

A Glitched 951

Chapter 951 Inviting Friends Inside The New Dungeon Floor

Today, after a few days of working on alchemy and spending time with my girlfriend, I decided to celebrate the weekend by inviting my friends to my new Dungeon Floor.

"Wow, just what is this place?! It's HUGE!" Zack said, glancing around on utter disbelief.

"I-I can't believe what I'm seeing... Are there places like this out there?" Mist had never seen a place like this before either.

"I-It sure is hot in here! Ugh... Hot damn." Celeste sighed, sitting over her floating spear. "Hey Sylphy, how can you tolerate this place so well?!" She slowly opened her blouse, revealing her big chest... "Hoh? What are you looking at~?"

I quickly pretended to not have heard those provocative words. Celeste is indeed quite pretty and attractive, but my Aquarina is the cutest at the end!

"I-I can tolerate this place because I have dragon scales, obviously." I shrugged. "I found out I could even dive into lava and magma just fine too." I said. "It was surprising though..."

"W-What?! You can do that?!" Zack asked at the same time as Mist.

"Y-You didn't melt?" Zack asked.

"You didn't melt, right?!" Mist asked.

"If I had melted I would have died!" I laughed. "Don't be silly you two... Hahaha, sometimes you two are quite similar."

"Right? They make a cute couple." Celeste laughed.

"Hahh... It's hot here." Celica had little resistant to this temperature.

"Big sis it's really hot, I want ice cream..." Zephy was here as well, sticking close to his best friend Celica.

"HAAAHHH... Why does this place affects me so much?" Aquarina groaned, as I held her at my side. "I'm MELTING..."

"I knew it would affect you somewhat, but this is extreme..." I said.

Since she got here that she felt incredibly tired and exhausted. The fire energy in here wasn't just heat, it was imbued with mana and magic power, which could affect people that was weak against the element negatively.

Aquarina's main elements are Water and Ice, both imbued into her physique, so naturally this hot place is deadly for her...

"Hold still, I'll make something up." I said, quickly beginning to assemble Runes together and then... "[Icy Veil]! [Refreshing Mist]!"

FLAAASH! FLAAASH!

I conjured two special spells made from Ice Magic and Water Magic, covering my friends, and refreshing them entirely.

"Phew... I'll use those spells for myself from now on too." Aquarina finally sighed in relief. "S-Sorry, I should had conjured them myself but... I was too exhausted to even assemble Runes into a Magic Circle."

"It's fine." I patted her head. "Are you alright?"

"Yeah, yeah. Thank you." Aquarina gave me a little kiss in my lips. "Love you."

"I love you even more." I smiled, giving her another kiss.

"Nuh-huh, I love you more and more!" Aquarina giggled, hugging me, and giving me more kisses over my face.

"Sheesh, get a room..." Celeste laughed.

We quickly noticed we were doing things we usually do privately in front of my friends... I felt a bit embarrassed.

"Hehehe, you wish I had a cute girlfriend like Sylphy!" Aquarina got cocky and giggled at Celeste for being single.

"E-Eh? I could get myself a cute girlfriend anytime!" Said Celeste, crossing her arms. "There's a bunch of cute girls in Agarthia, and I am confident in my skills... B-But that doesn't have anything to do! I am just fine being on my own..." She got incredibly embarrassed.

"Wow, first time I see her this embarrassed!" Laughed Mist.lights

"Hahaha, yeah, it's nice to see her not having a cocky smirk for once." Zack nodded.

As they discussed, I glanced back at Zephy, who felt much better. He began wandering around with Celica and her golems.

"Thank you big sis! I feel fine now!" He said happily.

"Me too!" Celica nodded. "Oh, look this rock is weird!"

Suddenly, Celica touched a huge rock, which quickly woke up and emerged as gigantic turtle-shaped small dragon, a Cave Drake was all the way out of their cave!

"GRUOOHHH!"

"Eek!" Celica got slightly scared, but Zephy bravely jumped in front of her, with both of his rapiers at hand.

"A monster! Don't get any closer to Celica!" Zephyrus said bravely. I could see some of the charisma of a hero within him.

I walked towards the two of them, patting the huge cave drake's head. The creature groaned softly, licking my hand.

"Don't worry, as long as I tell them, they won't harm anybody. This guy got a bit away from his clan. Are you lost?" I asked him.

"GROOOHHH..."

The Cave Drake seemed to nod a bit, groaning as if it were talking to me somehow.

"S-She can talk with monsters now?" Zack asked in disbelief.

"Sylphy has sure gotten stronger, huh?" Mist was amazed.

"Talking about animal and spirit talkers... Where are those two Anima at?"

Celica wondered that, as she started looking around our surroundings.

"Over there!"

Aquarina pointed at the distance, as we noticed Lara and Luck were very far away, just wandering in front of the huge Lake of Magma where there were tons of Salamanders.

"Let's go check what they're doing I guess! I can show you more of the places here once we are all together." I said, as everyone nodded and followed me.

The lost Cave Drake also started following me rapidly, he seemed to be a juvenile, actually. It made me feel sad he got lost, so we might as well bring him back home too.

"Hey Lara, don't run away so far! It's dangerous!" Luck was constantly being overprotective of the Saintess of Spirits.

"Wow..." Lara said, walking around. "Hehehehe, there are so many Spirits here! Sylphy your Dungeons are sure filled with Spirits! Lava Spirits, Fire Spirits, Stone Spirits, and... Wow! What is that?"

Lara was looking at many invisible spirits we couldn't properly see, she waved her hand, making them visible to all of us.

And then we noticed several spirits all floating everywhere, filling our vision!

"Uwaaah! S-So many spirits?!" I was amazed.

Just what did this mean?

I thought Spirits are only born within a world, a real world... they are pillars of elements!

After all, Spirits usually dislike Dungeons!

But... does that means that my Dungeon is more like a World than an actual Dungeon?

Chapter 952 A Little Adventure

952 A Little Adventure

"Where did these Spirits came from, Alice?" I asked her.

"Hmmm... Analyzing it out won't yield many results, why not ask the one with authority here?" She wondered. "Dungeon System, don't be shy and come out."

FLASH!

Suddenly a little cubic-shaped System appeared.

[The {Dungeon System} explains that Spirits are born naturally from this Dungeon... Any floor.]

[They are Lesser Worldly Spirits though, not the same as Strong Spirits that can be made contracts with!]

[However, due to their sheer number, they can be a force to be reckoned by when controlled by the Saint of Spirits...]

[Nonetheless, they make it possible for each Floor to be so filled with life and elements, and nature.]

[In a way, this Dungeon is very unique compared to any other Dungeon, as it is developing similarly to a "World".]

[This is because the Dungeon is being made below the powers of the reconstructed Dungeon System and not through the limits of your world.]

"I see... The Dungeon System and the Quest System were scratched elements of the original System, Alice, right?" I wondered. "It's interesting how much that guy that made you added things over. What was his name again?"

