

Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth by Olivia Marsh

Chapter 1501 Take Her Away!

Chapter 1501 Take her away! In the face of Penelope's hysterical questioning, Selena's expression didn't change at all. "You should thank the old man. If it weren't for him, you would have died long ago for making a move on me at the fragrance competition banquet." As soon as Selena finished speaking, Cameron, who was standing next to her, suddenly raised his head.

Cameron knew about this incident because it wasn't just Selena who almost died, but his younger brother as well.

After the incident, neither the Turner family nor the Anderson family announced the culprit, and everyone thought that they had not caught the perpetrator.

However, it turned out that it wasn't that they hadn't caught the culprit, but that Antonio had protected Penelope.

At that time, Selena had just arrived in the capital city and had not posed any threat to Penelope. Nevertheless, Penelope was able to be so ruthless and take action against Selena. She even killed his own younger brother without hesitation just to kill Selena.

Cameron looked at Penelope with a grim expression on his face, feeling like he had never known her before. Her cold and cruel nature was shocking.

Penelope's expression suddenly changed, and she had always thought that Cassius had helped her to take the blame for the incident. She had no idea that the person who had really protected her was Antonio.

It turned out that Antonio didn't ignore her, but was thoroughly annoyed with her for making a move on Osvaldo. Penelope's eyes filled with tears, and she regretted everything.

If she hadn't made a move on Osvaldo, Antonio wouldn't have ignored her, and perhaps she would still have a chance to be a legitimate daughter of the Anderson family.

Selena saw the expression she wanted to see on Penelope's face and lightly laughed, instructing Leia, "Take her to the court and sentence her according to her crime."

Penelope had openly escaped from prison and also coveted and destroyed the underground city vaccine. SEARCH THE website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

That was enough for her to receive the death penalty.

With the lessons learned from the previous incident, the court would certainly monitor her closely, and Penelope would have no chance to escape from prison again.

All that awaited her was a dead end! Upon hearing Selena's words, Penelope trembled with fear.

She suddenly cried and looked at Cameron, "Cameron, save me, I don't want to die, save me..." Cameron just looked at her with a sad and hateful expression, "When you were killing others, did you ever think that they didn't want to die either?" Penelope was crying heart-wrenchingly, "I won't harm anyone again. Cameron, save me, save me..." However, Cameron had already turned his head.

Penelope was handcuffed and taken away by Osvaldo's men.

Selena stood still for a moment before walking towards the Cooke sisters.

She looked at the twins, they would not have fallen victim to this tragedy if it weren't for her. After this incident, they probably wouldn't get close to her anymore.

Selena looked at them for a moment before saying, "Leia, take them back yourself." Leia frowned at the miserable sisters, softly agreeing while showing regret in her eyes.

Selena rarely made friends.

She could even be said to never make friends. It was not easy for two girls to approach her, but Penelope ruined it all.

Leia wished to kill Penelope immediately upon thinking of this.

After Selena finished speaking, she turned around to leave.

She had just taken a step when she suddenly felt someone tugging on her skirt.

She turned around to see Nova looking up at her with teary eyes.

"Selena, it's my birthday today. Will you come to my birthday party tonight?" Nova asked, sobbing.

Selena was taken aback, staring at her clear eyes for a long time before whispering, "... Okay." Nova immediately smiled, letting go of Selena's skirt. The two sisters obediently followed Leia and left.

It was not until then that Selena turned around and looked in the direction behind her.

Margot had taken care of everyone, and seeing Selena finally free, she happily pounced over, "Selena, everything is taken care of. We can go home now..." Selena touched her hair, not asking anything and took Margot to leave the abandoned yard.

In the villa, Selena and Osvaldo went out to rescue people, and the butler, unable to sleep, took the servants to prepare breakfast and decorate the courtyard.

Early in the morning, a cheerful call came from outside the door, "Madam Selena is back!" In an instant, the whole villa became lively. The butler led a group of people to greet her, and they saw Selena getting out of the car.

As the mistress appeared unharmed, everyone breathed a sigh of relief and was about to speak when Selena suddenly turned around and said with a smile, "Margot, we're here." Under the slightly surprised gaze of the crowd, another equally beautiful girl lazily got out of the car.

Then, she intimately took Selena's arm and looked over at everyone with a smile.

In an instant, everyone present was stunned.

It should be noted that no one, except for Osvaldo, had ever been so close to Selena.

Margot bit her lollipop and looked up at the villa in front of her. The next moment, her eyes lit up. "There's good food here!" Selena looked up at the butler, "Noah, Margot is my good friend." The butler was first startled, then immediately smiled, "Since she is Madam Selena's good friend, please come in quickly." Selena had never had many friends, and this was the first friend she brought home.

And the fact that she introduced Margot with such solemnity meant they must have a close relationship.

For the sake of their young master's lifelong affairs, they must be well taken care of.

Selena took Margot into the hall. Osvaldo had already gone back to the Anderson family and was not coming back. She and Margot would have breakfast alone.

Selena had planned to ask Margot about Mr. Chambers after breakfast, but Osvaldo interrupted her with a phone call.

The man called specifically to tell her to rest well.

Selena hesitated as she listened to Osvaldo's voice, but eventually went to bed obediently.

Two hours later, Osvaldo returned to the villa and went into the bedroom to see Selena, only to find that there was not just Selena in bed, but one more person! Osvaldo stared at Margot, who had taken his place and was sleeping intimately with Selena. His eyes instantly turned cold.

Selena slept very well-behaved, and she could stay still all night. Margot, on the other hand, was completely different. She didn't sleep soundly and clung to Selena like vines. The two girls slept soundly, cheek to cheek.

This scene fell into Osvaldo's eyes, but it made him feel extremely uncomfortable.

Osvaldo turned and walked out of the room, making a call in the hallway, "Take that woman away!" Although he already knew Selena was very lenient with that woman, even making an exception for her, as she was the only friend Selena acknowledged, it was still annoying to see.

Maybe he should have let Spencer stay in the capital for longer.

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLiIOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1502 Lunar Eclipse

Chapter 1502 Lunar Eclipse An hour later, Selena woke up from her sleep feeling fully rested.

She opened her eyes and looked over at Margot, who was sleeping soundly next to her. Her gaze softened as she gently pushed Margot's hand away from her and got out of bed, putting on her slippers and walking quietly into the bathroom.

Twenty minutes later, Selena came downstairs and saw Osvaldo sitting on the couch in the living room. Search the FindNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

He looked up at her as she entered, his gaze momentarily clouded with what seemed like displeasure.

Although it wasn't very obvious, Selena unexpectedly noticed that something was bothering him.

She blinked and thought carefully for a moment, then walked over to Osvaldo.

Naturally, he reached out and pulled her into his embrace.

Selena whispered, "Margot is used to sleeping with me in my hometown. When she is away from me, her emotions become unstable." She paused for a moment before smiling again, "But it's much better now. She hasn't seen me in over a year, so it's natural for her to miss me." This was an explanation.

Selena was a girl who knew how to put herself in other people's shoes.

If she walked into her fiancé's bedroom and found another man occupying her place in his bed, even if the other man was Osvaldo's good friend, she would probably not be happy.

Although he was not very pleased, Osvaldo thought of Spencer and still said, "She's dangerous." Selena was taken aback, thinking that he was worried. She smiled faintly and said, "Although Margot is dangerous, she won't harm me. She is my only friend." She was the only one, so she didn't have to worry about Margot making friends with her and putting herself in danger.

Osvaldo's expression didn't soften at all.

Selena remembered that he had fought against Margot before and had probably noticed something unusual about her, so she continued, "I brought Margot out of a laboratory... when I first saw her..." She seemed to recall some unpleasant memories and her gaze became deep and distant. "She was still very young, wearing a white dress covered in bloodstains, with messy hair..." "She's dangerous, but she smiles at me. When she sees me, she crawls over to me obediently and looks at me with very bright and obedient eyes." "I tell her to do something and she does it. Besides sticking to me, she never disobeys anything I say." Selena leaned over and rubbed Osvaldo's cheek, "Margot is dangerous, but she has always protected me..." Perhaps sensing that Selena's emotions were unusual, Osvaldo hugged her tightly and asked, "What was the name of that laboratory?" Unexpectedly, Osvaldo asked this question, and Selena looked at him in surprise before telling him, "Lunar Eclipse." After Selena finished speaking, Osvaldo touched her hair, got up, and took her to the garden to bask in the sun.

An hour later, Margot woke up and went downstairs to find Selena.

Knowing that her mistress' friend liked sweets, the butler had prepared a table full of sweet pastries on the table. Margot smelled the aroma of the cakes and eagerly looked for them.

She carried a large plate of pastries and, led by the maid, found Selena flipping through some documents in the garden.

Margot glanced at Osvaldo, who was also going through some documents across from Selena, and then looked at what Selena had in her hand.

After confirming that she didn't understand it, Margot sat down in a nearby spot, ate cake, and waited obediently for Selena to finish her work.

This was nothing unusual for Margot and Selena's relationship over the past few years.

If Margot hadn't been absent that person time, Selena wouldn't have died on the battlefield.

Her father, Stanley, and Margot--the three people who had the ability to protect her--were all absent from her side at that time.

Looking back now, it was all premeditated.

Selena's eyes glinted, and she put the documents in her hand on the table. At the same time, Margot's bright, clear eyes looked over, "Selena, are you done? Can we go out and play now?" Selena smiled slightly, "Yes." After speaking, she stood up, said something to Osvaldo, and then took Margot and left.

Osvaldo watched Selena's departing figure and then picked up his phone from the table to make a call.

At the same time, in the laboratory, Black Crow and White Crow received the news that Margot had arrived in the capital city.

The two brothers breathed a sigh of relief, but their expressions also revealed a complex mix of emotions.

With no experiments to occupy him, Black Crow became even more irritable, "White Crow, you've been researching the data on 01 for so many years. What are the risks of her losing control now?" White Crow glanced at her brother and said, "A year ago, her emotions had stabilized to a very low level, but over the past year, I don't have specific data at the moment, so I can't confirm for sure, but--" There was a flash of sharpness in White Crow's eyes. "I have a premonition that if 01 finds out that she has died before, something terrible might happen." Black Crow had the same premonition.

Oi...

Whether Selena had noticed it or not, from the perspective of bystanders, especially medical professionals, that girl seemed like a "tool" created specifically to protect Selena.

Otherwise, it couldn't explain why the girl who had brutally slaughtered the entire laboratory suddenly approached Selena on their first meeting, became close to her, and even followed all her commands without reason.

Selena kept the girl by her side, treated her as her best friend, nurtured her, taught her, and even gave her a name.

When Margot turned 18, Selena, who had become the Empress of the Empire, even specially arranged a trip for her.

Margot then left the Empire and ventured out on her own, making a name for herself in the Dark Empire.

After the massacre that shook the entire Dark Game, she became a world-famous international assassin! Shortly afterwards, Selena died on the battlefield and became someone else through the "Light of God." Margot returned to her side a year later.

Thinking of the twists and turns in between, the brothers' eyes darkened.

After a while, White Crow broke the silence, "Anyway, it's a good thing for 01 to be back with her at this time." With Osvaldo and Margot by Selena's side, even if the Empire discovers her existence now, they won't have the opportunity to directly attack her.

There is no stronger protective net than this.

Black Crow remembered the storm Selena was about to face and let out a heavy sigh for the capital and the Empire.

mmMwWLIIIOfifl0&1 mmMwWLIIIOfifl0&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfifl0&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLIi0fiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1503 You Don'T Love Me Anymore!

Chapter 1503 You don't love me anymore! Selena took Margot out for a walk with Leia, and the three girls returned home with their arms full in the evening.

Leia went to park the car, and Margot followed Selena into the house with excitement. In the living room, they saw two people.

Selena's gaze slid past Osvaldo's face and landed on the person sitting across from him with long and slender legs.

It was a young man wearing a dark blue uniform and a police cap. His skin was white, and his long black hair hung down his side, shining with a blue-black luster like silk.

Hearing the commotion, he looked up, and under the deep blue brim of his cap were equally navy blue eyes and a stunningly beautiful face. His lips curled into a slightly eerie arc as he said, "Sister-in-law." Selena remained silent, her gaze sliding over the badge on his shoulder with a hint of surprise. If she hadn't seen it with her own eyes, it would be hard to believe that the head of the Tribunal and the enforcer of the Dark Empire was such a refined-looking man.

He didn't look like a law enforcer, but rather like a nobleman in high position.

Remembering Margot's words about how he liked to read religious texts and torture her with them when he had nothing else to do, Selena's mood became somewhat complicated.

In contrast to Selena's calmness, Margot was angry at the sight of Spencer. She widened her eyes and exclaimed, "Spencer, why are you here?!" Selena looked at the agitated Margot, then at the nonchalant Osvaldo.

She had always been curious why the Tribunal had been unconditionally helping her, and hearing that "sister-in-law" made her understand why.

At the same time, she was somewhat surprised by the extent of the Anderson family's influence in the capital city.

Previously, the Riddle family had dominated the city's economy, but after their downfall, the Pearce family took advantage and rose to power. It was well known that the eldest son of the Pearce family was Osvaldo's man.

Before the Pearce family rose to power, Luke did not divide up the city's cake, but he controlled several major industries, which was also quite impressive.

With Luke and James leading the way, if people found out that the person behind the Tribunal had close ties to the Anderson family, the situation gave chills.

The Anderson family has been low-key for many years, but upon closer examination, they are truly influential and well-connected.

Margot always listened to Selena, and if it weren't for Selena's constant guidance, Margot wouldn't kill anyone who hasn't done anything wrong.

Although Spencer deserves to be beaten up, he generally doesn't do bad things except for following the rules of the assassin world to keep her trapped. He has strong principles, and if he were killed, Selena would be unhappy...

Otherwise, the leader of the law enforcement team would have been folded countless times by her.

After confirming that Spencer couldn't be killed, Margot glared at him, turned her head in a haughty manner, and ran upstairs.

But just as she took two steps, Spencer grabbed her by the head.

Spencer held onto Margot and said to Selena, "This dangerous person is prohibited from leaving the country. I don't think you would mind if I take her to the trial court, would you?" Before Selena could speak, Spencer's upright body suddenly flew out of place and crashed into the nearby glass table.

With a burst of crackling sound, Spencer fell into a pile of beautiful decorative fragments. He looked at Margot, who was about to continue beating him up, coughed and said, "Causing harm with violence can lead to serious consequences..." Margot's face was covered with dark clouds as she turned to look at Selena and asked in a gloomy tone, "Selena, can't I really kill him?!" She had been imprisoned for a year, and this man still wanted to keep her locked up. This was intolerable! Selena remained silent.

The Anderson family's servants heard the commotion in the hall and thought something had happened. They hurriedly ran in and saw their young master being beaten on the ground by Selena's good friend.

The servants were at a loss as to what to do.

Should they intervene or not? It was a real dilemma.

Seeing Osvaldo calmly standing next to Selena, the servants looked at each other and pushed their way out with great understanding.

In the end, it was Selena who spoke up and interrupted the one-sided beating. After all, Spencer was Osvaldo's brother and they couldn't really hurt him.

"Margot, come back," Selena said.

Margot was still sitting on Spencer's body. After hearing Selena's voice, she reluctantly let go of him and ran back to Selena's side.

Spencer calmly stood up from the ground, elegantly straightened his clothes, and looked at Selena with a strange yet friendly smile. "As the chief justice, I have an obligation to consider the safety of the capital. It is my duty. I ask for your understanding, Mrs. Anderson." Selena suppressed the sense of discomfort in her heart and pondered Spencer's words.

As someone who always prioritized the big picture, she knew that from his perspective, saying such things was justifiable.

Especially since he knew the danger of Margot.

If it were her, she wouldn't feel at ease leaving Margot outside without any precautions, especially since he was Osvaldo's brother. If Spencer showed favoritism, it might make things difficult for Osvaldo.

But to let him take Margot away like this...

Spencer seemed to sense Selena's hesitation and smiled, "Mrs. Anderson, rest assured, aside from being required to stay in the court, I promise there will be no difficulties for her." Selena looked at Margot's flushed face, and the increasingly vivid aura between her eyes. He wasn't lying. Over the past year, he had indeed educated Margot quite well. Although Selena said so, she still felt that something wasn't quite right...

Selena thought carefully for a moment, turned to look at Margot and said, "I'll come to see you when I have the time." Margot pouted, looking wronged. "Selena, do you not love me anymore now that you have a man?!" Selena firmly denied, "Absolutely not! It's beneficial for you to stay in the court. Otherwise, if Zone Six investigates, Mr.

Chambers won't be able to explain to them." Although there were few people who truly knew the danger Margot posed, her reputation as the world's top assassin was well-known. It was hard to ensure that Cassius wouldn't use this information to cause trouble.

Once those people knew Margot was in the capital, they would be restless. SEARCH THE website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

In this upcoming period of turmoil, leaving Margot in the court was equivalent to telling everyone that Margot was a friend, not an enemy.

This was Selena's biggest consideration. Also...

Selena touched Margot's cheek and smiled faintly. "There are many people who want to kill me. With Margot by my side, they might not dare to make a move." "Margot should hide first, and when they appear..." Margot's eyes lit up instantly, and the gloom in her heart disappeared. "Anyone who dares to have designs on Selena will be killed!" Spencer glanced at Osvaldo, who was sitting motionless on the sofa, and raised his hand to press his hat brim, concealing the expression in his eyes.

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLIiOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1504 No Need

Chapter 1504 No Need After Margot left with Spencer, Selena sat down next to Osvaldo and smiled, "I'm going out tonight." Osvaldo reached out and pulled her into his arms. "I'll accompany you." Selena knew that the man was worried about her safety and did not refuse, obediently lying in his arms and closing her eyes.

That night, in the luxurious central hall of the Cooke family villa, there was a beautiful nine-layered cake on display.

The two Cooke family daughters wore identical red dresses and tied their hair the same way. Apart from their red eyes, there was no sign of any flaws.

However, the atmosphere was not as lively as imagined.

Candy's father Noel was a businessman with a round beer belly and a kind, smiling face that resembled Maitreya Buddha.

However, at this moment, there was no joy on his face. He was pacing back and forth in the house in anxiety.

His two precious daughters had not returned all night, and even though they were later safely sent back, their tearful appearance had nearly caused him to have a heart attack.

If the doctor had not repeatedly assured him that the two girls had not suffered any harm, he would have reported to the police long ago.

His wife Aleena was very beautiful, but at the moment she also looked worried as she looked at her two daughters.

"Baby, don't be afraid, tell Mom, what happened?" "Don't be afraid, did someone bully you? Tell Daddy, Daddy will definitely beat him until he's toothless..." No matter how they asked, the two daughters, who usually loved to talk and laugh, remained silent about why they were crying.

Apart from when they first entered the house and burst into tears in their parents' arms, the two girls showed no signs of abnormality.

Noel had intended to cancel the birthday banquet to comfort his daughters, but Nova disagreed, saying that she had invited guests.

The two sisters had pure hearts and wide-ranging friendships. They were very popular at Capital University, and the birthday banquet had invited many classmates.

All the students in Class 7 were happy to come, but when they walked in and saw the twin who were always cheerful and happy with red and swollen eyes, they were shocked.

"What's wrong?" "You should be happy on your birthday, don't cry..." Candy had almost recovered by now and answered her classmates' questions, occasionally looking up and glancing towards the door. "It's fine, we were just scared by a poisonous snake." Upon hearing Candy's words, everyone didn't know whether to feel relieved or more anxious.

"Snake?!" "Did you guys go to the zoo? Don't they keep the snakes locked up in the zoo? Did it accidentally get out?" Candy remembered Penelope and gritted her teeth. "It did accidentally get out, but it's been caught and I believe it won't have the chance to come out again." Everyone instantly breathed a sigh of relief.

The couple from the Cooke family were relieved that their daughter had finally spoken and handed the cake knife to Nova.

"Sweetie, all your classmates are here, you can make a wish and cut the cake now." Nova looked at the knife that was handed to her and then turned her head to look outside again.

Candy furrowed her brows, looked at her watch, and said softly, "Just wait a bit longer." Aleena asked gently, "What are we waiting for?" Candy was about to speak, but suddenly the door of the hall was pushed open from outside. The Cooke family's butler brought in a group of servants, sweating profusely, and welcomed a beautiful young man and woman. His voice trembled, "Mr. Anderson, Miss Turner, welcome..." The people in the hall turned their heads to look and saw the famous couple walking in hand in hand.

Noel was frightened by their faces, and he knew that their small family couldn't afford to invite these two big shots...

He wiped the cold sweat from his forehead and was about to greet them respectfully when he saw his previously listless daughter, who suddenly saw Selena and her eyes lit up with joy. She rushed over and hugged Selena's neck, "Selena, you're here..." Selena looked at the girl with swollen eyes, touched her hair and smiled slightly, "It's okay, don't be afraid." Nova immediately stopped crying and cheered, "Selena, will you come and cut the cake with me?" Selena nodded and smiled, "Okay." The people in the hall finally snapped out of their shock and reacted, and everyone was almost crazy with joy. "Selena, you're here!" "And you brought your boyfriend, too." Facing the shocked and pleasantly surprised gaze of everyone, Selena led Nova to the giant cake tower.

She stood in the middle, and the twin sisters from the Cooke family stood smilingly beside her. Amidst a chorus of joyful blessings, under the colorful lights and fireworks, the three raised their hands and dropped the cake knife together.

With a click, a photo was captured.

In the quiet mansion, Cassius entered the magnificent hall shrouded in darkness.

The person inside immediately stepped forward to help him remove his coat and respectfully reported, "Miss Penelope has been arrested by the tribunal and is being held and tried within." Although he did not like the woman, she was still Cassius' only daughter, and they would not conceal what needed to be reported.

Because everyone knew that after the trial for the crimes Penelope committed, the only thing waiting for her was a dead end.

Cassius leisurely lit a cigarette, his eyes blurred in the hazy smoke. Instead of asking about Penelope, he asked about another matter, "What's the Anderson family doing today?" After a moment, a response came from inside the room, "The old man went out this morning and was invited by Miss Turner to see Miss Penelope, and he personally denied Miss Penelope's existence." Cassius seemed to smile, then didn't ask anything else and walked toward the inner room.

Although he didn't like Penelope, she was still Cassius' only daughter. If she died, it would mean the end of the Cassius line.

"Shouldn't we do something, Cassius?" Cassius didn't look back, "We can't save her, and there's no need to." Penelope was just too reckless.

Whether it was escaping from prison or framing Selena in the Soo family, Cassius had already sacrificed many people to help her. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

But that woman obviously didn't remember any of it.

She only remembered that Cassius had to save her. The cost of saving her was not within Penelope's consideration.

With two past failures as examples, neither Osvaldo nor Selena could let Penelope go.

At this time, Spencer had returned to the capital and personally guarded the tribunal, which was the best proof.

Who was qualified to save someone under the watchful eye of the tribunal's chief judge?

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1505 What Are You Worried About?

Chapter 1505 What Are You Worried About? Cassius left the hall and went down to the basement.

Compared to the lab at Capital University, this lab was much smaller, but the advanced level of various instruments and equipment was not inferior at all, and even more advanced.

A middle-aged man wearing glasses, meticulously dressed in both hair and clothing, was standing in front of an experimental table, studying a tube of reagent with concentration.

Cassius stood at the door for a moment before speaking up, "Mr. White." Mr. White didn't turn around, carefully studying the thing in his hand, his voice elegant, "I am busy with an important research and cannot focus on entertaining guests. Please forgive my rudeness, Cassius." Cassius smiled, his gaze falling on the tube of reagent in Mr. White's hand. "Excuse me for being presumptuous, but may I ask what is in your hand?" Mr. White stared at the reagent in his hand and also smiled, "gift' prepared for a child, hope that she will like it." Cassius lowered his gaze, "Mr. White, sincerity is indispensable if you want to cooperate." "Of course," Mr. White finally turned around, took off his glasses, and his eyes showed a hint of apology. "But I think, after all, this is your homeland, and this choice may be a bit difficult for you." Cassius smiled, "Do you have any other goals besides the child?" "I'm just used to preparing a backup plan for all plans," Mr. White laughed, "And the child is just mischievous. A lesson is enough.

We can't really hurt her, otherwise... my 'god' will be angry." Cassius' eyes flashed with something, "The Chief Justice of the Tribunal returned to the capital today, and brought back another 'child' you created with your own hands. With her presence, you probably won't have a chance to act." "Oh, 01 has also returned," Mr. White's expression showed no surprise or distress, "It doesn't matter, she was originally a 'gift," as long as the child does not die or get hurt, she won't explode. We have already considered this possibility." Cassius' eyes were deep, and he smiled, "So, what exactly are you planning to do?" Mr. White explained seriously, "The empire used genetic sequencing experiments to create several super geniuses in the past.

Based on the talent of those two children in the medical field and the data they have, the underground city virus vaccine should have already been developed." Mr. White's face showed a cold expression for the first time, "But the people in that city are not qualified for amnesty. Darkness and death are what they deserve!" Cassius remained smiling, "They have talent and specimens, destroying the vaccine alone is not useful." Mr. White smiled again, "The virus in the underground city is special. To use its vaccine, we must find the original source of the virus, which is a person." "As long as we find that person and kill him, everything will return to calm, and this calm will last forever." Cassius asked, "Who is that person?" Mr. White shook his head, "Unfortunately, I don't know. Apart from my 'god', no one knows who he is." "But it doesn't matter, she is more anxious than us to find that person," Mr. White picked up the test tube again, "If she needs that person to save her life, he will be delivered to her as soon as possible." Although Cassius had already guessed, his pupils still shrank slightly when he heard this, "Mr. White, are you going to put this virus into her body?" Mr. White's expression turned cold, "She killed my 'god' with her own hands. She deserves some punishment!" Cassius stared at the test tube in silence for a long time before asking, "What if it fails?" Mr. White put on his glasses and smiled slightly, "Then let's turn the capital city into the second underground city." Selena opened her eyes in the darkness.

She looked at the familiar ceiling above her head, and after a few seconds, she realized that she had returned from the lively birthday banquet at the Cooke family and was sleeping in her own room.

A hand reached over and touched her forehead, followed by a gentle voice, "Were you dreaming?" Selena turned around and saw Osvaldo sitting on the bedside, with a slightly furrowed brow, looking at her with concern.

Selena blinked, and then remembered that Osvaldo had not slept with her tonight but had been busy in his study.

He must have sensed that something was wrong with her and had just come back from the study.

With Osvaldo's help, Selena sat up and was pulled into his embrace. Her mouth moved, "I..." She must be dreaming.

But she couldn't remember what she had dreamt of at this moment, although there was still a lingering feeling of palpitations.

Osvaldo looked at her furrowed brow, remained silent for a moment, and then whispered, "I'll have Noah change the bed back later." Selena was stunned for a moment, then chuckled.

When she came back at night, she found that her bed had been changed, probably because Margot had slept in Osvaldo's place.

It was not because of disgust, but perhaps the man could not accept sleeping where another girl had lain.

"It's not because of that," Selena shook her head. She did not have the habit of choosing beds. "I think I had a dream, but I forgot what it was." Osvaldo stared at Selena's eyes for a few seconds, then lowered his head to soothe her with a kiss on her forehead, "Selena, don't be afraid." Selena looked at the man's extremely beautiful face and said with a smile, "Okay, with you here, I'm not afraid." No matter what happens next, she will not be afraid.

When the tragedy between the Arctic laboratory and the Turner family occurred twenty years ago, she had just been born.

When the tragedy in the underground city happened seven years ago, she had not yet grown up.

But now that she had grown up, she would never allow the same tragedy to happen again.

In the same quiet night, another pair of eyes opened in the darkness at the same time.

On a beautiful terrace, a full moon hung high in the sky, emitting a faint dark red glow.

The fragrance of roses permeated the air. Search the ( website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

A young man in white with an unparalleled appearance looked up at the full moon, his eyes extremely dark.

In the darkness, a voice came from nowhere, "What are you worried about?" The man stared at the full moon, and the thin lips overflowed with words, "I have a very bad feeling..." The voice sighed, "I have to remind you that the reason you can stay here is that you have not helped the young miss with anything. Once you intervene and upset the balance, that person will definitely get involved, and then the young miss will face more than just this." "The young miss has grown up. She is no longer the child who used to cry in your arms..."

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1506 She Protects The World, He Protects Her

Chapter 1506 She Protects the World, He Protects Her She had grown up.

She was no longer she who would throw herself into her brother's arms and cry whenever she felt wronged.

She had become strong and confident, unbeatable in battle.

There were still many people around her who protected her, even though he was not among them.

A hint of sadness flickered in the man's eyes.

The voice in the darkness continued, "You can't stay in the capital for long." It would be better for both him and her to leave early, especially now that Selena knew of his existence.

Although Selena hadn't specifically sent anyone to monitor him, they all knew that Selena had been paying attention to his movements.

Once he made the slightest move, she would definitely know.

Most importantly, he had been away from the island for so long that his body was approaching its limit.

The man lowered his long eyelashes and remained silent for a long time before hoarsely saying, "Wait longer." At the very least, they should wait until the situation in the capital was over.

After Selena woke up from her dream, she couldn't fall asleep again.

Oswaldo tried to coax her for a long time, but Selena still couldn't sleep. In the end, she looked up at him and said, "I'm hungry." Selena was extremely disciplined in her daily life and ate three meals a day on time. Unless there was a special circumstance, she never broke her routine.

But now, she unexpectedly said she was hungry in the middle of the night.

Oswaldo looked at her with a slightly downcast expression for a moment, then took his coat and draped it over her. He picked up Selena and took her downstairs.

It was midnight and the villa was quiet, with everyone asleep.

Without waking the butler, Oswaldo carried Selena into the kitchen and sat her on a nearby stool. He ran his fair fingers over the corner of her mouth and spoke in a low voice, "What do you want to eat?" Selena looked at the man in surprise, realizing that Oswaldo was preparing to cook something for her. Her eyes brightened and she said in a clear voice, "Noodles. I want to eat noodles." Oswaldo turned to open the fridge, taking out ingredients and getting busy.

Selena sat on a high stool covered with a blanket, her slippers feet dangling in the air as she held her chin in her hands and watched the man use his long and elegant hands to wash various ingredients.

He combined meat and vegetables according to her preferences and taste, everything was there. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Suddenly, she spoke up, "Osvaldo." The man put the washed vegetables on the chopping board and skillfully picked up a knife from the rack without looking back, "Yes?" Selena smiled and asked, "Have you learned how to cook before?" In her impression, a rich gentleman like Osvaldo should never have set foot in a kitchen before.

But unexpectedly, although not very skilled, Osvaldo can cook.

She herself can't even recognize the most basic ingredients.

Perhaps it was because of the night, his voice was low, "No." Under Selena's gaze, he added, "I just learned some simple cooking when I was 'entrepreneurial' outside before, occasionally too busy to eat." Although Selena was curious about what kind of entrepreneurship would make a man too busy to take care of even basic life necessities, she could sense another meaning.

It seemed that Osvaldo's past life was not always smooth sailing.

The sound of water gushing from the tap was particularly clear in the quiet night. Selena's gaze fell on Osvaldo's handsome profile.

He was born extremely handsome, the kind of good looks that were unimaginable without seeing them in person.

Standing under the bright light, he looked like a piece of precious jade, radiant and flawless.

As Selena kept staring, she suddenly jumped off the stool and walked behind Osvaldo, stretching out her slender arms to embrace the man's slim and tall waist from behind.

Osvaldo felt the warm and soft touch from behind, the familiar and sweet fragrance of the girl's body coming through the thin fabric.

His Adam's apple moved as he put down what he was holding and turned around, looking down at the rarely clingy girl.

He stared at her for a long time before gently brushing her eyes, "Selena, don't be afraid." Selena rarely had such an emotional outburst.

Since she arrived by his side, she had always been confident and strong, never like tonight.

Selena blinked, her long eyelashes sliding gently in the palm of his hand, and the girl's voice was soft and tender again, "... and add one more egg." Osvaldo's throat was dry, and a tender smile overflowed from his lips as he said softly, "Okay." He took out an egg from the refrigerator.

Selena obediently sat back in her place and watched Osvaldo busy himself while saying, "I can't cook." In her empire, she was truly lazy and didn't know anything about household chores.

To protect her delicate hands, she didn't even have the opportunity to touch anything of weight in the kitchen.

Osvaldo prepared the ingredients and poured water into the pot. He turned on the stove and said gently, "It's okay, I can do it." Selena looked at the handsome profile of the man and said, "I still don't know how to manage a household, be a good wife, and spend my energy on the family, making my husband happy..." During the gap while waiting for the water to boil, Osvaldo turned around and looked at the girl behind him. He gently spoke of all the things she didn't know how to do, using his delicate fingers to illustrate his points.

