Chapter 1111

Chapter 1111

“Madeline, what exactly has been happening recently? Why do I always feel like you’re not quite yourself?”

Madeline lowered her gaze, hiding the sadness and sorrow in her eyes

“Bella. stop asking. When the time is right. I will gradually tell you.”

“Alright. I don’t have anything else either. I have work in the afternoon, so I’ll go back first. Feel free to call me anytime if you need anything.”

“Mm–hmm.”

After Bella left. Madeline just sat on the sofa in a daze, and the sky gradually darkened.

At eight o’clock in the evening, the phone on the table suddenly rang

As soon as it connected, Bella’s angry voice came through.

“Was the reason Madeline Brycen broke up with her boyfriend because he cheated on her?!”

Madeline paused for a moment, then subconsciously asked, “Why do you ask?”

“Didn’t you watch the news?”

Madeline’s heart sank, she remained silent for a while before she spoke, “I didn’t see it, I’ll go check Bella, you go ahead with your work. The end of my relationship with him had nothing to do with cheating.”

“If he really did something to wrong you, you must not let him off the hook.”

“There really wasn’t anything, don’t you know my personality yet? We broke up amicably ”

Hearing this. Bella finally breathed a sigh of relief and said. “That works.”

After hanging up the phone, Madeline opened the webpage with trembling hands.

Sure enough, the top trending topic on the webpage was about him.

Seeing the headline about him shopping for diamond rings with a female celebrity. Madeline's eyes were sharply stung.

He unconsciously tightened his grip on the phone, his fingers turning white without him even noticing.

She had clearly decided to give up on him, but upon seeing the news of him being with another woman, her heart still ached as if it was being torn apart.

She knew clearly that this was just his way of getting back at her, but she couldn't help but care.

Clicked on the trending topics, saw Brycen in the channel holding a female star's hand, bending down to put a diamond ring on her, with a hint of smile on his lips.

The star was Samantha, she was the actress who had a significant role in her recent new drama, and they had a pretty good relationship on the set.

Madeline closed her eyes, tears streaking down from the corners, and the phone slipped from her hand.

On the other side, the largest mall in Haseton.

Samantha's face was full of excitement, constantly looking at the ring. on her hand, she had already thought about what to write to show off later.

"Mr. Carney, I really liked this ring, thank you!"

She was just a minor celebrity, and she was almost scared to death when she accidentally hit Brycen's car tonight.

She had originally thought it would be very troublesome, but to her surprise. not only did Brycen not blame her after getting out of the car, he even said he wanted to apologize to her, and then he brought her here.

Brycen's expression was indifferent, "As long as you like it."

"Mr. Carney. I hit your car, and yet you gave me such a valuable gift. Let me take you out for dinner instead."

Brycen had been looking down at his phone, but at her words, he looked up at her with an indifferent expression.

“No need, I have other things to do, that’s it.”

After speaking, without giving her a chance to speak, Brycen directly stood up and left

Reaching the door, he dialed his secretary’s number, his voice deep as he asked, “Has there been any response from Madeline?”

“No...no, Ms. Garcia didn’t seem to know about this...”

“Then find a way to let him know.”

Brycen’s voice was icy cold, even carrying a hint of annoyance.

“Alright, I was going to do it immediately.”

After hanging up the phone, the secretary pondered for a moment, and still made a call to Madeline.

Seeing Brycen’s secretary’s call. Madeline didn’t answer.

She had made several calls in a row, none of which were answered by the other party. The secretary also understood Madeline’s intentions.

Never would have thought that despite the gritting sound of the CEO’s voice on the phone just now. he still sent a text message to Madeline “Ms. Garcia, I don’t know what happened between you and the president, but he was in a very bad mood today Over the past few years. I’ve seen the changes he’s made for you. I hope you won’t give up on your relationship so quickly.”

He quickly received a reply.

I had no relationship with him anymore, there was no need to inform me about his matters in the future.

After reading Madeline's response, the secretary couldn't help but frown. It seemed that the conflict between the two was quite significant this time.

