

The Almighty Dragon General

Chapter 6748

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6748-James stepped into it, his hands outstretched as he drew a huge crimson light orb counterclockwise, unleashing a terrifying ten-colored holy light. Suddenly, the thousands of planets revolving rapidly around the Haurvatat Formation were captured by countless ten-colored holy lights, gradually reversing their previous clockwise rotation.

The next second, the massive palace of Haurvatat Temple erupted with thunderous roars. The sky's color immediately changed, and the earth trembled rapidly, as if signaling the end of the world.

Those within Haurvatat Temple panicked and scrambled to wield their powers in defense amidst the shaking ground and trembling mountains. Despite their efforts, they were still tossed around by the terrifying aftermath, sustaining heavy injuries and coughing up blood.

Above the vast palace of Haurvatat Temple, a graceful purple silhouette surrounded by flashes of purple light soared into the air, exuding an extraordinary aura. The moment she appeared, her body rapidly diffused purple light, immediately halting the rotation of thousands of planets rotating counterclockwise. Simultaneously, the previous tremors of the Haurvatat Temple ceased in an instant.

"Such formidable power!" James transmitted via voice to Lesia. "This must be Lesia responded, "Master, leave this woman to me." "You keep an eye on Neville, I'll deal with her," said James. He closed his eyes slightly, and ten colored holy light emitted from his body, along with a blood-red glow, once again driving the surrounding thousands of planets to rotate rapidly counterclockwise.

In an instant, the heavens and the earth trembled again, mountains collapsed, and even the massive palace of Haurvatat Temple shook violently, teetering on the verge of collapse.

Seeing this intensified ten-colored power, the purple silhouette hovering over the grand palace suddenly clasped her hands together, and immediately twelve Lysorian Towers shimmering with sacred radiance appeared around her. A vast chill quickly spread in all directions as the twelve towers spun rapidly. Following that, beneath the purple silhouette, waves surged and a super flood that filled the sky rushed towards James with lightning speed.

Seeing this scene, James frowned. He immediately mobilized the nearest three planets to intercept. What shocked him was that the three planets were instantly frozen when they came into contact with the surging flood. Furthermore, the remaining flood overflowed the frozen planets and descended upon him from above, continuing to assault him.

With a cold snort, James immediately performed the Terrastride step, taking eight consecutive steps forward. In an instant, the ten-colored holy light under his feet expanded once again, forcefully blocking the flood that filled the sky.

Accompanied by the crisp sound of cracking, the blocked flood quickly condensed and froze. The entire massive palace of Haurvatat Temple was also frozen within it.

James spread his hands, and the thousands of planets surrounding Haurvatat Temple were immediately collected by him. As the surrounding purple light quickly retreated, the protective formation guarding Haurvatat Temple finally broke.

For James, breaking the formation meant victory, but for that purple silhouette, protecting the massive palace of Haurvatat Temple was also a triumph. It was an evenly matched confrontation, making it difficult to determine a winner, ultimately leading to the current standoff.

With one hand behind his back, James floated majestically in the void. The purple silhouette condensed into a graceful woman in a purple robe, her face veiled in white gauze, standing on the frozen palace of Haurvatat Temple, she was surrounded by purple holy light.

Neville, who was held captive by Lesia, hurriedly shouted, "Sister, kill them! The authority and dignity of Haurvatat Temple are above all else and must not be humiliated by others."

As he finished speaking, Lesia slammed her fist fiercely into his face. "I've told you, stop whining! Why can't you understand simple words? If your sister really could do that, we'd all be done for. With your intelligence, Haurvatat Temple wouldn't need anyone to insult it, your existence is already an insult" Neville seethed with anger. He attempted to climb up from the void, only to be forcefully stepped on by Lesia with a clank.

Seeing this, the mysterious woman in the purple robe clenched her fist slowly.

"Chosen One, if you have an issue, come at me. It has nothing to do with my brother."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6749-James said calmly, 'The person you're after is me, it has nothing to do with my wife. Release her, or I'll bloody Haurvatat Temple.'

Upon hearing James' words, the mysterious woman furrowed her brows. "Your wife? What do you mean?" "Don't play dumb!" Lord Zenda behind James spoke sternly, 'The six holy temples under you captured the Yin governor. She is the Historial Land. To resort to such despicable and filthy acts to eradicate dissidents, isn't that shameless?"

they're making excuses," he said, pointing to Lesia standing on him. "Isn't this the Yin governor? One of the three most beautiful women in the myriad realm.