"Samsara." Alice said. "And indeed, because I was his first creation, he added many things. He was thinking on creating an "Ultimate System"... I don't know if he ever accomplished such a ridiculous feat. But the only reason I've been able to bring these powers out is thanks to you, Sylphy."

"Nah, well, I just slain monsters and gave you EXP, nothing too big of a deal." I giggled a bit. "Oh! Anyways, we should go bring this guy back home! Everyone, come with me! Let's bring him back home!"

"Oh, the cave drake?" Zack asked. "Why should we care anyways- Ouch!"

"Don't be a meanie, he's scared!" Mist said angrily, giving Zack a little karate chop in the head.

"Big sis! Big sis! Can we ride him?" Zephy asked politely.

"Sure thing! Hey, can you bring them over your back?" I asked the Cave Drake. www.fantasyfiction.com

"Groooohhh..." He gave out a gentle groan.

"You can!" I nodded, as Zephy and Celica quickly climbed over his huge turtle-like shell.

Once they were riding the Cave Drake, and the creature started moving, the two were amazed and happy, giggling at everything happening. 2

"Woow... So cool! I never thought I could be carried by such a big creature before!" Zephy was really enjoying it.

"Hehehe, it's nice!" Celica giggled, suddenly holding Zephy's hand. "Let's hold hands so you don't fall, Zephy!"

"E-Eh? S-Sure..." Zephy swallowed a bit of saliva as he blushed. They were so cute!

"Okay, let's go then!" Aquarina was pumped up. "We'll get this kid back to his mom!"

"Yeah!" I celebrated.

"I guess we'll go too, might as well explore the place." Zack shrugged.

"I want to see the big dragon Sylphy talked about!" Mist was excited. "A big dragon, huh?" Wondered Celeste.

"W-Wait for me, Lara, you're running too fast!" Luck was running behind Lara.

"Carry me to the skies, Dragon Spirits!" Lara giggled.

She had discovered a new type of Spirit near the mountain, the incredibly rare Dragon Spirits, formed out of Draconic Runes and Elements, they fused together into a small, winged dragon carrying her.

Their fusion was temporary though, but they were sure friendly with Lara! Honestly she's quite carefree, and I can tell why though, every spirit always does their best to protect her and help her, so she has a very lax approach to life...

You could say she's spoiled by the spirits!

We entered the depths of the Dragon Nest Mountain Caves, walking inside and finding out many other creatures wandering around.

Colorful, blue-colored Small Blue Drakes were running around, with nimbler bodies and rapid movements.

There were also snake-like dragons moving around, waiting to catch a big prey.

And then, there was a gigantic thing slowly munching on the mountains rocks, it was so huge and was frog-shaped, but with scales and tiny horns on top!

"W-What is that thing?!" Aquarina was amazed by the strange creature.

"Oh, that? That's the Ore-Swallowing Great Cave Drake!" I laughed. "It eats ores and is the strongest of the Cave Drakes-"

"Raarr!" The Cave Drake ran towards the huge behemoth.

However, the Ore-Swallowing Great Cave Drake simply gave him a glance and then ignored him...

That thing wasn't his mother, that's for sure.

"Graaahh..." The little Cave Drake sighed.

"That's not your mom, dummy, it looks too different!" Giggled Celica.

"Poor thing, you really don't remember how she looked like?" Zephy wondered, caressing the creature's head.

"Raarr..."

"Don't worry, we'll find your mom." I smiled.

We kept wandering around the beautiful interior, filled with life and all sorts of ores and crystals we mined for selling or for making up new equipment.

The Cave Drake constantly ran into new Cave Drake variants we found, but none recognized him, and ignored him.

It took us several minutes, almost an hour, but finally, we reached a huge area near the largest interior lava lake.

In there, we found a huge herd of identical looking Cave Drakes!

"It might be this place!" I said. "Go!"

Zephy and Celica quickly walked down from the little guy, as he ran towards his parents. He groaned around, until finally, two big Cave Drakes walked towards him.

"Groooohhh..."

"Grrrhhh..."

The two were his mom and dad, and began to rub their long necks on him, and then licking his face... He was very happy, groaning cutely.

"It's nice that you meet them! Don't get lost again, okay?" I asked him from afar.

"Graaah!" The little Cave Drake groaned happily, as he walked away with the rest of the herd.

"Make sure to not get lost again!" Mist said with a smile.

"Well, that's that then." Zack nodded. "How about we have a picnic? I'm starving!"

"When aren't you starving?" Luck asked.

"Hey! You're the same too, aren't you? I bet your belly is groaning right now." Zack smiled cockily.

"Y-You...!" Luck felt embarrassed, but he was right, I could hear his belly groaning, he was hungry.

"Then let's have a picnic before going back home! I've got something to tell everyone."

Chapter 953 A Picnic With A Giant Dragon

Before having a picnic, we moved to the top of the volcano, where we found where the Crimson Dragon was resting. He was very huge and beautiful, so I wanted everyone to meet him.

"Hey! Crimson Dragon! Are you there?" I asked.

RUMBLE!

SPLAAASH!

"Uwaah!" Mist cried in surprise as she saw the lava splattering everywhere.

"Aquarina!" I called.

"Sure!" Aquarina nodded, conjuring barriers made of water around everyone except me, the lava that hit the barrier instantly turned into black pebbles.

Meanwhile, I was immune to it so it didn't matter that much.

"GRRRHHH..."

The enormous figure of the Crimson Dragon appeared, overflowing with the strength of a Tier 7 Monster... plus some more.

Because he was the Boss Monster, he gets a bonus to his strength and magic power, so he might as well be as strong as Tier 8 Monster.

"It's huge!" Lara laughed. "Oh! So this is where the Spirits come from?! So many fire and dragon spirits coming out of his body... He's like a spirit sanctuary!"

"Spirits are being born out of his body?!" I asked in surprise. "Now that's... something new!"

[The [Dungeon System] explains that, as they said beforehand, Dungeon Bosses are pillars to the ecosystem of this World Dungeon you're creating, therefore, they exude so much elemental power that spirits are instantly born from them.]

"I see..."

It was truly incredible how important they were; I can't believe I ever considered killing him for his heart...

"It sure is big! But I remember that Agni was larger, no?" Wondered Aquarina. "Still, this guy's amazing! And he's your tamed pet too? Even more crazy!"

"I don't like the term pet... He's a friend!" I said with a giggle. "Right big guy?" I caressed his huge snout, as he groaned and licked my entire body.

"Gruooh." He said.

"H-He looks really tame... But I wonder if he'll bite us if we get closer?" Zack wondered.

"I want to pet him!" Mist was decided.

"Me too!" Zephy said. "Can I pet him, big sis?"

"Yeah, sure, everyone can come and pet him!" I laughed. "Behave, alright? Be gentle with everyone."

"Grrrrhhh..." The Dragon gave them a grumpy side-eye to everyone but lowered his head for everyone to pet him regardless.

