Chapter 1441 You Don't Believe Me

In the face of the man's light and airy question, Selena's mouth moved but she did not deny it.

Osvaldo's breath suddenly stopped, and his thin lips tightened instantly, "You don't believe me..."

Selena looked up at that perfect face, leaned in, and tilted her head slightly.

Osvaldo's body stiffened, his eyes froze like stagnant water, and a hint of grievance appeared, "I really didn't..."

Selena quietly lowered her eyelashes, and a curve of crying but not crying appeared at the corner of her mouth, "I need some time."

The problem between her and Osvaldo was not about Vivian.

Leia showed her the surveillance footage.

She knew he really didn't touch Vivian.

She just couldn't figure out some things.

Oswaldo stared at the melancholy between her eyes, and a hint of heartache gradually emerged in his deep black eyes.

Her crying face was beautiful.

He had seen it before.

And he never wanted to see it again in his life!

So, Oswaldo stepped back.

He retreated to a distance of nine meters away from Selena, and stared at her deeply.

Selena glanced at him and continued to walk forward.

The night rain was hazy.

Selena held the umbrella tightly and walked on the street.

Not far behind, Oswaldo in a black windbreaker stood there.

He kept a distance of nine meters from her, giving her all the freedom except for following her.

Selena turned her head from time to time to look at the man's overly flamboyant appearance, which had caused many girls to scream along the way.

But because of his eerie and dark aura, people looked at him with fear.

The man put away the rainbow umbrella and stood in the rain.

Selena tried to resist the impulse to turn around and hand him the umbrella.

Oswaldo was shot last night and was drugged. Black Crow said his condition was worse than hers...

Although she knew he was using a trick, she couldn't help but feel sorry for him.

Selena clenched the umbrella tightly and resisted the urge to turn around, continuing to walk aimlessly forward.

"Did you hear? Miss Shaw suddenly fell ill and died. She was so young and pretty pitiful..."

"The people from the Shaw family don't deserve pity at all. They have done too many bad things and received retribution..."

"Killing a Shaw family woman is nothing. I heard that the Soo family has fallen, and most of the family members have been thrown into jail. I don't know if it's true or not."

"If it's true, then it's truly satisfying..."

Selena paused her footsteps, lowered her eyelashes slightly, and a cold light flashed in her eyes.

Did Vivian die?

Did the Soo family really fall?

Because Selena was wearing a hood and a mask, no one recognized her.

As for Osvaldo, he always lived in a humble place, and no one dared to expose information about him, except for a few people in the aristocratic circle. Most people have only heard his name but never seen him.

Therefore, no one recognized the two of them as the most famous couple in the capital.

Selena bought a newspaper from the roadside and saw a shocking but not unexpected news.

The Soo family's stock plummeted, and many of their industries were looted overnight.

All the major aristocratic families were viciously eating away at the Soo family's power in all aspects.

The Soo family was almost collapsing at a surprisingly fast speed.

At this rate, in less than seven days, the Soo family will certainly be dropped out of the four major families.

Selena remembered the Turner family's experience twenty years ago and a cold smile appeared on her lips.

Nicholas must be regretting it to death now, right?

If this is the Turner family's revenge, it can be described as satisfying and cruel.

If Nicholas hadn't gained, he might not have felt too much pain when he lost.

But the Soo family had enjoyed twenty years of power and wealth. When they were at their most proud, they were suddenly thrown back to their original form, thrown into the abyss, watching death approach them, but they could only struggle helplessly until they met their ultimate destruction!

After reading it, Selena threw the newspaper into the trash can.

Then she turned back and looked at the man following behind her.

Was he involved in this?

The sound of rustling rain came from her ears, and the rain suddenly intensified.

Selena tightened her fingers, looked around, and walked into the coffee shop on the corner.

She calculated the distance and found a seat, ordered a cup of hot coffee.

As expected, Osvaldo followed in and sat nine meters away from her.

The waiter walked over blushing and asked in a gentle tone, "Sir, what would you like to drink?"

Osvaldo stared at Selena with a heavy gaze and said, "Change her hot coffee to hot orange juice."

Selena has vomited so much blood that her face is still pale. She cannot drink anything that will affect her rest, such as coffee or green tea, as she is sensitive to them and will have trouble sleeping at night.

The waiter looked back at Selena, feeling a bit awkward. "Do you know that young lady?"

Osvaldo's deep black eyes were penetrating, and his voice was so chilling that it made people's breathing stop. "She's my wife."

The waiter was stunned.

Osvaldo lowered his butterfly-like eyelashes. "I did something wrong and made her angry."

The waiter was shocked and wanted to ask more, but when he encountered Osvaldo's suddenly sweeping gaze, he immediately fled in fear, saying, "I understand!"

Selena was surprised to see that her hot coffee had been replaced with a glass of hot orange juice. "This is not what I wanted-"

"It's from that gentleman..."

The waiter looked towards Osvaldo's direction, guessing what he meant, and cautiously said, "He said you are his wife..."

so he helped you change it to orange juice."

Selena stared at the glass of orange juice for a long time, but eventually raised it with her hand.

On a rainy night, the café was quiet, with only Selena and Osvaldo.

After drinking a glass of orange juice, Selena's hands and feet felt a bit warmer.

Her phone in her pocket vibrated, and she looked at it and rubbed her forehead before answering. "Patrick."

Patrick let out a long breath. "Selena, it's getting late, it's raining outside, and you haven't fully recovered yet.

You should go home early."

Selena replied in a calm voice, "I know."

After hanging up the phone, Selena turned her head and looked out the window.

In that instant, she suddenly saw a white figure flash by in a corner.

A strange sense of palpitation spread to the tip of her heart, causing her heart to ache.

Selena suddenly froze and focused her gaze.

She only managed to see a pale side face, half-covered by dark hair, outlining a delicate and elegant profile in the dim rain curtain before disappearing.

Selena's gaze froze for a moment, and her heart lost control of its beating.

Before she could react, she had already rushed out of the café...

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1442 Tormenting Manny

Chapter 1442 Tormenting Manny

Selena rushed out of the coffee shop, frantically searching for something in the dark streets, her expression anxious as she whispered, "White... white..."

When Osvaldo caught up with her, he saw her standing alone on the road, her eyes filled with tears, looking lost like a child who had accidentally gotten separated from her parents.

His heart ached as he embraced her slender body from behind, covering her with his umbrella.

The rain was heavy, and Selena was drenched when she rushed out.

Osvaldo looked at her and spoke in a low, gentle voice, "Selena, let's go home."

Selena instinctively refused, "No..."

She hadn't found it yet...

Found what?

She didn't know.

She just... really wanted to find it.