They're just causing trouble for Haurvatat Temple."

and she immediately bowed to James.

"Chosen One, there seems to be a misunderstanding here. I've just come out of seclusion, and I haven't seen the controller of the six holy temples yet. Where did the accusation of detaining your wife come from?"

As she spoke, James' eyes narrowed into slits. He possessed the Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes, capable of seeing through people's hearts. At present, he could with the six holy temples. After all, Thea was taken away by them together, but there was no guarantee she was sent to Haurvatat Temple. However, according to Lord Zenda, the six temples had long secretly sided with Haurvatat Temple, and Haurvatat Temple had absolute restraint and control over them.

Thinking of this, James said calmly, "Since you say it's a misunderstanding, that's easy. In the name of Haurvatat Temple, immediately summon all the people from the six holy temples for a confrontation."

She hesitated just as James suddenly flipped his palm, and a terrifying and gaze, he struck out with a palm, and the scorching blood-red flame immediately manifested into countless scythes of fire filling the sky.

With thunderous explosions, countless scythes of fire immediately melted the ice covering the palace of Haurvatat Temple. The next moment, these scythes of fire suddenly turned into a huge blood-red fire ring, completely enveloping the immense Haurvatat Temple. As if with just a thought from James, these scythes could quickly reduce the temple to ashes.

resistance and defiance were completely incinerated. Unlike her arrogant younger brother, she saw through the clues at a glance with her broad knowledge.

This Chosen One from the world of living beings was not someone she, the first powerhouse of the Great Historial Land, could contend with. Even if this was just his second body, he was enough to dominate the entire Great Historial Land.

As she spoke, two figures shot up from the undulating mountains and shimmering with golden light to the two of them and said in a deep voice, "Immediately summon all the Daeclon Rank powerhouses of the six holy temples to Haurvatat Temple for a discussion. Whoever dares to be absent or delayed will face Haurvatat Temple's execution order." Sherman and Manny glanced at each other and respectfully accepted the token before standing up. As they left, they cast a fearful glance at James. Then, they turned into two streaks of purple light and sped away into the sky.

come to Haurvatat Palace for tea if you don't mind?"

Seeing James' indifferent response, she sighed helplessly. "Chosen One, please rest assured. If this matter is indeed the work of the six holy temples under the guise of our Haurvatat Temple, we will give you an explanation."

go.

Lord Zenda and Lord Zoltán exchanged a glance and immediately followed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6750-Dracorin District was situated at the center of the Great Historial Land. As the powerhouses from the six holy temples were about to leave after meeting a mysterious individual, they were intercepted by Sherman and Manny speeding over from the sky.

Sherman showed the token of Haurvatat Temple, smiled, and said, "Esteemed gods, my master requests your presence." "Please come," Manny added.

Seeing the two, the powerhouses from the six holy temples frowned simultaneously. They had indeed allied with Haurvatat Temple, but not because of the temple's strength. It was because Haurvatat Temple had a Chosen One.

So, their dealings with Haurvatat Temple were not as subordinates but as equals. Now, for the two to show the token in a commanding tone was extremely displeasing to them.

"Sherman, Manny." Persephone asked, "What does your master want from us?"

Sherman laughed heartily. "You'll know when you get there, Lord Tzivya." "It's a good thing," Manny added.

The powerhouses from the six holy temples exchanged glances once again. In their memory, Haurvatat Temple was extremely stingy. They never had the opportunity for good things. Now, suddenly being offered such, it was obvious that something unusual was afoot.

Just as they were preparing to make excuses, Sherman bowed. "Esteemed Gods, you must be aware of the matter concerning the Chosen One. My master also knows that the Chosen One from that living being world has fled into the Forbidden Bloodshade. So, she intends to discuss with you all how to eradicate him.”

This was the first time Sherman had explicitly stated the intention, which was somewhat surprising to the powerhouses from the six holy temples. However, they dared not make decisions on their own. Instead, they all looked at Lord Toviyyah.

Twirling his beard, Lord Toviyyah said, “Since Haurvatat Temple intends to participate in this matter, we might as well discuss it together. After all, this concerns the overall interests of the Great Historical Land. How can we allow a lowly living being to cause chaos?”

