspara before and knows if she is up to the task.

At the moment Caspara is helping Maleah prepare the Formobital and Kay explained into detail how this potion works. It will make a bloody mess of the scene, just like it did with the Xurmella that Maleah and I used and I feel sorry for whomever finds this Moron.

Harvey has decided that we need a distraction from Maleah's assignment and that means that we are going to make a plan to take down Alpha Bradley.

Once we have taken care of Alpha Bradley, Harvey is going to make sure that the world knows why these Wolves were taken down and if anyone would ever be so stupid to try something similar we will take them down.

We have just laid out all the information, when Caspara and Maleah walk into the room and our Mate looks murderous.

"He has doubled the guards around the Pack-house and tripled his Warriors on border patrol. I think we really spooked him." Maleah says, sitting down on Levi's lap.

Somehow, she always seeks out Levi when she is upset. He seems to calm her in a way Kay and I can't, but it doesn't bother me as much as I thought it would. She is our Mate and she finds something in each of us that she needs.

She comes to me, when she needs an honest opinion and she knows I will always tell her how I feel about a situation or what I think about a piece of information.

Kay is the one she goes to, when she needs confirmation on a pattern she has found and I love hearing them argue about it. Our Mate needs the three of us and we need her.

I watch her as she is trying to fight against sleep taking over, her eyes slowly closing with her head on Levi's shoulder.

I take the file that Harvey is holding in front of me and after one more look at our Mate, I open the file to read the emails between Alpha Bradley and Elder Morton.

After reading a few pages, I notice that Levi is leaving the room and I know we won't see him again unti Maleah wakes up. It will also give Levi time to think about whatever is running around in his mind and he gets to spend a few hours alone with our Mate.

The only reason I am able to stay in control of Commander, is that he knows that Maleah wants to take out Alpha Bradley herself or reading through this file would have send him off the deep end.

Why someone would want to have sex with an underaged girl is beyond me. I will probably never understand how someone can hurt another, whether it is physical or mental.

I know there is a lot of good in the world, but with all the evil I have seen, a good deed surprises me every time and I always treasure each of them. Waking up to see Mate in bed with us is also a good way to push the evil out of my mind.

Commander becomes agitated all of a sudden and I can feel that Titan is agitated as well, but I don't think it has anything to do with the files in our hands.

"Go see Mate." Commander growls in my head and I place the file on the coffee table, followed by Kay.

We both take the stairs two steps at a time and I reach our bedroom a second before Kay does. Maleah is staring at Levi in shock and I slowly step further in to the room.

"What is wrong, Angel?" I ask her, but she doesn't respond to my question and even Levi doesn't respond to my question.

I watch Maleah's face, as she is staring at Levi. I doubt that she sees him, because it is clear that she is in a conversation with Fortune and hearing her irregular heartbeat I know that something is wrong.

Levi slowly comes out of his shock and turns his head towards me and Kay, "Listen very carefully." Is all he says through our mind-link.

The only sound I hear is Maleah's irregular heartbeat and I focus on it to find out what Levi meant with listening carefully. It is almost as if I am hearing multiple heartbeats and that is when I realize what Levi was talking about. sŵnovel Maleah's heartbeat isn't irregular, I am hearing more than one heartbeat and I slowly approach the bed.

"I'm pregnant." Maleah whispers, as she places her hand on her belly. "With triplets." That last piece of information blows my mind and I can feel excitement from Kay and Levi, but I am not sure if I am that excited.

Kay and Levi have their arms wrapped around our Mate and I just stand there at the foot of the bed, staring at our Mate.

Chapter

I feel it the moment something changes in Levi's feelings and I slowly open my eyes to see him staring at my belly.

"Fortune, what is going on?" I ask and the look on her face already gives me the answer I need.

For a few moments we just stare at one another, before I feel the happiness from my Lycan. She is thrilled to know that we are going to have a Pup real soon, but that thought makes her look at me with a funny face.

"Three Pups, my Human." Fortune points out and the grin on her face becomes even bigger. We are going to have triplets, three little Pups will join our family and my mind keeps going in circles.

I know that Mack asked me a question, but the words didn't register in my mind. I am too busy with this earthshaking news, I will need to finish my assignments soon and I need to find a way to keep running my normal career.