Osvaldo looked at the emptiness in her eyes, her big, dark eyes searching around, with a feeling that she was about to cry.

Who could make her have such an anxious expression?

Who could move her emotions so much?

Even though they had known each other for almost a year and were about to get engaged, he still couldn't make her fully trust him.

But a stranger, whom she didn't even know, just a silhouette, could make her chase after him no matter what...

Osvaldo's face turned very pale, and his eyes became extremely dark and gloomy.

His expression was as calm as ever, but deep inside, he felt a jealous urge to destroy everything.

He could barely make her like him.

But he still couldn't make her feel a sense of belonging and dependence on him.

What he couldn't get, a man she had never seen before, had easily obtained...

He couldn't change her heart for the time being, so he could only...

Make her eyes see only him.

Oswaldo's face was as pale as it could be, controlling the emotions that were about to burst out, and forcefully hugged Selena.

"You'll catch a cold if you get soaked in the rain."

Oswaldo carried her in his arms and turned to go back.

Selena grabbed his sleeve, her delicate shoulders shaking, and still stubbornly searched around, "But, I..."

Oswaldo lowered his dark eyelashes, hiding the emotions in his eyes, "Selena, listen to me."

After Oswaldo took Selena away, in a corner of the street, a young man in white clothes and black hair appeared, elegant and graceful.

His beautiful and deep eyes stared in the direction Selena left, with a touch of bone-deep pain and sadness.

Selena didn't come out of the sudden emotion until she was taken back to the villa, had a bath, and changed her clothes.

Oswaldo blew her hair with a hairdryer.

Selena lay on the sofa absentmindedly, touching her heart.

The bitter and stagnant pain still did not disappear.

The room was very quiet.

After helping Selena blow her hair, Osvaldo brought her a bowl of hot soup to feed her.

Selena obediently took two sips, suddenly remembered something, and looked up at Osvaldo. "I saw a man today, can you help--"

The rest of the words spontaneously fell silent after meeting Osvaldo's eyes.

Although the man's gaze at her was still gentle, Selena saw a hint of repressed fierceness in that gentleness.

Selena blinked and suddenly reacted.

How could she not think more about it in front of Osvaldo, with her showing such concern for a stranger man?

Although they were currently in a cold war, Selena still didn't want to hurt him.

She moved her lips and said, "I..."

She wanted to explain something, but when the words came to her lips, she didn't know how to continue.

She did have some emotional attachment to a stranger man who caught her eye.

She didn't even know the reason why.

Selena didn't end up explaining, and she lay back down.

Oswaldo looked at the haze in her eyes and her deep black eyes that seemed to absorb all the light. He stared at Selena for a while, then reached out and hugged her.

...

After a hysterical outburst, the entire Riddle villa finally quieted down.

The woman walked on a mess and came to the man kneeling on the ground, raised her hand and grabbed his collar, her voice hoarse and twisted, "Listen, I don't care what methods you use, but from now on, I don't want to see the bastard child you fathered!"

The man choked for a moment, and because of the pain, his face turned completely pale. "I know, Manny, don't be angry..."

Just as Hunter was about to pass out, the woman threw the man away like trash, turned around, picked up her phone from the ground, and her eyes flashed with crazy and ruthless resentment.

"Damn it, both of those bastards should die..."

Just as she was about to make the call, an emotionless voice came from outside the villa gate.

"The young master wants to see you, come with me."

The woman seemed to have heard something extremely unbelievable. Her fingers froze in mid-air as she dialed the phone, lifting her head.

The dark night sky was dotted with stars.

Manny obediently followed the person in front of her to a villa.

The person who brought her stopped at the door. "Go in."

Manny looked at the understatedly decorated courtyard in front of her, quietly clenched her fingers, straightened her back, and walked in.

The room was very quiet.

Under the bright light, a white figure sat on the sofa.

Although his face was covered with a white gold-edged mask, it did not diminish his magnificent and elegant demeanor at all.

The man's eyes were very black, as if there were cold and dark flashes rolling in them. And those eyes were now staring straight at her.

Cold...

So cold...

Manny trembled uncontrollably.

She respectfully knelt down and was about to speak, but a whip suddenly came flying towards her face.

With a snap-

A painful cry echoed in the silent night.

The woman covered her bloody face and rolled on the ground in pain.

However, no matter how she dodged, she couldn't escape the whip that came crashing down on her.

In no time, Manny turned into a bloody mess.

She slumped on the ground, with large patches of blood constantly oozing out of her body, and her face was particularly miserable, with wounds that revealed glimpses of bone.

But even when she was injured like this, the woman dared not show the slightest resentment on her face.

She respectfully and humbly prostrated herself on the ground, looking up at the executioner who was still sitting on the sofa. "I don't know where she went wrong. Please, young master... tell me!"

The man's gracefully thin lips curled up in a chilling arc, and another whip came crashing down.

This whip hit Manny's head, causing her to immediately spit out a mouthful of blood.

"Just a dog. Do I need a reason to want you dead?"

The man's tone was flat, but it was like a sharp needle...

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter
1443 Once She'S
Late, She Will Regret It

Chapter 1443 Once she's late, she will regret it

The man's tone was flat, but it was like a sharp needle that pierced straight into the woman's heart, hitting the most painful and sensitive spot.

From childhood to adulthood, in the eyes of everyone, she was always a dog with a bad reputation.

The woman's expression distorted for a moment.

But what frightened her the most was the strong killing intent she could feel from the man's tone.

This person really wanted to kill her!

Manny panicked and wanted to escape, but the door was tightly closed, and the person outside could easily kill her with one hand.

And the person who was looking down at her with cold eyes at this moment was an unshakable existence.

Manny was angry and resentful, and begged, "I know I was wrong, please forgive me, young master..."

Although she didn't know where she was wrong, in "Divine Love," no one was qualified to defy the young master.

Except for one person.

The man's eyes were cold to the bone, "You touched my most important and beloved treasure, you deserve to die!"

Manny was frightened to the core, and her body became stiff.

She had caused too many people harm and didn't even know who the other person was talking about.

She didn't have the courage to ask.

All she could do was beg for mercy in horror, "Please... spare me..."

The man's eyes showed no emotion, and his gentle voice rang in Manny's ears like thunder.

"Kill her!"

...

Selena couldn't sleep.

Perhaps it was because Selena said she needed some time, Osvaldo didn't force himself to stay.

There was a warm yellow feather lamp lit in the room, and Selena was wearing a nightgown, staring blankly at the ceiling.

There was a faint knock on the door outside.

Selena snapped back to reality, put on a coat, sat up, and then spoke, "Come in."

The door was opened by someone from outside, and Hattie walked in.