Brycen argued with Madeline, and he was always the one who got hurt

Brycen saw this message, not knowing how he would react

But judging from Madeline's attitude, it seemed like she really didn't plan to continue being with Brycen

What a headache....

On the other side. no sooner had Madeline sent out the message than her phone started ringing.

Seeing the word "Mom" flashing on the screen, a hint of struggle flashed in his eyes, but he still answered the call.

"Madeline. what about the thing I told you before, about having your boyfriend help your brother find a job?"

Madeline was silent for a few seconds before she said. "We've already broken up. he won't help Apollo find a job either."

"What?!" Melinda's voice shot up sharply, filled with interrogation. "What on earth happened? Wasn't everything fine just a while ago? Did you upset him?!"

Madeline found it somewhat amusing that when she broke up with her boyfriend, her biological mother's first reaction was not to feel sorry for her, but to get angry.

"Anyway, we have no relation whatsoever anymore, let Apollo find a job on his own "

"You were driving me crazy! It was so hard to find such a wealthy man, and you still didn't seize the opportunity properly!"

Melinda's voice was filled with regret as she couldn't help but complain. "Why don't you go back to him? You're so beautiful, just use some tactics, which man could resist?"

Detecting the insinuation in her tone, Madeline finally couldn't contain her inner rage.

“Am I your daughter or just a tool to you? I would never go to him, you can give up on that idea!”

“Madeline! I see you’ve grown wings now, starting to look down on us Don’t forget. I’m your own mother, do you think I would harm you?”

Madeline sneered. “Are you my real mother? But you’ve always favored your son. You only treat me well when it doesn’t infringe on his interests. The moment there’s the slightest conflict with his benefits. you start yelling at me.”

“Shouldn’t I have been good to your brother?! Are you jealous because of this? I’m really disappointed in you. Don’t forget, in the future, you’ll have to take care of me and your father’s retirement by yourself And if you get married and your husband mistreats you, it will be your brother who stands up for you!”

“Rely on him! A good–for–nothing who lazes around all day, can’t even lift a finger, and only knows how to eat, drink and be merry? What a piece of trash!”

Without a doubt. these words had stepped on Melinda’s sore spot She raised her voice sharply and shouted angrily. “Shut up! If you spout nonsense again. I will personally go to Haseton and tear your mouth apart!”

Listening to Melinda’s angry words. Madeline couldn’t help but laugh, only that laugh was helpless and desolate.

“Since you didn’t treat me as your daughter. I won’t give you any money in the future. Let your good son provide you with living expenses every month.”

After speaking. Madeline immediately hung up the phone and directly blocked Melinda’s number.

Over the years. Madeline earned more and more money, and she gave a lot to her parents. Their family went from being the poorest in the village to truly the wealthiest.

The first money she started to earn was tricked away by her mother under the pretext of illness. It was a fellow villager who told her that her parents had built a three–story villa at home, and then she realized she had been deceived by Melinda.

When she went to confront them, they both cried poor and apologized to her, so she forgave them.

She had thought that since they were all family, she wanted them to live a good life with the money she earned.

But it was later discovered that there was not a single room for her in that villa.

From the beginning, they had never considered leaving her a way out

That was the first time she disappointed her family. She knew very well that her parents only cared about their son, and to them, she, their daughter, was nothing more than a stranger.

Over the past few years, she regularly sent money back, but she never once returned home.

If it hadn't been for that money, they might have been criticizing her for being unfilial in the village long ago.

Thinking of this, Madeline felt a chill in her heart.

Perhaps, she really should have cut ties with her family.

After resting for a whole week, Madeline's condition had finally improved significantly.

Under Bella's arrangement, she joined a variety show.

The name of this variety show was "Wilderness Survival" There were four regular guests, and each episode, the production team invited twelve special guests. Every three special guests and one regular guest formed a team, making a total of four teams All participants were dropped onto a small deserted island to undergo a month-long survival challenge

The four groups did not interfere with each other. Along the way, if anyone got injured or could not bear the harsh life, they could withdraw from the competition. In the end, the group with the most remaining members would be the winner.