There are so many things popping into my head, but I am grateful that I have three Mates that will help me with any obstacle that might rise and we can deal with each of them together.

I feel four arms wrap around me, the moment I voice the presence of our triplets and I can feel a lot of excitement through our bond. I also feel nervousness, a little fear and of course shock.

"Do you want me to accompany Caspara?" I hear Mack ask and I look at him as if he has grown a second head. Does he think that I can't do my job anymore, now that I am pregnant?

"I am not saying that you can't do your job, but you seem a bit in shock. I know that you want this Asshole to be dealt with and so do I." Mack says and I smile at him as I shake my head.

"No, I will deal with this myself. Make a plan with Harvey for Alpha Bradley and tell him to get all the information on the Lowbane family, I want this over with before I start showing." I say, as I look at Mack and I know he will worry about me until I get home.

"Don't tell anyone just yet. Let's save that for when this is all over." I say and Mack pulls me of the bed to wrap his arms around me.

I feel three hands on my belly and I giggle when I hear Kay say, "I don't feel anything."

For the next few hours my Mates are going over all the information on Alpha Bradley and I make some final adjustments to my plan with Caspara.

I can tell that Mack is reluctant to let me go, but he also understands that I want to finish this myself. The other two assignments I will have my Mates assist me, they need to see that I won't take any unnecessary risks and I know I need to rely a little more on my Mates in the future.

One of my scouts had found a flaw in the Alpha's security and was able to find out that the Alpha was no longer in his territory. It took them some digging, but they found the location where the Coward is hiding and tonight his life will end.

We drive to Yarlford to take care of the last Alpha, he will never sell a Pup again for his own gain. I doubt his Pack saw a penny of the money he got for those Pups and if they knew what he had done, they probably would have killed him themselves. Especially the families that lost a Pup because of this Moron and I know we need to keep a close eye on this Pack in the future.

Knowing my way around Yarlford, it isn't that difficult to find the place where he is hiding and I smile when I see that the closest neighbor is a five minute drive away.

Once we have made our way inside, we start looking for the Alpha. We find him in a bedroom, but not the master bedroom as I had expected. Caspara is able to inject him with the Nasabital and we wait a few minutes for it to do its job.

Matthew and I used it on the other Alpha too and tonight I will repeat the process from the other night, his Pack will get some kind of justice out of this.

Nasabital makes someone lose their connection to their Wolf or Lycan and they become like a puppet, doing whatever you tell them to do.

Once I am satisfied that he has transferred all the money he made with selling Pups, I allow Caspara to give him the antidote. We need him to experience the Formobital and that won't happen if he still has Nasabital in his system.

Caspara knows what to look for and the moment it is clear that the potion left his system, she injects him with the Formobital.

We follow him around the house in silence, a blood trail following him from the bedroom and once I am satisfied that he can't alert anyone in any way, we leave him to die by himself.

I am still surprised that none of his Pack-members alerted an Elder, but he could have given them an Alpha command to keep quiet. We will see what happens once the reason for all these deaths gets revealed, maybe someone will speak up or they might just keep quiet.

Not that it matters to me if someone speaks up, it has never mattered to me. All I care about is getting justice for those that can't get it for themselves and I will always try to keep their preferences in mind when I go after a target.

I just hope that with Alpha Bradley's death, this will be the end of this assignment.

Kay is waiting for me outside our home and something tells me that they have been up to something. I will find out what that is, once Caspara has left.

"Let's go inside. Levi and Mack have gone a bit out of control. Our Pups are going to be set for life, if someone doesn't stop them." Kay says teasingly, before he guides me into the house.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 495[ 981 words ]

Chapter 495

Maleah's p.o.V.

Oh My Goddess.

That is all that I can think, the moment I step into the living room. Mack and Levi are sitting on the floor in front of the coffee table, both looking at their own laptop but with the same screen.

"What size diapers do we need?" Mack asks and my jaw drops at Levi's reply.

"We will order three of every size." I look at Kay and I know that they have really gone overboard with their orders.

Kay holds a few papers in front of me and I just stare at the amount of clothes they have ordered, in just about every available size and color.

"Kay, can you check off the diapers? I just confirmed the order." Levi says and I see Kay checking a box on the paper in his hand.