"Ouch! He's really hot, I burnt my hand!" Zack cried.

"Cover yourselves on the veil so you can pet him." Aquarina said, conjuring the spells I had used beforehand on everyone. "Like this, see?"

"Oooh, much better!" Said Mist. "He's rough like a stone though..."

"There, there, good boy." Zack smiled.

"Hehhee, big dragon!" Zephy giggled.

"Big indeed!" Celica said. "One day I'll make a big dragon golem of this big, gigantic size!"

"Oooh! I bet it's gonna be very strong and awesome!" Zephyrus said, trying to praise his crush.lights

"Hehehe, really? I'll do my best to surprise you with it then, Zephyrus!" Celica giggled.

He's quite good with words. I think dad gave him some tips here and there...but isn't he too young to be thinking about that? I'll have to reprimand my dad later.

"He sure is nice." Celeste laughed. "You're practically a goddess at this point, with all this crazy dungeon you got... honestly, what is there you can't do?"

"Well, I think you're exaggerating, there are so many things I can't do I often feel frustrated..." I said.
"But yeah, I guess it's pretty crazy..."

"GRRRHH..." The Crimson Dragon glared at Celeste angrily for making me think about things a bit too deeply.

"Eek!" Celeste stepped back.

"Calm down, she's a friend. Don't be grumpy." I said, petting his head. "Have you been nice with the other dragons too?"

"GRRRHH..." He seemed to not have been nice.

"You're a King, so you've gotta be strong and rule too but... Don't be tyrannical, okay?" I asked him, his crimson eyes glaring into my own.

"Grrrh..." He rubbed his snout on my face.

I don't know if that really got into him or not...

"Anyways, let's have a picnic in here! He'll watch out for us." I smiled. "Can you stay?"

"GRRH!" The Crimson Dragon nodded, sitting down, and glancing through the mountain into the landscape, a true King indeed.

I quickly took everything out and set up a big picnic. We had to make a special bubble so the heat wouldn't burn everything easily though, but eventually we sat down to enjoy several meals, some I prepared myself and others my mom gave to me.

"So what did you wanted to talk about, Sylphy?" Asked Aquarina curiously.

"Oh well, it was about what I talked with mom and dad... We'll be going on a trip back to our original home back in Cloudia!" I said happily. "Of course, we won't stay there forever, but we might stay for a week or two. So... Do you guys want to come? We'll explore farther into the area I once explored too!"

"W-Wait, what?! Cloudia? You mean the floating continent Cloudia?! The one made by the Gods?!" Zack gasped, opening his mouth wide.

"Yeah, it will be our last big adventure before we depart into our own paths to see each other later!" I smiled. "We'll be going in a month from now, because we need a lot more preparations if we're going on a big group. Mom and dad considered contracting an Airship too."

"A-Amazing, sure! I wanna go! I wanna go!" Mist said. "There's no way I'm missing this opportunity!"

"Me too!" Lara said happily. "I bet there's tons of big spirits there!"

"You only care about Spirits?" Asked Luck, slightly tired. "But yeah, I want to explore that place."

"Of course I don't care about just spirits, I'm just curious. I want to explore its beautiful wilderness with my friends." Lara smiled back at Luck, making him embarrassed.

"Count me on!" Celica said.

"Me too, why not?" Celeste giggled.

"I also am going too!" Zephy said.

"Of course you're going Zephy, you're my brother!" I laughed.

"I don't think you need to even ask me." Aquarina said, smiling. "We made a lot of memories there, didn't we? I bet it's going to be a lot of nostalgia... especially for you."

"Yeah... I also want to meet an old friend I left behind too." I sighed.

Yggdra...

Chapter 954 Visiting Cloudia Again!

Since then, we prepared slowly yet steadily, every day became a preparation day, we explored the forest outside of Agarthia as well to gather materials and make potions and other things, so we can sell them and make up more capital for our future.

I sold off my products to Aunt Aina as usual, and in between little adventures with my friends, alchemy, crafting, and other daily chores while having dates with Aquarina, the month went flying by.

And right now, we found ourselves above the skies, flying on a private Airship my mother rented, which was much smaller but faster and more resistant than normal airships, reinforced with great magic artifacts crafted by the Dwarves themselves.

It was rather luxurious, and it belonged to Auntie Aina actually, but she let us borrow it, having only to pay for the maintenance cost without any rent fee! She was really nice, she's my favorite aunt.

The Sea of Clouds greeted our private airship the more we moved upwards, everyone was amazed, nobody here except my family and Aquarina had come this high before!

"W-Woooah!" Mist cried. "A-Aren't we going too high now? T-This is nuts!"

"We've already gone above the clouds?!" Celica asked.

"Look!" Zack cried. "O-Over there! OVER THERE!"

He was going insane, pointing at a gigantic flying whale.

"Oh, a Sky Whale Family!" Aquarina said.

"Aside from uncle Arafunn's Whale, it has been years since we saw one last time!" I said.

"OOOOHHHH..."

The giant Sky Whales gave a loud cry, slowly flying across the Sea of Clouds. Suddenly, they opened their enormous mouths, swallowing huge flocks of wyverns and other flying monsters!

"T-They ate like a hundred..." Zack was left shocked.

"T-The sky is scary!" Mist cried.

"Hahaha, calm down kids, they're pretty peaceful creatures." My father stepped in. "Pretty amazing though, right? This is the Sea of Clouds, the big layer of clouds covering our beautiful world!"

"Dear, you sure are excited." My mom giggled. "Are you happy we're going back to our honeymoon house?"

"Yeah, I sometimes just wish we could go back there and just forget about all responsibilities again!" He said.

"Well, we can come every year for vacations if we have some time." My mom smiled.

"Really? That would be so nice!" My father said.

"For now, shouldn't we be looking for where Cloudia is?" Shade appeared.

"I can't believe we agreed to this." Nepheline sighed. "Ugh, wherever we came here, I always... ugh, the pressure is strong here, it makes me feel all nauseous."

"Mom, are you okay?" Aquarina ran towards her mom.

"D-Don't worry dear, it's just nervousness." Laughed her mom. "Ugh... Excuse me, I'm going to the bathroom!"

Nepheline ran to the bathroom as fast as she could...

"She sure is quite bad at heights... well, these are extreme heights." Said Ninhursag, giggling.

"I'm quite worried about Agarthia though, will it be fine without us?" Arafunn asked.

"Well, we left half our spirits and familiars protecting that place." My mom said. "Also there's this thing." My mother showed us a ring with a blue jewel.

My latest creation!

"These rings Sylphy made can teleport us to a designated area with the blue jewel left behind back there. It only works once every 7 days, but it's a very convenient teleportation artifact! If we sold it out, it would cost a fortune." My mom said, proud of my creations.lights

"I was only able to make it thanks to the Dimensional Crystal we stole from the Demons." I smiled. "But yeah, it's pretty good! I was only able to make two though, the recipe was too complicated."

