92 Another Treasure Chest! Worth 140 million! (3)

There were many knowledgeable experts in Luo Feng's streams.

And said experts would usually share their knowledge with the rest of the chat.

Sometimes, they would even offer good advice for Luo Feng.

However, none of it had made it into Luo Feng's head this time.

There was only one truth in this world, and that was his Swallowtail Hoe, which served as the best tool in dismantling the landmine before him.

A click sounded.

Finally, after seemingly messing around for a long time, the fuse had finally been disabled. "Guys, look, this here's the fuse, now that it's been removed, the landmine will no longer blow up!"

Following this, Luo Feng pulled the landmine out.

The sight of Luo Feng's casual actions made Li Shishi feel a little, just a little...

"Humiliated!"

The moment the landmine was extracted, Li Shishi immediately covered her face in embarrassment.

Fortunately, no one had noticed.

While it was not much...

The fact of the matter was that it could also happen to men who were in her position.

I'll change my pants later...

"Holy cow!"

"Did he really just dismantle a landmine?"

"Awesome! That's freaking amazing! This moment right here will definitely crown Old Luo as the Streamer of the Year!"

"Forget streamer of the year! What just happened is unprecedented! The man had seemingly dismantled a landmine with nothing but brute force!"

"I'm nervous just from watching!"

"Old Luo is definitely the number 1 treasure-hunting streamer!"

“Damn, this is what I call dedication! In order to uncover treasures, he throws caution and his own life to the wind, and stares down at Death itself!”

Everyone had witnessed Luo Feng removing the landmine with their very own eyes.

Although it was a little unreal.

But at long last, they could finally relax.

Luo Feng’s phone rang in his pocket and he immediately picked up the call.

“Hmm? Captain Sun? What’s wrong?”

“Oh, the landmine? Of course it’s been settled!”

“Alright, I’ll hang up now!”

“Alright, I’ll be more careful!”

The moment Luo Feng put down his phone, he then grabbed a hold of the landmine and tossed it into his backpack.

There was no ensuing explosion.

Just the light thwack from the collision of items within the backpack.

After all, Luo Feng had used the Swallowtail Hoe to scoop up and throw the landmine.

When it came to life-threatening operations, the Swallowtail Hoe would have his back.

As such, Luo Feng was wholly unconcerned when he tossed the mine into his backpack.

“Time to start digging!”

Now that the immediate threat had been disabled, Luo Feng resumed his digging.

Seeing this, Li Shishi’s heart also calmed down.

The second-generation heirs had accompanied Luo Feng for thrill of discovery and adventure, however, what they had experienced that day might have been more than what they had bargained for.

Luo Feng could already imagine some of the heirs being absent the next day, though he would not fault them for doing so.

Around 20 minutes later, Luo Feng had uncovered a chest that was almost the same size as the one he found the previous day.

The size was about the same, and its appearance had more or less been revealed.

One point of difference, however, was the material in which the chest was made. The chest that Luo Feng had found previously was made out of bronze, but the one he had just found was made out of iron.

Luo Feng had already been informed beforehand that there was about 140 million yuan’s worth of items stored within it.

It was an extremely valuable catch!

Without sparing a second thought, Luo Feng heaved his Swallowtail Hoe upwards and brought it down against the iron chest's lock with powerful force.

Once the box was opened, Luo Feng could see yet another layer of waterproof cloth.

"Damn! It's almost the same as the box yesterday!"

"The only difference so far is that one's made of iron, and another's made of bronze!"

"Crap, is the host going to make a fortune again?"

"Tens of millions again? F*ck!"

"I'm so jealous, what should I do?"

"Even if you're jealous, what could you possibly do? Do you have the courage of the host? Are you going to disable a mine with your bare hands?"

...

"That's right. If you don't have the host's abilities, don't be jealous of the host's wealth!"

"I knew that the host was something special since the moment I laid eyes on him! Though I've never expected him to be THIS special!"

"Silence! Silence, the box is now open!"

"I see silver! Also some gold bars! And is that a big yellow fish?"

"There's no cloisonné censers, though..."

"It doesn't look as valuable as the box yesterday?"

"The host risked his life to dig this up. It seems like it wasn't even worth the gamble?"

"Can you guys not be this negative? It's still worth a few million at least. Could you even make this much money in your lifetime in the first place?"

Luo Feng scanned the contents of the box.

He was in no hurry to conduct a thorough investigation of its contents.

Instead, he used a Swallowtail Hoe to dig at the bottom of the box and pry it up.

However, at this moment.

The din of several off-road vehicles making their way over could be heard.

However, the vehicles did not sound like any other vehicle he had ever heard before.

He brought his gaze upwards, and spotted a row of deep green vehicles.

“Hello, are you Mr. Luo?”

“Where are the mines?”

One of them was a Battalion leader around the age of 45.

He shouted from the top of the mountain.

He seemed to be someone of high ranking.

“I’ve already removed one of the mines under my feet!”

Luo Feng shouted.

“Ah? You’ve already dismantled one?”

Zhou Weiguo from the Combat Division did not know whether to laugh or cry at the situation. What was going on?

He initially thought that Luo Feng was joking around and was at a loss for words for a moment.

“You dismantled one? Is that true?”

Zhou Weiguo asked again.

“Yes, I’ve already brought it out. It’s in my backpack. The fuse is gone, so it won’t explode!” Luo Feng said confidently.

“Damn, were you an engineer before this?”

“No, I’m not!” Luo Feng grinned with amusement before continuing, “But I have professional knowledge. Otherwise, I wouldn’t dare to tear it down!”

“Awesome!”

Zhou Weiguo laughed bitterly. Had Luo Feng not dismantled the mine properly, he would have lost his life. Just how bold is he?

Very quickly.

The minefield was left to Zhou Weiguo and the rest of his division.

A group of military engineers with specialized scanners and protective equipment slowly scoured through the minefield.

Everyone who was located within the minefield had been rescued...

With the danger out of the way, Luo Feng decided to direct his attention to the treasure chest he had just unearthed. He wondered just what could be stored in it to make it this valuable...
