Chapter 211: Movements from All Directions, Forging a New Path!_2

The base leader immediately understood the situation and quickly regrouped the members to trap them like turtles in a jar.

The faces of the five agents changed drastically.

"Damn it!"

The five agents heard the commotion outside and knew exactly what was happening. Although they were rigorously trained, their hearts pounded anxiously.

"Fight them!"

One agent gritted his teeth, his expression resolute.

Another agent smiled bitterly and asked, "What are we going to fight with?"

The agents' shoulders slumped as they realized they were unarmed. Rushing out to fight would be no different from walking into a meat grinder. Their faces were full of unwillingness. They were not afraid of death, but feared a meaningless death.

Suddenly, the dull eyes of one agent lit up, "The armory!"

The armory was unintentionally discovered by the agents when they infiltrated the base. Its unique nature left a deep impression on them.

At this moment, it was brought up again.

The other agents immediately understood what he meant.

"The armory is not far from here. Rather than waiting to die, we might as well take a risk."

"I agree. The armory has everything we need, even explosives. If we can get even one person to the armory, we can take them down with us."

These words rekindled the agents' previously waning determination, but the sounds outside growing closer filled their faces with worry.

"Good idea, but we have no weapons... How can we fight our way to the armory?"

The agents knew that rushing out recklessly would not lead them to the armory. It would be a suicidal move.

They needed a plan!

But what kind of plan could lead them to the armory? None of them had a clue.

At this moment, Lin Beichen, who had been silent, spoke up, "Let's go. You lead the way, and I'll escort you to the armory."

Lin Beichen walked to the door and peeked through the crack.

For now, there was no one in sight outside the door, but in the distance, shadows moved about.

He directly opened the door.

"Quick, hurry up. If we don't leave now, it will be troublesome to get out of here!"

The door was wide open.

Lin Beichen stood at the door, straddling the threshold, vigorously waving at the agents inside the room.

Through the open door, the agents saw the same scene that Lin Beichen had observed. There was no time to think. They immediately moved.

"Go!"

The agents did not know where Lin Beichen's confidence came from, or how he could so casually say he would escort them to the armory.

But considering Lin Beichen had infiltrated the base alone, they felt he must have his methods.

Lin Beichen followed the agents out of the room, sprinting towards the armory.

However, they hadn't run far.

Six or seven armed members of the organization came running their way.

"Damn it!"

The five agents' hearts sank. They saw the opponents starting to raise their guns to shoot. It felt like they were seeing their own bodies about to be riddled with bullets.

Of course, being riddled with bullets was just their imagination.

In reality, what they saw next was all the enemy members suddenly freezing in place, their faces filled with horror and astonishment.

What's going on?

The five agents were stunned. Logically, those expressions should have been on their own faces, not the enemy's.

At the same time, a golden arc shot out from behind the agents, slicing through the enemy members' bodies before they could even react.

"Ah!!!"

The screams from the enemies were cut short abruptly.

The five agents were horrified. The enemy's bodies were sliced in half by the golden arc right in front of their eyes, the two segments separating as blood gushed out.

It was Lin Beichen!

The agents reacted quickly. They didn't know how the golden arc was formed or what it was, but they knew it had something to do with Lin Beichen. They realized this was the foundation of his confident claim to escort them to the armory.

"Don't just stand there, move!"

Lin Beichen's urging voice came from behind them.

The five agents collected their thoughts, temporarily suppressing their shock and curiosity, and quickened their pace.

Along the way, they encountered a few more armed members of the organization, but the golden arc appeared each time, saving the day.

After several twists and turns, they finally managed to get Lin Beichen to the armory.

Lin Beichen looked around.

Inside the armory, just as the agents described, there was everything.

Tons of guns, boxes of ammunition and explosives, even heavy equipment like mortars.

Unlike him standing there looking around, the five agents immediately started grabbing the guns and ammo, equipping themselves. They even strapped large amounts of explosives to their bodies, looking as if "I'm going to fight to the death" was written on their foreheads.

One of the agents, amidst the chaos, asked, "Lin Beichen, that golden arc... how did you do it?"

The other agents didn't speak, but their ears were perked up. This was the question in all their minds.

The golden arcs flew out from behind them, dealing with the enemy members with precision, but they had no clue what it was or how it worked.

Chapter 212: Movements from All Directions, Forging a New Path!_3

This feeling is really too uncomfortable.

"That's how it is."

Lin Beichen waved his hand casually.

The five agents were dumbfounded. They saw with their own eyes that a mysterious golden light appeared out of nowhere on Lin Beichen's hand, and with a wave of his hand, the golden light moved into the air and formed an arc.

"How did he do that?"

"Is this the killing golden arc?"

The five agents were even more confused and curious after watching this.

It would have been better not to watch!

They had no concept of the appearance of the golden light, and it was impossible to imagine that such a golden arc could have such power.

Lin Beichen didn't say anything more about it, and he couldn't. There was no way he could start a cultivation class under these circumstances and give them a good lesson.

At this moment, the noisy sounds outside grew from distant to near, getting louder and louder, feeling like they were almost at the door.

The five agents, not waiting for Lin Beichen to explain, grabbed their gear and charged outside, planning to have a firefight with the enemies outside the door.

They were about to die anyway, knowing or not knowing wouldn't change anything.

At this moment, the answer was no longer important to them.

