

A Journey 321

Chapter 321 Heading Out

That's when he remembered what Lioran said and asked her. "So why do people avoid you? Even now these guys are keeping their space?"

As he spoke he approached Halime who backed off as she held her hands up in front of her. "I can't touch other people."

Before he could continue his conversation with Halime, Lioran interrupted and asked. "Archer want to come out with us? There are some good places in the city?"

He looked at the lion boy and nodded before sending a message to the girls but none answered apart from Talila who was training.

Archer asked her if he wanted to join him and she agreed, he opened a portal and she appeared wearing a beautiful red summer dress which caught him off guard.

Talila giggled when she saw his reaction but waited for him to compliment her. He shook his head and commented. "Wow, Tali. You are beautiful."

When the elf girl heard him, her brown cheeks turned red but a small smile was on her face. But she soon grabbed his arm as she greeted the others with a nod.

Halime saw all this and was jealous as she knew she would never experience that sort of thing but she shook her head to clear such thoughts.

That was when Archer appeared in front of her with a charming smile on his face catching her off guard. "What is this black curse?"

She looked at him and hesitated to answer because she didn't want them to avoid her but Archer noticed her hesitation and spoke again. "Don't worry I won't avoid you."

Halime sighed before explaining. "I am a rare Black Mamba demi-human that is born into the Nagendra Royal Family. My venom is powerful and I can't control it."

Archer looked confused and asked. "What do you mean you can't control it?"

A sad smile appeared on her face as she told the group. "If anyone touches me there is a chance they will be poisoned and my nails always produce the stuff."

He looked confused but made sure his immunity was still activated and got closer to the girl but Talila stopped him. "Arch, what are you doing?"

When he heard her he turned to her and answered with a smile. "I want her to poison me."

Talila, Nala, Lioran, and the two lion girls all looked at him like he was crazy and Lioran stepped forward. "Why do you want to do such a stupid thing?"

Archer shrugged as he answered. "I want to become immune to said poison and will go around collecting them to eat."

When everyone heard him they shook their heads but Talila just watched him.

The girl in question started panicking but couldn't move as Archer cast Mana Manipulation to hold her still.

He stopped in front of her as he held up his wrist and spoke. "Bite me."

She looked at the crazy boy in front of her and wondered why he wanted to die but after an inner fight, she grew curious about him.

Halime's snake fangs appeared as she nervously grabbed Archer's wrist. She thought he would flinch when she touched him, but he remained still.

"I don't know why you want this and I think you're crazy." She said as his fangs pierced his wrist.

Archer felt a stinging pain but he soon felt his new spell kick in, so he checked it quickly.

[Immunity: 0>2]

His eyes widened when he saw the skill level up. He felt lightheaded but it soon vanished and he felt normal.

Halime stopped biting him and anticipated him to collapse to the floor but no he was just standing there with a stupid smile on his face.

Archer felt relaxed and enjoyed the sensation of the poison traveling through his body. It wasn't doing any harm to him but soon died out.

He looked at the exotic girl who was looking at him in shock along with the others. Talila was the first to speak. "Are you okay Arch?"

When he heard her he turned to her and nodded. "Yeah, I am fine. It tingled a bit but felt really good."

Halime stepped back in shock as she thought to herself. 'How is he not dead? It's the black mamba poison, not some everyday one.'

She didn't know how he was alive but a spark was ignited inside her which lit up her already gloomy world.

Archer shook his head and stepped back as he looked at a shocked Lioran. "Are we ready to go?"

The boy nodded his head and started leading the way out of the college. They started walking back to Starfall City.

Talila looked behind her and saw Halime in her own world and nudged Archer as she spoke. "Go check on the snake she looks like she's in a daze."

He nodded and fell in next to the snake girl who came to when she saw him and spoke. "How are you alive?"

Archer looked at her with a smile as he touched the scales on her hand. "Well I have an ability that nullifies poisons and it gives me the tingles which felt nice."

When Halime heard his reply she smiled as she started speaking. "No one has ever tried touching me since a maid died years ago but here you are wanting me to bite you."

He started to laugh and spoke. "Yeah, I like to do what I want whenever I want to. Plus I knew I wouldn't be harmed by you and hopefully, other students won't be so scared of you in the future."

After he finished speaking he dragged her with him to walk with Talila again. When they got to her he grabbed the elf's hand.

Talila turned to him with a smile when she saw the snake girl just standing there embarrassed.

"What did you do to her you lustful dragon?" She said in a teasing tone.

Archer looked at her as he acted hurt. "Tali. How dare you accuse me of doing something to Halime. I would never."

He leaned over and whispered into the snake girl's ear. "Unless you wanted me to do something that is."

When Halime heard his words she shivered and quickly made her way over to the lion girls. Talila followed after kissing him on the cheek.

That was when the other girls sent him messages causing him to get a headache and open a portal.

Ella walked out first followed by the other girls and a shocked-looking Leira. He smiled when he saw the cat girl and spoke. "What have you seen now?"

Leira turned to him with her green eyes and approached him as she asked. "You have wyvern, dragons, and a whole city in there?"

Archer looked at her like she was an idiot which caused a vein to bulge in her head as she snapped. "Don't look at me like that dragon."

Her reaction caused him to laugh but he answered her. "Yeah, I do and I rescued everyone there or my subordinates did. But it's a place they can grow until I find land for us."

Leira nodded as the other girls appeared and each one greeted him with a kiss before they joined Nala and the other girls who were watching.

Once they were gone he was left alone but followed behind them. That was until Lioran joined him and spoke. "The girls seem to get along well."

Archer looked at him and nodded. "Yeah, they do."

He didn't know how to react to this overly friendly guy who continued to ask questions. "Is it true that you were swept down south? Is that where you met the girls?"

When he heard Lioran's question he shrugged and decided to see if he could get along with him. "Yes I knew Ella from before but the rest I've met on the way north."

Lioran nodded and continued to speak. "I heard they were arranged marriages. Are you okay with that?"

Archer looked at him before answering. "Yeah, it doesn't bother me as they are wonderful girls and have brought peace to my life."

The lion boy looked at him and saw Archer's possessive eyes when he was looking at his girls.

Lioran shook his head and spoke. "Well, that's a good thing. Let's head for a restaurant I know it serves delicious food."

Archer agreed and the two continued to talk as they approached the city gate and were let through.

The girls stopped talking to the others and approached Archer. Teuila spoke. "What is the plan, Darling?"

He looked at his ocean princess before answering. "Lioran knows a good restaurant we can go to."

They nodded their heads with smiles as Talila and Hemera stole his arms from the other girls.

The large group kept walking as Halime stayed close to Archer and was becoming fascinated by him.

She noticed that he treats all the girls the same and shows no favoritism.

Chapter 322 Siblings

Soon the group passed through the city gates and Lioran led them to an expensive-looking restaurant that they entered.

Archer noticed that there weren't many people there and only about five people in total. An older man stepped forward and guided the group to a large table in the corner.

When they reached the table, Archer sat down and Halime sat next to him, causing the rest of the two girls to look at her with jealousy.

But Talila explained her situation and they all rolled their eyes as Leira mumbled as she took the other seat next to him. "Playboy dragon."

He looked at her with his piercing violet eyes but he wasn't done there he leaned forward and bit her ear causing her to let out a moan.

Leira covered her mouth but it was too late and everyone looked at her. Nala grinned as the other two lion girls just looked at her.

That was when Nala suddenly asked Archer a question. "When can we fight dragon?"

He was shocked but shook his head with a grin of his own. "Soon."

Nala's smile grew bigger and excitement could be seen in her eyes. When Lioren saw this he shook his head as he commented. "No fighting just yet Nala. The year has only started, you two have enough time."

Archer nodded his head as his tail swayed in excitement. That's when the member of staff started taking Lioran, Nala's, and the other two girl's orders before he turned to Archer and the girls.

The girls gave him their orders before he turned to Archer. He looked at the man. "Give me two of everything."

When the waiter heard this his eyes opened wide but nodded and rushed off to sort the very large order out.

That was when Lioran's fiance Leonora asked Leira a question. "Princess. So are you the same as these other girls and engaged to Archer?"

Leira nodded her head with a small smile and replied. "Yeah, but we are taking things slow at first."

The lion girl nodded as Halime asked a question herself. "How long have you girls been with him?"

Hemera answered. "It's been just over a year since we met and Hecate is a bit shorter but the others were there before me."

As she finished Sera spoke up in a proud voice. "I've been with him since he was thirteen."

Halime looked at the redhead with curiosity in her eyes and inquired. "How? You look young as it is."

Sera narrowed her eyes and snapped back in annoyance. "I'm nineteen thank you."

When the snake girl saw that the redhead was annoyed she spoke. "Sorry if I offended you. I was just curious."

Before Sera could reply Hemera spoke up. "Me and Hecate are the second and third oldest but before us is his aunt Sia Silverthrone."

