

A Glitched 411

Chapter 411 Overcoming A Great Challenge

"This wolf is unusually strong, Allan. This is not an ordinary variant of the Devil Wolf."

"I know..."

"Shouldn't we...?"

"Let them, for now..."

"But...! This thing might had been modified by the cult, it is way too strong and intelligent."

"I want to see how far Sylphy can go... Are you not curious about your daughter's amazing potential, Shade?"

"Well yes, but..."

"And if they don't know the taste of true despair in battle, and to go against all odds, how do you expect the children to grow stronger? The future that awaits them... might be worse than this."

"..."

The wolf roared furiously as its shadows spread over and generated a pseudo domain of darkness. Dozens of tentacles made of shadows quickly grabbed the corpses and even some of the living wolves nearby and dragged them into the darkness, which quickly began to consume them all.

Were things just getting worse now?! This wolf wasn't a mere pack leader, as I heard from my father, this guy might be some sort of guardian of this place modified through magic by somebody else to protect this place from intruders.

It probably will do anything it can to stop us from advancing!

"AWOOOO!"

The wolf howled once more, as the darkness quickly consumed its body, after three seconds, it suddenly emerged once more, its entire body was now slightly different as black scales spread through its body, forming natural armor, the two horns we sliced were back and there was a third one?! And its third eye was also back! Bastard! Did he just healed completely?

"Let's stop him before he heals completely!" Said Zack. The beast was still halfway through, we had to do something!

"Alright!" Aquarina roared, as her magic quickly generated countless of icicle spears and spiraling water spears.

"Then let's go!" I roared as well, as I loaded my sword with the power of Naturia, Ignatius, and Alice, the limits of how much spiritual power it could take, deciding to do something I had only done back then when I fought Hell. Although this threat is technically not as strong as that monster as it hasn't hurt me lethally yet, I don't want to let it grow any stronger.

Life, Fire, and Light... these three elements, I had already grasped the way to merge them together back then, just like Ignatius did with Naturia as they formed the Flames of Life. If I add Light, what sort of flames would emerge?!

FLUOOOSH!

The golden flames emerged out of my sword as they suddenly covered my body, taking over my Beast Aura and turning it into a radiant golden dragon that roared loudly. This combination of elements, it shone so bright it was almost divine. I'll go ahead and call this Divine Flames!

"GROOARRR!"

The wolf quickly realized we rushed to his side as his wounds were slowly healing after he somehow sacrificed his pack. His two enormous front legs suddenly gained black armor, materialization from his darkness domain, and quickly attempted to intercept our blows with a swipe of his claws.

SLASH! CLASH!

He managed to do it rather well, however, I slipped through the claws as Ignatius merged his dragon wings with my Beast Aura, helping me lift out of the ground. In that moment I reached above the wolf before it could retaliate back and unleashed a single swing that contained over a hundred swings together. The speed boost that the new class gave to me coupled with the natural speed of the light element alone was enough for a storm of divine flames to engulf the wolf's head!

FLUOOOSH!

BOOM!

"GROOOAARRRRR...!"

The wolf's healing was quickly interrupted as its armor shattered into pieces, its wounds opened once more but its horns and eye were regrown, enough for its magic to receive a substantial boost of power. The moment I began falling from the sky, I saw countless spikes made of materialized darkness being directed towards me!

CLASH! CLASH! CLASH!

I unleashed a storm of Divine Flames but many still got through, impaling my arms and my legs, as blood splattered over. I had lowered my defenses in exchange for speed and evasion, but I still ended getting wounded...

"Nnggh...! Naturia! Alice!"

"Got it!"

"FOO!"

My wounds suddenly were covered in my Divine Flames as they were infused with healing spells and skills, slowly beginning to regenerate as the spikes were burned into ashes by the divine flames alone.

FLUOSH!

I unleashed another attack with my sword once more, charging the power of the Divine Flames I had conjured, however, the wolf wasn't dumb, he quickly tried to retreat!

"GROAR!"

"You're not getting away!"

"We won't let you!"

Zack and Aquarina quickly stopped it from retreating! Zack supercharged his entire body with lightning, something I had not seen before, as his movements were swift and incredibly fast, unleashing a storm of lightning against the enormous beast and making it groan in pain, while Aquarina unleashed several Oceanus Harpoons against the wolf with her daggers, piercing through its body magisterially!

CLASH! CLASH! CLASH!

"AWOOO!"

The wolf howled furiously as it lost all reason and turned berserk, an aura of red color emerged from within its body, his enormous strength multiplied as he grew desperate, his claws and tail hit Aquarina and Zack strongly, but they intercepted and tanked his hits barely, finally, I was able to reach over his head, however!

"Excalibur's Light!"

FLASH!

"GROOARRRR...!"

The light of my sword generated an enormous sword, piercing through the armor covering the wolf's neck and piercing through its tough hide, muscles, flesh, and bones!

SLAAASH!

The wolf's head was sliced cleanly, as a fountain of blood exploded out of its large wound, covering the ground. The body remained still for a bit, before quickly falling into the floor with a loud thud.

BAAM!

I fell over the wolf's body, having my falling mitigated by its fur.

"Hahh... W-We somehow did it..." I sighed, as I suddenly felt the enormous backlash of pushing myself to my limits once more. I was resisting the impulse of falling unconscious, as Naturia continued healing me.

"T-That was way too tough..." Sighed Aquarina.

"That monster was something else... I had never fought something so strong before..." Zack sighed, gasping for air.

"But it was fun..." I said with a smile.

"Yeah..." Aquarina smiled.

"It was fun as hell!" Zack laughed.

After achieving a victory we barely managed to grasp, we couldn't help but smile and laugh.

This was... the thrill of battle.

I guess we are really a trio of battle junkies.

Chapter 412 Max Level Natoria And Some New Abilities

When the battle ended, we were left completely exhausted. Me included! Despite my HP never going down, I really felt tired and about to die. I wanted to sleep for a while, but I knew I really couldn't do that right now.

Ding!

[Calculating Total EXP earned...]

[Natura] has reached Level 7!]

[Natura] has reached Level 8!]

[Natura] has reached Level 9!]

[Natura] has reached Level 10!]

[Natura] can now Evolve]

Ah... Natura can finally evolve. And Ignatius only gained two levels out of that monster?! Well, damn. Maybe we can find something that can give better EXP later on... If Spiritual Blessing Levels Up, he might be able to get more bonus EXP I guess.

And as for me, I've accumulated roughly 71000 EXP. Of course, I can't use it to level up, but I believe I can save some more before spending it on either creating a new System Seed or making a new Skill being able to Level Up, as of now I only have two more Skills I could make Level Up... I wonder if it could be possible to create brand new Skills outside of the already existing Skill Trees later on.

Oh well, that'll be left for later.