This kind of wilderness survival show captured the public's curiosity If one performed well in it, they could gain a wave of fans However, if they performed poorly, it was easy for their public image to collapse, leading to a loss of fans

When the program first found Bella, she initially didn't want to send Madeline to participate, but later when she found out that several well-known film directors would also be attending this episode, she changed her mind

"Madeline, your task this time is to get to know those directors. If a director can team up with you, that would be best. Try to leave a good impression on them, it will make it much easier for you to break into the film industry in the future."

Madeline nodded. "I understand, thank you Bella, I will try my best."

Bella sighed. "This variety show might be tough, you must know your limits. If your body can't handle it, make sure to call for help and withdraw in time."

"Good."

The next day, Madeline packed her things and joined the crew. By the time Brycen received the message, Madeline had already boarded the plane.

Unexpectedly, she not only ignored the rumors about herself and other women, but also left without even saying goodbye. It seemed that she was really determined to break up with him. A flash of resentment passed through Brycen's eyes.

He called his secretary in and said coldly, "Go get Samantha!"

When Madeline arrived at the show's crew, there were already seven or eight people on the scene. Apart from the regular guests of the show, the rest were basically first and second-tier celebrities, all of whom Madeline knew.

Seeing her, everyone came forward to greet her.

"Ms. Garcia. I didn't expect you to also participate in this program. I remember our last collaboration was already three years ago!"

The speaker was Vanessa, the recent winner of the Best Actress at the White Orchid Award. She mainly followed the mature and sober style, and quickly gained a lot of fans in a short period of time.

When they were collaborating, Madeline had a pretty good impression of Vanessa.

“Indeed, it has been a long time. We can collaborate again if there’s a chance next time.”

Vanessa laughed. “That’s more than I could ask for, Ms. Garcia. You can just call me Vanessa.”

Madeline nodded, “Hmm, then you can call me Madeline.”

“Good.”

After greeting a few others, everyone sat at the table waiting for the rest to arrive.

At three in the afternoon, everyone finally gathered.

After briefly explaining the requirements and dividing into groups, the program team had everyone prepare to go to the small island

Vanessa, Madeline, a top male star Stewart, and regular guest Jacob formed a group

After exchanging greetings, Vanessa said with a smile, “Jacob, you’ve had some experience before, we’re counting on you to lead us this time!”

Every time a side won, the show’s team would give a reward of one million in cash plus a trip around the world, all expenses paid for food, drink, and entertainment. Everyone wanted to receive this reward

With a modest expression, Jacob said, “I just have a bit more experience than you all, we will still need to help each other when the time comes.”

“Of course, I could cook, and I would be able to take on the job of a chef then.”

On the deserted island, the few people needed not only to find food but also to build a shelter, otherwise, they were likely to be attacked by wild animals. Moreover, it was already late autumn, they needed to find wood for heating, otherwise, they could easily be eliminated due to catching a cold from the low temperatures.

Stewart was silent for a moment, then said, “I can hunt, I can go find food.”

“Building a shelter was necessary. I could go cut down trees, and then Stewart would help me bring the wood back.”

After speaking, everyone turned to look at Madeline, expecting her to do something.

Madeline pursed her lips, “I can fish, I’ll go fishing by the river every day then.”

Upon hearing this, a hint of disappointment could be seen in the eyes of the remaining few. However, knowing how to fish was still better than not knowing anything at all, even though they didn’t hold much hope.

The production team distributed cameras and earphones to each person, provided them with enough food to survive for five days and an emergency cell phone, and then left on a plane.

A few people, carrying their bags, found a relatively spacious place to camp under Jacob’s guidance.

On the first day, everyone’s faces were filled with curiosity and excitement, completely unaware of how difficult their lives would become.

The program was conducted in a 24-hour non-stop live broadcast format. If any guest’s camera had a problem, the program team would arrive within ten minutes to ensure the safety of the guests.