He looked at her slender and delicate fingers for a long time before lowering his head and kissing them tenderly. "It's okay, I can do it," he said.

He would help her with everything she wasn't good at, and he would make her happy.

Selena stared at the man in front of her, her eyes filled with a sense of emptiness, and murmured, "Marrying me will encounter many dangers..." It wasn't as good as he had imagined.

Osvaldo looked at the black eyes of the girl and gently stroked her hair, "You are the best girl in the world." It had nothing to do with her character or appearance, but in his heart, she was the best.

Whether she was kind and beautiful or ruthless and cunning, she was unique to him.

Under Selena's somewhat puzzled gaze, Osvaldo whispered, "There are many kind and beautiful girls in the world, but they are not you. To me, Selena is unique. No one can replace her." Selena was the apple of his eye, and he was willing to pay any price to protect her.

Selena's eyelashes trembled, and she felt an indescribable sense of emotion. She heard the man's voice, full of tenderness and love, whisper in her ear, "You are the one who protects the world, and I am the one who protects you." She protected the world, and he protected her.

Her life was for her responsibilities, and his life was for her.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1507 Like

Chapter 1507 Like Although Selena was used to being protected by others, Osvaldo's protection always made her feel different.

She didn't understand what was different before, but now she vaguely understood.

This man was different to her.

He was the first person she liked.

Selena looked up at the man's handsome face with her dark eyes. He was leaning in very close, but even at such a close distance, she couldn't see any flaws on his face.

This man was too perfect. SEARCH THE website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Selena looked at the man's thin red lips, delicate chin, and slender neck...

She looked up at him for a while, and suddenly leaned in and bit his Adam's apple.

Osvaldo gasped, his Adam's apple couldn't help but move, and his eyes became even darker.

He looked at the girl in front of him, who was looking up at him with her clear and beautiful eyes, with a hint of curiosity in her eyes, as if she didn't understand why his reaction was so strong.

Osvaldo's pale fingertips brushed over his lips, and he chuckled softly, "What are you doing, Selena?" Selena listened to the man's even sexier voice, and her cheeks inexplicably heated up.

Even the man's fingertips on her face seemed to suddenly become scorching hot.

She vaguely understood that she seemed to have done something out of line. She moved her small mouth and said softly, "... It looks good." This meant that she thought it looked good and couldn't help but take a bite.

Seeing the man's abnormal and inexplicable gaze, she felt guilty and said in a small voice, "I didn't use any force." She just lightly bit him, but she didn't expect Osvaldo to have such a big reaction.

Osvaldo looked at she, who was shy and curious at the same time, and his Adam's apple moved again.

He turned his head and looked beside him.

The water was boiling in the pot, but it still had a few minutes before it boiled over.

The man chuckled and suddenly lowered his head. In Selena's exclamation, he picked her up and held her so that their eyes were level.

Selena's slender back was against the wall, and she looked up at the man with a look that seemed to say she knew she had caused trouble and was ready to be punished. She widened her eyes and said, "Osvaldo, I was wrong. I won't bite you again.

Don't bite me..." Osvaldo lowered his head and took a bite of her red lips, his thin lips sticking to her ear, his breath hot and rolling. He smiled and asked, "Do you want to bite again?" Selena hesitated. She smelled the breath of the man, and the pleasant cold fragrance accompanied by pure male sensuality made her legs weak for no reason.

Since she was a well-behaved girl from childhood, it was difficult for her to refuse when he spoke to her in such a voice. In fact, she really wanted... to take a few more bites.

Osvaldo saw what she wanted and laughed even more deeply. "Then... here you go." Selena took a deep breath, watching the man's throat rolling as he spoke, and her throat inexplicably felt dry.

After looking around and confirming that there was no one else around, Selena approached sneakily and took two more bites on the man's chin.

After biting, she let out a satisfied sigh.

You couldn't blame her for not being reserved. Blame the man for being too attractive, with every feature perfectly matching her aesthetic.

Osvaldo looked at she who didn't even realize what she had done and laughed softly, "Do you like it?" Selena achieved her wish, and her lips curved into a satisfied smile. "I like it."

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1508 Don'T Need To Protect

Chapter 1508 Don't Need to Protect Selena had heard the man say these words before, but every time she heard them, her heart couldn't help but tremble.

Although she didn't know why the man liked her so much, she could still see the kind of devotion and gentleness that belonged only to him in his eyes.

Oswaldo really liked her.

Selena's smile grew wider as she hugged the man's neck and whispered, "Husband, I'll be very good to you from now on." Oswaldo's thin lips curved up, feeling pleased with the girl's promise.

The environment and education Selena grew up in destined her to not be a person who would invest too much energy and emotion in love. But on the other hand, since she said this sentence, it meant that he was the husband she had accepted from the bottom of her heart.

It also meant that she had labeled him, and no one could deny his identity in the future. Not even Stanley.

Oswaldo held the girl and kissed her for a while until he heard the sound of water boiling behind him. Reluctantly, he put the girl back on the chair and rubbed her hair. "Wait for me for a while." After speaking, he turned around and went to cook noodles for Selena.

Selena watched the man who was washing his hands and making soup for her. She remembered that the Anderson family and the Turner family were preparing for their engagement banquet, and her cheeks turned slightly flushing.

The affairs in the capital were about to come to an end, and she would soon be able to return to the empire with Oswaldo.

At that time, she would see all the people she was familiar with. If her father and mother knew that she had gotten married outside and had a husband, the consequences would be dire...

Selena blinked and suddenly felt that it was necessary to tell Oswaldo in advance, otherwise, if the man was unprepared to face her family and got beaten up, it would be the lightest consequence.

Selena coughed and looked at the man's profile. She whispered, "My dad and mom both love me very much." Oswaldo focused on making noodles and didn't turn around, but his tone revealed his pleasure. He murmured, "Okay." Selena blushed and said, "My mom isn't very healthy, so if she doesn't welcome you when the time comes, please don't be angry." "I won't be." He knew that taking away someone's only beloved daughter without her parents' knowledge would naturally lead to being unwelcome.

As long as they didn't try to take Selena away from him, he could handle any consequences.

Selena heard the man's voice and thought of Lady Lauren's care and love for her. She felt guilty. Lady Lauren and Benjamin had never given her a hard time. SEARCH the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

On the contrary, they always protected her. But her father and mother would surely make things difficult for Osvaldo...

Selena coughed and said softly, "I will protect you when the time comes." Osvaldo's hand paused for a moment and then resumed as he placed a steaming bowl of noodles on the table and casually picked Selena up.

He settled her on his lap and said, "You don't need to protect me." Selena blinked.

Osvaldo looked at her puzzled eyes and couldn't help but smile. "I married such a beautiful girl. It's normal for your father and mother to not like me." It would have been no problem in a normal family, but her father...

Selena was a bit conflicted about how to explain to Osvaldo. She carefully chose her words, "My dad..."

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1509 Selena Is Here

Chapter 1509 Selena is Here "My father... is very powerful. When he's angry, almost no one dares to speak except for me," Selena said in a euphemistic manner.

Although her father never got angry in front of her, he was once the man who ruled the entire empire.

Her ability to handle things and her means were mostly taught by her father. And Selena's character was also taught by him.

Osvaldo remembered the rumors about Selena's father in the empire, and a hint of something flashed in his eyes.

He picked up some noodles with his fork and fed them to Selena, trying to calm her down, "It's okay." Selena saw something comforting in the man's eyes and immediately stopped worrying, obediently eating her noodles.

After finishing the noodles, Osvaldo took Selena for a walk in the garden to help her digest. By the time they finished playing around, it was almost dawn. And at that time, Selena finally became sleepy.

Osvaldo settled her down and then walked into the study.

In the morning, Lady Lauren and her people came to the door, but they didn't see Selena when they entered. Lady Lauren blinked, "Has my daughter-in-law gone out again?" After the downfall of the four major families, Selena should have some free time. Moreover, everyone knew that she was about to get engaged, so there shouldn't be anything important that would disturb her at this time.

"Madam Selena didn't sleep well last night and is still sleeping," the butler replied.

Lady Lauren glanced upstairs and asked, "Where is my son?" Osvaldo was there. How could he let Selena not sleep well? "Master is in the study," the butler replied.

Lady Lauren frowned slightly. After confirming that she wouldn't see her daughter-in-law today, she lost interest in seeing her son and told the butler, "After Selena wakes up, let my son take her to the Anderson family." The butler agreed.

Lady Lauren had not been gone for long when the Turner family called.

When they learned that Selena was sleeping, Patrick instructed the butler to have Selena brought to the Turner family that night.

Selena slept until the afternoon, and after she finished her lunch, the butler told her about Lady Lauren and the Turner family.

Selena was confused, "Is there something going on? Why do I have to go home all of a sudden?" The butler heard Selena's question and felt a bit sad. He patiently explained, "Madam Selena, in the tradition of H Country, a girl's engagement ceremony is generally held at her family's home unless there are special circumstances." "Madam asked you to return to the Anderson family to discuss some details of the engagement ceremony." Selena has no parents, and the Turner family has no female members. Lady Lauren was afraid that Selena would be wronged, so she has been personally preparing for it these days.

At this point, Selena only needs to go to check and wrap up the final details.

Selena understood in an instant and blushed slightly, saying with a smile, "I know, Noah." In the afternoon, Selena returned to the Anderson family with Osvaldo's company.

It has been a while since Selena last came to the Anderson family, and during this time, the mansion of the Anderson family has been renovated under Lady Lauren's arrangement, which is now full of luxury and beautiful decorations that exude a festive atmosphere.

Selena had never seen such a scene before and was somewhat surprised. Osvaldo held her hand and led her into the hall. Search The website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Antonio was not there. Benjamin and Lady Lauren were waiting inside. Lady Lauren stood up with a smile when she saw her son bringing his wife back. "Selena is here." Selena's gaze swept over Benjamin and she smiled slightly, "Mother-in-law." mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1510 Probably Because Selena Will Like It

Chapter 1510 Probably because Selena will like it Lady Lauren looked at the pretty and obedient girl and smiled.

She took Selena's hand and led her to the table, handing her a gift list, "These are the guests we need to invite for the engagement banquet. Selena, take a look and see if there is anyone you want to add." "Afterwards, let Osvaldo take you to the garden and see if there's anything you're not satisfied with. Let them make the changes." "The weather is nice tomorrow, perfect for shopping. Osvaldo has been a terrible boyfriend for never taking you out shopping.

This is a serious dereliction of duty. Let him take you out tomorrow..." Lady Lauren was meticulous, perhaps due to the lack of family members in the Turner family, inviting many guests from Creephia to the capital who cared about Selena and had good intentions towards her.

Selena went through the gift list and smiled, "Thank you, mother-in-law. There's no problem." Lady Lauren smiled and asked, "What about those two doctors from the Capital University and Miss Margot? I had someone specially send them an invitation. Will you invite the people from Lab 717, Selena?" Selena hesitated.

Black Crow, White Crow and Margot were in the capital and would naturally come to join in the fun at this critical moment.

As for Lab 717...

Selena remembered that Bruno had once said that if she were to get engaged, she should call him.

"I'll call the professors tonight when I get back to the Turner family." In the lull of Lady Lauren's conversation with Selena, Osvaldo sat down opposite Benjamin.

Benjamin's tone was calm, "What's the rush for?" Generally speaking, to prevent accidents, Osvaldo could have waited until after the "Divine Love" matter was resolved before getting engaged to Selena.

But he chose to almost simultaneously get engaged to Selena at the time when the underground dungeon virus vaccine had just been released.

It was difficult to ensure that nothing would go wrong.

Oswaldo's eyes were dark, "If even getting engaged to her in the capital is something I have to consider the possibility of an accident, then I'm not qualified to have her." Benjamin raised an eyebrow.

Although it wasn't very obvious, he still heard some kind of dark emotion from his son's tone.

The only possibility for him to hurry up and get married... is that his son has a rival in love...

Benjamin snorted, not surprised by this result.

Although Oswaldo is in the capital, he has stirred up quite a bit of trouble in the Federation in the past year or so.

Those who were tossed around probably couldn't imagine that he caused such a big commotion just to cover up another person's existence. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Benjamin didn't care about his son's love affairs, but he reminded him, "The people of the Union Riddle Group are not simple. Be careful when you play." "Compared to the Union Riddle Group, I am more interested in the matter of the red jade," Oswaldo stared at Benjamin's eyes.

"Where did Callum bring it back from? What is its purpose of existence?" Whether it's the capital or the Federation, Oswaldo can handle it.

But he hates uncontrollable factors.

Callum's real daughter died, and everything fell on Selena.

Selena took her feelings and responsibilities, and naturally she would bear all kinds of dangers she should bear.

Benjamin's eyes became dark, "Go ask your grandfather if he is willing to tell you." But at this time, Antonio probably has no mood to care about these things.

Oswaldo didn't ask again because Selena had finished talking to Lady Lauren and was walking towards him.

Oswaldo stood up, took Selena's hand, and led her out of the hall.

Lady Lauren looked at the backs of the two people and keenly sensed that her son's emotions were somewhat wrong. She turned back and asked Benjamin, "What's wrong?" According to reason, Osvaldo should be happy as he is about to get engaged.

Osvaldo wasn't unhappy, but it seemed like there was something else.

Benjamin said calmly, "Probably because of the crisis of status." After Benjamin finished speaking, he thought Lady Lauren would be surprised, but he didn't expect Lady Lauren's expression to be calm, just slightly frowned.

According to his wife's personality, she shouldn't have this reaction.

Benjamin asked, "That kid has a rival in love." Lady Lauren looked at her husband strangely, "Hasn't our son always had a rival in love? The one from the Poole family, the one from the Soo family, and if we don't count the level, the Creephia Walson family also has one..." Benjamin was silent.

Lady Lauren sighed sadly, "Selena is too excellent, and there are many men who covet her. I don't know when I will have a grandchild..." Osvaldo took Selena to the courtyard that Lady Lauren had prepared for them.

As the Anderson family had rare bloodlines, they spared no expense to make everything perfect for Selena. The entire courtyard was decorated according to Selena's preferences, and it was almost as luxurious as the palace where she had lived for over a decade.

Selena was delighted to see the familiar place.

The only difference was the trace of another man in the bedroom.

She blushed slightly as she looked at the bedroom that perfectly integrated the styles and preferences of her and Osvaldo, and it seemed she remembered the promise she made to him.

Osvaldo took her to the French windows and settled the young girl in a rattan chair, looking at the wide and beautiful courtyard downstairs. "Do you like it here, Selena?" Selena said with a smile, "Yes." Looking into his eyes, she added, "The place where I used to live is similar in style to here..." She then thought of the houses that Osvaldo had bought and asked with a blink of her eyes, "Leia said all the houses you bought have a similar decor... why is that?" Osvaldo, who had been together with her for so long, was well understood by Selena.

According to her, he would not have decorated the houses so warmly and generously if it had been for himself. Moreover, the primary style was more inclined to girls.

Osvaldo was startled by her question.

He did not know why, but subconsciously, he did it that way. It was like when he left home inexplicably and chose that path, a voice seemed to remind him that he had to become strong and stand at the top of the world to protect someone.

When he met Selena, he realized that that someone was her.

He smiled faintly at her curious eyes and said, "Maybe I thought... you would like it." Selena was stunned. She looked at Osvaldo's handsome face, and she knew that this man would never lie.

What he said was the answer from the bottom of his heart.

"But... at that time, I had not met you yet," she frowned and said.

She had thought of many answers, but she had never expected that Osvaldo would say something like that.

Osvaldo squatted down in front of her and his lean body. His thin lips curved upward as he said, "Maybe it's because God knew that I would meet you in the future, so He reminded me to protect you." Although the answer was strange, Selena was still very happy. She realized that those houses were not for anyone else but her.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1511 He Is My "God"

Chapter 1511 He is my "God" she smiled even sweeter at this heartwarming answer.

As Osvaldo looked at her with curved eyes, his gaze darkened slightly. He pinched Selena's chin with his slender fingers and leaned down to kiss her rosy lips.

In the evening, Patrick drove to pick up Selena to go back to the Turner family.

After bidding farewell to Osvaldo, Selena got into the car heading towards the Turner family. The white sports car drove in that direction.

Patrick carefully observed Selena's expression and noticed that she looked lazy and had a sweet smile, which meant that her mood was good.

However, compared to she's happiness, the atmosphere at the Turner family was not very good.

Leaving aside the issue of the underground city virus vaccine, just the news that the Turner family's only daughter was engaged was enough to make the whole Turner family mournful.

Especially Selena, who had done so much for the Turner family but rarely returned, was even more adorable.

Patrick said with a smile, "Rest well at home these few days." Although the situation was tense, everyone in the capital knew that Selena was getting engaged, so no one would disturb her at this time.

Selena remembered some customs Lady Lauren had told her about the engagement traditions of H Country's girls and nodded in agreement, "Okay." Seeing she's obedient look, Patrick's heart softened even more.

The car stopped in front of the Turner family's gate. Patrick got out of the car and opened the door for Selena, leading her inside.

The Turner family mansion was usually quiet and simple, but because Selena was getting engaged, the whole courtyard was decorated with joyous festivity.

Selena was unused to it at first.

The butler saw the two young masters return and immediately led the staff to greet them, "Miss has returned. Come and have dinner." The maid helped Selena take off her coat, and Selena changed her shoes, washed her hands, and walked to the dining table.

Oscar was already sitting at the table, looking up to observe Selena.

Selena smiled and asked, "How's your recovery going, Uncle?" Oscar whispered, "It's not a big problem." Selena nodded and began to eat.

Compared to the pure joy and carefree attitude of the young girl, the mood of the two young masters of the Turner family was not so good at the moment.

Although they both knew deep down that she was not their real daughter, seeing this young girl, who was not yet twenty, about to become someone else's...

Even Oscar, a rational person, was feeling a bit complicated at the moment. "The engagement ceremony can be held earlier, but if you want to get married, it's best to wait until you are twenty-four years old." Selena was taken aback and thought Oscar was worried that if they couldn't find Callum for a long time, it would delay her happiness, so he made the promise early. She said with a smile, "I understand, Uncle." After the incident in the capital city was over, she would have to return to the empire, and things there could not be resolved in a short period of time.

Within the next few years, she might not have the time or energy to think about getting married. Search the FindNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Oscar saw Selena's happy smile and reminded her, "Divine Love is good at using biological weapons. It's better to stay with the Turner family recently, lest they act impulsively." Selena's eyes flashed with a hint of coldness as she agreed.

After spending a night at the Turner family, the next day Osvaldo came to pick up Selena. Selena rarely had such a relaxed time, and Osvaldo took her to the mall, bought her many gifts, and even queued up to buy her milk tea.

Selena enjoyed the treatment and love of an ordinary girl, and her lazy expression became more and more charming.

Although she wore a mask and a hat, her elegant temperament still caught people's attention.

When she and Osvaldo appeared as a couple, they immediately attracted the attention of everyone in the milk tea shop.

"Look! That couple is so beautiful..." "Doesn't that young man look a bit like..." Although they wanted to say the answer, everyone held back. There are people who are awe-inspiring even without doing anything.

The closest girl to Selena asked eagerly, "Miss, can I take a photo with you?" Afraid that Selena would be unhappy, the girl promised, "Don't worry, I'll keep it to myself and won't share it with anyone." Selena glanced at Osvaldo beside her.

Her photo is already well-known. But Antonio, said that Osvaldo hasn't allowed anyone to take photos of him since he was twelve years old, not even Lady Lauren.

Selena was about to say something, but Osvaldo suddenly reached out and hugged her waist, his voice low and elegant, "You may." Selena was surprised at first, but then she smiled and leaned her head on Osvaldo's shoulder.

The young girl was so excited that her hands were shaking as she took out her phone and aimed it at the beautiful couple, who were like a work of art, and clicked the shutter.

After buying milk tea, Osvaldo sent Selena back to the Turner family.

With three days left until the engagement banquet, Selena had nothing to do and spent her days reading in the Turner family.

The whole city seemed to be filled with joy in anticipation of the upcoming engagement banquet.

In the midst of this calm, Cassius received a call from Mr. White.

He once again entered the underground laboratory.

Mr. White was dressed immaculately and sitting in the reception room.

When he saw Cassius enter, he stood up and extended his hand, "Antonio, there is something I need to trouble you with." Cassius shook hands with him and sat down opposite Mr. White, "What do you want to do, Mr. White?" "I just received some news that the young lady is about to get engaged. I don't want to ruin her engagement banquet, so there are some things that need to be resolved before the banquet," Mr. White said, adjusting his glasses.

Cassius tapped his long fingers on the table and his eyes became deep. "That young lady has been staying at the Turner family recently and is surrounded by protection like a steel tank. There is no chance to take action." "Antonio, you misunderstand me. I don't like to resort to violence," Mr. White shook his head.

"What do you want then?" Cassius asked.

"I need you to contact the young lady for me. I want to talk to her in person," Mr. White smiled.

"Forgive me for being frank, Mr. White, but if you get too close to her, you may die a violent death. Osvaldo won't let anyone from "Divine Love" get close to Selena at this time," Cassius said.

Mr. White didn't seem troubled at all, "No, she will agree to meet with me. After all, her target has always been us, hasn't it?" Cassius remained silent for a while.

To be precise, not only Selena, but also the Turner family and even the entire city were their targets. Mr. White's open talk with Selena would surely cause a stir throughout half the city, and "Divine Love" would be completely exposed.

After a long while, Cassius smiled, "Mr. White, I am really curious about your master. What kind of person is he?" "He is my 'god'," Mr. White's eyes gleamed with fanaticism. The whole "Divine Love" was born for that person.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1512 Openly Appearing At The Door

Chapter 1512 Openly Appearing at the Door Selena received the news that night.

Perhaps as a sign of respect, Cassius personally went to the Turner family's door and told Selena the news.

As one could imagine, when Cassius openly appeared at the Turner family's door, it caused a great sensation throughout the capital city.

Everyone in the Turner family stared at him with bloodshot eyes, wishing they could tear him apart a thousand times.

It was this man who conspired with "Divine Love" and wiped out the entire Turner family years ago! After twenty years, Cassius stood outside the Turner family's door again, looking up at the gate, his eyes showing a rare moment of confusion. This was once the most precious place in the entire capital city.

In the decades before, the Turner family was the pillar of H Country and even the entire capital city's prosperity.

Wilfred and Meredith created the brilliance in several major fields in H Country.

As long as these two were present, no one dared to cause trouble in the capital city.

Oscar and Callum also perfectly inherited their father and mother's talents and aspirations.

If the family massacre had not happened, the Turner family's prosperity would have been unparalleled, even surpassing the Anderson family.

Although Selena and Oscar had tried their best to help the Turner family rise again, for those who had witnessed the family's former glory with their own eyes, some things were just not the same anymore.

But fortunately, the Turner family's bloodline engraved the spirit of the two elders into their bones, and they were always so beloved. The Anderson family's door lintel, on the other hand, was stained with a trace of dirt because of him. Was it worth it for the wicked Kiera? For the first time, this thought flashed through Cassius' mind. But it was just a passing thought. The Anderson family never wasted their thoughts on reviewing or pondering over things that were already decided.

Cassius smiled at the Turner family who were on guard, "Please inform Miss Turner that I am here to see her." "What do you want with our young lady?!" the Turner family person guarding the door asked through gritted teeth.

If it weren't for the changing times, killing someone directly would bring trouble to several masters. Even if they risked their lives, they would definitely let this man die here.

Cassius' gaze fell on the Turner family gate, where Oscar and Patrick came out. Patrick's face was bone-chillingly cold, and compared to the younger and more spirited people, Oscar's expression was much more subdued.

But those black eyes were now fixed on Cassius, exuding a kind of fearful emotion.

Cassius met Oscar's eyes evenly, his smile unchanged. "Commander Turner, it's been over twenty years. How have you been?" Oscar raised his hand to stop the Turner family member who was about to attack Cassius with a gun. His tone was flat, but upon closer listen, it was very cold. "I don't like to waste words. State your purpose." Cassius put his hands in his coat pockets and smiled faintly. "It's nothing big. Mr. White just wants to meet Miss Turner. I don't know if that's possible?" Oscar's indifferent pupils contracted slightly.

Patrick's face was extremely unpleasant, and he said coldly, "If you have any means, just come at me. What kind of skill is it to bully a girl?" "After being expelled from your family, do you really have no shame left?" Everyone knew that if the people from "Divine Love" met Selena at this time, it would definitely not be a good thing.

Cassius smiled. "Mr. Turner, you are overthinking it. You are underestimating Miss Turner. In the entire capital, only she is qualified to have this conversation." He looked at Oscar and for some unknown reason, added, "I suggest you agree, Commander Turner. Otherwise... who knows what will happen in the capital next." His tone was light and breezy, but it inexplicably made everyone present feel a chill.

Oscar's eyes had a faint sharpness. "The worst thing that could happen is turning the capital into a second underground city." Cassius almost wanted to applaud Oscar. Nothing could be hidden from him after all.

If it weren't for Oscar's means, the Turner family from twenty years ago wouldn't have been exterminated.

Although Oscar said it lightly, everyone who heard his words was horrified, their expressions adding a touch of fear.

The underground city wasn't originally called the underground city.

It was once a beautiful small town, but twenty years ago, it turned into a human hell.

These bastards even want to turn the capital into a second underground city.

Everyone's face turned pale in an instant, glaring at Cassius as if they wanted to eat him alive.

Cassius said calmly, "Even if the Turner family and the others are clever and well-prepared, they can't guard against Mr. White's biological weapon." "Commander Turner personally experienced the power of Mr. White twenty years ago, so... I advise you all to agree to Miss Turner meeting Mr. White." Patrick's face turned pale, "You have already harmed the Turner family, and now you won't even spare the Anderson family?!" Cassius remained expressionless and didn't speak.

Patrick sneered, "You deserve to be extinct. The court has already made the woman vomit everything out. She will be executed in three days!" This is referring to Penelope's trial result.

Three days later, Selena and Osvaldo would be engaged, which is also Penelope's death sentence! The court deliberately set the date on this day, and it's hard to believe that it wasn't intentional.

Cassius' face remained unchanged as he looked towards the position behind Oscar. "Discuss it well with Miss Turner," he said before turning around to leave.

Selena's voice suddenly came through, "Did you come here personally to tell me this news just to ruin my engagement party with Osvaldo?" Cassius' footsteps suddenly stopped.

He knew the grudges of the Turner family, yet he appeared so blatantly at their doorstep. This was deliberately stirring up hatred! Although Cassius had been expelled from the Anderson family long ago, his blood relation to them was real.

The Turner family had just seen him and remembered what he had done to them. How could they not hate him after hearing about his angelic methods? Even if they knew that Osvaldo was innocent, it was still difficult for them not to be angry.

Moreover, they were supposed to be happily preparing for the engagement between the Anderson family and the Turner family! Not even a saint could have such a broad mind! Even if the Turner family didn't say it out loud because of Selena, they couldn't have no grudges in their hearts.

Cassius' actions were unforgivable! Selena smiled, "You are indeed jealous of your nephew..." Rather than saying that Cassius was trying to cause trouble for the Turner family, it was more accurate to say that he was jealous of Osvaldo.

Cassius turned around and looked at Selena standing next to Oscar, his face devoid of warmth. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLiIOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1513 Avoiding Selena?

Chapter 1513 Avoiding Selena? "If it was you who died, that guy might not be any better than me!" If someone killed Selena, Osvaldo would be even crazier than Cassius! He would use the entire capital city as Selena's burial ground just to avenge her and destroy the Turner family for Kiera.

Selena smiled, "I'm really happy to see you in such pain..." Leia had occasionally mentioned to her before that many couples in the Anderson family gave birth to children only to see them die.

If this was true, then Kiera's death might also mean Cassius' death.

Cassius sneered, "So, Miss Turner, have you agreed?" Selena's lips curled, "I'll think about it." Cassius turned and left.

The Turner family members glared at Cassius' back, gritting their teeth.

Patrick disapproved as he looked at Selena, "Selena, that Mr. White doesn't seem to have good intentions. You can't go see him." It was obvious that "Divine Love" inviting Selena to meet at this time was definitely not a good thing.

Selena seemed to be shrouded in something as she said with a smile, "Don't worry, I'll tell you and Uncle before making a decision." After speaking, Selena nodded to Oscar and turned to leave.

Oscar watched Selena's slender figure, his eyes deep.

Because of this matter, the Turner family strengthened their protection of Selena again.

Not only were there people lurking outside the gate, but there were also people around Selena's villa at all times.

Compared to the Turner family's paranoia, Selena's behavior was extremely calm.

She spent the morning reading in her room, had lunch with the Turner family father and son, took a nap, and then went for a walk in the garden.

To make up for Selena, the Turner family's garden was filled with plants transplanted from Mrs. Nevaeh's "secret base." The flowers were blooming, and the greenery was lush, making people feel good just by looking at it.

Outside Selena's room, there was a luxuriant emperor's tree, and the Turner family even specially set up a swing for Selena under the tree.

Selena, wearing a lotus-green long dress and barefoot, sat on the swing, looking up at the blue sky, giving no indication of what she was thinking.

Leia stood by her side and didn't say a word all morning.

After staring at the blue sky for a long time, Selena suddenly spoke up, "Where did Young Master go?" According to past experience, Osvaldo should come find her at this time, even if he was busy.

Leia looked at Selena cautiously and whispered, "Young Master has something to do today and can't come to see Madam Selena..." Selena frowned and turned to look at Leia. "Did something happen to the Anderson family?" Leia was stunned.

If it were any other girl, upon hearing that her fiancé, who was about to get engaged to her, didn't come to see her when she was in trouble, the first reaction would be anger and disappointment.

But Selena's eyes showed no negative emotions. Her first thought was whether something had happened to Osvaldo.

Leia had been considering using the excuse of "something happening to the Anderson family" to help Osvaldo get off the hook, but upon hearing Selena's words, she suddenly changed her mind. "The Anderson family is fine, and the Young Master and Madam are both doing well..." When Selena heard that Osvaldo was okay, she let out a sigh of relief and withdrew her gaze to continue looking up at the sky.

Leia looked at her profile and felt inexplicably anxious. She didn't understand why Osvaldo had deliberately avoided seeing Selena at this critical juncture. She also couldn't understand why Selena could remain so calm. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Leia couldn't figure it out and was so anxious that she stomped her feet. "Madam Selena, you can call the Young Master!" Selena smiled slightly. "Let's wait until tonight." After saying that, Selena stood up and walked towards the direction of the hall.

When she was near the door, she paused and suddenly spoke, "Leia, go to the kitchen and bring me a piece of cake." This was the Turner family, and there would be no danger. Leia didn't suspect anything and immediately went to the kitchen to ask the chef to make a cake for Selena.

Selena walked into the hall and unsurprisingly saw Oscar sitting on the sofa.

Patrick was not there, and the servants of the Turner family were nowhere to be found, so the huge hall was empty, with only Oscar sitting there.

It looked even more desolate and empty.

Selena sat down opposite Oscar and smiled, "Uncle, are you waiting for me?" Oscar's deep gaze fell on Selena's face, which was very similar to Nevaeh's face from years ago, and he said, "You can choose to refuse." Selena's eyes widened with surprise.

From Oscar's standpoint, she thought he would be the one who most wanted her to agree.

After all, if it were Selena, she would not hesitate to choose one person's safety over the stability of an entire city.

It was not selfishness, but being in that position meant they had to make such choices.

Selena couldn't understand and asked, "Uncle, are you sure you can prevent 'Divine Love' from attacking the capital?" Oscar shook his head, "We can't prevent it." Biological weapons have too many ways of spreading, and it's impossible to defend against them. And with the methods of Mr. White from "Divine Love," as long as there's a living person, he can turn the capital into a wasteland.

Selena was really at a loss and asked, "If we can't prevent it, then why not make a better choice?" Oscar was silent for a long time before he said, "Because you are my second brother's daughter now." As for the deeper reasons-- the threat from the Anderson family's young master is greater than that of "Divine Love." If Selena is really harmed, no one can predict what Osvaldo will do.

Selena looked at Oscar steadily for a long time, then smiled, "Uncle, this is not like you." Once a commander is swayed by personal feelings, it will leave openings for the enemy.