[Sylphy, are you feeling alright?]

Suddenly I heard the voice of Alice resonate through my soul, she had gone back to my Soul Scape and spoke through System Notifications only I could see.

"(Yeah, I'm alright... Ugh, just too tired.)"

[I had no idea you could pick an advanced Class like that one, we had not practiced much about this Spell because of how much it exhausts you when you use it...]

"(Hm, well, yeah... But what do you mean with advanced Class?)"

[Well, to summarize, the System has the power to grant Classes, right? Your Class is often generated automatically upon birth, usually being related to your parents, or somethings just being random. After reaching the Level Cap of your Class, you'll be able to change Classes once more, further increasing your stats and gaining new Skills]

"(Wait, what?! That's super overpowered...)"

[Maybe... Advanced Classes only appear when you pick a certain group of Classes and max them out. For example, Light Magic Swordsman requires Light Mage and Swordsman Classes maxed out... Well, your System Notification power might let you simply have most low-tier classes. Advanced classes are not necessarily high tier, they simply appear only after certain conditions.]

"(So that's how it is... Was the [Berserk] Class the same?)"

[Indeed... This is why Berserk and Light Magic Swordsman left you so exhausted while Warrior doesn't put as much pressure, the stronger the class, the more pressure and therefore, the less you'll last with them. Be more careful from now on.]

"(I will try...)"

After speaking with Alice, Natoria flew to my side and began floating around, she was annoying me so I could help her evolve. Apparently I was something like a "Master" of the Systems given to others through System Seeds, things such as Evolution or maybe in the future, Class Advancement, require my own authorization.

"Stop it, Natoria, I can't let you evolve right now when we are in front of everybody..." I sighed.

"Foo! FOO!" Natoria was being very annoying, but I just petted her and ignored her complaints.

My father and Shade quickly came to help us recover, as Shade took out three bottles out of his shadows which were filled with some shiny liquid, I had seen these before. Weren't these elixirs? I remember my father drank them only when he fought against powerful foes. My mother uses her alchemy talent to create them out of premium ingredients farmed in our farms on Cloudia.

"Here, drink these. You did well, kids. Especially you, Sylphy. You were incredible." My father said, as he let me drink the Elixir. My body quickly was brought back to almost top condition, fatigue, and everything else was completely gone as well! I think this is my first time drinking one.

"It was very tiring, daddy..." I sighed. "But we did our best... That Elixir really is good. I had never drank one before..."

"They're hard to make, your mother makes them." My father said, hugging me and then giving me a kiss in my forehead. "You've completed this challenge without even asking for help, I am very proud of you."

"Dad..."

Ding!

[The magical power of the Elixir has seeped into your body.]

[Your magical power has risen]

"Huh?"

When I looked at those stats, I really didn't know what was happening. My magical power has risen? Since when has the System shown such messages?

Alice quickly answered me though.

[Alongside previous improvements, the System has gained the ability to tell you whenever your body grows stronger. Of course, the stats won't change, sorry if you expected that.]

Huh, so it is that... Well, that's nice.

[However, I can do something about this... If I gather this magical power which very high quality consumables can give you...]

Ding!

[You gained +50000 EXP]

"What?!"

I was slightly surprised, as my father looked at me while raising an eyebrow.

"Sylphy what's wrong?"

"E-Err... N-Nothing daddy. I am simply amazed by the power of this Elixir! Can I have some more?"

"What? No, one is enough. They're not a drink you can just enjoy at any time, they're very expensive to make."

"Ah... R-Right... Maybe I can learn from mother how to make potions one day?"

"Huh, yeah, seems possible. I can help you convince her if you want to learn Alchemy."

"Thanks!"

Okay, Alice, what was that just now?!

[As I told you, this is also part of my new abilities as a Spirit! It seems that I can gather the rich magical essence of things you consume and turn them into EXP.]

S-So if I ask my mother to cook this wolf and I eat it, can I gain EXP from there too?

[Yes, a few thousand, I believe... But the more you eat or drink of a certain preparation, the less EXP is given.]

I see... This is big though!

Chapter 413 Miasma

After the battle and being healed, we quickly began doing a few warmups with Aquarina and Zack to get ready. Our bodies ended getting almost paralyzed due to the pain and exhaustion our bodies felt, which was quickly healed using an Elixir, the shock of having everything healed often paralyzes the body according to my father, so we had to warm up so our muscles could get warm and work properly.

"Phew, that was a very hard fight... I want to rest..." Aquarina sighed.

"We can't, we gotta keep moving, we are not done here yet, Aquarina." Said Zack.

"Eeehh? You're pretty tired, stop pretending you're alright!" Said Aquarina.

"I-I am not pretending...!" Zack said angrily.

"Okay, okay, relax for a bit." I sighed. "You two fought amazingly. I guess you were really upset about the previous time so you overdid it a lot... And your Beast Auras also grew stronger, or is that my idea?"

"They did, I felt like the element of ice has been merged with my element of water within my aura, it was super strange..." Said Aquarina. "But it felt like I grew stronger."

"Me too... My Wind and Lightning converged together." Said Zack. "I've been training for a long while with Ninhursag, she told me that the element of wind and lightning are compatible with one another and can form the Storm Element. Maybe I got an affinity for that..."

"You sure do! I can still remember how amazing you fought!" I said, praising Zack.

"Heheh... It's nothing!" Zack said. Despite being so complex sometimes, he was still very simple-minded, being praised was enough to make him feel embarrassed.

"And you too, Aquarina, amazingly done. Pyuku also worked hard." I said. "I didn't thought you were able to shapeshift your body like that, is this a new power?"

Pyuku seemed to nod.

"P y u! P y u k u!"

"I remember he began eating weapons the other day, maybe that's it?" Wondered Aquarina.

"W-What weapons did he ate?" I asked.

"Some rusty things that the tribe throws away sometimes. He often cleans all the dirty stuff and even the bathrooms! Slimes are very convenient and surprisingly hygienic!" Aquarina said, praising her pet.

Wait, did Pyuku ate... waste from the bathrooms?

I better not overthink it.

"I think as he grows stronger he'll be able to do a lot more!" Said Aquarina. "You're very useful, Pyuku!" Aquarina quickly took a few berries from her pocket and feed them to him.

As we finished warming up an felt better, we went to the side of my father and Shade, finding them inspecting the enormous, beheaded corpse of the wolf. They were looking at its fur, the armor it grew over its body, the horns, the third red eye, and everything else, even its blood and flesh.

"Papa, we hunted this one! Can we eat it?" I wondered.

"Erm... I think it could be edible if we purify it with your mother's light magic, but we can't eat it right now. Look." My father quickly showed us something, as Shade used a knife to open the sliced neck of the wolf and reveal a lot of disgusting-looking black liquid coming out, alongside small, shattered pieces of a purple crystal which were emanating a strangely dark aura.