Selena looked at she, somewhat surprised.

After the auction of the Soo family, the Riddle family fell into internal chaos, and she hadn't seen Hattie for a while.

Hattie threw herself into Selena's arms, hugged her waist, and rubbed against her affectionately, "Selena..."

Selena felt she's anxiety, raised her hand to pat her shoulder, and comforted her, "It's okay, don't be afraid." Hattie raised her head, her eyes were red, but she didn't cry.

The thirteen-year-old girl was in the midst of a growth spurt. Having not seen each other for half a month, Hattie had grown taller and her eyes had a calmness about them, with a touch of toughness in her eyes.

It was evident that she had gone through quite a bit during this time.

Selena thought about the situation with the Riddle family and her eyes flickered as she touched Hattie's hair. "Has anything unusual happened with the Riddle family?"

Otherwise, there was no reason why Hattie would come to her personally so late.

Because Leia had instructed her beforehand, Hattie didn't mention that it was Osvaldo who had sent Leia to bring her over. She simply said, "I missed you, Selena, and my brother has a message for you."

"That mistress of our family went crazy last night, crying and causing a commotion so loud that the entire Riddle family could hear it."

"My brother had someone secretly watch her, and it seems that she was taken away by someone before I left home. She hasn't come back yet..."

Selena's gaze suddenly became sharp.

Vivian didn't have the ability to obtain the kind of medicine that even Osvaldo could be tricked by.

Especially since Lady Lauren had told her that Osvaldo had been experimenting with drugs since he was young and was already immune to most poisons, Selena was even more certain that the medicine was not something that an ordinary person could produce.

Thinking about the woman's experience twenty years ago and her obsession that had continued for so many years,

Selena easily guessed who the medicine had come from. The other party's ultimate goal should be Callum.

It was only used on Osvaldo because she wanted Nevaeh's daughter to taste the pain she had experienced back then.

Although Selena didn't know exactly what the medicine did, she could guess from Vivian's reaction that it was related to making a man forget his lover and fall in love with another woman's trick...

For the sake of this medicine, the other party had certainly wasted a lot of effort.

Who knew that Osvaldo was immune to all poisons and Vivian's trick had failed, causing her to even lose The Soo family as an ally. Apart from making her "cold war" with Osvaldo, the medicine that she had carefully planned for many years and had been regarded as the hope of her life had not had any effect.

The shattered obsession after many years would drive anyone crazy.

These things were not something Selena couldn't guess, she just didn't have the mental capacity to deal with them at the moment.

But the other piece of news that Hattie brought with her had made Selena's heart uneasy.

After Manny went crazy, given the nature of that woman, she would definitely not let her go.

However, at this critical moment, someone secretly took her away.

Who could make Manny so obedient?

Selena's heart suddenly skipped a beat, and a name flashed through her mind.

Divine Love!

Someone from inside "Divine Love" came to the capital!

She indulged Manny and Cassius for so long just to lure out the person behind them, find the executioner who wiped out the entire Turner family, and avenge the Turner family.

Leon must have known this reason, that's why he sent Hattie to bring this news to her.

Selena immediately forgot about her emotional distress.

She said to Hattie, "Hattie, wait for me outside for a while."

Hattie saw her cold expression and didn't seem to want to rest, and frowned, "Selena, it's getting dark, you should go to bed."

Selena touched her hair, "I have very important things to do. I need to go to the Turner family. Listen to me."

Hattie looked at Selena's pale face and wanted to persuade her, but when she met Selena's black and cold eyes, she couldn't say anything.

She turned and ran out, telling Osvaldo who was standing outside Selena's room.

Osvaldo listened to the sound of Selena getting dressed in the room, his eyes dark.

But he didn't stop her, which was unusual.

Selena was in a bad mood.

Finding something to do for her would distract her attention.

The Turner family would also know their limits and wouldn't really burden her.

Selena changed into her outdoor clothes and walked out of the room, only to see Osvaldo waiting outside the door.

After being shot, his complexion was even paler, almost paper-like, and his lips looked more vibrant. Selena looked at him, "I'm going out for a while. Rest well."

She just spat blood and her body was fine as long as she recovered.

But Osvaldo was shot and poisoned, and he was caught in the rain outside just now. Even if he had an iron body, he might not be able to withstand it.

Osvaldo remained silent, staring at her without blinking. Selena choked for a moment, and for a moment she had the idea of going back to rest and looking for news about "Divine Love" tomorrow.

But a strange feeling drove her to immediately investigate this clue.

She felt that if she was late, she would lose something precious and important...

If she missed it, she would definitely regret it in the future...

Suppressing her reluctance deep in her heart, Selena eventually took a step forward and walked towards the door.

Chapter 1444 Why didn't you call?

Oswaldo protected her by her side.

The Riddle family has been in chaos recently, and Hattie rarely took the time to come and see Selena. Before she came, Leon instructed her to stay by Selena's side. As soon as Selena left, she immediately ran after her. Osvaldo was injured, and Selena originally wanted Leia to drive, but Osvaldo stepped onto the driver's seat first.

Then he raised his hand, pushed open the passenger door, and turned to stare at her.

Hattie and Leia automatically got into the back seat, and Selena's words were stuck in her throat.

She looked at Osvaldo's pale face, with warm eyes permeating it. This man even made her angry, but she still couldn't bear to hate him.

In the end, Selena got into the passenger seat.

Osvaldo naturally leaned over and helped her fasten her seat belt. The close distance made Selena clearly see the faint blue color in his eyes.

From last night until now, he must not have rested properly...

This thought flashed through Selena's mind, and she lowered her eyelashes.

Osvaldo started the car and took Selena back to the Turner family.

The Turner family.

Patrick received the news that Selena had suddenly returned late at night and frowned. He immediately took an umbrella and went out to meet her.

Just as he walked to the door, he saw Osvaldo protecting Selena walking in from outside the garden, with Leia following behind.

Patrick's gaze swept over Osvaldo's face and turned cold. The Turner family had already investigated the Soo family's affairs, and it was clear that this man was responsible for the harm that Selena suffered.

Patrick walked over and took Selena's hand, "Why didn't you call me to pick you up?"

Patrick had gone to the villa during the day, but Selena had gone out and he hadn't seen her. Now that he saw she coming back in the middle of the night, he was guessing whether she had fallen out with Osvaldo.

Selena turned her head and looked at Osvaldo. She said to Leia, "Leia, I'm hungry, can you get something to eat from the kitchen?"

Leia was stunned. Selena was extremely disciplined and did not have the habit of eating late at night, especially since Osvaldo had just fed her an hour ago. Instead, Osvaldo hadn't eaten anything since last night...