Oscar said in a calm voice, "I'm just giving my opinion. The real decision is in your hands, and no matter what decision you make, the Turner family will support you." Selena calmly combed her hair and looked indifferent, but her eyes seemed to be clouded with something indiscernible, "Uncle, what do you think of Mr. White?" "I saw him twenty years ago in the capital," Oscar's tone was very cold, "He was one of the culprits who destroyed the Turner family." Selena looked into Oscar's eyes, "At that time, they also used this as a reason to force the Turner family to make a choice...

didn't they?" If not, Selena couldn't imagine any other reason why the Turner family and even the major families of Zone Six and the entire capital would have to turn a blind eye. Oscar's eyes deepened for a moment, and he didn't refute her.

Selena suddenly closed her eyes. She suddenly understood why Oscar hoped she would refuse. The Turner family had experienced such a choice before, and the price was the slaughter of the entire family. No one, no matter how strong-willed or rational, would want to go through such a heart-wrenching experience a second time.

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIiOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLIiOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1514 Unable To Find Fiancé

Chapter 1514 Unable to Find Fiancé Therefore, even though Oscar knew that there were better options, he still left the decision-making power to her.

Selena composed herself and said, "After making my decision, I will tell you, Uncle." After speaking, Selena stood up and went back to her room.

She waited in the room until nightfall, but Osvaldo did not come.

Not only did he not come to see her, he didn't even call her.

Selena picked up her phone from the table, looked at it for a moment, and dialed Osvaldo's number.

But the other party's phone showed that it was turned off.

Selena was shocked by this result.

Osvaldo had never failed to answer her calls before, this was the first time she couldn't find him.

Selena stood in front of the table for a while, her expression unreadable, and after a moment, she walked into the bathroom with her nightgown.

Even when she lay in bed, Selena still didn't receive a call back from Osvaldo.

She looked at the exquisitely carved ceiling and thought for a moment, then called Lady Lauren.

Lady Lauren answered quickly, "What's wrong, Selena?" Selena whispered, "Madam, is Osvaldo at home?" Lady Lauren's tone was slightly surprised, "Did Osvaldo not come to see you?" When Selena heard this answer, she knew that Osvaldo was not at the Anderson family, "I need to talk to him about something.

If he comes back, please tell him to call me back." Lady Lauren was even more curious, but she was a sharp woman and knew that Osvaldo's abnormal behavior must have a reason, so she agreed, "Okay, I will let Osvaldo go see you tomorrow. Good night, Selena, get some rest." Selena said good night and placed her phone on the table before closing her eyes.

After hanging up the phone, Lady Lauren frowned and asked the maid next to her, "Did something happen to the Turner family today?" The maid glanced at her mistress and hesitated about whether to tell her.

The men of the Anderson family doted on their wives, and many troublesome matters were kept hidden from their wives unless it was absolutely necessary to involve them.

But Lady Lauren had asked, and the maid thought for a moment before telling her the truth, "Cassius went to the Turner family today..." Lady Lauren's face suddenly changed.

Selena and Osvaldo were about to get engaged, but at this time, Cassius went to the Turner family's door and claimed it was unintentional, which no one would believe! Was Osvaldo deliberately avoiding Selena because of this? Lady Lauren, rarely angry, went directly to the study to find Osvaldo and asked, "Benjamin, what does your brother mean by this?" "Knowing the Turner family's grievances, why would he openly come to their door at this time? Isn't he deliberately ruining my son's marriage?" Benjamin looked at his angry wife and said in a deep voice, "There must be another reason." Although Cassius was not a good person, he would not do something so tasteless. SEARCH THE WEBSITE TO ACCESS CHAPTERS OF NOVELS EARLY AND IN THE HIGHEST QUALITY.

"No matter what the reason is, him running to the Turner family at this time will only make them hate the Anderson family," Lady Lauren was furious. "Selena can't find your son now!" "Osvaldo is probably avoiding Selena because of this. If their engagement party has problems in three days, can you compensate your son for losing his bride?!" Benjamin was silent.

Osvaldo was indeed avoiding Selena, but the reason he gave Lady Lauren was not the real one. But he didn't need to tell his wife about it. Benjamin held Lady Lauren's hand and said, "Let's send him to the Turner family to apologize tomorrow." That night passed calmly.

When Selena woke up the next day, she was surprised that she could sleep soundly without Osvaldo by her side.

After washing up and changing her clothes, she walked out of the room.

Patrick and Oscar were already awake and waiting for her to have breakfast together.

Selena sat at the table and suddenly asked, "Did someone break into the Turner family last night?" Oscar's expression did not change.

Patrick's movements paused slightly, then resumed as he said, "The Turner family is heavily guarded now. No one can break in.

Don't worry, Selena." Selena absentmindedly stirred the porridge in her bowl with a spoon.

She had a feeling that Osvaldo had come last night...

Why wouldn't he want to see her when he had come to visit? Selena turned to Oscar and said, "Uncle, I want to go out for a while later." Time was of the essence, and she had to go find Osvaldo herself. Oscar's deep gaze fell on Selena. "At this time, it's best not to leave the Turner family." Oscar probably knew why Osvaldo was deliberately avoiding Selena.

Personally, he hoped that Selena wouldn't go find Osvaldo at this time.

Selena wanted to speak again, but Patrick spoke up, "Selena, Miss Riddle just called. She's coming to see you later." Selena looked at the father and son with rare determination and ultimately didn't refuse.

After breakfast, Hattie came to see Selena.

She had recovered well after a few days of recuperation, and her spirits had improved significantly after her long-awaited revenge.

After the Riddle family's gate was sealed, Leon and his family moved to a villa district with Hattie.

Although they were no longer one of the four big families, Leon's many years of accumulation were enough for the Riddle family to establish themselves in the capital.

Plus, with Selena's relationship, although the difference in status was huge, no one dared to offend Hattie recklessly.

Selena carefully observed Hattie's complexion and, seeing that she was doing well, rubbed her hair and asked, "How have you been lately, Hattie?" Hattie replied in a crisp voice, "Big Brother and Uncle have been busy these past few days, but Aunt has been taking care of me." Without any annoying people around, she was much more comfortable than she had been at the Riddle family's home.

Selena smiled and asked, "So, Hattie, have you decided what you want to do in the future?" Without hesitation, Hattie nodded and said, "Yes, Selena, I want to go to military school and become a strong and beautiful soldier like you!" Selena looked at she's resolute eyes.

Military school was very hard, but she had already made it through such a heart-wrenching hatred and darkness, so there was no reason why she couldn't persevere.

"Okay! I believe that you will become a very strong and beautiful soldier in the future!" Hattie was happy to hear Selena support her dream and laughed, then hid her smile and asked, "Selena, why aren't you happy?" Selena was taken aback before saying, "I can't find Osvaldo. He's been avoiding me these past few days..." Hattie frowned, "Why would Uncle Osvaldo want to avoid you, Selena?" Osvaldo's love for Selena was well-known throughout the capital.

He would never let Selena suffer even the slightest grievance.

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLiIOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Read Chapter 1515 He Can Never Be Nevaeh!

Chapter 1515 He Can Never Be Nevaeh!

Chapter 1515 He can never be Nevaeh! Now he was avoiding Selena abnormally.

Selena rubbed Hattie's hair but didn't answer the question. After a moment of thought, she turned to Leia beside her and said, "Leia, tell the young master that if I can't wait for him tonight, I'll keep waiting." Leia was numb with shock.

Osvaldo cared most about Selena's health and never allowed her to stay up late.

But Selena was stubborn, and anything she said would be carried out to the end.

Leia turned and made a call to the people around Osvaldo.

Hattie frowned but didn't say anything. She had spent the day with Selena in the Turner family and didn't return home until evening.

After dinner, Selena sat on the balcony reading a book.

In the chilly night, time turned to ten o'clock.

It was time for Selena to go to bed, but her biological clock reminded her to stay up. She looked up at the clock on the wall and then lowered her head to continue reading, showing no intention of sleeping. Search the (F)indNOVEL.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Leia approached Selena cautiously and whispered, "Madam Selena, it's late. You should go to bed now." Selena looked up at her and asked, "What did the young master say?" Leia couldn't answer.

Selena continued reading, and Leia had no choice but to stand aside silently.

The warm room was silent for a while.

Selena had no intention of putting down her book until midnight. At this rate, she would not give up until Osvaldo appeared.

Leia waited anxiously, and when the clock pointed to one o'clock in the morning, she finally heard a noise outside the door.

Leia breathed a sigh of relief and quietly withdrew.

Selena put down her book and looked up towards the door, meeting Osvaldo's tired eyes.

There was a rare hint of weariness in his eyes, and his gaze was both cold and fiery as he looked at Selena.

Selena walked up to him, and gently touched the blue in his eyes, "Where did you go? I couldn't find you, and I was worried..." Osvaldo grabbed her hand and tightened his facial expression. After a long time, he said, "Don't go!" Selena held Osvaldo's hand and led him to the bed. She sat on his lap and wrapped her arms around his neck, her voice soft, "I have a question that I've kept buried in my heart for a long time... Mr. White may be able to help me find the answer." Osvaldo's thin lips tightened into a straight line, and he held Selena's arm tightly, saying, "He will hurt you!" Selena killed that man herself! People who believed in "Divine Love" hated her.

They would seek revenge and hurt her.

For a moment, something flashed in Selena's eyes, but she said with a smile, "They might seek revenge on me, but... they won't hurt me." That person never hurt her even in his dying moments.

He was so fond of her...

People from "Divine Love" might hurt her, but they would never dare to kill her.

Osvaldo's body tensed up, and his face turned slightly pale. Unable to contain his emotions any longer, he hugged her tightly.

In a cold tone, but with a hint of pleading deep inside, he whispered in her ear, "Selena, please don't go, okay? I promise you, nothing will happen to the capital city..." As long as she obeyed him, he could massacre everyone from "Divine Love" overnight.

Selena felt his fear in his embrace.

She gently hugged him back and buried her face in his shoulder, her voice soft, "It's not just because of that." "There's something I've never told anyone before..." Selena looked at the quiet night outside the window, remembering the man who used to carry her on his shoulders and call her kid with a gentle smile many years ago. Her nose was slightly sour.

"Actually, I knew that person." "He might have done wrong to everyone in the world, but he never... wronged me." "I owe him." Even though that person was capable of committing heinous crimes, he treated her like a precious treasure.

But she killed him with her own hands...

Because of the blood debts in the underground city and the responsibility of protecting the empire, she couldn't even mourn him as a queen, let alone show any sadness or guilt towards him.

That person could only be a criminal of the empire, forever nailed to the pillar of shame.

And she could only be a proud and just queen, forever hostile and cold towards him.

She thought she might never have the chance to speak out her hidden thoughts in her lifetime.

But perhaps it was because Osvaldo's embrace was too warm, or perhaps it was because she knew that this man would never betray her, Selena confided in Osvaldo.

After Selena finished speaking, Osvaldo's already stiff body became even stiffer.

Selena rubbed his cheek and whispered, "I want to ask them in person, why..." She never had the chance to ask that person in the past.

So this incident became a thorn buried deep in Selena's heart.

She wanted to know the reason.

She wanted to know why the man who always called her "little kid" with a smile suddenly changed like this.

Selena's eyes looked through the glass of the French window towards the crescent moon hanging in the night sky in the distance.

She remembered those gentle and charming eyes and a tear fell silently from the corner of her eye.

"My uncle- to what extent did you cut yourself off from others, that you had to unleash such a grand funeral with the lives and blood of so many people, including your own life?" Selena didn't understand, but she knew she needed an answer.

Otherwise, she couldn't be at peace in this lifetime.

Oswaldo's entire body stiffened, feeling the slight wetness and warmth on his shoulder, he knew his girl was crying.

Selena never cried in front of him.

Her tears were torture for him.

Oswaldo tightened his arms, wishing he could embed her into his bones and blood, his voice becoming hoarse, "But Selena, I am... scared." He didn't want Selena to be a hero who understood the greater good and sacrificed herself for others.

He would rather Selena be a selfish and vicious person! This way, she could stay in his arms without feeling guilty towards anyone, and not worry about anyone else's safety.

"Callum became a hero to the whole world, but he left all the pain to his wife and daughter," Oswaldo's voice became more and more hoarse, "Selena, I absolutely won't allow you... to turn me into another Nevaeh!" For Oswaldo, Selena was the only thing that mattered.

Why should he use his wife, his lover, to exchange for the lives of others? He could never be like Nevaeh!

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1516 Don'T You Want To?

Chapter 1516 Don't you want to? Nevaeh is willing to endure all the grievances and pains for Callum, but he won't! He will only use blood and slaughter to make everyone who hurt Selena regret it! Selena rubbed the man's cheek and gently comforted his emotions, "I promise you, you must take care of yourself and come back safely, okay?" Oswaldo couldn't make a sound at all.

Selena kissed his forehead, her voice never so sweet and soft, "I have very few wishes, this is the only one in the past 20 years, Oswaldo, will you promise me?" Oswaldo's face turned pale.

He knew very well the decision Selena had made, which no one could change.

He could indeed forcibly lock her in the room and not let her go anywhere, but Selena might resent him for this.

She liked him, and maybe she had already fallen in love with him, but he was not more important to her than her responsibility.

This fact made Osvaldo despair, even unparalleled jealousy.

He was jealous to the point of burning his heart and corroding his bones.

For a moment, he wanted to imprison this little devil in his arms and force her to put him above everyone else.

But in fact, he could only hold her gently, with crimson eyes staring at her eyes, "Then you promise me, don't let yourself be harmed..." Selena finally coaxed the man to relax, and smiled sweetly, "Okay." Perhaps to make up for it, Selena took the initiative to hug the man's neck and kiss his cheeks and lips. SEARCH THE FindNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Her rare initiative was more terrifying than all the aphrodisiacs in the world.

The atmosphere in the room heated up.

An unprecedented restlessness gradually rose.

By the time Osvaldo regained his senses, Selena had been pressed under him, almost stripped naked.

The girl's face was rosy, her eyes were watery, and she was shy and nervous, obedient like never before.

Even the corners of Osvaldo's eyes turned crimson in an instant.

He took a deep breath with difficulty, grabbed the blanket and wrapped her tightly, then got up and strode into the bathroom.

Selena watched the man's back in confusion and listened to the sound of water coming from the bathroom, biting her delicate red lips. She looked up at the snow-white ceiling, and the blush on her face gradually faded away, returning to normal.

After about twenty minutes, Osvaldo walked out of the bathroom.

He walked to the bed and hugged she who was wrapped up like a cocoon, lowering his head to kiss her.

Selena looked at the man's charming eyes and felt a bit aggrieved as she asked, "Don't you want to?" Osvaldo paused for a moment, deepening the kiss and his voice becoming so low that it was almost dripping with water, "You little troublemaker, I'll deal with you when I get back!" He wanted Selena to be willing to give herself to him, not just to compensate for something. If Osvaldo was willing to be ruthless, there were hundreds of ways to consume she.

Without deep love, he might have indulged his own despicable thoughts, but once love had penetrated his bones, he could not tolerate any injustice to her.

He had not given her the most romantic wedding banquet and the most noble status as his wife. How could he just take her so easily? She was the beautiful and powerful queen of the League Empire, the daughter of the Turner family. Without the protection of relatives and the blessings of her people, becoming his wife was already a great sacrifice.

If he didn't take care of her and hold her, what would she do with her grievances? There was only one day left until the engagement banquet.

Although Selena had prepared herself...

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLIiOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1517 The Storm Is Coming

Chapter 1517 The Storm is Coming Although Selena was prepared, she still breathed a sigh of relief when she heard the man's words at this moment.

She relaxed and kissed the man's eyes with a sweet smile. "Husband, you're so good." Osvaldo kissed her back for a while and whispered, "Sleep, I'll be with you." Selena looked at the clock on the wall. It was already 2 o'clock in the morning. She touched Osvaldo's face, moved inside, and gave him space. She said softly, "Goodnight." Osvaldo lay down where she had been and hugged the girl, looking into her eyes. He said softly, "Goodnight." Selena felt at ease and obediently closed her eyes.

Osvaldo watched her for a while before closing his own eyes and falling asleep.

In the lobby downstairs, Oscar watched as the light in Selena's bedroom went out and lowered his eyes.

After a moment, he spoke in a cold tone, "Patrick, go to the Capital University University and invite those three doctors to the Turner family." Patrick had been staring at Selena's bedroom door with a worried expression. When he heard Oscar's words, he was suddenly startled. "Father!" At this point, inviting those three doctors to the Turner family could only be for Selena.

"If even he can't stop it," Oscar's tone was very calm, but there was a hint of complexity in his eyes, "then no one else stands a chance." If even Osvaldo couldn't stop Selena, who in the entire city could stop her? Patrick's expression was extremely stiff. "They will hurt her..." "That's why we need to minimize the damage," Oscar's expression returned to calmness.

Patrick looked at Oscar's icy eyes and suddenly asked, "Father, if Selena doesn't have the Turner family name and has nothing to do with the Turner family, can she avoid all this?" Oscar's movements paused for a moment. After a long time, he said, "She wasn't originally a Turner." Selena's surname was Riddle.

This surname doomed her to carry all of this.

If Selena really was the Turner family's daughter, they would have countless ways to stop her.

Patrick suddenly understood that there was no turning back at this point.

He rubbed his forehead and forced himself to calm down. "I understand, Father." He turned and walked towards the door.

Oscar watched his son's departing figure with a faintly resolute expression in his eyes.

Selena's decision not only means that the balance of the Capital University Laboratory is disrupted, but also means that the major aristocratic families will be in chaos.

"Divine Love" has been able to take root in the capital for so long, thanks to the support of certain families. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Taking sides is inevitable.

The leaders of those aristocratic families twenty years ago were only interested in fame and reputation, ruthless and lacking in integrity.

It is hoped that the young leaders twenty years later will not disappoint.

One order after another was passed down from the Turner family mansion.

This night, the entire capital was destined to be restless.

The storm was coming.

At the Capital University Laboratory, when Patrick brought Oscar's words, the faces of Black Crow and White Crow darkened together.

They were in the capital and naturally knew about Cassius going to the Turner family's mansion. The person in charge of "Divine Love" in the capital wants to see Selena...

Joanna smoked and her eyes looked complicated. She glanced at the ugly faces of Black Crow and White Crow and asked, "What does the Anderson family say about this?" Patrick remembered Osvaldo avoiding Selena for two days and said, "He has no way either." If Osvaldo had a way, he would never risk taking Selena.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1518 Meeting Alone

Chapter 1518 Meeting Alone Patrick looked at Black Crow and White Crow. "Do you have any way to persuade Selena to leave the capital city?" Even though he knew the chances were slim, Patrick still wanted to try.

Neither Black Crow nor White Crow said anything.

They understood Selena's temperament better than anyone else.

Once she made up her mind, no one could change it. Moreover, it concerned the safety of "Divine Love" and the entire capital city. It was impossible for her to withdraw midway.

The entire conference room fell silent for a moment.

A few minutes later, White Crow stood up first and looked at Black Crow. "Let's go." Selena was going to meet the person from "Divine Love." They had to be on high alert in case something went wrong. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Black Crow took a deep breath and walked out.

Joanna looked at the backs of the two men and smoked a cigarette. It was unclear what she was thinking, but after a while, she followed them.

At three o'clock in the morning, the three of them left the the capital University laboratory.

Despite the heightened alert in the entire capital city, Selena's reaction was surprisingly calm. She stayed up late the night before and woke up later than usual the next morning. She walked downstairs and unsurprisingly saw Black Crow and White Crow.

"Good morning." After saying that, she sat down at the dining table.

Patrick and Oscar were not there.

When Selena woke up, she didn't see Osvaldo either. She knew he was busy. Currently, only the three of them were in the mansion.

Black Crow glared at her with a dark face and saw that Selena was barefoot. Veins popped up on his forehead. "How many times have I told you not to walk barefoot?" He looked up and glared at Leia, who was carefully following Selena with her shoes in her hands. He reached out his hand and said, "Give them to me!" Leia immediately handed him the shoes.

Perhaps because she didn't get enough sleep, Selena seemed a bit sluggish and unusually childish. Black Crow squatted down and Selena lifted her foot, letting him put her shoes on. She said to White Crow, "I'm going out, don't worry." White Crow frowned. "Are you sure you can handle it?" Selena replied lazily, "It should be fine." White Crow's eyes were shrouded in a layer of frost. "Divine Love" is different from other opponents." Selena rubbed her forehead. "I know." She laughed when she saw the disapproving look in White Crow's eyes and the erect ears of Black Crow. "It's not that serious. Although 'Divine Love' is dangerous, this is the capital city. They can't do whatever they want." Black Crow helped her put on her shoes, stood up, and glared at Selena. "What time is it? How can you still talk this nonsense?!" Selena blinked and looked at White Crow. "Did your brother eat gunpowder today?!" Black Crow remained silent.

White Crow looked at Selena speechlessly, and after confirming that Selena had really made up her mind to see Divine Love's people, he sighed. "Don't forget about your enemies and your life, which includes the hopes of too many people." Selena smiled. "Don't worry, I value my life." Without full confidence, she wouldn't take risks.

White Crow asked another question. "When will you meet?" "This afternoon, at a hotel. I'm going alone," Selena narrowed her eyes slightly.

Both White Crow and Black Crow's faces darkened again.

Selena smiled. "Although the leader of Divine Love is not a good person, he won't do anything shameful. They have their own goals, and I have mine. Let's wait and see." After speaking, Selena picked up the fork on the table and started eating breakfast.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1519 She'S Getting Engaged

Chapter 1519 She's Getting Engaged Black Crow and White Crow knew that Selena had made up her mind when they saw her actions and didn't try to persuade her anymore.

While Selena was reading at the Turner family's villa, the capital city was in a state of chaos.

Cassius stood outside the laboratory, watching Mr. White, who was still doing research at this late hour, for a long time before speaking, "The person you invited has agreed to meet with you." Mr. White put down the test tube in his hand, showing no surprise on his face, and nodded to Cassius. "Then, I'll trouble you next." Cassius looked a bit grim. "The other party has also made a request." "What is it?" Mr. White took off his glasses.

"She requests to meet with you alone." Mr. White was taken aback for a moment, then looked regretful. "It was my negligence. I was so focused on guarding against 01 and the young master of the Anderson family that I forgot to tell her that this was a meeting between the two of us." "Please inform them that this will be a fair negotiation and only she and I will be present." As for what the situation will be like outside at that time, it's impossible to predict.

At least Osvaldo will have less to worry about in this situation.

Cassius smiled. "Mr. White, are you not afraid that she might kill you in a fit of anger if you're alone with her?" "As far as I know, given her current skill under the teaching of Her Majesty, killing you will not be a problem." After all, Mr. White is an aged researcher, and Selena, with Osvaldo's guidance, can easily kill someone who is helpless.

The situation was instantly turned upside down.

"While it may be a bit risky, we have no other choice," Mr. White shook his head. "If 01 shows up, everyone at the scene will die. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

You also know about the young master of the Anderson family." "If we don't get them out of the way, my plan won't be able to be carried out." Mr. White finished speaking and suddenly smiled again. "But there's no need to worry too much. Based on my understanding of Her Majesty, she is not a person who likes to resort to violence." "Besides," Mr. White turned his head and picked up the tube of silver-blue reagent on the experimental table, "the contents of my conversation with her are not suitable for a third person to know, except for her and me." Cassius lowered his eyelashes, and a layer of shadow seemed to loom over his eyes. After a long time, he said with a smile,

"Then I wish you success in fulfilling your wishes, Mr. White." Everyone deserves to get what they want.

Except for him.

Cassius turned and walked out of the laboratory.

At twelve o'clock, Osvaldo appeared again at the Turner family. Under the gaze of everyone, he picked up Selena and took her back to the villa.

Inside the villa, just like every other day, the table was filled with delicacies that Selena loved.

Osvaldo sat beside Selena, accompanying her for lunch.

The butler and servants were decorating the courtyard, preparing for tomorrow's engagement banquet.

The entire villa was filled with a warm and lively atmosphere.

Selena looked at the row of beautiful red lanterns hanging under the eaves, and finally felt the true feeling of her engagement.

A late feeling of reluctance and regret surged up in her heart.

Selena blinked and thought of her father and mother who were in the federation, as well as her best friend Stanley...

She was going to be engaged, but they didn't even know.

A feeling of inexplicable grievance and regret surged up in Selena's heart, and she bit her lip.

Suddenly, a hand reached out beside her...

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLIiOOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1520 Meeting

Chapter 1520 Meeting A hand suddenly reached out beside her and lifted Selena's face.

Selena looked up and met Osvaldo's gentle gaze.

His long fingers gently stroked Selena's eyes, "When I marry Selena in the future, they will all be there." He wouldn't let her marry him alone.

Selena's eyelashes trembled, and the ripples in her heart were instantly smoothed out. She smiled happily. This man really understood her well.

After lunch, Selena returned to her room. She stood in front of the dressing mirror, which was as wide as a whole wall, and looked at the familiar face that had gradually become more familiar over the past year.

Selena stared at the familiar but somewhat unfamiliar face in the mirror for a long time, then reached out and picked up a dress that had been carefully placed on a tray on the table beside her.

Half an hour later, slow and elegant footsteps could be heard coming up the stairs.

In the hall, Leia was squatting in a corner, waiting anxiously. She turned her head immediately when she heard the sound, and then froze in place.

A slender figure was walking down the wide and luxurious spiral staircase.

She was very tall and wore a slim and gorgeous black long dress.

The hem of the dress was embroidered with exquisite and complicated patterns, which appeared and disappeared with her movements, displaying various ancient and beautiful designs.

It was mysterious and exquisite.

Her jet-black hair was simply scattered behind her, and her skin was flawless and fair. Her features were delicate, and every movement seemed to be measured with a ruler, showing a perfect beauty. There seemed to be a natural elegance and haughtiness in her eyes, as well as a deep and cool expression.

Noble, elegant, and proud.

As she walked down the staircase, she looked like a queen leaving her throne and walking in the wilderness.

Leia was stunned, with a blank moment in her mind.

Who is this? She looked at the familiar face with a strange expression, and a never-before-felt tremor suddenly rose in her heart. She instinctively looked towards the direction of the door.

There, Osvaldo stood at the end of the carpet, his gaze fixed on the girl's face, with a peculiar brilliance shimmering faintly in the depths of his pitch-black eyes.

With an elegant stride, Selena approached Osvaldo and held out her hand to him with a slight smile. Osvaldo grasped her delicate hand, tightened his grip, and finally led her towards the door, amidst the stunned gazes of the onlookers.

As they arrived at the sports car, Osvaldo opened the passenger door and Selena got in.

The black car then sped off from the villa, leaving behind a trail of shock and amazement from the spectators.

At the very moment Selena left the villa, the entire hotel gathering in the capital city's Atlantis Hotel seemed to stir with excitement. At two o'clock, the black sports car stopped outside the hotel.

Osvaldo stepped out of the car, opened the passenger door, and led Selena out of the hotel. Meanwhile, three cars parked on the opposite side of the hotel, and seven people stepped out in total.

The two people from the back two cars were dressed in identical white uniforms, with a straight and solemn posture. In the front car, there was a gentleman wearing a suit and a tie, with a refined temperament and a cane in his hand. By his side was Cassius, with an equally stern look in his eyes.

The gentleman smiled politely at Selena, like a gracious and hospitable host, saying, "Welcome, Miss." Selena smiled elegantly, with a deep and serene gaze, "I have been looking forward to meeting you, Mr. White." The gentleman's gaze shifted from Selena to Osvaldo, who was standing beside her. He paused for a moment before extending his hand and inviting Selena into the hotel.

As Selena was about to step forward, Osvaldo suddenly held her waist and pulled her into his embrace. He looked at her for a moment and then rubbed her hair with his hand, "Don't forget what you promised me." She had promised him that she wouldn't get hurt.

Selena's eyes flickered with a hint of something as she replied sweetly, "I know." After a moment of intense eye contact, Osvaldo finally let go of her.

During the lull in their conversation, Mr. White stood quietly on the side, never saying a word until now, "Please, Miss." Selena walked gracefully and calmly towards the hotel, with Mr. White following behind, courteous and gentlemanly. The whole scene was devoid of any hint of hostility.

Oswaldo's gaze fell on Selena's figure until she entered the elevator, then he looked away and turned back to the car.

This was the closest point to the hotel.

In front of Oswaldo was a view that filled the entire field of vision.

Selena's figure appeared clearly on the screen, but there was no sound. The monitor showed clearly that Selena and Mr. White entered the elevator and went all the way up to the reception room on the top floor.

In the building opposite, Oscar looked coldly at the screen in the control room.

His eyes first swept over Selena's face and then landed on Mr. White's face. His eyes were extremely cold. Behind him, there was a row of workers in green uniforms, who were currently motionless and staring at the computer that occupied the entire wall.

They were analyzing the video content while enforcing discipline.

Farther away, countless weapons were aimed at the entire hotel, ready to go.

A worker asked, "Commander Turner, although the audio system inside the hotel has been shut down, we have many lip-reading experts. Should we..." Oscar interrupted the proposal, "No need! Spread the word that no one is allowed to eavesdrop on their conversation." The monitoring system only existed with the consent of Selena and "Divine Love." Once they detected any violation of the rules, the results would only backfire.

"Okay, Commander Turner," the other person readily reported other issues, "The latest intelligence we received is that within a five-kilometer radius of the Atlantis Hotel, besides the workers we arranged, the other party brought only about 20% of the estimated number of people." This data made Oscar's eyes darken.

"Divine Love" has more influence within the capital than this number.

However, the other party only brought so few people.

Where did the rest go? Oscar fell silent for a moment and suddenly asked, "At what stage is the other party's "Sky Eye" plan?" The worker shook his head, "I'm sorry, Commander Turner. Since you and the old marshal left, 'Sky Eye' has also disappeared from the capital." "We've tried many methods over the years, but we haven't received any relevant information." "But based on the inference from twenty years ago when "Divine Love" controlled the technology of Sky Eye," the worker paused before saying in a deep voice, "Twenty years later, there may be no secrets within the capital that can escape Sky Eye's surveillance!" mmMwWLIIfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIfiflO&1 mmMwWLLiI0fiflO&1 Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1521 Will It Hurt Anyone?

Chapter 1521 Will it Hurt Anyone? "Sky Eye" is one of the world's most mysterious and massive intelligence organizations.

Apart from the rumored "Gaia," which is privately controlled by Union Riddle Group, originating from Lab 717, no one can match them in the high-end intelligence system.

Since it is destined that they cannot be prevented, they can only fight hard.

Oscar's deep and cold gaze fell on Mr. White's face, while Selena was responsible for entertaining the other party with a wine glass.

He would be responsible for being ready to fire at any time! "Miss Riddle, please come in." Mr. White stood in front of the conference room door and gentlemanly opened the door for Selena.

Atlantis Hotel is located in the south of the city with very few people and buildings around, surrounded by a large square. The building where Oscar was located was at least one kilometer away.

In order to prevent their conversation from being spied on, the glass in the conference room has been replaced with high-end materials that have explosion-proof and signal-blocking functions. This also means that no one except them will know what will happen inside. SEAR*ch the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

They were really well prepared.

Selena sat down on the chair and smiled slightly, "Mr. White, why did you invite me to meet?" Mr. White smiled and sat opposite her, "Your Majesty, let's not beat around the bush. I want you to pay for my god. Are you willing to agree?" There was no change in Selena's expression, and she smiled and asked, "Is this your idea, or... his idea?" Mr. White shook his head, and with a hint of condemnation in his eyes, he said, "Your Majesty, in front of someone who will keep your secrets, I hope you can honestly call him Uncle. I think he will be happy." Selena shook her head lightly, "As a traitor who was expelled from the Riddle family, he has long lost this qualification." The smile on Mr. White's face suddenly disappeared, "Isn't it enough for you to kill him yourself? Don't you even want to leave the last bit of honor and dignity to him?" Selena's eyes flashed with something, and she smiled. "Mr. White, have you ever seen the scene of a wall where thousands of people kneel and cry? Have you witnessed the pain of seeing a beautiful home destroyed and collapsed in an instant? Have you experienced the torment of a soldier who is supposed to defend the country and has to aim his gun at innocent children? Have you endured the despair of being in darkness forever even though the light is right above your head? Thanks to him, I have seen all of these." Mr. White's voice was cold. "Even if he has wronged those people, he has never hurt you." "You were his most beloved person, yet you killed him with your own hands!" "If it wasn't you who came that day, my 'god' would never have died!" In this world, the only person who can kill him is her! A strong feeling of hatred appeared in Mr. White's eyes. "Your Majesty, you may have done right by everyone else, but you have wronged him!" Selena's eyelashes trembled, and she smiled. "Give me a reason." She wore an elegant smile on her face, and her eyes were covered with a layer of mist. "Give me a reason why he did what he did." Why did such a good person commit such sins? Mr. White looked at her, and a trace of pity suddenly appeared on his face. "You are ignorant, and you are so lucky..." Selena met his gaze without flinching. "Oh?" Mr. White chuckled. "Your Majesty, in the past twenty years of your life, you have been noble, proud, loved by so many people, and respected by so many people... Have you ever thought that the reason why you can live such a bright and clean life is that all the darkest and saddest things have been borne by another person?" Selena's calm eyes were finally shattered, and her dark eyes stared at Mr. White. "Who is he?!" This was the second reason Selena agreed to see Mr. White.