"Uegh..." Aquarina muttered, feeling disgusted by the rancid and acidic smell of this black liquid. It was certainly not something normal that would appear inside a monster.

"This liquid is miasma..." Said my father.

"Miasma?!" I asked.

"We presume that this monster was modified by some alchemist that is working in the cult. It was given miasma in the form of its crystalized form, a Demonite Crystal." Said my father. "Demonite Crystals grow over the Demon Continent and are concentrated miasma with incredible magical power. When a monster is given these to eat, they mutate and grow incredibly strong. It is also sued as a fuel for many magic items and advanced societies once purified... but it has this method of usage as well."

"Wait, what?! So someone feed this wolf some Demonite to make it stronger?" Zack wondered.

"Yeah, that's right." Shade answered promptly after.

"We might be getting closer to whatever hideout these people had. Let's keep looking for now." My father said. "If they have Demonite in their hands, they're not merely a cult made in here, and they might be getting external help as well."

"Well, it was almost a given after they showed the ability to build up a spell that summoned a True Demon, but this might confirm it." Sighed Shade.

"I can sense something in the depths of the Steppes, we should keep going then... Kids, can you keep up?" Wondered my father.

"Yeah!" We said in unison.

"Then let's go, follow us, we'll hasten the pace!" My father suddenly began running through the forest, slowly increasing his speed. Shade was even faster and was already running ahead of him. I guess this was also an endurance test of some sort. We had to keep up with these two insane former heroes speed!

"Oof... Running so fast right after that... It's a bit too much..." Zack complained.

"Hey! Come on, are you going to stay behind? Monsters are coming." My father said teasingly.

"Eh?"

"ROAR!"

Suddenly, a pack of ten wolves appeared out of nowhere behind us, these seemed twice as strong as the black horned wolves and were covered in red fur with blazing flames on top. The fog of the mana surrounding the area had dissipated and the light of the day helped us guide ourselves across this thick forest, but these monsters appeared out of nowhere without us even being able to detect them!

"Oh, those are Blazing Wolves!" My father said.

"New test, defeat them all while keeping up with us." Shade said ruthlessly.

"AWOOOO!"

And just as if things couldn't get worse, a two-headed, six-meter-tall Blazing Wolf appeared right behind the other ten... It was another pack leader.

Is this seriously?!

Chapter 414 Against Blazing Wolves Now?!

"This is the real world, kids! Get used to this, you'll have to fight ten times the amount of monsters every day as you explore the world like you always say you want to do!" My father said.

"If you even plan to go to the Demon Continent like you always like to say, Sylphy, monsters like these are an everyday occurrence, you'll encounter them as commonly as grass." Said Shade.

"The Demon Continent is like a thousand times more frightening than this! Are you really sure you want to go there one day?" My father teased me.

This world... was truly frightening. I can finally tell why people love to hole themselves in their fiefdoms protected by immense walls! Well, it's not like I'll back up from this challenge. Thanks to father's Elixir, I feel at 100% once more, so I won't simply let these wolves get the best of us.

However, the challenge was to keep up with father and Shade, so we'll have to fight the wolves while constantly running as fast as possible?! Well, it's a good thing they're keeping up with us, and running just as fast!

CRUNCH!

An enormous blazing jaw almost caught me, as I jumped over its snout and then unsheathed my blade. I decided that my fire wouldn't be that effective against someone that already uses fire, and Nature that uses plants is not good either as plants can easily get burned by fire, so the only natural option was...

Beelzebub, come help me!

"Eh? Me?! Well, sure!"

FLASH!

A small worm appeared over my head, as I felt his power flowing through my body, and then, resonating within my sword. I didn't wanted to exhaust Alice more than before, as she had felt rather tired, so Beelzebub would do for now!

Thanks to the sword having a piece of Beelzebub's Demon Core crystal, it resonated especially well with him. A purple and black aura emerged from my sword, as whips suddenly entangled themselves around the bold wolf that attempted to devour me with a single bite.

"Let's see... Dark Whip!"

"GRAUH?!"

The wolf cried in shock and surprise as I lifted his entire body and threw him away, his head hit the ground so strongly it cracked and opened, splattering its brains over the floor, and dying on the spot.

Ding!

[You earned 1000 EXP]

[Ignatius] earned 1900 EXP]

[Naturia] earned 1900 EXP]

[Naturia] EXP will be stockpiled until it can be redistributed after evolving]

Wow, I killed it just like that?! And what's with this EXP? 1000 just for one? Well, isn't this nice? I am even more pumped up now!

"Uooohhhho! Did ya see that?! This is my power!" Laughed Beelzebub, as the black and purple aura that my sword emanated suddenly shaped into more whips, catching another wolf that was getting near me.

"GRUOR?!"

However, the wolf attacked back against the darkness, unleashing an explosion of fire from within its own body and burning through the darkness, easily making it dissipate.

"Bastard!" Beelzebub complained. "How's this then?!"

FLASH!

My sword's aura suddenly changed, turning completely purple as strange bubbles and an acidic smell began to come out of it. I slashed through the wolf as poison and acid was unleashed over the wolf in a slashing form, splashing over its face. The wolf was blinded instantly as the acidic poison began to melt its face.

"GRYYAAUUUHH..."

"Gahahaha! Look at that loser!"

Beelzebub continued to laugh. He was really a bad guy, isn't he? Although his methods were effective, they were incredibly cruel.

CLASH! CLASH! CLASH!

Meanwhile, as we continued running behind my father and Shade, Aquarina unleashed several icicle spears and trident-shaped spiraling water projectiles against the wolves, impaling their bodies and turning off the flames covering their bodies. It turned out that as long as you splash water or an ice spell on them, their fire is turned off and due to being wet, they can't get on fire again. This severely weakens them.

"Now!" Aquarina said, as Zack roared and quickly charged lightning into his axe.

"RAAAAAH!"

BOOOOMMM...!

He hit the ground right behind us, making the ground shake as if there was an earthquake! Lightning and winds began to emerge from the ground below as everything quickly began to crumble down!

"GROOAR!"

"GRAAAHH...!"

"AWOO!"

After Aquarina weakened them and made them slower, Zack destroyed the frail floor below us and created a pitfall that made four Blazing Wolves fall to their demise. But to make sure they were dead, I splashed poison with Beelzebub's help in there.

Ding!

[You earned 4000 EXP]

[Ignatius] earned 7600 EXP]

[Naturia] earned 7600 EXP]

"They died so fast!" I laughed. Feeling slightly devilish. Using poison wasn't bad at all, especially the acidic, burning one that even burnt the Blazing Wolves.