The four groups were divided into four live broadcast rooms, and at that moment, there were already many bullet screens in the live broadcast room of Madeline’s group.

“Wow! I never thought I’d see Madeline on a variety show in my lifetime. Looking forward to Madeline’s performance! Starry-eyed!”

Madeline and Vanessa were both quite famous, so it was surprising that they would participate in such a thankless and strenuous show. I really wondered what their agents were thinking!

I hoped that Madeline and Vanessa could get along well, as they were both actresses I really liked! Looking forward!

After several people finished lunch, they began to walk towards the forest together.

Because the food was still plentiful today, they decided to cut trees together and ideally set up the rudimentary structure of the shelter.

Jacob walked into the woods, giving them precautions as he went. He had participated in several episodes of the show and had acquired some wilderness survival knowledge. However, surviving on a deserted island for a month was still very challenging. The team he was on in the previous episode had failed in less than ten days.

“There were blind bears and some aggressive wild animals on this island. so we had to build the shelter well Moreover, we were four people, so we needed at least two rooms and a kitchen, otherwise we would definitely have a hard time later on.”

A few people were walking forward when suddenly Vanessa, who was in the middle, let out a scream.

“Ah! There was a snake!”

No sooner had the words left her mouth than she blacked out.

Following behind her. Madeline quickly supported her Several people looked in the direction she had just pointed, and sure enough, they saw a green snake coiled around a tree trunk a few meters away from them. staring at them motionlessly

Jacob furrowed his brow, whispering. “This is a bamboo pit viper, it’s highly venomous. We need to retreat slowly, don’t provoke it

However, as soon as the words fell, a rough wooden arrow flew directly towards the bamboo leaf green snake with a “whoosh” sound. piercing through its head and nailing it to the tree.

After a few seconds of silence, Jacob looked at Stewart, who was walking at the end, with a face full of shock. His eyes were filled with disbelief and admiration.

“Stewart. I didn’t expect your archery skills to be so good. When you said you could hunt. I hardly believed it! I’m truly convinced now! And when did you make the bow and arrows?!”

Stewart's expression was indifferent. "I just happened to see some materials suitable for making a bow and arrow on the side of the road. so I casually made one."

Watching his calm demeanor, Jacob suddenly gained a lot of confidence. Perhaps with Stewart's presence, their team could win this time.

Considering this possibility, he looked at Stewart with admiration.

Except for him, the rest of the guests had already received rewards. Could it be that this overwhelming wealth and honor had finally come to him?!

"Stewart, why don't you focus on hunting from now on, and I'll take care of chopping the trees. Madeline, you and Vanessa will be in charge of processing the game that Stewart hunts. Try to find a way to preserve it for a longer period of time!"

"No need, I could chop trees and hunt at the same time. We need to build a base. it's best not to waste too much time looking for food "

Seeing Stewart's confident face, Jacob was almost moved to tears

"Alright, if the fish Madeline caught is enough for us to eat, we can also start building the base first."

Seeing the two discussing their post-meeting tasks, Madeline, who was standing by couldn't help but say. "Before discussing these matters, should we find a way to wake Vanessa up first..."

Hearing this. both of them turned their heads to look at Vanessa. A hint of dissatisfaction flashed in Stewart's eyes. If it wasn't for the arrangement of the production team, he didn't want to participate in this variety show with a female star at all. Women are both timid and troublesome

"You watch him here, Jacob and I will be chopping trees nearby Call us anytime if anything happens."

After speaking, Stewart went over to the side with Jacob, picked up an axe, and began chopping down trees.

Initially, the show crew did not provide axes. However, they later realized that without these items, guests without wilderness survival skills would quickly be eliminated. So, they began to provide some necessities, but only for the first three days. On the third day, they would come and take away all the items.

Over an hour later. Vanessa finally woke up.

Seeing herself lying on the grass, she quickly got up, her eyes darting around in panic. Only after confirming there were no snakes did her complexion improve somewhat.

