

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6501-James forcefully broke through Tai Chi's Upper Three Calamities, which triggered Clayton's emergence and resulted in the downfall of numerous peak Consummation Ninth Tribulation Grand Patriarchs of the Genesis World, along with the collapse of the Ancient Genesis World by Dark Thea. Thus, Tai Chi's hatred towards him and his wife had reached its zenith.

Clayton was escorting him and his wife to enter Skynet. Although Tai Chi could not directly confront them, she issued a Tai Chi Decree of Extinction across all realms.

The immediate consequence was Tai Chi mobilizing all forces of the Genesis World, launching a frenzied retaliation against those associated with them or relatively friendly forces and individuals.

Foremost among them were Skynet and the lustus Sect. The Sanctum Sect stationed in the Sanctum Genesis World and the Behatarm Sect in the Xyndaros Genesis World were also targeted for retaliation.

To safeguard the secret passage from the Dark World to the Forladtt Land, Lyla and Rebella, accompanied by the forces of the Forladtt Land, Truett with Skynet, Xitaly with the lustus Sect, together with the Sanctum Sect and Behatarm Sect, united to form the Solstice Alliance.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: bhqtech.com to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Under the fierce siege of countless sects and forces from the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds and countless Micro Genesis Worlds, coupled with the joint attacks from several Superorthodoxes that escaped from the Ancient Genesis World, they managed to hold on for only two more entrapochs before being forced to surrender due to heavy casualties.

While the Behatarm Sect and the Sanctum Sect led the remaining elites into the Forladtt Land, Xitaly guided the elites of the lustus Sect back to the Tirta Exotic Space within Skynet.

As Truett insisted on leading the army to cover the retreat, he ultimately found himself ensnared in a double siege by the Timaeus Sect and the Yaquis Sect, leaving his fate shrouded in uncertainty.

Subsequently, a new pattern emerged in the Genesis World.

The reorganized Timaeus Sect occupied seven hundred Genesis Regions within the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds, as did the Yaquis Sect.

The remaining territories were divided among Tempestara, the Sword Sect, Zirconia Tower, and various other Superorthodoxes.

Those originally weak sects could only flee to the Ancient Genesis World that had collapsed, finding refuge there with meager resources for cultivation.

Although the Timaeus Sect presented an image of calm and power externally, internally it was sharply divided into two factions.

One faction was led by the former Sect Leader of the Timaeus Sect, Xachary, while the other faction was led by Gladwin, each vying for control of the sect. The rivalry between the two factions had long been irreconcilable.

As for Skynet and the Forladtt Land, their territories further shrunk under several attacks from the alliances. While the Forladtt Land temporarily remained safe due to a mysterious great formation protecting it, the Skynet's Genesis Regions in the outside world were gradually occupied. They even lost the Demon Dungeon, with only Tirta Exotic Space left. They barely held on due to the protection of the Tirta Grand Formation.

Nonetheless, both the Forladtt Land and Skynet were subjected to tight surveillance and blockade. The Yaquis Sect, leading its alliance, encircled the Forladtt Land, while the Timaeus Sect encircled the Tirta Exotic Space of Skynet.

They were following the same tactics they used to isolate the Dark World and had already succeeded to a great extent.

At this moment, Perthacus recovered his senses and roared angrily at James, "Who are you?"

James remained silent, but he slowly reached out to grasp his memorial tablet floating in front of him and crushed it loudly.

“You dare touch my belongings. I’ll kill you!” Perthacus erupted like a raging wild beast, lunging towards James without hesitation, only to be halted by a black force emanating from Lucille.

“Calm down, Mr. Wulte!” Lucille hurriedly shouted. “Have you not yet realized who he is?”

Perthacus suddenly froze, his gaze fixated on James as though he were staring at a demon. In an instant, he was petrified.

“What about the Celestial Sages?” James asked coldly, “And Mattaniah? Only the younger generation is fighting in such a big battle, what are they doing?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6502-In the face of James’ words, Perthacus approached like a lost soul. “You...”

He was about to speak when James waved his hand, casting a Soundproof Barrier made of gray, black, and white energies that immediately enveloped the entire Yggdrasil Palace.

“You haven’t perished?” Perthacus stared intently at James, his lips trembling. “Why have you completely changed your appearance? I can’t even recognize you anymore, and your aura...”

“By surviving calamity.” James smiled faintly. “When even my Golden Body and internal organs have been recast, how could I not expect a change in appearance?”

At these words, Perthacus’ hands trembled as he slowly reached for James’ cheek. Suddenly, tears streamed down his face the moment his touch made contact.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: bhqtech.com to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Seeing this, James’ face showed a relieved smile. “Don’t be like this. We’re both old now.”

Standing beside them, Lucille sighed lightly and struggled to find words.

"I thought you perished in the void of the Timaeus Sect," Perthacus said, tears streaming down his face. "At that moment, I saw Xaiden, Xolani, and Yzert joining forces against the Dark Heavenly Path. It was you who charged out to block them.

"I wanted to rush up and help you, but I..."

"You were right," James interrupted Perthacus. "Under those circumstances, you would have been cannon fodder if you came up. However, blaming the cause of this calamity on the Dark Heavenly Path and then seeking vengeance against all living beings in the Dark World is not right."

Perthacus showed a shocked expression. "You...you know about this too?"