We kept running, as the other five Blazing Wolves were being led by their pack leader, a [Two-Headed Blazing Wolf Tyrant], perhaps as strong as the other damn wolf. My father was getting a bit cocky by asking us to defeat this thing honestly, but somehow I felt like Aquarina and Zack had grown stronger after that fight.

"GROAR!"

Suddenly, the wolf pack leader ordered the wolves to attack from a distance fully knowing that getting closer would be detrimental for them, the wolves agreed and began firing fireballs at us from afar, blazing through the forest without caring about the environment at all. These Steppes were covered by small patches of trees that made smaller forests, perhaps even if they all burned, they wouldn't make such a damage to nature.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

The enormous fireballs began being fired constantly. As big as two meters each, we were barely able to intercept them with our attacks or evade them.

"Let me help, Sylphy!"

Ignatius who had stopped fighting the moment he realized his fire wasn't effective, suddenly summoned himself for battle.

Chapter 415 Battle After Battle!

"Fire Absorption!"

FLUOSH!

Ignatius suddenly utilized a powerful Tier 4 Fire Attribute Spell by absorbing as much Mana from me as he could, exceeding his limits. In seconds, the flames of the wolves quickly were absorbed by his body, making it grow larger and larger until, for a moment, he resembled a young adult dragon!

"I didn't knew you could do that!" I was impressed.

"This is something new I've just come out with after leveling up some more...! Let's see...! Fire doesn't affect you but how about just RAW POWER?!" Ignatius roared, rushing towards the wolves while leaving us behind as we continued running.

His larger body at four meters stopped all five wolves by expanding his wings and used his sharp claws and jaws alongside his tail to attack them. His claws were as sharp as blades, slashing through their skin and tough hide, while his jaws tore apart their flesh and his tail whip slapped the monsters into the ground continuously.

BOOM!

CLASH!

CRASH!

Ignatius fiercely fought like a dragon, defeating two Wolves on his own before the other three and the pack leader overwhelmed him and began biting through his spiritual body.

"Nnngh...! Maybe I should bomb myself...?" He wondered for a moment.

"Stupid, come back!" I cried, summoning Ignatius to my side, he was once more on his Baby form. The big body he had before was made out of flames.

"But if I exploded I could have done some superb damage to them!" He complained, crossing his little arms.

"But you would have died!"

"Spirits can revive as long as they have a contract with a master, right? You would just have to wait a few hours or maybe days..."

"No is no!"

"Fine! But bear in mind you've stopped me from doing something super awesome...!"

Ignatius was truly nonsensical sometimes.

"FOO!"

"Oh, Natoria, you're helping as well?"

"Foo! Foo!"

Natoria didn't shoot Bullet Seeds this time though. She simply flew into the ground, digging underground and then, with a flash of bright golden and green light, she began channeling as much Mana from me as she could, thousands of it! Until then, the entire forest suddenly began to hear her command!

The trees moved by themselves, shapeshifting into enormous hands and started getting in the way of the wolves. Some of the trees fired sharp branches, piercing through the bodies of the Blazing Wolves.

It was amazing!

BAAM!

Suddenly, an enormous tree hand crushed one of the most weakened wolves into the ground, its fire was strong, but more trees ganged on it, piercing the wolf's body completely and killing it on the spot.

[You defeated [Giant Blazing Wolf] x1]

[You earned 1000 EXP]

[Ignatius] earned 1900 EXP]

[Naturia] earned 1900 EXP]

[Naturia] EXP will be stockpiled until it can be redistributed after evolving]

She's great!

"WOOF!"

However, the pack leader noticed the threat of the forest as he decided to unleash a storm of flames, both of his heads unleashed a terrifying fire breath, covering the entire forest surround him with it!

My father and Shade noticed the small forest was suddenly set ablaze. The fire of the pack leader was very strong, the trees controlled by Naturia were unable to fight any longer, some retreated underground while others ended being turned into ashes.

FLUOOSH!

As the flames spread out, Naturia quickly summoned herself at my side, looking at me with a bit of sorrow.

"Foo foo..."

"Don't worry, you did what you could! For now, support us with your healing, Naturia."

"Foo!"

Naturia keep up with us as Aquarina and Zack seemed slightly annoyed by what I provoked...

"Sylphy you enraged that thing even more now!" Aquarina cried.

"Damn, that thing's hard to kill... If we could at least not run so fast we could defeat it more easily..." Zack complained.

"Hey, don't blame me, I am doing my best!" I sighed. "Aquarina, use your water and ice! Why are you not using it now?"

"You think I got infinite mana?" Aquarina angrily asked.

"Ah right..." I sighed. "Then I'll lend you a hand!"

"Fweh?!"

Aquarina suddenly felt a strange sensation run through her body as I pointed my hand at her, infusing my Mana into her. Thanks to the [Mana Usage] Skill, I was able to easily manipulate my own Mana and even transfer it to others. I've only transferred to another non-spirit living being before with Furoh, who was weak to fire so he didn't come out, so this was not completely new to me. As long as I made sure it wasn't too much to stress her body, that would be enough.

"Uwaaaah! S-Sylphy, this is a bit too much!" She cried, as her eyes began to shine bright blue. "I think I can do anything now!!!"

FLASH! FLASH! FLASH!

Suddenly, Pyuku, Leviathan, and Undine, her three Familiars, shone brightly as they also received my vast amounts of Mana, using it all, they combined their power with Aquarina's Magic and unleashed a powerful Magic Spell.

"I'll call this... Gates of Atlantis!"

TRUUUUMMM...!

Aquarina created a flashy name for her newly created Spell with the combined Magical Power of her three Familiars, as a sudden gate emerged out of literally thin air, made completely out of ice, and then, a strange portal to the ocean opened, splashing everything with turbulent salt water that was also spiraling like crazy!

SPLAAASH!

The Blazing Wolves and their Pack Leader were all engulfed in the water, at the same time as the forest fire was quickly turned off. Wow, I never expected Aquarina to have such amazing potential!

"And while there's water... Sylphy, give me some Mana too!" Zack asked.

"Sure!"

As I infused Mana into Zack, a smile emerged on his face as he unleashed a lightning strike into the downpour that Aquarina summoned.

And then, the rest was just basic elemental interaction between water and lightning.

SPAAARK!

Chapter 416 Finding Ancient Ruins Of The Gods

SPAAARK!

Lightning was unleashed, and it quickly took over the water that Aquarina unleashed, the wolves who were drowning also were electrocuted in an instant, and even the wolf pack leader was groaning in agony with its two heads, while drowning in the water and being electrocuted to death. There's no way that thing could survive such a powerful combined attack so easily!

BOOOM!

An enormous quantity of lightning was unleashed, as the water quickly evaporated. When we reached the end of the forest and looked back at it, the entire place was completely dried out and covered on steam. I believe that should be more than enough, right?