Leia was clever and guessed Selena's thoughts. She relaxed and smiled, "Okay, Madam Selena."

After speaking, she turned and ran towards the kitchen. Osvaldo's deep black eyes shone slightly.

Selena walked over and sat on the sofa, looking around before settling her gaze on Oscar, who had just come down from upstairs in his wheelchair.

Selena nodded, "Uncle."

Oscar looked at Selena's face, then at Osvaldo, before finally fixing his gaze on Hattie, who was sitting next to Selena.

After confirming something, his eyes changed for a moment.

"Your health hasn't fully recovered yet, so there's no need to rush other things."

Selena shook her head, "Leon just had Hattie bring me a message. I can't sleep, and it's something you might be interested in, Uncle."

Whatever could make Selena so sure that he would be interested...

Oscar's eyes revealed a hint of coldness as he stared at Hattie.

"Any news on that woman from the Riddle family?"

Hattie met Oscar's eyes, feeling scared but not showing it.

She repeated what she had said to Selena, her words flowing smoothly.

After she finished, she suddenly understood why Leon had told her to stick with Selena.

The people behind Manny were not just enemies of Selena and the Turner family.

They were also enemies of the Riddle family.

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1445 What If That Person Is "Him"?

Chapter 1445 What if that person is "him"?

Because of her, the Riddle family lost a daughter and a granddaughter, and was plunged into internal turmoil.

Leon

would naturally not let her go.

To kill Manny, he would have to confront the forces behind her.

The Turner family was their best ally.

After the downfall of the Shaw family and the Soo family, the Turner family rose to power. With the reshuffling of the forces in the capital, everyone knew that Selena's next target would be the Riddle family.

Manny was now in dire straits, and if things continued to develop like this, Selena would eventually catch up with her and tear her to pieces.

If the person behind the scenes did not want to lose this pawn, they would certainly take action. And the person behind

Manny was the culprit who wiped out the entire Turner family years ago!

Patrick understood why Selena had chosen to return to the Turner family so late after hearing Hattie's words.

As the events in the capital unfolded, it was clear that Selena's next target would be the Riddle family.

If the person behind Manny wanted to protect her, they would have to take on the forces behind Selena, and the Turner family would be their best ally.

Patrick's eyes narrowed as he looked at Oscar.

"Father!"

Unable to resist the anxious gaze of the two people, Oscar addressed Selena, "You go rest first. We'll talk about it tomorrow."

Selena frowned, "But..."

"I don't think the person who took that woman away tonight is necessarily who we think it is," Oscar interrupted her gently.

Selena was startled.

Oscar looked deeply into her eyes. "If the real culprit who wiped out the Turner family is behind this, they are more likely looking for Cassius."

Manny was a madwoman driven by obsession for half her life.

Compared to Callum, the underground city incident was nothing in her eyes.

The target of "Divine Love" was the vaccine for the underground city.

Compared to someone like Manny who was too unpredictable, Cassius, who had worked directly with them for twenty years, was much more reliable.

In addition, with the vaccine for the underground city about to be released, there was no reason for anyone within

"Divine Love" to cause a commotion at this time.

Selena, however, was too focused on finding that person and did not want to think about anything else. Looking at Selena's calm expression, Oscar was not surprised.

He was probably the only person who could guess why Selena was so eager.

"Divine Love" not only had enemies who had destroyed the Turner family, but also the person who saved Selena with the "light of God".

Whether it was her or the Turner family, they would eventually face "Divine Love", and Selena wanted to find that person and protect him.

Selena was thinking about Oscar's words. If the killer who destroyed the Turner family was with Cassius and the person who took Manny away used the "light of God", could that person be the one who gave her a second life? Selena's intuition told her that her guess was correct! She looked up at Oscar and said firmly, "I want to find him, and... the Turner family cannot harm him." Oscar stared into Selena's eyes and said, "What if that person is 'him'?" Selena suddenly choked up. She knew who Oscar was talking about. Her second uncle was notorious for his evil deeds against the Turner family, but he was extremely kind to her. It was not impossible that he had saved her with the "light of God". That person was always spontaneous and did things based on his mood. It made sense that he didn't look for Cassius but found Manny... Selena remained silent. The atmosphere suddenly became tense. Osvaldo looked at Selena's pale face and reached out to hold her cold fingers. He could find answers for her in matters she could not decide.

Chapter 1446 Are You Threatening Me?

"If Selena doesn't want him dead, he won't be in trouble."

With just one sentence, the man instantly caught Selena's attention.

Looking at Osvaldo's deep black eyes, Selena suddenly understood what he meant.

Osvaldo knew that she wasn't the real Selena.

She helped the Turner family partly because she took over Selena's body, and partly out of responsibility and guilt.

But that didn't mean that she would be tied to the Turner family forever.

Selena's eyelashes trembled as she looked at the man's pale, bloodless face, and a difficult-to-express touch of emotion and bitterness arose in her heart. "I..."

Osvaldo looked at Selena, his wife, and realized that she was truly a very kind person.

She strategized for so many people, ruthless and victorious in battle.

But when it came to herself, even the thought of being selfish was full of contradictions.

For Osvaldo, even if that person was really the culprit who wiped out the Turner family, he saved Selena's life.

There was no greater kindness than this.
If it weren't for that person, Selena would have died early, in a place where he had no idea.
For the rest of his life, he would never have had the chance to meet her, like her, and fall in love with her.
Therefore, even if the other party was really that heinous person, he would take on this priceless favor.
He wouldn't let any ungrateful accusations fall on her.
He wouldn't let Selena carry the burden of guilt and shackles for the rest of her life.
He would help her bear this favor, which may be full of sin.

Oswaldo's similarly cold fingers gently brushed Selena's forehead. "Selena, don't be afraid..."

Selena saw in Oswaldo's eyes the indulgence and tenderness that embraced everything.

Although he may not know what happened, this man was telling her that he would help her bear her sin.

Selena suddenly felt a bit of a sour nose.

After the incident with the Soo family, she faced Oswaldo with something she didn't have before.

Selena couldn't understand it for the time being, but when facing this man, her heart would always become inexplicably soft and fragile.

These were all things that had never appeared before. Patrick looked at Selena's saddened expression and turned to Oscar, "Father..."

Among those present, only he and Hattie were unsure of what had happened.

Compared to Hattie, who was completely unaware, Patrick didn't know everything, but he could guess some of the situation.

There had been some kind of conflict between Selena and the Turner family.

Oscar stared at Selena for a moment and said lightly, "This is just our speculation. Perhaps things aren't as bad as we think."

Pausing, he added, "Even if it was that person, you have already killed him once."

"No one has the right to force you to kill him again."

Strictly speaking, Selena didn't owe anyone in the Turner family anything.