Lin Beichen shouted at them: "Don't be impulsive, wait a moment!"

The agents turned back in unison, looking at Lin Beichen with confusion. In their eyes, there was no other way but to rush out and fight to the death with the enemy.

"What are we waiting for?"

"Do you have another plan?"

The agents were actually quite hopeful that Lin Beichen could suggest another route, a way to survive. After all, the path they were on was a path of certain death.

After all, who wants to die?

Lin Beichen nodded and beckoned to them: "All of you, come over here first."

At this moment, the sound outside grew weaker, but it was very close.

No need to look to know. freewebnovel_com

Members of the foreign organization had already arrived at the door one after another.

Should they rush out and catch them off guard, or listen to Lin Beichen and go over to him first?

The agents hesitated for a moment, but they ultimately chose the latter and quickly walked over to Lin Beichen's side.

One of the agents, with a serious expression, said in a deep voice: "They must have blocked our exit."

"I know."

Lin Beichen nodded calmly. He gave off an impression that was encapsulated in just two words—calm indifference, as if there weren't a large group of armed organization members blocking the door, but just some harmless kittens and puppies.

"What do we do next?"

"Take off all the explosives you're carrying and throw them over there."

Lin Beichen pointed to the designated spot for stacking explosives, the place where the agents' explosives were originally placed.

The agents were full of question marks. They couldn't understand why, at such a critical juncture, Lin Beichen was having them unload their gear, particularly the explosives that could cause the heaviest losses to the foreign organization.

The agents had intended to ask, but seeing Lin Beichen's calm demeanor and the "everything is under control" look, they felt there was no need.

Since they had chosen to trust him, they might as well follow through to the end.

The agents removed the explosives and tossed them into the explosive pile, then waited for Lin Beichen's next instructions. But after several breaths, he didn't seem to have any intention of speaking.

One of the agents couldn't help but urge: "And then? What do we do now?"

Lin Beichen gave the agents a calming look, and they could even see a faint smile on his face. Then he softly uttered one word: "Wait."

Chapter 213: Is Lin Beichen Dead?!

The agents were dumbfounded, the enemy was right at the door.

Still waiting?

They didn't know exactly what they were waiting for.

At this moment, not to mention the agents who weren't very familiar with Lin Beichen, even the leaders of the safety bureau who knew him quite well were clueless.

However, thinking about Lin Beichen's past performances, they didn't think he would act without reason. He must have his reasons for doing this.

It's not impossible that he's holding back a big move.

The leaders of the safety bureau were eagerly anticipating Lin Beichen to bring them another surprise.

At this moment, an agent's voice rang out: "Still waiting? What exactly are we waiting for?"

"..."

Lin Beichen didn't answer, but the light in his eyes became even brighter.

Seeing that he wasn't speaking.

The agents were helpless. It's impossible to start an internal conflict now and hold a gun to his head forcing him to speak.

Currently, they had no choice but to walk this path to the end.

They firmly chose to trust Lin Beichen, putting everything in his hands.

After more than ten seconds, Lin Beichen finally spoke: "Give me the gun."

Lin Beichen took the automatic rifle from one of the agents, and then led them to the area in the armory designated for large equipment and vehicles.

Then.

He set up the gun behind a tank, not forgetting to instruct the agents: "You must cluster together and stand behind me."

The agents quickly huddled together, but their eyes followed the direction of his gun barrel.

Boxes and boxes of explosives!

There were also the explosives they had just taken off and thrown over there.

The agents were horrified, guessing what Lin Beichen was about to do next.

Detonate the explosives!

They had long been prepared for death, otherwise, they wouldn't have strapped explosives to themselves to go out fighting. Although they were naturally scared and nervous, they were also calm.

But the leaders of the safety bureau in the conference room were anything but calm.

"Isn't Lin Beichen planning to perish together with the foreign organization?!"

The leaders of the safety bureau expected a surprise, but instead, they got a scare.

Looking at the number of explosives displayed through Lin Beichen's perspective on the screen, they knew that if the explosives were detonated, the shockwave could definitely engulf the entire base, and even beyond.

"Although hiding amongst the huge metal chunks can absorb some of the explosive shockwaves, it's futile. He doesn't think he can survive inside, does he?"

"Maybe he wants to leave a whole corpse? But that's unlikely, right?"

"Didn't he guarantee he could get out safely?"

"There's no need to perish together, we told him before departing to put his safety first, what is he thinking?"

At these words, everyone fell silent.

Before they realized what Lin Beichen was planning to do, they thought he had remembered their instructions; even when he said he wanted to escort the agents to the armory, they assumed he had another plan, never expecting this current situation.

At this moment, a series of gunshots rang out.

"Ratatatat—"

The shots weren't from outside the armory, but from Lin Beichen!

He had been waiting for this moment when the entire base and all the members of the organization were concentrated near the armory.

Upon entering the armory and seeing the explosives for the first time, Lin Beichen estimated the total power of the explosives, roughly the same as the leaders of the safety bureau estimated, capable of affecting the entire base.

But the outer edges of the base and areas outside would only be marginally affected...

Not enough to be fatal to people, at most causing some external injuries.

So, if he wanted to completely annihilate the foreign organization, he couldn't just blow it up directly.

Originally, he was still thinking about how to gather all the members of the foreign organization near the armory, but didn't expect them to help solve this problem themselves by gathering here from all directions!

