

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6572

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6572-“Any beings in our world would be punished according to the Law of Tai Chi by referring to the mistakes they committed, their karma, and tribulations.”

James said in a steely voice, “What about Yehria, then?”

The Law of Paths let out a soft sigh. “Are you questioning my ability to do my job?”

James furrowed his brows. “Tai Chi follows your command. Who else would I ask if not you?”

The Law of Paths replied, “With that being said, you simply want to get your revenge by removing the Law of Tai Chi followed by all beings...”

“I’m not a saint.” James interrupted, “However, I always try to repay others’ kindness with everything I have. Similarly, I repay others’ malice by giving all I’ve got.”

“An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth.” The Law of Paths sighed wearily. “Is that why you are even willing to work with a demon? It’s just so you could bring Tai Chi down?”

James’ brows lifted. Judging by those words, the Law of Paths was already aware of the existence of Morgott’s spirit. He had a dawning realization at that moment.

The Law of Paths did not show up here because Truett was entering the Xaeclon Rank. Instead, he was here for Morgott’s spirit.

According to Lesia, Morgott had killed the previous Tai Chi and Law of Paths in the past. After that, the current Law of Paths was appointed.

James swiftly decided to act dumb since the Law of Paths did not ask about Morgott directly.

James smiled faintly. “I am willing to cooperate if you feel generous enough to help me.”

The Law of Paths did not expect that reply from James. The ambiguous answer threw him off balance.

A short while later, he burst into laughter. “You’re truly a daring, greedy young man! How about this? Let’s have an exchange of goods. Consider that a help from me.”

As soon as he said that, a shiny tower materialized before the golden wall, levitating above James’ head.

The tower was five stories tall. Each level was glowing with lights of a different color. Anyone could tell that the tower was no ordinary treasure upon sensing the mysterious power emanating from it.

“The Wohrdaemon Tower!” Lesia exclaimed. “Master, that tower is ranked third in the list of The World’s Ten Greatest Treasures! Its powers surpass that of all divine tools, transcendent divine tools, and spirit tools.

“It is more powerful than the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell by folds. With it, you wouldn’t have to waste time trying to conquer Yehria’s Genesis World.

“The tower will provide you with an extremely vast exotic space, which can hold all of the Genesis World’s beings and fortunes.”

Lesia added excitedly, “With the tower, you will be able to execute your plan of taking away all of Tai Chi’s resources and support.”

Unlike Lesia who was elated, James was feeling wary. The Law of Paths was quick-witted and sensible. It was likely he had an ulterior motive for offering such an extraordinary treasure.

The Law of Paths began, “This is the Wohrdaemon Tower. It is equivalent to the current Tai Chi World but has more cultivation resources. You can use it to access Zymurgy as well.”

“I am extremely grateful for the gift.”

James unleashed his tricolored power, which shot up toward the tower and wrapped around it. However, he failed to pull the tower toward him, no matter how hard he tried.

James had a surprised look on his face. “How come it won’t budge...”

"You are so thick-skinned, and you are even an expert at acting dumb." The Law of Paths chuckled. "I said we could have an exchange of goods. I never said anything about giving it to you as a gift!"

James cursed and complained about how stingy the Law of Paths was inwardly. He thought the Law of Paths might try to save face and give him the tower if he just acted as though the tower was a gift.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6573-James asked after a short pause, "What do you want from me in exchange?"

"The Yuraeceon Genesis Bell," the Law of Paths responded.

James' instincts were accurate. The Law of Paths was plotting something.

He knew that Morgott's spirit was hidden inside the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell and that it would not recklessly show itself. Therefore, he wanted to obtain the bell through this exchange.

It appeared the supreme beings were pretty wary of Morgott. It was similar to how Yehria was fearful of the Genesis World's cultivators becoming more powerful than her.

James transmitted his voice to Lesia. "Still excited about the tower? That guy wants you in return."

Lesia grumbled, "You're not going to take the deal, right?"

"It'll be the quickest way for me to defeat Tai Chi by having the tower." James suggested, "How about you stay with him for a couple of days? After I exterminate Tai Chi, I'll return the tower to him and ask for the bell back."

"Master!" Lesia snapped, "How could you be so unscrupulous and shameless?"