She wasn't the one who killed the entire family.

She had killed that person once, and it could even be considered as helping the Turner family to seek revenge.

Selena understood what Oscar meant.

The Turner family would not let the killer of their entire family go unpunished.

If Selena wanted to protect him, they wouldn't stop her.

As for the final outcome, it would depend on who was the better strategist between her and Oscar.

This was the best solution for the current situation.

Selena raised her dark eyes and looked at Oscar. "I understand."

Oscar glanced at Osvaldo and said, "It's getting late, go rest early."

Looking at Selena's pale face, he reminded her, "The real storm is just beginning. Take care of your health as soon as possible."

In this storm in the capital, Selena was the most dangerous person.

She couldn't mess up.

Otherwise, all their efforts might be in vain.

Selena's tone was flat. "I know, Uncle."

Patrick was about to have someone take Selena upstairs to rest, but Osvaldo had already picked her up and walked out.

Seeing Selena leaving, Hattie immediately followed.

Patrick's words got stuck in his throat as he remembered Selena's suppressed emotions, and he ultimately didn't speak up to ask her to stay.

Osvaldo put Selena in the passenger seat and lowered his head to fasten her seatbelt.

Selena looked at the man's delicate features and suddenly leaned in, affectionately rubbing against him.

"Rest early when we get back."

Oswaldo looked up at Selena's small face and gently kissed her forehead. "Selena is so good, God has already treated you unfairly once. He won't do it again."

He wouldn't allow it either.

Selena smiled. "Let's go."

Oswaldo started the car and took Selena back to the villa.

At the same moment, just as the sharp blade was about to fall on Manny's neck, the tightly closed door was suddenly pushed open from the outside.

A thin blade flew out of an unknown person's hand and accurately deflected the razor-sharp blade that was just millimeters away from Manny's throat.

Manny rolled backwards and fell to the ground, gasping for air.

The man sitting in the front row's eyes flashed with a killing intent, and he looked towards the room behind the door.

Against the dark night, Cassius walked in on the carpet, and respectfully bowed to the man in the front row.

"Even though she's just a dog, she's not someone you can kill casually..."

The man was smiling, but his eyes were cold. "Let me remind you that you are not her owner."

"You have the right to kill her, but she also has the right to resist."

The man's face showed no expression. If it weren't for his pitch-black hair blowing in the wind from outside the door, he could almost be mistaken for a pale and indifferent statue. "Are you threatening me?"

Cassius smiled. "No, I'm just saying that if you kill her just like that, the plan that's been prepared for so many years will be ruined, and he won't be pleased about it."

"Also, if news of your unauthorized departure from the island were to spread, that person definitely won't sit still. And if he were to come to the capital himself, the person you care about the most will be in real danger... Don't you think so?"

The air felt like a sponge soaked in blood, thick and heavy.

The man stood up and walked towards Manny.

In Manny's terrified expression, he reached out and grabbed her throat.

Manny opened her eyes wide with unwillingness and resentment.

The ice-cold hand grasping the woman's throat was so frigid that even the skin felt numb and tingly.

Furthermore, the pale and slender fingers kept exerting pressure.

Manny's face turned completely pale in an instant.

She struggled to free her neck from the man's grip, but the man's abnormal strength and pale, slender appearance were complete opposites.

The air in her lungs grew thinner and thinner, and the pain of dying overwhelmed her.

Manny heard her own throat make a cracking sound and rolled her eyes towards Cassius, who was standing by and watching with a smile, and reached out her hand...

Chapter 1447 Why Won'T She Forgive Him?

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1447 Why Won'T She Forgive Him? Chapter 1447 Why won't she forgive him?

"Save... save me..."

Cassius looked on indifferent, a sharp smile lurking in his eyes.

For a split second, Manny felt like she was already dead.

But the next moment, she was thrown heavily to the ground.

Manny fell to the ground, clutching her neck and gasping for air, her eyes filled with fear and resentment. The man stood over her motionless, his eyes as dark as an abyss. "Get out of here!" he growled.

Manny immediately got up and stumbled out.
Cassius chuckled, bowed again, and followed her out.

...

Manny dragged her battered body and fled a long way before collapsing with a thud on the ground.

She lay on the ground, her face contorted in pain and her eyes full of hatred.

A black sports car pulled up next to her, and the man in the back seat got out leisurely, towering over the battered woman.

Manny looked up at him, full of resentment. "You could have saved me earlier!"

She had almost died at his hands.

Cassius sneered, squatting down, took the cigarette out of his mouth and pressed it onto the wound on Manny's shoulder.

The woman's cheek twitched violently, her eyes brimming with hatred almost to the point of overflowing.

The man pressed the cigarette down hard with his hand. "You could have targeted anyone, but you had to target the one person you shouldn't have..."

If Selena was hurt, it would be like stabbing a knife into the hearts of those men.

Oswaldo was busy comforting Selena now, and didn't have the energy to go after her for the time being. But when that man came to his senses, she would have to suffer again.

All of this, just for Callum...

Cassius' eyes flashed with disdain. "From this moment on, you'd better hide yourself well, or if you die someday, it will be your own fault!"

As Manny watched in shock and anger, Cassius threw away the cigarette in his hand, stood up and looked down at the woman on the ground.

Manny was the hardest person in the world to kill. Even if she was down to her last breath, she would crawl back alive before she saw Callum.

Cassius sneered, got in the car with an eerie aura, and drove away.

The driver in the driver's seat gave a disgusted and indifferent glance at the bloodied woman on the ground.

This woman not only injured Selena but also injured the young master of the Anderson family. It was purely her own fault for ending up like this.

The black sports car drove away, leaving only Manny crawling alone on the ground.

Selena didn't sleep well that night, probably due to something weighing on her mind. As a result, she felt even more listless after waking up the next day. Standing in front of the mirror, she frowned at the pale face and tired eyes, feeling uncomfortable with herself.

The situation in the capital was becoming more and more tense, leaving little time for Selena to deal with her personal problems.

She needed to pull herself out of this state of exhaustion as as possible. After putting on some light makeup and changing her clothes, Selena walked out of the room and saw Osvaldo sitting at the dining table. She paused for a moment, and at the same time, Osvaldo's gaze shifted to her and met her eyes. Selena's heart skipped a beat, and she looked towards Leia beside her, asking about Hattie. Leia, who had been worried about the conflict between Selena and Osvaldo, replied subconsciously, "Miss Hattie went back early in the morning. She asked me to tell Madam Selena that she'll come to see you when she has time." Selena remembered the recent situation in the Riddle family and pursed her lips, sitting down opposite Osvaldo in silence.