“Vanessa, are you okay? The snake has been killed by Stewart, you don’t need to be afraid anymore.”

Vanessa bit her lower lip, a flash of guilt flickering in her eyes.

“Madeline, I’m sorry, I’ve let you down.”

“It’s okay. Stewart and Jacob were chopping trees. They intended to set up the base first. Stewart and Jacob were responsible for chopping trees and hunting, while we were in charge of processing the game they hunted. Normally, you would cook, and I would go fishing when I had time.”

Vanessa nodded. saying with some lingering fear, “That’s fine, I never want to come to the forest again.”

God knows her heart almost jumped out when she saw that snake just now.

Madeline couldn’t help but chuckle, “Hmm.”

Before long, Stewart and Jacob came over, carrying a tree. Seeing that Vanessa had woken up, they didn’t say anything, just carried the tree towards the edge of the forest.

Madeline led Vanessa to catch up, but Vanessa’s face looked somewhat uncomfortable.

She couldn't help but tug at Madeline's sleeve, whispering, "Madeline, do they have something against me? Do they think I'm holding them back, is that why they didn't even greet me?"

Madeline frowned. "I don't think so, don't overthink it. We just need to do our assigned tasks well when the time comes."

"Mm-hmm."

Although Vanessa didn't speak again, her face still looked somewhat unpleasant.

And at this moment, the barrage comments also started to become sarcastic and strange.

"What's up with Vanessa? I used to quite like her, but why does her speech seem so insincere? Am I overthinking this?"

"Hey, upstairs, you must be a fan of Madeline. Our Vanessa is just kind-hearted and doesn't want to cause trouble for others. She feels guilty. How come in your eyes she's being pretentious!"

Haha, I've finally witnessed the quality of Vanessa's fans. Someone asked what does Vanessa's tea have to do with Madeline's fans? Didn't you see Madeline comforting her just now? Are you blind?!

Thus, Vanessa's fans and Madeline's fans started arguing in the barrage.

However, the two of them didn't know about this, because they didn't have any communication tools at all. They only got their phones when they left the island.

On the other hand, Briana Cameron also saw this program.

Discovering that the small island had hardly been developed, she couldn't help but frown. The lack of development indicated many potential dangers.

I really didn't know what Madeline's agent was thinking, why did he let her participate in this show?!

Just as she was about to talk to Bella, her phone suddenly rang.

Her pupils contracted sharply as she picked up her phone and opened Fullmoon, only to be startled by a message from an avatar she thought would never light up again.

“Iris, were you in Haseton? I wanted to ask you to help me save two people.”

Briana Cameron’s hand unconsciously tightened around her phone, taking a good while before responding.

Who were you?

Peony: [...I’m Peony. Although I haven’t appeared for several years, you couldn’t have forgotten me, could you?]

Iris: “Peony died in a mission seven years ago, who the hell are you?! Why are you impersonating her?!”

Peony: “Alright, then I’ll tell a secret that only we know... You have a crescent-shaped scar on your waist, you should believe me now, right?”

Iris: “.....I can’t believe it, where have you been these past few years?”

Iris: [Who?]

Peony: [I’ll send you the name and information right away. I have something else to deal with here, so let’s leave it at that for now!]

Briana Cameron had just received a message when the other party’s avatar dimmed. At the same time, her inbox chimed, indicating the arrival of a new email.

She exited Fullmoon, just opened her mailbox, saw the top two names. and couldn’t help but frown.

– Kendra, Reese.

These two people were her former father-in-law and mother-in-law.

How could Peony have known them?!

Most importantly, weren't Kendra and Reese supposed to be in Bridenville?

She quickly looked down, knowing that Reese and Kendra had moved to Mekton long ago, and after they were taken away in Mekton, her brows furrowed even more.

In the end, it was discovered that Isaac had kidnapped Reese and Kendra, and was currently holding them in his basement, a glint of coldness flashing in his eyes.

apter 1117

Isaac had completely lost his mind, not even sparing his own uncles and aunts.