As she finished speaking Nala and Lioran interrupted as they spoke at the same time. "Silverthrone?"

Hemera nodded. That was when Nala asked a question. "You mean the Dawnbreaker general? The one who is in the south fighting the Misthaven Kingdom?"

It was Archer who replied without a care in the world. "Yes, she is my Mother's older sister. We are engaged and the emperor blessed it."

Nala's eyes narrowed and Lioran's eyes widened, he shook his head and spoke. "You will be marrying your aunt?"

Archer smiled and gave her a nod which caused the other two lion girls to make disgusting faces.

That's when his eyes narrowed at them and spoke. "You can make whatever faces you like. The opinion of cats doesn't bother me. But as a dragon, blood means nothing to me. I was once half human but now that is gone along with the human taboos and such."

Everyone stopped talking as they listened to him speak but that was when another group entered the restaurant.

Two girls and a boy in particular stopped walking and looked at Archer with wide eyes while the rest of the group continued to another table.

That's when he heard Ella's voice. "Arch. Two of your sisters and brother have walked in, but they ain't the ones who gave you trouble."

He looked over at the three people who were staring at him. Archer stood up and approached them.

As he walked he searched his memories for their names and they came to him.

'Keia, Kestria, and Ryn Ashguard.' Archer thought to himself.

Archer examined the two girls. They look like twins but Keia has yellow eyes like her Mother Ksara and brown hair like their father.

Kestria had brown hair and green eyes just like Leonard. Archer's eyes looked at Ryn who was his blood brother. They shared the same Mother.

He came to a stop in front of the three who were a little shorter than he was. Archer smiled as he greeted his siblings. "Sisters and brother. How have you been?"

The two human girls and dragon-kin boy just stared at him as he spoke. Kestria stepped forward and asked in a quiet voice. "Do you not hate us, brother?"

Archer looked at the cute girl and gave her a smile which caught her off guard as he replied. "No, I don't hate you three. You's never mistreated me but that was in the past."

He motioned to an empty table and they all sat there. As Archer was about to talk Ella appeared and sat next to him.

Archer looked at her and shrugged before he spoke to his sisters. "You two have bloomed and become beautiful flowers. I'm happy you didn't have to endure what I did."

That was when Ryn finally spoke up. "Big brother why don't you hate us? Don't you hate the whole Ashguard family?"

He looked at the boy who resembled his Mother and shook his head. "Because if I wasted my time hating our family then I would be wasting my life when I have nine beautiful fiances and I'm sure it won't stop there."

As he finished speaking a voice was heard from behind them. "You are probably right. After all, you're a lust-filled dragon."

Everyone turned to see Nefertiti standing there looking at the group. She smiled at Archer and sat down on the other side of him.

She eyed the two pretty humans in front of her and spoke in a teasing tone. "Oh is my husband trying to claim his two sisters? They look like two angels who will be corrupted if you lay your claws on them."

[Kestria POV]

When she heard her brother's fiance speak she felt her cheeks go red, Kestria looked down and couldn't look at her brother.

But after calming down she lifted up her head and looked at him.

Archer's face was a masterpiece of masculine beauty, a symphony of features that came together to create an undeniably handsome visage.

With a strong, square jawline that seeped confidence, his face seemed chiseled by the gods themselves.

His eyes were a mesmerizing shade of violet, radiating both depth and warmth. They had an almost magnetic quality.

High, chiseled cheekbones lent an alluring structure to his face. Beneath them, his lips were impeccably sculpted, forming a naturally subtle curve.

His nose was straight and regal, perfectly complementing the harmonious balance of his features.

His skin, flawless and sun-kissed, seemed to glow with vitality, accentuating the overall allure of his face.

Kestria admired his short white hair that added a touch of rugged charm, framing his face with casual elegance. When he smiled, his entire face transformed.

A confident, heartwarming grin revealed impeccably straight teeth, and his eyes lit up with a contagious warmth that left a lasting impression on anyone fortunate enough to witness it.

She shook her head as a thought popped into her head. 'He's so handsome now, no wonder why Auntie Sia wants to marry him.'

That's when the pink-haired girl laughed again pushed up against her brother and spoke in a teasing tone again. "You can see she thinks your handsome husband. Just look at their innocent faces."

Kestria laughed and tried to change the subject. "Is it true what you've been up to brother?"

[Back to Archer]

Archer looked at his sister who looked like the younger version of Jade. he thought she was adorable.

But he nodded his head as he answered the girl. "Most probably. I don't know what you've heard but it has been a busy three years."

The group chatted for a little while before Archer, Nefertiti, and Ella returned to their table after promising to see the three siblings again.

When they sat down Lioran spoke. "So you're not a hateful person as the rumors suggest."

Archer looked at the lion boy who had a big smile on his face, he shook his head and answered. "No. What's the point of holding onto that hate? It won't do me any good. It's best to let it go and live life."

Lioran nodded his head and agreed with Archer. That was when Ella spoke. "It's best to leave what happened in the past, it's not like they can ever hurt you again Darling."

Chapter 323 Chase To The Mithaven Capital

Archer looked at the half-elf and smiled but as he was about to speak the waiter returned followed by a few more men.

They started placing the food on the table and got a second table to put Archer's food on. When they were done he admired the food.

On every plate, there was a towering heap of food. The table itself groaned under the sheer amount of dishes that were placed before them.

There were roasted beast meats, succulent and dripping with juices, their aromas filling the air with an irresistible fragrance.

Towering stacks of golden-brown fried Ironbeak wings, glistening with a mouthwatering glaze, beckoned to him.

He saw mounds of fluffy mashed goldroot, smothered in rich gravy, and vegetables that looked so vibrant and colorful they could have been plucked from a magical garden.

There were pastries, both sweet and savory, with flaky, golden crusts that crumbled at the slightest touch.

Archer's gaze traveled to the desserts, where a mountain of sweets awaited him.

There were towering cakes with layers of cream and fruit, their icing intricately decorated with swirling patterns.

Beside them, platters of pastel-colored macarons and delicate petit fours seemed almost too beautiful to eat.

But it was the centerpiece of this extravagant feast that truly stole the show. As the waiter finished setting the last dish in place.

Even Nala, who had been eagerly expecting the feast, looked momentarily stunned by the sheer excess of food.

Archer leaned back in his chair, a grin spreading across his face as he surveyed the delicious-looking food.

It was a feast fit for a king, or in his case, a dragon. With a mischievous glint in his violet eyes, he turned to his companions and declared, "Let the feast begin!"

They soon started to dig in, savoring every bite of the feast that stretched before them.

Archer started eating plate after plate until he was full and the girls were looking at him while giggling to themselves.

As he finished eating he got a message from Sia that shocked him. "Husband! Help!"

He jumped to his feet shocking everyone at the table. Hemera was the first to speak. "What's wrong Arch?"

"Sia is in trouble," Archer said as he walked away from the table. Before he left he dropped a pouch of gold coins on the table and told the girls to stay until he got back.

They all nodded as he cast Gate to Sentinels Reach and whispered "Draconis."

His draconic features appeared shocking Lioran, Nala, Halime, the lion girls, and his siblings. But Archer soon stepped through the portal.

Archer flapped his wings appeared on the other side and saw a siege taking place. It looked like the Avalonians were on the back foot as Misthaven soldiers were already on the wall.

The sun was setting beyond the mountains which cast a beautiful color over the landscape.

He dived down as he folded his wings in and soared toward the ground but as he got closer he cast Blink and appeared behind a group of enemy soldiers who just climbed up the wall.

With a slow, confident grin, he bared his gleaming white teeth, a primal challenge to his opponents.

The soldiers, taken aback by the sheer audacity of this boy before them, hesitated for a brief moment.

But Archer didn't wait for them to regain their composure. In one fluid motion, he lunged forward, his claws extended like gleaming blades.

His right claw swiped through the air, meeting a soldier's sword with a resounding clash of metal.

Simultaneously, his powerful tail whipped around, smashing into another group of soldiers with bone-crushing force.

They were sent sprawling like ragdolls, their armor no match for his sheer strength. Archer's teeth sank into the armor-clad shoulder of another soldier, rending metal and flesh with ease.

His eyes gleamed with satisfaction as the soldier cried out in agony. As the battle raged on, Archer's movements were a deadly dance of precision and brutality.

Each swipe of his claws, each swing of his tail, and each bite of his teeth brought down Mithaven soldiers like leaves in a storm.

Soon enough the enemies that were on the wall were dealt with but the rest of the Mithaven army kept firing boulders and spells into the castle.

As Archer stood on the wall he looked at all the injured Avalonian soldiers and cast Aurora Healing on all of them.

They got back to their feet and looked at Archer in amazement but he could sense Sia anywhere.

He grabbed the closest soldiers and spoke with a growl. "Where is Sia?"

The man's eyes widened as he stuttered out. "A High Mage captured her my Lord."

Archer let go of the man and jumped onto the wall as he looked out over the attacking army he got angry.