"Keep the other on your own, after all it is possible to teleport a lot of people as long as you make physical contact with them." My mom said. "It will be more emergencies!"

"Yes mom!" I nodded.

"H-Hey, I think I'm seeing something!" Said Lara, pointing into the skies. "T-The Wind Spirits, so many! Light Spirits! A-And- OH MY GOSH! What is that?! H-HOLY SPIRIT?!"

FLAAASH!

Lara made us all see what she was seeing, suddenly finding out there was a gigantic, sun-like spirit hovering over Cloudia!

"Oh, that must be the Continent's Holy Spirits! There are about four or five there." My mother explained. "They're the continent's guardians, usually if you're not invited there, they will throw you away with a blast of light!" She laughed.

"EEEH?!" We all reacted shocked.

We didn't knew that!

"Don't worry, we are indeed invited, all of us." My mother calmed us down.

"Wait, that's Cloudia then?" Luck asked.

"Yep, welcome to Cloudia, kids!" My mom said.

The beautiful floating continent finally emerged before our sight, surrounded by beautiful and fluffy white clouds, it was an incredible sight to behold, more than we could have all expected.

Well, I had seen it before too, but even after so many years, it felt like seeing it all over again from the beginning...

There were many huge waterfalls all around it, gigantic mountains, forests, lakes, and at the distance there was even a mysterious golden desert dunes... It was sure huge!

FLAAASH!

The private airship kept traveling across the skies, slowly reaching where we once lived, the Spirit Forest of Cloudia, a beautiful greenery where there are all sorts of Rare Monsters, lakes, and rivers.

Slowly, the Airship landed, even without an airport, thanks to it being nimble and specially enchanted, it could land literally anywhere flat enough.

And we landed right over the ruined farmlands my father once attended to.

"Ah, my farmland is all covered on trees and weed!" My father cried in horror. "It is in such a terrible state!"

"Look, what's that?" I asked, pointing at the distance.

"T-The Spirit Guardians we left behind are still there." My mother laughed.

They were a group of angels made of light and flames my parents created when we left, they were still there standing, even after... almost a decade!

They are a high level summon, so I guess they can last many years, but still, it was amazing.

But above all...

"There it is, Zephy, that was our house before you were born!" I said, pointing at the distance.

"Wow... really big sis?" Zephy asked in surprise, as he glanced at our rustic house.

We were finally back home...

So nostalgic!

Chapter 955 Back To Cloudia!

We reached Cloudia, and the sight alone made me feel such a blissful nostalgia, I couldn't help but shed a small tear. I could easily tell my parents were the same, seeing our old home from the distance must have hit in the feels really strongly for them.

"We're back at our little love nest..." My father sighed, laughing a little as he saw the place.

"And it seems that the Spirit Guardians we left behind are still there too." My mother laughed. "You guys did a good job at protecting this place for so many years."

The Angelic Blazing Spirit Guardians quickly flew back to my mother and my father, fusing back into them as if they had been fragments of their powers they left here.

"Oh wow, I didn't realized how much power it took from me to make these guys..." My father said. "Wait, have I been fighting this whole time while having my power lowered?!"

"It was the same for me..." My mother sighed. "What a terrible oversight from our part. The reason why they lasted so long was because they were made out of fragments of our Spiritual Power, the source of the power of our Spirits and our connection with them."

"W-Wait, what?!" I asked in surprise. "S-So this whole time, both of you have been weakened?!"

"Yeah, we were missing around a fourth of our power." My mother said. "Or 25% in numbers."

"More or less... Woah, I feel so much stronger than before as well. I guess training all these years with our power lowered made a difference." My father was amazed.

"Y-You two are sure something else... Seriously." Shade facepalmed.

"They still were the strongest of our group, even when weakened this far..." Nepheline said, laughing a bit. "You two are sure dummies!"

"Well, when we left these guys here, we did it without thinking we'll end up going away for literal years." My father said, crossing his arms.

"Yeah... They were left behind and we kind of forgot about them until now." My mother said. "Can you blame us? We've been incredibly busy since then."

"I guess there's no helping it with you two..." Arafunn sighed. "You could have simply told me about them and I would have brought them back for you!"

Uncle can easily fly across the skies and the heavens at incredible speeds, he said he could cross the sea to the other continent in less than an hour, so I guess it is possible for him to take a trip here, get the spirits, and come back.

But knowing my parents, they would have never asked him such a thing, they would have felt too embarrassed to even admit it!

"Wow, so mama and papa got super strong again? Cool!" Zephy was happy to be around. "Can I do the same, I wonder..."

"Maybe? One day." My mother giggled, patting his head.

"For now you've been growing stronger really well, you're almost Rank 3 now in your Magic Circle, right?" My father asked my little brother.

"Yeah! I'll keep working hard hunting monsters with big sis too!" Zephy said. "My Physique just got to Tier 2 Rank 5!"

Zephy had been accompanying us the majority of our adventures, by hunting monsters and improving his magic circle, he has been developing slowly yet steadily.

He was growing steadily, probably almost at the same pace as I did and without that many helping items... Though there was one thing I felt a bit frustrated about.lights

When I tried giving him a System to help him grow even faster, I was unable to, for some reason.

Every time I tried to add the seed into his soul, it was rejected and throw away back at me!

And above all, Zephy felt a lot of pain each time it happened, so after the second try, I didn't tried to do it again, and apologized to him for the pain he went through by gifting him a lot of Physique and Magic Circle Growth Potions to compensate.

Alice explained to me that somehow, his soul was so enormous and powerful that it simply rejected the System Seeds... I don't know how that made any sense, but it seemed that Zephy's soul was very special and somehow had an ego of its own? It decided to just reject any help.

I started to wonder if my parents' souls might be the same due to the power they carry... Meaning that the amount of people that can actually get the System are much less than I had originally expected.

Though, he was healthy and growing stronger very fast, so it was alright. It just meant he had amazing potential and talent!

"Hey, is anybody sensing the same thing I do?" Asked Ninhursag. "That huge tree over there. It emits such a rich amount of Spiritual Energy!"

She pointed at the gigantic tree at the distance. Everyone had already noticed it, but once we put our eyes into it more clearly, the spiritual energy overflowing from it was tremendous.

And it sure stood out from the crowd based on its size, it was really, really huge! And it might quite possibly be...

"T-That's... It is, isn't it?!" Aquarina asked me.

"It must be..." I nodded.

The tree of over a hundred meters of height, towering into the highest skies of the world, now having expanded its roots across a large part of the land.

Which was once a small Eden Apple Tree, who don't grow larger than ten meters...

That's Yggdra, what could be said to be my very first Familiar, the little seed I grew using my [Agriculture] Skill when I was literally a baby.

And also the one that gifted me Naturia...

"It's mama, foo!" Naturia emerged above my head, looking at the gigantic tree. "Mama Yggdra!"

"It is indeed Yggdra..." I said with a smile. "How long has it been!" I quickly ran towards her.