Now, all he needed was to determine when they all were in place.

And with his cultivation of the Gold Element to the Third Realm, this was a piece of cake for him.

At the same time, outside the armory.

A sea of people!

Hundreds of organization members, each holding guns, had completely surrounded the place, leaving no dead corners.

At this moment, hearing the gunshots.

Everyone's hearts skipped a beat, thinking that the people inside had made the first move. Although they didn't see where the gunshots came from, they instinctively wanted to dodge.

However, before they could make any move.

"Boom——!!!!!!!"

A deafening roar echoed throughout Snake Eye Province.

In an instant!

The pitch-black sky turned as bright as day.

A reddish-yellow glow appeared on everyone's faces as a fiery blaze reflected in their pupils!

The armory exploded!

This was the last clear thought in everyone's mind.

The next moment.

A small mushroom cloud seemed to form above the armory, thick smoke billowing, rising, surging, and blooming into the sky.

The scorching waves of the explosion spread outward like a tsunami.

The organization members closest to the armory bore the brunt, and they didn't even have the chance to be melted. The massive impact made them feel like they were hit by a high-speed train, exploding directly with no remains left!

The explosion's energy waves continued to expand, collapsing buildings and charring people to embers.

In just a few seconds.

Corpses lay everywhere!

The entire base had turned into a wasteland.

Chapter 214: Did Lin Beichen Die?!_2

The remaining flames spread across the rubble, flickering through the thick smoke enveloping the base, like scattered stars.

"..."

Apart from the crackling of the flames, there was no other sound in the entire ruin.

It was eerily quiet!

Not just the ruins, but also the Security Bureau's meeting room.

On the projection screen, nothing could be seen but pitch blackness.

The leaders of the Security Bureau wore grim expressions, their faces so dark, they could almost drip ink, their eyes filled with regret and reluctance.

Lin Beichen and five agents perished together with the foreign organization.

—This was the unspoken conclusion of everyone.

Having witnessed the explosion scene just moments ago, even though they had great faith in Lin Beichen's abilities, they couldn't believe he could still be alive.

Lin Beichen's importance to Great Xia was self-evident; now that something had happened to him, the leaders of the Security Bureau all felt a deep sense of heaviness, sorrow, and repression.

At this moment, Song Xiangdong said in a deep voice, "I was the one who agreed to let Lin Beichen go on the rescue mission. I will take full responsibility for this matter."

"..."

The other leaders of the Security Bureau looked at Song Xiangdong, their expressions complicated.

They wanted to say something to comfort Song Xiangdong, but felt that nothing was appropriate to say at this time. They hadn't even forgiven themselves, so how could they persuade others to forgive themselves?

Just then, an extremely surprised voice sounded, "Look quickly!!!"

The screen projection.

The thick black smoke gradually thinned over time with the flow of air.

The outlines of the large iron lumps that were in the ammunition depot became clearer, and as they did, smaller outlines between them also emerged, resembling people. There were exactly six.

"!!!"

At this moment, the leaders of the Security Bureau showed astonished expressions, their hearts betraying them with several strong beats, their breathing became difficult.

"Could it be that Lin Beichen and the others are still alive?!"

Someone voiced the thoughts of everyone.

The leaders' first reaction upon seeing the screen was that Lin Beichen had once again worked a miracle and given them another surprise. But the explosion scenes were still fresh in their minds, and even though they considered the possibility, they dared not believe it.

"Could they really have survived that explosion?"

Though there were doubts, everyone harbored a sliver of hope in their hearts.

All eyes were glued to the screen, not daring to blink, fearing they might miss something in the briefest of moments.

Once the smoke thinned, it quickly dispersed completely.

In that brief moment.

The smoke covering the base ruins had almost completely dissipated, revealing the mysterious outlines of the six humanoid figures.

Lin Beichen and the five agents were sitting on the ground, covered in dust and dirt. Apart from some scratches on the agents, they had no other injuries.

They were all perfectly fine!

"No one's hurt?!"

"Lin Beichen and the others are alive!"

"..."

The meeting room instantly erupted.

The situation had taken an unexpected turn!

The leaders of the Security Bureau were overjoyed.

At that moment, their feelings were mixed.

They were excited, happy, and above all, relieved!

"Lin Beichen can really work miracles!"

"He has given us another huge surprise."

"..."

The leaders of the Security Bureau didn't understand how Lin Beichen had managed not only to save himself but also the five agents in such a huge explosion.

But that didn't matter.

As long as he was alive, they could always ask him when he returned.

The important thing was that they were safe!

And they had also eliminated a foreign organization.

That was enough!

However, the five agents understood very well what had happened.

At that moment, the five agents were staring intently at Lin Beichen's back, their faces showing a mix of astonishment and reverence, replaying the scenes just now in their minds.

Roaring flames surged forward, with the momentum of consuming everything.

In front of them, Lin Beichen had thrown away the gun that had triggered the explosion, and then both his hands glowed with a sudden golden light.

The dazzling golden light was completely different from the explosion's flames, even more brilliant, the glow completely overshadowed the explosion's flames.

The golden light in his hands quickly spread, colliding and merging to form a golden barrier.

The barrier was large enough to protect six people.

The oncoming flames directly impacted the barrier.

The barrier trembled continuously with the waves of impact but did not collapse.

The flames from the explosion surged to the edges of the barrier, forming a blank area around it.