Somehow, one of them found some lists of the first requirements for a newborn and they have managed to find almost everything on the list they made themselves.

I hear Fortune laughing in my head, as I check Kay's list to the ones they found online and I know I am going to tease the hell out of them.

"What are you doing?" I ask and both of them slam their laptop shut.

"Why are you home so early?" Mack answers my question and I take a look at my watch to see if I am really early.

"Damn, that late already." Levi mumbles as he looks at his own watch.

A few minutes later we head up the stairs, but Mack still hasn't answered my question. Not to worry, I will get even with him in a few days.

After a good night's sleep, we head over to the Pack-house. Our Alphas want in on our plans for Alpha Bradley and the Lowbane family and maybe even help out with the execution of our plan.

I am flanked by Kay and Levi and instead of alking behind me, Mack walks in front of us. He growls at everyone that is in front of him, scaring the shit out of them.

I am not sure whether to laugh my ass off or to kill him. I know that they will be even more protective of me, now that I am pregnant but this is too much.

Kay and Levi

i each grab an arm, the moment we start walking up the stairs and all all I can do is wonder what they will do the further into this pregnancy I get. Fortune is flashing me images of Mack drawing my designs and we both laugh at that prospect.

"Are you okay, Maleah? Should we get the Pack-doctor in here?" Dillon asks, when he sees us coming up the last flight of stairs.

I start laughing out loud, because this is annoying and damn funny at the same time and now I am glad that Kay and Levi have a firm grip on me. I think it will get worse, before it will get better or maybe I just have to make a stand.

"Nothing is wrong, just some overprotective Mates." I answer as I walk into the living room and I sit down in an armchair, just to annoy the hell out of my Mates.

It doesn't impress Kay much, because he just lifts me out of the armchair and sits down on the couch with me. Mack and Levi sit down on either side of me and I see a huge grin on Delaney's face, who is sitting on Dax's lap.

"Maleah is pregnant." Mack finally blurts out and Delaney is doubling over with laughter.

"Oh my Goddess, this will only get worse." She manages to say and I softly growl at the thought of my Mates getting even worse.

I know every Wolf or Lycan becomes overprotective during their Mate's pregnancy, it is in their nature. I know that my Mates won't be an exception, but I hope they won't overdo it.

"Who will deal with Alpha Bradley?" Dillon asks and Delaney smacks him on his head.

"She is pregnant, Idiot. She can still do her job, she just has to keep in mind it is no longer just herself she has to worry about. She didn't lose her mind or skills, because of this pregnancy." Delaney states and I am softly giggling.

I explain the plan we have in place for Alpha Bradley. I will not go after him alone, my Mates will accompany me and the only thing we have to wait for, is for Alpha Bradley to make a move.

"I will take at least one of my Mates with me, no matter where I go. I think they will fly of the deep end if I don't and I like my Mates with their heads on straight." I say, cuddling closer to Kay.

I can sit like this all day long and not get bored. It also doesn't matter who is holding me, just feeling the love they have for me is enough and know will be doing this a lot during my pregnancy. I like it even more if all my Mates are with me, but that doesn't happen every single day.

We all have a job to do within the Pack and that will never change. I have my other career next to it and it keeps me busy from time to time, because I don't accept every request to design a dress. Just like I don't accept every assignment to take out a target, because I can be picky with my reputation firmly in place.

"Okay. The moment you hear anything, I want you to inform us. We will take care of everything within the Pack and the four of you can take out that Asshole." Dominic growls, his face hiding in Delaney's hair.

We all want to get rid of Alpha Bradley and return to some kind of normalcy. He has been a part of our day to day life for far too long and it is time that the guy disappears.

A Gamma's Revenge (Zalia) - Chapter 496[ 1,002 words ]

Chapter 496

Alpha Bradley's p.o.v.

I keep a close eye on the news every single day, it has become a routine ever since I found out that Cyam was killed by the Angel of Death.

One after the other died by his hands, taking down everyone that was involved with selling or buying young, trained Pups and at the moment I am the only one left.

Cyam and Tamish were easy to convince, when I came up with the idea of training young Pups to become sex-slaves and their Mates seemed to be in it for the money most of the time.

