

The Alpha's Nanny Novel

Chapter 21 - chapter 21 (English Translation)

1
3

Chapter 21 Chapter 21 din a walk in the parlem. It was quite a money day but it alin maut fon She thought it would be great for her and the baby to get some well deversed fresh air and it kept all the bad Copying berieil with Emilie kept her boy, it kept all those theights away o quite trady yet. (though, the hosed her jul. It was arry frwarding. dly loved spendi with Emilia tun. It made her sexy happy and at peace with herself. the wandered towards the pood area and was suprisd to see soment was hiside the proud. As far as she kurse the staff didn't swim in the pood.

She di (they were add friend. His wet dark hair plastered all over his fotelicad Lori shitted uncomfortably in the flip flops she was wearing She was wearing flip flops and shorts, she looked about as colisy as she could ever look. He answered as he vsam inwards het. Lori food several steps lock with the stroller as he gut mit of the pool, dripping wet and half naked escrge fat the fieach shorts he was wearing that was clinging to him like a second skin. She glai kam ped reminded how ripped her was.

She also reminded that she had seen him three times without him He wiped the rest water from his face and looked into the stroller and waved at Emilja "Me beki good He commented as he locked up canserted and he nodded. "So how have you been?" She gently fained the stroller around and went back into the home. She had Things to do the was barely in the house for a few minutes when Eliot walked in, wearing diy clothes. Another brach shorts and a large yellow T-shirt with a band on it His hair was still dripping wet. Chapter et hom, onfe because bei getting way to come for her thing the kitchen.

She picked up a bowl from one of he walked in and on shred cherive and lan a word be the ben i struggled. She was fine, she had done in a thousand times «nile mall didn't need an bein. ermined. When she refused again, he walked up to her and umply grabbed the baby from her. Chapter 21 Gabriel said the minute he walked in. Lori was startled the didn't hear him comi always came home at least there bones later. She had put uren hin leine fir the whole nightmare saga. He glanced at Elliot and narrowed his mes at him "What are you doing here?

End that very hard to believe." Gabriel mused as he turned to Lori, there was seriousness in his eyes and the way he was staring at her intensely made Lori feel "We need to talk Lori Chapter Comments believe the the coz is working with the and he is trying to take the pack from Gabriel also think that dare old coz ha they are mates that's why he is pushing buttons, to see just how pissed he can make Gase if Gase doesn't care that ha i think Elliot be her

Chapter 22 - chapter 22 (English Translation)

1
3

Chapter 22 Chapter 22 Lori followed Gabriel to the nursery, where they would talk. They ran into Grace on the way. "You're back Early too? She said in a surprised tone and he shrugged. "I actually needed the rest. Decided to close early:" Grace nodded, her face beaming. She patted Gabriel on the back, "That's great" That's very good!" "I'll get dinner started" She said as she walked past them in excitement. Gabriel made sure he sent Elliot out of the house before they both left though. He specifically told him to go and wait for him in the pool house.

Lori didn't know why he did but she didn't think Gabriel liked his cousin very much, it was visible in how little they interacted. Especially with the way he treated him, she didn't know if there was a specific reason he didn't, but he just seemed not to. They walked into the nursery, Gabriel had taken Emilia from Elliot before he went up the stairs with Lori. He had kissed her cheek and rubbed her head, he must have missed her and she must have missed him too because she started smiling at him, giving him a huge toothless grin.

"How are you doing?" He asked as they walked into the nursery and Lori shrugged, she pretty much felt fine, since she had not allowed herself to think about what happened, "Good. Thank you for everything L..." "You don't need to thank me Lori. I only did what was necessary." Gabriel said with his back, turned to her as he patted the baby in his arms. Lori nodded, standing awkwardly by the door frame and watching Gabriel, Gabriel turned to the baby and set her in her crib, then slowly, he took off his jacket, dropping them on the rocking chair and rolled the sleeves of his shirt.

Then he turned to Lori and glanced at the couch in front of them. Lori went first, sitting herself at the edge of the couch unconsciously, Gabriel noticed this and sat at the other end. "About what happened. He raised his hands, stopping her. "I'm not asking for another apology Lori. I am not. I'm just worried about you. That's all." His voice was softer now, much more gentle. He genuinely looked concerned for her, she could see the worry etched in his features. Lori felt safe with him somehow, in a way she had never felt safe with anybody else. His presence was as weirdly comforting.

"I know." "Grace and I talked about getting you professional help. Do you think you'd be willing to speak to a therapist?" Pently asked and Lori shook her head. A therapist?! No no. That was too much, besides she didn't want to impos "I don't think I need to speak to one. I'm fine She wanes de pasar permendim tabara Waterloot pomark it was time, finally men na nell in expring about her, The whole truth Les sapne den hear di inna. Grabes, but was vacine ruber einmit te vind her cheeks were wetter red from shame. She had nest tara wanbid sa roll haut, became the had done for her an sata set.