The person who gave her a second life was closely related to "Divine Love." Even though she may have already seen him, he did not allow her to approach him.

He even refused to see her for the second time.

She had to know who that person was! Mr. White smiled and pushed a tube of pale blue reagent in front of Selena. "This is an undiluted underground virus. If it enters the human body, the person will not die immediately." "But if you don't get the antidote within three days, it will be difficult to ensure your safety." "You know what I want, and I know what you want." "Your Majesty, if you drink it, even if it's just for my god's revenge, I will provide you with the information you want about that person unconditionally." "Of course, you have the right to refuse." "After you refuse, the ownership of this virus will eventually belong to the entire capital city." Selena's gaze fell on the light blue reagent, and her pupils contracted slightly.

Outside the hotel, due to the signal in the conference room being blocked, Osvaldo could not see Selena's current situation.

The man sat in the car, his eyes on the blacked-out surveillance, with a dark surge in his eyes.

He glanced at the watch on his wrist.

Selena had been inside for ten minutes.

Currently, there were only Selena and the Mr. White in the hotel.

Not only Cassius' people were guarding against him from breaking in.

Oswaldo was also guarding against the people from "Divine Love" breaking in.

In this situation, Selena, who had been specially trained by him and had many life-saving mechanisms on her, clearly had the advantage.

But in the absence of seeing Selena with his own eyes, he still couldn't control his anxiety.

According to Selena's mentality and temperament, and her hatred of "Divine Love", she would never let herself be at a disadvantage...

That little rascal promised him not to let himself get hurt.

Despite all these reasons, Oswaldo still couldn't relax.

Especially when a sudden palpitation surged to the tip of his heart, Oswaldo's anxiety reached its peak in an instant.

His face turned pale in an instant.

Aterrifying breath leaked out when the man pushed open the car door.

The people from "Divine Love" guarding outside the hotel heard the commotion and instinctively aimed their guns at Oswaldo.

Facing the man's bloodthirsty and cold eyes, everyone was horrified.

Cassius looked at the bloody aura that Oswaldo was losing control of and said coldly, "Let him in!" These people couldn't stop the crazed Oswaldo.

If Mr. White succeeded, Oswaldo would make the capital city chaotic.

If Mr. White failed, "Divine Love" would make the capital city chaotic.

There was no difference in the result.

At this time, it might still be possible to break in.

Because of Cassius' momentary stop, the people from "Divine Love" had not had a chance to act on Osvaldo. The next second, the man had already rushed straight into the hotel.

In the conference room, Selena picked up the reagent and asked softly, "Will this hurt people?"

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1522 Making Him Angry

Chapter 1522 Making Him Angry Mr. White laughed, "This is just a virus, as long as it is cured in time, it will not leave any scars on the human body." "My god would not want to hurt you, so I naturally wouldn't do anything to make him angry." Selena played with the test tube in her slender fingers, her gaze falling on Mr. White's face.

"I have one last question," Selena sighed softly.

Mr. White's face became very serious.

"Is he really still alive?" Selena asked.

With a bang, the black-haired man suddenly burst open the door of the conference room.

The large conference room was particularly quiet.

Selena's hands were elegantly placed on the table, with Mr. White sitting across from her, the whole scene exuding a strange harmony.

Hearing the sound, Selena turned around and saw Osvaldo standing at the door, his face showing surprise. "Why are you here?" Osvaldo's gaze was locked tightly on her face, as if he was observing something.

The man was about to step forward, but Selena spoke first. "Osvaldo, there is no signal in the conference room and the news cannot be transmitted. I have something to talk to Black Crow and White Crow about. Please help me call them from outside." Osvaldo's footsteps did not stop, and his dark gaze was fixed on her face.

Mr. White stood up, took off his hat, and bowed to Selena with a smile. "It was a pleasure talking to you, Miss. I'll take my leave now." After speaking, Mr. White chuckled and looked at Osvaldo, leaning on his cane as he walked out of the room.

Oswaldo walked towards Selena without looking away, his pace getting faster and faster.

Selena had an impeccable smile on her face. "I really have something very important to tell them, Oswaldo. Can you help me make the call, please?" Oswaldo remained silent, his eyes getting darker and darker.

As he was about to reach Selena, her smile finally disappeared. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

She got up from her seat and took several steps back, creating some distance between them.

Oswaldo's footsteps suddenly stopped in their tracks, his gaze fixed on her face. "Selena, what have you done?!" Selena trembled uncontrollably at his unprecedentedly stern tone. "Nothing," she replied calmly. "Can't you see I'm fine? I really need to talk to Black Crow and White Crow about something important, but I can't leave here right away, so..." Oswaldo's gaze was icy as he stepped closer and closer to her.

In the quiet meeting room, the man's forceful and slow footsteps sounded particularly clear.

As the distance between the two of them grew closer, cracks in Selena's composure gradually appeared. "Don't do this..." Oswaldo's slender figure suddenly lunged forward.

Selena hastily retreated, letting out a panicked cry, "Don't come near me!" In her panic, something fell from her hand and landed on the ground, making a clear shattering sound.

Oswaldo stood three steps away from her and looked over to where the sound came from.

On the beautiful marble tile, an empty test tube fell to the ground and shattered. In an instant, Oswaldo seemed to realize something terrible, and his handsome face twisted for a moment.

His cold gaze returned to Selena's face, and for the first time, he became angry with her, "Selena!" Selena looked at the man's cold eyes, explaining with a trembling voice, "That's... the underground virus. We already have a vaccine, and as long as we find the original carrier, we can get the antidote. There won't be any problem..." Under Oswaldo's suddenly pale face, Selena's breath was stuck.

She stood there with cold hands and feet, looking at the man's grim face. Her heart tightened, "I..." Although she was prepared before coming, watching Oswaldo's slightly trembling appearance now, her thoughts were still blown into a tangled mess.

She took a deep breath, gritted her teeth, and explained forcefully, "I don't have time. If we don't find that person, the underground virus vaccine will be delayed indefinitely." "After all, I owe that person my life, and if I don't repay him, I will never be at peace." "There's also... there's also..." No matter how many reasons there were, facing the man's expression at this moment, Selena couldn't bear to continue speaking.

Oswaldo's cold gaze locked onto her, and his ghostly-colored pupils seemed to be burning with raging flames, staring straight at her face, as if he wanted to tear her apart.

Dragging his heavy footsteps, like walking through thorns, he approached her.

Selena lost control and retreated backward, "Don't come near me! Don't come near me!" She is now a living, walking source of infection, like a virus.

Oswaldo burst in unexpectedly, catching her off guard, and she didn't have time to take any defensive measures.

Oswaldo seemed oblivious to her fear, only stopping his advance when Selena had nowhere else to go.

He stood before her, towering over the trembling figure huddled in the corner.

Selena covered her face with her hands and tried not to breathe, hoping to avoid his touch.

She couldn't see Oswaldo's face, but his presence felt strange and frightening.

Suddenly, a cold hand gripped her shoulder.

Selena screamed, but before she could make a sound, Oswaldo lifted her up without mercy.

His strength was overpowering, and Selena's face turned white from the pressure.

He held her tightly against his chest, and in that moment, she felt as if he could merge her into his very being.

The embrace was suffocating, and Selena struggled to get away. "Don't come near me!" she cried.

Oswaldo pinched her chin, forcing her to look into his eyes. His voice was cold, like snow on a winter night. "Why are you always so disobedient?" Selena's breathing became rapid, and her face turned even paler. She realized that she had angered him.

Oswaldo's expression remained emotionless, and his voice was icy as he continued, "Since you don't understand, I have no choice." In the next moment, his cold lips pressed against hers, and he began to devour her breath.

Selena whimpered and struggled to turn her head, but her strength was insignificant against his iron-like grip.

She felt like a lamb waiting to be slaughtered, helpless in his arms.

Their breaths were mixed together, and Oswaldo held her tightly, as if he wanted to consume her completely.

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLiIOfiflO&1

Search the (F)indNOvel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1523 Do You Really Like Me?

Chapter 1523 Do you really like me? In fact, he did exactly that.

Selena's lips were completely dominated by the man, and his strong and cold breath poured over mercilessly. The two lips were entangled in close proximity, and all boundaries and concerns were completely broken.

Selena's mind was blanked by this sudden stimulation, and she grabbed Oswaldo's sleeves, even her protests became soft and weak.

When Oswaldo pulled away, Selena had already completely softened in his arms, her nose and eyes were both rosy.

Before she could react, Oswaldo suddenly pressed her shoulders and flipped her over.

Selena's slender back was tightly attached to Oswaldo's chest, and she was imprisoned in his embrace from behind.

Selena couldn't see his expression, but a sudden sense of crisis swept over her.

She couldn't control her trembling, and her voice was interrupted, "Let me go..." Oswaldo stared at her neck with dark eyes, lowered his head slowly, and his thin lips touched the her tender skin before biting down hard.

Sudden pain, accompanied by an indescribable shiver, spread throughout Selena's body. She cried out in pain.

Her sobbing seemed to have calmed Osvaldo's anger. Osvaldo licked the blood on his lips and stood up slowly.

The sound of rushing footsteps came from outside the door. Osvaldo took off his coat and wrapped Selena's body in it, hiding her voice and body in his arms.

When Black Crow and White Crow led people in, this was the scene they saw.

The two brothers looked at Osvaldo's hidden gloom and darkness in his eyes, and the same thought emerged in their minds.

Did Selena finally anger him?! Black Crow frowned and glanced at Selena, and was about to step forward with people, but Osvaldo suddenly turned around and coldly exclaimed, "Get out!" Black Crow sneered, about to take action, but White Crow suddenly reached out and stopped him.

White Crow's gaze fell on the broken test tube on the ground, his expression solemn, "Is that... the underground virus?!" Patrick, who was pushing Oscar in, paused and his face instantly changed.

Oscar's eyes flashed.

Even though they had guessed the outcome when they saw Mr. White leave safely, their hearts still sank when they heard it with their own ears.

After White Crow confirmed the news, his face instantly became stiff.

He stopped Black Crow, who was about to lose control, and said in a deep voice, "Everyone, step back!" The spread rate and distance of the underground virus is five times that of ordinary viruses. Fortunately, they were stopped by the man inside when they had just reached the door. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Otherwise, everyone here would become a second-generation source of infection, and the whole city would be in trouble.

As for the two inside, they were obviously beyond help.

When the group pushed the door open, Selena's calm voice came from inside, "Divine Love has the Sky Eye. They can't escape their detection in the capital city. Once that person appears, they will get the news immediately... Uncle, the rest is up to you." "Black Crow, White Crow, you stay here for the next three days and don't go anywhere." Selena bore the brunt of the worst consequences.

Next came the moment of mutual game and hunting.

Black Crow glared at her angrily and said, "Have you thought about the consequences if we can't find that person or if he is not in the capital city?!" Selena was silent for a moment before saying, "I have a feeling that person must be in the capital city." Even if he's not, he will be sent to the capital city within three days. After all, whether it's her uncle or the man she has only met once, they won't let her die.

When it comes to her life, as long as the news reaches inside Divine Love, if that man really cares about her, won't he come out from behind the scenes and come to see her? There is certainly an element of gambling in this, but the alliance's situation is getting more and more urgent every day, and Selena doesn't have time to wait.

She must end the situation in the capital city as as possible! Selena's voice was so calm that it was somewhat ruthless, making everyone at the door look more and more unpleasant.

In the end, Oscar broke the silence and said, "Let's go." The matter had been settled, and they couldn't change anything by staying here.

Oscar led the majority of the troops and left.

Black Crow and White Crow went next door to prepare.

In the meeting room, only Selena and Osvaldo remained again.

Selena lifted her head from Osvaldo's embrace and looked at his cold and handsome face, her heart aching in spasms.

She had calculated everything except for Osvaldo's reaction.

In her plan, as long as she didn't leave, she wouldn't endanger anyone else.

But now, Osvaldo had been infected by her... what should she do? At this moment, everyone should be avoiding her, so why did Osvaldo rush over even though he knew it was dangerous? Selena's expression was momentarily blank, and her heart was wrapped in a feeling of panic.

What made her even more uncomfortable was Osvaldo's sudden voice.

He looked at her face, his gloomy gaze staring at her motionlessly, and his voice was uncertain whether it was sad or repressed.

"You calculated all the consequences, considered everyone's feelings, but you just don't care about how I feel..." "Selena, have you ever... truly liked me?" In a beautiful villa, a young man sat on the terrace and maintained this posture for a long time without any movement after receiving a message.

The person beside him looked at his face with concern, "Young master..." The man remained motionless for a long time before finally speaking.

He lowered his black eyelashes and said, "She's testing me with her safety..." Once he revealed that person's identity, Selena would be able to confirm that he was the person she had been looking for all this time.

Then, she would inevitably come to find him, but... he was destined to make her sad.

He stood up from his seat, walked to the railing, and looked towards the direction of Atlantis Hotel.

His sister was there at the moment, carrying the virus, apparently too fragile to leave, but somehow, she was controlling every move of everyone in the capital.

"So, are we going to ignore the young lady?" Except for Callum and that person, only they knew who that person was.

Callum had been missing for twenty years, and that person now...

If Aarav didn't take care of Selena, she would undoubtedly die.

But if she intervened in this matter... it would inevitably break the balance between the two factions of "Divine Love" internally.

Selena was being willful, forcing her brother to come to her side.

mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLIiOOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1524 I Like You

Chapter 1524 I Like You The man stared in the direction of Atlantis Hotel for a long time before finally breaking the silence. "Send a message back.

Tomorrow night, I will leave the capital." The others were shocked.

Tomorrow night was Selena's engagement banquet. Search The website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

The master had been persisting in staying in the capital with his severe illness just to witness Selena's engagement scene with his own eyes.

They wanted to persuade him, but nothing came out of their mouths in the end.

They could only watch as the man in white returned to the table, lowered his head, and wrote a note on the snow-white paper.

He stared at the note for a moment and said, "Send it to the Tribunal." Whether it was Selena or the Turner family, they were definitely under the strict surveillance of "Sky Eye" at the moment.

The Tribunal had O1, who could most likely save that person's life from "Divine Love." "Have you ever... truly liked me?" Selena felt like she had been shocked when she heard this question.

Her rationality, which had been immersed in worry, struggled to resurface. She looked at Osvaldo's face, which was now pale, and her heart felt like it was being squeezed by a giant hand, making it difficult for her to breathe.

"No..." Selena grabbed his sleeve and explained in a panic, "I like you..." If she didn't like him, she wouldn't have allowed him to hold and kiss her. If she didn't like him, she wouldn't be unable to let him go. And she definitely wouldn't have agreed to engage with him.

She was just used to sacrificing the least to gain the most, used to resisting everything.

She just... wanted to make sure that he was the person she had been looking for all this time.

But Selena forgot that, for Osvaldo, she was the most important person.

She had achieved her goal, but she had also destroyed Osvaldo's precious possession with her own hands...

Osvaldo silently stared at her, his dark face showing no signs of softening.

His cold fingers caressed her pale cheeks. "I told you, if you don't listen to again, I will lock you up..." Selena met his eyes, which had never shown such loss of control and darkness before. Her heart skipped a beat, but more than anything, she felt uneasy.

The ups and downs of emotions triggered the virus in her body. Selena felt a sharp pain in her chest and wanted to talk to Osvaldo, but when she opened her mouth, it was like a mouthful of bright red blood overflowing.

The crimson blood stained her skin and Osvaldo's eyes.

He held her delicate body and trembled all over.

Why did he agree to let her come?! He would never trust this liar again...

Selena grabbed his sleeve and looked at his pale face, struggling to say, "Osvaldo, don't be angry with me, I'm scared..." "I like you..." She wasn't afraid of Mr. White's threat, nor of the virus in her body, but she was afraid of him being angry with her and seeing his sad and painful expression.

More and more blood overflowed from her lips, making her already bright red lips even more vividly colored.

The bright red color once again pierced Osvaldo's eyes.

This was the third time she vomited blood in his arms...

Fear filled the man's eyes, and his whole body was covered in the pain and corrosion of the bloody scene, as if his soul had been torn apart in an instant.

He trembled as he picked up Selena and was about to go outside to find a doctor, but Black Crow and White Crow happened to push open the door and walk in.

The two were dressed in thick protective suits, and when they saw Selena's virus attack, their faces changed.

"Don't touch her!" White Crow walked over with a box.

Osvaldo looked at the blood constantly flowing out of Selena's mouth, his mind blank.

He stood there like a statue, watching as Black Crow and White Crow inserted several tubes into Selena's body and pushed one injection after another into her body.

When the sharp needle pierced Selena's arm, Osvaldo almost lost control and kicked these two people out.

This person was so beautiful and delicate that she would fall into his arms crying and saying it hurts if she just broke her skin bit, but now she was getting shots...

Osvaldo stared at the cold needle tip, his eyes full of a terrible bloody smell.

Black Crow and White Crow moved extremely quickly. They had to.

Osvaldo refused to let go of Selena, holding her in his arms and staring at them with an intense gaze that was too frightening.

Even Black Crow and White Crow could feel his nerves stretched to the limit through Selena in between them.

At this moment, if they were to give him more stimulus, the brothers had no doubt that this man would immediately go on a killing spree and make those who had harmed Selena, the people whom Selena protected, pay the price together! Fortunately, Black Crow and White Crow had studied the underground virus for several months and had enough understanding of the virus to stop Selena's symptoms.

She no longer vomited blood, but the pain did not immediately subside.

In Osvaldo's arms, Selena's body could not stop convulsing, her face turning blue from the pain.

She clenched Osvaldo's sleeve with her fingers, twitching slightly, her fingertips bursting with tiny blue veins as she struggled to speak, "Show him... the virus..." Black Crow and White Crow hesitated for a moment before realizing that Selena was referring to Osvaldo.

Selena was infected with the virus, and Osvaldo had kissed her and also got her blood on him, making it almost 100% certain that he was infected too. But perhaps it was not his tye, and his physical condition was better than Selena's, so he still had no symptoms at this time.

Looking at the worry in Selena's eyes, White Crow lowered his voice and said to Osvaldo, "She's in pain. Save your anger for another time." Although they also felt that Selena needed to be taught a lesson, now was not the tto hold a grudge.

Perhaps because of these words, Osvaldo did not refuse White Crow's examination and sat quietly holding Selena in place.

Other than his gaze not leaving Selena's face, there was no sign of any abnormality from him.

After examining Osvaldo's blood, White Crow's eyes showed a hint of surprise. He looked at the expression on Selena's face and said softly, "Don't worry, the virus may not affect him." White Crow had previously studied Osvaldo's blood. This man had tasted many extremely powerful poisons before, and his body had already developed antibodies. Most toxins were useless against him.

Last twith the Soo family's medicine, he only passed out for a few minutes, causing Selena to be injured. But within this short month, the antibodies in his blood had becco powerful that he was completely immune to the virus of this level in the underground city.

Under normal circumstances, even laboratories dedicated to human research would find it difficult to achieve such results.

The pain that he had to endure during this period was unimaginable.

White Crow took a deep look at Osvaldo and comforted Selena softly, "Have you forgotten? He is immune to all poisons..." MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLiIOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1525 Loving The Wrong Person

Chapter 1525 Loving the Wrong Person Upon hearing those words, Selena's nerves suddenly relaxed.

She breathed a sigh of relief and regained her composure. She turned to Black Crow and White Crow and said, "Have A keep an eye on him. Letknow if there's any news." Black Crow and White Crow immediately guessed that Selena's plan was to use herself as bait for that person. It seemed that it was all because of that person...

They couldn't disobey her orders. After confirming that Selena was temporarily stable, they immediately turned and left.

With no one else around, Selena looked at Osvaldo's pale face and couldn't hold back her emotions any longer. She cried and shouted in his arms, "Osvaldo, it hurts, it hurts so much..." As he listened to her delicate sobs, Osvaldo felt as if his heart was being stabbed with a knife.

He would rather endure ten or a hundred times more pain if it meant that Selena wouldn't suffer even a bit.

He hugged her tightly, both forcefully and hesitantly, and all his anger and loss of control dissipated in her cries of pain.

Selena looked at the man's pallid face, as if he was the one being tortured. She buried her face in his embrace and cried out in a delicate voice, "Osvaldo... can you kiss me?" Previously, when she was in pain, this man would always kiss her, comfort her, and tell her that he was there and she didn't need to be afraid.

But now, he was angry and refused to speak to her.

Osvaldo held her by the back of her head and leaned down, biting her blood-red lips fiercely.

The wide courtyard was filled with various European-style buildings that seemed to stretch endlessly. The tall plane trees and various flowers added to the beauty of the surroundings.

This was the safest place in the entire capital city, even the air seemed to carry a sense of cold seriousness. Search the FindNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

A noble young man with ink-blue hair stood in front of the French windows, watching a young girl playing with a black tiger in the garden. A faint smile gradually appeared on his fair face.

The door behind him was pushed open, making a slight noise.

Matilda walked up to him and followed Spencer's gaze, seeing the figure of the girl.

Spencer never took his eyes off Margot, sounding somewhat indifferent, "Is there any news?" Matilda didn't answer the question, but instead brought up something else. "Miss Turner volunteered to take the underground virus. She's not doing well at the moment..." Spencer showed no surprise on his face. "What happened?" "I just don't understand," Matilda's voice remained gentle, "why did it have to be her? She could have refused..." Spencer turned around, his dark blue eyes meeting Matilda's cold gaze. "Matilda, do you remember what you said on the first day of the Tribunal?" Matilda was stunned.

The scene from the past suddenly appeared before her eyes. The sixteen-year-old girl stood under the bright red flag and solemnly raised her right hand.

"I stand here, as a judge, and swear to the national flag.

Starting today, I promise to the future of my life.

I will be loyal to the country and the people, safeguard the safety of the people, and uphold fairness and justice.

I will do everything in my power to uphold justice, judge evil, and bring light to all darkness in the world.

The process ahead will be extremely painful, but I will not regret it.

Never!" Spencer's eyes were filled with a gentle understanding of everything. "Everything that she or the Turner family has done is for their beliefs." And faith is the strongest and most indestructible thing in the world.

Selena's faith was ingrained in her bones, something even Osvaldo couldn't change.

Matilda lowered her eyelashes softly. "I'm sorry, I lost my composure." Spencer looked at her, his eyes suddenly sharp. "You and Miss Turner are just acquaintances. She's not enough to shake your determination, Matilda... Who are you losing your composure for?!" Matilda lifted her gaze and met his eyes. "I just had doubts, but it doesn't shake anything." Spencer stared at her for a moment before turning around. "Matilda, remember, don't fall in love with someone you shouldn't.

You'll be the only one in pain." Matilda was stunned for a moment. "No, I just feel a bit regretful..." She had only vaguely felt that Selena and that young man had strange similarities, but she hadn't really connected them.

But the news she had just received had completely confused her heart, leading to the current scene.

Spencer smiled and looked at Margot, who was with great arrogance, "Now you can say what you've discovered." Matilda's cold gaze looked at Margot, "It wasn't who discovered it, it was someone who voluntarily handed it to me." "As soon as we step out of this door, the whole capital will be in chaos." "Sky Eye" is everywhere.

At the moment when the other party delivered the letter to Matilda, she realized that she had been targeted.

From that moment on, any movement of the Tribunal would be thoroughly investigated by "Divine Love".

"In addition to a letter, the other party also brought a sentence," Matilda looked at Margot, "I may need Miss Margot's help." Spencer's smile suddenly disappeared from his face.

Matilda turned her head to look at him, "Miss Turner is not doing well. She's getting engaged tomorrow, and we don't have to waste." If Selena had received that person's blood one minute later, she would have suffered one minute more.

After Matilda finished speaking, she gave Spencer a final glance and walked forward to open the window, "Miss Margot." Margot, who was playing with a cat and was very happy, disappeared from her original spot at the sound of Matilda's voice.

Matilda was stunned.

The next second, a head suddenly appeared in front of her, and Margot was hanging upside down on the windowsill, looking at her with a charming smile, "Miss, are you calling me?" Matilda handed her a piece of paper, "Your best friend is injured and needs this person to save her life." She lowered her voice and leaned in to Margot's ear, whispering in a voice that only the two of them could hear, "He is at..., please make sure to bring him safely to Miss Turner." Margot's smile disappeared from her face as soon as Matilda spoke the first sentence.

Her clear eyes became empty and cold, and a faint hint of crimson could be seen in her black pupils.

A cold and terrifying breath emanated from the air.

The guards around seemed to have sensed something in an instant, and they raised their guns vigilantly and looked over.

The next second, Margot climbed up to the rooftop with a speed and degree of distortion that no normal person could achieve, and disappeared from everyone's sight in a flash.

Everyone who saw this scene was frightened.

What kind of monster was that just now?! Margot had left.

Spencer never looked at Margot, who was standing in front of the window, from beginning to end.

Spencer looked in the direction where she disappeared...

MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1526 Emergence

Chapter 1526 Emergence Spencer watched the direction where she disappeared, his eyes extremely dark. After a moment, he turned around and walked out.

At the moment, the quiet court suddenly came to life.

A series of messages were passed on, and countless vehicles raced after Margot in the direction she had left.

Matilda looked at Spencer's departing figure, a layer of compassion shrouded in her gentle eyes. ... The person who should not be loved, is it Miss Margot? Falling in love with someone, even if the other person does not like him, there is always a way to warm it up.

But if one falls in love with a... monster who doesn't understand emotions and desires, what should they do? After Black Crow and White Crow left the Capital University laboratory, the laboratory, which was already quiet, became even more silent.

For safety reasons, the principal gave all Capital University students a holiday, and in the vast campus, apart from the people previously sent by the Turner family to protect the laboratory, no other shadows could be seen.

Inside the laboratory, Leia anxiously played with the lucky cat doll in her hand, anxiously looking at Joanna's busy figure.

Joanna, upon hearing that Selena had chosen to inject the underground virus, for sunknown reason, chose to turn around and leave. Selena had Black Crow and White Crow with her, and Osvaldo was personally watching over her. Leia couldn't help, so she simply followed her master here.

Leia was worried about Selena and her master at the stime. She had previously felt that her master didn't seem to like Selena very much, and that feeling was even stronger now.

Why doesn't her master like Madam Selena, who is such a good person? The young girl wanted to ask aloud, but when she looked at Joanna's expression, she didn't ask.

Just as Leia was anxiously waiting, Joanna received a phone call while doing an experiment. After hearing what the person on the other end said, Joanna's face changed, and she cursed, "Damn it!" She immediately hung up the phone, threw off her lab coat, and walked out.

Leia hurriedly caught up, "Master, what happened?" Joanna glanced at Leia, took out a cigarette from her pocket, lit it, and took a puff. Then she raised her hand and threw her lab coat on the ground, and her dress fluttered in the wind as she walked in a certain direction. "Cwith me!" Leia immediately followed.

Joanna brought Leia to another laboratory and pushed open the door. Inside, Hamish was discussing something seriously with Eden. When they heard the noise, the two young men looked up.

One looked puzzled, the other bewildered.

Joanna stared at Eden's face with a firm gaze, as if trying to read something from his innocent and perplexed expression. SEAR\*ch the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Leia and Hamish's eyes followed suit and unconsciously landed on Eden's face.

At the stime, the sound of a fierce battle suddenly cfrom outside the door.

Even from this distance, they could sense a terrifying murderous intent.

Everyone's face changed in an instant, except for Eden.

He sat there shyly, not understanding why everyone was looking at him, let alone what the commotion outside meant.

Joanna snapped out of her daze and cursed, "Damn Callum!" They should have thought of it earlier! No-- it wasn't that they didn't think of it.

Ever since they noticed that Eden's medical style was somewhat similar to Callum's, they made an exception and kept him in the lab, even giving him various physical examinations.

But the results showed that everything was normal.

There was no trace of the virus in the child's body, so they did not delve any deeper into the matter.

Now it seemed that this guy had already been completely cured! The vaccine for the underground virus was in his blood! Eden was a living, walking antidote to the virus! Joanna walked forward and lifted Eden up, coldly saying, "Listen, no matter what happens next, protect yourself!" Eden looked at Joanna blankly.

Leia and Hamish had already realized what was going on and followed closely behind.

Joanna led Eden towards the laboratory door.

After Eden's identity was revealed, the Divine Love faction would undoubtedly spare no effort to kill him.

This place had already been targeted. The people outside the door would not last long. There were only a few of them, so they had to protect Eden and wait for the arrival of the tribunal and the Turner family.

Just as Joanna and Eden had taken a few steps forward, a bullet was shot in their direction from around the corner ahead.

Joanna pushed Eden backwards and threw a surgical knife out.

With a "thump" sound of a body falling to the ground, more sounds cfrom all directions.

Leia caught Eden and took out a gun from her cat-shaped purse, firing a burst of shots at the exposed enemies.

Joanna blocked most of the attacks in front, while Leia protected Eden and followed closely behind, dodging in all directions.

At first, the two of them were able to hold on, but as more and more enemies poured in, Joanna's expression gradually becserious.

After she kicked an enemy who was attacking from the ceiling with her high heels, the reinforcements from the other side arrived first.

The second wave of attackers were much more formidable than the first, and with their overwhelming numbers, Joanna found it increasingly difficult to cope.

She was shot in the arm and her movements slowed down.

Leia watched her master get injured and her eyes turned rosy. Just then, she suddenly saw a crimson dot on Eden's temple.

Leia's face changed drastically and she threw Eden out of harm's way and rolled away to avoid the bullet that was shot at them, which pierced through the ground.

Eden survived the ordeal, but was separated from Leia's protection.

After Leia got out of danger, she tried to run to Eden, but the frenzied attackers swarmed them, leaving no room for her and her master to rescue him.

As soon as Eden hit the ground, the bullets rained down on him, targeting all the vital areas of his body.

Hamish saw the situation deteriorating and threw himself in front of Eden to shield him from the bullets.

Just as the two were about to be riddled with bullets, there was a continuous sound of "thud, thud" as bodies hit the ground.

In the chaotic laboratory, the smell of blood became even more pungent in an instant.

Joanna, who was forced into a desperate situation, looked up and could only see a ghostly blue figure climbing up the surrounding walls.

Wherever it passed, those gun-toting enemies all fell to the ground with blood gushing from their throats.

In just a few seconds, there was no one left standing in the entire laboratory except for the four of them.

The smell of blood in the air was so thick that it was nauseating.

After the last enemy fell, the ghostly blue figure finally stopped.

She landed in front of Eden, holding a blood-stained surgical knife in her hand.

Her eyes were empty and cold as she stared at Eden lying on the ground.

MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1527 Shadow In The Depths Of Memory

Chapter 1527 Shadow in the Depths of Memory Eden looked at the girl in front of him. Although he was born with a reduced ability to perceive fear, he felt scared at this moment, which was rare for him.

Hamish, who was protecting Eden, was even more terrified and stiff.

Under the two young men' stiff gaze, the girl raised the blood-stained knife in her hand and aimed it at Eden. Her eyes were empty and her tone was indifferent, "You, cwith me!" Hamish didn't know this girl. Although she seemed to have helped them just now, her extrand bloody methods still made people fearful.

He looked wary and was about to say something, but Leia's surprised voice suddenly cover, "Miss Margot!" She turned to explain to Joanna, "Master, this is Madam Selena's best friend! She must have received the message and cto help us!" Joanna looked at the 19 year old girl with a complicated expression. After witnessing what had just happened, no one could treat Margot as an ordinary girl.

As far as she knew, Margot had once worked in a laboratory that researched killing machines...

It was another sin.

Joanna calmed down and took the lead in walking towards the door. "Let's leave here first!" "Divine Love" could not be unaware of Margot's existence.

They must have special means to deal with her. Before that, they must try to reconcile with the court president and the Turner family, despite the risk.

Joanna's guess soon beca reality. They had just walked out of the laboratory door and were surrounded by countless terrifying weapons.

"Divine Love" had spread its influence throughout the capital city, and most of the Turner family and court president were busy with the negotiation, which resulted in a delay in rescue efforts from both sides.