It took me a couple of seconds to get towards her because she was so far away, but once I reached her, we hugged her with Naturia with our arms, hugging her old looking trunk.

"Yggdra! Are you there?" I asked her. "I remember you always used to sleep!"

"...Master."

Her voice, for once in many years, echoed within my mind.

Chapter 956 Meeting Yggdra After Years

"I'm so happy you're back... With my child as well..."

Yggdra's voice echoed into my mind, as I felt happier the more I heard her gentle voice, which had not changed at all ever since the moment she grew from that little seed.

"Mama!"

Naturia happily hugged Yggdra with her tiny arms made of branches and roots, the two connected their wavelengths of Spiritual Energy, connecting and sharing their emotions.

"You've sure grown stronger and bigger than ever before, little Naturia." Said Yggdra. "I can see that Master has taken good care of you."

"Yeah! Sylphy has been a good master foo!" Naturia said happily.

"I'm so glad!" Yggdra giggled. "Master- No, Sylphy, you've grown so strong. And... you've also aged a lot, your appearance... I can still see the face of that innocent girl, but you seem to have gained a lot of experience, you look stronger, not just physically or magically. But mentally as well."

"A-Ahahaha, I guess... But well, you're the big one here! Look at you! How long are you? Like... over two hundred meters?!" I asked. "I guess I can't really take you with me anymore... I was planning that, haha..."

"In a way, I'm always with you. Naturia here is not only my child, but a part of my soul and body. As long as she's with you, I am with you too." Yggdra explained. "However, I would like if... it's possible, to create a proper Contract. So I can become your Familiar."

"Right, we never did a proper one, right?" I wondered. "Would making you my familiar help you come along with me?"

"Perhaps not physically, but I could come along through our connected Souls, a manifestation of my powers and my soul could come with you, and perhaps also strengthen Naturia too." Yggdra explained.

"I see..." I nodded. "I wonder, can you soul appear in my Soul Scape?"

"I don't know... but it is worth giving it a try." She seemed to be rather excited herself, her gentle and soothing voice changing rhythm as she spoke.

"Yggdra, you've grown bigger..." Ignatius appeared at our side.

"Yggdra! It is good to see you again!" Alice said.

"Oh, you two! It is nice to see you two once more as well. Ignatius... Seems to no longer be an egg! And Alice, your form, it has changed. You resemble a fairy of light." Yggdra noticed.

Ignatius and Alice had indeed changed a lot since then. Ignatius has become from a tiny floating egg with legs into a large juvenile fire dragon spirit, while Alice from a small sphere of light into a more humanoid-shaped spirit resembling a fairy made of light, indeed.

And while they were talking, the rest of my friends made their way here as well, commenting over Yggdra's titanic size, and asking who she was too...

"S-Such a huge tree! Is this tree a friend of Sylphy?" Asked Celica.

"Yeah, it is like her first ever familiar, a seed she grew with her Magic." Said Aquarina. "She named her Yggdra! It is the mother of Naturia!"

"I-I didn't knew trees could just birth Spirits, that's amazing." Celica pointed out. "Hahaha, and a bit hilarious, honestly."

"She's surrounded by so many Spirits..." Said Lara, amazed. "She's a nest of them, they're literally everywhere! It makes sense she gave birth to them!"

Lara seemed the most impressed by Yggdra. I couldn't see all the Spirits she could, but if she was so shocked, there must be thousands in here, if not... maybe millions?lights

"So this is Yggdra, huh?" Zack wondered. "Kind of makes me mad I lost the opportunity to come visit your home sooner... Unfair that only Aquarina got the chance!"

"Hehehe, you weren't even in our friend circle in those times..." Aquarina giggled. "They were the best because I had Sylphy all for myself!"

"Yeah and I remember you being a scaredy cat baby girl that was so timid and shy." I laughed a bit. "You were so cute!"

"E-Eh?! Don't tell them about that!" Aquarina got embarrassed, suddenly blushing and making that adorable face she used to make, and sometimes still make.

"Really? She wasn't this tomboyish before?" Luck asked in surprise. "Tell me more about this cute Aquarina..."

"I-I'm cute even now too!" Aquarina got angry, barking against Luck.

"Uwaagh... Y-Yeah, you are! You are..." Luck was intimidated more than I thought.

"It's a big tree, I wonder if we can climb it?" Asked Mist. "Hey, Zack, let's climb it!"

"A-Are you sure? Won't Yggdra get angry?" Zack asked.

"You children are free to climb me if you want, but be careful, my body goes very tall..." Yggdra's voice echoed within everyone's minds.

"S-SHE CAN TALK?!"

They were shocked of something so obvious! These guys are sure clueless sometimes...

"Of course she can talk, dummies." I crossed my arms. "Anyways, I'm going to make a contract with her, so for now, step aside..."

"A contract? Wait, she's going to become a familiar, a tree?" Asked Celica. "That's a thing?"

"Of course it is, if it can talk and all, why not?" Aquarina asked, nodding. "The stronger Sylphy gets the better too! Make that contract asap!"

"Though, can she even bring the tree along though?" Wondered Zack.

"Nah, that's not possible for now. I can't bring her physically with me, but with a Familiar Contract, it might be possible to bring her ethereal manifestation with me." I explained with a gentle smile, caressing Yggdra's wood.

"Even with that, it would be incredible! She's an amazing source of Spirits..." Said Lara. "With her along, you could help me get a lot of Natural Spirits!"

"Oh? I guess that's something that could be possible." I nodded, analyzing the pros of the contract. "Well, without further ado, let's begin this, Yggdra!"

"Very well Sylphy." Yggdra said with a soothing and happy voice. "I will extend my soul through rivers of spiritual energy, catch them with your own soul. This process might be slower than usual for you..."

"Got it, leave it to me." I nodded, touching her wood while closing my eyes, trying to fully concentrate.

FLAAASH!

Chapter 957 Yggdra's Life Memories

Rivers of Rainbow light surged from Yggdra's soul, as I connected them with my Soul Aura, quickly making both of our Souls temporarily become one, creating an indestructible connection, a Familiar Contract.

FLAAASH!

In that moment, as the contract was made, I felt connected with Yggdra once more, her emotions, her thoughts, they were shared with mine, and vice versa.

And then, visions of her past emerged, one after another. When she was just but a small seed forming inside an apple from her own parent tree.

To when the apple was eaten, with the other seeds discarded except hers. A little girl with red hair appearing and grabbing her instead of throwing her away like the other seeds were.

"I'll keep you and see if I can grow you with my Skill!" The little girl said.

The seed back then had no idea what she said, it couldn't even hear nor see, but somehow, these memories seemed very vivid now.

The little life she held in her hands slowly started to flourish and develop a soul, a strong soul at that. With each ounce of near endless Mana imbued into the seed, she kept developing and growing.

It was strange yet comforting, the girl's powers were more than just Mana, the Skill she used helped her develop faster than any of her kin.

After a couple of days, she sprouted, something that could only happen after many years of resting below the soil absorbing nutrients, water, and mana from the environment.