Although Briana Cameron didn't have much feeling for Reese and Kendra, she would do anything, even go through fire and water, since it was something Peony had asked her to do.

After all. Peony had saved her many times when they were on missions. together in the past.

She reopened Fullmoon and sent a message to Peony, asking her why she had saved Kendra and Reese, of course, she didn't get a response.

For the next few days, Briana Cameron had been scouting around Isaac's villa, finally preparing to sneak into his villa at twelve o'clock on Wednesday night to rescue Reese and Kendra.

After making the plan, Briana Cameron quietly awaited the arrival of Wednesday night.

Time flew by quickly, and before we knew it, it was already Wednesday.

In the evening, as Briana Cameron was ready and about to leave, she was stopped at the door by Maxim.

"What did you come for?"

Briana Cameron had a cold expression, her gaze at Maxim devoid of any warmth.

"So late, what were you going out for?"

“This seemed to have nothing to do with you. Leave within five seconds, or I’ll have to call security.

Maxim stared into her eyes, saying word by word, “Were you going to

Chapter 1117

Isaac’s to rescue my parents?”

A flash of surprise crossed Briana Cameron’s eyes, followed by a cold laugh, “Maxim, you think too highly of yourself. I just have something to do. Besides, what does your parents being locked up have to do with me? If anyone is to save them, it should be you.’

“Briana, if you didn’t go to save them, how did you know they were locked up?”

Upon hearing this, Briana Cameron realized that she had just been tricked, her face turned incredibly ugly. “Maxim, I don’t want to waste my time talking to you, get out of the way!”

“I wouldn’t allow it, because I wouldn’t permit you to be in the slightest danger.”

Briana Cameron’s hand, hanging by her side, tightened abruptly. She said coldly, “Do you find it amusing to toy with me like this?! Don’t pretend to be affectionate in front of me, it only makes me sick!”

“Whether you’re disgusted or repulsed, as long as you agree not to go looking for Isaac, I’ll leave immediately.”

“Maxim, don’t push your luck, what I do has absolutely nothing to do with you!”

“Since you didn’t agree, I had no choice but to keep you at home.”

Briana Cameron was about to speak when she was suddenly swept off her feet by him.

After she realized what was happening, her face was filled with anger. She struggled and gritted her teeth, saying, “Maxim, put me down!”

Maxim turned a deaf ear and directly carried Briana Cameron into the villa before putting her down.

“What on earth did you want to do?!”

“I just didn’t want you to take risks, that’s all. I would save my parents myself, you didn’t need to get involved.”

Briana Cameron was taken aback for a moment, then she realized what he meant. Did he actually think she had saved Reese and Kendra for his sake?

A hint of mockery flashed in her eyes, “Mr. Yoder. I think you’ve misunderstood something. I’m going to save them because a friend asked me to, it has absolutely nothing to do with you.

Maxim was calm and his tone left no room for argument, “No matter what, I won’t let you be in any danger.”

Briana Cameron frowned, saying coldly, “We have no relationship whatsoever anymore, don’t we?!”

“Briana, rest assured, as long as you agree not to go looking for Isaac, I will leave immediately, and absolutely won’t bother you.”

Looking into his calm eyes, Briana Cameron scoffed, “You have no right to pry into my affairs, nor to dictate what I should do.”

“If you didn’t agree, I wouldn’t have left here tonight, and I would have had someone follow you all day. If you went to find Isaac, my people would have immediately arrived to bring you back.”

Briana Cameron was gritting her teeth in anger, exclaiming, “Maxim, we have absolutely no relationship anymore, what gives you the right to do this?!”

As she spoke, she took out her phone and called the police directly.

However, before the call was even connected, Maxim said, "Calling the police won't help. I've already bought the villa next to yours. I can check whether you're home at any time, and it's completely legal."

Briana Cameron took a deep breath, suppressing the anger in her heart, and managed to squeeze out a smile on her face.

"Alright. I understand, I won't go looking for Isaac. Can you leave my house now?!"

Maxim didn't linger either. he turned around and left directly.