"I not only know about this." James glanced at Perthacus. "I also know that you now serve Xachary, and your superior is Hetsema."

At these words, Perthacus looked at James as if he were a monster. "You... you can read minds?"

James took a deep breath. "Right now, I just want to know why powerhouses like Mattaniah and the Celestial Sages didn't participate in the big battle?"

"I have no idea," Perthacus said gravely. "Since the Tai Chi Decree of Extinction, all the surviving Grand Patriarchs of the Genesis World seem to have disappeared into thin air overnight, and none have appeared since."

James furrowed his brow. "Including Yegor and Lady Herodias?"

Perthacus nodded solemnly. "In the current Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds and the countless Micro Genesis Worlds, Xachary, Gladwin, Yaquis Holiness, and Hetsema are renowned as the Four Peaks of the Quasi Daeclon Rank Powerhouses."

Hearing this, Lucille looked surprised. "Peak of the Quasi Daeclon Rank? What's that?"

"It means they're just one Golden Body away from the Xaeclon Rank," Perthacus explained. "Recently, we've received the Tai Chi decree. He declared that whoever kills James and the Dark Heavenly Path will be granted a Golden Body and ascend to the Xaeclon Rank."

Lucille turned to look at James, only to find him suddenly falling into silence.

To James, whether these so-called Four Powerhouses were at the peak of the Quasi Daeclon Rank or had attained the Xaeclon Rank in cultivation, they were all insignificant in his eyes.

What surprised him was that his son Hetsema was also listed among the powerhouses. He wondered what had this guy been through after being captured by Xachary.

Thinking of this, images of his children flashed through James' mind.

He remembered that his children had all been taken as disciples by the Celestial Sages, Yegor, and Lady Herodias. He wondered what their achievements were now.

After pondering for a while, James asked again, "So, who are the powerhouses on the side of the Solstice Alliance now?"

"I don't know." Perthacus shook his head. "Since that great battle, no living beings from either the Forladtt Land or Skynet have been seen within the Genesis World. It's as if they've vanished into thin air. The New Timaeus Sect and the New Yaquis Sect have organized multiple attacks, but they all ended in disastrous failure.

"In the past few years, the Yang governor led the Four Symbols large army to capture numerous locations in Skynet and the Forladtt Land, though I'm not privy to the specifics."

After hearing this, James nodded meaningfully.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6503-Perthacus did not lie. After all, James had accessed Perthacus' soul using the Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes, so he knew everything he needed to know.

After a moment of contemplation, James spoke slowly, "Congratulations on passing the test, Mr. Wulte."

Upon hearing this, Perthacus' expression turned to one of shock.

‘The test? Did this mean that if I had uttered even half a lie just now, James’ terrifying strength could have already spelled my demise?’ With this thought, Perthacus felt a chill run down his spine. He was secretly grateful.

‘The Yggdrasil Sect isn’t all that bad. However, the majority of its members are followers of Hetsema. You’re merely a puppet under someone else’s control. If you desire autonomy, you’ll need assistance,’ James said casually, hands leisurely tucked behind his back.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: bhqtech.com to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Perthacus stared at James. ‘You... you know about this too?’

James glanced at Lucille. “Please do US a favor, Lucille, stay behind to help Peak Master Wulte in managing the Yggdrasil Sect. The areas they control are connected to the Yin’s Void and Skynet, which are crucial to our upcoming plans.”

Lucille looked at Perthacus and then nodded.

“Hetsema is cunning and ruthless.” Perthacus stared at James intently. “Can this plan truly succeed?” “Perthacus Wulte,” Lucille said impatiently. “After all these years and experiencing so much, with your cultivation now at the Quasi Daeclon Rank, are you still so timid?” “It’s not...” Perthacus’ face twitched. ‘You don’t know how ruthless Hetsema can be...’ “Is Hetsema currently stationed in the Sanctum Genesis World?” James interrupted Perthacus.

With a gasp, Perthacus nodded hurriedly. “Sometimes he has to return to headquarters to receive instructions and inspections from Gladwin.”

James nodded. “Leave him to me. You just focus on your own tasks.”

Perthacus hesitated, glancing at Lucille before nodding in agreement.

“Remember the proportion,” James said in an unquestionable tone. ‘Take it step by step. You have at least an entrapoch.’ Then, he looked at Lucille. “When you see Quattro, don’t hesitate because of past friendships. Throw him back to the Yin’s Void. The Dark World still needs someone to guard it.”

With a wave of his hand, the Soundproof Barrier covering the palace disappeared.

There suddenly erupted a thunderous roar from outside the Yggdrasil Palace.

Immediately afterward, a robust voice shouted, 'Thieves of the Yggdrasil Sect, come out and face your death!'

When he heard this, Perthacus' face darkened. 'This troublesome fellow is here again.' 'Who's that?' James asked.

Perthacus gritted his teeth. 'He calls himself the Punisher of the Nine Heavens. Despite being only at the peak of the Ninth Tribulation, he's remarkably powerful. Each time he appears, we lose several of our peak Ninth Tribulation powerhouses.' 'The Punisher of the Nine Heavens?' Lucille exclaimed, 'That's a strange name!' 'Wait here for a moment. I'll go and repel this guy first,' Perthacus said, before swiftly dashing out.

"Should we go and see?" Lucille looked at James.

However, James had already stepped out of the Yggdrasil Palace ahead of her.