Until...

The explosion finally ended completely.

In their minds, the five agents were filled with countless questions - What was that golden light? How did the barrier block the impact?

And many more questions. They wanted to ask but could not bring themselves to do so.

It was out of awe!

Having experienced all of this, they could no longer see Lin Beichen in the same way; at that moment, he seemed like a deity to them!

Meanwhile, Lin Beichen, who was revered like a god, had an exhausted look on his face, but his eyes sparkled brightly.

Fire Element?

While resisting the impact of the explosion's flames, Lin Beichen had felt an intense energy he had never experienced before.

It was both scorching and bright.

Lin Beichen wanted to research it on the spot, but he knew their objective this time and knew this was no place to linger.

It wouldn't be too late to research it when he returned home.

Chapter 215: Is Lin Beichen Dead?! _3

Lin Beichen was exhausted from resisting the impact of the explosion, nearly to the point of collapse. The brief rest he had just taken had restored a considerable amount of his strength.

At least he could stand up now.

Lin Beichen got up and said to the five agents behind him, "We need to get out of here quickly. Come on, I'll take you to the rendezvous point. We're going home."

Home!

The five agents shuddered, almost bursting into tears. In a foreign land, having just survived life and death, these two words moved them deeply.

"Okay!"

...

...

Meanwhile.

In the northwest direction of Snake Eye Province, one of its four major powers, Mirasabang, was situated here.

Mirasabang, Yacai's office.

Yacai, the leader, sat at his desk, his brow tightly furrowed.

At this moment, a man hurriedly walked in. Before he could speak, Yacai asked, "Did you find out what happened?"

"Yes, we did."

The man nodded and reported, "It was the base in the forest to the west that exploded."

The explosion at the base had shaken up the entire Snake Eye Province.

Yacai had immediately sent people to find out what was going on.

The fireball from the explosion was so abrupt and eye-catching in the pitch-black night that many people saw it right as it happened.

There were many witnesses.

With just a little investigation, it was easy to find out what happened.

"The base in the western forest?"

Yacai had a strong impression of this base because its ability to establish itself in Snake Eye Province wasn't due to a lack of notice by the province's powers, but rather because it paid large amounts of protection money to those powers every year.

Getting money without using force.

Of course, the powers in Snake Eye Province were willing to accept this, so they never bothered the base and didn't care what it actually did.

As long as the money was given.

"How could it explode?"

Yacai wondered if some power had targeted the base, but then thought it unlikely. Since his faction and the other three major powers had all accepted protection fees, they had openly shielded the base, making it unlikely any power would dare to touch it. And neither he nor the other three powers would harm this cash cow.

"Is there an internal problem?"

He doubted this possibility too.

After thinking it over repeatedly, Yacai couldn't figure out a reason. He gestured for the man to come closer and commanded, "Take a team over to the base and find out what happened, investigate why it exploded."

"Yes!"

Not only did Yacai send a team to the base, but almost simultaneously, the other three major powers also sent personnel to the site.

In an instant, forces converged from all directions!

Near the western forest of Snake Eye Province.

A dozen figures stood among the trees.

In the moonlight, they were all dressed in combat gear, fully armed, their gazes fixed on one direction.

These dozen individuals were part of a special tactical team from Atlantis, sent to help an outside organization with relocation. Moments ago, as they were rushing to the base, the massive explosion made them look up to see the fireball and a small mushroom cloud blocking the moonlight.

One of them muttered, "That seems to be the location of the organization's base."

The base exploded?

The entire tactical team felt a sense of crisis, but it was just a guess. They didn't know the actual situation.

Only by reaching the base would the answers be clear.

The team leader glared at the member who had just spoken, "Shut up!"

Then, he abruptly waved his hand and ordered, "Move faster, full speed ahead!"

Chapter 216: Exposure, This Person is Lin Beichen!

In the vast night, Lin Beichen led five agents through the forest, sprinting towards the rendezvous point.

"Shusha——"

The sound of their footsteps on the grass seemed exceptionally clear in the silent night.

But even clearer were the heavy breaths of the five agents.

The five agents had indeed received professional training, but their stamina was worlds apart compared to Lin Beichen. Furthermore, they had been confined in a small dark room for two days without food or water, having also endured beatings, leaving them in a state of weakness and exhaustion.

The fact that they could follow Lin Beichen all the way here was solely due to their strong and unwavering willpower.

At this moment, the five agents felt their vision growing increasingly blurry, their lungs felt like they were on fire, and their legs seemed filled with lead, making each step a monumental challenge.

Their stamina had reached its limit.

Lin Beichen turned around and asked, "Are you guys still okay? Should we rest for a bit?"

Listening to the increasingly heavy breathing behind him, he himself felt a bit out of breath.

"No."

The five agents shook their heads in unison.

Every second longer in Snake Eye Province was an additional risk. As those being rescued, they didn't want to impose any more risk on their rescuer.

Even if it meant running themselves to death, they wouldn't stop.

"We can hold on."

Holding to this resolve, Lin Beichen had no reason to force them to rest.

They ran for another ten minutes or so.

Suddenly, the roar of engines came from the distance, the sound approaching from far away. The noise grew louder and louder.

Lin Beichen and the five agents looked toward the sound.

In the distance, several off-road vehicles were driving with their headlights on, casting bright white light that made it hard to see anything clearly.