Watching him leave the villa, Briana Cameron slammed the door shut with a bang.

The next second, his deep voice came from the doorway.

"Whether or not you were helping a friend, I would personally rescue my parents. You should not get involved in this matter anymore."

Briana Cameron didn't say a word, she simply turned around and sat back down on the sofa, her face full of anger and resentment.

After pondering for a while, she sent a message to Maxim.

I gave you three days. If you couldn't rescue them, then don't interfere in my affairs!

After an unknown amount of time had passed, there was finally a response from the other side, just a brief "good".

Having received Maxim's response, Briana Cameron finally felt relieved. If Maxim had really refused her, figuring out how to avoid Maxim's men and leave the villa to save Kendra and Reese would have been a problem for her

There was no need to save anyone for the time being, so Briana Cameron went back to her room to wash up and sleep

Early the next morning, as soon as Briana Cameron turned on her phone, a news notification popped up.

Upon seeing the news of Madeline's injury, her face changed color and she immediately called Bella.

"Bella, what's going on with the news online? Is Madeline okay?!"

Since regaining her memory, Briana Cameron remembered that she was a shareholder in the entertainment company where Madeline worked. However, she had no intention of managing the company and planned to just sit at home waiting for dividends.

"Mr. Cameron. I also didn't know the specific situation yet, I was on my way to Madeline's "

Briana Cameron frowned, saying coldly, "Send me the address, I'll go there too."

After speaking, without giving Bella any chance to speak, he directly hung up the phone.

Upon receiving the address of the island, Briana Cameron immediately arranged for a helicopter to come over and went straight there

After several hours of flight, the helicopter finally landed on the island.

Briana Cameron had just gotten off the plane when she saw Madeline lying pale-faced on a stretcher, her eyes tightly closed clearly having fainted. Bella was by her side, her face full of panic and worry.

She quickly walked up to Bella, angrily demanding. "What on earth happened? How did you suddenly get hurt?"

"Mr. Cameron. I heard that Madeline accidentally slipped and fell from the roof while she was setting up the base. She is still unconscious now, and we need to take her to the hospital for a check-up to determine the extent of her injuries.

Briana Cameron's expression was icy, "If anything happens to Madeline, you're fired!"

Bella's face stiffened for a moment, but she knew that this time it was her fault. If she hadn't taken on this variety show to get Madeline more fans, Madeline wouldn't have been hurt.

Moreover, this injury would also affect her upcoming work and endorsements, leading to even greater losses in the future.

It wasn't until the evening that Madeline woke up.

Just woke up. Briana Cameron at the side hurriedly said. "Madeline, you finally woke up, how do you feel now?"

Just as Madeline was about to move, she felt a sharp pain surge through her body, causing her to involuntarily groan.

"What happened to me?"

Briana Cameron frowned. "You forgot? You fell when you were building the base, then you passed out. This is a hospital."

Hearing this, Madeline reminisced for a while before recalling the situation at that time.

She lowered her gaze, her hand clutching the blanket involuntarily tightened.

Her fall was not an accident, but intentional!

"The doctor said your knee was fractured and you needed to rest for at least three months. You couldn't continue participating in the previous variety show either. I asked Bella to handle the follow-up matters."

Madeline nodded, "Hmm, that's fine too."

Briana Cameron was about to ask her if she was feeling unwell anywhere else, when the hospital room door was suddenly pushed open with a bang. Brycen walked in quickly, his face full of panic.

Upon seeing him, a flash of surprise flickered in Briana Cameron's eyes.

Before she could speak, Madeline said coldly. "Mr. Carney, what are you doing here?! It seems that there is nothing left to say between us."

Panic froze on Brycen's face for several seconds before he let out a cold laugh. "I just came to see if you were still alive "

Madeline's expression was indifferent. "I'm fine. Mr Carney can leave now"

Brycen stood still, his hand unconsciously clenched at his side. After a good while, he gritted his teeth and said. "Heh. I'm such a fool!"

