

A Snake 96

Chapter 96 I Can't Afford to Gamble!!

"Alright, I choose you, Master Xuan." I smiled softly at Xuan Fanyin, "Release Yu Rongling."

Xuan Fanyin's expression suddenly became guarded, "You first, come up."

"Fine." I ascended the stairs step by step.

The sound of my footsteps was crisp, echoing back at me.

Xuan Fanyin was waiting for me at the top of the stairs.

His aged face was filled with madness and fervor.

I said, "Master Xuan, I'm here."

"Take off your clothes, now, right now. I need to have you before I can rest easy."

Xuan Fanyin was both crazed and skeptical.

After all, to him, I seemed all too easy to grasp.

I took a deep breath, "Let's go into the room. How can we do this here?"

"Yes, yes, you women are so sentimental, preferring to be in a room." Xuan Fanyin held the glass containing Yu Rongling.

He took out a key to unlock a guest room.

I entered before him.

With my back to Xuan Fanyin outside, I slowly removed my coat.

The intense sound of something slamming against glass became even louder and more grating near my ears.

Xuan Fanyin's maniacal laughter followed, "Keep hitting! It's tempered glass, you'll crack your skull before getting out."

My hands, undressing myself, clenched the fabric.

Yu Rongling must be enduring extreme pain at this moment.

He came to aid me with good intentions, yet inadvertently fell into the clutches of this demonic man.

And now he was being used by Xuan Fanyin as a tool to threaten me...

"Continue!!" Xuan Fanyin could not tolerate even a moment's pause.

I turned around, taking off the knitted top as well.

Then, sitting on the bed, I started to remove my shoes, then my socks, "Master Xuan, not even a little foreplay? Don't you have any romance in you?"

"Su Wan, I want to kiss you, kiss your mouth."

Xuan Fanyin finally dropped the glass bottle and lunged towards me.

I didn't move, letting him come close.

Then, I pulled out the wire hidden in the hem of my trousers and viciously wrapped it around Xuan Fanyin's neck.

Flipping him over, I pinned him onto the bed, "You should be kissing the bed instead."

"You... dare to choke me?" Xuan Fanyin cried out in pain and scolded.

I sneered coldly, "I may not be good at fighting or be very strong, but I'm confident enough to strangle an invalid who's suffering from backlash."

The words had not even finished.

Xuan Fanyin spat out blood again, in agony.

The force of his struggling resistance lessened, his hands weakly hitting the bed. His tone was venomous, "I will have my rats bite you to death!!"

In an instant, the squeaking of rats surged like a tide.

Countless eyes glowing red stormed into the room, each a terrifying rat.

"Don't daydream. Since I've come, I've come prepared." The veins on my forehead bulged as I choked him with all my strength.

Blood marks appeared on my fingers, yet I still wished for more strength.

If I had learned martial arts, I wouldn't be struggling like this now.

The rats swarmed forward.

But they circled around me, unable to approach even slightly, let alone bite me.

"How did you... How did you manage this..." Xuan Fanyin's eyes were bloodshot, and already bulging.

I knew he was close to the end, "Invisibility Clothes."

"Your Invisibility Clothes were clearly broken by me, and the rats have bitten you!!" Xuan Fanyin roared, nearly pushing me off in his eruption.

I closed my eyes and pressed all my strength to suppress him, "That was just a sachet! With you, thinking you could break the Su family's life and death embroidery?"

This time, Xuan Fanyin did not respond.

Had he died?

But I dared not let go.

Fearful he was just feigning death, then would take the chance to kill me when I relaxed my hold.

I couldn't take such a risk!!

Just then, a cool yet distressed voice sounded in my ear, and a touch of tenderness reached my fingers, "Let go, if you continue like this, you'll commit murder, my Wanwan."