If I am still alive a year from now, I will start this endeavor once again and make sure that everyone only knows a small part of the business. I will stay in control of the everyday dealings and leave the dirty and dangerous part to others.

Watching the news, made me come to a conclusion about the Angel of Death. This guy isn't working alone, there is no way in hell he could pull it off on his own.

Most of my Pack-members have left the territory, not willing to put up with me or my shit anymore and I am actually relieved I no longer have to look after them.

At the moment the remainder of my Pack consists of twenty seven males, each of them share the same opinion on females as me. A female is there for our satisfaction and they don't have a say in what we do, how we do it, when we do it or where we do it.

In order for me to start over again, I am going to need some files I built over the years and I have to be careful in retrieving them from their hiding place.

I will leave after dark to get them and then I have some decisions to make, because I can no longer stay here.

Driving past Albarr, I get reminded of Diablo's death and I softly growl. I know it was the Angel of Death that killed him and when I get my hands on him, I will kill him slowly and painfully.

I turn left onto a dirt road and follow it through the forest for a good ten minutes, before the small cottage comes into view. Elder Morton had found this location about six years ago and from time to time we would meet here with one of his trained Pups.

My cock hardens as I think of the last Pup he brought along, it had felt so good to fuck her and I had a lot of trouble to keep myself from coming to fast.

She had been in his possession less than an hour, when he showed up here with her and after ripping off her clothes he had pushed her towards me.

"She is all yours, you will be the first one to try her out." Elder Morton had said and I had pulled her onto my lap without hesitating, pushing my rock-hard cock into her tight pussy.

I had moved her up and down my cock, going faster with every thrust into her body and I had pushed two fingers into her ass. I can still hear her screams in my head and I rub my cock through my jeans, coming hard at the image of my cock slamming into her core.

We had spent the entire night fucking her, her body used in any way we wanted and every time I thought I was done, my cock came back to life.

Kowing I would have to leave soon, I had watched Elder Morton fucking her pussy and I decided that I would get one last fuck out of her. His eyes had widened when he saw me step behind her and I knew he thought I was going to take her ass again, but I didn't.

I had placed my cock against her pussy, just on top of his cock and had slammed in to the hilt. We both enjoyed fucking her like that and just before we both came, he told me he wanted to fuck her ass that way.

My mind gets filled with the images of taking her ass together and I start to rub my cock a little harder, putting a little more pressure on it. Seeing our cooks moving in and out of her ass at high speed, makes me shoot my cum into my jeans and I need a few minutes to catch my breath.

I don't turn on any lights, I know where I am going and the moonlight is enough to make me see where I am going.

A sting to my neck has me pivoting around and I stare into the eyes of Maleah, my former Mate's Daughter. The one I had wanted for Diablo and then for myself, but she had found her true Mate-bond with the Jerks that are standing behind her.

"I am your Judge, Jury and Executioner." She says with a smirk on her face, but I can't ask her what she is talking about.

"Don't worry, Alpha. She will explain everything and in the meantime you get the pleasure of dying." One of her Mates says and if I am correct, he is the Beta of Blood Crescent Pack.

I am not sure what she injected me with, but I am starting to feel a heat building in my body.

I can't reach my Wolf and I start to wonder if Tara missed something about her Daughter, because it is clear to me that she is very powerful.

Maleah starts pulling small bottles and syringes from a bag and I want to ask her what the bottles contain but there is no sound coming from my mouth. She seems to have a knowledge I haven't heard ofin a long time and maybe I will find out how she managed to fine that information.

My body is screaming in agony, but no one can hear me. Not only because there is no sound, but also because we are in the middle of nowhere and right now I regret coming out here.

Maleah's p.o.V.

I can see the questions in his eyes, but for the time being I will leave him in the dark.

We decided to change my tactics for tonight, because we want him to suffer. One of my Scouts had searched the entire cottage, looking for anything that could tell us how Alpha Bradley had gotten involved and what she had found had shocked the hell out of all of us.

Alpha Bradley was the mastermind behind this endeavor, he had come up with the idea and he was the one that had approached Caym and Tamish.

I found out that some of the potions can be combined, amplifying the other's potency and if administered in the right combination, it will diminish the lethal capacity of the potion.