The Mithavenians fired another volley of spells and boulders but Archer cast Crown of Stars multiple times.

He flew toward them and the violet motes that destroyed the incoming volley. Archer cast Azur Comet a few times when he saw the number of soldiers.

The sky above the battlefield was eerily silent, save for the distant rumble of thunder.

Dark storm clouds gathered, casting a shadow over the Mithaven army as they prepared for another attack on the castle.

Archer, who was now back standing on the wall with his hand high into the air. His piercing violet eyes scanned the enemy below.

Above him, a series of brilliant violet comets materialized, trailing fiery tails as they hurtled down from the heavens.

The Mithaven soldiers, their faces contorted in fear and disbelief, watched as the comets descended with unstoppable force.

Each comet blazed with an otherworldly radiance, casting an eerie glow upon the battlefield.

The first comet struck with devastating impact, slamming into the center of the Mithaven army.

The ground quaked as a shockwave rippled outward, sending soldiers sprawling. Armor shattered, and bodies were torn asunder by the explosive force.

A second comet followed suit, crashing into a cluster of enemy war machines. The fiery explosion engulfed the siege engines, reducing them to smoldering wreckage in an instant.

Wood and metal splintered and burned, and the screams of the Mithaven engineers were drowned out by the chaos.

The third comet descended with precision, targeting a group of Mithaven mages who had been casting destructive spells of their own.

Upon impact, a blinding burst of arcane energy erupted, disintegrating the mages and leaving nothing but scorched earth in their wake.

Archer's eyes never wavered from the destruction unfolding below. He knew that the tide of the battle had shifted in their favor, and the Mithaven soldiers, once steadfast, were now in disarray.

As the dust and smoke settled, Archer surveyed the aftermath. The Mithaven army lay in ruins, their forces scattered and demoralized.

He looked at the same man he grabbed and spoke. "Where would they take her?"

The man pointed southwest so he nodded and jumped off the wall and sped after the High Mage who took Sia.

As he streaked through the sky, his powerful dragon wings propelled him forward with incredible speed.

The wind roared in his ears, and his violet eyes were fixed on the horizon where the sun dipped below the distant mountains, casting an eerie, blood-red glow across the landscape.

He pushed himself harder, his wings beating with a thunderous force that sent shockwaves through the air.

His scales shimmered in the fading light as he strained to go even faster. The world below became a blur of colors and shapes, and he could barely make out the terrain beneath him.

Archer's mind raced as he replayed Sia's message in his head. He couldn't bear the thought of her in the hands of the High Mage, and his determination burned like a raging fire.

He knew that he had to reach her as quickly as possible, and there was no limit to what he would do to rescue her.

His keen senses caught a faint trace of magic in the air, leading him in the right direction.

With a burst of speed, he followed the magical trail, trusting his instincts and the bond he shared with Sia.

As he flew he spotted a castle below so he flew toward it but soon saw spells flying toward him.

Archer easily dodged them as he cast dozens of his own spells at the castle. 'Elemental Fury.'

Element beams of fire, water, earth, thunder, light, and dark shot toward the castle and slammed into it causing multiple large explosions.

He kept dodging spells that were fired at him until he managed to grab a soldier off the wall and flew back up.

Archer looked at the man and spoke. "Where is the High Mage who captured the Avalonian general?"

The man looked at him and quickly answered as he pointed west. "They are headed toward the capital. The King wanted the general."

His eyes narrowed. "What do you mean?"

"The general is strong and the emperor will pay a high price to see her returned to the Avalonians." The soldier answered.

Archer didn't bother asking any more questions as he dropped the human and then cast Meteor Swarm on top of the castle.

Chapter 324 Attacking Mithaven

The air grew heavy with the promise of impending doom. That's when a loud roar could be heard from above.

Large comets pierced the night as a cascade of fiery rocks streaked down from the heavens.

They were like falling stars, blazing with celestial fire. The first meteor struck the highest tower of the castle, sending chunks of stone and debris flying in all directions.

The impact shook the very ground, But that was just the beginning. Each meteor smashed into the castle with loud explosions that could be heard from miles around.

The fortress shook as it crumbled, walls turned to rubble, and towers became ashes. Archer watched with a sense of grim satisfaction as the Mithavenian castle was reduced to ruins.

His vengeance had been exacted, and his enemies vanquished. The night sky, once darkened by storm clouds, now revealed a canopy of stars as the storm dissipated.

He looked at his handwork before he started flying west and saw Mithaven soldiers marching toward the Avalonian border.

Furious, he flew right above them as he took a deep breath, then let out a stream of violet flames, burning the soldiers below.

All he heard was screams of burning humans as he soared past until he came to a fort which he instantly attacked.

Archer descended to the fort courtyard and let the soldiers surround him with a grin on his face.

An older man appeared looking flustered as he looked at Archer. The man spoke. "What is the meaning of this? Who are you, boy?"

He just stared at the man but soon answered. "Your High Mage kidnapped my fiancée and I'm here to get her back. It's as simple as that."

Archer looked around and saw even more soldiers appear, he looked back to the commander and continued. "Well, now you've brought doom upon yourselves. So let's have fun."

The Mithaven soldiers, initially smirking at the lone figure in their midst, watched with growing unease as Archer cast Cosmic Sword.

A giant dragon slayer sword appeared in his hand as he finished casting his spell. Its sheer size was imposing.

Archer gripped the hilt with both hands, his muscles tensing as he prepared for the onslaught about to unfold.

A surge of power coursed through him, his body and the sword becoming a storm of destruction.

He swung the Cosmic Sword in a wide arc, unleashing his strength upon the encircling soldiers.

The earth trembled as the enormous sword sliced through the soldiers, smashing their armor and splintering their shields. Bodies were thrown like leaves in a storm.

Archer's strikes were powerful and unrelenting. The soldiers couldn't defend against his devastating blows.

Those who dared to challenge him faced an unstoppable force. His movements were graceful yet lethal, every strike aimed to cause maximum destruction.

The clash of steel filled the courtyard with chaos as sparks flew. His eyes blazed with anger as he continued his relentless assault.

He carved a path of death through the soldiers, his every movement an undefeatable force.

The Cosmic Sword left trails of stardust in its wake. As the last remnants of the Mithaven soldiers fell before him, Archer stood triumphant amidst the carnage.

Archer's scales bore the marks of battle where some soldiers got lucky hits on him but he shook them off and looked at the commander.

The older man's eyes locked onto the blood-spattered youth before him, a solemn recognition in his gaze.

Looking at the grim courtyard, he witnessed the grim aftermath of the one-sided battle, with wounded and dying soldiers spread about, their groans filling the air.

With a grim determination, the man understood that the youth before him showed no signs of stopping until they were all dead.

He steeled himself for a final confrontation, ready to make a stand and buy precious moments for any survivors to make their escape to warn the kingdom.

The commander had years of combat experience and thought he stood a chance at the demonic boy.

Archer, his violet eyes focused as he gripped the Dragonslayer tightly in his hands.

The colossal blade crackled with turbulent mana, its radiant glow casting eerie shadows across the blood-stained ground.

Without a word, the Mithaven commander lunged forward, his sword slashing through the air with deadly precision.

Archer quickly evaded the attack with an agile sidestep. The old man's blade whistled through the space where he'd been standing a second ago.

He retaliated swiftly, his own sword arcing toward the older man's side. The commander who was battle-hardened managed to parry the blow with a resounding clash of steel.

Sparks flew as the two combatants locked blades, each pushing against the other with relentless force.

Their faces were inches apart, locked in a fierce battle of wills. Archer's violet eyes bore into the commander's unyielding gaze.

Sweat trickled down the man's forehead as they strained against each other. With a sudden surge of strength, Archer broke the deadlock, pushing the commander back.

Archer pressed forward, launching a flurry of frenzied strikes, forcing the older man to desperately evade the sweeping arcs of the colossal sword.

The commander, though aged, showcased formidable expertise, deftly deflecting and sidestepping Archer's relentless assaults with the grace of a seasoned warrior.

Their swords engaged in a deadly dance, every clash and parry a mesmerizing spectacle.

The courtyard stood witness to their fierce confrontation, the air tense with anticipation as the duel unfolded.

Archer's movements were agile and unpredictable, weaving around the commander's strikes like a phantom.

His strikes were wild, aimed at breaking the man's defenses. The commander began to show signs of fatigue as the intense duel continued.

In a final, decisive move, Archer feinted to the left before swiftly shifting to the right. The commander, momentarily deceived, left an opening, and he seized the opportunity.

Archer swung the massive sword and managed to break the man's blade, after doing that he sent a punch to the older man's face.

When his fist connected, the commander was sent flying backward and crashed through the doors of the fort.

Archer dismissed his sword and summoned his stone loot goblins. He ordered them to retrieve the hearts and any treasure they could find.

After dealing with them he strode into the grand hall of the Mithaven Fort, his footsteps echoing through the dimly lit chamber.