[You defeated [Giant Blazing Wolf] x4]

[You defeated [Two-Headed Giant Blazing Wolf Tyrant] x1]

[Ignatius] earned 38500 EXP]

[Ignatius] has reached Level 6!]

[Naturia] earned 38500 EXP]

Yep, they were defeated. It would be a pity to leave them behind, so I quickly sent Ignatius to bring back the corpses for me. He seemed grumpy about it, but ultimately agreed because he wanted to taste Blazing Wolf Meat.

"Ugh, that was too much." Sighed Zack.

"Agh, we are finally out of the forest?" Aquarina wondered.

Our parents had stopped running and awaited for the three of us to reach them, quickly finding them looking into the distance. There was a large mountain some hundreds of meters away, and in front of us, there was a dry land as well.

When we finally reached them, we couldn't help but gasp for air, running at full speed while fighting those deadly monsters really exhausted us, especially overusing Mana. As I had infused a lot of it to both of my friends, they were experiencing similar symptoms that I do when I overuse it.

"Well done! You impressed me once more! I'll make sure to reward you three when we get back home." My father said.

"Amazingly done." Shade said.

"Ugh, can't we take a break though?" I sighed. "Also there's nothing in here, are you sure there is any hideout?"

"There."

My father suddenly pointed with his index finger into the ground in front of us, the vast steppes, in the middle of it. But I was only able to see an empty and deserted land, so I had no idea what he was talking about.

"Huh? There's nothing there, papa..." I sighed.

"Uncle what are you talking about?" Aquarina treated my father as "uncle" most of the time.

"Maybe there's something underground." Zack suspected, sitting over the floor. At the same time, Ignatius was back from collecting the corpses and I quickly saved them inside an inventory bag I was given.

"Come, let us show you." Said Shade.

"You might be tired but we can't take a break right now, let's continue, we are close, Sylphy." My father said.

There was a lot of tension in the air for some reason. I also felt rather tense, there was certainly something underground. Could this be the hideout of the cult of the resentful demons? (provisional name).

We followed my father and Shade until we reached the area they pointed out. The two nodded at one another and then, summoned their powerful Legendary Weapons.

FLASH!

An enormous blazing sword made out of pure red fire materialized into my father's hands.

FLASH!

Meanwhile, Shade invoked two daggers that seemed to concentrate the darkness of the void itself within them.

In a single second, both of them hit the ground with all their might.

TRUUUMMM...!

The entire floor around us trembled. Cracks began to appear everywhere, as the floor started to crumble and fall apart!

FLASH!

My father and Shade quickly grabbed us and then jumped into the air, walking over empty air as if it were the simplest of things. This was a special Technique named [Air Step] that those with a Physique Above Tier 4 could develop if they trained diligently.

CRAAASH!

The entire ground where we were standing some seconds ago crumbled down, and what was left was an enormous sinkhole that led down, alongside what looked like a tower of sorts, made of gray bricks. It had an entrance and a spiraling staircase leading down.

This was certainly not constructed recently by the cult; this is something ancient.

A dungeon, maybe?

"Is that... a dungeon?" I wondered.

"No..." My father said, quickly correcting me. "That is one of the Ancient Ruins of the Gods... To think there was one in here...."

"Wait, like the one we left behind in the Amazon Jungle?" Asked Aquarina.

"Indeed." Said Shade. "This place... Why did the gods never told us about this place? I thought they wanted us to protect these areas."

"Maybe this is a place that not even the gods care much about? Perhaps there is nothing dangerous in here..." My father hoped.

"Yeah, right..." Shade said slightly teasingly, as he let Aquarina sit down over his shoulders. "This place is emanating a lot of mana from within, is there miasma down there?"

"This foul smell is unmistakably." My father replied. "I also sense some life down there, but they're running away, let's go."

"Alright!" Shade said.

"Kids, grab tightly on me!" My father said, as he suddenly generated a belt made of flames that didn't burned, and tightly wrapped us around his body, meanwhile, Aquarina was put behind her father's back while being wrapped by belts made of shadows.

"Then let's go!"

FLAAAAASH!

In a single second we suddenly began flying at a speed that easily broke through the sound barrier. Shockwaves began to spread through our surroundings, shaking the ground as we descended down the enormous sinkhole that was guarding these ruins from plain sight, most likely created by magic.

CLAAASH!

In five seconds, we reached the depths of this place, finding ourselves right in the middle of an enormous cave system, with many entrances to different areas in the depths of these places. However, there was something noteworthy as well.

An enormous lake of Miasma.

What is this thing doing here?!

Chapter 417 An Aberrant Abomination

"A Lake of Miasma, just as we thought." Shade said, quickly moving there and leaving Aquarina with my father. His hand quickly touched the miasma without any problems.

"Papa don't touch that!" Cried Aquarina. However, her father simply touched the miasma and took a sample of it, pouring it into a bottle, he seemed completely unaffected by the deadly substance that can kill people and mutate monsters.

"Don't worry, Aquarina, those that have reached a Physique of Tier 9 and above are immune to Miasma unless it is handled by someone equally powerful, alone as it is, it is just a very toxic substance." My father said. "Resistance and then immunity to poisons and other substances is something you'll acquire as your physique develops."

"Ohhh..." Aquarina said in surprise.

"I'm done, I've taken a sample..." Shade said, saving the bottle of miasma inside his shadows. After that, my father pointed his hand at the lake of miasma.

"If Faylen was here, this would be easier to purify." He sighed. "Phoenix Divine Fire."

FLUOSH!

Suddenly, the Miasma was completely covered by white and gold flames, similar to my own Divine Flames. Is this an even stronger version of my fire? I created it by combining Life, Light, and Fire elements together, I wonder if father's flames use even more combined elements...

"GRYYYYAAAAH!"

The Miasma suddenly began to scream, countless of ghoulish screams could be heard coming from the lake of miasma, as it shaped itself into monstrous forms that were trying to resist my father's flames.

"Vanish!" My father angrily said, intensifying his flames even more until the lake of miasma was completely vaporized.

"W-Why was the miasma just talking now?" Asked Aquarina.

"Miasma is not only corrupted mana, but it possess negative energy, often formed by emotion essence. Emotion Essence is spread everywhere in the world, and it both creates magic and affects it. Miasma is something generated by corrupted Mana with Negative Energy, a byproduct of Emotion Essence that has accumulated large quantities of negative emotions." Shade explained.

"Well, that was horrifying..." Zack said.

"Now that we are done here... Shade can you go catch the people?" Asked my father.

"My Spirits already did it." Said Shade. "There is no point in chasing them."

FLASH! FLASH! FLASH!

Suddenly, several entities made of darkness emerged, resembling reapers, they carried the unconscious bodies of many people, all of them were demons or beast-kin. This time they finally caught them alive!

"So we are done." My father said. "Though, let's inspect the area before we can ask them questions."