Lin Beichen and the five agents watched the movements of these off-road vehicles. It was obvious they were heading in their direction.

They weren't sure who the newcomers were, but considering they were not from Great Xia, an encounter was bound to be risky.

Minimize the risk!

Lin Beichen and the five agents prepared to hide for the time being, planning to start again after the vehicles passed. But as they moved, they realized they had already been spotted. These vehicles were heading straight for them.

When they moved east, the vehicles adjusted their route to move east.

When they moved west, the vehicles adjusted their route to move west.

In any case, the vehicles always followed their movements.

The off-road vehicles drew closer; there was no hiding now, and it was too late anyway.

At this point, one agent looked at Lin Beichen and asked, "What should we do now?"

The other agents also turned to look at Lin Beichen, showing their stance through their actions.

All awaited Lin Beichen's orders!

Lin Beichen was their mainstay; whatever he said, they would do without hesitation, even if it meant risking their lives.

Lin Beichen thought for a moment and said, "Let's wait and see."

There were too many unknown factors, and he couldn't make a decision lightly. They would have to take it step by step.

A few seconds later, the off-road vehicles surrounded Lin Beichen and the others.

Then, three or four people got out of each vehicle, totaling around a dozen people.

From their skin color and appearance, it was clear they were locals of Snake Eye Province, each holding a gun.

Among them was a familiar face, the man who had reported to Yacai.

They were all from the Mirasabang faction. Following Yacai's order, he had led a team to the base to investigate.

"Why did you run just now?!"

The leader sternly questioned.

Lin Beichen had already thought of an excuse and intentionally explained with a bit of panic, "We were kidnapped and smuggled here. We finally escaped and didn't know if you were here to capture us..."

Given his age and his acting skills.

The Mirasabang men actually believed him.

The leader glanced towards the direction of the base and then back at Lin Beichen and the others, before saying, "We aren't with the ones who brought you here, but now you must come with us."

He didn't know what exactly the base was for, but Lin Beichen's words naturally led him to a conclusion.

The base was actually full of people like Lin Beichen, tricked into doing illegal and criminal activities. After the explosion, many survivors, finding no one to guard them, immediately escaped.

If this conjecture was correct, they could learn what happened at the base from these few.

The leader didn't have time to ascertain whether his conjecture was right or wrong, so he decided to take them back first. Better to be mistaken than to miss any valuable information.

He planned to continue heading to the base.

Taking both actions.

Hearing this, Lin Beichen knew he had only two choices: go with them obediently or strike first, ensuring the lowest risk by killing them all.

To him, this wasn't even a real choice.

Choosing the former was impossible.

Lin Beichen signaled the agents, who were ready to fight to the death, to stay put. To him, their involvement would only complicate things.

He wasn't a seer who could predict chaotic situations arising from their intervention.

Acting would limit his options.

There was no way he would resort to indiscriminate attack and risk killing his own team.

So, staying put and not moving was the greatest help they could offer.

Chapter 217: Exposed, This Person is Lin Beichen!_2

Lin Beichen took in the entire situation before him.

Four people were standing to the east, six to the north, and another five to the west.

But by coincidence, they were all in front of him.

It almost seemed like they had formed a semicircular semi-enclosed loop.

Although they were all holding guns, they appeared completely unalert. Even if they noticed something, they couldn't react quickly enough to shoot.

One strike is enough!

Lin Beichen made his assessment.

He secretly gathered Gold Element into his palm, then suddenly swung his arm forward.

With that swing, he created a semicircle.

The golden arc crossed the pitch-black night sky, flying towards the Mirasabang men.

The golden light shone into the eyes of the Mirasabang members.

"What is this..."

They were full of confusion, their eyes wide open, unable to comprehend the sudden appearance of the golden arc.

However, the sensation of a full-body explosion made them aware that this golden arc was extremely dangerous.

They wanted to dodge.

But before they could move.

The golden arc was already there!

The golden arc sliced across the necks of the Mirasabang members almost simultaneously, then vanished into the pitch-black night.

"Is nothing happening?"

The Mirasabang members felt no pain or discomfort; they wanted to lower their heads to check their bodies.

But at that moment.

They discovered they couldn't lower their heads anymore; they couldn't find the sensation of lowering their heads.

Their heads were no longer under their control!

At the same time, the scenery in their eyes began to spin and before they knew it, they were staring at the starry black night sky.

And then...

There was a feeling of rapid descent in the scene.

The next instant.

Several headless corpses appeared in their field of vision!

Seeing those familiar outfits and familiar forms, the last thoughts flashed through the minds of the Mirasabang members.

"Isn't that... me?!"

At this moment, the moonlight was as cool as water.

The pale moonlight shone down.

Dozens of heads lay scattered on the overgrown ground, each with eyes wide open, filled with disbelief, and expressions of astonishment on their faces.

In front of them, a dozen headless corpses stood there, some even had twitching fingers.

Even though the agents had seen such scenes many times, and even more horrific ones, every time they saw it, they couldn't help but feel shocked.

"Let's go."

Lin Beichen climbed into an off-road vehicle and gestured for the stunned agents to get in, laughing, "We don't have to walk to the rendezvous point anymore."

The agents snapped back to reality and exchanged a smile.

It was like someone handed a pillow to a sleeping person.

They all wanted to thank the Mirasabang men.

Their timely appearance...