After breakfast, Selena walked up to Osvaldo, looked up at him, and quietly said, "I still need some time."

She knew that her state of mind was not right, and the root cause of her emotional problems was with Osvaldo.

She needed time to figure out how to proceed with this man in the future. Osvaldo looked at her with unmoving eyes and softly said, "Okay."

Since it was her wish, how could he not agree?

As long as Selena didn't leave him, he could indulge her unconditionally.

Selena's eyelashes trembled, and she turned and walked out of the villa.

It had been raining continuously for two days and it showed no sign of stopping.

The entire city was shrouded in a misty rain. Selena walked aimlessly in the rain with her rainbow umbrella.

Knowing that she liked peace and quiet, Osvaldo had bought a villa with no other residents around.

Going out was a beautiful garden.

Selena picked a flower branch and looked up at the misty sky in the distance.

She didn't need to turn around to know that Osvaldo was following her.

The man was earnestly asking for reconciliation in his own way...

Why didn't she want to return to his embrace?

Osvaldo hadn't betrayed her, hadn't forgotten her, and hadn't even hurt her...

So why didn't she want to forgive him?

Selena was clever since childhood and it was difficult for anything to stump her.

Only this matter, no matter how she thought about it, she couldn't find an answer.

A sense of sour emotion struck her heart as a pure white figure suddenly appeared in front of her in the misty rain.

The man in white clothes and black hair stood in the light blue misty rain, looking up at the sky in the distance. The wind blew his jet-black hair, showing off an extraordinarily beautiful and melancholy temperament.

Even just a side profile could reveal his elegant and refined demeanor.

Selena stared at the unfamiliar face in a daze.

A sour feeling surged in her heart, and she looked up at the man, tears flowing down her face unconsciously.

Sensing her gaze, the man suddenly turned his head.

His plain face, along with his particularly outstanding eyes, stared at the girl in front of him with unblinking eyes, who was crying with a tear-streaked face.

He looked at her for a moment before walking over and gently wiping away her tears with a handkerchief.

"You're such a big girl, why are you still crying?"

His slender and clean fingers had nails like translucent crystals. Except for being too pale, it was a flawless hand.

Selena was stunned and looked at the completely unfamiliar face in front of her. Suddenly, she came back to her senses and whispered, "I don't usually cry..." She just didn't know why she suddenly wanted to cry. The man chuckled lightly, without being coquettish, and looked meaningfully at a certain spot behind her.

"Because your boyfriend bullied you?"

Selena subconsciously wanted to explain for Osvaldo, but the words couldn't come out of her mouth.

Had Osvaldo bullied her?

He didn't seem to have bullied her, and her spitting blood was just an accident.

Selena looked at the man's gentle eyes and unconsciously spoke her mind, "He's very good to me, he won't bully me, nor will he let others bully me..."

Chapter 1448 He Shouldn't Have Come Close to Her

"It was just accident. We had a conflict, and then I didn't know how to make up with him..."

The man suddenly stopped smiling and stared at her intently. "Is it really an accident?"

Selena blinked in confusion.

The man's pitch-black eyes fell on her face, his expression gentle and calm, "Whether it was intentional or not, he still made you suffer, didn't he?"

"As the person who should have protected you the most, he failed as a boyfriend."

"Don't just say that you're angry with him. Even if you break up with him, it's his own fault."

Selena was stunned.

Break up with Osvaldo?

Although she was angry with Osvaldo, she had never thought about breaking up with him...

The man looked at her shocked expression and smiled, "You're so pretty, you can have any kind of boyfriend you want."

"The man who made you sad, it's better not to have him."

"Especially for a beautiful and wonderful girl like you, there must be many men who like you. As long as you're happy, you can have them all, it doesn't matter."

Selena's already big eyes widened even more.

The man's sudden words left her mind blank.

Have them all?!

It seemed that her expression pleased the man, and he chuckled lightly, "I'm just joking."

Selena stared at the man's smile in a daze, lowered her eyelids, and suddenly had the desire to confide, "He's very good to me, he's the perfect boyfriend, no one can do better than him..."

Was it because Osvaldo was the man she liked that the hurt he caused her was unintentionally amplified, leading to the distance between them?

If it was someone else who hurt her, would she still be unable to let it go like this?

"I like him and I don't want to break up with him, but I..." She didn't know how to get rid of the sadness and distance in her heart.

The man looked at her melancholy between her eyes, and after a moment, a hint of coldness gradually seeped into his gentle gaze. "Are you afraid that he will hurt you again in the future?"

Selena shook violently, as if something deep inside her had been revealed. The thing that she cared about the most, even she didn't know it, and a feeling of indescribable bitterness rose in her heart.

Was she afraid?

Yes.

There were so many women who liked Osvaldo. Vivian had failed this time because Osvaldo was "immune to all poisons" and pushed her away in time. But what about the next time?

If just one instance caused her so much sadness and loss of control, what would she do if Osvaldo really betrayed her and belonged to another woman in the future?

The expression in the man's eyes became somewhat sad. "Damn it..."

His voice was too low, and Selena didn't hear it clearly.

She asked subconsciously, "What?"

"I said," the man glanced at Osvaldo, who was standing not far away and watching them motionlessly, "it's all because of this man."

"He not only makes you sad and hurt, but also makes you so insecure. Do you really not consider breaking up with such a boyfriend?"

Why did Selena feel like this man really wanted her to break up with Osvaldo?

Although the man said such things, Selena didn't feel any anger. Instead, she felt a strong sense of peace and warmth.

"I... don't want to break up with him..."

The man frowned slightly, his voice very soft. "Is he an irreplaceable presence for you?"

Selena's eyelashes trembled.

Could any other man replace Osvaldo?

She didn't know.

This was her first time in love.

And she had only liked this one man.

She couldn't distinguish any difference.

But she knew clearly that she didn't want to break up with Osvaldo.

The man sighed with regret as he saw Selena's determined yet lost expression. "Well, there's nothing we can do," he said.

Selena looked at him bewildered.

He lazily smiled at her, looking into her eyes. "Since you like him so much, let's give him another chance."

If this man made her sad or hurt her again, even if Selena protected him, he wouldn't let him off.

Selena looked at him with a puzzled expression, "I... I don't understand..."

The man sighed and looked at Selena's eyes, "Don't punish yourself for someone else's mistake. They don't deserve it."

"You haven't done anything wrong. They're the executioners who hurt you."

"It's not that you trusted the wrong people, it's that they deserve to die."

Selena was struck by a sudden realization, as if a bolt of lightning had hit her head.

Was her distance from Osvaldo influenced by those two people?

She had once trusted them with all her heart, but they gave her the deadliest blow.

They had killed so many of their comrades, and even killed her.

