

Read Revenge On Love Rats After Rebirth (Selena) novel chapter 2 online free

Chapter 2

After one of the nurses finished speaking, she dragged the nurse who had just cursed Selena to die and fled.

It didn't take long for the stuff to be delivered.

Selena stood in front of the mirror, using a moist cotton pad to wipe away the thick foundation and lipstick.

Ever since Angie told Selena that her Dominic liked flirtatious and sexy women, this silly girl made a lot of jokes every day by wearing heavy make-up and clothes that were not suitable for her age and temperament, and earned the title of the number one ugly girl in the celebrity circle.

Looking at her true face, which was completely exposed in the mirror, Selena froze.

Her face was bloodless and with little vivid expression, but her pair of large eyes were thrillingly beautiful.

What shocked Selena was not this proud beauty, but the familiarity of this face.

Not only do they have the same name, they even look the same.

Selena lowered her eyelashes and smiled faintly, now, when she went back, she even saved herself the effort of explaining.

She stared at her face in the mirror, her eyebrows lightly arched, with a distinctive charm, "Selena, I will avenge you."

Since she had taken her body, it was her duty to seek justice for this good girl, who had died in vain and innocent.

"Son of a bitch! Are you trying to piss me off? Do you know that before Selena's mother died, she left her twenty percent of the Riddle family's shares, with that money, our Walson family will have no problem going to the next level!”

Mrs. Walson’s heart was aching when she learned the news, so close that the money had flowed into their Walson family.

Dominic, dressed in a luxurious couture suit, tall and full of elite aura, heard it, his face slightly sunken, “Mom, where did you hear the news from?”

“Selena said it herself, it can’t be a lie!” Mrs. Walson laughed coldly, “I told you long ago that Selena is the first Young Madam of the Riddle family, her mother had a proud family, there is no way she wouldn’t have left something for Selena, but you got carried away and actually did something like repenting the marriage in public, you really pissed me off!”

Mrs. Walson gritted her teeth, her chest trembling with anger, pointing at Selena’s ward, “Go now and coax or deceive her to get the marriage license with Selena as as possible!”

Dominic frowned and said coldly, “As I said, I won’t marry her!”

“How dare you?” Mrs. Walson became angry, but when she thought of Selena’s ugly face, her tone eased.

“Dominic, I know you like Leah, but you are facing a twenty percent share of the Riddle family, and with more effort, you are the largest shareholder of the Riddle family.”

Dominic was indifferent. To have him marry a woman of poor character and upbringing was a dilemma to think about.

Moreover, he had already said his vows, so if he went to get a license with Selena at this time, wouldn’t he be humiliating himself?

Mrs. Walson added, “Have you thought it through? With that twenty percent of Selena’s shares, the merger of the Walson family and the Riddle family is expected to surpass Olympus Group and become the biggest business hegemon in Creephia, and may even enter the capital. With such huge benefits, can you temporarily have Leah condescend?”

Dominic’s eyes narrowed slightly, “Mom, what do you mean?”

Mrs. Walson gathered the shawl over her shoulders and she snorted, "In modern times, marriage and divorce are commonplace. She made a mistake, so even if you don't touch her after your wedding, she would not dare to complain. For the sake of our reputation, the news of your marriage will not be made public, so this is not against your words last night."

"She is so devoted to you, as long as you say a few sweet words to coax her, she will give you the twenty percent of shares of her own accord. As long as that twenty percent share is in hand and Selena has no more value to use, you can treat her however you like."

Across a tree, on a bench in the garden, Selena lazily sunbathed, looking at the blue sky and white clouds overhead and letting out a slight sigh of relief.

A nurse ran over and handed over the item in her hand, "Miss, here you are."

The sudden noise startled Dominic and Mrs. Walson, who gazed over to see a person sitting on a bench not far away.

The person had long hair and wore a pure white silk dress, revealing two calves, and, wore a sun hat that covered most of her face.

The only visible chin was delicate.

Even if they can't see her face, the quiet girl showed her nobility.

Several drinks were placed on the seat beside her, and she had obviously been sitting here for a long time.

After all, it was not a glamorous affair and the Walson mother and son did not dare to look at her in detail and turned to leave.

Before she left, Dominic looked back for some unknown psychological reason.

She saw the woman take something from the nurse, an identity card.

Should be there to get a license...

After this thought crossed his mind, Dominic somehow felt uncomfortable in his heart, he frowned, pondered for a moment, took one last look and left.

"Miss Riddle, what are you doing with your ID card?" The nurse asked curiously.

Selena smiled at her, his eyes dark, "To get married."

5 o'clock.

In front of the Civil Affairs Bureau.

Selena sat on a bench and watched the sparse crowd coming and going.

The first Mrs. Riddle did leave Selena twenty percent of her shares, but for her to spend that money, it had to be after the marriage.

In her current situation, finding someone to marry is the fastest and most effective way to solve the problem.

She was eventually going home, there was no point in wasting her extra mind in Creephia, and she didn't have any great claim to the name of her partner written on the marriage certificate.

After all, this Selena is not the other Selena. After the matter is completed, she will compensate the man for the corresponding moral damage, and even everything in Creephia can be given to him for free as long as he cooperates well.

It didn't seem to be a good day, as only a small percentage of those who came to the Civil Affairs Bureau were licensed, and a large percentage were divorced.

Selena waited drowsily and couldn't find a suitable one. At 5,50, both the newlywed lovebirds who had received their certificates and the divorced men and women had all gone.

Selena stood up from the bench and as she was about to leave, she met a slender figure walking towards her direction.

She was on her feet and there was more than a hint of amazement in her eyes.