Indirectly solved the problem of their severe physical exhaustion and accelerated their journey to the rendezvous point.

The agents squeezed into Lin Beichen's car.

Lin Beichen stepped on the gas.

The off-road vehicle roared forward, kicking up a wind that knocked over the dozen headless corpses, and it quickly disappeared into the boundless night.

Out of sight.

Only the faint rumble of the engine could be heard from afar.

The sound grew fainter and fainter.

Until finally...

The surroundings fell completely silent.

Absolute quiet!

...

...

The base ruins.

The Atlantis special forces team had fewer members than before and some were injured. At this moment, they looked around, bewildered.

The base had indeed been blown up!

Seeing the horrific scene, the special forces team members had a thousand questions in their heads.

Then, one team member shouted, "Look, there seems to be a survivor!"

The charred corpse pile in the distance visibly moved.

The special forces team rushed over and saw a man covered in ashen black, using his remaining left leg and right arm to struggle out of the pile.

The team leader ordered them to pull him out of the pile.

"We are an Atlantis special forces team sent to assist with your transfer."

The leader first revealed his identity, then asked, "Are you a member of the organization?"

Before the base went on full alert, everyone had been notified to transfer the base and told that Atlantis reinforcements would assist in the transfer.

At this moment, hearing his words.

The man did not doubt his identity, knowing he was a friend, not a foe.

He nodded with difficulty, "Yes."

The man's voice was extremely hoarse, like sandpaper, and though he only said one word, it seemed to exhaust all his strength.

Surviving the explosion was pure luck, but his internal organs were already shattered.

Moreover...

He had been choked by the thick smoke after the explosion and lost a lot of blood from his broken limbs.

He was in very poor condition!

Being able to speak was already remarkable.

The team leader sensed the man's precarious state, knowing he could die at any moment, so he went straight to the point, "What happened here? Why did the base explode? What exactly is going on?"

"Someone, someone came to rescue those Great Xia people..."

The man struggled to explain what he knew.

All he knew was that someone came to rescue five agents, then fled to the armory and detonated the explosives there, causing this massive explosion.

Chapter 218: Exposed, This Person is Lin Beichen!_3

The man's face was filled with an expression of extreme terror, his breathing becoming more rapid as he spoke about Lin Beichen and the five agents surviving the center of the explosion.

"Explosion, center of the explosion, those Great Xia captives, they, they're not dead, no..."

His voice abruptly ceased.

It seemed that he was too agitated, coupled with his candle-in-the-wind condition.

He died instantly!

"Wake up, wake up!!"

The team leader panicked, the man's words ended abruptly at the most crucial moment. How could he just die!

Is there only one person rescuing the Great Xia captives? What did he look like? Why didn't they die at the center of the explosion? What happened after?

His mind was filled with questions, and he didn't know who to ask.

"Search, quickly search for any other survivors!"

He could only hope there were other organization members who survived the explosion.

After the team leader's command.

The other team members immediately started to act.

"Team leader, there's someone still breathing here!"

"Report, found a survivor in decent condition here."

"..."

Survivors from the explosion were found one after another.

The team leader didn't dare to delay and immediately began to question them.

He questioned several survivors in rapid succession, cross-referencing the information they provided, and eventually determined the situation at the scene.

The five Great Xia people were rescued by one person.

No one among the survivors had seen the rescuer's appearance. After all, those who survived the explosion were members standing on the periphery; they couldn't see the inner circle clearly, and the blast had left them dazed. Just seeing through the thick smoke six people surviving at the center of the explosion was already remarkable.

As for why the six people survived the explosion, looking almost uninjured.

No one knew.

But many survivors mentioned that in the moment of the explosion, they vaguely saw a golden light appear at the center.

"..."

The scene was incredibly quiet.

The special operations group was dumbfounded after hearing the survivors' descriptions, their expressions stunned. They couldn't imagine the scene described by the survivors.

Such a powerful explosion, people at the center didn't die, and seemingly unharmed...

It's too absurd!

It sounded like a ghost story.

But it wasn't just one person saying this; nearly all the survivors said the same.

So this matter couldn't be false.

"Team leader, should we search for more survivors and ask them?"

One team member suggested, still unable to fully believe what they heard and hoping to find another survivor to contradict the others.

The team leader shook his head: "No need."

He understood the team member's thinking; he had thought about it just moments ago, but rationality told him it would be a futile exercise, they had to respect the facts.

The most important thing now was to report the current situation!

The team leader immediately took out the satellite communication equipment to contact his direct superior—Griffin.

"Sir, it's bad."

"What happened?"

"The organization's base has been bombed."

"What??"

On the other end of the phone, Griffin, sitting in his office, furrowed his brows and asked, "What's going on? Have you investigated thoroughly?"

"Yes, everything is clear now."

The team leader immediately synchronized the information he had.

One person went to the organization's base to rescue the five detained Great Xia personnel.

These six people were at the center of the explosion, yet not really harmed.

Griffin tried to digest each piece of this information.

He knew things that the team leader couldn't compare with; to the team leader, these were unbelievable, but to him, though shocking, they were not unacceptable.

The rescuer must be a Great Xia person!

Griffin firmly believed this, thinking no one else would take such a huge risk to do this except Great Xia.

Simultaneously, the rescuer's identity.

A name inexplicably surfaced in his mind—

Lin Beichen?