Joanna led the way, Leia protected Eden, and Margot's knife fiercely pierced the vital points of anyone who tried to attack Eden with weapons.

Her speed was so fast that even people's thoughts could not keep up.

No one knew when this girl would suddenly appear, and that elusive surgical knife could fall on their necks at any time.

The thick, cold and bloody smell made everyone shudder as night fell.

In the white room, Mr. White looked at the screen as the sharp blade harvested one life after another, without any change in his expression.

Cassius stood beside him, his gaze also on Margot, and he squinted. "Mr. White, what kind of existence is she?" This kind of eerie speed and the degree of physical contortion that can be achieved is definitely not something that a normal person can do. SEARCH the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Mr. White looked at Margot, with a touch of satisfaction in his eyes, "She is the most successful masterpiece of the Lunar Eclipse Research Institute." "She is my 'god', a gift I gave to his girl." Cassius paused for a moment and his eyes became somewhat dim, "Forgive me for being blunt, but is your master not asking for trouble by putting such a dangerous 'work' next to child?" Mr. White smiled gently, "My 'god' loves his girl and naturally will spend effort to protect her as she grows up." He sighed with regret, "But ultimately, man's plans are inferior to those of heaven. Despite the protection of O1, that girl still died once..." If it weren't for the "Light of the God," there would be no Selena in this world.

Cassius spoke slowly, "How fortunate for the girl to be doted on by elders..." Mr. White's face was warm, "I am sorry to have you seen this. It's just that the adults in the family tend to spoil their only daughter a bit more." Cassius lowered his eyelids and his tone was somewhat ironic, "Girls should be more precious, but what about the other one?" Although they were twins of the mother, the daughter had been spoiled since childhood with everything while the son was still an unseen existence.

If it were someone like Osvaldo and Penelope, it would be fine.

But unfortunately, Aarav was such an excellent and beautiful existence.

The smile on Mr. White's face faded instantly, "Cassius, you have crossed a line." Cassius smiled, "I'm just curious. After all, you promised to provide information about him for the girl, and she paid a price. She will definitely pay you for compensation..." "Given Miss Riddle's stubborn personality, once she finds a breakthrough and learns that she has a brother, it's only a matter of time." "At that time, there will be a big mess within the Union Riddle Group." Clearly, there was a son and even the eldest son, but he was still weak and frail, so the daughter inherited the family business...

"That's something the Riddle family should worry about. I only care about my 'god'." Mr. White shook his head.

Cassius didn't pursue the topic any further and his gaze returned to Margot, "With her here, it's difficult for us to break through her protection and kill the target. The members of the Tribunal and the Turner family will arrive soon. What are you going to do?" Mr. White smiled, "Cassius, you don't know everything. The danger of Subject 01 does not lie in her skills. After all, her purpose for existence is more about protection." "She shoulders the mission of protecting children. Such a trait is not only the most powerful protection, but also a fatal weakness." Cassius felt a slight movement in his heart.

"01 has no name, but it has a nickname," Mr. White pointed to Margot on the screen and said softly, "Alliance Nuclear Weapon." Outside the laboratory, more and more enemies were surging in, but the members of the Tribunal had still not arrived.

Although Margot had taken on most of the pressure, Joanna and Leia, as ordinary people, were still finding it increasingly difficult to deal with the enemies swarming at them like locusts.

Joanna's skirt was covered in blood, her carefully coiled hair was disheveled, and her face was pale.

Leia was protecting Eden, following behind her. Looking at the smoke and flames all around them, she suddenly felt like she had seen this scene before.

It was as if at some point in the past, she had also supported someone and ran through a rain of bullets.

Sblurry images flashed through her mind.

Heavy snowfall, a crying child lying on the snow, pairs of innocent and helpless eyes, terrifying bullets shooting towards them, and a splash of blood exploding in front of her eyes - - Not far away, there were people in uniform, and a small figure dressed in all white stood at the forefront - - Leia suddenly stopped in her tracks, her whole body stiffening in place.

"Be carefull" Joanna's knife plunged fiercely into the back of an enemy, and she angrily said, "What are you dazing off for at this time?!" Leia stared at Joanna blankly and suddenly asked, "Master, about my past--" MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOIfIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLiIOIfIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1528 I Will Protect You

Chapter 1528 I Will Protect You "Master, have I seen a child somewhere before?!" This impulsive question made Joanna's expression freeze for a moment. She was distracted and almost got hit in the heart by a bullet from the opposite side.

Joanna wiped the blood off her face. She thought Leia was talking about Eden and didn't turn back. Her voice sounded colder than ever before, "He comes from the underground city, you grew up in the capital and have never seen him." Leia looked at the back that had blocked her for nearly ten years and felt sad for a reason. She wiped her eyes, but unexpectedly touched tears on her face.

The child who killed so many children cruelly but whose face was unclear, was he really from the underground city? Leia was doubtful, but at this moment she couldn't think too much.

She protected Eden by her side, shooting down one person after another who tried to kill him.

"Divine Love" knew that the reinforcements from the Tribunal would arrive soon. At that time, it would be even more difficult to try to kill Eden.

Therefore, they attacked Joanna and Leia almost regardless of cost, wanting to kill Eden.

The sky was full of murderous intent! If it weren't for Margot's extraordinary cruelty and dominance, Joanna and Leia would have lost their lives long ago.

Inside Atlantis Hotel, Osvaldo held Selena's hair and kissed her blood-stained lips until she couldn't breathe in his arms and almost fainted.

Osvaldo looked at the girl with pale face and bright red lips in his arms. She was so beautiful and so confident and proud. Even if she made him angry and furious, he couldn't bear to punish her.

Just like Selena couldn't refuse her responsibility, Osvaldo couldn't really lock her up or be angry with her.

His cold fingers lightly brushed Selena's eyes, and there was a strong sense of injury on his hands. "What should I do with you..." He couldn't break her wings, nor could he tolerate her being hurt. Selena really pushed him to a dead end.

Thanks to the suppressant, Selena's physical condition finally stabilized. She looked at Osvaldo's eyes, reached out and grabbed his hand.

She wanted to tell him that she was absolutely certain that she would not be in danger because of his love for her.

Mr. White only dared to let her suffer bit and vent his anger for his master because his true purpose was to draw out the person who carried the original virus.

And this was also Selena's goal.

Except for her, no one in the entire capital could force those few people to reveal their identities.

Only when that person was found, could the Turner family and "Divine Love" cto a final end.

She finally achieved all her goals, resolved the underground virus, and avenged the Turner family! The whole plan was seamless, but the only thing that was miscalculated was Osvaldo's reaction.

Selena placed Osvaldo's hand over his heart and looked at the man's painful eyes, speaking lightly, "Osvaldo, I want to go home..." If it weren't for the Turner family's business, she would have gone hlong ago.

Her homeland, her comrades, her empire, her enemies... so many people were waiting for her.

She had been impatient for a long time.

Osvaldo's eyes becgloomy and inscrutable for a moment.

An eye for an eye, it turned out to be true.

In the beginning, he used despicable means to force Selena to leave her homeland and cto the capital. So this cause and effect eventually cback to him.

It seemed that the heavens knew how to make him heartbroken, so it placed this pain on Selena.

She was the one who personally dealt the final blow. Search The website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Osvaldo held Selena's arm, trembling.

He looked at Selena's pale face, and he smiled, "Selena, you really know... how to makesuffer." In the end, he paid the price for his once despicable behavior that had hurt her.

Selena looked at his more painful expression and thought that Osvaldo was unwilling to forgive her, and her eyes turned moist with grievance.

Oswaldo did not allow her to say "sorry" or "thank you" to him, so Selena had not said these to him since then.

Previously, whenever she did something wrong, as long as she acted cute and hugged him, calling him "husband", Oswaldo would not be able to stay angry with her.

She thought that this kind of limitless indulgence would last forever.

But now, he had taken back this indulgence, leaving her at a loss as to how to appease him.

Oswaldo had pampered her too much.

Once he stops spoiling her, what should she do? When Selena was at a loss, Oswaldo hugged her with increased strength.

He held her tightly in his arms, even to the point of rare neglect of whether it would hurt her.

He held her so tightly, as if he wanted to merge her into his body, his bones and blood.

Oswaldo leaned his face against her ear and whispered, "It's all my fault..." Selena widened her eyes, and her heart was briefly filled with pain. She reached out and held him, "No, it's who hid things from you and acted on my own..." She thought she was just afraid that Oswaldo would be angry with her.

But now, she was more afraid that Oswaldo would blame himself for her mistakes.

What did Oswaldo do wrong? He just cared for her and liked her.

Milana once said that men who fell in love with her were very pitiful.

And Selena herself knew that men who fell in love with her were destined to suffer, to bear more and heavier burdens than others.

That was why she had only realized and accepted his feelings so late.

Selena buried her face in Oswaldo's arms and listened to his strong heartbeat. "Oswaldo, being my man, you are destined to endure all these..." Like her mother, who became her father's wife, she had forever lost her freedom.

She was her father's wife, her mother, the most noble mistress of the empire, but she was no longer herself.

And Osvaldo becher boyfriend, her fiancé-to-be. Once he followed her to the federation, he would face more horrible things than in the capital! In a situation where she couldn't even ensure her own safety, she couldn't even give him a reassuring promise.

Because she couldn't guarantee that she wouldn't get hurt when facing those enemies who once tried to kill her upon returning to the federation.

Osvaldo held her tightly and looked at Selena's wise eyes. Her gaze was always so wise and profound.

He looked at her gently and asked, "Why don't you trust that I will protect you?"
MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifiO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifiO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1529 In This Lifetime, She Will Surely Be His Woman!

Chapter 1529 In this lifetime, she will surely be his woman! "Why don't you believe that I can protect you?" Selena was taken aback by the question.

Osvaldo gently wiped the blood from her lips with his slender fingers and said, "I've always been by your side, but you've never thought of relying oneven bit." "Why do you prefer risking your own life instead of believing that I can protect you?" Selena's eyelashes trembled, and her eyes seemed somewhat lost.

Her lips moved, but no sound cout. Search The website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

She had never realized this question before Osvaldo asked it.

Growing up, she was taught that she could only rely on herself no matter when or where. And she had once unconditionally trusted her family, but in the end, she not only lost her own life, but also buried the lives of so many companions.

A sharp pain seemed to surge in her chest, as if an icy blade had pierced her heart. The feeling was too painful.

Witnessing so many companions who had followed her to protect her die miserably in front of her was too painful.

Selena's already pale face turned even more ghastly. She grabbed Osvaldo's sleeve and gasped heavily, "It hurts so much..." Looking at her ghastly face, Osvaldo seemed to be plunged into dark and painful memories. For the first time, his usually dark and calm eyes were no longer clear.

Oswaldo remembered what Luke had said: Selena was stabbed from behind and died in the middle of a pile of corpses...

In an instant, his face also became pained.

He gently hugged the girl in his arms and comforted her emotions, "Selena, don't be afraid. It doesn't hurt anymore..." Selena covered her heart, and even her body couldn't control the stress response as she twitched slightly.

Oswaldo held her gently and comforted her pain and hatred again and again.

What qualification does he have to accuse Selena of not trusting him? When she needed him the most, he wasn't by her side. She even died alone, full of pain and hatred, without him knowing.

Oswaldo once felt fortunate that he met Selena at the right time and married her. But after learning about Selena's background, he began to loathe that sense of fortune.

He would rather she hadn't experienced that unforgettable pain and remained the elegant and noble queen on the throne.

Maybe he would have met her later.

But Oswaldo knew that no matter where she was, as long as he saw her, he would fall in love with her.

She would be his woman in this life.

Selena paid a painful price for trusting people, how could he force her to trust him unconditionally? "I was wrong," Oswaldo gently stroked Selena's cheek. "I shouldn't have forced Selena..." Selena looked at Oswaldo's dark and remorseful expression and struggled to say, "No..." Oswaldo held Selena's hand and placed her slender fingers on his lips, gently kissing them. "It's because I haven't given you the ability to trust me..." Selena had lost everything and was about to face the bloody storm of the entire capital and federation.

In such circumstances, it was inevitable that she didn't feel safe.

Others could afford to lose, but Selena couldn't.

Oswaldo lowered his head and kissed Selena's red lips...

MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1530 Achieving Wishes

Chapter 1530 Achieving Wishes Osvaldo lowered his head and kissed Selena's bright red lips. "Selena, I will protect you." He had not protected her in the past decade, but he would never let her experience such painful death again.

In the depths of Osvaldo's eyes, a momentary flash of terrifying bloodshed appeared.

With his gentle and sweet comfort, Selena regained consciousness from the intense pain, and her unfocused eyes gradually regained focus.

She looked at Osvaldo, whose face was even paler than hers, and was about to say something but suddenly, the door was pushed open from the outside.

Black Crow and White Crow, both wearing protective suits, walked in together.

Selena saw the solemn expressions on the faces of the two brothers, and all her fragility and pain disappeared instantly. She grabbed Osvaldo's sleeve and sat up, staring at Black Crow and White Crow without blinking.

Even at a distance, Black Crow and White Crow could feel the intense, burning expectation in Selena's eyes. She was willing to take risks just for the answer! Black Crow and White Crow glanced at each other, thinking about the news they had just received. A solemn expression appeared in their eyes at the stime. They personally felt that the news was not good, but they dared not conceal it from Selena.

Black Crow remained silent.

White Crow sighed and walked up to Selena. Looking at her burning and expectant eyes, he softly said, "That person has been found." Selena did not immediately ask who that person was but instead asked another question, "The news was spread by that man, right?" White Crow couldn't deceive Selena and could only tell her the truth, "Yes, he was the one. According to your instructions, A had been watching him all along, and the news did indeed cfrom him." "It was him... who saved you." Except for the other party, no one in the entire capital would probably know Eden's identity.

If it weren't for not being able to bear seeing Selena suffer, he would definitely not have chosen to reveal Eden's identity due to his connection with "Divine Love".

The people within "Divine Love" were able to use the "Light of God" to give Selena a second life and knew Eden's identity.

This was something that even Mr. White couldn't achieve.

Is it really a good thing for Selena to have a relationship with someone so mysterious and with so many unanswered questions? However, Selena couldn't think about that right now.

Her eyes were shining in a scary way at this moment.

The knot that had been hanging in her heart for a long time finally settled at this moment.

She lay in Osvaldo's arms, unconsciously holding onto the man's hand, feeling spirited in a way she had never experienced before.

This feeling was like a person who had been walking in the darkness for many years, finally discovering the thing she had been searching for in the layers of ashes. Selena smiled from the bottom of her heart and said, "I found it... I finally found it..." Since learning that someone had used the "Light of God" to give her a second life, Selena had been looking for that person all the time.

At the first sight of that man, Selena had a feeling that he might be the one she was looking for.

She went to see him several times later, but each time she returned empty-handed.

The man refused to see her, as if she were just a stranger who happened to cross his path.

Selena was heartbroken and disappointed, but she had no right to interfere.

But now that she was sure he was the one who gave her a second life, all her worries would disappear.

No matter who he was or what difficulties he had, she must see him! Osvaldo looked at Selena's pale face and the faint smile that appeared on it.

If it weren't for the fact that the man had told him his name in advance and he had seen the expression on Selena's face, as well as her daring actions, Osvaldo would have thought more.

But after the name Arav appeared, the relationship between the two became thought-provoking question.

Since that time when Selena wanted to see him, she had even been concerned about him.

In order to confirm whether Aarav was the one who saved her, she was even willing to take risks.

The fact proved that Aarav was indeed the person who used the "Light of God" to give Selena a second life! He saved Selena, suddenly appeared in the capital, and helped Selena untie her knot when she was most upset.

He also helped her again when she was infected with the underground virus. S~earch the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Under such circumstances... it was difficult not to suspect their relationship.

Selena regained her composure from the turbulent emotions.

Her eyes were bright and cold, staring at Black Crow and White Crow. Her voice echoed through the empty hall with a hint of majestic dignity, "Tell Clementine that no matter what happens in the capital next, protect him at all costs!" "And..." Selena paused, pursed her lips, "Watch over him until I get better! Don't let him leave the capital!" If she weren't poisoned and unable to leave this room, she would immediately rush to find him.

Black Crow and White Crow looked at each other and both saw curiosity in each other's eyes.

Then they all looked at Osvaldo's face together.

Selena cared about another man so openly, why hasn't this guy made any moves yet? This isn't like Osvaldo's style...

Selena looked at Black Crow and White Crow's reaction, her gaze then fell on Osvaldo's face, and then she realized that she was a bit flustered and explained, "Osvaldo, listen to me, it's not what you think, I... I..." She didn't know how to explain it to Osvaldo. She really just wanted to find the other person and protect him.

There were absolutely no other unnecessary feelings.

But being so abnormal and caring about a stranger in front of Osvaldo, any man would be angry.

Imagine if Osvaldo acted abnormally and cared about another woman in front of her, she couldn't help but think more.

Especially since she had just irritated him.

Selena grabbed Osvaldo's sleeve, her eyes rosy with anxiety, "Osvaldo, I didn't..."

I don't like him, I just..." Just what? She didn't know how to explain that feeling herself.

Oswaldo looked deeply at Selena, gently put her on the bed, stood up, put his hands on either side of Selena's body, enveloped her in his arms, looked into her eyes, and his voice was very cold and light, "Leave it to from now on, I'll bring back the "antidote" Selena instinctively wanted to speak, but Oswaldo's fingers landed on her lips first.

He leaned down slowly, and his cold and thin lips pressed against hers, "Selena, listen to me, I'll make all your wishes true." MMMWWLIIOfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOfIO&1 MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLiIOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1531 Oswaldo Is Despicable, So What?

Chapter 1531 Oswaldo is despicable, so what? After saying this, Oswaldo turned around and walked towards the door.

Selena was stunned as she watched the man's extremely cold and restrained figure.

She was worried that Oswaldo would be hurt if he went out, and instinctively wanted to stop him from leaving her. But she suddenly remembered what he had said to her just now.

He said he wanted her to believe that he would protect her.

Selena also remembered that Oswaldo had fought Margot head-on before. She couldn't tell who had won or lost, but in this world, there were only a few people who could take a blow from Margot head-on.

Selena took a deep breath.

Perhaps she should try to believe that the man she liked was really powerful.

Nervously moving her fingers, Selena looked at Oswaldo's slender figure and whispered, "You must cback safely." Oswaldo seemed to have heard her and turned his head slightly to look at her before stepping out of the door.

After Oswaldo left, Black Crow and White Crow saw Selena's worried expression and felt even more strange.

They suddenly realized a fact.

Perhaps Selena was not unaware of the man's strength.

When people like someone, they always fear that the other person will be hurt.

It was only because he was the man she liked that she subconsciously put him in the position of the "protected one" every time she made any decision.

She never had such thoughts for anyone else.

Oswaldo was the first.

The first person to make her break her principles and treat him so well.

Even Stanley didn't receive such treatment.

This kind of affection was really biased.

Black Crow said impatiently, "He has already gone far away!" Selena reluctantly withdrew her gaze and showed a thoughtful expression in her eyes.

White Crow looked at Selena's blood-red lips and his eyes became heavy.

Previously, Oswaldo stayed here with Selena because he didn't know where the antidote was, but now that Eden has been brought to the surface and his life is tied to Selena's, Oswaldo can't restrain himself any longer.

And what this man has decided to do is not just simply bring Eden here.

White Crow's thoughts had just arrived, and he suddenly heard Selena's voice, "Divine Love knows that Margot is in the capital, they must have a way to deal with her. Keep an eye on Margot and let me know if there's any news." After Selena finished speaking, she closed her eyes lightly.

White Crow looked at Selena's contemplative face with closed eyes, knowing that she must be thinking about the situation in the Federation.

Everything in the capital is about to come to an end. After Selena and Oswaldo are engaged, she will return to their homeland with that man.

At that time, not to mention the sensational impact of her return to the empire, the relationship between Oswaldo and Stanley will definitely not be peaceful.

White Crow took a deep breath and looked at Selena, who was unaware of the situation. He didn't know whether to sympathize with Stanley or feel fortunate for Oswaldo.

This situation is undoubtedly unfair to Stanley, but-- It's still the old saying.

Stanley failed to realize that Selena was still alive and to protect and accompany her to her side.

Oswaldo has the ability to suppress all of Selena's news in the face of overwhelming publicity, and until now, the Federation has not noticed any news about her.

Oswaldo may be despicable, but so what? There is never fairness in the world of emotions.

White Crow took a deep look at Selena and turned and walked out.

On the other side, Margot was like a humanoid killing machine, leaving a trail of blood wherever she went. But in the face of the numerical advantage of her opponents, the power of an individual is ultimately limited.

In the terrifying sound of the confrontation, Joanna and Leia gradually became unable to support themselves and couldn't protect Eden anymore.

Joanna looked at Leia's sad and tired look, calculated the time for the arrival of the Tribunal and the Turner family, and finally gritted her teeth, "Hold on for another three minutes!" But in a battlefield where life and death are decided, even a few seconds can lead to the death of countless people. Three minutes of time can change too much.

Leia can block five, ten, or dozens of killers, but she cannot kill hundreds of them.

When the enemy aimed their swords at Eden once again, Leia was powerless to resist and could only throw the cat toy in her hand.

In a life-and-death situation, losing a weapon for self-defense meant losing one's life.

Leia watched as the knife was thrust towards her heart, and with all her strength, she pushed Eden towards Joanna. "Master!" Joanna heard that something was wrong and turned around to see a knife stabbing towards Leia's heart.

Leia was determined, obviously she prepared to die. SEARCH the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Joanna's face turned pale. Anyone would have thought that she would go to save Eden, but when everyone reacted, Joanna had already gone to save Leia.

As she stepped back, all the attacks turned instantly towards Eden.

Margot noticed that something was wrong and was about to turn back to save Eden, when a strange palpitation suddenly came from her heart.

Margot's hollow eyes flashed, she whispered, "Protect... Selena..." Her action suddenly changed from turning to save Eden to running towards the direction of Atlantis Hotel.

And in these few short seconds, Eden was already submerged in all kinds of killing intent.

In the control room, Mr. White's face had a smile.

Just when everyone thought Eden would die miserably, a loud bang suddenly came from above his head.

With a "bang," all the killers near Eden were knocked down in an instant.

Piles of bodies accurately fell on Eden, pressing the bewildered teenager at the bottom, successfully blocking all the bullets for him.

Under everyone's horrified expression, a slender figure leaped from the helicopter in mid-air.

In the terrifying bloody scene, the man in black was filled with cold, bloody, and dark emotions.

He raised his ghostly-colored eyes and stared at everyone present, his lips twitching.

A violent and ruthless air emanated from the man.

Oswaldo held a cold knife in his hand, with an aura as cold as a devil, and his whole body exuded an unapproachable nobility.

He lowered his eyelashes, revealing a bloodthirsty and stunningly cold smile from the corner of his mouth, speaking in a cold tone like an evil spirit, "Whoever hurts my wife shall die!" In the pure white room, the smile on Mr. White's face disappeared completely. He did not turn around and stared at the man on the screen who was creating a feast of slaughter, his voice becoming colder, "Cassius, it seems that you have forgotten to remind of something!" Cassius stood behind Mr. White, his gaze also falling on Oswaldo's face...

MMMWWLIIOiflO&1 MMMWWLIIOiflO&1 mmMwWLLIOfiflO& 1 MMMWWLIIOiflO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfiflO&1

Search the (F)indNOvel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1532 Terrifying Young Man

Chapter 1532 Terrifying Young Man "Mr. White, you worry too much. I have been away from the capital for more than twenty years, and I don't know much more about this nephew than you do," Cassius explained, but it did not improve Mr. White's expression.

Opportunities always can go in the blink of an eye.

If you miss it, you may never find it again.

Mr. White's face darkened as he stared at the young man on the big screen, dressed in black with a gloomy aura.

He had the ability to control 01, but when facing a man who was just as skilled as 01, no one within Divine Love could be his match.

Mr. White saw a fact clearly when he looked into the icy eyes of the man on the screen: no matter how many people he sent, it would be impossible to kill Eden with this man present.

Since he couldn't kill the target he wanted to destroy the most, he had to destroy this young man as well.

"It's a pity..." Mr. White said with regret in his mouth, but his eyes showed no regret.

He picked up the inteand gave an order, "Prepare the overclocked ion cannon!" Cassius' pupils shrank slightly, almost unnoticeable.

Mr. White looked at Osvaldo on the screen and smiled, "Originally, I didn't want to use such a large-scale firepower. After all, the blood of the just-dead can still be used, and there was still tto save the girl's life. But now..." "I can only let this couple get engaged in hell tomorrow!" The ground was covered in blood.

As the black-haired man walked, the bright blade in his hand cut through the air, leaving a frightening and beautiful arc. Another head flew off its body and landed in a corner of the wall.

All the bullets shot at him were dodged. With his ghostly speed and cold killing intent, the enemies in front of him could not help but show fear on their faces. Many of them did not even have the courage to look directly at him. SEARCH THE website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Panic rose in everyone's hearts.

Osvaldo dragged his blade, and the blood on the blade spread like a small stream all the way to where Eden was.

Eden lay in the middle of a pile of corpses, staring at the man walking towards him in a daze. Fear appeared on his bewildered face for the first time.

In the next second, a strong hand lifted him up from the ground, immovable like a boulder. His body was as weak as chick in the man's hand.

Oswaldo's deep black eyes stared at Eden, with cruelty and ruthlessness flashing in his eyes.

For this person, Selena chose to take the risk herself...

Leia watched Oswaldo's expression, trembling with fear on the side, afraid that Oswaldo would suddenly attack and brutally break Eden's neck.

Joanna looked around at the enemies who suddenly stopped attacking, frowned, and suddenly had an extremely ominous premonition in her heart.

She suddenly seemed to have thought of something, her face became extremely ugly, "We're in trouble!" At the same time, Oswaldo seemed to feel something, turned around abruptly, and his sinister eyes shot towards a certain direction. A fierce and evil aura emanated from him and spread out to the surrounding area.

The terrifying desolate darkness made people tremble with fear from the depths of their souls.

On the opposite building, the person who was preparing to launch the hyper-frequency ion cannon met the pair of hair-raising eyes and instantly had his hair standing on end. He couldn't help but take several steps back.

On the other side of the screen, Mr. White's face showed a tremor, sighing, "I never thought that in this era, there would be such terrifying young people..." Except for those few back then, he had never seen a young person who could make people so scared from such a distance just by their killing intent.

It seems that the young people of this generation in the capital are not too bad.

But no matter how strong Oswaldo is, he is still a flesh and blood human being! Mr. White spoke coldly into the microphone, "Fire!" Cassius' slender fingers moved, his gaze fell on Oswaldo's face, and there seemed to be a moment when he was going to do something, but in the end, he did nothing.

On the rooftop, the person who was scared away by Oswaldo received Mr. White's order, gritted his teeth fiercely, and stepped forward to lift up the ion cannon again.

If this shot is fired, that area will be flattened, and even the strongest person would be reduced to ashes! As he was about to pull the trigger, a sudden sense of crisis overwhelmed him from behind.

He stiffened, and in the next breath, he felt a sharp pain in both arms.

The ion cannon fell from his hands, and at the same time, everyone in the surrounding area was attacked in an instant.

A group of people in dark blue uniforms descended rapidly from mid-air, their guns shooting at the enemy at lightning speed.

The Tribunal has arrived! In the room, Mr. White's smile disappeared completely when he saw this scene. He was about to speak when Cassius suddenly spoke up, "Mr. White, we'd better leave here immediately." "If we don't go now, it may be too late." Mr. White turned his head and looked at Cassius with a cold expression, "What do you mean?" Cassius stared deeply at the tribunal that had completely surrounded this area at point, "The people from the tribunal have gone to save the antivirus. Where do you think the Turner family's people are at this moment?" Almost at the same time Cassius' words fell, there was suddenly a fierce sound of fighting outside the door.

Mr. White's face sank.

Obviously, the people from the tribunal were here to protect Eden, while the Turner family's people had come to seek revenge against him! It was not wise to fight hard against the Turner family's people on their turf in the capital. Mr. White finally took a last look at Eden on the big screen, "This is fine too!" He didn't really want to let Selena die unless it was absolutely necessary.

If Selena died, his "god" would be sad.

Mr. White stood up, turned around, and walked towards a hidden door nearby.

Cassius looked deeply at Osvaldo and followed him in.

After the people from the tribunal arrived, Leia took a deep breath and hurriedly went forward to help Joanna.

Joanna looked at Spencer and lit a cigarette, taking a puff, "You're really slow!" Spencer covered with Matilda and didn't explain anything.

In fact, the people from the tribunal had arrived almost at the same time as Osvaldo. But at that time, everyone's attention was on Osvaldo, and with him around, Eden's safety was not a problem.

They took advantage of this and completely surrounded the surrounding area.

Cut the grass and remove the roots! Spencer walked up to Osvaldo and looked at the man in front of him with clear eyes, "The Turner family's people have already found Mr. White and the others, in the southern part of the city." Osvaldo casually threw Eden to him, turned around, got on a car, a black armored car, and left the scene at lightning speed.

Mr. White was the culprit behind Selena's drinking of the underground virus.

He was also Selena's ultimate target in the capital.

Spencer withdrew his gaze and handed Eden over to Matilda behind him, "Matilda, you personally take him to Miss Turner's place." MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1533 Roadblock

Chapter 1533 Roadblock Matilda was somewhat surprised when she heard Spencer's command. Given the current situation, Eden's safety was of the utmost importance.

By rights, Spencer should have personally escorted him to Selena. But instead, he had entrusted this task to her.

Matilda glanced at the man opposite her, her eyes gentle and something flickering within them. She raised her hand in salute, then took Eden and left in the car.

Joanna and Leia had both been seriously injured and left with the people from the Tribunal.

After the group left, Spencer stood in the chaotic scene, looked up, and headed in the direction Margot had left halfway through.

Margot hadn't gone too far.

After the sudden sense of crisis passed, Margot regained her senses. She received a call from Selena midway through and learned that Selena was very safe at the moment and not in danger. She completely calmed down afterwards.

Then, Margot's clear and unusually sharp eyes were aimed at all the enemies on the scene. All these people were Selena's enemies and would harm her! And anyone who hurt Selena would die! Margot tightened the kitchen knife in her hand, happily rushing into the crowd of enemies. The knife flashed continuously, accompanied by the sound of agonizing screams and blood spattering everywhere.

When Spencer arrived, this was what he saw.

The nineteen-year-old girl's sky-blue long skirt had turned completely red, dripping blood everywhere. Even her face was splattered with blood.

She darted back and forth in the crowd, taking a fresh life with every strike. However, there was no hint of terror in her expression. She was laughing, a beautiful and excited laugh, as if killing was an extremely joyful thing for her.

Spencer's dark blue eyes became somewhat dim.

He walked towards her and spoke in a cold and slow voice, with bone-chilling coldness, "Your mission is completed. Cback!" Margot heard the familiar voice and turned to look at Spencer. There was no extra emotion in her eyes. Then she continued to do as she pleased.

Spencer pressed down his hat, concealing the expression in his eyes, and repeated, "Cback, no more killing!" Margot burst into laughter, her knife reaping one life after another. More blood stained her skirt and skin...

Spencer's hand couldn't help but tremble.

He suddenly rushed forward and grabbed Margot, swinging her heavily to the ground and holding her shoulders. "I said, no more killing!" Margot was caught off guard and looked at him with wide eyes.

If Selena hadn't taught her that she couldn't kill people who weren't bad, couldn't kill those who were protecting her, and especially couldn't kill Spencer, she would have plunged the knife in his neck without hesitation when he approached her.

Not to mention being slammed to the ground! Margot looked at the man who was pressing her down with rosy eyes and a face full of anger, and cried out.

Spencer was stunned for a moment before realizing that he may have been too heavy-handed and hurt her.

Margot's body was different from ordinary people, but that didn't mean she couldn't feel pain.

Spencer gently wiped the blood from her face with his fingers and softened his voice.

"You are human, not a machine. You can't kill too many people..." Margot said aggrievedly, "But they are all bad people, they bullied Selena..." Spencer lowered his eyelashes and covered the expression in his eyes. "Bad people will be punished in other ways, you don't need to take action." Margot glared at him unhappily. "Why are you always against me, Spencer?" Every time she killed someone, Spencer would be unhappy and would lock her up as a result.

Spencer looked at her eyes that lacked any human emotion and said after a moment, "Because I am an enforcer." Margot pouted unhappily, trying not to give Spencer any more reasons to lock her up.

On the other side, Cassius left the villa with Mr. White.