Like this, we had a trip in these underground caves. We walked across the most habited ones, as the cult had been leaving furniture and many other magic items and ingredients they used for their schemes. The caves, however, were very beautiful, bright crystals shining around the walls and the ceiling, ores growing everywhere. I felt the impulse of mining all of these resources!

And as we inspected the area, we found monsters. But this time my father didn't intend in making us fight them all so most of the time they simply scared them away with their auras. But there were some seriously strong creatures lurking around... Maybe we could come grind for more EXP and Levels later.

Amidst the caves, we found a large room filled with wooden boxes, when my father opened them, there were many purple-colored crystals in there.

"Demonite?" My father asked in surprise. "So they had all these in here? ...Shade, are they awake yet?"

"No, but we can wake them up. However, I fear there might be bombs inside of them, we need to take them out before waking them up." Shade replied.

"Right... And the kids are tired. Well, let's go back for now, we already got everything we needed to know." My father said.

"But what about the Demonite and the other forbidden materials?" Asked Shade.

"We'll take them with us and-"

RUMBLE!

Suddenly, the caves where we were looking around began to tremble! I expanded my senses and immediately sensed something enormous moving right towards here!

"ROOOOAARRR!"

"SYLPHY!" My father quickly held me with his arms alongside grabbing Zack, and Shade grabbed Aquarina, the two hurriedly began running away as the entire cave began to crumble behind us!

TRUUUUMMM....!

FLAAASH!

In a second, we found ourselves standing right before the enormous hole in the ground, as the tremors continued. This was no mere monster; this was something BIG!

"What the heck have they been raising in here?!" Asked Shade.

"This presence..." My father suddenly gritted his teeth.

Even the heroes felt nervous?!

FLUOOOSH!

Suddenly, an explosion of red energy emerged from the enormous canyon, as a gigantic aura appeared. This aura wasn't mana, it wasn't soul aura either, it wasn't spiritual essence... This was...

"True Demons!?" My father asked.

"It seems they had been nourishing a giant one down here for a while..." Shade said.

"GRUOOOOHHHH...!"

The enormous roar of an otherworldly entity resonated within the entirety of the Steppes, as a gigantic arm emerged from the ground, which was actually made up of many different limbs from other monsters... What the heck?!

CLAAASH!

Another arm emerged as well, this one covered in countless tentacles and eyes, as the rest of the body of the aberration emerged, showing what looked like a meatball made out of countless pieces of flesh tied together and in the core of it all, an enormous red eye with a large, spiraling jaw with many sharp fangs inside, and a long and slimy tongue.

"That's a Flesh Demon!" My father said.

"Flesh Demon!?" I asked in shock, noticing how Aquarina and Zack were just completely paralyzed in fear, I wouldn't blame them, the monster was over 40 meters tall.

"Flesh Demons are special types of Demons that can absorb and fuse with flesh of any other living being. They had been feeding this monster for a while if it grew so big like this!" Said Shade. "Did they plan to use this to attack the fiefdom? If this thing gets there... everything will be destroyed."

"We can't let that happen!" My father roared; his blazing aura emerged as his valiant eyes flashed with determination.

"I-I'll help too, however I can!" I said, readying myself to fight.

Chapter 418 Against A Powerful True Demon! & The King Of Wolves Appears!

The enormous Flesh Demon emerged from within the hideout of the cultists. The creature was so big that I could only see it by raising my head. True Demons, according to what I've learned, are entities from another dimension completely, that only people from the Demon Tribe can summon for some reason. But... why would the World itself give the Demons the power to summon beings from another world completely? Is this really the truth behind the origin of the ability to summon True Demons?

"Resentment...!"

"Pain!"

"It hurts..."

"Mother... My mother!"

"They tortured me!"

"Revenge...!"

"Kill! Kill the damn humans!"

"Die! Die! DIE!"

"We want retribution!"

"They'll know pain... ALL THE PAIN!"

Suddenly, countless faces resurfaced over the entire body of the Flesh Demon and began to speak with various and different voices. Each voice was louder than the previous one, so loud and terrifying that it made our spines shiver in horror. Was the True Demon fused with people? What the heck were they doing here? And... why go so far for revenge?!

"This is sickening... We have to put a stop to this as soon as possible... Sylphy, stay in here with Aquarina and Zack, don't dare get closer, this monster is too strong for you to even fathom to fight it!" My father roared, quickly summoning his Phoenix and then a furious Red Salamander, merging with them as his entire body was covered by an armor of flames, he grew phoenix-like wings as well, flying towards the gigantic demon.

"Stay in here, Aquarina, we'll protect you, but make sure to protect yourself if any monster gets closer!" Said Shade. "We'll get this done as soon as we can." Shade did something similar, as his entire body was also covered by an armor made out of his spirits fusing with his body, it was an amazing technique.

As we saw the two heroes fly into the sky, the enormous True Demon noticed them and roared loudly, as its gigantic arm swung towards them with all its might.

BAAAM!

The giant arm was easily evaded by father and Shade, but it hit the ground near us, cracking the floor and generating a loud earthquake, the floor began to crumble once more!

"Run!" I cried, quickly infusing Mana into my friends, and refilling their Mana Pools, running right after that. Aquarina and Shade followed me as quickly as possible, while we tried to not look behind us.

CRAAAAASH!

The floor continued falling apart as we ran away from the battle, in the way, we saw my father and Shade fight with the demon. My father continuously unleashed slashing attacks using his flames, cutting through the demon's arms and his meatball-like body, only for more flesh and countless other limbs to resurface from the wounds. It was monstrously ridiculous!

"Phoenix Storm!"

My father gathered Mana into the palm of his hands as he unleashed an enormous explosive Fire Attribute Magic Attack, the power of his Phoenix Familiar gathered within his body and soul, as an enormous flare as tall as a hundred meters was unleashed, exploding into a heaven and earths-shattering explosion.

BOOOOOMMMM!!!

"And... Abyssal Gates!"

Shade immediately acted right afterwards, conjuring one of his strongest Darkness/Shadow Spells as he gathered pure obscurity within the palm of his hands, unleashing a black hole that began to devour everything within its vicinity, a devastating power!

TRUUUUUMMM...!

"GRUOOOHHHHH....!"

The Flesh Demon groaned in agony as it was being engulfed in the power of two high-tiered spells unleashed by the two former heroes that defeated the Demon King in the past. The flames burned its flesh while the black hole consumed part of its body disintegrating it!

I guess they'll win, right?

"Sylphy, look out!" Aquarina cried, as Pyuku suddenly acted before her, extending his body by several meters and grabbing me, Aquarina, and Zack and putting us inside of his body, as he suddenly shaped himself as a sphere.

BAAAAM!