Kay is holding the syringe filled with Phaxakyde, his eyes keep drifting to his watch to keep track of time and to inject Alpha Bradley at the right moment.

I don't want the Xurmella to do too much damage, he needs to be alive long enough for these potions to do their job.

After Kay has emptied the syringe into Alpha Bradley's body, it only takes seconds for him to notice that his eyesight is gone and the only indication we have of the level of pain he is in, is the expression on his face.

Levi hands me a file he found and after reading it, I have found the perfect way to let him know who I really am.

"Looks like Alpha Bradley did some research of his own, but somehow he missed connecting a few dots." I say, before I hand over the file to Mack.

"The only thing he got right about the Angel of Death is that this isn't a one person show. Maybe we should explain a few things to him, before he kicks the bucket and will never get any answers." I say, keeping my eyes on Alpha Bradley.

"Alpha, the Angel of Death isn't a male. Everyone has always been looking in the wrong direction, but I do understand why no one ever thought to look elsewhere." Levi says and we all turn our heads in his direction.

"Okay, let me explain. In Blood Crescent Pack we have quite a few Assassins, but looking at our history, there has never been a female Assassin. Not because we had none, but none of them wanted to join our team of Assassins.

The same goes for every Pack in our Kingdom, females have never stepped up to the plate and become a part of their Pack's Assassin team.” I listen to Levi as he explains and I guess that he is correct.

I have never heard of a female Assassin, I just thought it had to do with a Pack keeping it a secret and to have an ace up their sleeve for certain assignments. "Most females find a true Mate-bond within three years of becoming of age and they usually chose to leave their career behind, to become Mothers, to take care of their Mates. I can guarantee you that almost every male would expect this of their Mate and there for a female Assassin is unheard of." Levi continues.

"We don't want you to quit your job, neither one of them." Levi says through our mind-link and I smile at him.

Suddenly Mack steps forward to empty the last syringe into Alpha Bradley's body and I know that the Dravyrith will make his ending a very painful one.

"I think it has to do with how a female Assassin is raised or how others react to her ability." Mack states and I think back on my own childhood. I was never shielded from my Father's job and I believe it is why I had such an interest in what an Assassin does.

Maybe if I hadn't know what my Father's job entailed and if my parents hadn't fought about the attic, I wouldn't have taken a shot at taking out Akar.

However, I did chose to become an Assassin and I have gathered a handful of female Assassins within my teams. Would they have chosen a career as an Assassin if I hadn't come along?

"Should we tell Asshole over here the truth?" Kay asks with a huge grin on his face, pulling me from my thoughts.

"Do you think he will feel better if he knows the identity of the Angel of Death?" Mack asks.

Alpha Bradley's head keeps sweeping in the direction of their voices, blood splashing in every e direction. He tried to move around the cottage in the first few seconds after each injection, but soon gave up because of the pain.

"Alpha Bradley, may I introduce you to the Angel of Death." Mack says, as he looks at me with his hand stretched out in my direction.

Levi and Kay chuckle at his antics, I just roll my eyes at him and then Mack looks back at Alpha Bradley. His mouth forming a perfect O, when he realizes his mistake.

"Oops, my bad. You can't see who I am pointing at." Mack says sarcastically and again I roll my eyes at him.

"Alpha Bradley, Maleah is the Angel of Death." Levi states.

"Like I told Diablo, no one alive knows my identity and no one ever will. You will take my secret to the grave, Alpha Bradley. You will die a very unpleasant death and whoever finds you will have nightmares for ages. You look like shit." I say.

It takes another two hours before he takes his last breath and it will take a very long time before anyone will find him.

We head back to Blood Crescent Pack and I grab my phone to see if I have a message from Caspara. I sent her on another mission, because I can't split myself

Done. Report will be on your desk in the morning. The message from Caspara says and with a smile on my face I place my head on Levi's shoulder.

Chapter 498

Kay's p.o.v.

I wake in the morning to an empty bed, I hear the shower running and I can tell that Mack is in the bathroom.

After putting some shorts on, I walk down the stairs to the kitchen and grab a cup of coffee before I start looking for our Mate. I find her on the back porch with a file on her lap and Levi has his laptop in front of him, probably going over some border patrol reports.