The sight that greeted him was one of chaos and disarray. Tables were overturned, tapestries torn, and the remnants of a hurriedly abandoned feast lay scattered about.

As he entered, a group of soldiers rushed out from various corners of the hall, their weapons drawn and faces filled with dread.

They formed a defensive line, ready to confront the intruder. Ignoring the tension in the air, Archer's eyes fell upon a roaring fire in the hearth.

A large piece of meat roasted on a spit. Its savory aroma wafted through the hall, tantalizing his senses and causing his stomach to rumble.

Without hesitation, he made his way over to the fire and grabbed a generous portion of the meat.

The frightened soldiers watched in astonishment as he took a bite, savoring the flavors with a praising nod.

With a mouthful of food, Archer turned his attention back to the bewildered soldiers, his violet eyes locking onto theirs. He chewed slowly, seemingly unfazed by the confrontation.

"Now, gentlemen," he said, his tone casual between bites, "before we continue the party, can anyone tell me where the cook went? This meat is quite delicious, and I'd like to compliment the chef."

The soldiers exchanged confused glances, unsure of how to respond to the mysterious figure who had just strolled into their hall and casually started eating their food.

One brave man aimed a crossbow and fired but Archer was ready as he cast Crown of Stars that quickly took out the bolts.

He then cast Solar Flare Barrage and burning violet orbs appeared around him. Archer ordered them to strike the soldiers who started charging at him.

The orbs shot toward each soldier as more appeared above him and also flew toward them. When they hit the humans they tore through their bodies.

They collapsed to the floor lifeless with a look of shock on his face. The hall was left in silence. Archer could hear his loot goblins fighting with some survivors but the sounds died down.

Archer sat there and continued to eat the food as he waited for the treasures he would get.

After a little while the little Stone Men returned and dumped over twenty chests in front of him as others handed him two hundred human hearts.

He stored everything and left the hall behind after downing a goblet of ale. Once he was outside Archer flapped his wings and took off.

When he was above the fort he sent a message to the girls saying that he was okay and would be back soon.

Teuila was the one who replied. "We are back in the domain waiting for you."

Archer smiled when he heard the ocean princess's voice and sent one to Leira to tell her Father to invade Mithaven as soon as possible.

Chapter 325 Claws Vs Sword

Once he spoke to the girls Archer flew straight to the Mithaven Kingdom capital as the sun was setting overhead.

The landscape boasted vast stretches of lush, rolling green fields that bordered the immense Sunfire Jungle.

Archer's keen eyesight caught sight of numerous farms scattered across the terrain, and even in the darkness of night, the kingdom remained bustling with activity.

As he glided gracefully above the kingdom, Archer noticed a stream of people hurrying towards the capital, seeking refuge.

That's when he spotted soldiers also rushing to the city and with a grin he swooped down and attacked them with his dragon's breath.

The violet fire washed over them turning them to ashes and scaring all the people who saw his attack.

After burning them he let some of the soldiers get away to spread the news of his attacks. That's when he saw dozens of spells flying toward him.

Not bothered with them he quickly cast Blink and vanished. He reappeared above the spells and swooped down toward the wall.

But the ones that managed to hit just dissipated into nothing as magic wasn't a problem for him as long as they were weaker than him, all thanks to his skill Anti-Magic.

As he dived towards the earth, he started casting Element Bolts, directing them towards the soldiers positioned on the wall he had spotted.

The bolts raced forward and slammed into them causing massive explosions all over the place but he wasn't done as he whispered. "Draco."

He turned into his dragon form as he crashed into the city walls. With a thunderous impact, Archer smashed through them.

The very ground quaked as chunks of stone rained down upon the confused defenders, and the city's once-imposing fortifications crumbled like paper before Archer's power.

Soldiers, caught in the chaos, were flung through the air, their cries of alarm lost amidst the deafening destruction.

Within the city walls, Archer unleashed his fiery breath, the flames roaring to life and consuming everything in their path.

The once-secure city had now become a battleground, with him at its center.

Before he launched his attack he alerted General Mohamet and the dragon-kin to the incoming battle.

Now that he was standing in the city he summoned them. Over five thousand dragon-kin warriors, Huntresses archers, and three earth dragons which the general was riding on top.

Archer looked down at the man and spoke in a deep voice. "Loot the city. Kill anyone who gets in your way and take in anyone who wants to join us."

Mohamet nodded his head and started relaying Archer's orders to the soldiers who got to work.

They didn't know what it was over but they knew their king wouldn't just summon them over nothing and took their job seriously.

General Mohamet and the earth dragon bowed down to him as the general spoke. "Your Majesty. I hope you don't mind me asking but what has happened?"

Archer looked at the man who had been with him since the beginning and answered, "They kidnapped my woman. Now they will pay."

When Mohamet heard this he became enraged and shouted out to the soldiers. "These foolish humans have kidnapped our queen. Show them the foolishness of their ways."

As he finished shouting the soldiers became frenzied and started fighting twice as hard before they started looting and herding friendly humans into a safe area.

Archer watched them doing their job and nodded at the general who stood guard at the now-broken wall before taking off.

He hovered in the air as he activated his Aura Detector and searched the city for Sia but couldn't find anything.

After doing that he flew over the city and saw many noble homes, he descended to the closest square and cast Stone Warden hundreds of times.

When the Stone Men appeared he ordered them to loot and deal with the Mithaven soldiers in the city but leave the dragon-kin and Huntresses alone.

They rushed off to complete their orders. That was when Archer flew toward the royal castle that was in the center of the city.

As he got closer he sensed loads of enemies around him, so he cast Crown of Stars and they instantly activated and took out all the hiding soldiers.

Explosions were going off all over the city as Archer crashed into the palace walls causing them to collapse.

When the dust settled he saw a middle-aged man standing there with a confident look on his smug face.

Archer scanned the man.

[----]

[High Mage]I think you should take a look at

Before the High Mage could respond, Archer took a deep breath, combining all his elements into a single attack.

When he roared at the man a multi-colored breath slammed into him. His breath was beautiful, swirling colors that wiped out the man's existence like he wasn't even there.

His rage-filled roar shook the surrounding buildings causing panicked screams to be heard all over.

Once he finished, he activated Aura Detector again and found Sia being guarded by six men.

She was on the opposite side of the palace, Archer let out another ferocious roar that shook the city before turning into his humanoid form to enter the palace.

When he entered a guard attempted to ambush him with a sudden leap, but he swiftly retaliated, viciously tearing into the unsuspecting human.

He ripped his body into two as he stormed toward the others that appeared and started butchering them like they were livestock.

Some of the human soldiers were in shock at the brutality of the white-haired boy but it was too late for them as his claws rendered armor and magic shields meaningless.

That was when Archer bit into what looked like the guard commander while his tail slapped away the remaining soldiers.

As they crashed to the floor he cast Element Bolts into the collapsed humans causing them to scream out in pain.

He bit down harder causing the man to screech out in pain as his bones were crushed.

But he dropped him to the ground as he spoke in anger. "Where is the Avalonian general?"

The man pointed in Sia's direction just before Archer killed him, he quickly made his way in the direction the soldier pointed in.

His Aura Detector picked up more soldiers guarding a room that was just down the hall. As Archer got closer he saw the soldiers and quickly cast Celestial Beam as he came to a stop.

A brilliant beam of pure, radiant energy erupted from him. The area filled with a celestial glow as the energy shot toward the Mithaven soldiers.

Caught off guard by the sudden attack, they scrambled to defend themselves. Shields were raised, and swords were drawn.

But the beam was relentless, piercing through their defenses with the power of a supernova.

Most of the soldiers were killed but three were still standing as they managed to block Archer's attack.

He thought to himself. 'They must be the king's elites.'

The three were clad in black colored armor decorated with twisted, ominous symbols with a strange-looking symbol on it, and stood in a triangle formation, blocking Archer's path.

Each held a wickedly sharp blade, and their eyes burned with hostile intent.

He acted quickly, casting Blink to vanish from his spot, leaving a shimmering afterimage in his wake.

They exchanged startled glances, their heads swiveling as they tried to locate him. But before they could react, he reappeared right in their midst.

With a savage primal roar, he lunged forward, his claws gleaming in the dim light of the palace.

The first elite, a hulking figure swung his large sword at him. But Archer was faster, he dodged under the blade as he sliced the man across the elite's chest.

The armor offered little protection as he tore through it, leaving deep slashes in their wake.

The man howled in pain and staggered backward, blood pouring from the wound. He wasted no time and turned his attention to the second elite.

A swift and agile warrior with a pair of serrated blades. With a lightning-fast strike, Archer's tail whipped around, aiming for the elite's legs.

The elite tried to evade, but Archer's tail was eager as it wrapped around his ankles, tripping him, and sending him crashing to the ground.

Before the fallen elite could react, it tightened its grip, constricting it like a vice. Bones snapped, and the humans' agonized screams filled the air.

Archer let go when he knew the enemy couldn't harm him anymore. The third elite, clever and quick, tried to attack from behind.