At the mention of ‘a lowly living being,’ Sherman and Manny visibly turned angry.

“Please lead the way.” Lord Toviyyah glanced at the two of them.

Without saying much, Sherman and Manny immediately soared into the air. At the same time, they covertly surveyed their surroundings with their Zens. They already calculated in their minds.

was said to be stingy, received James and the others with the hospitality of a cup of tea, rather than good wine and meat.

What James did not expect was that the tea could purify the Golden Bones, making them even more resilient.

James. “Chosen One, could you release my brother first-“

James interrupted her, “Aren’t you also a Chosen One?”

humorous. I’m discussing my brother right now.” “He deserves to die,” James said bluntly. “The reason I haven’t killed him yet is that Haurvatat Temple hasn’t given me a complete explanation.”

the Chosen One coming out of the Forbidden Bloodshade, the doomsday of her Haurvatat Temple had arrived. The power displayed by this Chosen One also confirmed her speculation. Not to mention her brother, even the entire Haurvatat Temple had a blood-red flame hovering over their heads, ready to turn them to ashes at any moment.

That was the Supernatural Power of the legendary Emperor Yarden, the Bloody Flame. For this Chosen One to possess such an ability, it was obvious that he had already received the inheritance of Emperor Yarden. Moreover, with her cultivation now infinitely close to the Soma Daeclon Rank, she could not even see through his cultivation base. This was the most frightening aspect of all.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6752-“Master, you should let your kids play outside. They are causing a ruckus inside the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell. I can’t take it anymore.” James received a voice transmission from Lesia at that moment. He paused for a while. Then, James transferred his son and daughter out of the bell with his Zen.

He could see that there was not much change in the siblings’ appearances as they materialized before him. Both kids still glowed all over with colorful lights. A dense Hongrome Aura surrounded their bodies.

Zuriyin was still fiddling with Neville’s long purple sword. The sword elongated and shrunk with each of her mental commands.

Strangely, she had not spoken a word to anyone so far.

As for James’ son, the young boy zoomed through the space and made a complete mess in the hall. He treated the place as if it was a playground.

James had not even decided a name for him.

was secretly alarmed.

She did not expect that the Chosen One would have two Hongrome Children with him.

Even without Emperor Yarden’s legacy and knowledge, James could still go up against anyone in the Great Historial Land if he used the Hongrome Children’s powers wisely.

“Hey! Playing is fine, but you can’t break the stuff in this place. We need to follow proper etiquette,” James hurriedly reminded the kids.

As soon as he said that, James’ mischievous son shot toward Lord Zenda and snuck under her robe, leaving a trail of colorful lights behind him.

Lord Zenda’s flat tummy bulged out considerably the next instant. Her face was subconsciously clutched her abdomen and took a few steps backward. Her eyes rounded in fear.

On the other hand, James gave an embarrassed laugh. “He won’t hurt you. He is just a little playful. Please forgive him.”

Lord Zenda looked at James and smiled bitterly. “I can’t do anything but forgive him. He is playing with my True Natal Essence. My life is literally in his hands now!”

As a faint sword energy flashed before their eyes, the purple robe worn over James lifted his brows and got to his feet.

her body. Then, she strode out of the hall.

James shot a glare at Zuriyin. “Zuriyin, that was rude.”

The young girl remained silent. She tried to swing the sword again, but James snatched it away just in time. “If the two of you keep on with this behavior, you’re staying inside the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell for good.”

Zuriyin clicked her tongue. Then, she transformed into a ball of colorful light and flew out of the hall.

The little guy inside Lord Zenda’s abdomen transformed into a colorful light ball and quickly went after his sister.

James felt a little helpless as he watched the siblings leave one after the other.

Sherman and Manny happened to enter the hall at that moment. Since they “Greetings to the Chosen One.” “I think we’ve met before.” James’ gaze fell on them. “You two weren’t this polite the first time we met.”

Manny and Sherman exchanged a glance and lowered their heads nervously.

“Alright. Are they all here?” James asked.

Sherman and Manny swiftly got up and nodded. Then, Sherman glanced around furtively and moved closer to James. He whispered a few things next to James’ ear.

James straightened himself after listening to Sherman’s words. He had a cold, murderous look in his eyes.