An enormous, thirty-meter-long fleshy tentacle hit the ground right before us, whipping Pyuku and the three of us away!

"Uuuaaaaaaaggh!"

We couldn't help but cry in shock at the scene, the enormous tentacle threw us countless meters away, as we ended landing in the previous burned forest, crashing over the many dried out trees and breaking them apart.

"Pyuuuu..."

Pyuku ended saving our lives as he mitigated the entire blow, however, he seemed slightly tired after that, quickly letting us go as he went back to his smaller, blue slime form.

"GRUOOOHHH!"

The enormous tentacle seemed to have detached itself from the main body, as the gigantic eel-like demon monster quickly began to chase us down, rushing towards where we were! This thing was absolutely enormous, and its power was certainly higher than the two wolf pack leaders we fought before.

As the enormous tentacle approached, I had to think fast what to do!

"AWOOOOO!"

However, an unexpected guest appeared, as we heard the howl of countless wolves around our surroundings. Without realizing it, we suddenly found ourselves surrounded by thousands of wolves of all shapes and sizes, led by enormous pack leaders! Not only Black Horned Wolves, but Blazing Wolves, Rock Wolves, and even Light Wolves... so many! But they weren't here to eat us, these guys were looking at the giant eel-like Demon Tentacle.

Suddenly, a smaller and more refined wolf stepped in between the enormous quantity of canines, majestic in appearance, with bright blue eyes and shiny white hair, it emanated an aura of greatness... This wasn't a normal wolf at all.

"T-That's... I've seen them in Bestiaries...!" Zack said desperately.

"Eh? You did?!" Asked Aquarina.

"T-That's... a Fenrir! It is said they only appear when there are thousands of wolves in a certain area, they're their protectors... Some call them Living Disasters, while others call them, Great Guardians!"

"AWOOOOO!"

The majestic Fenrir howled, as his enormous presence made itself clear to even the demon's main body and Shade and my father!

"GRUOOORRRHHH!"

The enormous eel-like tentacle roared back, growing insect-like legs and beginning to charge towards Fenrir directly!

CLAAASH!

Chapter 419 Going All Out!

The Fenrir roared as he quickly clashed against the giant Demon Tentacle. His small claws held an immense amount of strength, slashing through the tentacle in mere seconds as countless wounds emerged. But within each wound, more tentacles and insect-like limbs emerged instead! Even this thing that detached itself from the Flesh Demon is as ridiculous as the main body.

"ROAR!"

CLASH!

CLASH!

BOOM!

The Fenrir roared loudly as it clashed once more. Its jaws gnawed through the flesh of his opponent, as his majestic aura of magic automatically conjured high level magic, fire, wind, water, ice, earth, darkness, and light all together! This wolf was a master of all basic attributes.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

The powerful Magic, which was at least Tier 5 in strength, didn't do anything to the tentacle, as it easily blocked its might with its Demonic Aura. True Demons were known for being incredibly tough, it wasn't because they were particularly stronger themselves, but because their very bodies and components were otherworldly, they weren't ruled by the laws of magic of this world. Their alien Demonic Energy was stronger than Mana itself and could easily shield the True Demons against its might if they were below Tier 7.

Not only that, but their Demonic Energy was particularly vicious, as it was something similar to Miasma itself. As someone who had already fought a True Demon and knew how overpowered they were, I was sure as hell that this giant tentacle was even more terrifying.

"This Fenrir... it is not doing too much damage at all..." Aquarina said.

"It is a young Fenrir..." Said Zack. "From the bestiary I read, it said that Fenrir are often known as 'Chosen Wolves' they're randomly born from any type of wolf monster when the pack most need a guardian. This one must have been born not too long ago, so it had yet to fully develop its powers..."

"We should help him! Our parents are busy dealing with the main body, we have to fight, Sylphy!" Aquarina said, quickly waking me up from my daze.

"GRARRRR!"

Seeing the Fenrir fight with everything he had, as his body was covered in blood and wounds quickly awakened my fighting spirit once more, accompanied by Aquarina's words of desperation, I couldn't help but agree with her!

"Alright!"

Magic doesn't work properly against demons, physical attacks are still dealing more damage against it, after all, Fenrir is using his enormous claws to deal damage to it, although it is being quickly regenerated. The limit of how much I can reach in a Stat at minus value is -100, if I push my Charm further, I'll receive a strong backlash into my body, so this is the most I can do! And if I worsen my Luck any further, things will only get more terrible.

I need to also change into a Class that can deal damage to Demons...!

[System Modification] has been activated]

[Status has been modified]

<#23a System>

[System Owner]: [Sylph Natoria Bravo]

[Magic Circle]: [Tier 2: Rank 8: Elemental Magic Circle]

[Physique]: [Tier 2: Rank 3: Yggdrasil's Eden Physique]

[Level]: [1/#523a]

[Class]: [Farmer] -> [Demon Slayer]

[HP]: [10/10]

[MP]: [20/20]

[Strength]: [4] -> [75]

[Defense]: [3] -> [1]

[Magic]: [50]

[Resistance]: [10] -> [1]

[Agility]: [6] -> [66]

[Luck]: [-10]

[Charm]: [20] -> [-100]

[Class]: [Demon Slayer]

An Advanced Class that can only be unlocked once the [Hunter] and [Beast Slayer] Classes are Maxed Out. A powerful Class designed to slay anything that is regarded as a "Demon" by the entire world. Grants enhanced Agility, Evasion, and Reflexes while fighting Demon-type foes by +50%, while increasing Damage Dealt against Demon-type foes by +40%. Additionally, there is a 5% chance to inflict the [Rotting Wounds] Status Effect on any Demon-type foe, making their wounds unable to regenerate for 10 minutes.

This is it! I think this is the most I can reach in Class-changing alone, I've tried other things but nothing seemed to work, [Demon Slayer] seems like the limit. But it is good enough. However, such a strong Class usually generates an even stronger backlash, I can't continue fighting for longer than ten minutes at most. We have to quickly put an end to this thing and hope that my father and Shade can deal with that giant Flesh Demon over there.

"Let's go!" I led Aquarina and Zack who were already running to help Fenrir ahead of me. "W-Wait, wait for me!"

I quickly began running towards the enormous tentacle, enchanting my body with the Light Attribute Spells such [Flashing Speed], which gave me small jumps of speed every time I conjured them, and as I had endless Mana, conjuring it endlessly wasn't a problem!"

FLAAAASH!

As I ran towards there and finally met with Aquarina and Zack, we suddenly stopped running, as we were surrounded by hundreds of wolves and many pack leaders. I guess they haven't forgotten about what we did to two other packs of them before...

"We want to help! Don't get in the way!" I said.

"GRRRR...!"

"You're protecting this place, right?! So let us pass already!" Zack said. "We'll help your Fenrir!"

"GRAR!"