I kiss Maleah on the top of her head, before I sit down in a chair to her left. It takes about ten minutes before Mack joins us and Levi turns his attention from his laptop to our Mate.

"I sent Caspara, Matthew and Lily with a team after the Lowbane family, I would have done it myself but I don't have a clone." She says and I understand that this was a necessary evil for her.

"The Lowbane family was unguarded last night, they probably assumed that the Angel of Death was to busy elsewhere. I wanted to deal with Bradley in person, so I made the decision to sent others after the Lowbanes.

This is Caspara's report on last night's mission and everything went as planned. I left them with the choice on which potions they wanted to use and they took the ones that cause the bloodiest scene." Maleah says, before she turns the file towards me.

We all read the file and I am glad that, for the moment, all of her assignments are done and now we can concentrate on our Pups.

A knock on the door pulls my attention away from my Mate and I slowly walk to the front door, opening it slowly to reveal Diego.

"Goodmorning, Son. The stuff you guys ordered is here and I wanted to make sure that you were awake, before sending the truck down here." Diego says and I wonder why the hell they send a truck for the delivery.

It only takes seconds to here the truck and I figure that they have more addresses on their route, because I don't believe Mack and Levi ordered that much stuff for the Pups.

Two males jump out of the truck and as one of them opens up the back, the other is looking at the clipboard he is holding. "We can unload everything here, then we head back to the store." He says before he places the clipboard inside the truck.

I watch as one of them grabs the pump truck to drive a pallet on to the loading ramp and I slowly make my way down the path to take a peek into the back of the truck.

"Looks like they really went overboard." Titan mumbles in my head, before he curls up to leave me in shock.

Maleah has walked out the door in the meantime and I hear her giggle next to me. I wonder if she still thinks that this is funny, when she sees that the contents of that truck gets wheeled into the house.

"Just put it in the living room, we'll sort it out later." I hear Mack say and I know that this will never fit into our living room, even though it is a huge living room. Hell, I doubt it would fit into the main living room of the Pack-house.

Diego is sitting on the front porch with a huge smile on his face, he is really enjoying this for some reason and after a few minutes the rest of our family show up.

Levi runs out of the house to the truck and I see sheer panic on his face, when he sees the pallets inside the truck. He looks at one of the truck drivers and I know what he is about to ask them.

“This isn't all for us, is it?” Levi asks and Maleah bursts out in laughter, the moment both of them nod their heads.

Maleah grabs the clipboard to start reading out loud what they ordered, "Twelve car seats, twelve canopies twelve foldable changing pads, strollers, two sets of stroller accessories, twelve car mirrors, two travel cribs with sheets, two baby carriers with six covers." She looks at Levi and Mack, before she turns towards me.

“Do you think I need to keep reading this or do you think they understand that this is a bit much?" She asks and I look at the list in her hands.

คอน ง

I start laughing my ass off, the moment I see that Mack made a tiny mistake in ordering the diapers. point it out to Maleah and she is looking between the list and Mack. Instead of ordering three of each size, like Levi had suggested, Mack ordered thirty of each size.

I see at least six different types of wipes, rash cream, lotion, shampoo and baby wash. Maleah turns the next page and I fall to my knees as I am laughing my ass off, I doubt they will find it funny though.

"Forty pants, forty pairs of socks, forty sweaters, forty one-pieced pajamas, forty bodysuits, forty one-pieced jumpsuits, forty beanies. Have the two of you lost it?" Maleah asks and our parents are in stiches, just like me.

"And that is just one size, you have ordered this same amount for every size. I..... I..." Maleah starts to stutter the more pages she turns and I catch her in my arms the moment her legs give out.

Mack and Levi are just staring at one another, they don't seem to understand what they did wrong.

Both drivers keep working as if it is normal for them to unload an entire truck at one address, but I don't miss the twinkle in their eyes as they pass us for another walk back to the truck.

I take another look at the lists and I am not sure if I should point out to Mack and Levi that they ordered everything in colors, best suited for boys.

Chapter 499

Maleah's p.o.V.

Our living room, kitchen, hallway and front porch are filled with pallets and I am not sure if I should laugh or cry.