They had caused such a big disturbance in the capital city, and it was impossible for them not to leave a way out for themselves.

Three days ago, Cassius had used several forged IDs to buy plane tickets for their escape plan. After the plan failed, he and Mr.

White got on the car and were just waiting to leave the capital city after it was modified.

However, on the way to the airport, Cassius suddenly received a call.

"Cassius, just received the news that the airport has been sealed off, all flights have been suspended. Going to the airport now is very likely to be walking into a trap." Cassius tapped his slender fingers on the phone, not too surprised by this situation.

A large part of the flights in the capital were once a private enterprise of the Riddle family.

Although the Riddle family no longer holds its former status, they can still make arrangements to halt flights for a few days.

The Turner family was closely following them from behind, and they had to leave the capital at the fastest speed possible.

Once they fell into the hands of the Turner family and the Anderson family, everyone would be finished.

Cassius closed his eyes and said, "Change direction!" They couldn't go by air or land, so they had to settle for something less optimal.

Cassius had made arrangements beforehand, but he had left the capital for more than twenty years, and many things, despite his effort, were still inferior to those of others. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

When they reached the highway intersection and saw Christ sitting on a chair with people obviously waiting for them, Cassius knew that they couldn't take this route either.

Christ smiled, and his gloomy gaze slid from Cassius' face and fixed on Mr. White's face. "Cassius, you have been away from the capital for too long, and probably forgot something." "No outsiders are allowed to run wild in this territory!" Mr. White looked at the young man in front of him with a dark aura, but he wasn't particularly nervous. He just said with a smile, "This situation now reminds of twenty years ago when we left the capital. Many aristocratic families in the capital helped us along the way." Otherwise, they couldn't have left so easily after committing such great sins in the capital.

Christ's face grew even darker. It was those who were eager to seize the Turner family's power who helped "Divine Love" leave the capital in secret back then.

His family was among them! Christ calmly loaded his gun and said, "Unfortunately, times have changed, and the fate of those who helped you along the way back then is more tragic than ever!" Mr. White shook his head and said, "Apart from the admirable Turner family and Anderson family, there was no trace of blood and courage in the capital back then. It was really contemptible. Now, the capital can make people look up a bit..." This remark hit Christ's sore spot.

What Dexter did had forever pinned the Poole family to the pillar of shame.

Christ's cold gaze fell on Mr. White's face as he smiled, "Your blood may be able to wash away some of the shame of the Poole family..."

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1534 You Are Good

Chapter 1534 You are Good As soon as Christ finished speaking, Cassius immediately led Mr. White to retreat.

"Mr. White, it is not safe to stay here for long." Mr. White naturally understood this truth.

The Turner family and the Anderson family, the two major family forces, were chasing them. Once Oscar caught up with them, they would really have to flee the capital for their lives.

The people from "Divine Love" stayed behind and blocked Christ's men.

Cassius took Mr. White and left on another route.

With flights suspended and transportation cut off, the current situation was very unfavorable for them.

Mr. White looked at the gradually darkening sky outside the window and sighed softly, "Cassius, your homeland is truly a beautiful place." Cassius smiled, "Mr. White, you promised Miss Turner that you wouldn't do anything to the capital." Mr. White shook his head, "I will keep my promise, but I was just feeling emotional. It's rare to see such a peaceful and quiet night scene in the outer domain." Cassius had been developing in Los Angeles for more than twenty years and deeply understood this.

In the world, perhaps there was no other place that could make people feel as at ease as the land beneath his feet.

Mr. White suddenly said again, "After midnight tonight, she is going to be engaged..." Cassius felt a stir in his heart, "What do you mean?" Mr. White glanced at Cassius and smiled slightly, "You don't need to worry, it's not a bad thing. You'll see it soon enough." The black sports car sped through the night and headed towards the harbor.

Eden was brought to the Atlantis Hotel.

Perhaps knowing that the situation was hopeless, the people from "Divine Love" did not ambush them on the way. Matilda's group arrived smoothly.

Black Crow and White Crow drew Eden's blood at the fastest speed and carried out experiments by merging it with the vaccine they had prepared long ago.

Selena stayed alone in the conference room. After hearing that Eden had been safely delivered, she sat up and said, "Let him in and see me!" Eden walked into the spacious conference room alone.

Just rescued from the killing field, his clothes were still bloody, his face was pale, and his dark eyes looked at Selena with an indescribable fear.

No matter how slow-witted he is, he is only a fifteen-year-old boy...

Selena sat elegantly on the sofa, with a face with fair skin, and her eyes were particularly black.

She stared at Eden with a pressure-filled but vaguely gentle gaze.

He was the only child she had ever seen who had survived walking out of the underground underground.

Seven years ago, Eden was eight years old.

He must have been hidden by Callum to survive the catastrophe.

Selena looked at Eden and spoke coldly, "Chere." Eden, who usually clung to her, did not cover immediately. He looked at Selena with both timidity and unfamiliarity.

Selena laughed at herself, "Are you afraid of me?" Yes, the children of the underground are afraid of her.

They not only fear her, but also hate her.

If Eden had not lost his memory, he would probably want to kill her.

Eden looked at the girl who was sitting in the seat, who was obviously the sperson, but he felt very distant and unfamiliar.

He whispered, "They said you were poisoned..." Selena stared at him and said, "Yes, I was poisoned. You are the only antidote. If you don't want to save me, I will die soon." This sentence seemed to scare Eden. He immediately overchis fear and approached Selena like a puppy, "I'll give blood to you..." Selena smelled the bone-chilling bloody smell on him, and her face beceven paler.

She took out a handkerchief from the table and gently wiped the blood off Eden's cheek, asking, "Do you remember the person who taught you medicine?" Eden looked puzzled and thought carefully for a while, then shook his head.

He didn't remember.

Besides the medical knowledge engraved in his bones, he had no memory of the person who taught him these things.

Selena had asked him these questions before, and the answer she got was the same.

Eden's memory began when he was picked up by the dean of T City.

"If--" Selena looked at the pure eyes of the boy, "I use sspecial methods to forcibly open your memory and make you remember everything about that person, would you agree?" Eden blinked in confusion.

Selena continued, "That person is important to many people." "He's not just your teacher, but also my... father." "Would you helpfind my father?" Eden understood this sentence and looked at Selena, nodding slowly.

Selena's eyelashes trembled, "The process of unlocking memories will be painful, and it will be even more painful for you to remember everything. Do you still want to do it?" Eden looked at Selena.

His brain was immersed in various medical knowledge all year round, and his perception of human emotions was weak.

But at this moment, he clearly felt that Selena was not happy when she said this.

It was the kind of unhappy that made people feel sad and depressed.

Eden didn't know too much, but he didn't want to see any bad expression on her face.

He clumsily comforted Selena, "I'll help you, don't be sad." Selena slightly curved her lips, "Are you afraid of me?" Eden shyly shrunk his neck, "You... are very good." He had always had an attitude of wanting to get close to Selena but also vaguely fearful.

And this fear had reached its peak after what happened just now.

Selena smiled gently, "Thank you, I'll think about it and change my clothes." Soon someone cin and took Eden out.

Selena sat alone in the chair, listened to the report on the situation outside for a while, and lowered her eyelids.

The sky had completely darkened.

Cassius and Mr. White fled all the way, and half of the followers who followed them to escape the Turner family's pursuit were already lost. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

At the moment when night fell, Cassius and Mr. White arrived at a hidden port.

There were many roads to leave the capital, but several major families joined forces to lock all the checkpoints, making it impossible to achieve what was easily possible on normal days.

Mr. White was exhausted, and his suit was already messy. He looked at the bright lights and peaceful port with fatigue in his eyes, and was about to move forward when he was suddenly stopped by Cassius.

Cassius stared at the night ahead, wiped the blood from his face that had been grazed by a bullet, and his tone was cold, "Mr.

White, the worst thing you did was probably to let the child get poisoned..." Amid the vigilant gaze of the group, a tall figure walked out from the darkness.

MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiIOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1535 Instructions For Last Words?

Chapter 1535 Instructions for Last Words? He stood under the moonlight, with the beautiful night view of the riverbank in the background, but his gaze was sharp, "Both of you have come from afar and have worked hard, but--" "This road is blocked!" Cassius looked behind the man and saw several shadowy figures lurking in the dark shadows, moving like ghosts. His eyes became serious.

The Soo family was the only family in the entire capital city that had the ability to possess ancient martial arts and raise hidden guards. Although their numbers were small, almost all of them could take on a hundred opponents.

After Nicholas fell from power, the Soo family's external forces were completely divided, but the true core of the Soo family remained hidden and was not exposed.

Cassius looked at Alfie on the opposite side and sneered.

It is now clear that the downfall of the Soo family was the result of this man's premeditated plan.

He eliminated everything he did not want and repaid the Turner family's debts, leaving only what he controlled in the hands of this man.

There were no simple men among the young generation in the capital city.

"Mr. White, we don't have much left," Cassius narrowed his eyes slightly.

The Turner family was being pursued relentlessly from behind. With dwindling manpower and firepower, if they wasted there, they would inevitably be caught up by the Turner family.

Mr. White naturally saw the situation clearly and glanced at Alfie, "Cassius, you are mistaken. I do not regret hurting her." He adjusted his glasses on his face, "The only mistake I made was underestimating these people's concern for her." Don't think that Alfie and Christ are really so just and righteous.

If it weren't for Selena, even if these people felt guilty about the Turner family, they would never have gone this far.

Cassius couldn't deny it.

At this point, nothing they said would matter.

All roads were blocked.

If they wanted to leave the capital city, there was only one way: to fight their way out! Under the pursuit of the entire capital city, this was almost an impossible task.

Cassius pondered, his expression somewhat grave.

Mr. White suddenly laughed, "Don't blyourself. Although it was unexpected, I was not completely unprepared." Cassius looked up at him.

"You had prepared these back roads with great effort, but just to be safe, I also made spreparations." Mr. White glanced at Alfie and made a gesture with his hand.

Immediately, the people behind him attacked in Alfie's direction.

Mr. White turned around and walked in the opposite direction.

Cassius showed no surprise and followed behind.

It was surprising that the members of "Divine Love" entrusted their lives and property to him. Mr. White, accompanied by a few trusted aides, arrived at an abandoned building near the port. They took the elevator all the way to the top floor, where a plane was parked.

Under the bright lights, Cassius stood by the window, looking at the dark river below, seemingly lost in thought. Mr. White took off his glasses and smiled, "Are you reluctant to leave your homeland?" Cassius turned around leisurely and smiled, "No." Mr. White asked with interest, "Then what are you worried about?" Cassius' tone was inscrutable, "Mr. White, don't you think we left too easily?" Mr. White frowned. He did not think that they had left so easily.

"Divine Love" had developed its power in the capital for more than 20 years, and it was almost entirely buried under the pursuit of the Turner and Anderson families.

After they left, the remaining things would be completely destroyed.

Twenty years of hard work had been lost. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

This was an unprecedented failure.

In such a situation, Cassius actually said that they had left too easily? Mr. White asked seriously, "Cassius, I don't understand what you mean." Cassius smiled and his eyes deepened, "I think you may not understand what's in the bones of us men from the Anderson family." "It doesn't matter if you hurt him, but if you hurt the girl he loves, there will be no other result except to fight to the death." In addition, Osvaldo was going to get engaged to Selena after tonight.

How could he allow them, the two who caused harm to the Turner family and made Selena carry the guilt and the blame, to leave the capital alive?" Mr. White's expression becmore solemn. "What exactly do you want to say?" Cassius looked up towards the cockpit. "I just suddenly remembered that my nephew has a younger brother who seems to be a genius graduate from Lab 717. Does this mean that he may have an intelligence system that is no less inferior to the 'Sky Eye'?" As Cassius finished speaking, the person guarding Mr. White instantly raised their weapon, looking around warily.

"You guessed correctly," a bewitching voice with a hint of laughter suddenly resounded in the silent cabin, "but... there is no reward!" A cold and terrifying aura invaded the area with the voice.

"Who?!" "Who is it?!" The black gun barrels were suddenly pointed towards the direction of the cockpit door.

A slender figure appeared out of nowhere, with a tall and elegant figure, dark eyes, and icy lips, as if the gods and Buddhas of all heavens were being trampled underfoot by this cruel and ruthless person.

The man gradually raised his deep, dark and eerie eyes and cruelly stared at everyone present. "Do you need to leave any last words?" With the help of Eden, Black Crow and White Crow developed the correct antidote.

After confirming that there were no problems, they injected the vaccine into Selena's body.

White Crow frowned as he watched Selena endure the pain.

Before today, no one would have thought that the first antidote for the underground virus would be used on Selena.

Black Crow put down the syringe and carefully observed Selena's reaction.

Selena closed her eyes and obediently waited for the antidote to take effect.

An hour later, when they confirmed that the antidote had taken effect, everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

Upon hearing the news, Selena immediately stood up, put on a windbreaker and a mask, and walked towards the door.

Black Crow looked at her slender figure and instinctively wanted to stop her.

However, White Crow stopped him first and shook his head. "We can't stop her." They both knew that Selena was going to see someone.

If it weren't for being poisoned and unable to move, she would have gone to see that person at the first moment she heard the news.

Black Crow looked at the completely darkened sky outside and anxiously rubbed his hair. "Is it really okay to let her go in without knowing anything?" MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLLiIOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1536 He Was Just A Kid

Chapter 1536 He was just a kid White Crow watched Selena's slender figure disappear before him for a long tbefore shaking his head. "No one can stop her." Does Selena not suspect the man's identity? She knows.

She just doesn't care.

She didn't know what Osvaldo was thinking, but his lack of objection was clearly tacit approval.

If even Osvaldo had approved, it was useless for anyone else to say anything.

Seeing Black Crow's stern face, White Crow smiled. "She's always been clear-headed since she was a child. It's rare for her to trust someone, so let her go." "I'm just worried..." Black Crow said coldly.

"He won't hurt her." White Crow turned and walked away. "Besides, even if something happens within the capital, there will be people to cover for her." If the other party had ill intentions, they wouldn't have gone through the trouble of saving Selena.

Selena had just walked out of the hotel's entrance, and she saw Luke waiting with a group of people. When she emerged, he opened the car door and said, "Please, Mrs. Anderson." "Do you know where I'm going?" Selena asked, surprised.

"He askedto take you there," Luke smiled.

A warm feeling spread through Selena's heart, and she smiled before getting into the car.

More than ten black sports cars sped towards the outskirts of the city, their sleek bodies cutting through the night.

Sitting in the backseat, Selena turned to look at the tranquil night scene outside the window. It was beautiful, but she knew that this peace was only superficial.

At this moment, brutal killings and escapes were taking place in many parts of the city.

Luke looked at her pale face through the rearview mirror and couldn't help but sigh when he thought of her identity.

Aarav, Selena...

Just hearing these two names, one could tell that the relationship between the two was complicated and inseparable.

It was widely known that the Riddle family, with only one daughter, had succeeded at the age of five, making her the youngest empress in the empire's history and an extremely noble person.

Suddenly, a person of the snapped, rescuing her life repeatedly... It was hard for people not to think more about it.

When Osvaldo instructed him to take Selena to meet that person, Luke remembered the rare irritability and deep gaze in his eyes.

After tomorrow night, news about Selena would break out across the empire.

Whether it's her childhood sweetheart or her enemy, they will all be aware of her existence again.

At this critical moment, there is a mysterious figure named Aarav who has emerged...

The Riddle empire is truly unfathomable.

Fortunately, the other party has no ill intentions towards Selena, otherwise Osvaldo would never agree to let Selena meet him.

Luke withdrew his gaze and focused on driving.

Selena's dark eyes look out the window at the night scene, thinking about Osvaldo for a while, and then thinking about the big brother she only met once, a smile appearing on her face.

Inside the cabin, as they look at the man who suddenly appears in front of them, the remaining members of "Divine Love" all turn pale and defensively shield Mr. White behind them.

This man has at least killed more than half of their team! He has gradually pushed them to the brink of defeat, just like a cat toying with mice.

Osvaldo approaches them step by step, his bloody knife dragging behind him, and a bloodthirsty and chilling smile curves his lips. "I know everything about her," he says, "including her secrets." Mr. White's heart sinks.

He instantly understands that he cannot make a deal with this young man.

He only cares about Selena, but Osvaldo knows everything about her, from her hidden identity to the hatred she has experienced.

Therefore, Mr. White has no bargaining chips with Osvaldo.

As Osvaldo approaches with his bloody aura, it sends shivers down their spines.

The man standing at the forefront looks at his demonic and icy eyes, and a terrifying chill rises from under his feet. He instinctively pulls the trigger of his gun.

At the moment the bullet is fired, blood gushes out continuously from the man's neck. He opens his mouth wide, his eyes full of horror and disbelief, looking at Osvaldo as if he's seen a ghost.

He didn't even see how Osvaldo moved.

It seems that in the blink of an eye, Osvaldo had flashed in front of him, raised his knife and cut off his neck.

The tall man's body fell down and lay gasping for breath at Mr. White's feet, covered in red blood. He convulsed and twitched in excruciating pain, but after a moment, he tilted his head and stopped breathing.

Terror rose from within the cabin and seeped into the hearts of everyone.

The fear was so intense that everyone instantly raised their hands and aimed their guns at Osvaldo, pulling the trigger.

The bullets fired were all dodged with ghostly speed and chilling intent.

One slash after another, it was faster than chopping vegetables. Limbs and heads flew everywhere, and the narrow cabin became a scene of slaughter.

Red blood flowed all over the floor, and many people were so scared that they dropped their firearms. The sound of terrified screams echoed throughout the cabin.

Another bright flash of the blade sliced through the air, and a head flew off its owner's neck, landing straight at Mr. White's feet, still wide-eyed.

In the blink of an eye, apart from Cassius and Mr. White, there was no fourth person left alive in the cabin.

Osvaldo lifted his hand, and the blood on his blade dripped down like a small stream. He pointed his cold blade at Cassius, who was standing in front of him, and said, "It's your turn now!" Cassius looked at the young man in front of him with a somewhat dazed expression.

When he left the capital, Osvaldo was only six years old, still a cool and cute little kid.

Although he was a bit colder than other children his age, with a poker face and fewer words, he was still a normal child.

Even when he saw him, he would still call him "Uncle" obediently with his poker face.

How did Benjamin teach his son? How did he turn a once obedient and cool child into such a demon? Cassius smiled as he looked at the blade in front of him and drew the sword that had never been sheathed on his hand. "Well, letsee if you can compare to your father..." Osvaldo had never concealed his desire to kill Cassius. Search the (F)indNØVEL.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

From the moment he fell in love with Selena, Cassius beca person who must die in Osvaldo's dictionary. Every day he lived was like a thorn buried between him and Selena.

As Cassius finished speaking, a piercing cold light flashed before his eyes, and the man took a step back.

The sharp blades clashed, producing intense sparks.

Two black figures fought fiercely in the cabin, with their slender bodies flashing and their sharp killing intent piercing the night sky, tearing through the air.

Terrifying killing intent filled the cabin.

This was the pinnacle of a battle in a killing field.

Human eyes were useless at this moment, and Mr. White was forced to retreat repeatedly by the terrorizing killing intent.

Even more strangely, despite their fierce fighting, there was not a single sound around them.

MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiIOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1537 Congratulating Osvaldo On His Engagement

Chapter 1537 Congratulating Osvaldo on His Engagement Osvaldo's hair and clothes seemed to be weighed down by an invisible force, and hung heavily. Terrifying was the only adjective one could use to describe him.

Mr. White watched the confrontation between the two men and kept retreating until he reached the door of the cabin, with nowhere else to go.

He looked at Osvaldo, whose black eyes were icy and terrifying, and whose knife pierced out with a bone-chilling force.

The tip of the knife collided with Cassius' sword, and the next second, it stabbed straight through, aiming directly for Cassius' heart.

A flash of blood appeared on Cassius' black windbreaker.

Mr. White gritted his teeth and suddenly reached for a valve beside him.

With a loud boom, the entire plane suddenly exploded on the surface of the sea the next second...

At the time, Selena happened to get out of the car.

She looked up at the peaceful and beautiful manor in front of her, about to step inside, when she suddenly heard a loud roar.

Selena turned her head and saw a violent fireball erupting from the southeast sea.

Selena's fingers tightened as she asked Luke, "Where is Osvaldo right now?" Compared to Selena's nervousness, Luke didn't seem to be too worried, but instead said with a smile, "Mrs. Anderson, you should have more trust in your husband. Even if he's on that plane, he won't be in any danger. As long as you're safe, he'll be fine." Taking a deep breath, Selena suppressed her worries and nervousness, and said, "Call Osvaldo. After I cut, I want to see him." After saying that, Selena seemed to gain confidence and walked forward.

Clementine was guarding outside the manor. When Selena walked past, he respectfully said, "Miss, he's inside." Selena's orders were for them to guard here, prevent anyone from leaving, but not to disturb the peace of the host's house.

So Clementine and the others only knew that Selena was looking for someone inside, but they didn't know anything else.

But for Selena, as long as the other party was still here, it was enough.

"Wait for here," Selena said, leaving behind these words and walking into the manor alone.

A cold fragrance of flowers greeted her. Selena was stunned by the garden of blooming roses.

The garden of the Turner family was also filled with roses, which were planted by Callum himself for Nevaeh.

Perhaps because of the kindness of the owners, those roses looked vibrant and colorful no matter when or where they were seen.

However, at this moment, the garden only felt endless loneliness and coldness. It was a place where even the fragrance of flowers carried a cold breath.

Selena's resolute heart suddenly felt a chill. She lifted her head and looked at the villa in front of her, biting her lip and feeling rare nervousness.

What should she say to that big brother when she sees him? Should she thank him for saving her life? Should she say that she came to see him on purpose? Should she ask him to stay by her side? Selena stood in the beautiful garden, and the black eyes reflected this secluded world clearly.

She took a deep breath and calmed down her emotions. With endless expectation and joy, she stepped on the stairs without hesitation.

A loud roar startled the Turner family who had just arrived at the riverside.

Oscar raised his head and saw the plane exploding in mid-air, instantly realizing what had happened. He said coldly, "If he's alive, we'll find him. If he's dead, we'll find his body!" "Yes!" In an instant, countless planes and yachts rushed towards the direction of the exploded plane from all directions.

On the pitch-black river, a slender figure stood on the wreckage of the plane, with turbulent waves beneath his feet. His black windbreaker fluttered behind him, making a rustling sound in the wind.

The man raised his eyelids, and his eyes were met with an endless river, and the terrifying waters surged a thousand feet high.

After Cassius and Mr. White fell, they were instantly swallowed by the sea, leaving no trace.

Oswaldo stood there, with tender skin and a still indifferent expression. However, his deep black eyes seemed to hide something beautiful and terrifying.

A soft ding sound interrupted his thoughts. The man switched the knife to his other hand and took out his phone from his pocket, looking at the new message he just received from Luke.

[Your wife is very worried about you. She wants to see you after saying it out loud. Congrats on your engagement, Oswaldo!] It was less than an hour away from the day he and Selena were engaged.

There was movement behind him. The Turner family had arrived on their yacht and saw Oswaldo standing alone on the dark river surface. They were stunned for a moment, but then greeted him respectfully, "Mr. Anderson." After glancing at the dark river surface one last time, Oswaldo turned around and boarded the yacht, leaving.

Selena counted her steps and walked into the villa, only to be stopped by the person guarding inside.

"Miss, may I ask if the people outside are yours?" Selena was startled and looked at the person's face. A hint of guilt rose in her heart, "Yes..." The man looked at her disapprovingly, "Miss, I don't know why you would do this, but what you're doing is tantamount to unjust imprisonment. And your current behavior is trespassing on private property. These two things... both make my young master very unhappy!" Selena's face turned pale and she instinctively explained, "I didn't mean anything else. I just wanted..." She was just afraid that the other party would suddenly leave, so she had Clementine and the others wait outside. She just wanted to see this person, but he didn't seem to want to see her, so she broke in on her own.

It was only at this moment that Selena realized how rude her behavior was.

The man shook his head, "My young master likes to be quiet and dislikes outsiders disturbing him. Please ask them all to leave!" Selena's eyelashes trembled and she suppressed the inexplicable grievances in her heart, took out her phone and sent a message to Clementine.

Then she looked up, "They have all left. Can I go up and see him now?" The man paused for a moment and said coldly, "My young master is not feeling well and is resting now. Please leave." Selena's enthusiasm was suddenly doused.

She had imagined countless scenarios, but never expected that the other party would not even want to see her. He had saved her, but didn't even want to see her...

Selena suppressed the flood of grievances in her heart and walked past the man who had blocked her way, heading upstairs.

The man was stunned for a moment, then chased after her and blocked her way again, "Miss, please leave!" Selena looked at him with a cold tone, "Would you dare to hurt me?" The man's face froze.

Seeing his expression, the grievances in Selena's heart suddenly disappeared, and she smiled happily, "You won't dare to hurt me, so it's destined... you can't stop me!"
MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfiflO& 1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfiflO&1

SEAR*ch the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1538 Don'T You Want To See Me?

Chapter 1538 Don't you want to see me? After Selena finished speaking, she joyfully bypassed the man and headed upstairs.

The man looked at her back, feeling helpless and unsure of whether to stop her. He wanted to be firm, but due to shesitation, he couldn't bring himself to do it. All he could do was watch as Selena rushed inside like rascal.

Selena looked at the man's flustered expression, and the joy in her heart grew stronger.

It was extremely difficult for her to be rude, given her upbringing.

Oswaldo had taught her for so long, and the biggest change in Selena was that she no longer knocked on his door at any time.

But for this big brother, she subconsciously felt that she could be unrestrained. It was like no matter what she did, he would unconditionally accept her, which was a kind of intimacy completely different from facing Oswaldo.

Selena pushed aside the person blocking her path, coquettish and joyful, and went upstairs with her skirt in hand.

"Miss, please stop..." "My young master is already resting, you can't..." No matter what the other person said, Selena ignored it and continued until she reached the outside of the room.

Selena took a deep breath, tidied her hair and skirt, and after confirming that there was nothing wrong, a sweet smile appeared on her somewhat pale face as she raised her hand and pushed open the door.

The room was dimly lit.

A slender figure sat quietly on the sofa with his back to her. Even if it was just a back view, it exuded a sense of elegance that was engraved in his bones.

The man who stopped Selena felt embarrassed and said, "Sorry, young master, this young lady..." The man didn't turn around, and his voice was very flat, "It's okay, you can go." The man looked at Selena with concern, then left as if he had been pardoned.

Selena heard the familiar voice and blinked, like a girl who had done something wrong, apologized, "I didn't mean to disturb your rest, big brother, I just..." She was clever from a young age, with a cunning mind and good at persuasion, but at this moment, she was rare in confusion. "I wanted to thank you for saving me..." After speaking, Selena stared at the man a few steps away from her with shining eyes, waiting for his response.

The man listened quietly. After a moment, he finally spoke up and asked, "Is there anything else?" Selena was stunned for a moment, "There is... there is... I have things to ask you..." The man was silent for a few seconds, "I can't answer your question." Selena shook her head quickly, "It's okay. Those things are not important. I just wanted to see you..." There was silence for a few seconds.

The man's deep, hoarse voice finally spoke up, "You have seen me. You can go now." Selena's smile disappeared, and every fiber of her being exuded a thick sense of disappointment.

After a moment of silence, she lowered her head, her eyelashes slightly wet. "Big brother, don't you want to see me?" A moment of dead silence followed.

"The last time I saw you was an accident," the man's voice was low and hoarse. "After you go back, forget about it. Pretend that you've never seen me before." The joy in Selena's eyes faded away, and in an instant, she was filled with bone-deep disappointment.

She had been so looking forward to seeing him, but big brother didn't want to see her.

Selena watched as his somewhat indifferent back disappeared, her heart aching.

"Also," the cold voice suddenly sounded in the dimly lit space.

Selena looked up hopefully, only to hear even more cold words, "Don't cagine in the future." Selena's eyes widened slightly, and she even sniffled uncontrollably.

Knowing that he really didn't want to see her, Selena lowered her head, her long hair covering her expression. Her voice was low, with an unmistakable sob, "Big brother, I didn't mean anything else. I really just wanted to see you..." "I'm getting engaged tomorrow. If you can, please come to my engagement banquet." "It's not safe outside these days, and it's best not to go out. If you need anything, you can come anytime..." After saying a bunch of words, Selena stumbled downstairs. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

As her figure disappeared, the man with his back to the door turned his head, revealing an extremely pale and haggard face.

That face was so similar to Selena's, with the elegance in the eyes, that anyone who saw it would not doubt their blood relationship.

His slender, pale fingers tightly grasped the armrest of the sofa, the joints turning pale.

After walking a distance alone, Selena turned around and looked back.

The cold and beautiful villa stood alone in the darkness of the night, devoid of any signs of life.

Apart from loneliness, there was only a sense of coldness.

Selena stood outside the gate of the villa, looked around in confusion, and suddenly burst into tears after a moment.

Tears fell uncontrollably from her eyes.

Her delicate shoulders trembled with sobs, an unprecedented sense of injustice filling her.

He cared for her so much, why wouldn't he see her? To him, was she just a stranger whom he had helped with a simple task and had no further involvement with? Selena cried bitterly, feeling both heartbroken and lost.

She refused to admit the fact that they were strangers, yet she did not know how to break free from this impasse.

Wiping away her tears, Selena eventually looked back one last time, biting her lip before turning and leaving.

It was only a few minutes away from dawn, and the darkness seemed to hold no light.

Oswaldo was driving the car at nearly the speed of an airplane, the scenery outside rapidly receding.

As the car passed by a certain place, Oswaldo suddenly hit the brakes.

He pushed open the car door and hurried over to a tree.

A small figure crouched there, with long hair falling over her shoulders, suppressing her slender body into stillness.

Alone, she looked inexplicably pitiful.

Hearing the footsteps, Selena looked up, her pitch-black hair sticking to her cheeks, her expression somewhat dazed.

After seeing the figure approaching, Selena blinked.

Oswaldo walked over and almost dragged her into his arms from under the tree.

He wrapped her entire body in his embrace, his face devoid of any expression, revealing a terrifying anger, "Selena, what happened?" He had never seen his strong and confident wife with such a lost expression.

As if abandoned, like a young beast without a home...

Selena's curled lashes trembled, her dark eyes focusing as a smile appeared on her face. "Oswaldo, you're here." Oswaldo's gloomy, cold eyes stared at her face, "Did he hurt you?" After a moment of confusion, Selena understood who Oswaldo was referring to, shaking her head, "No." MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLiIOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1539 Happy Engagement

Chapter 1539 Happy Engagement Strictly speaking, the big brother didn't do anything inappropriate to her.

She had sent people to block his place and forcibly entered his bedroom without reason. The fact that he didn't forcefully kick her out already showed a great deal of restraint.

The reason why Selena was sad was simply because she couldn't accept the discrepancy in their relationship.

Oswaldo carefully observed her expression and gently hugged her when he saw that she was really upset about Aarav.

If it were anyone else who made Selena cry, even if it was Selena's biological parents, Oswaldo would never let them off easily.

But Aarav was the person who had saved Selena with "Light of God" and had a close relationship with "Divine Love". It was possible that he was being distant and cold towards Selena for her own good.

Before he figured out Aarav's identity, Osvaldo had no intention of changing the current situation.

Maybe he shouldn't have agreed to let Selena go see that man...

Selena lay in the warm embrace of the man, listening to his strong heartbeat, and soon pulled herself out of her sadness.

She comforted herself that the big brother didn't not care about her. He had saved her twice, and he must have sort of difficulties that made him distant and cold towards her.

Once she understood what had happened to him, he would not be so cold towards her anymore.

She looked up at the handsface of the man and smiled, "Osvaldo, it's okay now." Knowing that the big brother was the one who saved her was a good thing. Osvaldo had returned safely and intact, just as he had promised, which was another good thing.

Selena had never been a greedy person.

Osvaldo gazed at her gently, his eyes showing a frightening desire to devour the girl in his arms, as if he wanted to merge her into his bones and blood.

His slender fingers brushed away the moisture at the corner of her eyes, making a promise, "Selena, I will be good to you for the rest of my life." He would be good to her, love her, and protect her for the rest of his life.

Selena's eyes brightened, and she nodded, snuggling sweetly into Osvaldo's arms.

Osvaldo's strong arms wrapped around her, and his eyes were filled with tenderness. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

A couple embraces intimately under the dark blue canopy.

The hour hand on the clock square slid past 12:00 a. m. with unerring precision.

The engagement party had arrived.