But his heightened senses allowed him to foresee the attack. He spun around, his claws meeting a sword in a clash of sparks.

They were locked in a deadly embrace, Archer's eyes locked onto the elite's. With a fierce growl, he pushed forward, overpowering his opponent.

The human staggered back, losing his balance. Seizing the chance, Archer pounced forward, his claws finding their mark.

Chapter 326 You Do Not Know What You're Doing

Archer threw the dead human off to the side. He went to carry on but before he could someone appeared catching him off guard and received a punch to the chest.

He was sent flying and crashed through walls until he hit a pillar. Archer wasn't hurt because his scales blocked most of the attack.

When his head stopped spinning, he looked at the attacker and saw a blonde woman standing there with a grin on her face as she held a spear.

Archer stood up and shook his head as he sent a message to Teuila. He wanted her to deal with this woman because he didn't want to fight this woman and wanted to get Sia.

A portal opened and she walked out holding her sword as she stared at the enemy. She spoke without looking at him. "Go get Sia Darling, they won't hurt her as she is a noble and can be ransomed, but they won't treat her like one."

She smiled at him before finished speaking. "I will have no issues dealing with this woman."

Archer dashed towards the woman, casting Blink to vanish from sight, only to reappear behind her in an instant.

With a swift motion, he delivered a powerful kick that sent the door crashing off its hinges.

[The girl's POV]

Teuila faced off against the blonde woman who seemed to be a high-level knight in the Misthaven Kingdom.

The clashing of steel rang through the corridor as they began their deadly duel. Teuila moved with skill, her movements precise and controlled.

She parried the blonde woman's initial strikes, her sword was a blur as they danced through the hallway.

With each exchange, their skill and technique became more apparent. The blonde woman was no novice either.

She skillfully countered Teuila's attacks, her swordsmanship revealing the results of years of dedicated training.

Their footwork was flawless as they fought through the narrow hallways, skillfully using every inch of space to attack each other.

As their duel continued, it became a bewitching display of combat prowess. Teuila's blue eyes never left her opponent's red eyes.

Her focus was unwavering as she tried to find an opening in the knight's defenses. She lunged and parried.

Just when it seemed the battle might reach a stalemate, a new presence emerged. Hecate appeared at the end of the hallway.

Her weapon gleamed with a dangerous aura as she joined the fray, coming to Teuila's aid. With a swift and skillful motion, Hecate thrust her spear at the woman.

The blonde woman was forced on the defensive with two opponents now, the two girls tag-teamed the woman putting her on the back foot.

Blades clashed and sparks flew as the trio engaged in a fierce battle of skill and weapon mastery.

The palace hallway echoed with the clash of metal and the girl's grunts. The tension in the air was noticeable, each combatant pushing themselves to their limits.

Teuila and Hecate had the elite knight on the backfoot but couldn't outright defeat her, that was when more soldiers appeared from the opposite side of the hallway.

They were getting worried when another portal opened and mana arrows flew out of them and exploded among the Mithaven soldiers.

Ella walked through the portal followed by Talila, and Hemera. That was when they saw arcane spells fly over them and crash into the incoming soldiers.

Nefertiti walked out joined by Sera who had her claws ready. She charged at the remaining humans and went wild.

When Teuila and Hecate saw this they smiled and continued their attacks on the blonde knight.

But this time they were joined by Talila with her double short swords. As the three girls got ready to attack, a thunderbolt flew at the woman but she dodged it causing an explosion.

Teuila turned around and saw Leira standing there casting her magic to help them.

As the three faced off against the formidable blonde knight in the palace hallway, their coordinated attacks began to take their toll.

The knight, though skilled, found herself gradually overwhelmed by the relentless assault of the three ladies.

Teuila led the charge. With her expert swordsmanship, she pressed the attack. Her blade darted forward in swift, precise strikes, forcing the knight to defend herself with all her skill.

Her strikes were unfailing, each one inching closer to breaching the knight's defenses and pushing her back.

Hecate supported her with calculated thrusts and sweeps, she created a lethal dance of steel.

The spear's gleaming blade was a constant threat, leaving the knight with little room to breathe or counterattack. Her spearwork was both graceful and deadly.

That's when Talila moved with unparalleled speed. She darted in and out of the fight, her twin short swords a blur in her hands.

Her strikes were like lightning, striking from unexpected angles and disrupting the knight's attempts to regain her footing. I think you should take a look at Talila's swift, coordinated movements added a layer of complexity to the battle.

The palace hallway echoed with the clash of steel and the knight's grunts of effort as she struggled to fend off her skilled adversaries.

Teuila's relentless precision, Hecate's powerful thrusts, and Talila's lightning-fast strikes formed a seamless attack.

The blonde knight's movements grew more strained, her defenses weakening. She attempted to counterattack.

But the combined efforts of the three women were too much for her to handle. Her swordplay, once impressive, began to falter.

Finally, in a moment of vulnerability, Teuila's blade found its mark. With a swift, decisive strike, she disarmed the knight, sending her sword clattering to the ground.

She stumbled backward, breathing heavily. Hecate followed up, using the butt end of her spear to strike the knight's armor-clad chestplate.

Hecate's attack sent the knight sprawling to the ground, her breath knocked out, leaving her defenseless and defeated.

The battle had taken its toll, and the once-confident knight now lay defeated at their feet.

The trio of women, with exceptional teamwork and individual skills, had successfully overwhelmed their opponent.

As the knight struggled to rise, Teuila, Hecate, and Talila stood in a defensive formation, ready to take any further action.

The rest of the girls dealt with the remaining soldiers as they spotted the Stone Men placing chests in a nearby courtyard.

Teuila knew it was Archer looting the royal's treasure.

[Sia's POV]

"Husband! Help!" She sent a message to Archer hoping he would come to help her.

Sia was captured by the Mithavens High Mages and overpowered during the surprise siege.

They used flying magic to escape. The two High Mages raced back to the royal capital to hand her over to the king.

She passed out when the man tossed some sleeping powder in her face. When Sia awoke, she found herself chained to a chair in a fancy room.

That's when she heard explosions beyond the door as two men stepped into the room. She knew one of them as the king of Mithaven Thaddeus Mist.

He looked at her with a lecherous grin as he spoke. "Well now I finally see the famous Dawnbreaker general in person the rumors don't do you justice. You're even more beautiful in person."

Sia looked at the man and warned him. "You do not know what you're doing. When my husband comes he will burn this kingdom to the ground."

When King Thaddeus heard this he slapped the dragon-kin woman whose ears twitched as she gave the human a bloody smile. "He's here."

That's when the king heard explosions and then an earthshaking roar that frightened him. Thaddeus turned to the woman and spoke. "Who is that?"

Sia was about to speak but the High Mage who kidnapped her spoke. "If rumors are true that's the white dragon that caused chaos down south. But why is he here?"

Thaddeus looked at Sia in shock but planned to use the woman against the dragon to escape so he walked over to Sia and grabbed her by the neck.

He slapped her again but as he went to pick her up the room door flew off its hinges and crashed into the wall next to him.

The king and High Mage turned around to see a white-haired boy staring at a smiling Sia but when he saw her his rage exploded.

Sia stared at Archer who was standing there as the mana around him started going crazy, that's when she saw his violet eyes blazing in anger.

She thought to herself. 'Wow, he is really angry.'

But before she could blink Archer vanished and reappeared in front of the Misthaven king and used his tails to pierce the man's leg.

The High Mage charged forward but she saw Archer cast an unknown spell that blocked all magic in the area.

She felt the chains grow weak and the human charging at him collapsed to the floor, his body was weak due to his journey back to the capital.

Sia watched as Archer threw the king against the wall as he dealt with the mage who captured her.

He picked him up by the neck and spoke as the man started to beg. "You kidnapped my wife to hold her hostage and think you won't suffer."

A wicked grin crossed his face as he spoke, "You'll regret not perishing with the other humans. But it won't be simple. First, I'll destroy every castle in this kingdom as you and your king watch."

Chapter 327 What Have You Done Now

Archer threw the High Mage to the floor after tearing off one of his legs causing him to scream out in pain.

Smiling at his handiwork before knocking the man out then turned to Sia who was staring at him with a big smile. He walked over to her and ripped the chains off her.

She quickly jumped up and hugged him as she shoved his head into her cleavage which didn't bother him.

He loved the soft feeling, Archer loved her scent was alluring to him and started turning him on.

But he backed up and smiled at her as he finally spoke to her. "Hello Sia. Sorry, I was late I made a few stops on the way."

The older woman smiled as she looked at him. "That's okay I knew you'd come. I'm glad you gave me that bracelet."

Archer nodded as he hugged the woman causing her to melt into him. He saw her horns and thought they were adorable.

After he hugged her for a while the girls entered the room as Ella spoke. "All the soldiers are dead and those Stone Men have a pile of treasure so big that it's taken over the palace courtyard."