Kay pointed out another slight mistake that Mack and Levi made and we both agreed to keep it a secret for now. We both want to see how they will react, when they realize their not so tiny mistake and I let Kay in on my plan to get even with Mack and Levi for not including us while ordering the stuff for our Pups.

Mack and Levi are unpacking the boxes in the hallway and I have locked myself in my office. Kay fled to the Pack-house and even our parents have all escaped. Mack and Levi are on their own, they can figure out where to store everything.

The more I think about the amount they ordered the funnier it becomes, I know both of them meant well and I love them for the effort but damn this is too much.

I can understand that as a first time parent you can go overboard, but I doubt anyone has ever gone this far overboard. I know the amount of diapers was a mistake, but we will probably use most of them. But what are we supposed to do with four car seats, we will probably only use one or two of our vehicles in the future.

Mack and Levi keep walking up and down the stairs, I doubt they will be done any time soon and that gives me the time to prepare my little plan.

It takes them almost two days to unpack all the boxes and get everything stored upstairs in one of the guest rooms. It has given me the chance to make drawings for the nursery and I have had a lot of fun with picking the colors I want to use.

I made two sets of drawings, one set I actually want to use for the nursery and one set to tease Mack and Levi with. Delaney and Kay are the only ones that know about my little plan and tonight we will set it in motion, let's see how they will react.

Kay invited Delaney and our Alphas to dinner and Mack decided to make an all- time favorite dinner, a dinner my Mates and our Alphas really enjoy eating.

I was a little surprised when Mack told me what he was going to make, but if it is something they enjoy eating I won't stop him. Don't get me wrong, I like all the dishes he mentioned, but it might be a bit much.

Parmesan pork tenderloin, cheddar potato patties, French roasted potatoes, stuffed mushrooms, crispy buttermilk onion rings, cauliflower au gratin and for dessert chocolate peanut butter twists. That will be our dinner tonight and I can't wait to taste every dish.

I still thank the Goddess every day for giving me at least one Mate that can cook and I love watching him move around the kitchen, no one would believe he is an Assassin in those moments.

Mack is still busy in the kitchen when our guests arrive and all four of them are sniffing the air. Yep, it smells delicious in here and my mouth is already watering.

"How is Lola doing?" I ask, I really want to know how her Pup is doing and if she has tried in anyway to harm herself or her Pup.

"She is a handful." Delaney answers, while her Mates softly growl. "Doc had to resort to sedating her with a tranquilizer dart, she goes berserk every time someone tries to get into her cell. He found a harmless way to keep her from shifting and even if he hadn't, I doubt her Wolf would want to hurt their own Pup."

After that we talk about the future, about both my careers and making them work in combination with having three Pups.

We move to the dining room, when

Mack has finished all the dishes and for a little while we just sit there in silence. Each dish I try is a little taste of heaven for me and Fortune e already knows what she wants

Mack to make next time he prepares dinner.

Delaney and I eat at a steady pace, but our Mates are eating like pigs. We haven't tasted everything yet and when Levi reaches out his hand to grab the last cheddar potato patties, Fortune growls at him.

"You better keep in mind that Delaney and I also want to have some of each dish.

I know it all tastes good, but you already had a serving." I say gently, I couldn't stop Fortune from reacting and Levi needs to know why she growled.

None of our Mates reach for a dish without asking if we want some and by the time we are all finished, I have tasted every dish. The only plate that isn't empty, is the stuffed

that

them with, instead of cheese.

I look around the table to see if anyone has an interest for the last one and without hesitation Dominic places it on my plate.

Delaney and I bring the dishes to the kitchen, while Kay and Levi rinse everything off and put it in the dishwasher. Mack is preparing coffee for all of us in the meantime and soon we are all in the living room, enjoying coffee and dessert.

"Have you thought about the nursery, Maleah?" Delaney asks and that is my cue to get this plan into motion.

I get a map from my office that holds the drawings I made for the nursery and I gesture Delaney to sit next to me on the two-sitter. I open the map and I feel her squeezing my hand the moment she sees the first drawing.

"This is very outspoken, Maleah. I like the colors you have used, they look great together." Delaney says and in my head I hear her ask, “Do you plan on giving them a heart attack?"

Chapter 500

Levi's p.o.v.

I still can't believe that Mack and I made so many mistakes, I should have paid better attention as we were looking at the list.