Yet that was achieved in just days by this girl.

"Ooh, you're growing faster than I imagined...! Let's keep giving you Mana then!"

Feelings and emotions started to be born as she sprouted and continued growing larger and larger.

The first feelings she ever experienced were those of joy when the girl appeared to give her Mana and water, and the feeling of sadness when the girl went somewhere else, to do something else instead.

Over time, as the weeks went by, and after many cycles of Mana, Water, and the Sunlight from the house's window, she continued growing bigger and bigger, until her roots reached the end of the flowerpot, and she needed to be placed somewhere else...

"You've gotten too big... We'll have to carry you to the outside so you can keep growing as much as you want... Sorry."

After having accumulated so much Mana, and after her soul had grown so big and strong, Yggdra felt anew, as if she had become something else than just a tree.

Quickly after that, the girl and her parents brought her to the outside world once more, where they planted her over fertile soil, and after watering her down, and imbuing mana into her, she felt like thanking the girl.

"I hope you don't mind the chilly air of the mornings..."

This girl that was like everything to her, as if it were her own mother, feed her and loved her like nobody could have ever loved the mere seed of a tree, even as special as a tree of Eden Apples...

She gathered most of the Spiritual Energy she had harnessed within her Soul, and materialized it, with pieces of her own branches and roots, and her very sap, her lifeblood.

And created a child of her own, a small, adorable seed that looked barely sprouting with a tiny leaf. She, a simple Eden Apple tree, had given birth to a Nature Spirit...

FLAAASH!

"Foo! Foo!"

"Huh?! What is... this?"

The spirit she birthed flew towards the girl, making a contract with her, to carry her to every adventure. A piece of herself, to always accompany her, no matter where she could be...

"Your name will be Yggdra from now on..."lights

The girl smiled back at her, hugging her. Yggdra felt happy to be named, and tried to speak, a few words but they came out.

"Thank you... for being... with me..."

And as the years went by and the girl came to visit her almost every day, and then every week, she continued growing larger and larger.

Seeing the life of the girl and her friends and family in the distance, the years went by flying, the girl grew up more, and over time, she forgot about visiting her daily or even weekly.

But she didn't mind, because she was always watching over here, wherever she went, through the eyes of her precious little daughter.

And even when the girl went away, giving one last glance at Yggdra before never returning for many years, she stood there, strong.

"Sylphy..."

She often thought about her as the days went by, months, and then years... Despite the slight sorrow she felt for her friend to have gone away, she never stopped loving her.

"I'll wait... I'm sure that one day... you will return... my dear friend..."

Nights after nights, days after days, her body kept growing larger, and larger, and larger... Reaching the skies themselves.

The entire world could be seen from the heights she reached, she felt strong, and big.

She sprouted many fruits and gave birth to many children that started growing around her as her seeds fell off from the fruits.

A family of her kin grew at her side, supporting her growth with their own smaller roots, and she in return protected them and feed them Mana and Spirit Energy.

A huge forest expanded from her very body, yet... As her life continued for many years, she couldn't stop thinking about her.

The red-haired girl that helped her get this far. Although her daughter accompanied her now, she couldn't see nor sense her completely.

They were too far away...

"I'll wait... for as long... as I... need to..."

Days, nights, days, nights...

"Sylphy..."

And her hope paid off, as she returned one day, many years later, even bigger than ever before, and with her daughter all grown up, capable of even speaking.

After living so many adventures and going through so many things... they were back.

The joy she felt was indescribable, like a mother finally meeting her children after many years.

"Yggdra! I'm back!"

"I knew you would return..."

Although she had no eyes to cry, I felt her tears in that moment...

Chapter 958 Premonitions Of A Dark Future

But then, after I saw that past she lived... Suddenly, something else emerged. It wasn't a part of her past, yet it wasn't within her mind, somewhere.

A completely red sky, flames covering the entire landscape, monstrous and strange creatures roaming the entire world, and a gigantic, red castle resting amidst these infernal landscapes.

From within this castle there was an endless evil darkness, surging everywhere, covering the entire world. This darkness glanced into my very soul in that moment.

Its eyes glowing bright red, its claws extending towards my soul, as if trying to grasp it!

"This world... It shall be consumed... Like the previous one was."

It spoke with a nefarious voice, darkness encompassing and engulfing me completely.

The infernal flames of this landscape hid behind the ruins of enormous buildings that resembled the ruins that the Gods had built in ancient times.

And as this strange, demonic being emerged from its red castle, six other figures, just as gigantic and demonic as this one appeared amidst the flames, speaking in unison.

"By the grace of our almighty Lord, everything shall be consumed by the flames of eternal rage!"

Their powers consumed my very soul, it felt as if I was burning alive, being torn to pieces...

This strange vision quickly ended, however, as I felt like it was merely a small thing, when it felt so vivid and real...

But then, a second vision emerged just like the other, glimpses of a possible future, or perhaps a forgotten past, or maybe... somebody else emerged.

This time, it was a gigantic city, resembling the capital of the Elven Kingdom. However, most of the buildings were destroyed and set ablaze.

The entire city was on ruins, thousands of corpses laying over the rubble, blood everywhere...

And then there was a young person, sitting over a pile of corpses, of many elves, I couldn't see his face, nor even how he looked like, but he was wearing a black suit, and holding a crown made of darkness.

His aura exuded an almighty power, while he held with his hands... the head of the King?!

"I will purge this world of filth, and free it from all you..." He spoke. "My people shall no longer live in fear... I will shape this world for them. Even if I have to kill millions."

His eyes glowed with pure malice, darkness, and red energy overflowing from them, as he stared into my very soul.

The vision quickly ended there, leaving me completely speechless...

And then, the third and last vision appeared.

An endless sea of blood flooded over the entire world. Rivers of blood, the corpses of billions of people, and other lifeforms floating over the endless blood.

The world was filled with crimson red and darkness, and the skies slowly opened to reveal a gigantic metallic airship, where many celestial figures emerged from within.

On top of the sea of blood, a strange, aberrant being emerged, composed of all the dead, all the blood, the whole world itself.

Its body constantly shapeshifted into many monstrous forms, constantly attempting to regain its true form, but never managing to...

On its gigantic claws, there were the lifeless bodies of... me and my family?

"GRAAAHHH...! RAAAHHHHH...!"

The gigantic monster cried in agony and despair, its countless eyes overflowing with tears of blood, as if it didn't wanted to do what it did... as if it didn't wanted to kill anybody, yet it was somehow forced to.lights

The Celestial figures emerged from the skies, their divine weapons on hand as they clashed against the endless abomination.

One after another, they were killed, the world... was freed from the gods.

But at what cost...

Everyone was dead, not even the Demons were spared...

It was a lifeless world, filled with a sea of blood and corpses.

And... the endless cry of a child.

"Ah!"

When I opened my eyes, I felt slightly tired, but the soothing warmth of Yggdra encompassed my entire body, calming me down.