He smiled as he answered. "Okay, girls let's go. I got to return the favor to Misthaven."

They all nodded and left the room as he cast Mana Manipulation on the two humans and dragged them along with them.

That was when Archer noticed Leira staring at Sia and commented. "What's wrong my cat girl?"

She turned to him and asked. "You're marrying General Sia?"

He nodded with a big smile as he grabbed her into a hug which she loved. Archer leaned forward and bit the tip of her cat's ear causing her to shiver.

Leira smiled causing the other girls to laugh but Sia and Nefertiti just watched him with narrowed eyes.

Archer saw this and sighed to himself as he let Leira go and walked over to his yandere fiancées and pampered both of them.

He passionately kissed Nefertiti while he squeezed her round ass which caused her to moan, once he was done with her he approached the dragon-kin woman.

Sia had lust spilling from her eyes but she shook her head as he arrived in front of her and also kissed her while his sneaky hand grabbed her massive boob.

His actions caused her to let out a small moan while kissing him, Archer separated from Sia with saliva still connecting them.

The other girls watched the two with jealous eyes and he felt it so he did the exact same with the rest of them.

He pinched and fondled each girl causing them to blush but he didn't try anything with Leira just yet as she didn't seem ready.

Archer could see the jealousy in her eyes but smiled at her as he moved closer and whispered into her twitching ear.

"Do you want a kiss?" Archer said in a low voice causing her to shudder.

Leira shook her head and replied, "Not here. I want it to be just the two of us."

He gave her a nod and then spoke. "Okay, girls. Do you want to join me as I destroy this kingdom or do you want to hang out in the domain?"

They looked at each other and nodded before Hemera spoke up. "Me, Hecate, and Talila will head back to the domain to train some more."

Ella was the next to talk. "I also want to train some more after I get some sleep."

Nefertiti was tired due to the amount of mana she used and Teuila wanted to relax for a little while.

Archer looked at the last two girls and Sia who was staring at him with smiles. So he asked the redhead. "What do you want to do Sera?"

Her head tilted as she answered. "I'll come with you, sweetheart."

When he heard her call him that he started to think of his Mother on Earth who used to call him that.

He shook his head and nodded his head with a smile causing Sera to get excited. Archer then looked at the cat girl and Sia.

Sia stretched and spoke. "I want to join you, husband."

Leira also wanted to join him. When he saw her answer he opened a portal to the domain and each girl kissed before walking into it.

Once Hecate stepped through the thing it collapsed and the room went silent as the four of them were standing there.

Archer started walking out of the room followed by Sia, Sera, and Leira. They made their way to the courtyard.

When the group arrived they saw a massive pile of chests, gold, and other valuables. Archer's eyes shone bright.

He promptly stashed everything in his Item Box and would organize it once he had finished with the Mithaven Kingdom.

They made their way out of the palace and when they got outside Leira spoke up. "Father said he's mobilized the Avalon army and is marching south. But he left a message for you."

Archer focused on her as she continued. "To my son-in-law. What the fuck have you done now?"

When the four heard it they started laughing as they exited the palace. Once they were outside he whispered. "Draco."

He turned into his massive dragon form which shocked Sia but love hearts appeared in her eyes when she saw him.

Archer lowered himself to the ground so the two girls could jump up on him but Sera also transformed into her dragon form.

Leira and Sia were surprised when they saw a five-meter-long red dragon who started hopping around Archer.

He lowered his head and nudged Sera who did the same while purring before they took off.

The two dragons soared through the sky in their mighty dragon forms, their scales glistening in the dying sunlight.

They had decided to unleash their formidable power upon the castles, forts, and Mithaven soldiers.

As they approached the first castle, Archer let out a deafening roar that shook the very foundations of the fortress.

The soldiers inside scrambled in fear as the walls crumbled around them.

Sera, with her majestic wingspan, sent a torrent of fiery breath down upon the stronghold, reducing the soldiers to ashes.

They moved to the next fort, where archers lined the walls, raining arrows upon them.

But Archer's scales were impervious to their attacks, and Sera's fiery breath incinerated the enemy archers in an instant.

The fort's gates were no match for Archer as he tore them apart with a single swipe of his colossal claws.

The Mithaven soldiers tried to regroup and form a defense, but they were no match for the wrath of these two dragons.

Archer and Sera unleashed their combined power, creating a tempest of fire and destruction that swept through the enemy ranks.

The soldiers scattered in terror, their formations shattered. As they continued their onslaught, castle after castle fell to their might.

Archer's thunderous roars and Sera's scorching flames left nothing but ruins in their wake.

The once-mighty forts were reduced to smoldering piles of rubble, and the Mithaven soldiers fled in disarray.

After looting the treasure from the castles and forts they moved on to the last one they could find.

This time Archer destroyed it himself after sending in the Stone Men to loot everything. Once they were done he dropped a meteor on the castle.

They flew away fast as the meteor dropped and crashed into the castle causing a massive explosion.

Archer's dragon senses activated so he tells Sera to get on his back as he cast Cosmic Shield just before the shockwave hit them.

The shield buckled but it was strong enough as Archer pumped more mana into it. After the shockwave hit he descended to the ground and landed.

Sia and Leira just looked at him in shock when they jumped off him. They didn't do anything but sit on his large back and watch the show.

Archer turned back into his human form and used magic to create portals at the destroyed castles and forts.

Some Stone Men came through these portals and left more treasure chests at his feet. All the girls looked at him with narrowed eyes.

Sera landed next to him and nudged his body with her giant head which he hugged. She soon returned to the humanoid form and pounced at him.

She latched onto him like a koala and started biting his ear causing him to shudder but soon Sera stopped attacking him and looked at the pile of treasure.

Her ruby-red eyes sparkled and she spoke excitedly. "Is all this going into the lair?"

Archer looked at her and nodded before storing everything in his Item Box. He turned to Sia and asked. "Do you want to come to the domain or back to the castle?"

Sia smiled and answered with a seductive smile. "I will come with you husband."

That's when he turned to the cat girl and asked. "Do you want to come or return to the palace Leira?"

Chapter 328 Even In Death, You Will Be Mine (R18)

The four returned to the domain and saw Ella cooking alongside Hemera. Teuila was sleeping on one of the sofas.

Archer guessed the moon elf was in her lab. When Hemera saw him she smiled and ran over to him.

She gave him a big kiss before greeting him. "We were just cooking lunch for you. After that, you need to sleep before we go to the college."

He nodded but asked. "Where's Nefi and Tali?"

Ella was the one to answer while she cooked. "Nefertiti is sleeping and Talila is outside training, she seems frustrated."

Archer smiled and gave each girl a kiss before stepping out of the treehouse to go see Talila.

As he stepped out of the front door and walked down the path, he heard children playing in the nearby forest as he got closer to the ground.

That's when he heard the sounds of arrows flying through the air, he looked around once he reached the ground.

He saw Talila training not far from the treehouse. Archer watched in admiration as Talila displayed her incredible skill with a bow.

She stood with grace, her form perfectly balanced as she notched an arrow. Her red eyes focused intently on her target.

With a fluid motion, she drew the bowstring, her powerful but graceful arms flexing with precision.

The arrow soared through the air with a whisper-like sound, hitting the target dead center.

Archer couldn't help but marvel at her accuracy and control. Her every movement was a testament to years of dedication and practice.

But it wasn't just her archery skills that captured Archer's attention. Talila's beauty was undeniable.

Her brown skin glowed in the dappled sunlight of the forest, and her long, obsidian hair cascaded down her back like a waterfall.

Talila's features were delicate yet strong, and her eyes held a warmth and depth that drew him in.

She continued to train until Archer Blinked behind her and started perving on her even more.

He loved her muscular body and long silver hair, she was built like a warrior which he found beautiful.

Archer thought to himself with a smile. 'Do I like muscular girls? Maybe.'

After thinking he started looking at Talila like he wanted to her down and ravage her. His violet eyes glowed as he stepped forward and grabbed a hold of her.

Talila yelped but looked up to see him standing there looking at her like he wanted to eat her which excited her to her shock.

Archer kidnapped her from her training and appeared in a distant forest. He closed his eyes and imagined the forest bigger and a peaceful clearing with a pond in the middle.

When he opened them and was amazed at what he created. It was a private slice of heaven for him and the girls.

He made sure no one could approach by building a large stone wall around this part of the forest.

Archer let go of Talila and cast Stone Warden a dozen times and ordered them to man the wall and not let anyone in.

Once he finished with that he closed his eyes and created a massive bed that sat under a beautiful veranda.

When the elf saw all this take place right in front of her, she turned to Archer with wide eyes causing him to laugh.

She got annoyed and punched him in the arms making him laugh even more but he soon calmed down.

When he was he Blinked and reappeared right in front of her. He grabbed her waist and pulled her into a passionate kiss.

Archer loved the sweet taste of her lips while Talila melted into him and wrapped her arms around his neck.