Although she had never told anyone, Selena knew she regretted it and blamed herself.

If she hadn't believed in those two people, things would have been different.

That was why when Osvaldo almost betrayed her, her reaction was so intense, and she unconsciously magnified the pain she suffered because of him.

But was it really her fault?

The man told her clearly that it wasn't.

She trusted her relatives, companions, and there was nothing wrong with that.

The ones at fault were those two executioners.

She shouldn't punish herself for their mistakes.

She shouldn't blame Osvaldo for their betrayal.

He had done well enough.

Selena revealed the pain buried deep in her heart, lowered her eyelids, and concealed the pain in her eyes. "I once trusted two people with all my heart, but in the end, it not only hurt me, but also... many important people..."

The man looked at her dim eyes and his expression was a bit sad.

But this fleeting emotion disappeared, too fast to catch.

"Not everyone is like them."

"The way he looks at you tells me that the man you like won't betray you and wouldn't want to hurt you."

"You need to try to trust him," the man glanced at the dark Osvaldo nearby and smiled gently. "You need to believe that the man you like won't make the same mistake twice." He wouldn't allow it either.

This time, Osvaldo was wrong, and he was wrong too. If it weren't for his sudden trouble, which affected Selena, she wouldn't have been hurt both physically and emotionally.

He really shouldn't have approached her.

Selena finally emerged from the dilemma that had troubled her for many days, her eyes shining slightly as she looked at the man in front of her. "I know what to do now, thank you."

A gentle smile bloomed on the man's slightly pale face...

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1449 If Only We Could Meet Again Chapter 1449 If Only We Could Meet Again

"Go back," he said.

Go back to the man's side.

In her distant and vast future, that man would protect her.

Selena's big eyes curved, shining with obvious expectation. "My name is Selena. You haven't told me your name yet?"

The man's gaze hardened for a moment before softening again, and he smiled. "I'll tell you the next time we meet."

If only they could meet again...

Selena's visibly disappointed expression dropped for a moment before she smiled again.

Next time they meet, it means they will definitely see each other again.

Selena smiled at him. "I'll remember what you said. You have to keep your promise and tell me next time, okay?"

After speaking, she turned and ran in the direction of Osvaldo.

The man watched her walk away, his deep eyes like a deep and bottomless abyss, creating layer upon layer of ripples...

After running a few steps, Selena turned her head and looked back.

The man's slender figure was still standing in place, watching her with a smile on his face.

Suddenly, Selena felt an unprecedented sense of peace in her heart. She smiled slightly, ran to Osvaldo, looked at the man's handsome and pale face, and threw herself into his arms.

Osvaldo's tense nerves suddenly relaxed, and his slender hands tightly embraced her.

His lover had returned to his arms.

He would never let her leave again.

"It's my fault," he said softly. "I won't make you sad or scared again in the future."

Selena's heart was moved by the small and subtle changes in his tone.

So he had known all along what she cared about.

In his embrace, Selena nuzzled against him affectionately. "From now on, I will do my best to trust you completely..."

Osvaldo held her arm tightly, and in the hazy smoke, he looked over at the lonely figure standing in the wind and rain not far away. He picked up Selena, turned around, and left.

In the wind and rain, the man held his wife tightly and gradually walked away, soon disappearing from sight.

Since the conflict between Osvaldo and Selena, a gloom has hung over the entire villa.

Although Selena did not quarrel with Osvaldo, the feeling between them made people even more worried.

If Selena were to get angry and throw things, everyone would actually be relieved.

Seeing the young mistress go out alone early in the morning, everyone felt heavy-hearted and couldn't eat or sleep well.

Therefore, when they saw Osvaldo holding Selena coming back, the servants in the villa were first worried that something had happened to Selena.

But when they saw Selena hugging Osvaldo's neck with a smile on her face and Osvaldo's familiar gentleness in his eyes, they felt happy again.

Was this reconciliation?

After returning to the hall, Osvaldo put Selena down. Selena smiled at the anxious expressions of everyone and said, "Noah, I'm fine. Sorry to make you worry." In an instant, everyone celebrated together and the butler ordered the kitchen to prepare food while reminding Selena,

"Madam Selena, you need to sit down. The doctor said you lost too much blood and need to rest well..."

Leia brought Selena shoes and said tearfully, "Madam Selena, you can be angry with the young master, argue with him, throw things at him, but don't hold it in, it's not good for your health."

"The young master was wrong this time. you can punish him, but you must not ignore him..."

Selena looked at the faces full of concern and kindness and took a deep breath, completely relaxing the nerves that had been tense for several days.

She said with a smile, "Thank you all for your hard work these past few days. It's all over now..."

Osvaldo stood aside, watching his girl surrounded by a group of people and accepting their care.

After Selena finished speaking, she turned around and walked to Osvaldo, raising her hand to touch his face and asking,

"How long has it been since you rested?"

Osvaldo held her hand and kissed it, his voice hoarse, "Will you stay with me?"

Selena thought for a moment and said, "You go eat first, I'll go change clothes."

After speaking, she turned and went upstairs.

Osvaldo watched her back and his eyes were so dark that there was no light.

After closing the door, Selena immediately took out her phone and made a call.

"A, find someone as as possible, and then..."

"Send someone to protect him!"

Selena didn't know who the young man she had just encountered was.

But the appearance of the other person in front of her at this moment was not a coincidence.

Selena even had a feeling that this person knew what she had recently experienced and was waiting there to awaken her.

She could overcome any external difficulties, but was easily frustrated in matters of the heart.

Thinking deeper, the man seemed to understand everything she had been through... at the thought of a certain possibility, Selena's heart suddenly quickened.

Her heart trembled uncontrollably, "And tell the Enforcement Court that within seven days, I want to see Margot in the capital city!"

Regardless of whether the man had anything to do with her or whether he was the person she was thinking of, she did not want to see him harmed in any way.

Although it was not very obvious, Selena could feel that the other person's body was not in good condition.

After putting down her phone, Selena looked up at the rain outside the French windows, her eyes becoming more resolute and determined than ever before.

At the same time, Osvaldo was standing in the corridor, also dialing a phone number. "Investigate a person!"

The capital city was Osvaldo's territory.

Concerned about Selena's safety, he had already investigated everything around her before she moved in.

The man who had suddenly appeared in front of Selena was definitely not a coincidence.

He didn't belong here.

He might not even belong to the capital city. But he knew Selena very well.

He knew her heart's knot and could even help her untie it.

This was something even he couldn't do.

Perhaps Selena herself was not aware that when she stood with that person, although there was no resemblance in their faces, their actions and demeanor were inexplicably similar.

The same elegance, the same composure, the same mysterious and noble bearing...