"Don't get so worked up! I was just joking." James snickered. "However, we must carefully decline his offer. He can kill all of us at any moment if he wants."

Then, James sighed deeply. "The Yuraeceon Genesis Bell only recognizes me as its master. I'm afraid I can't give it away."

“We can exchange the items temporarily.” It was as though the Law of Paths had anticipated that answer. “Once your plans have succeeded, I will return the bell to you.”

“That’s a bit difficult for me.” James said in a melancholic tone, “The Yuraeceon Genesis Bell has been with me through thick and thin. It is already a part of me.

“It would feel sad if I were to exchange it for a better item. I can’t bear to part with it either. Also, I don’t want to do something I’ll regret later.”

After listening to James’ reply, the Law of Paths chuckled. “Is it the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell or Frona that you can’t bear to part with?”

James’ expression hardened as soon as the Law of Paths brought up Lesia’s real identity. “You shouldn’t force us then since you know that.”

“I was just offering a suggestion.” With a flash of golden light, the tower floating in the air disappeared.

The Law of Paths went on, “I won’t force you if you are not willing to do it. However, I must remind you that you are giving up on a great opportunity to achieve your goals and ambitions.”

shortcuts to get to where I want to be, there will come a point where shortcuts won’t The Law of Paths said approvingly, “As expected of the Chosen One, you are sensible and perceptive. You must have the answers to the questions you asked me earlier. So, I won’t try to answer them anymore.”

James was rendered speechless once again by how the Law of Paths had tactfully steered their conversation away again.

The Law of Paths continued, “Also, I wanted to let you know that Nimue is my disciple. She is not a follower of Tai Chi. You don’t have to see her as your enemy.”

James pointed at the pretty lady. “She... She’s your disciple?”

“That’s right.” The Law of Paths replied calmly, “The cultivator entering the Xaeclon Rank down there practices the Tirta Power.

“Cultivators of this category don’t fall under Yehria’s jurisdiction. Instead, my disciples are in charge of their Heavenly Tribulations.

“Also, Nimue did not do anything inappropriate in managing this Heavenly Tribulation. On the contrary, she reduced the intensity of the Heavenly Tribulation after looking at the man’s kind acts and karma. So, why did you want to stop her?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6574-James slapped his hand against his forehead. “I didn’t mean to stop her. I was just very shocked that there was a fair and unbiased Tai Chi Tribulation Envoy. It was a misunderstanding.”

“He had very good things to say about you,” the Law of Paths called, “Nimue, you’re the best tribulation envoy I have. Would you like to work for him?”

Nimue Yoirin, the beautiful lady, paused briefly before bowing her head. “I will do as you command.”

The Law of Paths asked, “Young man, how about I have her become the Heavenly Path of the space under your governance?”

For a moment, James had a look of bewilderment on his face. He quickly caught on to the Law of Paths’ intentions and bowed deeply to him. “Thank you so much for your help.”

Just then, the wall of light shone brighter with a beautiful, golden light. “Don’t push Nimue around just because she’s kind-hearted, young man. I’ll give you one more piece of advice since Yianni was a good friend of mine.

“There are certain rules and taboos you must never break. Once you cross the line, you may never get to undo it. No one would be able to help you with it. Take care.” As soon as he finished, the wall of light transformed into a beam of golden light and shot toward the horizon.

After the Law of Paths left, James straightened his back and heaved a deep breath.

Meanwhile, Nimue took a few steps forward and eyed him warily. “You won’t try to stop me now, right?”

James beamed warmly and gestured for her to proceed with her work. Then, he moved to the side and watched Nimue work on the Heavenly Tribulations meant for Truett.

After a while, Lesia transmitted her voice to James. "Master, what is the Law of Paths' intention of doing this?"

"He helped me with a favor and gave me a warning at the same time. It's the perfect way to keep someone in check."

James sighed softly. "One can't help but admire his cleverness."

Lesia replied, "He failed to obtain the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell which carried Morgott's spirit. So, he sent his disciple to keep a close eye on us by making her the Heavenly Path?"

"Aren't you and I connected mentally and spiritually?" James chuckled. "Can't you tell what I was thinking?"

Lesia snorted. "Perhaps it's been too long since we last saw eye to eye. I can't detect your thoughts as perfectly as I used to. So, tell me what it is already!"