"Yggdra... W-What was that?! What did I saw there?!" I cried, asking for an answer.

"I'm sorry..." Yggdra cried. "I couldn't stop it. I... as I grew, I developed a power, an ability. I can see glimpses of possible futures, premonitions. It seems that such things activated when we made a contract..."

"P-Premonitions... of a possible future?!" I cried in horror. "W-

What... what does that... even... means?"

"It means that they have yet to happen, and that they might not even happen at all..." Yggdra said, feeling sorry for me. "I-I'm so sorry, Sylphy... It's all my fault... I never asked for this power."

"..." I remained in silence, calming myself down from seeing such horrors. "I-It's fine." I smiled, caressing her wood. "If those things have not happened yet, then... We'll make sure they never happen."

"Sylphy..." Yggdra said, surprised over how quickly I accepted things.

"Sorry, I had a bit of a panic attack there, but I'm glad to know it was just a premonition." I sighed in relief. "Nonetheless, that's a lot of food for thought."

"C-Certainly." Yggdra nodded. "I also saw what you saw, to an extent... These premonitions might have been what I would call... The Three Calamities. Three different Calamities that will bring an end to the world as you know it. It feels... almost as if Fate itself wanted me to show these to you."

"I see..." I contemplated. "I-I'm still processing things. Let's discuss this later though, I wouldn't want to ruin this nice moment with this. But... I'll think about these things for now."

"Yes, it's fine. I'm sorry again..." She sighed.

"No, it's alright. You shouldn't be sorry about these things. They certainly didn't come in the best time but... Well, they'll help me figure things out one way or another." I patted her wood. "Right, Naturia?"

"Foo! Foo!" Naturia nodded. "I don't know what you're talking about but I'm happy you made a contract! Mama's power is overflowing through you, Sylphy!"

"Oh, right..." I said, feeling my Aura constantly growing larger. "T-This is amazing..."

Ding!

[You've made a Familiar Contract with [Juvenile Eden Apple Spirit Tree: Yggdra (Tier 8)]]

Tier 8?!

Chapter 959 Yggdra Gets A System

Ding!

[You've made a Familiar Contract with [Juvenile Eden Apple Spirit Tree: Yggdra (Tier 8)]!]

[Your Soul and their Soul have connected together, creating an indestructible connection!]

[Due to the special Abilities of Yggdra, one of your Skills has gained a new Ability!]

[The [Heavenly Sight: Lv7] Skill has acquired the [Premonition (7)] Ability!]

[Premonition (7)]: Occasionally, and randomly, you will receive a small glimpse of a possible future, a Premonition showing you what could happen to you, the world, or your loved ones. This cannot be activated manually and will only happen whenever Fate decides to. The Premonition Details become better with each Skill Level, and so its activation chance. Premonitions might be shown while you're awake, or in dreams.

I acquired it as an ability! Amazing... Well, it might surely be useful in the future, I think...

Ding!

[The power of your New Familiar and her abilities are incredibly compatible with your Soul, Magic Circle, and Physique!]

[Yggdra's Spiritual Energy and Mana are overflowing through your body!]

[New Spiritual Runes and Yggdrasil Runes are growing across your Magic Circle and Physique!]

[Meanwhile, your Soul is absorbing this energy and growing much larger!]

[Your [Magic Circle]: [Tier 6: Rank 1: Spiritual Princess Magic Circle] has grown up to Tier 6: Rank 2!]

[Your Magic Spell Power has increased greatly. Your Spirit Magic has now become even stronger.]

[Your [Physique]: [Tier 6: Rank 1: Divine Yggdragon Princess Physique] has grown up to Tier 6: Rank 2!]

[Your body has become considerably tougher. You can now exert even more muscular strength.]

[Your [Psyche]: [Tier 1: Rank 5: God Devouring Abyssal Soul Psyche] has grown up to Tier 1: Rank 7!]

[Your soul has become larger and healthier, it is slowly beginning to gather multiple energies and converging them together into something greater.]

Suddenly, my Cultivation shoot up by a mile as this contract with Yggdra ended enhancing everything by a lot!

"Amazing... This is seriously incredible." I said. "Just a single Rank is hard to get for Tier 6 and above... I guess it makes sense, seeing how you're Tier 8 yourself, somehow! How did you even do it?"

"I am not sure..." Yggdra said.

"Although I would like to talk with you two about what you were talking regarding some sort of premonition..." Alice said. "Let's better leave that for later and allow me to explain why she became so strong! It is quite simple, as a tree, her physique can grow as she grows her branches and roots, and because she expanded all this forest around her, she connected with the entire forest, giving her even more power. Every dozen of meters, it was like gaining more Ranks. Over time, she reached Tier 8 without realizing."

"Being a tree sure has its cheats..." I was surprised. "What about her Magic Circle?"

"Monsters and people have different ways to grow. The same goes for the majority of your Familiars too. Yggdra is... something between a Monster Tree and a Spirit, but she does grow like them. They don't have magic circles, but they possess a Mana Crystal, or Mana Core. Yggdra here must have a core, a crystalized amalgamation of all her spiritual energy where she stores her magic power, and it constantly grows as she gets taller." Said Alice.

"I-I never thought about it too deeply." Yggdra confessed. "But I'm glad I've become stronger so I can be of some help for Sylphy."

"I wonder if she can get a System Seed?" I wondered, asking Alice.

"I think she could... We can always try. I've absorbed back the seed created for Zephy, but I'll make a new one right away." Alice said, quickly conjuring her powers, as a small silver cube emerged from her body. "Her soul is very strong, though I don't know if as strong as your brother's... Yggdra, will you bear with it?"

Ding!

[You have exchanged 3.500.000 EXP!]

[You've created a [System Seed]!]

FLASH!

"Huh? Oh, is this the System... thingy you can do? I did see some of that within Sylphy's memories." Yggdra commented. "I'll gladly give it a try." She said with her gentle and soothing voice.

"Then...!" Alice said, quickly pushing the cube into her body.

FLAAASH!

Her soul instantly absorbed it, surprisingly, as countless of green and blue circuits started growing across her gigantic body, making her glow brightly!lights

"T-This power...!"

Yggdra was shocked but calmed herself down as she slowly absorbed and tried to make this power hers.

Slowly and steadily, the light receded, and the System Seed's powers fully became one with her.

<Status System>

[System Owner]: [Yggdra]

[Race]: [Juvenile Eden Apple Spirit Tree]

[Rank]: [B-]

[Level]: [0/80]

[Class]: [Developing World Tree]

[HP]: [320.000/320.000]

[MP]: [865.000/865.000]

[Strength]: [5.500]

[Defense]: [32.500]

[Magic]: [47.500]

[Resistance]: [45.000]

[Agility]: [1.500]

[Luck]: [10.000]

[Charm]: [25.000]

[Skills]: [Divine Spirit Tree Body: Lv7] [Spirit Nest: Lv6] [Super Enhanced Magic Vitality: Lv5] [Spirit Forest Domain: Lv5] [Divine Spirit Fruit: Lv4] [Elixir Sap: Lv3] [Mana Recovering Leaves: Lv3] [Yggdrasil Magic: Lv3] [Spirit Magic: Lv3]

And her status was, much simpler than I imagined, but amazing nonetheless!