However, the wolves seemed unwilling to cooperate with us.

"Agh damn it! Just get out of the way!" I roared, quickly infusing thousands if not hundreds of thousands of Mana into my Tier 2 Wind Attribute Magic Spell [Wind Leap] which was similar to [Air Step] and with Pyuku's help, lifted my friends, and quickly flew into the skies, ignoring the band of wolves!

FLAAASH!

"Woah, what the heck?! This wind magic is amazing!" Said Zack.

"This is the limit of what I can do...! Now let's go!"

My friends quickly readied themselves as we fell down from the sky towards the giant Demon Tentacle. I infused Divine Flames into my sword, while Aquarian combined the power of Water and Ice into her daggers, and Zack the thunderous power of his Wind and Lightning.

"Excalibur's Light!"

"Gates of Atlantis!"

"Thor's Fury!"

A combination of elements fell over the Tentacle, clashing over its entire body and pushing it down!

CRAAAAASH!!!

Chapter 420 Finish It!

An enormous Blade made of light with the power to slay demons.

A gate that opens towards an endless ocean.

A storm of lightning and winds.

The blade pierced through the tentacle's flesh thanks to my Class, while the water impacted the open wounds and the lightning used the water as conductor, enhancing its ability to spread through the monstrous Demon Tentacle.

BOOOOMMM!!!

The gigantic Demon limb's entire body trembled, as countless burnt wounds began to cover its enormous and elongated body. Its horrendous jaws began to let out terrifying screams of agony.

"GRUUUOOOHHHH...!"

It was still alive, but this time it was struggling! The Fenrir quickly noticed our attack and immediately decided to fight against the demon once more, using his sharp claws and his jaws to slash and bite through the giant creature. His magic attacks became more effective as well, as I realized that my new Class had activated [Rotten Wounds] a few times over the many wounds I inflicted.

I knew the chance was low at 5%, this is why I had decided to attack it multiple times, as my Excalibur Light ended turning into many spikes of light the moment it hit the tentacle.

And meanwhile, we fell into the ground.

BAAAM!

Pyuku swiftly caught us, as I had expected. The moment we got up, the tentacle's insect-like legs immediately attempted to crush us, as if it wasn't busy enough dealing with the giant Fenrir!

CLASH!

However, I didn't run away, using my sword to parry the enormous insect leg and then...!

SLAAASH!

Gave it a good swing! The increased damage against demons seemed to also be able to fight against the strong Demonic Energy coating their bodies, as not only that one leg, but two other legs were easily sliced apart, with rotting wounds to make its wounds regenerate less.

Aquarina and Shade didn't took any time to realize this was the time to attack as well. Aquarina combined her Ice powers which were even more intensified by the power of her Leviathan and Undine combining their strength together! She unleashed another downpour of water and then froze it around the tentacle, inhibiting its movements, all while Zack unleashed electrifying attacks beforehand that also temporarily paralyzed the tentacle.

After all, it wasn't a real Demon anyways, a mere tentacle won't be all that tough if we put our mind into defeating this, especially with the assistance of Fenrir!

"AWOOOO!"

Fenrir decided to receive our aid in the battle, howling loudly as he suddenly conjured several magic circles around him of several colors, a meteor fall of elemental attacks hit the Demon Tentacle, suddenly tearing apart its body into pieces!

BOOM! BOOM! BOOOM!

"GRYYAARRRR...!"

The tentacle groaned in agony, as each piece suddenly attempted to move independently and fight as well!

"Wait, what?! How can we even kill this thing?!" Asked Aquarina.

"This is too ridiculous!" Zack said.

"Aquarina, Shade, stop its movements! I'll slice them out of existence!" I said, as I began to gather more and more Mana into my blade, creating the power of Divine Flames by combining the elements of Ignatius, Alice, and Naturia.

"Alright!"

The two quickly trusted me as they ran forward.

"Icicle Cage!"

CRAAASH!

Aquarina summoned an enormous quantity of ice over the tentacle's body, freezing its body parts. Although they still struggled to fight against the cold of ice.

"Paralyzing Lightning!"

SPARK!

Meanwhile, Zack unleashed a special lightning that didn't interfere with Aquarina's ice, further paralyzing the four pieces of the tentacle.

"AWOOOO!"

Fenrir summoned ice as well, further freezing each part by imitating Aquarina, and then using lightning to paralyze them even more!

Meanwhile, I continued gathering power within my sword...

"Let's go, guys, the last one!"

"A-Alright then!"

"Foo!"

"Take my light!"

Ignatius, Natoria, and Alice gathered their power into the tip of my sword, as the divine brilliance of [Divine Flames] emerged once more, I concentrated all of my time training, the many techniques, and movements I learned until now, and then combined everything with this Divine Fire, unleashing a devastating attack!

"Divine Blade: Excalibur!"

SLAAAASH!

The strongest swing of my blade was unleashed, so powerful that it resembled an arc of Divine Light emerging from the ground itself, and reaching up to 60 meters high into the skies!

TRUUUUUMMM...!

The entire surrounding floor began to crumble apart as the pieces of the Tentacle were disintegrated in seconds. We quickly ran with Fenrir, who suddenly offered us his back.

"Thank you!"

We quickly mounted the fluffy Fenrir, as Naturia and I began to heal his many wounds. At the same time, something ridiculous was happening.

"S-Sylphy, look!"

"Huh?!"

Aquarina called to me as I looked behind me, suddenly seeing my attack continuing its trajectory, reaching the struggling giant Flesh Demon, and piercing through its flesh, slicing it in half!

SLASH!

"What the...?!" My father exclaimed, as he was shocked the demon fell down so easily.

"Is this your daughter's attack?!" Shade asked in just as much surprise.

"GRUUOOORRR...!"

The Flesh Demon was still alive after my strongest attack, and it quickly tried to refuse its two sides, however, my father and Shade saw this as an opportunity, as they flew towards it and quickly annihilated it by combining their attacks together.

"Tempestuous Blazing Sword!"

"Void-Eating Gluttony."

An enormous storm of flames and darkness engulfed the entirety of the Flesh Demon two halves, quickly turning it into ashes in the spot.

BOOOOMMM!!!

The explosion was so loud that its shockwaves reached up to here. Fenrir barked, suddenly generating a barrier to protect us.

When the battle was finally over, we arrived near the burnt forest, as Fenrir let us step out of its back. But I didn't really wanted! It was so fluffy and warm...

"Fenrir, become my Familiar pretty please..." I cried selfishly.

"Arf..." Fenrir seemed to sigh for a bit, as he grabbed me by my clothes and pulled me out gently.

Fenrir barked once more, looking at the three of us with his beautiful blue eyes, and then walked away, rejoining with the many packs of wolves.

I guess he can't leave this place, he's the guardian of the wolves.