At the smoment, on a hidden fishing boat, Mr. White was lying on the bow of the boat, coughing violently.

Not far away, Cassius stood there in a wretched state, looking far away in the direction of the capital, his eyes somewhat deep.

Mr. White coughed for a while, intermittently murmured, "There is ... one last thing ..." Cassius turned his head to look over, his eyes cold, "What else do you want to do?" Mr. White choked and laughed, "Don't worry, it is not a bad thing, it is my "god" prepared gifts for that girl." In the dark night sky, bright fireworks trailing a long tail, rose to the sky and blossomed in the night sky.

Selena, who was staying in the arms of Osvaldo, only felt a brightness in front of her eyes, subconsciously raised his head, and then saw the most beautiful spectacle in the world.

Colorful and gorgeous light bloomed in the night sky nearest to her, one after another, gorgeous light, spread across the sky.

Selena's vision was occupied by this grand blessing.

Her dark pupils clearly reflected the city full of fireworks.

In the villa not far away, the room on the second floor did not have the lights on, and under the dim light, a slender figure stood on the balcony, looking distantly at the place where Selena was.

The beautiful fireworks exploded under his eyes, the pair of cold and beautiful eyes, but there was not a single fluctuation.

The man's fingers clasped a gift in the palm of his hand, and his gentle, husky voice seemed to be wishing on the fireworks, and like offering a devout blessing to someone, "My princess, happy engagement ..." The capital city, where all is silent, seemed to cto life at this moment as a whole.

All those who did not sleep, all eyes wide open, shocked and quietly looking at that fireworks feast.

"What kind of fireworks are these? How cl've never seen it before?" "Beautiful, the whole capital is full of it, such a grand gesture..." Colorful fireworks rose up into the night sky, coming together to form a line of words.

[Happy engagement.] Selena looked up at the huge letters above her head, her dark eyes widening to the extrat that moment.

Her heart raced with a terrible tingling sensation.

A scene suddenly appeared before her eyes.

A six-year-old girl, unable to bear the boredom and hardship of studying, once again threw a tantrum and ran out of the teacher's room in tears.

Suddenly, a pair of long legs appeared in front of her, and she collided with them unprepared, her frail body falling to the ground.

She looked up and saw a person, very tall, with a somewhat blurry face in the bright sunlight, but vaguely felt that he was very good-looking.

The person smiled and reached out to pick her up, lifting her up to his eyes. "Who made my princess unhappy?" The girl blinked and then happily pounced on him. "Uncle! Daddy is mean, I don't want to study, I don't want to be a queen..." The smile on the man's face seemed to disappear for a moment as he helped her wipe away her tears, his voice soft. "Is it not good to be a queen?" "No," Her big eyes filled with tears, "Uncle, it hurts, I feel uncomfortable, I miss Mommy..." The man stared at her for a long time, then suddenly picked her up, putting her on his shoulder and walking outside. "Then don't study anymore. Con, I will take you out to play." The girl instantly went from crying to laughing, her big eyes dimming again. "But... Daddy said..." "Don't pay attention to that bastard," the man chuckled. "You're a kid, when you're unhappy, you don't have to listen to anyone!" "If he tries to make you study or lecture you again, don't hesitate to beat him!" The girl opened her arms and laughed happily over the man's head. "Uncle, can I turn into a bird and fly out to play?" The man laughed and said, "When you grow up, you can fly wherever you want..." He paused for a moment and added, "As long as you don't fly into the arms of a streacherous guy!" The girl didn't understand the last sentence, she only knew she could go out and play, and laughed happily on the man's shoulder.

The man carried the girl on his back, facing the sun, walking farther and farther away.

And when fireworks bloomed in the sky over the capital, in the distant imperial palace of the Federation, a pair of dark, clear eyes suddenly opened.

MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLLiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1540 Think About That Man

Chapter 1540 Think About That Man "Your Majesty, you're awake!" The man standing next to the bed hurried over, his exceptionally handsome face showing a rare loss of composure.

The woman on the bed heard the voice and turned her head in confusion.

As the young man's gaze met hers, his gentle and excited expression suddenly changed. His slender hand suddenly grabbed the tender neck, "You're not her, who are you?!" The girl's clear eyes reflected the young man's panicked face, and in the next second, tears suddenly fell.

In the capital city.

Selena looked up at the night sky above her.

My princess, congratulations on your engagement...

In this world, there was only one person who would call her princess.

In the end, it was still that person, the first to offer her the blessings of a family member.

Selena's long eyelashes trembled, and a sour feeling surged in her heart.

Oswaldo's slender fingers gently brushed over her eyes, "Selena, don't be sad." Selena blinked and smiled, "Oswaldo, let's go home." Today, she was engaged.

So she needed to rest well and be the most beautiful bride tomorrow.

Oswaldo picked her up and got into the car.

Before leaving, Selena gave an order, "Protect him in secret and don't disturb him." Oswaldo took Selena back to the Turner family.

Oscar and Patrick were both not there, and the servants of the Turner family waited in the hall. When they saw Oswaldo bringing Selena back, they all breathed a sigh of relief. SEARCH the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Miss, the young master just called and asked you to cback and rest well, and prepare for tomorrow's engagement banquet.

They will handle everything else." The Turner family was sparsely populated, and with both male masters occupied with matters, there was no way to take care of the family. Perhaps as compensation, the usually austere and antique Turner family mansion was rarely decorated with colorful luxury.

At a glance, it was red everywhere, exuding a festive atmosphere.

Selena stood in the hall, looking up at Oswaldo.

According to the customs of H Country, the engagement ceremony was usually held at the bride's home, and Osvaldo would bring the betrothal gifts to the Turner family to pick her up the next day.

Osvaldo looked at Selena's pale features. The poison in her body had just been cleared out, so for safety reasons, she wore a mask in the presence of outsiders.

Osvaldo removed the mask from her face and, before Selena could speak, lowered his head and kissed her luscious red lips.

After the kiss, Selena's face turned flushing.

Osvaldo tenderly held her in his arms, his thin lips against her ear. "Wait for me," he said.

Selena nestled against his chest, smiling sweetly. "Okay." Osvaldo personally escorted her back to her room before reluctantly leaving.

Selena stood at the window, watching Osvaldo's car drive away from the Turner family before turning to look at her beautiful wedding dress, hanging beside the bed with exquisite embroidery.

She looked at the vibrant red wedding gown, the jewelry on the table, and the festive decorations all over the room. It wasn't until now that she finally felt a sense of reality about her engagement today.

Tomorrow, she would become Osvaldo's true fiancée, not as anyone else, but as her true self.

Selena tilted her head slightly, gazing out at the tranquil night sky outside the window. A shy and hopeful smile appeared on her beautiful face.

At dawn, Patrick returned with exhausted steps.

The butler, who had also not slept all night, felt relieved when he saw the young master return safely. "Young master." Patrick rubbed his temples. "Where's Selena?" "Miss is still sleeping." "The engagement ceremony is at noon. Let her sleep longer." Selena had fought off the biggest crisis alone, and with her body just recovering from being poisoned, she couldn't fully recover in just one day.

If they weren't already short on time, he would have postponed the ceremony for a few more days.

Selena was probably really tired, and she slept until the morning light before getting up to wash up.

Selena changed into her clothes and just walked downstairs. Hattie, who was sitting in the hall reading a book, ran over and said, "Selena!" Hattie was wearing a bright red dress with fair skin and dark eyes, making her look very cheerful.

Selena's mood improved and she touched Hattie's hair and led her to breakfast.

Selena thought that with such a big event happening in the capital, Patrick and Oscar would not cback at this time.

Therefore, she was a bit surprised to see Patrick at the dining table.

"Patrick," she said.

Patrick smiled slightly, helped her pull out a chair, and whispered, "The engagement banquet is at two o'clock, and Father will be back at noon." Selena was taken aback, "Actually, you don't have to--" She was more aware of the situation in the capital than anyone else and fully understood Oscar and Patrick's current predicament.

"Selena," Patrick looked at her disapprovingly, "Things can be handled anytime, but a daughter's engagement only happens once in a lifetime!" If he misses it, he may never have it again.

Seeing Selena's resolute expression without a trace of grievance, Patrick sighed and touched her hair with his hand. "Selena, girls should not be so sensible, and should not shoulder all the responsibility." "Be more willful, and no one will blyou." Selena bit her lip, and her curly eyelashes trembled slightly.

Oscar knew she wasn't the real Selena.

Patrick also knew this fact.

Selena was ready to confront the Turner family after the situation in the capital was resolved.

It's okay.

She smiled slightly, "I understand, Patrick." She sat down on the chair and asked about the follow-up, "What about Mr. White and Cassius?" Patrick's voice turned cold, "So far, their bodies have not been found." Not finding their bodies meant they might still be alive.

Something flickered in Selena's eyes, and she picked up her spoon.

Patrick saw Selena's desolate expression and comforted her, "Selena, don't worry. Except for Mr. White and Cassius, the power of Divine Love, which has been developing in the capital for more than 20 years, has been completely uprooted." "In the future, they will no longer be able to threaten anyone." Selena looked up and smiled, "It's okay, I'm waiting for them in the underground city." Everything Mr. White did was to prevent her from rescuing the people in the underground city.

Now that she had the vaccine to save them, Mr. White would eventually cto her.

At that tSelena's eyes flickered.

Patrick saw that she was not discouraged and breathed a sigh of relief.

He said with a smile, "Selena, you're getting married today. Don't think about other things. You can think more about--" Although he was not very willing, in order to make Selena happy, Patrick still said that sentence, "That man." MMMWWLIIOfiO&1
MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 MULL TO £2 E1061
mmMwWLLiiofifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1541 Tribute To My Goddess

Chapter 1541 Tribute to My Goddess As soon as Osvaldo was mentioned, Selena's scattered thoughts instantly cback, and she curved her red lips into a sweet smile, nodded in agreement. SEARCH THE website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Seeing her happy, Patrick put his mind at ease.

After having breakfast together, Patrick went to prepare for the engagement ceremony while Hattie stayed behind to accompany Selena.

The two sisters sat in the garden, and Hattie looked at Selena's beautiful face. Suddenly, she seemed to remember something and asked, "Selena, my brother askedto ask you if Uncle and Aunt also want to attend the engagement ceremony, will you agree?" Selena was taken aback for a moment, and then she realized that the uncle and aunt Hattie was referring to Erica and and her husband.

They were afraid that she might have sresentment towards the Riddle family, so they told her in advance.

"Yes." The main branch of the Riddle family had no grudges with her, and that couple should have a good relationship with Lady Nevaeh. Therefore, Selena did not object to the Riddle family attending her engagement ceremony.

Hattie breathed a sigh of relief and showed a happy smile on her face.

Although Selena had never admitted that she was a member of the Riddle family, she was still Lady Nevaeh's daughter, and she had the blood of the Riddle family in her veins.

And now, there were only the three of them left in the direct bloodline of the Riddle family.

The sins of the previous generation could not continue forever.

Selena remembered the other members of the Riddle family who were imprisoned and smiled, "How are the other Riddle family members?" As soon as she mentioned Maddox and Daphne, Selena's smile disappeared instantly, and she became cold and icy, "My brother has seen them. Grandpa has been found with many things, and it will be difficult for him to count in the future. As for Daphne--" Hattie's tone became even colder, "She hasn't been found with anything, and she may be released soon!" Daphne had been stupid and malicious for most of her life, but she had never really been involved in anything dirty.

In Kiera's case, she was a thoroughly exploited victim.

Moreover, she was getting older, and out of humanitarian considerations, Zone Six would not keep her locked up forever.

Selena looked at Hattie's indignant expression and smiled meaningfully, "Being released may not be a good thing. Just wait and see, Hattie." As a privileged person, Daphne had lived a comfortable life for most of her life, and staying in prison would provide her with a place to live and food and water delivery. Apart from psychological pressure, she might not feel it deeply.

Once she comes out, no one will care about her anymore, coupled with people who will kick her when she's down - Daphne will soon deeply regret her past blindness! Hattie always listens to Selena's words. Selena said that Daphne will not have a good life once she comes out, so she will definitely not be comfortable. Hattie felt relieved and vented her frustration, then talked to Selena about other things.

Regardless of what happened in the darkness, for ordinary people, the sunrise on the second day is still a brand new day.

The whole city knows that Miss Turner is getting engaged today.

Perhaps out of respect for the Turner family, red lanterns are hung up on the streets and alleys, making the atmosphere more lively than ever before.

Countless people from Creephia University, Capital University, the perfume industry, the medical industry, and the entertainment industry are discussing the upcoming engagement banquet.

Selena's fans are camping on Weibo early in the morning, hoping to see Miss Turner's engagement photos, although they know it's a long shot.

At midnight, Weibo has already set a trending topic to congratulate Miss Turner on her engagement, and all the comments are full of blessings.

This seems like an ordinary day, yet it seems not.

Lively, peaceful, and full of blessings - these are the tones written on everyone's faces.

However, just as H Country was peaceful and lively, a video suddenly surfaced on the internet, instantly pushing Selena's engagement news to the global trending topics.

The cause was a world-class painter from Y Country, who shared a video on his Twitter at midnight. "To pay tribute to my goddess!" The video starts with a bright and warm red color, and the whole screen is dominated by a colorful oil painting, showing the figure of the sgirl to everyone.

On the podium of Creephia University, a girl in a white long dress smiles confidently; at the fragrance competition award ceremony, a girl in a lotus green dress smiles and raises the trophy in her hand, with two wings soaring behind her.

In the dark forest, a young girl in the green military uniform stood at the head of a black bear, holding a knife in both hands and ruthlessly stabbing into the eyes of the beast, her eyes dark.

In the international medical competition, a young girl in a white coat held a newborn baby, the tenderness under her eyes was like the white light of salvation descending.

Frafter rflashed past the eyes, the warm and open smile of the young girl deeply reflected in the eyes and soul of everyone who saw her.

As soon as this video cout, it went wild.

No one deliberately pressed the heat again, in just one night, it spread in the foreign network.

The video soon appeared on H country's hot search as well.

All the girls who saw this collectively went crazy.

[Ahhhh! Del Piero! World-class oil painting giant!!!] [He painted Selena, and every single one of them is so beautiful and mind-blowing!!!] [Tribute to my goddess! This is a special engagement gift to Selena! It is so romantic!!!] Selena naturally got the news soon.

She looked at the painting, her eyes deep, but a smile of admiration appeared on her face, "This is a real artist!" Patrick looked at the smile on Selena's face and also followed it, "Just now this artist contacted the H oil painting association, he wants to give these paintings to you as an engagement gift, will you to accept it?" Selena stood up from the rattan chair, walked to the stone steps and looked at the distant sky, "This video is spreading in the internet?" Patrick frowned, "Yes, it's a bit strange, even your participation in the international medical competition did not have such a high degree of heat." "And this painting only appeared for one night, and it went wild." Selena turned to Patrick with a smile, "Patrick, help thank this Mr. Del." This is the meaning of willing to accept.

It can be seen that Selena is indeed in a good mood.

"Okay, the painting will probably be delivered in the evening, it's almost time. The makeup artist will be here soon, and you will be busy in the afternoon, you can have rest first." Selena smiled faintly and went upstairs to her room.

If before, she only guessed that someone had secretly suppressed her news to prevent the Alliance from knowing about her existence, then after experiencing this incident, Selena instantly affirmed this guess.

MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1542 Engagement Banquet

Chapter 1542 Engagement Banquet Who is this person? Selena smiled and walked into the room with a light step.

At the stime, on a private island in the North Atlantic, the scenery was beautiful.

A petite woman lazily leaned on the sofa, watching the image on the projector in front of her.

Outside the window was an endless expanse of blue sea, and the sunlight pouring in from the floor-to-ceiling windows was sparkling.

She stared at the girl on the screen for a while, suddenly laughed, and her eyes gradually beccold, in contrast to the sweet and generous laughter.

"The person who made a nfor herself at the international event a year ago, and you are only tellingnow?" The butler standing next to her sweated profusely and lowered his head, "Please forgive me, Miss." The woman smiled ambiguously at him and shook her head. "Forget it, it's not surprising if it's her." She never pursued past mistakes.

People who are not well-trained can always be replaced.

The woman put down her tea and stood up slowly.

When she was sitting down, it wasn't very obvious, but the moment she stood up, her strong and noble aura instantly came to the fore.

There are people who may not be the most beautiful, but their innate ease and confidence make them shine brighter than anyone else.

The woman walked in the direction of the door, and every detail of her gestures was like a pile of gold and jade, naturally dignified and elegant.

She stood in front of the door and looked up at the sea in the distance.

On the clear blue sea, there were hidden turbulent waves surging towards this side.

Selena, the super genius of Lab 717, the director of the research institute, the "Sacred Pearl" lost in the capital of H Country, and the stormy half-year of the Dark Empire... such a familiar and feeling...

She squinted her eyes, which radiated endless ambition and desire, and laughed deeply, "Selena, when you were alive, you weren't my opponent, and when you died, you couldn't stop from getting everything I wanted..." She has been away from the empire for a year.

Now, it's time to go back.

Inside the mansion, Selena changed into a brightly colored dress, embroidered with golden phoenixes that looked almost lifelike and were about to fly out.

She sat on the stool while the makeup artist held a wooden comb and tied up her beautiful long black hair, wearing a ruby jewelry with a simple and elegant style that looked exquisite from every angle.

After the makeup was done, Selena stood up from the mirror, and as she turned around, everyone in the room felt dazzled and stunned by her beauty.

Everyone says that becoming a bride is the most beautiful moment in a girl's life, and Selena at this moment exemplified that statement perfectly.

The bright red wedding dress showed off her slender and tall figure, and the red gemstones on her black hair made her look like she had gathered all the beauty and charm in the world.

Hattie ran over happily, "Selena, you look so beautiful!" Selena rubbed her hair and was about to speak when suddenly there was a knock at the door.

Hattie ran over and opened the door, and Lydia stood outside, blushing when she saw Selena. "Miss, Mr. Anderson's car is outside." Selena smiled and the makeup artist handed her a beautifully embroidered wedding fan. She held it in front of her and walked downstairs, surrounded by a group of people.

The hall was already full of people. When everyone turned their heads and saw the girl walking down with a group of people, the whole room erupted with whistles.

"Wow! So beautiful!" "She's gorgeous! Mr. Anderson is so lucky!" Patrick sat in the family section, looking at Selena, his face not showing any of the joy of a happy occasion. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Leon sat next to him, staring at the two Riddle sisters who were happily standing together on the stage for a moment before turning to Patrick and saying, "It's not too late to back out now." Patrick was silent.

If he backed out now, wouldn't Osvaldo and the Turner family fight back with all they had? Black Crow and White Crow sat in the corner, staring at Selena for a while. Suddenly, Black Crow turned to White Crow and said, "Should I call Stanley now and ask him to elope with her?" White Crow and Joanna were silent.

That's messed up...

Not only were the young people unhappy, even the several big shots of Zone Six sitting in the main seats had complicated expressions at the moment.

Sidney glanced at the pretty young girl, then turned to Oscar beside him. "Oscar, do you want to reconsider? Wait for Callum to cback and then decide on your niece's marriage?" Oscar remained silent.

If this was the real daughter of the Turner family, he might still have ssay in the matter. But Selena was not. She liked the man from the Anderson family, and getting engaged to him was her own wish, which he couldn't control.

For a moment, more than half of the voices on the scene were urging the Turner family to back out and snatch Selena back.

However, these opposing voices abruptly stopped when they saw the man walking in from outside, under the bright sunlight.

He had black hair and wore a black suit with a necktie. The sapphire cufflinks on his sleeves emitted a dark and precious light.

From a distance, the man's gentle gaze fixed unwaveringly on Selena, and his face under the black hair exuded an irresistible charm.

Through his deep, dark eyes, he stared straight at Selena with a focused attention that made people's hearts tremble.

His invisible power and handsomeness swept through the entire room centered around him, suppressing any dissenting thoughts.

Selena sensed something from the quiet crowd and secretly moved the fan in front of her to the side to steal a glance at the man opposite her.

The next second, she moved it back with a sweet and shy blush on her cheeks and a smile in her big eyes.

Although it was only a fleeting glance, Selena still saw the man's current appearance. He was so handsome...

Seeing her mischievous movement, Osvaldo raised an arc on his lips and walked towards Selena step by step.

In the dead silent space, every step he took seemed to tread on the tip of everyone's heart.

He walked up to Selena, facing the gazes of the crowd, calmly half-knelt his slender body, and raised the diamond ring in his hand, speaking solemnly like an ancient oath, "Selena, will you marry me? No matter poverty, illness, disability, or even death, I will love you and be loyal to you." "Will you marry me?" Although she knew this was part of the engagement ceremony, when she heard such vows again, Selena couldn't help but tremble with excitement.

MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfIO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1543 Leaving

Chapter 1543 Leaving Selena lowered her long lashes, her eyes fixed on the ring held high by Osvaldo. As she was about to speak, a sudden burst of excited screams erupted from the crowd.

"Marry him! Marry him!!" "Selena, say yes, say yes!!" "With those two beautiful faces, not getting married would be a crime!!" Selena thought back to the opposition she had heard earlier and compared it to the present moment. Her smile became sweeter.

Her boyfriend was truly capable of anything...

Blushing, Selena smiled, her clear and melodious voice ringing out through the room. "Okay." She moved the fan that was blocking her face and revealed her stunningly beautiful features to Osvaldo.

Osvaldo's deep black eyes suddenly brightened. He took Selena's delicate hand and devoutly slid the ring onto her slender ring finger. Then, he stood up, embraced Selena, and lowered his head to kiss her crimson lips.

Everything happened so naturally and smoothly that many people didn't even react until it was over. After coming back to their senses, the sky-high screams nearly toppled the roof.

In a cool and elegant villa, a man sat on the balcony, his gaze fixed on the Turner family's direction. "The engagement banquet should be over by now, right?" The person standing beside him glanced at the setting sun and replied softly, "Yes, the engagement banquet went smoothly, and Miss has a fiancé now." A hint of desolation appeared in the man's eyes. After a moment, a smile formed at the corners of his lips.

Having a fiancé meant having someone to rely on. Even without him, that man would still love and protect her...

She would no longer have to go through the painful death she had experienced before.

"Also, there's one more thing..." The man hesitated for a moment before speaking up. "Young Master, that person has arrived." The man was taken aback, a glimmer of light flashing in his eyes. "How could it be so fast?" Selena's news had only spread through the Empire this morning. Even if the other party was fast, it was impossible for them to arrive in the capital on the sday.

Something unexpected must have happened in between.

But now was clearly not the time to investigate. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

The man gazed in the direction of the Turner family mansion, his face pale and indifferent. "Where is he?" "Just got off the plane," the subordinate's voice had an indescribable meaning. "After all, he is Miss'... Should we notify Mr.

Anderson?" "No need," the man shook his head, his pitch-black calm eyes deep and misty. "Since he's here, no one can make him leave.

This is for the best." After all, whether it was him or Osvaldo, no matter how fierce their competition was, they could not harm Selena.

The Empire already knew about Selena's news and the crisis she would face was unimaginable. In a situation where he couldn't openly protect her, the arrival of that person at this moment was a good thing for Selena's safety.

Finally, the man looked in the direction of the Turner family mansion, cut off the attachment and reluctance in his heart, and stood up slowly. "Let's go." His slender figure turned and blended into the dusk.

The purpose of his stay here was to see Selena's engagement with his own eyes. Now that his wish has been fulfilled, Selena has a good protection network, and it is time to leave.

The subordinate breathed a sigh of relief instantly. The master's body had long been pushed to its limit, and if he didn't go back now, anything could happen at any time.

Inside the Turner family mansion, as Selena was being led by Osvaldo to toast the elders, she suddenly froze.

She unconsciously turned her head and looked in the direction of the villa.

A feeling of emptiness and discomfort rose in her heart, as if something important was drifting away from her.

She didn't know that the only person in the world connected to her by blood was getting farther and farther away from her tonight.

A slender hand gently stroked her hair, and Osvaldo's voice was full of love and comfort. "What's wrong?" Selena's eyelashes trembled, but she didn't know how to explain. "I..." Osvaldo looked at her bewildered and lost eyes, and his brow furrowed.

He informed Lady Lauren and took Selena's hand, leading her out of the hall.

In the quiet garden, Osvaldo's gaze traveled down from Selena's face and fell on the location of her heart, placing his slender fingers there. "Does it hurt here?" Selena came back to her senses, looking into the man's concerned eyes and unconsciously said, "Osvaldo, I want to go there..." Osvaldo softly asked, "Where?" Selena unconsciously looked in the direction of the villa.

Oswaldo looked at her red wedding dress in silence for a moment, then took Selena and got into the car, arriving at the villa.

By now, it was completely dark.

The empty villa was located in the darkness, making it even more desolate.

Clementine and the others were ordered to keep watch in the shadows. When they saw Selena could go, they immediately crouched and respectfully said, "Miss, we have been watching and have not found anything unusual." Selena's command was for them to secretly protect the person inside.

She had just completely uprooted the power of "Divine Love" in the capital, and the people inside had special identities, making it difficult to ensure that they would not be implicated.

Seeing Selena's concern for that person, they stayed there without leaving.

However, there was no joy on Selena's face. Her gaze fell on the villa, and it was impossible to tell what she was thinking.

Oswaldo led her to the front gate, and just as Selena hesitated to ring the doorbell, Oswaldo pushed the door open and walked in.

Selena was stunned. Why wasn't the door locked? The beautiful courtyard was very quiet.

The night breeze carried the scent of roses, occupying the entire courtyard.

Selena unconsciously followed Oswaldo into the empty hall, where there was no one.

In a moment, the hollow sense of loss in Selena's heart reached its peak.

She searched the first floor but didn't see anyone.

She held onto the staircase railing and went up to the second floor, arriving at the room where she had seen the man before. But there was still nothing inside.

She refused to give up and searched each room one by one, but ultimately found nothing.

Selena's expression was somewhat unexpected, yet also seemed to be within expectations.

She lowered her head, her eyes heavy with disappointment and sadness.

So he really had left.

What a pity. She hadn't even asked for the man's name. He had promised her that if they had the chance to meet again, he would tell her his name.

Just as Selena was feeling disheartened, Osvaldo suddenly walked out of the man's bedroom and handed something to her, his voice very light. "Selena, this should be something he left for you." Selena looked at the object in Osvaldo's palm and was momentarily stunned.

MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1544 Selena, It'S Time To Go Back

Chapter 1544 Selena, It's Tto Go Back It was a beautifully wrapped gift.

Selena reached out and took it, staring at the exquisite packaging for a moment before looking up at Osvaldo with a hopeful expression. "Is this for me?" Osvaldo gave her a definite answer. "Yes, it's for you." A gift from Aarav could only be meant for Selena.

A happy smile spread across Selena's face. She couldn't wait to untie the ribbon and see what was inside. As she opened the box, a note fell out.

She picked up the note and read it carefully. The anger she had been holding onto because of being neglected dissipated completely.

Selena pinched the note and looked up at Osvaldo, smiling. "Osvaldo, he said that this is my engagement gift, but I can only open it when I'm in danger." She had a vague idea of what might be inside.

After helping the Turner family to completely eradicate the "Divine Love" organization's influence in the capital, Selena had beca thorn in their side.

The man had close ties with "Divine Love," and this gift probably contained ssecret about the organization that would help her turn the tide in a critical situation.

Osvaldo looked at her with a deep gaze. S~earch the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Even without knowing the man's identity, he felt heartbroken by the man's words and happy because of a belated gift.

Aarav's influence on Selena exceeded his expectations.

Selena had received the gift she most wanted, and the man's leaving without a word no longer made her feel as bad.

Although she had failed to keep him here, she knew of his existence and had confirmed that he was her lifesaver.

In the future, she would definitely meet him again and figure out their relationship! Selena carefully put away the gift and looked up at Osvaldo with a confident and joyful smile. "Honey, let's go back." Osvaldo looked at her for a moment, then took her hand and led her out of the villa.

Before getting in the car, Selena instructed Clementine, "Protect this place and don't let anyone disturb it." Then she followed Osvaldo into the car.

At the stime, White Crow, who had just left the wedding banquet, felt his phone vibrate in his pocket.

He took out his phone and looked at the newly received message on the screen, his face showing an indescribable change for a moment.

Black Crow, who walked up to him, noticed his unusual expression and frowned, asking, "What's wrong?" White Crow raised his head and looked at the darkening sky in the distance, his eyes showing a complicated expression. "He's here." Black Crow's expression changed slightly.

Ten minutes later, the two brothers walked into a hotel closest to the mansion and pushed open the door to a certain room.

In the dim light, a young man with black clothes and hair stood in front of the window, looking in the direction of the Turner family's mansion. With his handsface and elegant and calm demeanor, the shabby hotel room seemed to have turned into a palace adorned with reliefs and jewels for a moment.

Hearing their footsteps, the young man turned around and looked at them with a smile. "Long tno see, Black Crow, White Crow." His gentle and pleasant voice, at this moment, made Black Crow feel chills all over his body. He quietly took two steps back and stood behind White Crow.

"Stanley, calm down," said White Crow, frowning.

"If wasn't calm enough, I would have appeared directly in that mansion," Stanley said as he approached step by step, hiding something terrifying under his gentle facade. "I don't want to know how much you've hidden from me, I only have one question." He stared at White Crow's eyes, smiled and whispered, "Where is she?" The engagement banquet of the Turner family was still going on, but Osvaldo took Selena straight to the villa.

The decorated and lively villa was quiet, but there was no trace of coldness or loneliness.

Selena walked into the living room and did not see anyone she knew, not even Leia. She curiously asked, "Where did Noah and the others go?" Usually when she arrived, someone would immediately greet her.

Osvaldo turned around and looked at her meaningfully. "There won't be anyone else in the villa tonight." Selena blinked her eyes, and a few seconds later, she seemed to suddenly remember something, her cheeks blushing instantly.

Osvaldo looked at the young girl's blushing cheeks and chuckled lightly, taking her hand and walking into the kitchen. "What do you want to eat?" The servants were not there, and Osvaldo obviously intended to cook by himself.

Selena remembered the bowl of noodles that Osvaldo had made for her last time and looked around. "I like everything." Osvaldo settled her into a chair and opened the fridge to take out ingredients.

Selena watched as the food she liked was taken out one by one without any mistakes. She grabbed Osvaldo's wrist from behind and said, "Just bit." They were only two people and wouldn't be able to finish it all if he made too much.

Osvaldo lowered his eyes and looked at the cute girl sitting obediently next to him, her big eyes looking at him with tenderness, and his heart suddenly became extremely soft.

He wanted to see her happy and tender like this for many years to come.

Osvaldo leaned down and kissed her red lips, whispering, "Wait for a moment." Selena smiled and nodded.

Osvaldo cooked while Selena sat bored next to him, propping her chin up with her hands and watching him cook.

There were no unnecessary words, but everything was so warm and beautiful.

After dinner, Osvaldo took Selena's hand and led her for a walk in the garden.

Under the bright moonlight, in the quiet garden, the two of them walked for a while. Suddenly, Osvaldo stopped and looked down at the woman leaning against him.

Selena noticed his gaze and looked up at him, "What's wrong?" The man's thin lips curved up, "Selena, do you remember what you promised me?" Selena's cheeks turned blushing in an instant.

She had promised that when she accepted his feelings, she would tell him everything about herself.

She also promised to be his true wife at their engagement banquet.

Now it was tfor her to fulfill her promise.

Oswaldo's slender hand rested on Selena's shoulder, he looked deeply at her with encouragement, "Selena, do you have something you want to tell me?" Selena looked at the man's gentle eyes, and her heart beat wildly.

He probably already had an idea of her secret by his side and was waiting for her to confess.

Atall figure was approaching on the path not far away.

Selena took a deep breath, gathered all her courage, and was about to tell Oswaldo her true identity, but a gentle voice behind her interrupted her words, "Selena, you should go back now." MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifiO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLiilOfifiO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1545 Regaining What Was Lost

Chapter 1545 Regaining What Was Lost "Selena, it's tfor you to go back," cthe sudden words.

With these unexpected words, all the sounds around them suddenly disappeared.

Oswaldo held Selena in his arms, with a fleeting glint of malice in his eyes.

Selena was stunned upon hearing the familiar voice and stood frozen in place.

As if in a dream, she turned around and saw someone even more familiar to her.

Selena's dark eyes widened to their fullest, staring fixedly at the young man in front of her whom she knew so well.

He was still as handsand gentle as ever, with no change except for sthings in his eyes that she couldn't understand.

Stanley's gentle and profound gaze remained fixed on Selena.