Griffin considered this very possible.

But one thing puzzled him.

Based on the information he knew, Lin Beichen used Thunder Skill, which emitted blue-white light during casting.

However, the survivors mentioned gold light.

There was a discrepancy.

Could it be that Lin Beichen had other skills besides Thunder Skill?

Griffin's heart was deeply shaken.

Just then.

Sounds of gunfire came from the other end of the phone.

"Rat-a-tat-tat——!!"

"Bang——!!"

"..."

The sounds interrupted Griffin's thoughts, and he hurriedly asked, "What's going on?"

"Sir, it's Snake Eye Province forces attacking us!"

The team leader answered quickly.

And the reason he instantly assessed the situation.

Was because he knew what they had done on the way.

On their way, the special operations group, like Lin Beichen and his team, encountered one major force from Snake Eye Province—Ketoya State's troops sent to inspect the explosion scene.

Seeing them fully armed, Ketoya State's troops immediately reported, then intercepted and questioned them.

A big fight was imminent!

Resulting in the total annihilation of Ketoya State's troops.

With the cost of the lives of a few team members and some injuries.

Rushing to the base, they left immediately and didn't notice a few hidden Ketoya State members.

Ketoya State members contacted their superiors and followed them.

Eventually, Ketoya State reinforcements arrived, directed by those members, leading to the current situation.

"Which force is attacking you?"

"I don't know, I..."

"Bang——!"

With the sound of a skull being pierced, the team leader's voice abruptly ceased.

Griffin's face changed, evidently realizing what happened; the team leader was killed!

The gunfire sounds gradually faded away, eventually ceasing, with only Snake Eye Province's strange dialect repeatedly emerging from the phone.

Griffin knew the special operations group had been completely wiped out, unable to provide immediate help from afar.

Griffin hung up the phone with an iron-blue face, after adjusting himself, he picked up the fixed phone on his desk and dialed a number.

Despite the regret for the loss of the special operations group, he wouldn't forget to report the situation to his superiors.

That was more important.

Soon, the phone connected.

Griffin said in a deep voice: "Minister, I request an emergency meeting!"

Chapter 219: Reevaluation!

Atlantis, conference room.

The same few people sat around a conference table.

The minister readily agreed to Griffin's request without hesitation as he didn't believe Griffin would call an emergency meeting for nothing.

There must be something major!

At this moment, the minister and others were listening intently to Griffin's information, and the more they listened, the more vivid their expressions became.

There was surprise, shock, confusion...

And so on.

Soon, Griffin finished recounting what he knew and added a concluding remark: "It is almost certain that the person is from Great Xia, and I believe that person is very likely Lin Beichen."

"..."

For a moment, no one spoke in the conference room.

Everyone was still digesting everything they had heard.

A few seconds later, someone sighed and said, "To survive such a massive explosion without any injuries... the last time I heard something so unbelievable was when I learned that Lin Beichen could generate electricity with his body."

The others nodded in agreement.

Then someone said, "Not only are both incidents highly improbable, but as Griffin mentioned, they are intricately linked. It doesn't seem impossible that the person who saved lives is indeed Lin Beichen."

"I actually think it's unlikely to be Lin Beichen."

Someone expressed a differing opinion.

Seeing all eyes on him, he explained, "Is it plausible for one person to have two different types of incredible abilities? I find that very unlikely. I would rather believe that Great Xia has advanced in unlocking human potential ahead of us. In other words, I believe Great Xia has developed many 'Superpower Users' we've been striving to create, with Lin Beichen being one of them, while the person who saved others in the Snake Eye Province's base is another. There might be many more we haven't discovered yet."

His perspective presented a completely new angle.

The others pondered for a moment, finding this angle no less likely than the possibility of Lin Beichen possessing two astounding abilities.

It was a fifty-fifty chance!

At this point, the minister spoke, "In that case, we will investigate from both perspectives. From this moment on, intensify the investigation on Lin Beichen while also fully exploring whether Great Xia has successfully studied how to unlock human potential, and whether there are multiple 'Superpower Users'."

Having said this, he turned his gaze to Griffin and continued, "Since you were in charge of the investigation previously, you will continue to be in charge. Don't let me down, Griffin."

"Yes, Minister!"

Griffin nodded solemnly.

He understood that taking on this matter was a double-edged sword for him.

Do well, and he would earn the minister's favor, leading to significant career advancement.

Fail, and he would be the first to take the blame.

Seeing that the emergency meeting's agenda was covered, the minister decided not to waste any more time and declared the meeting adjourned.

Just as he had announced this,

and before people could leave the conference room,

there was a knock on the conference room door.

"Knock, knock, knock—"

"Enter."

The conference room door opened.

Before seeing the person, a voice was heard, "Minister, Snake Eye Province has expressed extreme dissatisfaction with us internationally, even stating they do not rule out military action against us!"

The "Snake Eye Province" here naturally referred to the legitimate national framework of Snake Eye Province, which was also controlled by the four major factions.

While the four factions were in constant open and covert struggle, those were internal matters. Confronting external issues, the four factions were united as one.

After the Ketoya State members decimated the Atlantis special forces in the base ruins and took their bodies back to headquarters, they confirmed the special forces' identities.

At the same time, Mirasabang found the bodies of those killed by Lin Beichen and, upon hearing news from Ketoya State, directly assumed their people were also killed by the special forces.