He pushed her onto the bed and fell between her thick thighs. They continued to kiss as Archer's hands roamed her body as she grabbed his collar.

Soon they separated but he didn't stop as he started kissing her neck slowly, causing her to let out a happy sigh.

Her hands roamed up and down his back, as Archer started to strip her. He pulled off the dress she was wearing to see her wearing a yellow bra that could barely contain her boobs.

His eyes traced down her body and admired her massive boobs and toned abs. Her body was very sinful.

She had thick hips and thighs and a toned bubble butt. Archer got lost in lust as he took her bra off and started attacking her brown nipple while playing with the other causing her to moan.

"Mmmmmghh!~~"

Talila grabbed a hold of his horns as she enjoyed his touches. That's when one of his naughty hands made its way down her body until it reached her panties.

Archer started to rub her causing her to stiffen up and pulled his head up. Her red eyes stared into his as she spoke. "Will you take responsibility? You will marry me right?"

When he heard her his eyes narrowed in annoyance as he replied. "Of course, I will. I've told you this Talila. You. Are. Mine."

He grinned as he said one last thing before starting his torture. "There is no escape for you now. Even in death, you will be mine Talila."

She nodded her head with a big smile as she tried to hold in the moan but she spoke. "Thank you, my love."

When he heard her he started rubbing her harder causing her to shudder. When he was rubbing her he pinched her nipples causing her to moan.

"Agggggnhhhh!~~"

Archer felt her getting wetter and wetter with the rough treatment she was getting. A grin appeared on his face as he spoke to her. "Get on all fours now."

Talila was reeling from the pleasure but when she heard him she lifted her head and narrowed her eyes.

She was about to speak but he rubbed her again causing her to moan.

"Mmmmmghnn!~~ So good."

But he stopped and the pleasure stopped washing over her, Talila looked at him with pleading eyes.

Archer was still grinning as he spoke. "Beg me, Tali. I know you like it rough, your body doesn't lie."

He brought his hand up and saw her love juices all over his fingers. Talila saw this and got embarrassed but his word flipped a switch inside her and got even wetter.

When Archer saw this he smiled even more and repeated himself. "Call me master before you beg for it my elf slave and I will give you something even better."

Talila got excited and went with it cause she was enjoying it. "Please Arche.."

She couldn't finish as he pinched her nipples and remembered what he said. "Please master I want it."

Archer smiled before giving her a nod as he took off her panties and stripped down himself but he knelt next to her face causing his little brother to hang over her face.

Her eyes widened but before she could speak Archer interrupted her. "Suck it."

She felt her pussy gush when she heard that and wondered why she liked it, she didn't know but decided to find out.

Archer shoved his member into her mouth while his hand went to her pussy and started rubbing even rougher this time causing her to moan onto his little brother.

He grabbed her head and started fucking her mouth causing her to gag and moan which excited both of them.

When he was moving in and out feeling like he was in heaven, he was close to release so he pushed it down her throat and shot his seed directly into her stomach.

Archer pulled out and saw her gasp for breath but a smile was on her face. He looked down at her and spoke. "Did you like that slave?"

Talila shuddered when she heard him causing him to smile even more as he leaned down and whispered into her long brown ear. "Are you a masochist Tali?"

When she heard that her eyes opened wide but before she could speak she felt a finger slide inside her causing her to moan.

"Ahhggnnnn!~~"

"You soaking wet slave. Do you want me that bad?" He said as he got into between her legs that was already wide open waiting for him.

"Yes, my love." She answered with a lust-filled voice.

Archer got between her legs and looked at her pussy which was perfect, it was neat and bald.

He leaned down and started licking her as he held her thighs. As soon as his tongue touched her pussy she screamed as she covered her face.

"Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh!~~"

His tongue licked all over and loved her taste, it was sweet but tangy which excited him. She grabbed his head and started playing with his hair.

That's when he slid a finger inside her and started finger fucking her causing her to moan.

"Ughhnn!~~ More master. It feels so good."

Archer continued his attacks until she felt something building up inside her until he sucked her clit.

Talila exploded and squirted all over his face causing him to drink it. He saw her body shaking as he crawled on top of her.

He saw that her eyes were clouded and she had a silly smile on her face.

Chapter 329 Don't Touch Each Other (R18)

Archer was looking down at Talila who was smiling. He leaned down and whispered into her ear. "Do you want this, my slave?"

Talila shivered as she heard his voice in her ear but she nodded and then kissed him as she wrapped her arms around him.

He returned to kiss but started rubbing his member on her soaked pussy causing her to let out a moan as she stopped kissing.

"Ahhhhnn!~~"

Archer lined up his little brother and pushed inside her until he hit something that was blocking him until he broke causing her to let out a painful moan.

But he kissed her again and played with her nipples causing her to slowly forget about the pain until she stopped kissing him and whispered into his ear. "You can move Master."

When Archer heard this he started to fuck her gently causing her to tighten causing him to groan.

"Ughhm!~~ You're so tight Tali."

She smiled when she heard him but he didn't give her a chance as he went wild on her as he leaned over her and started thrusting into her.

"Ahhhhh!~~ More Master."

He was hitting all her weak spots and causing her to get lost in pleasure. Archer got rougher as he was getting close.

Archer leaned up as he closed her long brown legs and moved her onto her side. When he saw her bubble butt, lust overtook him.

Without warning he shoved his member into her wet pussy again and went so hard that she screamed so loud that it spurred him on.

"Ahhhhh!~~ Mwmmhhhh!~~"

He was ready to come inside her and pushed deep inside as he released his seeds into her causing her to also orgasm.

"Ughhh!~~ Talila I love your pussy, it feels so good," Archer spoke as he pulled out.

She let out a sad sigh when she felt empty and wanted more. She looked at him but he was already above her.

He wasn't done with her yet as he leaned over and whispered. "Did you enjoy that my elf slave? Cause I know I did."

When Talila heard him she shuddered but nodded her head with a happy smile. But before she could do anything else he flipped her onto her stomach.

She felt his seed flowing out of her before she was stuffed again causing her to moan into the mattress.

"Mmmmmnghhh!~"

Archer was now fucking her as she lay prone on the bed. He grabbed her long silver ponytail and pulled her head up.

When he saw her face he smiled as her red eyes were rolling into the back of her head and her tongue was hanging out her mouth.

"Agnhhhh!~" Talila moaned so much that it was causing him to fuck her harder.

The two of them were in an endless loop of pleasure as her moans fueled his lust and his thrusting caused her to moan even more.

"Mmmnghh!~ It feels so good Master! Give me More!" Talila demanded in an erotic voice as she gripped the sheets as he got harder.

But soon Archer stopped fucking her causing her to come back to reality and turned to look at him with frustration in her eyes. "Why did you stop?"

Archer grinned at the frustrated look on her face before answering. "Get on top of me."

He then laid down next to her as she crawled up top of him. Talila was staring down at him as she panted.

But she grabbed his member and slid it inside her causing her to collapse on top of him as she let out a moan into his ear.

"Aggnhhhh!~~"

Archer grabbed her ass and started thrusting into her as he was hitting every single weak spot causing her to squirt all over him.

His bottom half was soaked as he pushed deeper into her again and shot his seed directly into her womb.

"Ahhhh!~~ So good Darling." Talila said as she shuddered and fell onto him out cold when she felt him fill her up.

When Archer noticed her peacefully snuggling with him and smiled, he used a spell called Cleanse on both of them.

Once he stood up he noticed the dragon tattoo that was now on her lower stomach which made him happy as she was his now.

He embraced her tightly and teleported them to her bedroom. Archer reappeared in the Talila's room and placed her in bed.

He kissed her on the forehead before walking over to the window and looking out. The sun was setting and he could see the dragon-kin going about their business.

Archer left the room and made his way to the living room to kidnap Hemera, he wasn't fully satisfied and wanted more sex.

When he entered he saw all the girls sitting around on the sofas while gossiping with Sia. He saw Hemera and summoned her.

Once she reappeared in his arms Hemera yelped and wondered what happened until she saw Archer and smiled.

But he vanished to his lair's bedroom and threw the sun elf on the bed. He summoned all the girls.

One by one a scream was heard as they appeared in the room. The girls looked around and spotted Archer who was staring at them with a lust-filled gaze.

Before he started he ordered a Brownie to show Leira and Sia to their bedrooms. When he was done with that he began with Hemera.

He looked at the six girls and spoke. "All of you get on all fours and don't you dare touch each other."

That was when Nefertiti spoke. "Why do you tell us this? I'm not into girls and it's the same for the other five. We are doing this in front of each other because we are sister wives and you're our husband."

Hours passed and each girl got ravaged to the point of being unconscious and leaking apart from Nefertiti who was still going.

Archer was looking down as she was sucking his member while playing with herself. He heard her soaking wet pussy but all he heard was slurping sounds.

She slid him deeper down her throat as he released his seed into her stomach which caused her to orgasm.

But he wasn't done as he grabbed a hold of her and bent her over a table and started fucking her so hard that she couldn't take it anymore.