He walked step by step towards her, under Osvaldo's cold gaze, and suddenly reached out to hold her in his arms.

He held the familiar person and felt the familiar sweet breath, whispering softly, "I'm sorry." He was sorry that he had let her die painfully on the battlefield.

He was sorry that he had let her wander alone and suffer so much.

He was sorry that he had only found her now.

Selena's eyelashes were wet with tears as she looked dreamily at the young man in front of her and murmured, "... Stanley?" Stanley's mouth slightly curved as he looked at her tenderly. "It's me, Selena." Selena confirmed that this person was real, and her nose suddenly becsour.

This person had witnessed her transformation from a girl to a young woman.

He had been with her all the way, from a fragile girl who was afraid of pain and would cry to a strong and resilient queen.

He had been a participant in her life for the past eighteen years.

He was the last person she saw before she died.

He was the first familiar person she saw after her rebirth.

Selena finally saw her childhood companion, who had accompanied her as she grew up, and a happy smile appeared on her face.

She was about to speak when Osvaldo's dark voice suddenly cover, "Selena, aren't you going to introduce me?" Selena was taken aback, finally snapping out of her surprise at seeing her childhood friend. She then realized that her posture with Stanley was too intimate at the moment.

She smiled and patted Stanley's shoulder. "Stanley, letgo." Stanley's gaze lingered on her bright red wedding dress for a moment, his eyes darkening slightly. He released her hand and smiled at Osvaldo. "Selena, who is this?" Selena hooked her arm around Osvaldo's and said to Stanley, "He's Osvaldo, my..." She blushed slightly, glanced at Osvaldo, then continued, "fiancé." Then she pointed at Stanley and introduced him to Osvaldo solemnly. "Osvaldo, he's Stanley, my good friend who has been withsince I was young." Osvaldo smiled faintly and curved his thin lips. "Since he's your good friend, he's also my good friend, and we should treat him well." His dark gaze fell on Stanley, and he laughed. "Today is my engagement banquet with Selena. Mr. Soo, please have a few more drinks." Stanley said with a smile, "When I arrived in the capital, I heard that the Anderson family's young master and Miss Turner were getting engaged today. Selena is not Miss Turner, so... there's no need for to have drinks." Before Osvaldo could speak, Stanley's expression became serious. "Selena, I have something important to tell you." Selena remembered her promise to Osvaldo and was about to postpone their reunion time. But when she heard Stanley say, "It's about your mother," her heart sank.

Her mother's health was poor, and she was her only daughter. Selena had been worried about this for a long time.

Stanley had struck a nerve.

Osvaldo saw Selena's face turn pale and her black butterfly-like eyelashes fall over her eyes. He took the initiative to say, "Since it's about Selena's mother, we can't delay it." Selena, who was feeling embarrassed, brightened up when she heard Osvaldo's words.

Osvaldo gently touched her hair and smiled. "Just don't forget the two things you promised when you came back." He leaned in, and his thin lips brushed against her earlobe intimately. "It will require double compensation." Selena blushed instantly, feeling the warmth of the man's heart. She smiled shyly and said, "Okay." Stanley looked at her shy and sweet smile, his eyes dimming.

Osvaldo laughed softly and released Selena. "I'll take you there." Selena was moved by the man's heartfelt words and kissed Osvaldo's cheek on tiptoe. "Okay." Osvaldo took off his coat and draped it over Selena's shoulders. "It's chilly at night." After giving instructions, he picked up Selena and walked towards the garage.

Stanley watched their backs, his gaze deep and distant.

Osvaldo took Selena to a mansion.

Black Crow and White Crow were standing at the door, waiting.

Black Crow was holding his arms and looked impatient. When he heard the commotion, he looked up and saw Osvaldo carrying Selena out of the car, with Stanley getting out of another car.

The scene of the three of them standing together made Black Crow feel overwhelmed.

Even the usually calm White Crow had an indescribable expression on his face.

Osvaldo placed Selena on the steps and touched her hair, "Don't stay up late, rest well, and call when you're done." Selena smiled and nodded in response.

Oswaldo withdrew his gaze and looked at Stanley with a mysterious meaning, "My fiancée is not in good health. Please take care of her, Mr. Soo." Stanley said calmly, "Selena is irreplaceable to me, and I will naturally take good care of her." Oswaldo smiled, "Thank you, Mr. Soo." The two men's gazes met in mid-air and almost at the same time, Oswaldo walked away and Stanley's lips formed a gentle and elegant smile again.

Selena did not notice the tension between the two men. After watching Oswaldo leave, her relaxed expression disappeared, and she walked towards the mansion. Stanley followed her half a step behind, calmly and confidently.

Black Crow and White Crow exchanged a glance, both seeing the worry in each other's eyes. Search the FindNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

The more gentle Stanley appeared, the more abnormal he seemed to them.

Stanley's experience could not be taken lightly. He had suffered the death of his beloved, endured pain, and wandered outside. It was already the best result that he did not go insane.

After finally regaining what he had lost, he had yet to see the person, and he saw she he had cared for growing up, wearing a wedding dress and becoming another man's fiancée in front of him.

MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOIfiO& 1 MMMWWLIIOIfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1546 Can Never Go Back

Chapter 1546 Can Never Go Back If it were any other man, he wouldn't be able to remain so calm in this situation. But Stanley managed to hold it in.

It wasn't that he didn't love Selena. Anyone who had seen how he had taken care of the girl since she was young would never doubt the deep affection Stanley held for her. She was someone he cherished and loved deeply.

But when he saw Selena get engaged to another man before his very eyes, he not only held back his emotions, but also managed to keep his composure in front of her.

This kind of self-control was both powerful and terrifying.

Black Crow couldn't help but shiver when he remembered Stanley's expression upon hearing about Selena's engagement with another man.

He turned to White Crow and asked, "Did we make a mistake?" If they had told Stanley about Selena's situation in Creephia earlier, they couldn't be sure who she would end up with.

White Crow looked at the fading figures of Stanley and Selena walking side by side and shook his head after a long pause. "He just lost to bad timing." If Selena hadn't died on the battlefield, she would have most likely married Stanley after she grew up. If Stanley had found out earlier that Selena was reborn in Creephia, he might have had a chance to find her and bring her back. But he was, in the end, a step too late.

As soon as Osvaldo left the mansion, his expression turned cold.

In his plan, Stanley wouldn't arrive in the capital until tomorrow at the earliest. But something unexpected must have happened along the way, causing him to arrive a day early.

But the result wasn't too bad.

Selena was already engaged to him, and given her temperament, even if Stanley were to confess his feelings to her now, he would only be met with rejection.

Osvaldo took out his phone and called Luke.

Luke had no idea that his brother's night with his mistress was about to be ruined and joked, "Why do you have to call now?" For tonight, Osvaldo gave all the servants in the villa a day off, leaving only him and Selena. On such a beautiful and romantic night, Osvaldo, true to his nature, would not waste it on unrelated matters.

His tone was cold as he spoke, "There was an unexpected incident on the federal. Stanley arrived in the capital earlier and found out about it!" With Selena's identity already exposed, any unusual incident could potentially endanger her.

Luke's tone instantly became serious as he replied, "I understand." Stanley's special status in the alliance made it difficult to investigate him. However, when it came to Selena's safety, no matter the cost, they had to uncover the truth of the incident.

Furthermore, Stanley had arrived in the capital tonight, and Luke was unaware of it. This was also his negligence.

With Stanley here, Selena was sure to have no mood to talk love with Osvaldo. This opportunity that he had been eagerly waiting for was gone... it was quite tragic.

Afraid of Selena being harmed, Luke promptly hung up the phone and got to work.

Oswaldo stood in the dark for a moment and then turned to look at the courtyard behind him, his eyes deep.

He remembered the hug that Stanley had given Selena.

If not for his strong self-control, he almost couldn't resist attacking him on the spot.

He didn't intervene because he knew that Selena needed that hug, but only this once! No one could take his wife away from him! Inside the mansion, Selena sat down on the sofa in the hall and looked up at Stanley.

Stanley habitually walked to the side, helped her with a cup of warm water, placed it in front of her, and then sat across from her.

Under the warm and bright light, two people who were familiar with each other to the core looked at each other face to face.

Stanley's gaze was focused, with something unfamiliar and incomprehensible in his eyes.

After a long time, Selena smiled first, "Are you looking at like this because I have changed too much?" Even if they looked alike, there were still things that were different in the end. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Stanley said with a smile, "For me, Your Majesty being alive is more important than anything else in the world." The most terrifying thing he had ever experienced was seeing her lying in the center of a pile of bloody corpses.

Perhaps it was because of that gruesome and shocking scene that he didn't lose control when he heard the news of Selena's engagement to that man.

Selena curved her red lips and asked, "Even if I lose everything in the empire, and am no longer me?" Stanley gazed at her lively features and tenderly replied, "In my heart, you will always be the most noble and beautiful queen of the empire." Selena's eyes deepened, "Stanley, I will go back, but I can never go back. Do you understand?" Stanley reached out his hand to her and said gently and devoutly, "Your Majesty, welcome." Selena smiled happily, like when they made a promise in their childhood, that he would assist her in becoming the greatest queen of the alliance, and put her hand in his.

Stanley looked at the delicate and precious hand in his palm, but before he could feel its warmth, Selena withdrew it.

She suppressed her smile and asked in a solemn tone, "How is my mother?" Stanley calmly withdrew his hand and whispered, "After receiving your message, Madam fell ill, and her condition is not good." He looked at Selena tenderly, "Not only Madam, but also your father and many others... Your Majesty, you should go back now." Selena smiled and turned her head to look out the window.

A bright moon hung in the night sky.

At this time, she should have been in Osvaldo's arms, telling him about her identity.

But it turned out that she had to talk with Stanley instead.

Regret and guilt rose in Selena's heart.

But her habit of always putting aside personal matters and focusing on business made it impossible for her to act recklessly and go pursue her love.

Love is a luxury for those in power.

Compared to Osvaldo, she had too little attention to give to that man.

Selena suppressed the bitterness in her heart and put away all her romantic thoughts. When she withdrew her gaze, her eyes had regained their calmness and dignity.

"Tell everything that happened in the empire after my death!" The next morning at 7 o'clock, Selena finally walked out of the estate gate with Stanley's company, and outside, she saw Osvaldo waiting for her.

Selena was stunned.

A glint of intrigue flashed in Stanley's eyes.

Selena stared at the man walking towards her, biting her lip and her voice trembling, "You have been waiting for here all along?" Osvaldo lowered his eyes and looked at her pale cheeks, "Didn't you promise to give a call when you are done?" "I..." Selena moved her lips, but no sound out.

MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfifIO& 1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfifIO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Read Chapter 1547 Compensation

Chapter 1547 Compensation

Chapter 1547 Compensation She had originally planned to call Osvaldo, but Stanley insisted on sending her back himself. Besides, she felt guilty about the man and didn't want to tire him out too much.

Her dark eyes looked at Osvaldo and she asked softly, "Have you been waiting for here all night?" Osvaldo looked at Selena's expression and knew exactly what she was thinking.

He smiled but didn't say anything. Instead, he embraced Selena and looked up at Stanley politely. "Thank you, Mr. Soo. I'll take Selena first." Stanley smiled gently and reminded Selena, "You haven't slept all night, so make sure you rest well when you get home." Selena felt a bit uneasy watching the two men exchange pleasantries, but she couldn't figure out why. She smiled at Stanley and obediently got into Osvaldo's car.

Stanley watched the car disappear from view and then turned back to the estate. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Both Black Crow and White Crow had been up all night.

With the troubles inside the empire, Selena's experiences in the capital, and the reappearance of "Divine Love," the two sides had spent the whole night exchanging information.

Stanley sat down where Selena had been sitting, smiling. "Black Crow, White Crow, aren't you going to tell anything about her and that man?" Black Crow froze, and White Crow's expression was complicated.

Selena had only told Stanley about official matters and had not mentioned anything about her personal affairs.

Stanley, being himself, was bound to ask them this question sooner or later.

And this was precisely the question that Black Crow and White Crow least wanted to answer...

Stanley smiled elegantly. "Let guess. The reason I haven't received any information about her is because this man has deliberately suppressed all news about her and sent it to the empire?" Black Crow and White Crow couldn't deny it at all.

Stanley chuckled meaningfully. "What kind of person is he, who has been able to hide all this information in the nose of the entire Riddle Empire for so long? Does he already know her identity, all her secrets, and her relationship with me, and is he pretending to be a kind and gentle person who knows nothing in front of her?" Stanley knew Selena too well.

If Osvaldo had initially given Selena too dangerous an impression, she would never have had any contact with him.

The girl he raised was deeply influenced by aristocratic etiquette since childhood. The prerequisite for her to develop a fondness for a man is that he must be gentle and courteous. Obviously, the man also knew this, so he was always extremely gentle and polite in front of Selena.

A moment of silence.

Even Stanley, who had exceptional self-control, couldn't help but laugh out loud at this moment. "You would rather see her being deceived by a man than tell that she's in Creephia..." White Crow frowned. "It's not what you think. That man really loves her..." Stanley asked calmly, "Is there anyone in this world who loves her more than I do?" The two brothers choked up together.

They didn't know how much Osvaldo loved Selena, but they knew how much Stanley loved her. Therefore, this incomparable question was doomed to have no answer.

Stanley smiled with a gentle and pleasant voice, permeating a hint of coldness. "My queen died on her eighteenth birthday." "Then in her nineteenth year, she became someone else's bride..." Black Crow and White Crow were horrified in an instant.

Selena's coming-of-age day was the day Stanley had prepared to confess his love to her.

It was so close...

As the two brothers were thinking of saying something to comfort Stanley, Stanley had already stood up.

His voice didn't sound the slightest bit abnormal, still gentle and elegant. "The person from the empire who knows about her will surely send someone over. Be prepared. We may have guests today." On the way back to the villa, Selena sat in the front passenger seat. After a while, she suddenly closed her eyes and leaned on Osvaldo's shoulder.

Since leaving Osvaldo's side, she had been carefully nurtured by men and had hardly stayed up late.

Suddenly busy all night and consumed a lot of energy with various complex information, she couldn't hold on anymore after being with Osvaldo.

Osvaldo felt the extra weight on his shoulder and a hint of heartache flashed in his eyes.

He silently accelerated the speed of the car and returned to the villa as as possible.

After a night, the butler had brought the servants back. Hearing the commotion, the butler led them out to see Osvaldo carrying the familiar Selena out of the car.

The butler was stunned upon seeing this, as he suddenly recalled the scene when Selena first arrived at the castle in Creephia.

At that time, Osvaldo had also carried her into the castle, and from then on, she became their mistress.

The only difference was that at that time, Selena had not accepted Osvaldo's feelings, but now they were officially engaged.

Everyone was silent as they watched the master carrying the sleeping Madam Selena into the house.

Osvaldo carried Selena into the bedroom, which was decorated in a festive manner.

The red bed sheets were covered in rose petals, creating a romantic atmosphere.

Osvaldo gently helped Selena take off her shoes and covered her with the sheets.

He stood by the bed and looked at the girl's pale and tired face. Suddenly, he leaned over and kissed her red lips, whispering, "Little troublemaker, don't forget our deal for compensation..." In her sleep, Selena felt his familiar breath and instinctively hugged him.

Osvaldo felt a brief moment of happiness at seeing her unconscious reliance on him. Worried that Selena might not sleep soundly, he lay down beside her, holding her in his arms and accompanying her to sleep.

Selena must have been really tired as she slept straight through until the afternoon.

When she woke up, the sun was already setting outside the window.

She turned her head and saw the man sleeping beside her.

Osvaldo lay next to her, and she had almost completely nestled into his arms, holding onto his shoulder tightly.

Blushing, Selena softly called out, "Osvaldo." Hearing her gentle voice, Osvaldo's lips curved up and he asked, "Did you sleep well, Selena?" She reached out and touched his face, smiling and saying, "Yes, I slept well." Osvaldo picked her up and helped her get dressed before taking her downstairs for a meal.

Selena had been hungry for a day and night, and now she was famished.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1548 Coming Clean

Chapter 1548 Coming Clean The dining table in the living room was filled with steaming hot food.

When Osvaldo led Selena downstairs, the servants in the living room all smiled.

"Madam Selena, good evening," they greeted.

Selena looked around and felt that everyone seemed particularly happy today. She smiled and suddenly felt much more relaxed.

She sat down at the table, and Osvaldo helped her serve soup. After dinner, he took Selena for a walk in the garden.

Selena looked at the side of the man's face, thinking about where to start.

She had always been a trustworthy person. If she promised something to Osvaldo, she would definitely fulfill it.

Osvaldo probably knew Selena's temperament, so he didn't urge her. He just held her hand and waited for her to speak first.

Finally, after he led Selena back to the room, Selena finally made up her mind. "Osvaldo, I have something to tell you." The man sat in front of the bed and hugged Selena in his arms, looking down at her with a gentle expression. "What?" Selena took a deep breath and said with a determined tone, "My nis Selena Riddle. I'm 19 years old and from the federation. My parents are alive, and our family is wealthy. There are many talented people in our family..." Osvaldo's lips curved up. "What else?" With the encouragement from his eyes, Selena's nervousness eased a bit. "The reason why I becSelena of Creephia is because of an accident that happened before. I accidentally... lost my life..." "After that, that big brother used sspecial methods to turninto Miss Turner..." After Selena finished speaking, she cautiously observed Osvaldo's reaction.

Any normal person would think that what she said was incredible and crazy. SEAR*ch the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

This was her biggest secret.

Now, she had laid out her biggest secret to Osvaldo.

He stared at Selena's face for a moment and suddenly hugged her with a heavy force.

He pressed his thin lips against Selena's ear and spoke in a low voice, "What else?" Feeling the warmth of his embrace, Selena's heart was filled with a surge of warmth, and all her anxiety and uneasiness disappeared in an instant.

She smiled happily, "My identity has been exposed on the federal side, and my enemies will soon be looking for me. When that happens, both you and I will face a lot of danger." Osvaldo touched her hair and spoke softly, "Don't be afraid." Selena looked up at him with shining eyes and said, "I have a question to ask you, besides that big brother, there is someone who has been secretly helping me. If it weren't for him, I might have been hunted down many times already. Do you know who he is?" Osvaldo smiled and ran his fingertips over her eyes, filled with anticipation, and asked, "Do you want to know who he is?" Selena said with a smile, "Yes... if he has any secrets that he can't say, I can reluctantly pretend... I don't want to know..." Osvaldo looked at her tender red lips, slightly raised, as if inviting a kiss. His eyes darkened and he lowered his head to kiss her.

Selena blushed with shyness, her slender arms wrapping around the man's long neck.

Osvaldo's breath instantly became heavy.

He held Selena and kissed her for a while, then gently put the girl on the bed and leaned over her.

Selena's slender body trembled uncontrollably, her cheeks blushing, and she whispered, "You need to... be gentle..." Seeing her nervous and uneasy look, Osvaldo chuckled and kissed her forehead, "Okay." Selena looked at the man's gentle and handsome face and gradually let go of her guard, relaxing her body and yielding to him.

Osvaldo was mindful that she was inexperienced and took gentle movements.

He gently pulled down the zipper of Selena's dress, revealing her shoulders and the beauty that was almost invisible underneath.

The man's dark gaze fell on that patch of tender skin, and he lowered his head to nibble.

Selena's body was tense, her eyelashes trembling and her eyes slightly closed.

As the sky outside the French window darkened completely, just as the atmosphere was becoming intense, the phone on the table suddenly vibrated violently.

Selena, who was lost in the moment, heard the familiar ringtone and immediately lost her senses. Almost instinctively, she pushed Osvaldo away and sat up, crawling to reach for her phone.

Osvaldo's eyes flashed with a gleam as he looked at Selena's disheveled appearance, and he almost couldn't resist pulling her back and continuing what they were doing.

Selena's action of answering the phone was purely reflexive, and it wasn't until she snapped out of it that she remembered what she was doing.

Holding her phone, Selena turned to look at Osvaldo and met his dark gaze, feeling a deep sense of guilt welling up within her.

Although she didn't fully understand the situation, she had enough common sense to know that a man would feel uncomfortable being interrupted at this time.

Crawling back to him, she rubbed Osvaldo's cheek and said, "Osvaldo, don't be angry. You see, my job is special. All the intelligence in the family must be sent to us as soon as possible, and I need to know about them as soon as possible too. If I miss any of them because of my laziness or other reasons, it could lead to serious consequences. The ringtone just now was from Stanley, and he knows I'm not feeling well. He wouldn't have disturbed me unless it was something important. It must be that my enemy has taken the capital." As Selena explained seriously, Osvaldo's frustration suddenly dissipated. He hugged Selena and kissed her red lips, his voice hoarse, "Unless it's something especially important, you have to spend tonight with me..." Selena smiled and agreed before pressing the answer button.

Stanley's gentle voice came through the speaker clearly, "Selena, Beatrice White will take the capital tomorrow. She's representing the Central City Research Institute and wants to cooperate with the H Country Research Institute to study a patent for energy sharing." Selena smiled playfully, "As expected, they've sent out a sacrificial lamb first..." The technology held by the Central City Research Institute is top-notch globally, and Beatrice White's representation carries enormous benefits for the H Country Research Institute.

As the current director of the research institute, Selena should meet with the representative of the Central City Research Institute in person.

MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1 mmMwWLLIOfiflO& 1 MMMWWLIIOfiO&1
MULL TO £2 E1061 mmMwWLIiOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1549 Showdown

Chapter 1549 Showdown Lillian remained true to form, observing silently from the sidelines.

Stanley's gentle voice continued, now with a hint of coldness, "Besides her, there's one more person coming." "Who?" Selena asked.

"Robert Hall," Stanley replied.

Selena's smile froze instantly, her face turning icy white in an instant.

Oswaldo could clearly feel Selena's coldness at the sound of that name, her body radiating endless malice.

Recalling the truth behind Selena's death that he had once investigated, Oswaldo shuddered at the thought, feeling a horrifying bloodlust emanating from her.

He held Selena close, his hoarse voice trying to soothe her, "Selena, don't be afraid." Feeling the warmth emanating from the man, Selena regained her composure.

She kissed Oswaldo before turning to Stanley, saying, "She's quite bold, sending Robert here. She must not be afraid that I will make him die here!" On the other end of the phone, Stanley's voice seemed to freeze for a moment before he spoke, "Selena, I'll be waiting for you at the estate." Before Selena could refuse, he hung up. Search the (F)indNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Selena stared at the phone in shock, feeling that something was off with Stanley's emotions. He was usually the one who waited for her to hang up before he did, but this time he hung up first.

Was it because of Robert? She put away her worries for the time being, hugging Oswaldo's neck and burying her face in his shoulder as she spoke softly, "As I told you before, I lost my life due to an accident... but it was not entirely an accident. It was more man-made. My cousin was jealous of me and plotted against me, causing my death." "And the one who truly tried to kill me..." Selena's dark eyes flashed with a bloody light, "was Robert Hall!" Selena would never forget the cold and ruthless knife that was plunged into her heart from behind.

Nor would she forget the look in Lillian's eyes at that moment, when she said, "Selena, you're a great queen, but you shouldn't be alive for the sake of the empire." The crime of regicide was not one that just anyone could bear.

But Robert willingly took on this heavy burden for Lillian's sake.

To Lillian, he was like Stanley to Selena, an indispensable presence that no one could replace.

How could he dare to come and find her, knowing she was still in the capital... Selena's eyes turned frosty, a dark smile creeping across her face.

But it seemed like it wasn't all that surprising.

Besides Lillian and Robert, who else could have killed her?! In the light, Beatrice was visible while Robert was hidden in the dark.

It seemed that Lillian had already made up her mind that she was the person Lillian had killed once before.

Selena's eyes narrowed, and she looked up at Osvaldo and said softly, "Give me some more time." She seemed unsure how to express herself. "I don't want to be with you when I have other things on my mind. It's not fair to either of us." Selena's attitude towards relationships was always serious and pure. Just as she liked Osvaldo, she would never have any extra involvement with other men.

When she was with Osvaldo, she gave him her heart and all the dedication and energy she could give to a partner.

Osvaldo looked at Selena's absent-minded expression and whispered, "You little rascal, has anyone ever told you that you're scummy?" Many people have said so.

She thought she was pretty scummy too.

Osvaldo looked at her embarrassed expression and rubbed her cheek. "I'll remember this debt..." Selena's face was suddenly blushing. She knew he had agreed, and she held Osvaldo's hand tightly, "You're coming with me!" With her identity and situation already revealed to Osvaldo, she didn't plan to hide anything from him anymore.

Osvaldo took Selena to the mansion from yesterday. Stanley came out to greet Selena and saw Osvaldo with her.

Perhaps due to the engagement celebration, Selena was wearing a bright red dress, and the ambiguous red marks on her neck were especially prominent.

Thinking of the voice he heard on the phone just now, Stanley clenched his fist.

At this moment, Osvaldo noticed something wrong with Selena's neck and took off his coat to wrap it around her shoulders, covering her up.

Selena didn't understand what was going on.

Osvaldo smiled and whispered in Selena's ear, "It's chilly tonight." Without much thought, Selena held his hand and walked up to Stanley, smiling at him. "Stanley." Stanley's gaze fell on their intertwined hands for a moment before he spoke gently, "Selena, I have something to say to you in private." Selena glanced at Osvaldo and smiled, "I have already told Osvaldo everything, there's no need to keep anything from him." Stanley's eyes darkened with a hint of blame, and his voice became stern, "Selena!" Selena met his gaze with a hint of guilt. After all, telling Osvaldo the biggest secret went against her upbringing, and Stanley's anger was understandable. She was about to explain when Osvaldo spoke first.

He held Selena's waist and looked at Stanley with a gentle smile. "If you're worried that I will harm Selena, there's no need. I love her, and she's more important to me than my life. I won't allow anyone to hurt her, let alone covet her." That last sentence was a clear warning! It was the first time Selena heard Osvaldo say he loved her. She turned to him, and he kissed her hair, saying with a soft chuckle, "If you want to hear more, I'll tell you when we get back." Selena blushed slightly and murmured, "Okay." Stanley noticed her infatuated expression and had to use all his self-control not to lose his temper on the spot. His gaze flickered over Osvaldo's face before he turned and walked inside.

Selena sensed that Stanley was upset, but she thought it was because of her stubbornness that had angered him. She held Osvaldo's arm and followed him.

Inside the hall, Stanley went to get water for Selena, and Osvaldo had already taken Selena's cup out first. When Stanley came back with the water, Osvaldo had already taken Selena to sit on the couch.

He looked at the cup in Stanley's hand and smiled, "Selena is not feeling well..."
mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfiflO&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1550 Who Is That Big Brother?

Chapter 1550 Who is that big brother? "Selena's body is not good, there is a special health water prepared for her at home, and she is not used to touching things outside," Osvaldo explained.

Stanley tightened his fingers around the water glass, glanced at Selena without a word, and placed the glass of water in front of himself.

Selena had always been taken care of meticulously, and since being with Osvaldo, the Anderson family had been providing her with the best of everything, from food and clothing to household items, the luxury of which was no less than when she was a queen.

Almost everything in the villa was there to take care of her body.

Therefore, when she heard Osvaldo's words, Selena did not feel anything was wrong.

At the moment, all her thoughts were focused on the two people who were about to arrive in the imperial capital, and she paid even less attention to the confrontation between the two men.

After a moment of thought, Selena suddenly looked up at Stanley and the first thing she said was, "Lillian has returned to the empire." It was a positive statement.

Stanley seemed to anticipate what Selena was about to say and interrupted her thoughts, "Selena, I cannot leave the capital at this time." He had already missed out on too many things.

"But..." Selena started to say. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

If Stanley didn't go back to the empire, the situation could get worse and worse.

Looking into Selena's eyes, Stanley said, "Selena, don't forget about your father. He had suspicions about that woman, or else she wouldn't have left the empire for an entire year." Selena thought of her father and a hint of nostalgia crossed her face.

After her death, such a good opportunity to seize power alone, Lillian chose to leave for a faraway place. Now looking back, it could only be her father who had intervened.

He had suspicions about the cause of his daughter's death.

Selena smiled slightly.

In this generation of the Riddle Empire, she was the only heir, and Lillian, who was born to a daughter married off by the Riddle family, was her cousin.

It was just that she was given the surname Riddle and had half of the Riddle bloodline in her, so she naturally had half of the inheritance rights.

This was also the reason why the other party had gone to great lengths to kill her.

As long as she didn't die, she would never have the opportunity to inherit the throne.

Only if she died, as the only remaining person with inheritance rights in the empire, the throne could only fall on her.

What a great plan, but unfortunately...

No one probably expected that she still had a chance to survive! Selena thought of the person who had left, her eyes slightly cold, and suddenly looked at Stanley. "Stanley, are you sure that in my family, besides me and Lillian in this generation, there is no other bloodline?" Osvaldo, who had been sitting quietly on the side, had a flash of darkness in his eyes when he heard this.

Stanley looked at her calmly with a hint of something in his eyes, "No, you're the only one." Selena's face showed a hint of disappointment.

Stanley wouldn't lie to her.

If he said there wasn't anyone else, then there really wasn't.

Who exactly was that big brother? What was their relationship? Stanley naturally knew what was troubling Selena and lowered his eyelashes slightly.

At the same time, in the Federal Center City, the glass doors of the research center seemed to sense the anger emanating from the woman who had just arrived, and they opened layer by layer.

The woman in a white dress stormed into the office and slammed her handbag hard on the man's face who was sitting behind the desk. "You have some nerve to agree to that bitch's absurd request, and cross me!" The man who was hit in the face was too scared to speak up and tried to appease her by standing up. "Miss White, please don't be angry. Let me explain..." Beatrice glared at him with anger and coldly laughed. "I'll give you one chance. If your explanation doesn't satisfy me, you know the consequences!" The man's back was covered in cold sweat, he wiped his forehead and continued, "You see, the order came directly from above and it was Miss Lillian's intention. You know that no one in the research institute dares to go against her wishes..." including herself, Beatrice.

Beatrice's beautiful face was filled with jealousy and resentment for a moment. Seeing that she was about to lose her temper, the man hurriedly continued, "But besides you, the people who went to H Country's capital to discuss cooperation this time include the young master of the Hall family..." Beatrice's imminent anger suddenly halted. In the next second, her expression returned to one of beauty and elegance.

Her slender fingers brushed through her hair, "Is there anything special going on in H Country's capital that's worth having Mr.

Hall personally go there?" The man looked at her with a cautious expression and handed her his phone. His gaze fell on the breathtakingly beautiful face on the screen, "I'm not sure of the specific reason, it was just sent with Miss Lillian's order, and this video..." Beatrice's gaze swept across the screen, her indifferent eyes suddenly changed when she saw the familiar face in the video.

She suddenly raised her hand and swung her phone away, took a few steps back in fear, and her voice changed instantly, "How could it be--" The man looked at her panicked expression and was stunned.

What kind of identity did that girl on the screen have that could scare the arrogant and haughty Miss White into such a state? It wasn't until Beatrice's back hit the table that she stopped in her tracks. She pressed her heart that was beating erratically and remembered the face that she had caught a glimpse of earlier, her face full of shock.

How could it be? That person had clearly already died...

This was something that everyone in the empire knew and it couldn't possibly be fake.

But what was the face she had just seen all about? Beatrice pressed her heart that was racing due to the shock, and it took her a while to regain her composure and pride.

She stood still, seemingly using a lot of effort, and reached out her hand to the man, gritting her teeth, "Give me the phone!" The man immediately handed her the phone respectfully.

Beatrice took a deep breath, prepared herself mentally, and then looked up.

Once again facing that striking face, Beatrice couldn't help but tremble again.

This shocking and fearful emotion reached its climax at the moment she heard the girl's name.

It wasn't until after she had heard the girl's identity introduction that Beatrice's expression improved somewhat.

She pressed her heart and sneered, "That bitch played her cards well!" The man wiped the cold sweat from his forehead and didn't dare to remind Beatrice that the person she called a bitch was her sister.

The two Miss White's, Beatrice and her sister, had different surnames due to their father's preference, with Beatrice being a noble lady, while her sister was lucky enough to have the maternal side and became a member of the royal family.

This situation directly caused a huge difference in the sisters' status and identity.

Therefore, Beatrice hated Lillian to the point of gnashing her teeth.

If it were because of their blood relationship, she could express her grievances towards Lillian without fear...

mmMwWLIIIOfifl0&1 mmMwWLIIIOfifl0&1 mmMwWLIIOfiflO& 1 mmMwWLIIIOfifl0&1
mmMwWL1i10fif10&1 mmMwWLiIOfiflO&1

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