James laughed inwardly. Then, he sent another voice transmission. "You're right about him wanting to keep an eye on us, but that's just part of the reason why he was here.

"In a way, he has also acknowledged our plan of building the Sky Bridge to isolate the Genesis Region, which has been in Tai Chi's control all along. That region is ours from now on."

Lesia yelped in excitement, "Kya! That's right! The Law of Paths' disciple has been sent there to become our Heavenly Path.

"The Forladtt Land, Skynet, and the Yin's Void are included in the Genesis Region where the Sky Bridge is built. That means he's recognized us as the leader of that region!

"Starting today, Tai Chi no longer has the right to interfere with the affairs happening in our region!"

Lesia started laughing. "Even if Tai Chi finds this unfair, she can't just try to take back the region from us. She'll have to talk to the Law of Paths."

James was lost in thought. The supreme beings from Zymurgy were much wiser and stronger than the Genesis World's grand patriarchs and leaders.

Without showing his true form, the Law of Paths was very persuasive and reasonable through the way he held their conversation.

On the surface, he did not choose to side with James or Tai Chi to maintain his neutral stance as the Law of Paths.

However, appointing his disciple to be the Heavenly Path of that area was a statement in itself.

Still, James was not naive enough to think that he had earned the Law of Paths' full support.

The Law of Paths simply compromised since James had cornered him with all those facts just now. Moreover, James had Morgott's spirit in his possession.

Despite all that, James still felt their trip to capture Hetsema was fruitful.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6575-James possessed Morgott's spirit, which many Zymurgy cultivators were wary of. He also managed to find Truett.

Moreover, the Law of Paths even acknowledged that the Genesis Region surrounded by the Sky Bridge was no longer under Tai Chi's governance.

It was a major success for them.

Just then, a deafening sound reverberated through the air. A black and white lightning bolt shot down from the tribulation clouds and struck Truett.

A few seconds later, Truett's newly fused Golden Body slowly rose into the air. He was suspended by a ball of Tirta Power.

With his red hair and the Golden Body, Truett looked like an invincible warlord.

"He made it." James beamed. "Congratulations on entering the Xaeclon Rank, my friend."

It was as though Truett had heard James' voice. As soon as he opened his eyes, Truett teleported and re-emerged before James.

The black and white energies of the Heavenly Tribulation still lingered on Truett's body. He said excitedly, "I've achieved the Xaeclon Rank!"

James patted on his shoulder lightly. "You're a Xaeclon Rank cultivator now. You should keep your cool and not get overly excited about things like this."

Truett laughed heartily. "There's no need for me to keep my cool in front of you."

James chuckled and nodded. "Me too."

At that moment, Nimue teleported and reappeared next to Truett.

Truett asked curiously when he spotted the beautiful stranger, "Who's this pretty lady..."

"She was the one who managed the Heavenly Tribulation just now," James said with a smile, "You were lucky to have such a kind and unbiased tribulation envoy handle your Heavenly Tribulation. Otherwise, it might have been an even more dangerous experience for you."

Truett bowed slightly to Nimue after learning that. "I can't thank you enough, miss."

"You don't have to thank me." Nimue shook her head. She seemed a little shy. "It is because you are a kind and upright man. Naturally, you won't be forced to face harsh tribulations."

Truett paused and scratched his head absently. A sunny smile hung on his face.

James turned his eyes to Nimue, "Ms. Nimue, we'll head to the Sky Bridge now. You're coming with us, right?"

Nimue gave a slight nod. "Before we move out, I need you to promise me three things."

James grinned upon hearing those words. "What is it?"

“Firstly, you are not to interfere with the Heavenly Path’s affairs,” Nimue continued, “Secondly, you can’t interfere with my management of the Heavenly Tribulations, no matter who the receiver is and how severe the tribulations are.

“Lastly, I won’t come down from Zymurgy. You don’t have to invite me to your space or try to establish a connection with me.”

After listening to her requests, James chuckled. “Are you worried about me bribing you?”

Just as Nimue was about to respond, someone screamed menacingly and interrupted their conversation, “Nimue! How dare you overstep your boundaries in the Tai Chi World?! The impertinence!”

Truett and Nimue looked up to the sky upon hearing that voice. Meanwhile, a murderous aura emanated from James as he knitted his brows.