It's just until your nightmares get better." Lai Headed the dose of his mom, Lo stood in front of him and glanced into the dark room said as he opened Ok the things her mind ld image happening in this dark room. "Yeyif you want, I let you sleep in the guest room if you don't want to sleep here, you're allowed to choose His eyes said something different though.

They didn't seem to cominy | same words he was saying, there was a different story to ther "Til rather steep here * She said at the walked into the room Chapter Comments tudy for the ossible fix, only the comma placement is really necessary Shortly after, Grace left Loni alone as the se ght went by in a bije? what does that man

Chapter 23 - chapter 23 (English Translation)

1
3

Chapter 23 POST COMMENT Chapter 23 They had a thom day. Actually, it had been a slow couple of days. Days like that were popular at the diner, they were in a shitty neighborhood, with about seventy percent old people and a retirement home nearby, it was a wonder they got any customers at all. Finding help had also been very hard, the teenagers didnt like to stay too long, they found the job boring, plus the pay wasn't even that good. Ever since Lati left Birdie was having a hard time dealing with the new hire Vette. The girl was nineteen and she had a really loud mouth.

She questioned everything. Bindir, or asked her to do. And she always came to weak late ir was tick of her She honestly missed Lori, and even felt bad for the way she had treated her. Maybe if she had treated her better she wouldn't have left work, Well, who was the kidding? Lori wasn't really going to work at the diner for years like her, she didn't look like she was that kind of person. But the way she had left truly baffled her sometimes. She left a day after that strange tall and handsome stranger had come to see her in a fancy car.

She wondered if the man asked Lori to be his escort or something. Because she couldn't imagine what such a rich and powerful man would be doing with Lon. Someone stepped into the diner, their fifth customer for that day and probably the last one they would have before sunset. The man looked vapurly familiar. He was short, spiky dyed blond hair with black roots, he was dressed casual enuigh, but something about him looked sinister and creepy Birdie had a weird feeling that she had seen him before.

He walked up to the counter with a frown on his face, he had dark broody eyes, the kind that looked unsettling, a sharp jaw and thin listed lips. He looked like he had just gotten out a fight, Hindi noted with the purple braise forming alongside his temple. "Welcome to lay's, What can I get you?" She said as she fished out her notepad from her breast pocket and shook his head. "Nothing. I m looking for someone who works here, Loretta Wyatt." He answered and Bardie's ears perked up. Of course, that s why he was familiar, she had seen him with Lori before.

"She doesn't work here anymore." She answered and the man's frown deepened. "Since when?!" Hindi shrugged. "A few weeks ago." "Know why she left He asked and Birdie shrugged. "I dont know." The man sighed. He muttered some curse words and paused for a while before turning to Birdie again Then he dipped his hand in his pocket and brought out a hundred dollar dollar bill "111 add a hundred more if you can tell me anything you know about her." Birdie raised her eyebrows. Okay, now the was interested.

What could he possibly want in She glanced around the diner, but no one else was with them except for Mr For who was already dozing off in his seat "Make it three hundred and Ill even give you her address. The man didn't look impressed, but he smiled shyly. "There hundred and you give me her contact, any information you have on her and who you think she might be hanging out around with 175 He added and Birdie shrugged. the quickly added and the man scoffed dropped on the table. There hundred dollars just to find out about Lori, whew!

She would s the thought as she shook her head slightly "Toni was pregnant yea? What happened to the baby? The baby died Prematulle labor or something. Canary! Birdie said as she shougged. She never really cared about that anyways, Lon was stupid enough to get pregnant and besides she was planning to give the baby away airway so the must be ecstatic that the baby died. The man seemed quiet for a while and Binte's eyes widened. "Ward. Are you the father? "No! Are you fucking crazy?! I'm her bother The nun answered delenuvaly. Ton Devet mentioned family" The "Yea she's weird like that.

My name i lared Wyatt." lude nodded. He could be lying for all she kres, but she didn't really care. Did you notice anything unusual before she left work?! Anyone come to see her or something t He asked nervously and Birdie nodded. "Yes. There was this man. He came to see her before the end of her shift." Really?! Describe him, how did he look like He was tall, very handsome to be quite honest, he was wearing a suit and he had a really nice ride Jared's face morphed into confusion. "A suit? Are you completely sure?" || I am. He looked sophisticated and very rich.

You don't forget that kind of person." fated was now very confused. He thought it was Asher, he thought Asher was the one who had come to see her, because that seemed to be the only logical mxplanation. Then though he and Asher had fallen out, talked with

Ashers men and they had told him Asher was trying to reach out to Lori since she was Loaded