Her legs grew weak and couldn't hold herself up so Archer supported her. He picked her up and carried her to the bed.

He placed her in it as her eyes rolled backward and fell asleep. After he did that he looked at the other girls.

Sera and Ella were curled up while snoring, and Hemera was wrapped up in the covers. Teuila looked like she was enjoying her sleep.

Archer saw Hecate lying by the edge of the bed and decided to take her to her own room while doing the same for the other girls.

He soon returned to his lair and looked at the mountain of gold. Soon he took out all the chest, treasure, and everything else he collected.

But when his Item Box was empty he collected all the gems and stored them in the smaller store room before taking two chests full to the brim with gold coins.

Archer would need it to buy everyday things. Once he was finished in the lair he teleported to Leira's bedroom after casting Cleanse on himself.

When he appeared outside her room he knocked on the door. Archer waited for a little while until Leira opened the door.

A shocked look appeared on her face but a smell caught her attention. She sniffed the air and her eyes widened. "All of them?"

Archer smiled when he heard her but nodded. "Yes."

Leira's eyes narrowed as she spoke. "So you are a playboy. I bet you forced them to touch each other."

He started laughing before answering her as he got closer and grabbed her waist. "No. They belong to me and only I can touch them."

That's when Archer noticed she was wearing a green nightgown that matched with her bright green eyes but he looked into her eyes as she spoke.

"Well, that's good. I have heard some harems force the wives to be lovers." She replied as she got comfortable in his arms.

Archer gently pulled her into the room, took her hand, and led her out to the balcony just as the sun was rising.

He sat down on a comfortable chair and pulled Leira onto his lap.

She leaned up against him and listened as he spoke. "I would never force my girls to do anything, I prefer that they do what they enjoy instead of doing what would please me."

When Leira saw this she smiled and spoke. "So if I wanted to become an empress of my own empire would you do that for me?"

Archer grinned at the cat girl as he grabbed her tail and started stroking it causing her to shudder as he answered. "Well in the future I will create our own empire with you and the other girls will run it."

Leira's head tilted to the side with a confused look on her face as she asked. "You don't want to be an emperor?"

Chapter 330 Nephew (R18)

Archer looked at Leira and chuckled. "Well I don't care for such things, I'll be an emperor if it would help you girls run things better but I want to relax and enjoy my time with you girls."

When she heard this she smiled and leaned into him to get comfortable. "That's okay then. But we missed the first day of the academy due to your trip to Mithaven. We should go today."

He nodded. "Yeah we will go but I want to spend some time with you."

Leira smiled with red cheeks but agreed with him. But before she could do anything Archer grabbed her chin and turned her head to him.

He unexpectedly kissed her which sent her whole body rigid but soon she embraced the kiss and returned it with one of her own.

Archer thought her kisses were adorable, he could tell this was her first one and she kissed awkwardly but soon the two fell in rhythm.

A warmth flowed from him as they kissed making him feel relaxed and at peace as his hands held her slender waist.

She stopped kissing and turned to face him then continued as she started getting even more passionate as the cat side took over her.

Her pink lips tasted sweet sending his senses into chaos but what shocked him was that her tongue slipped into his mouth and started fighting his.

Archer enjoyed her passion as he grabbed her perky ass which caused her tail to wrap around his arm as if to connect them.

After kissing for a little while the two separated and cuddled up on the chair and watched the sunrise.

The domain and the outside world were still and quiet, a canvas painted with shades of pink and orange as the sun began its ascent over the horizon.

Leira's hand was nestled in Archer's, their fingers entwined as they sat on the balcony.

The cool breeze whispered through Leira's hair as she looked up at Archer, her eyes reflecting the dawning warmth.

"I'm glad Mother and Father betrothed me to you," she said, her voice a soft murmur.

Archer turned to her, a gentle smile gracing his lips as he replied. "I'm glad to Leira."

They stood there in companionable silence, absorbing the tranquil beauty of the sunrise.

The first rays of sunlight kissed their faces, casting a soft, golden glow over their features. Time seemed to slow down, and the worries of the world faded away.

As the sun emerged fully, they shared a quiet moment, a deep connection was growing between the two.

It was a reminder that amidst life's chaos, there were moments of stillness and beauty worth cherishing the comfort they felt in each other's presence.

Once the sun was high in the sky the two got up as Leira spoke. "I want to have a bath and get ready. Go see Sia, she's been waiting for you."

Archer nodded and made his way to Sia's room after kissing Leira. It didn't take him long before he got to her room and knocked.

The door flew open and she was standing there wearing a see-through white nightgown and a pair of white stockings that stopped at her thighs.

When he saw this reignited his lust and he wanted to have sex again. His eyes marveled at the beautiful older woman in front of him who had a big grin on her face.

Sia was built like a warrior but not as muscular, she had a pair of huge boobs that sat perfectly on her chest without any sagging.

He immediately noticed even with thick thighs she had a sexy thigh gap.

She had a perfect hourglass figure and was the definition of what he'd call a milf. Sia was watching his eyes roam her body and it turned her on causing her to get wet.

Witnessing the lust in his eyes she bit her lip and tied up her long black hair. When she did that her boobs jiggled.

Archer saw her boobs jiggling and it caused his little brother to raise but before he could say anything she grabbed him by the collar and dragged him into her room.

She slammed the door behind her and locked it after pushing him onto the bed. Archer watched her and started getting excited.

When she turned around to face him she spoke but her eyes were full of lust. "Take off your clothes nephew."

Archer listened to her and stripped until he was naked which sent her over the top as she looked at his member and licked her lips like a predator.

He noticed that she was leaking and it was dripping down her legs. That's when she spoke again but in a commanding tone. "Look at me, I'm your Aunt! So listen and show me respect."

When he heard her acting like this it turned him on. So he listened and looked into her bright blue eyes.

She slowly approached him and started speaking. "I know what you done with the girls! You owe me some love!"

Archer smiled and replied. "I will show you all the love that you want, now come here."

Sia smiled as she climbed onto the bed and went to get on top of him but he stopped her. "Take off your panties and sit on my face."

When she heard his words a fire shone in her eyes as she quickly took off her underwear and nightgown until she was completely naked apart from a pair of stockings.

As she stripped Archer watched her and nearly lost control as her pink nipples were on show and her bald pussy was perfection.

It was neat and looked like a slit in her snow-white skin. Archer grabbed her thighs and pulled her on his face.

Sia wasn't happy with this as she turned around so her fat ass was also in his face which excited Archer.

He squeezed her ass as he started licking her pussy which tasted sweet. Archer ran his tongue all over it causing her to let out an erotic moan.

"Aggnhhnn!~~ More Nephew, It feels so good."

He got even harder when she spoke in her erotic voice but soon the moan stopped as she took his member in her mouth and started running her tongue all over it.

When Archer felt this he shuddered because of the pleasure that washed over his body but she didn't stay at the same pace but got quicker.

Sia's head bobbed up and down as her tongue circled his member as her dainty hand massaged his crown jewels causing him to groan into her pussy.

"Ughhnn!~~"

That's when he started his attack and stuck his tongue into her tight pussy causing her body to jolt.

He was finished there as his fingers started rubbing her clit causing her to stop sucking him and let out a primal moan.

"Mmmnghhh!~~ Agggnhhh!~~ Archer!"

Archer kept attacking which caused a flood of love juices to pour into his mouth. He didn't waste a drop as he swallowed it all.

He slipped a finger into her drenched pussy and started to finger fuck her as she was sucking him.

All this pleasure caused him to shoot his seed down her throat as he pushed her head down on his member.

Sia also swallowed it all as she orgasmed all over his face which he didn't mind. In fact, Archer loved it when his girls did it.

After the two of them were done Sia got up and sat on his member. It rubbed up against her wet pussy begging to enter but she wouldn't allow it.

Sia leaned forward causing her boobs to squash up against his chest and whispered into his ear. "You will never know how much I love you Archer but this morning you must listen to me."

She leaned back up to give him a view of her boobs and continued with a seductive grin on her face. "You just lay there and relax and let me look after you Nephew."

Archer nodded so she grabbed his little brother and rubbed it on her pussy compelling her to moan in delight.

"Mmmgnhhh!~~"

That's when she sat down and he felt it slide in instantly because she was soaking wet. Archer felt a hot tight sensation envelope his member which made him moan.

"Ugh!~~ It feels so good Sia."

Sia started to rock her hips causing him to go deeper inside her. She put her hands on his toned chest and continued to let out erotic moans as she stared at him with a smile.

"Mmmmm!~~ Agnhhhh!~~"

He saw the blood leaking out of her but it soon vanished though as her love juices were gushing out like a waterfall.

His crotch was soaking wet but he didn't care as he was loving it but he wanted to fuck her so he flipped her over.

Sia let out a yelp but soon saw Archer above her and grinned before talking into his ear as she got closer to him. "Make love to me husband. I want you to claim me."