Moreover...

Both sides, having identified the special forces, unanimously agreed that Atlantis was responsible for the explosion.

In no time, Mirasabang and Ketoya State were furious, immediately calling for a four-way consultation with the other two factions.

The result was...

A united front against a common enemy!

Even if the opponent was the mighty Atlantis!

Subsequently, the four factions conveyed their instructions to Snake Eye Province's so-called "foreign spokesperson," leading to the current international situation.

Atlantis was still bewildered, not understanding why it was being unjustly blamed for Lin Beichen while Snake Eye Province reacted so strongly.

Even if Atlantis had sent a special forces unit to Snake Eye Province and killed a few of their people, their own team was entirely wiped out.

Was it necessary to publicly escalate the matter?

Wasn't this excessive?

It couldn't comprehend Snake Eye Province's actions.

However, it didn't care about Snake Eye Province's accusations, firmly denying any involvement and issuing a strong rebuttal statement.

Chapter 220: Reevaluation!_2

The situation could erupt at any moment!

Snake Eye Province is considered a ticking time bomb on the international stage, while Atlantis is the constant troublemaker, an unpredictable factor always striving to stir chaos.

If these two clash...

The news spread globally in an instant.

Great Xia's leading information platform—Weibo.

#SnakeEyeProvinceMightRetaliateAgainstAtlantis#

This topic quickly shot to the top of the trending list.

Countless netizens clicked on the topic, and after some investigation, they only roughly understood that Atlantis had sent a special ops team to Snake Eye Province for sabotage. Atlantis denied the accusations, claiming it was a smear and declared that Snake Eye Province would pay for the slander.

"Did Atlantis really send people to wreak havoc?"

"With Atlantis always trying to cause trouble, it's highly likely they're the ones behind it!"

"Even though Snake Eye Province isn't good, they have no reason to provoke Atlantis, right?"

If they said so internationally, then Atlantis must really be at fault."

"I don't understand, why would Atlantis sabotage Snake Eye Province? Atlantis can't benefit from Snake Eye Province's industrial chain, sabotaging them brings no profit."

"Regardless, Atlantis's statement reveals its characteristic of committing mischief and refusing to admit it."

"..."

In the comments section, users expressed various opinions, but almost everyone believed the situation was as Snake Eye Province described. However, they couldn't understand why Atlantis would suddenly target Snake Eye Province.

It wasn't just the netizens of Great Xia; people worldwide felt the same after learning about the incident.

Speculations flew internationally, and conspiracy theories were rampant.

Atlantis, already notorious, saw its reputation sink even lower.

Security Bureau, the conference room.

Song Xiangdong and other Security Bureau leaders sat around the conference table, their faces displaying barely suppressed ironic smiles as they watched the projection before them.

The projection showed not Lin Beichen's 360-degree perspective, but global online opinion on the Snake Eye Province and Atlantis conflict.

At this moment, one of the leaders said, "It's now quite clear who the foreign organization is relying on."

Everyone nodded, their thoughts transparent as glass: the foreign organization was indeed backed by Atlantis.

Showing up in Snake Eye Province at this critical juncture, even appearing at the base.

The clues unequivocally exposed Atlantis.

They didn't need to think much; the answer was clear in their minds.

"Why would Atlantis, as this organization's backer, target children?"

Someone voiced their confusion, unable to understand Atlantis's actions.

Another offered a hypothesis: "Maybe Atlantis is conducting some experiment, perhaps related to the human body, but fears exposure, so it secretly established this organization for that purpose."

Everyone's eyes lit up, and after a moment of contemplation, they nodded in agreement.

They felt they were close to the truth.

But the specifics...

They still needed to investigate further.

At this moment, Kong Hui analyzed: "No wonder we tried to delay, but I sensed the foreign organization also tried to delay. I doubted my feelings, but now it makes sense—they were waiting for Atlantis's support."

Everyone came to a sudden realization.

Then someone laughed, "No matter what, this time Atlantis truly shot itself in the foot. They tried to support the base, but ended up in a mess."

"Haha, exactly."

"Atlantis probably never dreamed that sending a special ops team would lead to this situation."

"..."

Everyone laughed.

Song Xiangdong laughed too, saying, "Lin Beichen deserves much credit for Atlantis's current predicament."

Everyone nodded fervently.

If not for Lin Beichen, who came out of nowhere, single-handedly rescuing the agents and destroying the base on the side...

the special ops team from Atlantis might indeed have supported the foreign organization.

In that case, the five agents would likely not have escaped alive.

As leaders of the Security Bureau, learning that Atlantis backed the organization harming Great Xia's children, they wouldn't let it slide.

There must be retaliation!

As they discussed how to retaliate against Atlantis...

There was a knock on the door.

"Knock, knock, knock—"

"Director, our people are about to arrive at the Security Bureau."

The agent's voice came from outside the door.

This was Song Xiangdong's special instruction: if the team returning from Snake Eye Province arrived, inform him immediately, no matter if he was in a meeting.

"Okay, got it."

Song Xiangdong looked at the other Security Bureau leaders, his expression joyful as he said loudly, "We can discuss the remaining matters later. Now, let's go welcome our heroes."

"Okay!"

The Security Bureau leaders were excited.

Led by Song Xiangdong, they quickly arrived at the internal helipad of the Security Bureau, standing and gazing at the sky.