She had so many interesting Skills it was insane too!

But they all kind of made sense, even the one that seemed to enhance her Vitality based on her own Mana.

There was also one to create fruits, sap, and leaves, all with healing effects of varying qualities...

Lastly, there was Yggdrasil and Spirit Magic, the most mysterious ones, yet obvious ones at the same time.

But above all, her stats!

Aside from a few ones, they were incredibly high compared to even Nephilim!

Is it because of her gigantic body and enormous reserves of energy?

And maybe because she had her roots connected to over a hundred other trees around her, forming a gigantic forest.

Her Mana was the highest I've ever seen on someone before too, and also her health!

"Yggdra, how do you feel?" I asked her.

"I-I think I'm fine..." She said. "It's strange, this power... I can see a window with information too, what is this?"

"Well, let's begin explanations then."

Like that, we spent a couple of minutes explaining Yggdra what these powers were about with Alice.

Chapter 960 Spiritual Soul Manifestation

After explaining Yggdra about everything, she seemed to have understood better. She seemed particularly excited about the idea of monster hunting.

Even as a tree, she can do that pretty easily by extending her roots around and generating huge spears made of her wood, and this place is filled with high tier monsters, so she can get some very good EXP like that.

However, there might be another method too, such as summoning her Manifestation!

There wasn't any Skill in her Status showing that though, but I'm sure there might be a possibility for her to develop something.

"A Manifestation seems harder to create than I imagined..."

However, after some minutes of trying, there were no results. Yggdra seemed rather exhausted of trying for so long too.

Trying to grab her soul out didn't work, trying to channel her powers into my body only gave me a really strong Aura, but it didn't worked either.

And Natoria didn't seem to be able to summon her powers either... We were out of options and ideas.

"Sorry, I thought it might have been easier, but this is really a hellish thing to try out!" Alice sighed.

"Yeah, sorry." I apologized.

"N-No, it's fine! Really." Yggdra answered. "I'm just happy to be here with you! Even when you depart, now that we share this contract, I'll be there much more than before... I'm sure."

"Hmmm... Well, for me that's clearly not enough, right, Natoria? Don't you want to see your mom more often?" I asked her.

"Yes!" Natoria nodded happily.

"Then we have to find a way to... Wait, maybe I've gotten an idea." I wondered.

"Hey, Sylphyyy! We're back!"

My friends were mostly done exploring the surrounding forest, and quickly reunited with me, led by Aquarina. Meanwhile, our parents and everyone else were wandering around the house, checking it, and clearing the farm.

"Aquarina! I've already made a contract with Yggdra, I even gave her a System Seed!" I said with a smile.

"Oh?! Nice! Though I don't know if you can carry her around..." Aquarina said.

"Yeah, that's already not within my plans." I laughed a bit. "Though, is Lara round?"

"Lara?" Aquarina wondered. "Yeah? What do you need her for?"

"I think I've got an idea, and I'll need her powers for this..." I said. "Lara! Can you come here for a bit?"

"Huh? Sure!" Lara came running almost instantly. "What do you need, Sylphy? Oh! Yggdra's gotten stronger and a bit bigger now!"

"Yep, though, we're having a bit of a difficult time trying to figure out a way to summon her manifestation of... Well, her soul." I explained. "I was thinking we needed some sort of power, something that could draw an Astral Avatar out of her soul, can you help?"

"Oooh?! I think I could do something!" She suddenly seemed overly enthusiastic. "Would it be alright with you, Yggdra?"

"Sure, Lara." Yggdra answered to her through telepathy. "You seem like a pure-hearted child."

"Okay! Then let's begin... Everyone, come here! All of you, yes, you too!"

Lara suddenly made the rest of the Spirits visible, hundreds, if not thousands of Spirits of many elements gathered into her hands, amassing into a gigantic sphere of pure spiritual power.

Her magic was already incredible, but this just is in another level... To think she can just easily command any spirit and make them converge into so much energy.

She's sure a Saintess!lights

FLAAASH!

"Now, let's do this and this..." Lara manipulated the mass of thousands of fused spirits, placing it on my hands, and then spreading it and shaping it into a thread, connecting it to Yggdra's soul.

"W-What is this?" I wondered.

"This is a special thing I just made." Lara smiled, her golden eyes glowing brightly. "I call it Divine Spirit Thread, it further strengthens the power of two souls by connecting them very strongly!"

"Amazing." I was surprised. "So how do we use it?"

"It's simple, it's already done! Just try it and then we can try to enhance it further." She said.

"A-Already?" I asked.

"Yep!" She nodded.

"Okay..."

I quickly closed my eyes, pushing my hands into the air and trying to... well, summon Yggdra's Soul or a part of it in front of me, into a more compact, ethereal, and spiritual form.

"[Familiar Spirit Manifestation]!"

FLAAASH!

And it worked like wonders!

Yggdra manifested in front of me in mere seconds, her physical body remaining the same as before, but her Spiritual Soul emerging in that split of a second, forming into the shape of... a young-looking, yet gentle and mature at the same time fairy.

She resembled more Alice than Naturia, in both her humanoid appearance and that she was made of spiritual energy and was not pseudo-physical like Naturia with her roots and branches.

She was made of mostly green light, and had cute golden eyes and long, green hair, while wearing clothes made of leaves, her wings resembled flower metals.

"T-This body... It feels... so free! I've become a Spirit myself?!" Yggdra was amazed. "Lara, you did this?"

"Hehehe, pretty cool, right? It should be done now!" Lara resolved our problem incredibly quickly.

And it only took her like... two thousand Spirits to do it, I guess that was a lot, yeah...

Ding!

[The Familiar Yggdra has developed the [Spiritual Soul Manifestation: Lv1] Skill!]

"With this Skill, it is now possible to channel Yggdra's Spiritual Soul Powers through the [Divine Spirit Thread] connecting both souls, summoning a Pseudo Soul Spirit at your side, at anytime, anywhere!" Alice explained the Skill.

"Oh, really?" Asked Yggdra. "This is so convenient! I'll be able to explore the world with Sylphy too!" She seemed incredibly joyful.

"Though, bear in mind that this Pseudo Soul Spirit only shares 50% of Yggdra's total stats, but it can grow stronger anyways, and the Skill Level will increase her ability to gain her original stats." Alice said.

"Sure, sure, we get it!" I nodded, as I held Yggdra's hands and we started jumping happily, celebrating this moment.

"Well, I guess you're really a Saintess if you can do miracles like those." Aquarina laughed, patting Lara's shoulders.

"Hehehe, I'm just glad the big tree gets to be with us from now on!" Lara smiled innocently.