After speaking, he turned around and left without looking back

It was not until the door of the ward was closed that the cold and guarded look on Madeline's face slowly faded, returning to her previous weak appearance.

Briana Cameron walked over and sat by the bedside, frowning, "Madeline, you and Brycen..."

Madeline closed her eyes briefly, then slowly said, "I don't want to talk about this recently, I'll tell you after some time."

Seeing her pale face, Briana Cameron did not continue to ask questions.

"Um, I went to buy you some food, did you want to drink porridge or eat small wontons?"

"Have some porridge."

Briana Cameron got up and left the ward. As soon as she reached the downstairs of the inpatient department, she saw Brycen standing not far away, looking agitated, with a cigarette in his hand.

She had a bad impression of him and they were not familiar with each other. She had no intention of greeting him, so she averted her gaze and headed straight for the hospital entrance.

However, when Brycen found her, he stepped forward and stopped her.

"Ms. Cameron, I wanted to ask you a favor."

Briana Cameron stopped in her tracks, looking at him with a calm expression.

“What happened?”

“Madeline has been having issues with me these past few days, she probably doesn’t want to see me. I’ll have to trouble you to take care of her.”

Briana Cameron frowned, saying. “Mr. Carney, this is between you and Madeline. it has nothing to do with me. I will take care of her because she is my friend, not because you asked me to. Moreover. during your conflict with Madeline, Mr. Carney, you still had time to flirt with other female celebrities. I don’t think she is that important to you.”

After speaking, Briana Cameron turned to leave.

“Ms. Cameron..... things are not as you see them. It was Madeline who proposed the breakup, and my involvement with that female celebrity was just for a show.”

Looking into his serious eyes, Briana Cameron also understood that his intention was probably to make Madeline jealous.

However, evidently, the result disappointed him.

Briana Cameron fell silent for a few seconds, pursing her lips before saying, “If Mr. Carney truly loves Madeline and doesn’t want to part with her, I suggest you stop getting involved with other women. After all, to a woman, this is nothing short of betrayal.

Brycen’s face was full of defeat, “I’m at a loss... I don’t know why she broke up with me, nor do I know how to win her back.”

“Any method would have been better than you spreading rumors with other women.”

“Anyway, I still want to ask you to take good care of Madeline. I will also find a caregiver for her, so it won’t be too much trouble for you.”

Briana Cameron didn’t speak again, she turned around and left directly.

By the time she returned to the ward with the purchased porridge, Madeline had already fallen asleep.

She put the porridge aside and had just sat down when her phone rang.

Briana Cameron quickly opened her phone when she saw a message from Peony.

Peony: Iris, how did the thing I asked for your help with go? Was the person rescued?

Iris: I was prepared to go for the rescue, but someone stopped me. They promised to save the person within three days. If they didn’t succeed, I would then re-plan how to rescue the person.

Peony: Okay, I will be returning to the country in the next few days. When that time comes, I will act together with you.

Iris: Hmm.

Exiting the Fullmoon software, Briana Cameron couldn’t help but frown. She still wanted to know what the relationship between Peony and Reese was, but she could only wait until Peony returned to the country to ask her.

Chapter 1120

Half an hour later, Madeline woke up

After helping her up to the bathroom. Briana Cameron handed her the porridge on the table and asked, “Can you drink it yourself? Or do you want me to feed you

Madeline took the porridge and said with a smile. “I hurt my leg, not my hand. I can do it myself

“Good”

While Madeline was eating porridge. Briana Cameron told her about her encounter with Brycen at the hospital entrance

After listening. there was no change in her facial expression, but the hand holding the spoon unconsciously tightened

Briana Cameron knew she still had feelings for Brycen and couldn't help but say
"Madeline, if you two still love each other, you can overcome any difficulties together
Don't keep it all to yourself

Madeline pursed her lips, about to speak, when the hospital room door was abruptly pushed open with a bang

"Madeline, you unfilial daughter! Your father and I raised you with so much hardship, and yet you want to sever ties with us How cruel you are!"