This was also the reason why Osvaldo could tolerate a stranger approaching Selena.

Thinking back to Selena's unconscious actions of searching for something after the self-made fragrance competition, as well as the behavior of running after a shadow uncontrollably last night... Osvaldo's deep black eyes suddenly became dim, "Tell Second Master and Luke that they can return now."

In today's era of information explosion, and with Selena's influence that rivals that of an international superstar, it is not easy to keep her news under wraps.

Luke went to the Federation to prevent any news or videos about Selena from being spread openly. # Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh Chapter 1450 Confession With A Gift

Chapter 1450 Confession with a Gift

Spencer Chambers guarded in the dark, cutting off all claws that reached towards the capital city in secret. Osvaldo personally sat in the capital city, cutting off all information that could expose Selena's true identity. And now, Osvaldo spoke, asking Luke and Spencer to return to the capital city together.

That meant he no longer intended to suppress news about Selena and send it back to the federation. After hanging up the phone, Osvaldo turned around and went to find Selena.

On the misty observation deck.

A man dressed in all white sat on the sofa, gazing in the direction of some distance, his overly pale face showing a gentle and calm expression.

There was a cup of hot tea on the table, emitting a faint steam.

The fingers, also pale to the point of having no trace of blood, lightly rested on a beautifully packaged gift box on the table.

A figure walked in from outside and respectfully reported, "Young Master, two groups of people are investigating you."

One group must be Selena.

The other... could only be that man.

The fingers holding the gift box suddenly clenched tightly, as if trying to tear something apart. After a long while, they finally relaxed. "Don't let her know of my existence, and also..."

Those beautiful, pitch-black eyes looked towards a certain point in the void, as if staring into the abyss.

After a long time, he spoke, "Tell that man... my name."

...

In the evening, Selena received a call from Ace of Hearts.

"Did you find anything?" The calm voice carried a hidden urgency.

"I'm sorry, we didn't find anything."

Selena's eyes suddenly narrowed.

Ace of Hearts had the world's top intelligence system.

As long as a person had entered society and revealed their identification, they would leave a trace there.

But he found nothing.

There were only two possibilities for this situation.

First, that man had been living in seclusion somewhere since birth, and had never shown his face in front of anyone.

Second, there was a more powerful intelligence organization that intercepted him.

No matter which way you look at it, it's not good news for Selena. Because it means that if she wants to see him again, she can only passively wait for him to show up. But at the same time, it also deepens Selena's previous suspicions from the side...

Ace of Hearts said, "This person has never appeared in the capital before, or even anywhere in the world. He's like someone who suddenly appeared out of thin air, with no information about his identity."

"And when I investigated him, I encountered some resistance," the slightly hoarse voice of Ace of Hearts added with a rare sense of competitiveness, "Give me a month, and I'll crack it."

Selena was taken aback. Could it be that both situations actually existed?

As if sensing her anxiety, Ace of Hearts reassured her, "Don't worry too much. Since he has already shown up, you will meet him sooner or later."

But there was another situation that Ace of Hearts didn't mention. That is, the other party doesn't want Selena to find him.

He chose to come and see Selena at this time, to help her resolve her doubts and at least prove that he is currently free.

But he didn't even tell Selena his name.

To avoid making Selena sad, Ace of Hearts voluntarily ignored this possibility. Selena was silent for a long time before saying in a firm voice, "No matter what it takes, I will find him."

...

At the same time, Osvaldo also received news.

"I haven't even made a move, but the other party appeared in front of me on their own," James's voice was cold. "They didn't do anything, they just left a name."

The capital is Osvaldo's territory, and Ace of Hearts is too far away to be of use, so he has to rely on intelligence. But if Osvaldo really wants to investigate, he has many ways to do so.

Osvaldo sat on the sofa, sounding nonchalant, "What name?"

James glanced in the direction of Selena's bedroom with a strange look in her eyes. "He said his master's name is Aarav Riddle."

Osvaldo's wife is named Selena Riddle. So when he heard the surname Riddle, James immediately made the decision to leave with her men.

If they offend someone they shouldn't have, it would be disastrous for the man who had just managed to coax his wife back.

Osvaldo's hand holding the teacup suddenly froze in place.

A hazy and distant memory suddenly emerged in his mind.

...

In the endless expanse of snow and ice, a young boy carried one who was not even as tall as his legs, and walked step by step against the wind and snow.

The little one was delirious from a high fever, with a hoarse voice and constantly speaking nonsense, sometimes calling out "brother," sometimes "mom," so fragile that it was heartbreaking.

Afraid that "he" might really fall asleep, the young boy spoke to "him", "What's your name?"

The little guy was probably confused by the fever. After a while, he remembered his name, "I'm Aarav Riddle."

She leaned close to his ear and shouted loudly in the wind and snow, "Remember, you must find someone named Aarav Riddle in the future."

"When you find him, I will allow you to be my knight!"

"Then you have to come to me with your love letter and gift to confess your love!"

...

The immature and naive breath seemed to still linger in his ears. A faint smile appeared on the face of the man who was otherwise expressionless, and James, who was standing beside him, was surprised, raising her eyebrows, "It's him..."

His jet-black face had been cleaned, and it turned out that he looked like this.

The curve of his eyes could vaguely see a shadow of his childhood, but the mischievous and lively little pampered child back then had undergone some unknown experiences, and had become so pale and cold.

"Do you know him?"

Oswaldo put his teacup on the table and spoke calmly, "Don't bother checking, let him go."

His surname was Riddle, and he had no ill will towards Selena. He was just an "old acquaintance" from her youth...

As long as he wasn't a rival in love, Oswaldo could accept his existence.

As for the account of him being stood up in the past, in exchange for his help in retrieving his wife this time, he wouldn't hold a grudge.

Oswaldo got up and left the study, heading to Selena's bedroom.

Selena was sitting in a daze by the floor-to-ceiling window when someone hugged her from behind. She turned her head and saw Oswaldo's stunningly handsome face, blinking, "Is the wound still hurting?" Oswaldo picked her up and sat on the sofa, then held Selena in his arms, "Are you thinking about the person from this morning?"

Selena paused and carefully observed Oswaldo's expression. Seeing that he didn't look unhappy, she nodded, "Yes."

She was wondering if the person was really the one she had been thinking of.

If it was, what would his relationship with her be?

Oswaldo looked at the shadow cast over her brows and eyes, gently stroking her hair, "If you want to see him, you can go find him."

Back then, he had always heard that little guy talking about his brother, but had never heard of a sister or anything like that.

Moreover, Selena was an only child, and this was well-known even in the Federation.

So for the time being, Oswaldo couldn't be sure of the relationship between the two.