Mack had grabbed his own laptop and I figured he wanted to see what I was ordering, not order it himself. Instead of twenty pants, we now had forty pants and so on and so on. We both ordered the amount we agreed on and now we had double the amount.

I listen to Delaney as she comments on the drawing our Mate made and I can't wait to see what she has come up with. Delaney points to the drawing they are looking at, "I love the forest and animals on the wall, they look so cute."

In my mind I can already see the little Wolves and some rabbits running around the forest, I know what I would like the nursery to look like and I hope that Maleah comes close with her drawings.

Kay holds out his hand for Delaney to give the drawing to him and I see her reach out her arm absentmindedly, to interested in the next drawing.

"That will be the opposite wall of the nursery, three cribs in front of it." Maleah says and I see a smile appear on Delaney's face.

"I love the jellyfish, you picked the right colors." Delaney says and I want to ask why she chose a sea life décor. "Oh, you even thought of little seahorsies." Delaney exclaims.

I turn to look at Mack, but he seems as confused as I am. Dax seems to be in a world of his own, while Dominic and Dillon are talking through their min-link.

Mack jabs his elbow into my side and I see Kay holding out the drawing to me. I turn it towards me and Mack gasps at the same time as I do, this is definitely not what I was expecting.

A bright blue sky with five trees from left to right, a total of three trees with an off- white trunk and thin branches reaching towards the sky, with green-blueish leaves. Two banana trees in between them with a ring-tailed lemur in different shades of orange hanging from them.

On the both sides of the drawing is a bright yellow cheetah with black dots, in the fore front of the drawing are three more ring-tailed lemurs and two baboons, sitting on a bright green forest floor. The baboons are in different shades of blue and the flora she drew are in different bright colors.

I keep staring at the drawing to see the appeal in it, but I can't see it, not even if my life depended on it.

Mack doesn't comment on the drawing either, but I know that if this is what Maleah wants, then this is what she will get.

I hand the drawing over to Dillon, because Dax is to deep in thought to see the paper in front of him.

Kay holds out the other drawing and again it isn't what I was expecting.

The background is dark grey and I see three dolphins in a blueish-grey color, one showing from the front near the bottom of the drawing and the other two are seen from the side near the top of the drawing.

Bright colored fish are spread across the drawing in groups of three to four and there are bright pink jellyfish in three different spots. Corl in different colors with bright red crabs and bright yellow O sea stars are scattered across the bottom of the drawing, four bright purple seahorses near the four corners of the drawing.

Again I can't see the appeal in the drawing, I was never drawn to either scene and I am not convinced that this is a good idea for a nursery.

Looking at both drawings, I had blocked out the conversation between Maleah and Delaney. Now I wish I had been listening, it might have prepared me for what I am looking at.

Three rectangular cribs in front of the windows, not something that I am against. It is the colors of the cribs and bedding that has me stunned, the bedding divided in three colors. Yellow, orange and red from top to bottom and the frames of the cribs are black.

The wall is an off-white color and the window frames are a cherry-wood color. The carpet on the floor has me in a total panic, she can't be serious about this. The carpet is a forest green color and covers the entire floor.

I am afraid to take the next drawing from Kay, but for some horrifying reason, I am curious about it.

There are multiple items drawn on the sheet of paper and under them the location Maleah wants to put them in the nursery. Four gliding chairs, each in their own color and a ottoman in matching color. Those go in front of the sea-life décor.

The three changing tables are black with three drawers, in the same colors as the bedding of the cribs and those will be placed in front of the wild-life décor. Two pony carousel chandeliers, one witt be above the cribs and the second one

I am too stunned to speak and I lean back in my seat to let it all sink in. On one hand I want to tell her that she can go ahead, but the bigger part of me wants to tell her Hell No.

"What is this?" Dax asks, who seems to have finally joined us again and he grabs the sea-life drawing of the table.

He stares at it for a minute, before he starts laughing his ass off. He takes a look at each drawing and he starts to laugh harder and louder after each of them.

"Maleah.... tell me... that... you are.... kidding me...." Dax manages to say in between his laughter and for a moment I fear for his life.

That's until Kay, Delaney and Maleah join him, all laughing their assess off.
